The following is part of Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja's lecture at ISKCON'S Śrī Chandrodaya Mandir.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the mission of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and His beloved. We heard, there are elevationists, there are renunciationists, but we are servitors. Gehaṁ juṣāṁ api manasy udiyāt sadā naḥ.

[āhuś ca te nalina-nābha padāravindaṁ, yogeśvarair hr̥di vicintyam agādha-bodhaiḥ saṁsāra-kūpa-patitottaraṇāvalambāṁ, gehaṁ juṣāṁ api manasy udiyāt sadā naḥ]

[“The gopīs spoke thus: ‘Dear Lord, whose navel is just like a lotus flower, Your lotus feet are the only shelter for those who have fallen into the deep well of material existence. Your feet are worshipped and meditated upon by great mystic yogīs and highly learned philosophers. We wish that these lotus feet may also be awakened within our hearts, although we are only ordinary persons engaged in household affairs.’”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.82.49] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.136]

True to heaven and heart, to celebrate them. True to the keenest point of heaven and heart, cloister in the heart, the knowledge of these – but heart has been made the cloister. The gopī-bhajana is to make the heart the cloister. Not that the cloister has a separate place. The heart will be cloister and only Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead can make possible the heart to be the cloister. The wholesale will be converted, every nook and corner. Nothing should be left out. No faculty should be left out for any other purpose but to devote in all respects to the Supreme Entity, to be faithful to the extreme. Nothing should be left. This is only possible in Śrī Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead, akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. All sorts of ecstasy, happiness, anything of the type can be possible in its divine form when we find Śrī Kṛṣṇa as the Supreme Lord and nowhere else.

One western gentleman told that there are many conceptions of religion in different parts of the world, but we do not find any conception of religion where twenty four hours can be devoted in the service of the Supreme Lord. Not only Sunday, not only thrice in the day, not only five times in the day, but every hour and second should be devoted in the service of the Supreme Entity and then nothing will be left behind. This sort of service is only possible in kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ [Śikṣāṣṭaka, 3] and in the service, in the aṣṭa-kālīya-līlā of Śrī Kṛṣṇacandra Himself in the mādhurya-rasa. Śrī Caitanyadeva came down to this world to preach that, to give that nectarine life to our need, one and all. Nrmatrasy-adhikarita – take the Name of the Lord and you will find yourself in His harem one day, one time. It's the easiest, not money is necessary, not physical energy in great quantity is necessary, no other helping things, only try to take the Name sincerely.

In a right channel it should be acquired otherwise there will be some tampering energy. Trade in the name of religion is also going on here and there, and we should save ourselves from those difficulties and by following a bona fide path we can get our achievement. So, in the day of the advent of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, Śrī Kṛṣṇa consciousness means Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, consciousness is caitanya, and Kṛṣṇa consciousness, Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, Kṛṣṇa who came here to arouse in us the pure consciousness of Kṛṣṇa, means serving Kṛṣṇa in all aspects, all respects. And this laudable attempt is being done in great quantity by our Swāmī Mahārāja. So we are very happy getting the chance of attending this function. Swāmī Mahārāja kī jaya!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's deep and affectionate heart, conceived that why not Śrī Caitanyadeva's prema-dharma is capturing the world. It is so self evident. It is the only constructive religion to the farthest extreme. And why not this is appreciated, this cannot but be appreciated. He has not only told that east, west, far west, all the world will come under the banner of Śrī Caitanyadeva. But also, he very strongly told that in the future no other religion will exist than the religion of Śrī Caitanyadeva, Nāma saṅkīrtana. This also he has stated, foretold. And for Prabhupāda [Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura], his higher heart was trying utmost to spread this idea of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, every nook and corner of the world. Why not men, they should accept such a natural and so healthy religion and so simple religion.

It cannot be denied that we are so many particles, we are conditioned beings. Why not we seek some absolute centre for our health? Śaraṇāgati. This is self evident. Dainyam, ātma-nivedanam, when there is dainya, when there is real sincere feeling of ones self, the next thing cannot but come to take shelter under some greater power. And that relation must be of love and affection, love. And the beauty and love is controlling the central truth, central thing, not power. Power cannot control, cannot be the control in the extreme senses, but love should be, in a sincere heart this must be reflected.

So, that affectionate and deep thinking heart of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and Prabhupāda, and their desire. Their desire means Mahāprabhu's desire and Kṛṣṇa's desire. And that has come embodied in Swāmī Mahārāja. And so many efficient men have joined, both ladies and gentlemen, have joined his mission to work out to a sure success, this we pray and we feel.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: And his mother's age was about seventy years. He was the youngest son of his family, but still, for the deliverance of the fallen souls of the world he took sannyāsa. So the sannyāsa order is accepted according to the predecessors. In Vaiṣṇava sampradāya there are tridaṇḍī sannyāsa. The māyāvādī Śāṅkara sampradāya they are ekadaṇḍī. Our Vaiṣṇava sampradāya tridaṇḍī sannyāsa is mentioned in the Bhāgavatam. Many great preachers and authorities they took sannyāsa, tridaṇḍa sannyāsa. Tridaṇḍa means kāya, mano and vākya, body, mind, and words. In this rod there are four rods. Three kāya-mano-vākya, and one; the person. So, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu's desire was that Indians should take up the responsibility for preaching the cult of Kṛṣṇa consciousness all over the world. As I was explaining last night.

bhārata-bhūmite haila manuṣya-janma yāra / janma sārthaka kari' kara para-upakāra

The Indians, they're meant for giving something to the world, but unfortunately they have become beggars, simply asking something from you. We have got such a great culture, Vedic culture; that we can give tremendous benefit to the whole world, but we have given up. There are so many jagat gurus, but for us they have not seen even what is jagat, but still, they're passing on as jagat guru, but their limited action is within the well, creatures, upa manduka. Upa manduka does not know what is Atlantic Ocean; frog. A frog living within the well, if he's informed, “There is Atlantic Ocean sir which is called jagat.” This is not jagat. You have become jagat guru within the well. You become jagat guru, go to the Atlantic Ocean, or Pacific Ocean. Preach the Vedic culture. Then you claim to become jagat guru. Otherwise don't falsely claim within the limit of your well, upa manduka.

So, we are to select persons who can preach the Vedic culture all over the world, and this Kṛṣṇa consciousness movement means properly training. Now this boy, Mahansa Swāmī, he's known from today as Mahansa Swāmī. He was brahmacārī. He's coming from Parsee community of Bombay. Similarly, we are selecting from all communities and training them how to become preachers of the Vedic culture. We require hundreds and thousands of preachers. Although we have got centres all over the world, but that is not sufficient. Caitanya Mahāprabhu wanted in every village and every town all over the world.

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is the pioneer of Śrī Kṛṣṇa saṅkīrtana. He said: “I have come to inaugurate the chanting of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa, and that Name will reach every nook and corner of the universe.”] [Caitanya-Bhāgavat]

He wanted a pṛthivīte on the surface of the globe, as many towns and cities and villages are there, everywhere this Kṛṣṇa consciousness movement must be spread. So we have got a tremendous task. And the responsibility is more or less on the Indians, as I’ve already explained, bhārata-bhūmite haila manuṣya-janma. Those who are actually human beings born in this holy land of Bhārata-varṣa, they should learn this Vedic culture thoroughly and preach all over the world so that they may be benefited. Para-upakara, for want of this Vedic culture the whole world is in darkness. Tamo mukun angre nisevane. Tamo means this darkness. So, instead of competing with them, and other things, how one can drink wine, and one can eat fish and flesh, we are making competition in that way. There’s no question of competing in this life. Just give them knowledge so that they may be saved. This human form of life is not meant for becoming animals. So, my request again that those who are actually proud of becoming an Indian, they should come, join, and preach this cult all over the world. Thank you very much.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: ...speaking about knowledge, perfect knowledge. Knowledge received from common man or any person within this material world, infected with four kinds of defect, cannot be perfect. The so-called scientists, philosophers, mental speculation, or dramatists, or writers, as we experience, their talking all are nonsense. This is our challenge, because the basic principle of their knowledge is ignorance, ajñāna. Big, big scientists, they simply theorise and they try to support their theories with the words, ‘it maybe,’ ‘perhaps.’ That is not perfection. As soon as you say, ‘it maybe’ that means you have no perfect knowledge. As soon as you say, ‘perhaps’ that means you have no perfect knowledge. So all these scientists and philosophers they use these words, ‘it maybe,’ ‘perhaps.’

Therefore we have to receive knowledge from a perfect person. The perfect person means 'who is not illusioned, who does not commit mistakes.' All of us we commit mistakes, but a perfect person does not commit mistakes. This is the difference between perfect and imperfect. We are illusioned to accept something in place of something else. Just like the example is given by some philosophers to accept the rope by mistake as a snake. This is called illusion. So, these are water in the desert. This is due to our imperfection. So, a person who is liberated, or not under the control of the material nature, he's not illusioned neither he commits mistakes.

Another defect is our senses are imperfect. We use our senses under certain conditions. Just like we have our eyes but we can see only when there is sunlight or electric light. Otherwise, our eyes are useless. Therefore we haven't got perfect eyes. But one who has got perfect eyes he can see past, present, and future. Imperfect our senses. And we conditioned souls, although we admit that we have imperfect senses, we commit mistakes, we are illusioned, we take the place of teachers. That is cheating. That is cheating. If you know that you are imperfect, why should you take the place of a teacher? That is cheating. Bhrama, pramāda, karaṇāpāṭava, vipralipsā.

So these defects are completely absent, conspicuous by absence. Nirasta-kuhakaṁ, in the Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam [1.1.1] it is said about the Absolute Truth as nirasta-kuhakaṁ, kuha means illusion, imperfection. So, with Absolute Truth there is no such imperfect knowledge. Nirasta-kuhakaṁ, dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ. Sadā means that once he was defective, now he has become nirasta-kuhakaṁ, no, not like that. The Absolute Truth is always sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ, dhāmnā svena, satyaṁ param dhīmahi.

That Absolute Truth, the Supreme Personality of Godhead is speaking, “Jñānam te' ham sa-vijñānam, with practical experience, or by experimental knowledge, jñānam. Jñānam te' ham sa-vijñānam, idaṁ vakṣyāmy aśeṣataḥ, incomplete. Yaj jñātvā, if we try to understand this knowledge what I am speaking to you Arjuna. Yaj jñātvā neha bhūyo, in this material world, bhūyo again, ‘nyaj, jñātavyam avaśiṣyate, you’ll have anything more to know.”

[“Now I shall fully describe to you, with the taste of the flavour of My divine sweetness, this knowledge of My grand majestic splendour and opulences. After knowing all this, absolutely nothing will remain for you to know, being situated on this beautiful, joyful, and victorious path.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 7.2]

This is Vedānta, Veda means knowledge, ānta means end. So if you receive knowledge from the Supreme Perfect Personality of Godhead, Kṛṣṇa, then that is the end of knowledge. Vedaiś ca sarvair aham eva vedyo, vedānta-kṛd veda-vid eva cāham.

[sarvasya cāhaṁ hṛdi sanniviṣṭho, mattaḥ smṛtir jñānam apohanaṁ ca vedaiś ca sarvair aham eva vedyo, vedānta-kṛd veda-vid eva cāham]

[“I am situated (as the Supersoul) within the heart of all souls, and from Me arises the soul’s remembrance, knowledge, and the dissipation of both (according to his karma, or action in the mundane plane). I am the exclusive knowable (ecstatic) principle of all the Vedas. I am the author of the Vedānta - Vedavyāsa, the expounder of the knowable meaning of the Vedas. And certainly I am the knower of the purport of the Vedas.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 15.15]

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati

[yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati]

["By knowing Him, everything is known - by getting Him, everything is gained."] [Upaniṣads]

This is Vedic injunction. If you simply try to understand what Kṛṣṇa is speaking, to understand Kṛṣṇa is very difficult, that is not possible. We are so small that it is not possible to analyse Kṛṣṇa and understand Him. But if you simply try to assimilate what Kṛṣṇa says then you'll become perfect person. Yaj jñātvā neha bhūyo 'nyaj, jñātavyam avaśiṣyate. Then Kṛṣṇa says, manuṣyāṇāṁ sahasreṣu, kaścid yatati siddhaye yatatām api siddhānāṁ, kaścin māṁ vetti tattvataḥ

["Out of countless souls, some may have reached the human form of life, and among many thousands of human beings, some endeavour to attain direct perception of the individual soul and the Supersoul; and among many thousands of such aspirants who have attained to seeing the soul and the Supersoul, only a few receive actual perception of Me, Śyāmasundara."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.3]

Actually, we are born fools and rascals. We're coming, evolution from the animal life. The Darwin theory says that we're coming from monkeys. So far we have heard, that either monkeys, or cows, or lion. Human form of body is promoted, one who is coming through tama-guṇa, he comes from monkey, as Mr. Darwin. So, those who are coming in sattva-guṇa, they come from the cow. And those who were in raja-guṇa they come from the lion. Whatever it may be it is a fact that through evolutionary process the last birth must have been animal life. Pasaba kincala pani, thirty lākhs of species, forms of animal forms, then we get this human form of life. So actually when you're born uncivilised, we have no knowledge, the same thing, āhāra, nidrā, bhayam. Why am I born, as the animals are interested, eating, sleeping, sex life, and defence? These are the animal propensities or necessities of life. But when, as we become gradually civilised, we take our birth in India especially. It is not so easy. Therefore Caitanya Mahāprabhu says, bhārata-bhūmite haila manuṣya-janma yāra [janma sārthaka kari' kara para-upakāra]

It is very rare. Don't spoil your life imitating animals. It is a very valuable life to be one form of life in Bhārata-varṣa. We are practically seeing although India is so fallen, but still, when we speak of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, hundreds and thousands of people come to hear. I've experienced in Bombay, Calcutta, and other places. By nature they're inclined to become Kṛṣṇa conscious. Unfortunately outward influence are curbing down this natural instinct of Bhārata-varṣa. It's very, very degradable. We're naturally God conscious, Kṛṣṇa conscious, but by artificial means we are being cut down. Therefore Kṛṣṇa says, manuṣyāṇāṁ sahasreṣu, kaścid yatati siddhaye. Kṛṣṇa consciousness means making progress for perfection of life, siddhi, siddhaye means mukta, theoretically mukta. They're called siddha. There is Siddhaloka, there is a planet which is called Siddhaloka. All the inhabitants of that planet they are all mystic yogīs. They can fly from one planet to another without any instrument. Siddhaloka.

So every human being, especially the civilised man, can become siddha. Siddha means to understand his constitutional position; that is siddha. Because the animal does not know what is his constitutional position. He thinks that he is the body. But actually he's not the body, he's spirit soul. The human form of life, this consciousness, this ignorance can be removed and he can understand that ahaṁ-brahmāsmi, 'I'm not this body, I'm spirit soul.' And when he comes to the point of understanding that he's not body, he's soul; then he's called brahma-bhūta. Before that, so long he's in bodily concept of life, he's jīva-bhūta. These are the differences. When you are in bodily concept of life you are called jīva-bhūta. Mamaivāṁśo, jīva-bhūta.

The spirit soul is always part and parcel of God. That's a fact....brahma, para-brahma, we are also brahma. It is a fact; so realising ahaṁ-brahmāsmi that is perfect. So nobody's trying to understand. Especially in Bhārata-varṣa this culture was very strong. Although there are different parties, different Ācāryas, but their only purpose is self realisation. Either you follow Śaṅkarācārya, or Rāmānujācārya, Madhvācārya, many Ācāryas, we may differ in our final conclusion whether the ultimate truth is personal or impersonal. That is not very important thing. But all of them are trying for the realisation of the self, siddhi. The yogīs, the jñānīs, the bhaktas, even the karmīs, they are also trying to become siddha. But the difference between the bhaktas...

His Divine Grace Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...three in America.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Three in America, another three in Europe.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three in Europe; six.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: One in India.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: India, one?

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: India one, seven.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Africa one.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Eight. And one Australia, New Zealand. And one Canada...South America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: South America [?]

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Argentina. And Japan, which includes now Western United States, Ha, ha, ha, including Hawaii and Japan. Russia there is big [?] I've got a student there. And they're very much strict about religious things. When I went to Moscow...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A reaction will come.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: The reaction has already come. They do not...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sure to come; action reaction.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: So they found one of my Bhagavad-gītā in the Immigration so immediately called police. Then he examined and he allowed, "All right, it is all right." But they're not a very happy country, as advertised.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is happiness? God is happiness.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: But materially they're poor.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī-duḥkha-doṣānudarśanam [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.9]. So, they're poor in intelligence, it is sattvic intelligence, janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī-duḥkha-doṣānudarśanam, so devoid of higher kind of intelligence. Scientific fineness, that is also in the jurisdiction of matter. And more subtle and subtler knowledge is possible.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Now we are presenting through two of my scientific students, Doctors of Chemistry – the source of matter is spirit. This is our theory. Generally they believe that life comes from matter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Life comes from matter.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: But we are presenting, “No. Matter comes from matter.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Apparently. But this is more appropriate. This is Vedānta.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Apparently. Yes. Janmādy asya yato [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I say that just as eczema in the healthy body, this material world is an eczema in the healthy body.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Yes. Material atmosphere means diseased condition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Diseased condition, very negligent diseased condition, forming very negligent part of the whole. This material world where creation and dissolution is compulsory, that is a negligent portion of the real universe.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Ekāmśa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Otherwise if a major portion of a body is bad, then that cannot stand. So the major portion of the universe must be healthy, wholesome one, and the negligent part is a diseased portion. That is the world where the misery lives.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: One fourth part.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The possession of Satan. That is under possession of Satan. Satan means vikṛta jñāna, that is misunderstanding.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Perverted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Misunderstanding is perverted understanding is Satan. Understanding is there, but it is perverted.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: De ātma buddhi. [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.37]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: De ātma buddhi. Rather, the enjoying principle.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Sense gratification.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The enjoying mood; that is the basis of this. And the mood of renunciation, that is a buffer state, that is nothing. And the real life is a life of self dedication and service. And service not of any part, or service not for any part which is like me. But for the whole, for the Divinity; as Kṛṣṇa says in Gītā:

*athavā bahunaitena, kiṁ jñātena tavārjjuna viṣṭabhyāham idaṁ kṛtsnam
ekāṁśena sthito jagat*

[“But Arjuna, what is the need of your understanding this elaborate knowledge of My almighty grandeur? By My fractional expansion as the Supreme Soul of material nature, Mahā-Viṣṇu (Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Viṣṇu), I remain supporting this entire universe of moving and stationary beings.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 10.42]

Who lies, Whose bed is Infinite. Śeṣa-Nāga, Ananta, Infinite gathered together, and though He seems to have a figure, but that sort of figure which can contain many number of Infinite of our conception. Kṛṣṇa is a figure talking with Arjuna, a limited figure, but Viśvarūpa emerged from Him, how? A big Viśvarūpa emerged from a limited figure; so such limited figure He has got.

Vṛndāvana has been described as only thirty two miles, but Paravyoma which is to be understood as Vaikuṇṭha means infinite, many of the Paravyomas are accommodated there within that thirty two miles area, square mile area, or something like that. We must be conversant with that sort of understanding.

Any number of length of rope coming but always only two fingers less. Then another big rope added and again that two fingers less. This is all categorical principle we are to be acquainted with, then we shall go to read Bhāgavatam or...

Śrīla Prabhupāda: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] How is it possible? ag vigetar ananta svarup [?] In one figure He accommodates numberless figures, ag vigetar ananta svarup [?]

But all these appear to be real and it will be shown to them who have got real śraddhā. Śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka, the world of faith, and that is substantial, not imaginary. What we say to be concrete, that will be reduced to ashes and imaginary, it will evaporate. Both the material scientists as well as the ṛṣis, that this will evaporate one day, the Sun, Moon, everything, this will evaporate. But that subtle thing stands forever, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka. The experience of the region of faith stands forever. And the world of experience is evaporating every second, being transformed, and dying every moment, every second dying. What is told to us to be the reality; that means dying every second, that sort of reality is given to us by the great apostles of the present universe, big scientists and big leaders of the knowledge world.

In India there is a saying, that once a big mountain, he or she, expressed that she will produce a child_____ She has got pain, just before producing child. Then the people thought, “Oh. What a big child must come. When the big mountain, she feels labour pain, then a big child must come.” At last it was seen that a mouse was produced. So the big giants of the present world, so-called leaders of the scholastic world, they’re producing like a mouse. That is a dying substance, in this form or that form.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Punaḥ punaś carvita-carvaṇānām [Chewing that which has already been chewed]. [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.30]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is sure deception, a deception to the challenge to the real thinkers. They should abhorrently throw it out at once. This is in the boundary of janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9], throw it off.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: So I try to impress upon them this fact, that this Kṛṣṇa consciousness Movement is a challenge for this deception. They’re simply deceiving.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All sorts of deception.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Even Vaikuṇṭha, paravyoma bhedi bhedi [C-c, Madhya-līlā, 19.153-4 ?]

Even if the selfish sort of calculation comes between the servitor and the object of service, then also it throws us down. In Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that sort of calculation is also absent. Where there is love there cannot be any calculation. It is autonomous, anurāga, can't but do. No sort of calculation of any benefit. The calculation disturbs autonomy.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: [?] About our temple contemplation, it will be almost a skyscraper building, with four divisions [?] So how will it be depicted [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It has already been described by Sanātana Goswāmī in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, after crossing Brahmaloka.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: There is Maheśa dhāma, in between.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As devotee, Śiva as devotee.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Yes. Everyone is there. Śiva's devotional prayer is there, in fourth canto, about the four sons. What are their names?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Devī dhāma up to Virajā, nirviśeṣa, the last conception, or the highest conception of Devī dhāma is a bodily conception of Virajā, prakṛti ends there.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Kāraṇārṇava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kāraṇārṇava; then begins Brahmaloka, the halo of the spiritual world.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Effulgence. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Spiritual world. And that is also somewhat nirviśeṣa. And then after crossing there, Śiva is on the other higher side, as well as he's on the lower side – that is differentiation on two sides is Śiva. This side also master of Devī, and this side also he's searching after something, and when the differentiative world ends in Brahmaloḥa, there also the Śiva as devotee, and this side Śiva is a yogī, he's searching after. And there, he's going to meet Nārāyaṇa to pay his respect.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Both sides he's a devotee.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. This side he's not such a devotee but that is a pure devotee on the other side, Vaiḥuṇṭha.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Sadāśiva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sadāśiva, Mahā-Viṣṇu, on the other side, he's a devotee. Vaiṣṇavānāṁ yathā śambhuḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.16] [also in the purport of Śrī Brahma-saṁhitā's verse 45]

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Mahā-Viṣṇu and Sadāśiva the same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Same.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Advaita Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Advaita Ācārya, on the other side, and this side sometimes revolting. The other day I told a gentleman that Śiva is rather the leader of the opposition party. Ha, ha.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Ha, ha. Yes [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In many a place, many demons are encouraged by him we find.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: But when Pracetāsas they met Śiva...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is that Śiva, devotee Śiva. Markandeya also in Bhāgavatam, Markandeya worships Śiva but that is the devotee Śiva. It is clearly mentioned in Bhāgavatam Markandeya is worshipping Śiva but that Śiva is the pure devotee.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Pracetāsas and Śiva met in this material world or in the spiritual world? They met in the material world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't remember that particularly. But Śiva this side also Śiva and nirviśeṣa, on the lower side of the nirviśeṣa is also Śiva, and the higher side of the nirviśeṣa is also Śiva. Then Nārāyaṇa.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Here he's Bhūtanātha, leader of the atheistic classes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Atheistic class. And his paraphernalia is Nandi, Varengi, bhūta, preta. And his eldest son is Vinayaka (?) the leader of the misguided Binayaka? Gaṇeśa, and not proper nayaka, vikṛta nayaka.
Vinayaka nikapa mordhava su prabhu [?]

That are protected by Kṛṣṇa and they throw their...

Śrīla Prabhupāda: But in Brahma-saṁhitā [verse 50] Gaṇeśa is described vighnānasya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vighnānasya but with the help of Nṛsiṁhadeva on his kumbha.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Oh, ha, ha, ha, Oh yes, I see, on his head. Yat-pāda-pallava-yugaṁ vinidhāya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only with the help of His lotus feet he's able to – otherwise he's vinayaka.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Gaṇeśa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Misleader.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Misleader. Misguider, Gaṇeśa, his eldest son, and he gives his support, Śiva. Just as C.R. Das he encouraged Subash Bosh and other members of Party, but he himself worked a little common person.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Yes. So, Satsvarūpa Mahārāja, how do you like this place?

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: Very transcendental.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Where is Srūtakṛti?

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Here is Srūtakṛti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His health, you are to arrange what will be...

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Srūtakṛti wants to serve you, provided you go with us to U.S.A. Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: He says, “If Mahārāja goes with us then I shall take care of him.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In another life, ha, ha, it may be possible.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja and Śrīla Prabhupāda now speak Bengali (?),

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

*ūrdhva-mūlam adhaḥ-śākham, aśvatthaṁ prāhur avyāyam chandāṁsi

[“The holy scriptures proclaim that this material world is like an unchangeable Banyan tree with its roots facing upwards and its branches down, known as an Aśvattha (transitory) tree. Its nutriments are the Vedic aphorisms, which are represented by its leaves. Whoever knows this tree in this way is a genuine knower of the Vedas.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.1]

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Fifteenth Chapter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The cause of this world is connected with the upper world, yas taṁ veda sa veda-vit.

[More Bengali (?) for about three minutes]

Independent of matter, in clear introspection, the spirit can see spirit, can feel spirit; but matter cannot feel matter. The matter presupposes spirit. Whatever you will ascribe to a fossil, it presupposes consciousness. This is his colour, this is tyāga, this is this, this is this, that means...

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Consciousness studying fossil.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Consciousness in a degraded state sees fossil.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Consciousness in śraddhā, tarottama is there, śraddhā; himself, then superior soul...

Śrīla Prabhupāda: And the super-most.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and in the ultimate reality, Kṛṣṇa, all-love, all-good, all-beauty; that realm. Individual consciousness can live in, and move in, in the land of beautiful, in the land of divine love. Anyone having any conception of beauty and love, which is the prime cause of the universe, he cannot like anything in this world than that. Raso 'py asya, paraṁ dṛṣṭvā nivartate.

[viṣayā vinivartante, nirāhārasya dehinaḥ rasa-varjaṁ raso 'py asya, paraṁ dṛṣṭvā nivartate]

[“Although the person of gross corporeal consciousness may avoid sense objects by external renunciation, his eagerness for sense enjoyment remains within. However, inner attachment to sense objects is spontaneously denounced by the person of properly adjusted intelligence, due to his having had a glimpse of the all-attractive beauty of the Supreme Truth.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.59]

All his charm has vanished as soon as that type of rasa, that rasa of that quality has got a little awakening in his heart. Everything;

yad-anucarita-līlā-karṇa-pīyūṣa-vipruṭ-, sakṛd-adana-vidhūta-dvandva-dharmāvinaṣṭāḥ sapadi gr̥ha-kuṭumbaṁ dīnam utsrjya dīnā, bahava iha vihaṅgā bhikṣu-caryāṁ caranti

[“The transcendental līlā of Śrī Kṛṣṇa is great nectar for the ears. Those who relish just a single drop of that nectar even once have their attachment to material duality totally ruined. Many such persons have immediately given up their futile homes and families and have come to Vṛndāvana like a free bird out of a cage. Becoming totally detached from their material life, those devotees have taken up the path of renunciation and have accepted alms just to maintain their lives on this plane. In this way they continue to search for Him, the all fulfilment of life.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.18]

[Bhakti Nandan Svāmī's, Śrī Bhakti Rakṣaka Bhajana Madhuri, p 26-7]

Yad-anucarita-līlā-karṇa-pīyūṣa-vipruṭ. A drop of nectar of Your pastimes, līlā, when it has entered any ear, then all things drawn into ashes to him. Yad-anucarita-līlā-karṇa-pīyūṣa-vipruṭ, sakṛd-adana-vidhūta-dvandva-dharmāvinaṣṭāḥ. He's independent of dvandva dharma, that is rāga-dveṣa or this conjugal life, both. A permanent partner in conjugal life, that seems to be redundant to him, without Kṛṣṇa. So dvandva dharma as well as – dvandva dharma means rāga and dveṣa, all vanished, dvandva-dharmāvinaṣṭāḥ. Sapadi gr̥ha-kuṭumbaṁ. And what is the after effect? Very soon he leaves everything, dīnam utsrjya dīnā, he himself poses himself to be a very poor one and leaves his present paraphernalia, and they also, without him, think themselves very poorer. In this way, bahava iha vihaṅgā bhikṣu-caryāṁ caranti, just as a bird from this tree to that tree moving, he also in quest of Kṛṣṇa from here to there, there to here, in this way, with Kṛṣṇa at heart. And sometimes they come in a particular stage to organise for the jīva to help them to go to that realm.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: So, what is your advice, shall I fly like young or retire? Ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ

Śrīla Prabhupāda: (Speaks Bengali (?) for about twenty seconds)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As much as you can accommodate yourself for them you may do. (Śrīla Prabhupāda and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja speak Bengali (?) for about two minutes, Śrīla Prabhupāda: One intelligent boy, you have heard his name, George Harrison, he's one of the - or the greatest - musicians at the present moment of the world. I think so. Yes?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: George Harrison, so he's becoming, he's very intelligent, so he's becoming interested. And recently he has given us a house in London which is fifty five lākhs, which is worth two hundred thousand pounds. Two hundred thousand pounds ordinarily it is forty lākhs, and in the market value because the pound is selling in India thirty twenty eight – at least twenty five, in that way...

Bhaktivedanta Book Fund Account. Five thousand dollars he takes advance, deposit, and take my orders. So I gave him order - books worth fifty two thousand dollars, advancing five thousand. And they gradually supplied to India, and from U.S.A we gradually, little by little we paid, so that became the asset of books. And I advised them that you go and present these books to respectable gentlemen to become a member, and they'll become. And actually that plan became successful. Now the same members, they've not only paid eleven hundred, now some of them they're paying eleven thousand. Recently one gentleman belonging to the Bila(?) family, they came to our Calcutta centre – in how many motor cars they came?

Devotee: Seventeen.

Śrīla Prabhupāda: Seventeen motor cars, the whole family, and after seeing the Deity they presented a cheque for eleven thousand rupees. So by Kṛṣṇa's grace money is coming. There is no scarcity, and they're spending here in Māyāpur. So with that five thousand dollars, whatever our asset is in Indian now, that is from five thousand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you have proved also that capital is on the other world, capital is also...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] I shall sell my head there only wherever I shall find that the river of nectar is coming down to me from the upper side. And I must be conscious of my own wealth, otherwise mere formal, I have not got taste, I have not got anything, I am a blind man. My decision has got no value. When one is conscious of his own gain, that this is the highest thing, and this is coming from this way to me, I must sell myself there, to the feet, or whatever.

[“Whether a person is a brāhmaṇa, a sannyāsī, or a śūdra, if he knows the science of Kṛṣṇa, he is to be accepted as Guru.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.127]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu says to Rāmānanda Rāya, “Wherever the tattva, wherever the nectar divine, ecstasy, I shall offer Me to be a slave there.” That is my direct concern. Wherever and whatever form it may be, it does not matter much. It has got some value, but that we should not trust them, the inner thing will be given immense value, than the external cover. Cover has also got value.

Devotee: Then there's a chance for a type of sahajiyā to come in where they'll say reject the form on their whim.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the spirit gone away then cannot but be sahajiyā. The body connection gets the upper hand and becomes sahajiyā. When conscious, when awake to the wealth he's getting he cannot be sahajiyā.

Devotee: He has a taste, a ruci.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Here is, my Guru's advice I find there, in this man. Anyhow it has come here." He'll be able to trace, "How, I do not know, but I see my Guru's characteristic, my dealings, my behaviour, is in him. He's my Guru." When I shall be able to recognise the thing in its intrinsic value, independent value, then wherever I shall find it, here is... There was one Aurobindo Ghosh, do you know him?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was a leader of the Anarchist Party, and there was a case in the High Court. So one Mr. Norton, he was the criminal side big Barrister, Norton. Aurobindo had absconded and how to find him? Wherever Norton searched through any newspaper or any writings, the Aurobindo's type of writing, "Here is Mr. Ghosh." Ha, ha, ha. He said, "Here is Mr. Ghosh." In the Amṛta Bazaar Patrikā by Bipin Pal, Aurobindo wrote an article, and Bipin Pal was introduced into the High Court.

"Your Paper, this article is written by whom? You must know. You are the editor."

“Yes, I know.”

“Do you know this man, Aurobindo Ghosh?”

“Yes, I know him. I consider him to be one of the greatest men in the world.” “Do you know him?”

“Yes, I know him.”

“And you know also, as editor of the paper, is this article written by whom?” “Yes, I know.”

“Has this man written this article?” “I won’t say.”

“You won’t say?” “No, I won’t say.”

“Do you know what the punishment is?” “Yes, six months imprisonment.”

“You are ready for that?” “Yes, I’m ready for that.”

Then Norton said, “Here is Mr. Ghosh.” In his writing he saw that Aurobindo is there. Aurobindo’s English was very good English we are told.

Just as, “Here is my Gurudeva.” Our Gurudeva also, Prabhupāda; sometimes in one of his - sometimes in some of his disciples, “Here is Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. I could not recognise him.” There was one Bhāgavat Janadana, when he departed – “I could not find him in this particular article. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura came here, but I could not recognise ” Always seeing like that.

Sarvata krsne mukti pari baraman se lekhi ke pai jan akhi arijan [?]

We are caught out by different attractive things in the world, but them of divine look, divine atmosphere, they're always seeing signs of divinity anywhere and everywhere. Very eager to see, to hear, "This Goswāmī came, this Goswāmī came. I could not understand. I could not recognise." By their thoughts, by their tendency, divine tendency, attitude, they're to read what is here. "My Guru's temperament is here." And in Caritāmṛta you must have found:

*kintu tomāra prema dekhi' mane anumāni / mādhavendra-purīra
'sambandha' dhara - jāni*

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 17.172]

Mahāprabhu detected the Sanoḍiyā brāhmaṇa, seeing his movements, He at once told, “You must have some connection with Mādhavendra Purī. Without his connection we can never find such dealings here. It must come from Mādhavendra Purī.”

In this way we are to find out things. The first thing is that we must know it ourselves, what is the thing, then how to do, what way to deal. We shall be able to arrange ourselves selflessly. When we'll be selfless, and moreover, when we'll be dedicated to Guru Pāda Padma, then that will give us insinuation what to do; that will teach us what steps we are to take now in this critical position.

Devotee: Śikṣā Guru is not a cheap thing which can be taken or left, it has...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru tattva, so, it is said there, ācāryam mām vijānīyān.

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit / na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ

Not to be differentiated One thing coming, ācāryam mām vijānīyān, so the oneness of continuity, that should not be ignored. Guru can be him, and Guru can be another body also. I can see the same Guru. Rather, higher education in a different body he may come to give me higher aspiration, higher inspiration. It is also possible. Whether the breath is more important, or the nose is more important. Breath must be more important than the nose. So, material substance - that should be given always the higher valuation, than the form.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In one same tune, perhaps, as your Prabhupāda. My thought almost tuned in the same plane. That is, crossing the domain of knowledge, that is jñāna, the plane, making advance.

*anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam / ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]

Bhakti, the road of bhakti, the path of bhakti, is independent. It does not depend either on karma, yoga or jñāna. Independently it can take seed from sukṛti, and then śraddhā, sādhū-saṅga, in this way it marches up to the Goloka, prema loka. But when it's passing by the side of karma, near varṇāśrama, karma, and then jñāna kāṇḍa, Vedānta, to cross karma kāṇḍa, this is transient, mortal, it is easy to make anybody understand, that bhakti is better than karma kāṇḍa. It is all transient, all mortal. But jñāna kāṇḍa, this stands as the greatest enemy to bhakti, to māyāvādā; and when it is passing, surpassing rather, jñāna kāṇḍa and going towards prema bhakti, on the way, Vedānta, that jñāna vairāgya; it is going, passing the jñāna kāṇḍa and it is progressing towards the prema loka. Then the Bhāgavata comes. Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, varṇāśrama and bhakti, the differentiated śuddha bhakti school from varṇāśrama, Hari-bhakti-vilāsa smṛti is there. And Śrīmad-Bhāgavata is there when it is dealing with jñāna and yoga. That is pure spiritualism, pure knowledge and passing away that and going towards prema loka, the love domain, the divine love; that is the highest.

Because the divine will stands behind, so it is true. And divine will withdrawn, it has no value; so all the scientific structure crushed down. Devotee: The vaijñānīs they don't accept, therefore they're rascals.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] unreasonable [?]

Devotee: Very reasonable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is possible, and if it is possible, then this is all lost; all the big vaijñānī structure lost. The sweet will of the main principle, the Absolute...

Devotee: This Māyāpur temple is for that purpose. Just a few days ago Harikeśa Mahārāja came for two days. Because it was a short visit he couldn't come here. So we were discussing building a big temple; how we went to the Devī dhāma, Maheśvar dhāma, Vaikuṇṭha dhāma, Goloka dhāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I asked him to go through Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta by Sanātana Goswāmī. There he will get the clear idea. The Devī dhāma, Bhūr, Bhuvah, Svah, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, and Satyaloka: and what incidences are occurring in which place. Then how to differentiate from Virajā, Brahmaloaka, then Śivaloka, then Vaikuṇṭhaloka, then Ayodhyā, then Dvārakā, then Mathurā, then Vṛndāvana. Gradation, tarottama, is nicely described there by Sanātana Goswāmī; the sambandha Ācārya, the Ācārya of the Gauḍīya School to say what is what. What is what we can understand from Sanātana Goswāmī. And how to attain our end, from Rūpa Goswāmī; and what is the highest attainment, that is Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī; these three Ācāryas. And Jīva Goswāmī is protecting all those higher and such thoughts against the current vicāra of the Veda, Vedānta [?]

Devotee: Sambhanda, abhidheya, prayojana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sambhanda, abhidheya, prayojana. Abhidheya Ācārya Rūpa Goswāmī, prayojana Ācārya Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, and the sambandha Ācārya, what is what, Sanātana Goswāmī. Where are we? Who is God to me? What is the world? And what are their different stages? All these are described by Sanātana Goswāmī in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta. I got my conception from there. And of course that was also tested and verified by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's books, Prabhupāda personally _____

(More Bengali for about fifty seconds)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hari-jana means the servants of Hari. They're now mad in their transaction with the worldly affairs, viṣaya, material. They apparently seem to be dealing with material properties, viṣaya range, mattala. Pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge. The underlying idea is this; they really want to worship the rāgapaṭha, the way of love, path of love, rāgapaṭha our affection, love, attraction, that is their real hit, not this ordinary material handling. Pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge. So generally, after Śrī Caitanyadeva, the rāgapaṭha in the hands of imitationists has become very down, gone down a level. So the big persons, they rather hate them. So with the help of what is big, according to the mass conception, we're to take that sort of help and to show that rāgapaṭha is higher and higher. We are not indolent. We are active men. Still, we want to do for God. Not that The worthless people, they will only go to the way of devotion, no. The highly qualified, they should devote everything for the service of the Supreme Lord. That is so great, so big, so, pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge / mattala hari-jana viṣaya range. [?] All the majesty should be devoted, should be utilised, to Him only, that love is supreme, that is the supreme most. That Vṛndāvana, that Kṛṣṇa's, that flower garden, that is higher than the golden garland, golden ornament, this golden crown, hillock, all these things, they're lower. And aiśvarya puṣpa and Govardhan, that is gunja phal mayo pucha that is of more higher valuation, and these are lower in Vaikuṇṭha, the diamond, the gold, all these valuable things, aiśvarya that is more valuable.

Svarūpa Dāmodara is in Hira Pañcamī day, in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita and Svarūpa Dāmodara, the discourse, there it is mentioned. "Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, you forget you are up to Vaikuṇṭha so you are very fond of Lakṣmī Devī's aiśvarya, but we are vrajavāsīs. We give more value to this flower, the leaves, and the all these things. That is more valuable to us these plain and simple things, more than... Who has got much aiśvarya, they do not care for gold and diamonds, rather they're vexed with all these things. But our, and kiśora and that is always pleasing like things.

Devotee: I just had one question, because I know it must be time for your bath or something now, or your prasādam.

(More Bengali for about 3.15 minutes)

Devotee: Prabhupāda said, “You’re my disciples. You’re all very good boys. You’re my disciples. Very good.” [?] What did he say exactly?

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: “You’re my disciples.” So then what happened is that he never gave them mālā, he never gave them new name, and they went back to their village. Then they go back and then they gave themselves mālā, gave themselves name.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then he has accepted them, gave admission; now śikṣā Guru is necessary. When he has accepted them direct, face to face, then they’re direct disciples. Now śikṣā Guru is necessary, to guide them in details. Acceptance is more valued.

Devotee: Yes. That’s what I thought, that those who personally went there, Prabhupāda said that, “You are my śiṣyas.” That that acceptance means that directly they’re his disciples. But those who did not go there, those others who were in the village...

(More Bengali for about 1.50 minutes)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mantra is formal encouched in expression. What is embodied there, that is to be opened. And that tattva jñāna, that is not an easy thing, that is not a non important factor. Real dīkṣā is there, tattva jñāna [?]

Devotee: Biphal?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Biphal mantra. He does not know what is contained there. He's transferring something, an expression, but the one whose giving, he himself is not aware of what is embodied there.

Devotee: He doesn't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He doesn't know.

Devotee: That clears up the point. But once a person accepts someone as śikṣā Guru, or when he approaches someone for training, that shouldn't be a whimsical thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śikṣā Guru, dīkṣā Guru, when seen or placed in one place; that of course is higher.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, when we're accepted by him, "You are my disciple," then they will also have to accept śikṣā Guru, but śikṣā Guru should not get so much honour as dīkṣā Guru. But when dīkṣā Guru and śikṣā Guru is combined in the next generation, there of course the fullest confidence and honour should be given to the dīkṣā Guru. Do you follow?

Devotee: Hmm. What's the position of mantra Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mantra Guru, of course he's consciously giving, he's good, mantra Guru. Ha, ha, śikṣā Guru, more stress is given to śikṣā Guru in our samprādaya, our Guru paramparā. The taṭasthā-vicāra, the relative and absolute; two lines of consideration, one is relative and another is absolute; when some contrast will come the absolute will be superior. You see: yei rasa, sei sarvottama. Vātsalya rasa, śanta rasa, dāsyā rasa, sākhya rasa, mādhurya rasa; the parents, they will think, "I have the superior position." And the sākha, friend, he will think, "I am the most intimate with Kṛṣṇa." In their respective positions, they will think that they're the most intimate. But if a comparison is drawn, independent of their position, then the mādhurya rasa will come highest.

["It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.83]

From the absolute consideration the mādhurya rasa surpasses all, the vātsalya rasa, sākhya rasa, they're all down. Though the vātsalya rasa and sākhya rasa they may think that great intimacy they have got, more than the mādhurya rasa; a relative position under the absolute. But our Guru paramparā is that of absolute consideration. Many bodily representations eliminated from the Guru paramparā. And the current of śikṣā, the higher, pure śikṣā, that current is coming down. Wherever, from this summit to that summit, from that summit, in this way the river coming down. Do you follow?

mahāprabhu śrī-caitanya, rādhā-kṛṣṇa nahe anya rūpānuga janera jīvana viśvambhara priyaṅkara śrī-swarūpa dāmodara, [śrī-goswāmī rūpa-sanātana]

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...sambandha, what is the conception of Kṛṣṇa, and how other gods are connected with Him, how the world's position, the Brahmaloḥa, Virajā, all these, how their adjustment. The proper adjustment, sambandha jñāna, the knowledge of proper adjustment of the universe, divine and mundane, sambandha jñāna. And Sanātana Goswāmī is told to be the... he has come to give us that sort, he's authority of that department. So in Bṛhad-Bhāgavatāmṛta he has given instructions what is Bhūr, Bhuvah, Svah, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, and Satyaloka, this Brahmaloḥa, what is the position of the brahmāṇḁa. And what is Virajā, what is Brahmaloḥa, what is Vaikuṇṭha, what is Śivaloka, then what is Goloka, what is Ayodhyā, Dvārakā.

All these according to rasa, you see rasa is the main thing, the main structure, desirable structure is rasa. That is the juice, the juice which attracts us all. And none, even from the atheist of the lowest order and the devotee of the highest order - none can deny that I don't want happiness. So rasa is the standard. Just as gold is the standard in the monetary departments of different countries, so rasa is the main thing by which we should judge. What country is wealthy, what country is not wealthy, poor, by gold you can judge in the international affairs. So, in the diverse type of expression, through rasa we can measure and we can degree and dismiss what is right, what is wrong, what is better, what is bad, what is good. So according to the rasa, the quality and quantity, the lower and higher order should be judged.

So, vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī, why madhu-purī is higher than Vaikuṇṭha? Only for vātsalya rasa. It is not in Nārāyaṇa, it is not found in Vaikuṇṭha, the vātsalya rasa. And it is found in Ayodhyā and also Mathurā so it is higher. That rasa, that vātsalya rasa is wanted here in Vaikuṇṭha and the original side, higher side. And it is found here, it is a perverted reflection. By method of deceiving the vātsalya rasa is here but it is the reflection. And in the original world where is vātsalya rasa? It is not found in Vaikuṇṭha though there must be some other loka where vātsalya rasa is to be found. And that will be the higher. In this way Mathurā has been founded. Then the mādhurya-rasa is here and that is not to be traced properly in Vaikuṇṭha. Where can it be had? So we shall have to go to Vṛndāvana. In this way he has given us the gradual development of the loka according to rasa.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam udāra-pāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ premāmṛtāplāvanāt kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevām vivekī na kaḥ

[“The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?”] [Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

In this side also:

karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktim yayur jñāninas tebhya jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dṛśas tābhyo 'pi sā rādhikā preṣṭhā tadvad iyaṁ tadīya-sarasī tām nāśrayet kaḥ kṛtī

[“There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord's loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places.”]

[Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

So here also in this world, brahmāṇḍa, this is a world of exploitation. And when the exploitation is going less it is higher, in the Satyaloka the least exploitation. And then Virajā no exploitation, but it is the verge of this brahmāṇḍa. And then Brahmaloka it is the last position, rather, the cover of Vaikuṇṭha, it is spiritual, light. The prakṛti is watery, prakṛti is watery, accommodating. As when we push water it goes away, so prakṛti is like that. And puruṣa, cetana, that is like light, so that is Brahmaloka. That is the last, the lowest conception of the cinmaya, or the glow of service. Here the exploitation and there fully exploited. The outer current and that is inner current, current leading towards centre. And this is out carrying current, taking away from Kṛṣṇa. And that is taking towards Kṛṣṇa. That is service, leading towards centre. And that's Vaikuṇṭha. Just in the lowest position there's Śivaloka, then Vaikuṇṭha, then Ayodhyā, then Dvārakā, then Mathurā, then Vṛndāvana, then Govardhana, then Rādhākuṇḍa. In this way it has been described according to tattva, ontological conception, the hierarchy has been depicted there in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta.

I had a mind that I shall build a temple here of that type, but a huge expense. So when I heard that he will have the biggest temple in the world there I gave suggestion to your Divine Master, “You do.”

“Yes. When I, such site will come, they will have a conception of what is what, what is good. That Kṛṣṇa is the highest and He has come down in prapañca to give darśana to the people.”

This Bhu Vṛndāvana, Vṛndāvana in the highest order, and that Vṛndāvana he has taken here. Navadvīpa also, there's two quarters. Vṛndāvana Goloka and Navadvīpa. And here Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa has come down in the surface to take us up. What we see in the temple here, in the ground floor, that is really a thing of the highest order. And that has been, in a spiral case it will be seen. What is the sign of Goloka, what is the sign of Bhuvah, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, or Satyaloka, Brahmaloka, Virajā, Brahmaloka, then Śivaloka, Vaikunṭha, Goloka, it is really they go up and see. They will have a conception of the whole practical structure of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava who will have a darśana of this temple. Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava means this. There, this is their comparative vision of the ontological quarter. The whole philosophy will be depicted there in the temple. So this is the philosophy of the Gauḍīyas.

Devotee: Topmost.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. You two may go to Māyāpur, driving in the car?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I asked Govinda Mahārāja to take me out of the and forcibly he took it to the boat.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: We forced our way over.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: You have to be very forceful, especially in preaching now, because everyone has gone so crazy due to Kali-yuga. When you travel all over the world you have to be so forceful and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Direct approach and forceful approach, direct.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Yes. I find that is the best.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You got also direct and you distribute also direct. Ha, ha.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Yes. When I was in Australia in January then many of the Maheśa Yogī, I have converted many of his disciples. Now when I go back I want to do more, in Sidney. Anyway, the main, what won them over was that they had never been told what is the responsibility of the disciple and what is the responsibility of the Guru. They had no idea, of that relationship, because they have no concept of personal relationship between the Guru and the disciple. He's māyāvādī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, all māyāvādī.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, if you would give us permission, we may take your leave now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Take some prasādam.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Yes. And then we'll go back to Māyāpur. And thank you very, very much. When I come here though I haven't been here since this visit with Guru Mahārāja in nineteen seventy seven but I feel enlivened now in my preaching. Now I feel inspired. I have lots of ammunition to preach, after hearing your ambrosial words.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The more you will engage yourself busily to the business of propaganda the more you will get the supply from upper house.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Ha, ha. And I feel that you are the representative of that upper house.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: So thank you very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caru Swāmī.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Yes. I promise you we'll take care of that as soon as we get over this little technical difficulty, we'll...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally, I begin work in the day of ratha-yātrā, during rainy season.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: You begin then?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ratha-yātrā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: There's preference to start the work on Ratha-yātrā.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: All right. So by then, whatever we have we'll...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Bhāvānanda Mahārāja [?]

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

This is another miracle Mahārāja, this is another miracle. That such an elevated pure devotee as yourself would deign to embrace a mleccha like me. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The sinner cannot commit so much sin, what even one word, the Divine Word, the Divine Name can...

Devotee: Simply, we should have that much confidence; one should have that much confidence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, śraddhā.

sakala chāḍiyā bhāi, śraddhādevīra guṇa gāi, yanra kṛpa bhakti dite pare

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says: “Leave aside everything else, but only concentrate in śraddhā.”

The very nature of the living being is based on faith - their internal and external nature is modelled according to their faith. Therefore, their nature may be discerned according to the manner of worship or reverence in which they have faith.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 17.3]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yo yac chraddhaḥ sa eva saḥ.

Devotee: Only śraddhā is the criterion by which one should be judged.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the criterion.

Devotee: By which he should be judged.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, be judged, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ puruṣo, yo yac chraddhaḥ sa eva saḥ.

Devotee: And Bhāgavatam also says that even if one is a caṇḍāla and he's Kṛṣṇa conscious, whereas a brāhmaṇa devoid of Kṛṣṇa bhakti, the caṇḍāla is on a higher level.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: He can be a Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: But not the brāhmaṇa who's devoid of Kṛṣṇa bhakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: Kṛṣṇadās Kavirāja, in Caitanya-caritāmṛta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahāprabhu Himself says to Rāmānanda, kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya, / yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya.

Devotee: And the Bhāgavatam has gone a step further, here is said caṇḍāla even.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: There is the body. There is the body.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: in Gītā ye ‘pi syuḥ pāpa-yonayaḥ. [mām hi pārtha vyapāśritya, ye ‘pi syuḥ pāpa-yonayaḥ

Devotee: Ye 'pi syuḥ pāpa-yonayaḥ, striyo vaiśyās tathā śūdrās, te 'pi yānti parām gatim. In this way it has been described, but not that he will be a Guru like that. There is no description like that, I think; but in Bhāgavatam, as Caru Mahārāja has said just now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

[“O Lord! How glorious are they whose tongues always chant Your Holy Name! Even if born in a family of dog eaters, such persons are worshipping. Those who chant the Holy Name of Your Lordship must have performed all kinds of austerities and sacrifices. They must have all the good qualities of the Āryans, or civilised men. They must have bathed in all the holy places, studied the Vedas, and fulfilled everything required of those who are qualified to chant the Vedas and perform yajña.”]

If it is possible that no Name is in his tongue, tepus tapas te, apparently we do not find any penance in him. No, no. In previous births he has already finished that course, tepus tapas te. Juhuvuḥ, he's not eligible to perform any yajña. No, no. In his previous birth he has finished the course of yajña. Then, juhuvuḥ sasnur, we do not find that he's visiting any tīrtha, holy place, and taking bath in the holy water, holy river. No, no. Already he has finished all those...

Devotee: That course; already passed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in previous births. Sasnur āryā, the Vedic customs, practices, is not found in him. He has already, the āryā, the Vedic sadācāra, in his previous births he observed all these Vedic practices. Brahmānūcur, he's not eligible to pronounce the Veda, the smṛti, but that was also finished in previous...

Devotee: He's beyond that now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmānūcur nāma, then only the faith in the Name of the Lord can come; all automatically done. Tan-mukhe hari-namani sada tisthanti bharata.

Devotee: Even the Bhāgavatam says, pada panka para [?]

One who has got the dust of the lotus feet of the Lord, you see he's also not bound by these Vedic schedules; he's been freed by that also. Though he doesn't go to the wrong deeds, but so says the Bhāgavatam, he's not bound by those things, even as regards the Lord, conveniencey arises.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In Ajāmila also it is mentioned.

Devotee: Pardon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ajāmila in conclusion also it is mentioned.

All other practices cannot really purify, but the remembrance of Kṛṣṇa, however slight it may be, it will relieve us from all past dealings, and make us...

Hari mukta pare upasya mana pan cesta hari nama samsaya [?]

And Sanātana Goswāmī also says:

*jayati jayati nāmānanda rūpam murarer, viramita nija dharma dhyāna

[Sanātana Goswāmī says: “Let ecstasy in the service of the Divine Name be victorious. If somehow we can come in contact with that sound, nāma rūpaṁ murāreḥ, then all our other activities will be paralysed; we will have no necessity of performing any other activity. Our many variegated duties will have no importance to us at all if we can achieve the service of the Divine Name of Kṛṣṇa.”]

[Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, 1.1.9]

Devotee: And Caitanya Mahāprabhu put the whole percentage on the Name; Caitanya Mahāprabhu. The whole percentage put on the Nāma, Caitanya Mahāprabhu, based wholly and solely on Nāma, Nāma saṅkīrtana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Sanātana Goswāmī says, “jayati jayati nāmānanda rūpam murarer, let the ecstasy in the service of the Holy Name have all glory. All glory to the Divine Name of the Lord. Why? Viramita nija dharma dhyāna pujiyadhi yatna, if one can get a little taste of that sort of divine bliss, then his charm for all these religious activities vanishes. What are they? Viramita nija dharma, his respective duties what he has got in his present position, dharma, this varṇāśrama dharma, karma-kāṇḍa, niskarm varṇāśrama dharma phala. Dharma dhyāna, it covers the yogīs and the jñānīs. It is not necessary when the grace of the Name has arisen in one's heart. Then he does not feel any charm for meditation, or this sāṅkhya jñāna. That is, the bliss of renunciation of the material aspiration, dhyāna pujiyadhi. Then pūjā, arcana, that is covering the Rāmānuja sampradāya, they're fond; and the Nimbarka also, they're very fond of paricarjya and arcana, pūjā. When one gets the grace of the Holy Name, he becomes indifferent in other services, even including pūjā and arcana.

Devotee: He's overwhelmed in the transcendental bliss you see. He doesn't get the time even to turn his head in this way or that way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So Mahāprabhu says:

ceto-darpaṇa-mārjanam bhava-mahā-dāvāgni-nirvāpaṇam [Śreyas-

[“The Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa cleanses the mirror of the heart and extinguishes the fire of misery in the forest of birth and death. As the evening lotus blooms in the moon's cooling rays, the heart begins to blossom in the nectar of the Name. And at last the soul awakens to its real inner treasure - a life of love with Kṛṣṇa. Again and again tasting nectar, the soul dives and surfaces in the ever-increasing ocean of ecstatic joy. All phases of the self of which we may conceive are fully satisfied and purified, and at last conquered by the all-auspicious influence of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 1]

The karma-kāṇḍa and jñāna-kāṇḍa finishes. Ceto-darpaṇa means vaidic karma-kāṇḍa niskarma The first result of Nāma bhajan is ceto-darpaṇa-mārjanaṁ _____ Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mukti is attained by the...

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When the inner-most self has sprung up from the clutches of māyā of twofold, exploitation and renunciation, and it is settled there, vidyā-vadhū, for jīvanam, it supplies the very life, vitality, in that life. Still it is necessary, śreyaḥ-kairava-candrikā-vitarāṇam vidyā-vadhū-jīvanam, ānandāmbudhi-varḍhanam. Now, prava mukti, very meagre his position; a speck, sees himself to be like an atom in an ocean of joy, ānandāmbudhi, and that is increasing, everybody progressing.

Devotee: Prati-padam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prati-padam pūrṇāmṛtāsvādanam. And every step, nava-yauvana, every step. When he's taking the Name it seems to him newer and newer and it never becomes stale. Always new, kaiśor Always progressing nature.

Devotee: Because the Lord is non different from His Name, so in a way, the Ajit, the Lord is before him. He's niyamitra, no one else.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, ever increasing.

Devotee: Ever increasing, evergreen.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Evergreen, ever new.

Devotee: Ever new, no-one except Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prati-padaṁ pūrṇāmṛtāsvādanaṁ, sarvātma-snapanaṁ. Two-fold meanings; sarvātma, who attends all our deeds purified, and sarvātma, every point in the system of the sādhaka is purified.

Devotee: Every single atom; every single atom.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Every step, every stage, every strata, in every point in the conception of our body conception seems to be purified, sarvātma-snapanaṁ.

Ātmā has got many-fold meanings. In all its meanings it is purified. It seems that my body's being purified, my mind is being purified, my reason – judgement is being purified, my ego is being purified, my whole existence is being purified.

Devotee: Ajit, the Name Mahāprabhu has given everything.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: Mahāprabhu has given everything. Nothing more can be wanted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, everything, nothing more one can conceive. And a very simple way take the Name.

*kaler doṣa-nidhe rājann asti hy eko mahān guṇaḥ kīrttanād eva kṛṣṇasya

[Śukadeva Goswāmī tells Parīkṣit Mahārāja: “O King, the age of Kali, the repository of all evils, has but one glorious characteristic: in this age, those who simply chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa are liberated and reach the Supreme Lord.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.3.51]

[“My dear King, the inhabitants of Satya-yuga and other ages eagerly desire to take birth in this age of Kali, since in this age there will be many devotees of the Supreme Lord, Nārāyaṇa. These devotees will appear in various places but will be especially numerous in South India.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.38]

Kṛtādiṣu, even in golden ages also, intelligent people they hanker after a birth in Kali because the Kali has got a special grant from the Lord. That anyhow if one can take the Name of the Lord then he attains the highest position. Kṛtādiṣu prajā rājan, kalāv icchanti sambhavam, kalau khalu

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When Swāmī Mahārāja came here the last time he told that, “Jayapataka is requesting me that I shall stay here and he will construct a building for myself, and have thought that there will be two compartments. In one portion I shall stay and in another portion you will stay.” He told.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Hmm. I remember.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I shall have to go sometimes around the world for preaching purpose and you will remain there. You don’t like much to go hither thither, you will stay there. [?]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And that small room...

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: He stayed there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But two hours also in the noon, the group is rest there, and coming back he told, “That’s a very beautiful, good room.” Then it came in my mind, he has gone through the world and so many big buildings he has seen, and this what he says it is a very, very peculiar.

Devotees: [Laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Bhāvānanda Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is roughly finished, the Nat Mandir.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: I explained, we're having some technical problem, but that will be cleared up shortly. Then on Monday someone can come and pick up a cheque.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What do you think to be the estimation?

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: To finish?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, to finish.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: I think fifty thousand rupees.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fifty thousand.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: I think will finish it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And this is very high, market is very high.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: High. With marble stone because the mosaic is not good.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And because it is now connected, the finishing is connected with your divine master. And it is all around, this is spread.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Bhāvānanda Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As you like.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: As we like, we like to give it all, but we're not able due to do these technical difficulties. Kali yuga is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Big life size portrait also of Swāmī Mahārāja you want to...

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Yes. We'll have that done I think in America, and brought over.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: By our Art Department in Los Angeles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And I'll be grateful also if you can supply with Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and Guru Mahārāja also.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Oh yes; three.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja, Prabhupāda, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: In one month finally we will begin on Guru Mahārāja's puṣpa samādhī construction, next month construction will begin. It is a very grand affair, this samādhī, in Māyāpur; two hundred feet high.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And length and breadth?

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: I'm not so sure, but it's very big. The mūrti of Guru Mahārāja will be on a simhāsana that is eighty feet high, eighty feet tall.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eighty feet high?

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Yes, the simhāsana for the mūrti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How high will be the door, how high will be the main gate, entering?

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: The main gate is seventy five feet high.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Seventy five.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: High.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The . of the siṃhāsana may not be higher than the gate.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: It may? May not? We can make that adjust...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He said it may be higher. That is because the entrance into the temple goes down and up.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Goes down and up, yes. And also in Vṛndāvana, you know I have been put in charge of our Vṛndāvana centre also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, I heard.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: I like it there, very nice; Vṛndāvana.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And ever since Bhāvānanda Mahārāja took charge of Vṛndāvana, the condition of the Vṛndāvana temple also has improved to a very great extent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very good. Both Navadvīpa and Vṛndāvana, in charge of both Navadvīpa and Vṛndāvana?

Devotee: The disciples that you already initiated, is it possible for them...hand them over to somebody else?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To hand them over to another Ācārya?

Devotee: Yes, is it possible?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I shall say it afterwards.

Devotee: Oh. According to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I reserve, the decision I reserve. Afterwards I shall give my opinion...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...there, the discussion going on. Let them come to an adjustment within themselves. It will be very good and well. If any thing's to be said, I shall say it after. Ke?

Devotee: [?]

[More Bengali (?) for about thirty five seconds]

Devotee: Separate from Kṛṣṇa we wanted to enjoy. That is why we came down in this material world. The cause of the fall-down of jīvātmā is because he wanted to enjoy separately from Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Once I put a question to our Guru Mahārāja. “Guru Mahārāja, that about the conclusion of Vraja līlā, Sanātana Goswāmī and Rūpa Goswāmī differ. Then what is the explanation for this?”

He summarily told, “If everything could be harmonised within our decision then what is the necessity of saying that it is adhokṣaja?” That was the answer.

A far as possible, we have a jurisdiction of the sight, a jurisdiction of the ear. If sound is more intensified we can't hear, and very less we can't hear; within a degree we can know. We can hear, we can see, within a particular degree of light. Is it not?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as our senses work within a limited space, so our brain, thinking, and our soul also, within a particular limit it is free to work. Above that, transcending that, it can't contain, can't concede itself. So we shall try to be satisfied within our limitation. And so, Mahāprabhu has emphasised in this term, acintya bhedābheda, acintya. The stress laid on the word acintya bhedābheda. You won't venture, you finite beings, you won't venture to captivate the whole thing within your first. Then you'll lose your status. Your natural, jñāna-sunya, maximum, what has been given to you, utilise your best for that.

athavā bahunaitena, kiṁ jñātena tavārjjuna viṣṭabhyāham idaṁ kṛtsnam ekāṁśena sthito jagat

[“But Arjuna, what is the need of your understanding this elaborate knowledge of My almighty grandeur? By My fractional expansion as the Supreme Soul of material nature, Mahā-Viṣṇu (Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Viṣṇu), I remain supporting this entire universe of moving and stationary beings.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 10.42]

“Whatever you can conceive, it is in My One negligent portion.”

You try to get your maximum which is allotted for your lot. And so, jñāna-sunya-bhakti, if you like to give more stress to knowing everything, then what portion of ānanda, the player is attached to you, you'll lose that, so jñāna-sunya-bhakti. That is the highest realisation for everyone, everyone; only with the exception of Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī.

Devotee: Mahārāja, when you say jñāna-sunya, is that speculating knowledge?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jñāna-sunya-bhakti.

Devotee: Jñāna-sunya-bhakti means not. [?] Any rationality, in thought, because of Kṛṣṇa's love; if you're loving Kṛṣṇa, he does not want to know why he loves Kṛṣṇa, he loves Him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whatever you get by the spontaneous activity of the environment, you work within that [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a constitution, you have been attached to a duty, and you will try to satisfy your obligation. You fully apply yourself with that jurisdiction; the maximum attention you should give to your duty you're attached to. Submission.

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

jānanta eva jānantu, kiṁ bahūktyā na me prabho manaso vapuṣo vāco, vaibhavaṁ tava go-caraḥ

["There are people who say, "I know everything about Kṛṣṇa." Let them think that way. As far as I am concerned, I do not wish to speak very much about this matter. O my Lord, let me say this much: As far as Your opulences are concerned, they are all beyond the reach of my mind, body and words."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.38]

Brahmā says, "Those that think that they know much, let them foolishly think like that. But it is my conclusion that I do not know a little bit of it. I do not understand Your ways even a little bit. This is my findings."
Brahmā, the Ādi Guru, he says like that.

Infinite character from all respects, from all respects it is infinite, and only through grace I and I must be satisfied with that, to utilise that. What is given to me, I shall try to adjust myself within that limitation. My perfection is only there.

(More Bengali for about 2:20 minutes)

Devotee: There is one question Mahārāja, this is one of the acintya questions. In one of Prabhupāda's books, Śrīla Prabhupāda explained that the spiritual master's body, it is beyond the three modes of material nature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: It is not affected by the birth, death, old age and disease. And in another place Prabhupāda mentions the mortal body of the spiritual master. And Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu also when He danced with the body of Haridās Ṭhākura, He also said that He eternal exists in the body of Haridās Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So 'the mortal body of Gurudeva', it is not a happy word.

Devotee: It is not?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not happy; happy expression. His body is sat-cit-ānanda, it is eternal. We should, we are to consider like that, because sometimes it is mentioned only to make intelligible in our court, according to our court. But really we should think that it is all spiritual, nothing mortal. And to consider it as mortal, that is an offence to the spiritual substance. Because we are not acquainted with the ways and nature of the spiritual substance, it is due to our defective mind and senses that in terms of these worldly substances we ascribe or describe him.

Devotee: We reflect our imperfections.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, we cannot but do, so sometimes we say, but we are in the process of training to get that conception, that it is all eternal, not mortal. We are going to be a member of the eternal domain. Already we are a member of the mortal domain. We are accustomed to think everything in terms of mortality. But we must have a transit from here and we should enter into the spiritual world. And the nature of the existence of appearance of that world is immortal and of constant nature. Constant nature, not changing; it may change but that is also a spiritual change. But not vanishing, not a victim of any time and age there, because it is eternal.

Devotee: The point is that within our conception of time we cannot understand eternity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So we must have a training within ourselves to have a conception of the truth.

Devotee: We try to bring eternity to within our limited understanding.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. As much as possible we shall try, being surrounded by the mortal changing element, we shall try to have a conception of the eternal non changeable substance. So we should always think, the Guru, the Vaiṣṇava, the Śrī Mūrti, they're all of eternal nature. And they have come down here to make us acquainted with the nature of eternity, though we are in the mortal area, the area of changing, every second.

Devotee: Prabhupāda used to say that anybody who thinks that the Guru is mortal, even the Guru's body is mortal, then he's completely wrong.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, wrong.

Devotee: Because he's in contact with Kṛṣṇa constantly, so his body is also spiritualised and it is transcendental. But, due to certain laws of nature he leaves his body. That's why he's put to samādhi. The principle or the siddhānta of samādhi is that because...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, we made one Ācārya, Uṭaradi [?] Maṭh in Madras, Uṭaradi [?] Maṭh in Urupi [?]. A big Ācārya, Satyadan Tīrtha. Bon Mahārāja, myself, and Hayagrīva Prabhu, that is Mādhava Mahārāja. Then discussion going on, and in the discussion he told that in Śrī Mūrti, the Śālagrāma, God is within. We told that Śālagrāma Himself is God.

Deho dehi vibhagayam nisyare bhidyate karchit [?]

The body and one possessing the body, this sort of distinction is not in God. The possessor of body and the body possessed, this sort of distinction is not with God. But he told “No. The Śālagrāma, if I strike with a club, then it will be smashed.” That Ācārya told. We all put our palms to the ears. This should not be heard. This sort of statement should not enter into your ear. And all were perplexed. There were many Bakhils [?] and Barristers and others, big disciples of that gentleman, that Ācārya, they were all perplexed. “What do these sannyāsīs say? Our Guru Mahārāja has given a statement and they're closing their ears.” Then (Hiranya Madyācārya?) he has spoken like that.

Devotee: That is not true Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then I put one question to him. When Kṛṣṇa departed, the Jara struck an arrow and blood oozes. But is that blood material blood?

“No, no.”

Then why? We are seeing with these eyes that blood oozing, material blood, material body. Is that material?

“No, no: never.” It is also like that.

Sita raksati maya hara ravana [?]

One disciple of Rāmānuja sampradāya, when Mahāprabhu was wandering in the South, he told that, “I don’t like to keep my life any longer.”

“Why?”

“That rākṣasa, that demon Rāvaṇa, he took away Mother Janaki, Sītā, and I am to hear in the ear that thing. I won’t like to keep my life.”

Then Mahāprabhu told, “No. Don’t be afraid of that. What to speak of taking Sītā by the demon, even the demon cannot see Her.”

aprākṛta vastu nahe prākṛta-gocara [veda-purāṇete ei kahe nirantara]

[“All the Vedas and Purāṇas continually warn against considering divine or non material substance to fall within the category of material nature.”]

[Caitanya-caritamṛta, Madhya-līlā, 9.194]

This is all spiritually. Mortal eye cannot see the spiritual substance; only the māyā. That māyā, that illusory image has been taken away by Rāvaṇa, the demon. The spiritual lady cannot be touched by the matter. So it is like that. Our eyes are deceived, by spiritual colour, and by spiritual sound, spiritual touch. But only by the inconceivable power of Kṛṣṇa, that spiritual and material can come in any connection.

[More Bengali (?) for about forty five seconds]

Devotee: Mahārāja, avibhāva of the spiritual master, what does that mean; the day he actually took this physical frame of this material world, or what?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Avibhāva, no, avibhāva means generally it is for our purpose serving, avibhāva appearance that he came in the experience of our senses. That is the time of avibhāva. Otherwise he was [?]

[More Bengali (?) for about 2:05 minutes]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Come within the jurisdiction of our senses.

Devotee: That means, when he, achar, when a date is chosen, one particular date is chosen; or?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes? Senses, that is not of any individual, but as general. He may appear but I may not see him that day, so I saw another day, after ten years or after fifty years I may see. But that is not the day of appearance, appearance in the surface, where I am living. In this way it should be...

Devotee: So more or less, when he first took dīkṣā, then, can that be considered as...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The day of appearance, no. That is not a day of appearance, my connection with him [?]

Devotee: So who decides that now?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who will take dīkṣā?

Devotee: No. Who will decide that appearance day?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Appearance day, it may come from him, or any other Vaiṣṇava.

Devotee: Ah, I see. And one more thing Mahārāja; the disciple, when he's doing Jaya Guru praṇāma, he may use before the name of his Guru, Om Viṣṇu-Pāda Paramahaṁsa Parivrājakācārya Aṣṭottara-śata Śrī Śrīmad, he can do it, it is possible for the disciple to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The disciple, formally, when he's mentioning the name of Guru he'll do in that way, but not usually or not always. Sometimes in a ceremonial occasion he will say like that.

Devotee: And every day after the āratī when the Guru...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, even you take the name of Mahāprabhu or Kṛṣṇa, not Om Viṣṇu-Pāda, all these things, not always.

Devotee: No, no.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And when Yaśodā is accosting Kṛṣṇa, not Om Viṣṇu-Pāda. Pṛiti is the highest standard. These are all formalities.

Devotee: Yes, I know. I was, my question was this because I wanted to know whether it was actually authorised, such a title to give to Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: The second question Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śāstra means always for them who are eligible for that. Śāstra does not work on everyone. When one has realised his proper position, śāstra withdraws from him. His spontaneous nature guides him in rāgānugā.

Vaidhi bhakta vikarestu ragavi bhavana vidhu [?]

So long as the innate, automatic tendency to serve the Lord is not aroused, the śāstra, the rules and regulations should be applied to a person up to that time. And when the internal, spontaneous flow of love has already been disclosed in flow, then no śāstric rules can have any application on him. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vaidhi bhakta vikarestu, in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Rūpa Goswāmī writes.

Every activity, every action, has some purpose. The lowest stage is bhaya, fear. In the beasts, animals, they work out of fear. Then, men also, in the lowest stage they work out of fear, bhaya. Then, asa, prospect, next higher, the principle of pushing us to our activity is prospect. Next higher is sense of duty. And the highest motive is rāga Sense of duty, then spontaneous love. Bhaya, asa, kartiboditi, and rāga, these are the four fold principles which helps us to go on in our activities; according to four stages. The lowest stage is we work out of fear, then better is prospect, then next higher is sense of duty, and the highest is love. These are the four principles that are behind all our activities, according to stages.

Devotee: Mahārāja, one more question. The title of Viṣṇu-Pāda, can it be had by anyone? I mean any Guru, anybody whose initiating, may he be entitled to the title of Viṣṇu-Pāda?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where we can see the connection of Infinite, that is the particular position of Infinite, of Viṣṇu, then we can take it as Viṣṇu-Pāda. Especially Guru, śikṣā Guru is also there. If I find the same thing as we find in my Guru is there, the presence of Guru is there. Guru is Bhagavān, he's God Himself, or His highest potency, as Rādhikā, or in another, Subala or Yaśodā, the highest representation of the servitors. That is to be located. If I can trace that thing in any place, I can consider the śikṣā Guru one and the same, at the same place. I give that sort of respect and respect will go to one place; God and His highest servitors. Predominating and Predominated Moiety. Kṛṣṇa is the predominating half, and the other predominated half is Rādhārāṇī, predominated. Infinite has two aspects; potency and enjoyer, predominating enjoyer, and predominated half is śakti, svarūpa śakti potency. One is enjoying and another is being enjoyed, and one half is enjoying; the power, positive and negative. Mahābhāva, rasa-rāja. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

(Bengali spoken for about 17:15 minutes)

Devotee: It is not clear, what is the sannyāsa position within our Society now?

Devotee: You want to know from Mahārāja? Mahārāja, his question is, “What is the position of a sannyāsī in the Gauḍīya sampradāya?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The general sannyāsī is to be called a sannyāsī who has dedicated his thought, word, and deed, in the service of the Lord. He should be considered as a sannyāsī in the Gauḍīya system, or mission. But that is not all. There also should be a gradation amongst sannyāsīs. That is according to the degree, the intensity of self dedication to the Lord. But the general position is that in general who has dedicated his thought, word, and deed, kāya-mano-vākya, only for the service of the Lord, he can be considered a sannyāsī, in our society. He won't go back...

Devotee: Sorry, can you repeat what question you asked.

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: Yes, Mahārāja is saying, he's telling Mahārāja that probably you want to know what is the position here of the sannyāsīs, in ISKCON.

Devotee: Mahārāja, his question is, "What is the position of sannyāsīs in ISKCON? What should be their duty now that Śrīla Prabhupāda is not present, he's aprakat. So in that case; but specially this situation as you know...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We shall expect that who are supposed to represent Prabhupāda's will, future will for propaganda, that body we should obey. This is a general thing. It is expected that the body who represents the future will of Prabhupāda, and nominated by him, generally, we should abide by their decisions, in a general sense.

Devotee: What should be the procedure to take Mahārāja?

Devotee: That is the procedure.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Redactive method, descending method. Advice is descending from the domain of the Lord to this world. We shall try to remember this, and we shall try to submit us to that decision, setting aside our individual internal suggestions, generally. There maybe, rarely, special cases.

Devotee: You see, his problem is, Mahārāja, that now his position is that he's in South America, and he himself has a South American body; so he was preaching very nicely in South America for Śrīla Prabhupāda. So many young boys became very attached to him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see now Swāmī Mahārāja has departed and many intricate questions will arise, in different forms. And before this Svarūpa Dāmodara and that Yaśodānandan, and Pradyumna, and a few persons came to me. Already advised their against the Ācārya Board, they're not satisfied with their dealings. And I asked them, both parties, if represented come to me then I shall try to help you in the adjustment. But differences that are arising here and there.

Devotee: They have already taken your decision.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And if they can solve within them, it is well and good. Amongst themselves, if they can solve the problems that are arising now, if you can solve it within yourself, it is well and good. Because...

Devotee: How it is possible Mahārāja? It is not possible because everybody has vested interest. Only a Vaiṣṇava, and a senior Vaiṣṇava...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If it is necessary to solve the problem, any help from my side, I shall try my best from my experience about the association and my meagre śāstric knowledge I shall try to help you. This good will I can express. What more can I do?

Devotee: I wanted you to give me advice in this manner, specifically in this manner. When Śrīla Prabhupāda departed, this Ācārya-ship was not clear to many of us. So...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I told that he nominated eleven Ācāryas. And when they came to me I suggested that this Ācārya Board may be expanded according to the necessity of time and space, demand of time and space it may be expanded. And a system should be followed so that the non Ācārya God- brothers, they may have some fair chance to live respectfully in this Mission. We're having a bitter experience, and through this bitter experience we're learning something. And with that we may try to help you, if necessary.

Devotee: I am having, myself, I am having a bitter experience with the present situation. So...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Pradyumna, perhaps with twenty points he came to me; in a written note, that these are the objections against the Ācāryas, the practices and behaviour of the Ācāryas. These are, about twenty objections we have got. And perhaps that is being circulated amongst the non Ācārya stalwarts in the Mission.

Devotee: I didn't see that Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How to control.

Devotee: Mahārāja, he has...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What will be the position of the Ācāryas and the Governing Body, and those stalwarts that are outside the Governing Body? The newcomers. Of course, it is a very difficult task to adjust, very difficult. But with the sympathetic attitude of the Ācāryas, and with the śāstric toleration of the non Ācāryas, it can meet together. Śāstric toleration, that is formal necessary toleration, and the sympathetic attitude of the Ācāryas. Both of these two things are required to go on together.

Devotee: In my own case Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the newcomers must be helped. The missionary activities should not be stopped, never should be stopped, then this is necessary, the newcomers should be helped, un grudgingly.

Devotee: In the case of myself Mahārāja, I'm a sannyāsī by Śrīla Prabhupāda, and I'm preaching. So I'm preaching in a specific place, and I am, by the Lord's grace, some people are coming and they are giving some faith, that by following my instructions, they will advance in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So if these people don't want to follow anybody else, how are they to be initiated within Kṛṣṇa consciousness society?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Devotee: Through his preaching, the Lord is sending many souls who are taking to the path of Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: And these new souls who are coming to this path, they have placed their trust and faith on him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: That he will take them to a higher platform of realisation. So now, he...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, direct. And he does not see any superior soul to whom he can take them, and recommend.

Devotee: Right. Previously he could take them to Śrīla Prabhupāda and place them at his lotus feet. But now, who can he go... and even if he goes, the souls, they do not accept them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I have seen so many who are non Ācārya, but the Ācārya people they're not coming to me, so if we are to live together then some adjustment should be made. How to go on? Otherwise the dissension, that is very easy, but that is not desirable so much. If united we stand, that will be better. Otherwise dissension must come, separation must come, but that is not so very desirable, especially so soon, so quick.

Devotee: One point is this Mahārāja, then for example, I see within...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So I like to meet both the camps, both the camps.

Devotee: Yes, we have suggested, Bhakti Caru Mahārāja and myself have suggested, and I actually spoke to Svarūpa Dāmodara who is a GBC, who also has given agenda for the meeting, GBC meeting agenda. I should have brought it and could have shown it to you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But in the meeting...

Devotee: So in the agenda he has mentioned...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ācārya party, not majority.

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Non Ācārya is majority.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, you may not be afraid too much.

Devotee: No. So he has placed in the agenda, he has mentioned in the agenda that, “I propose that all of us go and consult and take the good advice of Śrīdhara Mahārāja.” He has mentioned in his agenda for this meeting that, “We should all go because there’s nobody else to guide, and Śrīla Prabhupāda specifically mentions Śrīdhara Mahārāja’s pure good name, that we should go to him for spiritual advice. For anything we should come to him. So let us go.” He has suggested in that meeting so now I don’t know how they will see it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What will be the fate of that resolution?

(More Bengali for about 50 seconds)

Devotee: How many disciple do you have now? Three zero. [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: He said, “Before you took your disciples, before you gave dīkṣā, did you feel some sort of inspiration from inside, the caitya Guru, of Prabhupāda, telling you to give them initiation?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Within, any inspiration?

Devotee: Yes, it’s much like you’re a sannyāsī, you’re preaching, people are coming...

Devotee: No, not like that. Sometimes Prabhupāda, through the medium of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some spiritual conscience has directed you.

Devotee: Were you convinced that actually Prabhupāda wanted that from you? Or did you have a dream?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nothing of the like, only simple spiritual conscience.

Devotee: I mean, you are confident that what you have done is the correct thing.

Devotee: I still feel it was proper for me to do.

Devotee: But spiritually, he conscience was clear, and that his action was in the right...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Accepted by Prabhupāda.

Devotee: I want to remain within ISKCON, but in the way they want to put me now, I cannot remain.

Devotee: That is another question.

Devotee: That is, like he spoke about bitter sentiments.

Devotee: No. He said that, I told him that you have taken disciples. First, he asked me whether you had taken disciples or not. So I said yes, you have initiated...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the name of that Punjabi sannyāsī?

Devotee: Bhakti Caitanya Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti Caitanya. And his name?

Devotee: Paramānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramānanda. Only these two have begun already?

Devotee: No, there's one more, Virahaprakāśa Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is he?

Devotee: He's also in South America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: South America. These three only, has become independently we're seeing now?

Devotee: Yes. They've initiated independently.

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: They're trying to put him down, they're trying to remove him, from ISKCON, but Paramānanda Swāmī, he wants to stay within ISKCON and do his preaching, but they want him to either give up his position or leave.

Devotee: And I have already taken the responsibilities so I don't see how it can be given it up. I see it so cheaply.

Devotee: And he's saying, "Since I have already taken up the responsibility of a Guru, it's not possible for me to just give it up."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very subtle and difficult questions to be solved. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: That can be done by yourself, that people can come to you, they have faith, trust in you and you initiate them. Then after you give them to somebody else?

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Take something, prasādam...

Devotees: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and decision, how it comes.

Devotee: We should wait and see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wait and see, and also, put your feeling, your position put to the committee, “That this is my position. How do you decide about me?” The central body is there. You put your questions.

Devotee: I’m almost sure of their decision.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But still try, to make the best of a bad bargain.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I want to bring one contradiction within this existing Committee Body. Guru Mahārāja formed the GBC Body of twenty five members. They’re life-time GBC members. Nobody has the authority or the capacity to remove them from this position, other than Guru Mahārāja himself. And he also made this Governing Body Commission, the sole and supreme authority on all decisions within the ISKCON Society. But the present situation is that the eleven Ācāryas, who are also within this GBC Body, they have formed, although not officially, but in exercising their power, a body within the body, and is more or less controlling all the decisions of the Society. For example, specially on the question of increasing the circle of initiating Gurus, Ācāryas. Actually, this decision should be made by the GBC Body, all twenty five, and not just the eleven.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But have the Ācārya Board accepted the principle that they will expand?

Devotee: No. They don’t want to expand.

Devotee: It is simply, I will tell you; Bhakti Caru Mahārāja was called by Satsvarūpa Mahārāja, Hṛdayānanda Goswāmī, Bhāvānanda Goswāmī, and two or three, Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī was also present there. And they asked his opinion as to who should be the initiating Guru of Manipur State. Although the Manipur State is under Svarūpa Dāmodara, he's the GBC of Manipur, but since he's not an initiating Guru, they require an initiating Guru residing in that area.

So Bhakti Caru Mahārāja told them the truth, what he felt. He said, "If you are actually interested in the pracār, the preaching of Kṛṣṇa consciousness and the Hari Nāma, then the best person would be to make Svarūpa Dāmodara himself the initiating Guru because the Manipuris, they are a little proud of being Vaiṣṇavas, and original Vaiṣṇavas. And they also have great respect for Svarūpa Dāmodara since he has been to the West and he has a good name, and they will accept him very easily. So considering these practical points, the best thing would be to make him the initiating Guru." This was his suggestion.

Of course, no decision has been taken as yet, but they were not very happy with this suggestion. They were, of course only one person, this Hṛdayānanda Goswāmī who was there, he said, "Yes, if Prabhupāda was here probably he would have said that Svarūpa Dāmodara should become that." He was the only person who actually accepted this proposition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hṛdayānanda?

Devotee: Hṛdayānanda Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His jurisdiction is where?

Devotee: South America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's a recognised Ācārya?

Devotee: Yes. He's one of the eleven.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One of the eleven. Any precedent of the Ācārya Board, no?

Devotee: No. The point is that they have no official committee of Ācāryas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But any precedent of the Governing Body?

Devotee: The President and the Director, so to say, they have Chairman, Vice Chairman, and Secretary. The Chairman is Satsvarūpa Mahārāja, till yesterday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For one year; three posts for one year only, and this year Satsvarūpa.

Devotee: No, last year was Satsvarūpa, and this year Hṛdayānanda is the Chairman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And his term will...

Devotees: One year, will terminate, will extend to the next Gaura Pūrṇimā festival.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then new such come?

Devotee: Yes. Now the new set has taken office, already, as from today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From today, this Hṛdayānanda has been, is in the Chair? And the Secretary?

Devotee: I don't know who he is.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vice Chairman and Secretary, three posts together. But from the Chair this proposal has come for expansion. Let me wait and see what is their combined decision, then if I will have anything to say, then I shall say at that time. And they may come to me with some questions then I shall say my opinion is this. What do you think?

Devotee: I think that is very good Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After hearing their decision, then if any suggestion comes to me, I shall say to them. Is it not?

Devotee: Yes. After the meeting, I think many devotees, many of the GBCs, I don't know about the Ācāryas, although Svarūpa Dāmodara has proposed in his agenda that he's submitted for them, his meeting, within the agenda he has strongly suggested that they should come and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Take some advice.

Devotee: Take some advice from you.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...surrounded in Goloka and Vaikuṇṭha.

yat kinca tina guna pi kota mokama [?] gosthi samasthe hita sadvanam mayam [?] mukunda dvaitam lila nikulam phalam [?]

Whatever, Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī says, yat kinca tina guna pi kota mokama, whatever is found in Vraja, it may be a straw, guna, a shrub, guna pi kota, an insect or worm. Gosthi samasthe hita, everything there, mukunda dvaitam, they're friends of Kṛṣṇa, they're favourite of Kṛṣṇa, beloved of Kṛṣṇa. Why? They're helping in many ways promoting the performance of līlā of the Divine Couple.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Anyhow, when we shall be, we shall find ourselves in Goloka, in Navadvīpa Dhāma, properly set, then we shall see that everything is performing bhajana, in different rasa, śānta, dāsyā, sākhya, vātsalya, and surround by all the servitors of different types of Kṛṣṇa. They're doing and helping, "do this and this in this way." It is possible, and then we shall enter Goloka. Svarūpa siddhi and vastu siddhi, two types, first svārūpa siddhi, we shall find ourselves in our bhajan that we are surrounded by all types of members. And vastu siddhi, we'll be reckoned amongst one of them, permanently established there. In svārūpa siddhi stage we can also deviate, but when we can, by the grace of the Lord, have the position of vastu siddhi, then we are inseparable part, and we cannot be removed from that place, that position. That is permanently settled there, vastu siddhi.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: That is a very long way away.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are five stages of bhajan. First śravaṇa, to listen, to receive news about the process, then varaṇa, to accept that, the second stage, to accept that. Then sādhana, by the stage of acceptance we can be initiated by Gurudeva. And then under his guidance bhajan continues. Then this is sādhana, third. And fourth is āpana, we feel that this is my own thing, this bhajan is the innermost wealth of my thing, āpana. And then prapanna, then we like to distribute it to others. The fifth stage, the last stage. We feel that it should be also given to others, prapanna; five stages. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. My difficulty is that that one particular personality, my Guru Mahārāja, that one particular personality, individual personality, that since he has departed, that I know that philosophically there's no question of separation, but since he has departed, I have no enthusiasm, so much. Everything I'm doing out of duty. Before, when Prabhupāda was here, then if we were building a, constructing a building, or painting a room, or arranging a festival, and he was always there to accept that service, in his form. Now he's gone, I know that philosophically that there's no separation, but still that individual personality of my Guru Mahārāja, since his departure, not as though, what is the word...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a laudable thing, that there may not be any parallel to my Guru Mahārāja, my Divine Master. Another, without him, everything is tasteless to me. That is of course a good quality, everything is tasteless.

Not only that, Raghunātha dāsa Goswāmī says, after the departure of Rūpa Goswāmī and Sanātana, that, "So many things are coming to devour me. Without my Guru's presence, the other things that should help me for the bhajana, they're rather coming to devour. Such is the so intimate relation we had really with Guru Mahārāja. Without him, Kṛṣṇa is also nothing." Dās Goswāmī says. "Oh Śrī Rādhikā, if You'll not be propitiated with me, I do not want to have Kṛṣṇa. I want Kṛṣṇa with You. You will serve Kṛṣṇa and I will help You according to Your order. But without You I don't want Kṛṣṇa. This is a dreadful thing; Kṛṣṇa is a dreadful thing to me if I do not find Yourself and myself under Kṛṣṇa."

That is Guru's position. Without Guru we don't want Kṛṣṇa. That is really the substance of cid-vilāsa, svarūpa-śakti. Myself and Kṛṣṇa, that is half māyāvādā. So Mira and others, they're chanting many praise, many songs they've composed in praise of Kṛṣṇa, but not for Rādhikā or any other āśraya vigraha. So that is cancelled by Bhaktivinoda's School, that is all fictitious. Fictitious attempt to worship Kṛṣṇa, because if you want to go to Kṛṣṇa, we must meet first the devotees, the hierarchy of His servitors, then we can approach to Him, not direct approach is possible. He's surrounded by so many different classes of servitors. So if I have a real approach then I first meet His servitors, then only through them I can go to Him. But the direct approach to Kṛṣṇa, it is a fictitious thing. The svarūpa-śakti is surrounding Him, in different rūpa, in different forms, different groups. So a real devotee, genuine devotee, he'll want Guru between Kṛṣṇa and himself, Guru in different ranks also. One maybe searching ultimately Rādhārāṇī, so in different, sākhya rasa also Sudama, Sridhama, there; in śānta rasa also, in vātsalya rasa, Nanda, Yaśodā, they're direct first hand servitors surrounding Him. And we, second, then third position, we may try to have the services of Kṛṣṇa; and never direct.

The conception of Guru is rather a form of transformation. Sometimes he may show in a particular position, sometimes higher, sometimes then again higher. "I am here for you, waiting, come." In this way a relative term, Guru, a relative position he has got. In different forms he may appear, "Oh. I come here. I am searching. Don't you recognise me? I went to you to recruit first in this particular shape, now you may find me in this shape, this form, my boy. That was the robe, the dress, form in particular.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: What is the original form of Gurudeva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All relative.

(More Bengali for about 1:50 minutes)

Matsya, Kūrma, Varāha gradation of Daśavatāras, according to the development of the Earth, God comes in contact in different forms to draw us towards Him, attract us towards Him.

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam

[karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadāṁ yathā]

[“The Vedas often imply something deeper and different from what appears to be the superficial interpretation of its words. Thus the Vedas sometimes indirectly arrive at the Truth. As a child is tempted with something sweet to make it swallow bitter medicine, the Vedas sometimes glorify the path of karma, when the real goal of the Vedas is to promote liberation from karma.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

*loke vyavāyāmiṣa-madya-sevā, nityā hi jantor na hi tatra codanā
vyavasthitis teṣu vivāha-yajña, -surā-grahair āsu nivṛttir iṣṭā*

[“Everyone is naturally inclined to have sex, eat meat, and drink wine. There is no need for the scripture to encourage these things. The scriptures do, however, give concessions to people who are determined to do these things. The scriptures therefore grant a license to enjoy sex by allowing sexual intercourse with one’s lawfully wedded wife at the proper time of the month. They grant a license to eat meat to those who perform a certain kind of sacrifice, and a license to drink wine to those who perform the Sautramani sacrifice. The purpose of granting these licenses for sense gratification is only to restrict these activities and encourage people to give them up altogether. The real intention of the Vedic injunctions regarding sex, meat-eating, and wine-drinking is to make one abstain from these activities.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.11]

Guru comes down in different stages to take the disciple from there up to the highest positioned good.

So, the Lord says:

ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27]

“It is Myself or My direct function, there is to take up My jīva, My jīva friends, towards My higher domain. This is broadly, take it as My directions, ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān.”

Gurudeva tattma, gurudeva devatta isvara atma [?]

Gurudevatma means he’s Īśvara, he’s to be worshipped; and ātmā, he’s the most beloved, beloved master.

Our Guru Mahārāja said once in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, “We are direct servitors of Rādhārāṇī. Rādhārāṇī wants Kṛṣṇa, so we want Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise, the jīva, that serving unit, that springs from the ray, or halo, lustre of the body of Rādhārāṇī, they move around Rādhārāṇī and they know Rādhārāṇī as their shelter, centre, and help Rādhārāṇī in the different types of services. Rādhārāṇī’s concerned with Kṛṣṇa, but their concern is with Her, Rādhā dāśya, and that has been admitted to be the highest attainment of the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava. Because from there we can have our highest prospect satisfied.”

And so also, similar is the case in vātsalya rasa where some have got their origin as if from the lustre of the body of Yaśodā, some have got their birth from the lustre of the body of Nanda, some of Baladeva, some Subala sakhā. In this way they’re moving around that sort of physical servitors. And through them also they imbibe the rasa of Kṛṣṇa, akhila-rasāmṛta, for service, at that time. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: I’ve just returned from America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, I heard.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Two weeks back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I heard that you went to there, and you came to Vṛndāvana, and then here. You went to Australia?

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: No. I’m going to Australia five days from now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From Australia, from there to America? Is it not?

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: No. This time I just went to America, and I’m leaving for Australia next week.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Five days from now; for one month.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, engage yourself busily in your campaign as directed by your Guru Mahārāja. Dive deep.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: And we just went to Ṛṣikeśa. All māyāvādīs. No Vaiṣṇavas anywhere. Very pretty place Ṛṣikeśa, nicely looking, but no Vaiṣṇavas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What to speak of Ṛṣikeśa, when our Guru Mahārāja told that he wants to visit Vṛndāvana, after the departure of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Gurudeva went to Vṛndāvana. And coming back, he told, with a slap on his forehead: “I went to Vṛndāvana but I could not find a Vaiṣṇava_____” What to speak of Ṛṣikeśa. This type of Vaiṣṇavism, our Guru Mahārāja took that. He also tried to see, there was some famous sahajiyā Vaiṣṇava in Vṛndāvana.

Once, I had a chance of living, called on my way from Bombay to Calcutta, I had to make halt in Vṛndāvana for a few days. Then I went to that Vaiṣṇava who was supposed to be the siddha mahātmā of the then Vṛndāvana, Rāmakrishnadās Bābājī. He was, for few days, I went to the affair, and I tried to find that what is in our Guru Mahārāja and what is in him, the supposed siddha bābājī of the Vaiṣṇava School, at present sahajiyā, and our Guru Mahārāja who told that no Vaiṣṇavas are to be found here. What is the... Sometimes I gave my attention to Guru Mahārāja, sometimes to that gentleman. His outer qualification, he was a brāhmaṇa. He came when he was fifteen only. He was a well-read man, and his character was also pure Rāmakrishna Bābājī. Then I'm sometimes trying to see him and sometimes I see Guru Mahārāja. Then I came to the conclusion that this gentleman is trying his utmost to reach to the place of bhajana, āroha-panthā, ascending method. And when I cast my glance towards Guru Mahārāja, then it came to my mind several times that he has come down from the Divine Quarter to give something to the people, that he's coming from another; Goloka, to this world, to give things to the people. And he's trying his earnest to go up, ascending method. That was my contention at the time.

So, he told that, Guru Mahārāja told that: “I don’t find any real Vaiṣṇava, Vaiṣṇava proper in Vṛndāvana.” What to speak of Ṛṣikeśa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And that flow, has been distributed by our beloved Swāmī Mahārāja to us. What unthinkable thing has been done by him. And I find solution in that booklet, when on his journey, when he just put his feet on the side of America, what was his mood at the time? He’s all Kṛṣṇa, all Kṛṣṇa. He himself reduced him to be almost nothing, a speck. “I am nothing. You, Kṛṣṇa, do everything. You have taken me to make me dance here. Insect I am as to a doll. Whatever You like You may do. You have taken me here just as to make a doll dance. I have come to You. I am worthless, I am nobody, I am nothing.” In this, so Kṛṣṇa came and took the fame, and He works on his behalf. Kṛṣṇa worked on the behalf of Swāmī Mahārāja. So his activity otherwise the Vaiṣṇava: koṭiśv api mahā-mune.

[Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī and Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura were seeing: “The whole world is absolved from sin, but I am neglected, I am left as the only exception. I am so low and ill fated that I am rejected from that most benevolent infinite īlā. I alone am rejected. I could not utilise this great fortunate wave.”] [Guardian of Devotion Magazine, SCSM, Calcutta, 1986]

Fiction to us, but people, what is written in śāstra, it is all true. Everything is possible. The highest things have been distributed so lavishly.

And there are so many; our Guru Mahārāja once told, I'd just joined the Mission, and he's planning for an exhibition in Kurukṣetra. That after long separation Kṛṣṇa has come from Dvārakā to Kurukṣetra on the occasion of the solar eclipse. And from Vṛndāvana also the party has gone there on that same occasion. And they met there. Āhuś ca te nalina-nābha padāravindam; this śloka.

["The gopīs spoke thus: 'Dear Lord, whose navel is just like a lotus flower, Your lotus feet are the only shelter for those who have fallen into the deep well of material existence. We wish that these lotus feet may also be awakened within our hearts, although we are only ordinary persons engaged in household affairs.'"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.82.49] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.136]

When after meeting Kṛṣṇa, the gopīs told, "About fifty thousand such śuddha bhaktas are coming soon," that was fifty thousand. We don't find any śuddha bhaktas here, but very soon fifty thousand śuddha bhaktas are coming [?]

Then at that time, I could not have a proper conception. I thought, 'the śuddha bhaktas are coming from where?' Then gradually I came to realise that through the disciplic order the śuddha bhaktas are...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...fifty thousand, some from somewhere else. But I gradually I had to realise that śuddha bhaktas are coming in his generation of disciplic order. Śuddha bhaktas are coming, fifty thousand. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Your joining the mission that is a miracle going on, we do not know anything. Who is Kṛṣṇa, who is Bhāgavata, what is Gītā? We know nothing but direct participation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So there are so many stories, such stories in the propaganda of Swāmī Mahārāja, and gradually the world will have all these things, in their store.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: The first time I met Guru Mahārāja, in Los Angeles, he came to the temple and he gave his Sunday afternoon lecture. And after the lecture he was leading kīrtana and he got down from the vyāsāsana and he started dancing around the temple room. And we all automatically got into a line behind him and everyone was dancing as he was leading. And there were some people sitting in chairs and when Guru Mahārāja went by they fell off their chairs. He was dancing so powerfully that when he went by, they were old people, they fell off their chairs and were paying their obeisances. They didn't even know what it was to pay obeisances, because in America no one ever pays obeisances. This is considered, to bow down your head is considered the most humiliating position to be in. That's the culture; never bow down your head on the floor, ever. So we had no experience of paying our obeisances.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the question?

Devotee: [?]

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: So proud.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: ...Chinese language. And this boy's father is a doctor who was educated in Germany, before the communist regime. So he speaks German, English, and Chinese.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To conquer China means the most difficult battle.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: That will be difficult; China.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: China will be difficult. But everywhere, Lord Caitanya has put His men. Lord Caitanya has put His men all over the world. So when the Hare Kṛṣṇa Movement comes there, then they will come out.

Devotee: fall down.

Devotee: In Russia.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why you should only accept [?] The whole world has been inundated with the grace of the Lord, and why do you remain...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Yes, right.

Devotee: This is for a recording.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes, I know...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Prabhupāda said, “The Chinese will be the last to come, but the most faithful.” That was what he said.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, very tenacious.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes. He said that. Once they accept they never let it go.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Once they accept they retain.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right. They never let it go. The Germans are also like that, once they accept it.

Devotee: Americans? [group laughter]

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Americans are very whimsical, they accept, reject, accept, reject, because they’re not disciplined.

Devotee: Chinese accepting?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes. We have a number of Chinese devotees, and they're very hard working.

Devotee: That is a communist country.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Communist, yes.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They have got tenacity.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Once I asked myself, why Mahāprabhu selected to pass His last days in Orissa? Then at that time also I got response from my heart. The Oriya people, the [?] people are very tenacious. Tenacity they have got. Once they're made to accept, they won't leave it easily. This was my understanding.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: So Prabhupāda said about the Chinese, they're like that. If they accept it then they stick.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: And of course, they make up one third of the world's population, so that means out of three men one is a Chinaman. Out of every three men one is a Chinaman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They received Buddhism...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yea.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...from India, and now they're leaving Buddhism, that is dead Buddhism.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yea.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A carcass. As this life is established Not ahiṁsā, means this material ahiṁsā; ahiṁsā in the material plane. But real ahiṁsā in prema, and prema is always relative to Kṛṣṇa, in its fullest meaning, prema. Nārāyaṇa prema, or Śiva prema, it is not...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Perfect.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...not suitable. But Kṛṣṇa prema, prema is always related to the conception of Godhead as Kṛṣṇa. So prema is the very life of ahimsā. Without prema, ahimsā is a carcass. Without prema real, ahimsā cannot be, cannot stand; prema. Prema with Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana, ahimsā - that is dynamic ahimsā. Ahimsā is on the negative side, ahimsā. But if one is devoid of prema, love, then ahimsā is only negative. Not to harm anybody, that does not mean that he's graced in the positive side. And the negative side is ahimsā, and the positive side is prema. And prema means always related to Kṛṣṇa and His disciples and His dhāma. It is their monopoly. Of course Mahāprabhu is included, Navadvīpa is included, because that is Kṛṣṇa in different posing, that is more high, because distributing. It is extending the extension. Prema extending, audārya; mādhurya, audārya, prema is extending herself.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: What about Jagannātha Purī? Is it also audārya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is audārya, midway to Dvārakā and Navadvīpa. And Purī is Dvārakā, the temple; and the Guṇḍicā is Vṛndāvana. And Mahāprabhu mixing both Navadvīpa represented.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Why did Lord Caitanya travel so extensively through South India, and not North India?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was because that was the field of the Ācāryas. Before sattvica Ācārya, that is theistic Ācārya, they had their followers mainly in the South. Viṣṇuswāmī, the oldest of them, śuddhādvaita-vāda, in that line Śrīdhara Swāmī has come. And the Vallabha people in Gujarat, Vallabhis they also are followers of śuddhādvaita-vāda. Ādi Viṣṇuswāmī. One, the second, is Rāmānuja, viśiṣṭādvaita-vāda, śuddhādvaita-vāda is Madhvācārya. And one, the fourth, is Nimbarka.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Viṣṇuswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: These four separate Ācāryas they're At least these three.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Viṣṇuswāmī also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viṣṇuswāmī, Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: And Nimbarka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Nimbarka located in the South India.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: He was also born in the South.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mainly the place of Ācāryas.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, He visited them and tried to preach His acintya bhedābheda vāda amongst them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Came from, descended from the transcendental world...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I think he came to deliver me. He comes from a big family of ten children; ten?

Devotee: Eleven.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Eleven children in his family. In America this is very unusual.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How many sisters?

Devotee: Seven.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Seven sisters, and only four brothers. And you are?

Devotee: Youngest.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Youngest.

Devotee: Very good.

Harṁsadūta Mahārāja: I found my experience has been...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For you, the parents will also have a good chance. Their energy has been utilised for you, and Kṛṣṇa will pay in His own coin. Kṛṣṇa's coin is prema – prema is the coin of Kṛṣṇa. He pays in terms of prema, divine love, love divine. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

If once he can find Him in his heart, then all the vichar means, all his charm for anything else will at once disappear forever. No charm he will find in any other place, if once he comes in touch with that degree of holiness, divinity. Then all turned into ashes, trash, everything will seem to be trash if he once gets the touch of the divine. [?]

The opposite movement, the heart is functioning in the opposite direction, anomaly. Hither thither, it is all vichar. Just as the movement of a patient in fit, that is vichar. So, at present the movements of the, the gesticulations of the baddha jīva, the fallen soul, it is all vichar, not normal function, not normal movement. It is all movement as if in a delirium. We are in delirious condition. When we awake in Kṛṣṇa conception, then only we come into our normal life. But in this life, all the practices, all the thoughts, are nothing, with no value more than delirium, delirious movement. This is, so we are to know how Kṛṣṇa is quite natural. In our natural position we cannot but be His servants, His servitors, His paraphernalia, cannot but be, svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti:

The meaning of the gāyatrī, as evolved to me, that I am one with the flute of Kṛṣṇa. Gānat trāyate, by singing, the purpose within me, one feels that he's seeing, he's hearing, hearing the flute of Kṛṣṇa, and that divine sound makes proper adjustment, takes us to our respective duty. The call of that sweet flute only gives us a proper adjustment. So mukti, svarūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ, mukti, gāyatrī also gives delivery from the bondage and sends us towards the svarūpa. So mūralī and gāyatrī one and the same thing, and the kīrtana of Mahāprabhu, that is also aiming at the same thing. Gāyatrī, mūralī leads to kīrtana, and Rādhā-pādam. Devotee: He's able to find, [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Nimāi and Bhakti Caru Mahārāja, they have to translate your book, then we can have it in English.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: Mahārāja is learning English. He will translate all these things in English.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yea, yea.

Devotee: He's trying to.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yea. Why not? He's intelligent. He speaks good English.

Devotee: Yes.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I think this bridge is going to make your Maṭh more important, this bridge, this road will become very important road, and people will come here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Calcutta connection will be easier.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes. Then maybe the Americans will build the bridge from Svarūpa Ganj to Māyāpur. Prabhupāda said that we should do it, we should build a bridge, then people will come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: The same thing, lame man and blind man.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is already in Gaura dhāma, and dhāma is expressing itself through evolution. None can create, none can thrust anything foreign here, but the internal beauty is evolved. It is nitya, it is eternally existing, and expressing, evolving.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Sometimes, foreign devotees come to the dhāma and they're disappointed because they see so many nasty things, they're disappointed.

Devotee: Māyā Devī has...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Covered.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jagāi Mādhāi...

Maha adhikari dui jagai madhai patita pavana name sakhi du bhai [?]

So, what seems to be nasty, that also helps to promote the position of the high, the divine.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes, the other day you explained that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as māyā is necessary to show the superiority of the Kṛṣṇa dhāma, Vaikuṇṭha dhāma, māyā is necessary; thesis, antithesis, synthesis.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Antithesis, in Bhāgavatam in the first śloka, [janmādy asya yato 'nvayād itarataś cārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāṭ tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ tejo-vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā

dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahi]

[“O my Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, son of Vasudeva, O all pervading Personality of Godhead, I offer my respectful obeisances unto You. I meditate upon Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa because He is the Absolute Truth and the primeval cause of all causes of the creation, sustenance and destruction of the manifested universes. He is directly and indirectly conscious of all manifestations, and He is independent because there is no other cause beyond Him. It is He only who first imparted the Vedic knowledge unto the heart of Brahmājī, the original living being. By Him even the great sages and demigods are placed into illusion, as one is bewildered by the illusory representations of water seen in fire, or land seen on water. Only because of Him do the material universes, temporarily manifested by the reactions of the three modes of nature, appear factual, although they are unreal. I therefore meditate upon Him, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Who is eternally existent in the transcendental abode, which is forever free from the illusory representations of the material world. I meditate upon Him, for He is the Absolute Truth.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]

Janmādy asya yato 'nvayād itarataś, positive, and itarata means negative, indirect way. Indirect - that is also within the harmony. That cannot be eliminated. That must be there. That has got its allotted service to help the positive. So we should have to reckon that also, that indirect. The direct is attracting us, and indirect is giving a push, attracting and pushing from the back. Indirect means pushing from the back and direct means attraction.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: Mahārāja, one question to be put to your lotus feet. Without the help of the negative side, the positive side cannot be attractive?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, cannot be attractive, and cannot be understood even.

Devotee: If that is perfect, if that is self-sufficient, positive side, then why that should be dependent on negative side?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is enhanced.

Devotee: Enhanced.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Enhanced.

Devotee: But is it not that the negative side, positive side...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] background [?] That is a necessary part.

Devotee: Necessary part. There also the negative side and positive side in Vṛndāvana līlā, vipralambha, viraha, even in separation. That is the highest most thing. This is not questionable here, but in mahā- māyā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In every position, to understand the positive we require the help of the negative. In every position of our understanding, the line of demarcation of my understood thing, my experience, there must be a boundary line. That is the other thing, the indirect. Indirect means background, so whatever I shall understand there must be something in the background, the line of demarcation of my understanding.

Devotee: Once, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura said that, “If Kṛṣṇa wishes, He can make mahā māyā vanish.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] It is a challenge from the side of the svarūpa śakti to keep it down.

Devotee: Then, which side will it go?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It means that it proves the superiority of the svarūpa śakti infinitely over māyā śakti; and not that if māyā śakti was absent, then the...

Devotee: Yes, over māyā śakti. It doesn't matter to that, svarūpa śakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the question cannot arise.

Devotee: That is self-sufficient.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sarvaṁ khalu idaṁ brahma [Everything that exists has emanated from Brahman, the Supreme Absolute Truth].
[Chāndogya Upaniṣad, 3.14.1] Neho na nastik akiñcana. Sarvaṁ is there, Nāma is also there, otherwise no such question may come. Toward every stage the direct and indirect.

Devotee: Everything is to be utilised for the service of the Absolute Good, negative side also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Everywhere it is represented. Rādhārāṇī's service, and Chandravālī on the other hand.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I see, yea. Just like in the material world, we say, "There cannot be sweet success without great opposition."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of course.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: We cannot taste the sweetness of victory without opposition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, everywhere the opposition.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: So the same thing holds true, so what you're saying is the same thing holds true for Kṛṣṇa consciousness. For our endeavour to become Kṛṣṇa conscious there must also be opposition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. There must be so many demons in Vṛndāvana itself, the Pūtanā, Aḡa, Baka.

Devotee: [?]

Devotee:

*ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, goptrtve varaṇaṁ tathā. [ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatiḥ
evaṁ paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ]*

[“The six divisions of surrender are to accept those things favourable for devotional service, to reject unfavourable things, the conviction that Kṛṣṇa will give protection, to accept the Lord as one’s guardian or master, full self-surrender, and humility.”] [Caitanya-caritamṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100]

[From Vaiṣṇava Tantra]

And it is in madhyama adhikāra or uttama adhikāra? Whether it is applicable in madhyama adhikāra or uttama adhikāra also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] There is some second conception other than Kṛṣṇa bhajan. He’s conscious of the possibility of anti devotion.

Devotee: Then he’s always to make some distinction between each and others.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The distinctive faculty is present there.

Devotee: Even in the stage of mahā-bhāgavata? You see, you listen, even in the stage of mahā-bhāgavata there is some distinction. Like the other day, this type of discussion going on...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Distinctive, always distinctive, differentiative. Where there is differentiation and specification, the elimination. Progress means elimination. Progress means something to keep it back, and that is undesirable.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes, means elimination, right, something front, something back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Something front, something back. Progress means to leave something, and that is less desirable, less sweet. So automatically it proves progress means...

Devotee: Acceptance and elimination.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Elimination and acceptance.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Positive and negative.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Positive and negative, always. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes, this is very enlightening; very applicable to our positions, condition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And there is unifying Kṛṣṇa līlā. Suppose I'm taking sweet, then it is monotonous, I want some salt. Then I'm eliminating sweetness and eager to taste salty things. Sometimes I like to taste some acid, eliminating the salt. By the Divine Will of the Lord it revolves in a circle, it may in the highest stage. The progress means it moves in a circle. It may be like that. Viraha is very bitter, and milana is very sweet. And sometimes milana is also bitter as if in mana līlā, wants to eliminate another. Ha, ha, reaction...

Devotee: But ultimately everything is sweetest.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...as if it is bitter, "I can't tolerate Your darśana. You be off or I shall go to live separately." Reaction may come.

Devotee: Viraha is sweetest, this viraha vipralambha. What is saddest that is sweetest.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest things.” There is a verse in English. Whose is it?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I don’t know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You don’t know?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I’ve never heard this one before.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest things.”

[“Our sincerest laughter with some pain is fraught; Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest thought.”]

[The English Romantic poet, Percy Bysshe Shelley, 1792-1822]

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: That’s a nice line.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viraha, vipralambha, we’re shedding tears but we cannot leave the book away, though we’re shedding tears. So much pain but still very sweet. The sweetest things are those that tell of saddest things, viraha.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Somewhere it was said, the greatest enjoyment is disappointment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Failures makes one great.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: What was that?

Devotee: Failure is the pillar of success.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes, failure is the pillar to success, and failure makes one great.

Devotee: Sometimes, exceptional case that is.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He tried his best but the people could not understand him so his campaign failed. Ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: Hare Kṛṣṇa. But if one is completely disappointed then it is very harmful for his life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is disappointment or gain; gain or loss comes at the same level.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So perfect that the separation and the gain, both full, both perfect, viraha, milana – both enjoyment. In viraha He does not desert us. In separation also He does not leave us. He's such, so great. And where is He, there must be some sort of enjoyment, satisfaction, cannot but be.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Just different taste.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And particularly for the fallen soul, the attitude of separation, the sādhana, the bhajan, the cultivation in separation, that is more healthy, more healthy. Vipralambha is more healthy to the fallen soul than sambhoga. There may be chance of keeping of the material pleasure. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. So you are going to ratha-yātrā, Calcutta?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes. Fourteenth morning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fourteenth morning, on Monday.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today is Friday, and Saturday, Sunday...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Sunday morning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sunday morning you'll start from Navadvīpa?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or last evening?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: No, no, morning, Sunday morning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sunday morning?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So one day before?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: No, same day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Monday morning?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: No. Today is the twelfth, so tomorrow is the thirteenth, Saturday. Sunday is the fourteenth, so the fourteenth morning, Sunday, we'll start, and that afternoon, twelve o'clock, one o'clock, it will begin.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sunday?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sunday or Monday ratha-yātrā?

Devotee: Sunday.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Sunday. Must be Sunday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sunday.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I think so; unless my watch is wrong.

Devotee: Ha, ha. Otherwise his watch will be wrong.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Monday means the day after tomorrow.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today is Friday.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Saturday, Sunday. Then I think Monday I'll come back.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Here it is mentioned in Monday.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Well then I'll have to check again but I think its Sunday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viśuddha siddhānta [?]

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: So what is today, the twelfth or not? Is today the twelfth? Today is Friday.

Devotee: Not the twelfth but the eleventh.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Then my watch is...

Devotee: Yes, so it is wrong.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Wrong watch.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How to take advantage of the Sunday holiday, they have arranged to make special arrangement on Sunday.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I was thinking it was Sunday.

Devotee: it's called adhivas, in our language.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: What is Tuesday called?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: What types of fruits are liked by you Mahārāja? You give a list.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Fruit?

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Apple, or plantain?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Mango.

Devotee: Mango. Cucumber?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: No. Yes I like it but...

Devotee: Banana?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: What, is it for now?

Devotee: Yes. He's going to purchase.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Just a little pineapple and mango, that's all.

Devotee: Do you like miṣṭi dahi?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Oh yes, I like.

Devotee: Rasagullā, sandeśa?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: No.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: ...so now there's a lot of political pressure coming from China and Russia. But India is aligning itself with Russia.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. And China is backed by America.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: And China is backed by America, right. So, I noticed one thing that since the disappearance of Kṛṣṇa, the seat of world power has moved gradually west, from India, to Egypt, to Greece, to Rome, to Europe, then to America, and now it is moving to China. At least it appears that way. And the Chinese are now very, and Napoleon said about the Chinese so long ago, he said, 'There lies a sleeping tiger. Better let him lie, because when he wakes he will move the world.' Even Napoleon said so long ago.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What did he say; Napoleon?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: When he was asked about China he said, 'There lies a sleeping tiger. Better let him lie, because when he wakes he will move the world.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: China?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yea.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because of its characteristics or population?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Hmm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Population as well as nature; sleeping?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Hmm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sleeping by taking opium.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Opium. But they have stopped that now. The communists have stopped this drug taking, this opium.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Japan has aroused them.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yea. Japan and Russia, Russia on one side, Japan on the other side.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Japan attacked China and oppressed like anything, very cruel. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: One year, Śrīla Prabhupāda said that he thought that the next great war will be fought in India.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The next great war?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: The next great war will be fought in India.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: India?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Will begin in India, between India Pakistan. Americans will back up Pakistan, Russians will back up Indians. Because they don't want to fight in their own country, they want to fight on some other place, so they think...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: India is also clever, but now the tendency that near about Iran...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or that Vietnam or so...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right. Yea.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Indira Gandhi she's clever enough, to keep it at a safe distance. But the higher dispensation is in evidence. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Mahārāja, you want to take your rest now, bath, everything?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is it?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Fifteen minutes after ten. Ten fifteen.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After ten? Another fifteen minutes I can stay, easily. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Rādhā Govinda wants to ask you something. He wants to give you something.

Rādhā Govinda: We were thinking to make a new pair of glasses for you.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Spectacles. He wants to make you some new spectacles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: New spectacles.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yea. Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That I can see?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is it possible?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Such improved glass is to be found now?

Devotee: Yes. And nice frame also that stays up.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I do not want any nice frame, but if improved glass can give, can help in my sight, then that is very welcome to me. There are microscopic glass or telescopic glass, so many glasses now invented.

Devotees: We'll have to get his eyes checked, if you want to improve the glass. We'll have to bring a person here then.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I asked Dāmodara or someone if any improved quality glass maybe secured anywhere. I told it is in Germany, there's some sort of microscopic glass or telescopic glass. A little sight can be enhanced. And there was one microscopic glass here but they're no longer useful.

[?] Previously that helped me a little, a great deal, now no longer. This glass helped me for a long time. Now it is not useful; very little.

Devotee: We can get another one. Would you like another one?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what is its power I don't know. What power may help me? I can't read. Big let me have the glass. Very little. This is quite vague and with the help of the glass I can have some slight connection Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. I heard in Germany they've evolved a glass, only a slight vision can be utilised in any way to read and to see.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: We have to bring someone to check your eyes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. If Kṛṣṇa's willing, then it may come, for His service. Eighty five years old. I may not expect any more any longer, to live an easy life as I did previously. What do you say?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: You don't look so old.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his age? Your age?

Devotee: Twenty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Twenty. So young, and come to the, very fortunate to the divine feet of Kṛṣṇa, Guru, Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu, in this age, quite young. And his age?

Devotee: Twenty six.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Twenty six. Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa at twenty four. At eighteen He defeated the Digvijayī Paṇḍit; before eighteen. One Mr. Pitt was Prime Minister of England [1783] when he was eighteen [twenty four] [William] Pitt [the Younger], he was Prime Minister of England once, only at the age of eighteen [twenty four]. And Napoleon was general, at how old?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: He was very young; twenty eight, something like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That also very young.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Very young. But he didn't live very long. Such men like Napoleon, they're also empowered? Must be. Prabhupāda once said that, 'Hitler was a śaktyāveśa avatāra.' I said, 'How is that?' He said, 'śaktyāveśa avatāra doesn't always mean he does a good thing. He may do something destructive. But no one can do anything great unless he has that power, so he must be.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: srimad ujita medava tatta dev ava gatcha tam muhuti amsa [?]

Wherever you see the intense collection of energy, the will, the divine will backing; otherwise it is not possible.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Even if it is, apparently, bad or evil? That must be energy of Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Through māyā.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Through māyā; indirect, śakti. Māyā śakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Māyā śakti. In Russia, Russia sending his force through China, the opposite; it is necessary for Russia, that America, through China, is sending his force, for Russia. But China is opposite to America but utilising it.

Churchill told, when he took the help of Russia; Russia was a communist country at that time, so when, in the fight against Hitler he had to join with Russia. Then some people told, “You are going to make alliance with the communists?”

“But in the present position, even if it is necessary, I shall have to make alliance with the Satan, with the hell; what to speak of Russia. In such a position at present we are. If necessary we shall have to make alliance with the hell.”

So that also may be utilised sometimes.

China and America’s ideal; different ideals. But only for the presence of Russia, America had to make alliance with China, to cope with Russia. And Russia also trying its best to make alliance, to keep India nearby, at any cost. Big population these two countries, China and India; first China and next India, the second largest population in India, and resources also many.

Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nītāi. Who is there in your Laṅkā Maṭh?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Laṅkā Maṭh we have some German devotee, his name is Cakravartī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cakravartī? Bengali?

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: No, no. He's a German. He's householder with his wife and child. And we have one Tamil boy from Śrī Laṅkā. He has a B.A. in Chemistry. And one American household couple, then some local devotees. So Śrī Laṅkā...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Conversation of Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja with ISKCON GBC Representatives.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Recently one of the eleven initiating spiritual masters in ISKCON, Rāmeśvara Swāmī, he has made some changes in the temples in his zone, based upon certain understandings that he has reached by reading Śrīla Prabhupāda's books, on the subject matter of Guru. So he has prepared a fifty page report substantiating the moves which he has done.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) regarding Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja's English intonation.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja is saying that he cannot understand everything, so if I say, it will be easier.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) re Rāmeśvara Swāmī.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, he made some changes in the temple regarding the worship of Guru. That is in the temples there were vyāsāsanas for the Gurus and now he removed his vyāsāsana from the temple. And this is due to some realisation he got from reading Śrīla Prabhupāda's books, how a Guru should accept worship and how a Guru should behave. (Bengali) Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are āsanas in the temples?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yes, there are āsanas in the altar where the Guru paramparā is there. But in the temple there are vyāsāsanas for the Gurus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Does it mean that there are āsanas for Gurus and param Gurus, everyone?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Previously there was only Śrīla Prabhupāda's vyāsāsana. Now, besides Prabhupāda's āsana there are at least two āsanas, one for the zonal Guru and the other one for the visiting Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For the resident Guru and the other one is for the visiting Guru. That means that there are three āsanas.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: In Los Angeles there were eleven other āsanas for the eleven Ācāryas so that when all the eleven Gurus come they can sit there. But Rāmeśvara Mahārāja felt that this practice is minimizing Prabhupāda's position. That's why he removed his own āsana and other āsanas as well. Now only Śrīla Prabhupāda's āsana is there. And previously the Guru pūjā used to take place simultaneously, that is Śrīla Prabhupāda's Guru pūjā and the present Guru's pūjā used to take place together. But Rāmeśvara Mahārāja has stopped his Guru pūjā and only Prabhupāda's Guru pūjā is taking place in the temple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then what about the Guru pūjā of your Prabhupāda's Gurudeva, our Prabhupāda, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: That Guru pūjā is taking place through Śrīla Prabhupāda's Guru pūjā. Their āsanas and pictures are there in the altar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So this Guru pūjā is taking place separately.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: I think in Gauḍīya Maṭh this practice was not prevalent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, we used to have just pictures in the altar. So this is one question?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, the question is coming.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Pointing to Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja) Whose disciple is he?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: He is Śrīla Prabhupāda's disciple. (Then there is a question by Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja which has been translated by Bhakti Cāru Swāmī.)

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So you explained what he did. I'll just get to the basic questions first, and the details.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali with Bhakti Cāru Swāmī)

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: These changes, the details of the changes we can discuss later. This has brought a question about the whole position of the spiritual master. Different questions have arisen.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali)

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, when we read...

(Bengali)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In whose zone does Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja stay?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: He works under Rāmeśvara Mahārāja in his zone in Los Angeles. (Then Rāmeśvara Mahārāja's zone was described.)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is he in his zone all the time or was that Haṁsadūta Mahārāja's zone beforehand?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, he is working with Rāmeśvara Mahārāja all along. And Rāmeśvara Mahārāja is also looking after Haṁsadūta Mahārāja's zone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is Rāmeśvara Mahārāja initiating there also?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, I don't think he is initiating there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Has Haṁsadūta Mahārāja been removed from that temporary or permanently?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja asks if the removal of Haṁsadūta Mahārāja is temporary or permanently?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Of the zone? It's permanent.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Permanent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Permanent. Tamal Kṛṣṇa was permanently removed?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: From America.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Permanently removed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Permanently removed.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So when we read Prabhupāda's books...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) regarding vote being unanimous, majority or what?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Finally it was unanimous, there were some previous votes but finally it was unanimous.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Unanimous verdict or majority?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Finally it was unanimous.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali)

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But it's been, officially they say until Māyāpur, and they will discuss further.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: That's what I was...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But I'm telling what was unofficial.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) serious step death blow (Bengali)

This has been a very serious mistake. It can be considered to be a death blow. The position that was established by Swāmī Mahārāja on the strength of majority, to dismiss it just in one or two years, this has been a very bold step. This has been an interference into the śrauta-panthā. I think that such bold step should not have been taken, to challenge the decision of the spiritual master and give a verdict against his will. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I think I got the gist. He said it was a very bold step that they took.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It has been, to remove the nominated Ācāryas of Swāmī Mahārāja so soon; it has become very deliberate and is almost suicidal, almost suicidal step. It has challenged the very nomination of Swāmī Mahārāja.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That's one of the questions. In Prabhupāda's books he never says that one is Guru by appointment but he says one is Guru by qualification.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Qualification, not by appointment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Qualification and considering the qualification he gave recognition to the Ācāryas, is it not? Independent of qualification, whimsically he appointed did he? Did he do so?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Actually, one of the questions is that whether Prabhupāda really appointed them as Guru. Because so far we didn't find enough proof to confirm that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the basis of the Ācāryas?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: That is Prabhupāda said that they can be ṛtviks.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They can be?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Ṛtvik.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ṛtvik.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yes, on behalf of Prabhupāda they can initiate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: During his lifetime. During his lifetime these eleven were appointed as his assistant. They could also initiate during his lifetime?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, not during his lifetime. During his lifetime they can initiate on behalf of Prabhupāda. But after Prabhupāda left, who will initiate Prabhupāda did not clearly mention. This doubt is coming up now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At least that is to be surmised that persons that were allowed during his stay occupied the position of ṛtvik or mediator they should have some recognition thereby and previous, they must get the nomination of the Ācāryas ṛtvik, but there must be grave reason to remove. It is, of course, removable but not so easily, so easily. Once this has been accepted by the GBC that they have got nomination from Gurudeva in any way or other, they should not be removed so easily, not be removed. There must be grave causes to deal, then they can sit to deal against them and it has been mentioned in the scripture that with the advice of a higher with the help of a higher Vaiṣṇava, with the advice of a higher realised soul, the position of Guru should be challenged. And that is the most deplorable thing in the world, in the life of any man, to change the Guru or to see that his Guru is changed or dismissed or dishonoured. Of course, it is not, can never be permanent, only in the case of Vaiṣṇava aparādha, that is the most detrimental thing on this path, without that, any small defects that can be seen in our eyes or felt by our ordinary conception that is not sufficient cause to remove one from the position of Ācārya who has already been selected by Guru Mahārāja. To disbelieve the Guru Mahārāja is going up to such a degree, not an easy matter to play with. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Now that it has been done...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now that may be compensated, it is temporary and then to reinstate, to remove the foolishness of the body. Of course, if there is sufficient cause, sufficient cause, including a sort of dishonour to Guru and Vaiṣṇava, not ordinary differences in the policy of propaganda or preaching. The policy and the process of preaching may vary, that does not matter much, but offence against a Guru and Vaiṣṇava that should be considered as the serious point to remove one Ācārya. Or gross negligence about moral life, something like that, very heavy loss of moral life, that is also not sufficient. That may be a strong cause, but the offence to the Guru paramparā, descent line of the divinity, that is generally considered to be the cause of the removal of the Ācārya. Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There are some devotees, they feel that Śrīla Prabhupāda, he is being offended. That, in their estimation the greatest Vaiṣṇava is being offended.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali)

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali)

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: By the, for example the vyāsāsanas, we are talking in general, of having vyāsāsanas right next to Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to my consideration as I hear, that the grandeur of the Ācāryas, of the pūjā of the present Ācāryas, that is undesirable and too much. It's too much and undesirable and that will create some difficulty. It should be modified. The way in which the Ācārya pūjā has been established that should be modified to suit the circumstances and adjustment with the God-brothers. A protocol, a spiritual protocol should be evolved which may not be very harmful to the body, to the association, organisation, ISKCON. Because it is a very difficult thing in tackling the fine point of sentiment divine, so very carefully the adjustment in the spiritual protocol should be observed. Not only adjustment with the sentiment of the God-brothers of the Ācāryas, but also the disciples of the Ācāryas amongst themselves, this difficulty will continue. So a very sober and well thought out conception should be evolved by the help of the scripture and the statements of the Vaiṣṇava and their experience considering all these things. Adjustment may help the mission to grow. Adjustment may not be detrimental to the missionary activity. It is a very difficult thing.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In the śāstras, we see examples when there is an assembly of great devotees that one of them is elevated to the vyāsāsana. We haven't seen any examples of where there are two vyāsāsanas. We see Śukadeva Goswāmī is occupying the vyāsāsana, or Sūta Goswāmī, and all the other sages who are great exalted Vaiṣṇavas, they are sitting below. So Rāmeśvara Mahārāja wanted to know if there is some example where there can be these two vyāsāsanas like that?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: General honour should be given to the nominated Ācāryas, then ordinary disciples. Then suppose the birthday ceremony of a particular Ācārya, if others come there then that Ācārya whose birth ceremony is being celebrated, he should be given preference. (Bengali) There is a saying, "On the day of one's marriage, bara āsana, that he gets the highest position. His father, his uncle, they also take ordinary seats," but...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But can the seat be taken in the presence of Śrīla Prabhupāda, who is sitting in every one of our temples on the vyāsāsana, or should it be done separately?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then that Ācārya, he first, all of them first worship his Guru and others, together, and then he will show some respect to the God-brothers, Ācāryas and others. Then he will take the seat of his own for the necessity, to serve the necessity of the day, special, it is a special ceremony, special occasion. And the Ācāryas, the GBC members, the principal persons, they will also show some honour to that gentleman, to the Ācārya, with some garland or something like that. Then they will take their seat. Then the disciples will begin Ācārya pūjā. And after Ācārya pūjā, they will also show some respect to all others, God-brothers of the Gurudeva. In this way, some sort of distribution of honours, in this way. It is also mentioned in the scripture that when many Vaiṣṇavas are in one place and the Gurudeva is also there, a disciple will bow down, show honour to his Guru in one case, including all sapaṛśada, sapaṛśada Guru. In this way he will show the respect, the Guru with his parśada, with his friends paricaraka sahitam [?]. It is mentioned not, it is difficult that the hierarchy, first the Gurudeva, then who, then who, then who. To avoid all these difficulties they will say with all, Gurudeva with all his friends and servants.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: So this worship should not be done every day?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Every day as I hear that every day the Ācāryas come and the disciples come to worship them, this is, this seems to be too much.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But what about the principle that a disciple must worship his Guru daily?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Show some respect, of course, does not mean that whenever you meet, show some respect, but pūjā in a gorgeous way whenever an Ācārya will come, that gorgeous pūjā that will create havoc and disembarkment in the Mission, so much grandeur.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: What do you think of the āsanas they have in the temple?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: *Vyāsāsana*s. Prabhupāda is sitting on the vyāsāsana in the Mūrti form in every ISKCON temple, either Mūrti or picture, and now the standard is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The fixed Ācārya Prabhupāda's āsana will be everywhere, and the Ācārya of the zone he will also have a permanent seat there and all other attending Ācāryas occasionally they may have one respectable āsana. There, they will take their seat.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: But I see that in your temple you don't have an āsana for yourself.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Myself? No, it is, as we saw that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is doing, Prabhupāda, Gaura Kīśora dāś Bābājī, it is going on like that.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yeah, that is āsana on the altar, but what we have in our temple is something āsana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A permanent āsana. I suppose Swāmī Mahārāja introduced such thing perhaps.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yeah, but a, but is it, say for Prabhupāda we can have an āsana, fixed āsana, in the temple, but for everyone to have an āsana, all to have? Is it good? Lots of people are criticising us for that. Like even in Los Angeles, some Muslims are criticising us, they, the other day they asked Dhīra Kṛṣṇa that...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometimes there are eleven vyāsāsanas in the temple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the next generation, there will be hundreds (laughing), and then the āsanas will go on from the mountain to the sea. (laughing)

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhagavān Mahārāja and Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, they said after, when they die that they can take it out, fifty or sixty years from now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, Oh.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Some devotees feel that there should be, Prabhupāda's vyāsāsana is there, he is sitting there in his Mūrti, and when the Gurus come before him they are as disciple, they are in the mood of a disciple. So Ramesvara Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We may be given two things to consider. One thing is that he was Jagat Guru. Jagat Guru, he has some special inspiration, śaktyāveśa Avatāra as I like to tell about him. He was śaktyāveśa Avatāra, the abode of some special potency of the Lord. Otherwise with whose work would not have been possible, by any ordinary Ācārya, śaktyāveśa. So a special consideration for him, it is good. And now another thing in the opposite, Mat guru si jagat guru [?], a newcomer, he should be given such understanding that my Guru is not less in capacity of divinity.

ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit / na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

Śāstra has got no mean mantra for a small Guru and a big mantra for a big Guru. Do you see?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru should be looked at by the disciple with maximum reverence. And to draw the maximum reverence or śraddhā, faith, from the disciple, it is not a very easy thing. The maximum faith must be drawn from the disciple so the Guru should not be shown of dwarfed position. Mat guru si jagat guru. Ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān. The mantram also same, śāstric process of honour given also same, so two things should be considered and an intermediate process should be evolved.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, now in Prabhupāda's books he describes Guru, a bona fide spiritual master, as being on the topmost platform of devotional service, uttama-adhikārī.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Explains in Bengali)

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Uttama-adhikārī, one hundred percent engaged in devotional service, fully Kṛṣṇa conscious, fully conversant in the science of Kṛṣṇa. So he gives so many references in that way. In one place in his sixty volumes of books we find a reference where he says that, “A neophyte Vaiṣṇava or a Vaiṣṇava situated on the intermediate level (madhyama-adhikārī) may accept disciples, but it should be understood that those disciples must be on his level and that they cannot advance very well toward the ultimate goal of life under his insufficient guidance.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali)

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali translation of Nectar of Instruction purport) “One should not become a spiritual master unless he has attained the platform of uttama-adhikārī, etc. Therefore a disciple should be careful to accept an uttama-adhikārī as a spiritual master.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And in a letter...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) “At one point he is saying that a madhyama-adhikārī can become a Guru.” So this is relative. But in the absolute position, so in the absolute consideration what is he saying? But did he ever mention that if there is some fault in the Guru then some action should be taken? Did he say what should be done?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Is there any mention of a, Prabhupāda, if a madhyama-adhikārī Guru initiates and if there is some fault in him then what should be done?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He should be abandoned and new acceptance?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This is one of our questions. We have another reference where Prabhupāda says, he says about a person, “He is not a liberated person and therefore he cannot initiate any person to Kṛṣṇa consciousness. It requires special spiritual benediction from higher authorities.”

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali then English)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kaniṣṭha-adhikārī is unfit to conduct the work of Guru. It is final. Only from the madhyama-adhikārī, or middle stage, intermediate stage, that is only fit to for discharging the duty of the Ācārya.

When uttama-adhikārī comes to take the position of the Ācārya, he has also to come down to the position of madhyama, uttama-adhikārī. Inspired by the order by the Lord, uttama-adhikārī comes down to the position of madhyama-adhikārī and then he makes disciples. Because in the uttama-adhikārī proper, there is feeling, universal angle of vision that everything is adjusted with the Supreme Absolute. He does not see that a part is revolting. The revolting portion is not seen in his eyes. That everything is perfectly adjusted, this is uttama-adhikārī.

And the madhyama-adhikārī sees that this is proper adjustment and this is maladjustment, and from the maladjustment they should be taken to proper adjustment. This is madhyama-adhikārī. So Guru is always madhyama-adhikārī. Whether he comes down from uttama-adhikārī or is a bona fide madhyama-adhikārī. But it is the duty of the madhyama-adhikārī because he sees two things: divinity and non divinity. This is madhyama-adhikārī. So the work of Guru is the work of the madhyama-adhikārī. Now the madhyama-adhikārī also may be of different stages.

We have been told the three classes of Guru. One, from madhyama-adhikārī, he is looking at the uttama-adhikārī and trying to take from down to up, helping men go from down to up, but he is in, suppose, in the higher stage of mundane plane, but he is fully experiencing the divine plane and he is taking so many from this plane to the higher plane which he can see clearly. And there is another class, one leg is here, another leg is there, both planes occupied, and taking men from here to there. And there is another class, higher class, highest class, he is there one leg and he has given one leg here and taking men from there to there. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Uttama-adhikārī, from there he puts one leg in this plane and takes men from here to that plane. And the middle class, from here, he is here, but one leg he has put there and taking to that plane.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And what was the other?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the lowest class, both the legs here, but he is clearly seeing the highest plane and taking with him the whole to that place. Three kinds of Gurus, roughly, three classes of Guru we may conceive.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Generally speaking though, Prabhupāda says the spiritual master comes from the group of the eternal associates of the Lord, but anyone who follows the principles...

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Prabhupāda bolchen, “The statements of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura are as good as scriptures because he is liberated person. Generally the spiritual master comes from the group of such eternal associates of the Lord. But anyone who follows the principles of such ever liberated persons is as good as one in the above mentioned group. The Gurus from natures study...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And follows cent percent.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: “A person who is liberated Ācārya and Guru cannot commit any mistake. But there are persons who are less qualified or not liberated but still can act as Guru and Ācārya by strictly following the disciplic succession.” So the main thing is, with the disciplic succession, as long as he is linked to the disciplic succession...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Link of faith. If that is unchallengeable and permanent then it is a bona fide. The faith, the link is in faith, śraddhā, and unflinching śraddhā, that is the qualification. The link, the faith, firm faith in his Guru: that is the qualification of becoming a Guru.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But if one deviates doesn't that mean that he doesn't have faith?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: If somebody deviates from the strict disciplic succession that means...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: His Guru and the predecessor Ācāryas...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, deviation in the particular case can be overlooked to some degree, some degree, but he may again recoup. It may be possible. That this is deviation in whose sight? That will be the first thing, whether it is deviation or not? Any change in the policy, may not be deviation.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Let me give you an example. One of the requirements to be an initiated disciple is to chant sixteen rounds of mahā-mantra daily.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali) repeats Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja's question that it's a deviation.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Prabhupāda said that this was the most important instruction of the spiritual master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali translated): Mahārāja is telling that say for instance Caitanya Mahāprabhu, He said that at least one should chant sixty four rounds, right? But if somebody due to his other activities, engagements and other service cannot chant that many rounds that can be tolerated. Like so, it has to be understood.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If he is busily engaged in other services, we should not hurry, we should not hurry.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: But Mahārāja, Prabhupāda gave us sixteen rounds as a minimum. Like he said that we must, everybody in this line... (Bengali)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahārāja insists on knowing whether it's the only deviation? Is there any further deviation than that? This deviation is not sufficient criteria to be considered a deviation. Mahāprabhu has advised all of us to chant at least sixty four rounds. Even better than a lākh is three lākh Names, but that is not possible because of overwhelming practical devotional service; it's not possible. So the question that I am asking is why has he reduced the number of rounds? Is it because of negligence or apathy? Maybe he has turned his attention more towards other practical services. But the consideration of the other service is with what depth of sincerity and intensity that is being executed. That must be measured. We simply cannot judge by saying that he has deviated. All these have to be taken into consideration. Mahāprabhu said that, "Until and unless a devotee chants a minimum of sixty four rounds I shall not accept any prasādam from his hands."

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Śrīla Prabhupāda being a devoted servant and servitor of Lord Caitanya is more merciful than Lord Caitanya Himself and so he recommends only sixteen rounds.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But at the same time, He said that it is better to chant one lākh Names. But generally it is seen that it is not possible for missionaries to complete that many number of rounds. (Actually, Śrīdhara Mahārāja said that it is three lākh Names which is better according to Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura but for missionaries it might not always be possible.) At least four rounds minimum should be chanted so that we see that the mālā does not get starved.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: But if this is a case of negligence?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Negligence? If it is a clear example of negligence not due to other engagement of service then we may wait for some time to see the next future stage. May be slothful for some time and again he may have redoubled energy to do the thing. It may be possible.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But Bali Mahārāja did not wait when he was dealing with Śukrācārya. He immediately rejected him.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Translates to Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because the chance is going off forever. He must do or die. Do or refuse.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: So in our society also, Mahārāja, there has been some very drastic changes in the mood of some of the Gurus. We can say like for instance these three, the actual meaning of Guru tattva, that Guru tattva being Kṛṣṇa and whoever is representing Kṛṣṇa, he should be given that respect. Instead of taking it in that way they were thinking that now we have become Guru, we have become perfect. And so whatever we do is perfect. So this mood actually led them to a very great degradation in spiritual life.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Prabhupāda says in the Upadeśāmṛta, in his explanations, that if you imitate the behaviour of an uttama-adhikārī you become degraded.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Repeats, then - Actually, this Guru was telling everybody, even his God-brothers that everybody will have to accept him as the absolute authority because now he is the Guru. Now this...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We have to also see disciple or God-brothers?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Even sannyāsa God-brothers, everyone. He was even telling that they cannot worship Śrīla Prabhupāda, that, he was telling that they have to worship Śrīla Prabhupāda through him. In other words, they have to worship him instead of Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why? Did your Prabhupāda, did Swāmī Mahārāja declare, give declaration that this devotee was the principal Ācārya?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, never.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then why...

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: This is the thing, like instead of realising...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I was told that this devotee demanded that he possessed some special favour of his Gurudeva.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: And that special favour led to think...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So much so as to become the Guru of the Ācāryas?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yes, that is the way he was feeling.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Really?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: He was telling that he is the way, like Jesus Christ. That he was telling, that I mean, his basic mood of preaching was that now that he has become the Guru he is on the absolute platform.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only he, on the other side also become the Guru, they also become the same position like him, what he will say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They gave an example that they are all like mangos, but he is the fully ripened mango.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Prabhupāda sometimes used to give the example that anybody who is on the path of this perfected path of disciplic succession, one who is following this bona fide Guru paramparā, he is on the perfected path. He might not be perfect right now but sooner or later he will become perfect. Like mango, mango may be green now but in due course of time the mango will become ripe. The same mango, now it is green but tomorrow it will become ripe; so in the same way he was telling that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don't want to speak about him, personally.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That I have, I have reached the stage of a ripe mango in its full position and they are all green mango; that is the claim of (name)?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Previously.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Something like that. But what are the signs by which he claimed that he's ripe? What signs did he show? That you are such and such, you are unripe green and I am such and such, so I am ripe mango. What is that thing? What that is? The question of faith, śraddhā? The symptom of ripe mango and the symptom of green mango, did he say anything about that?

Of course, Swāmī Mahārāja once here he told me when (name) was asked to deliver lecture, he asked me to give attention to his lecture very minutely, “He is amongst all, he has got the knowledge of the Gauḍīya siddhānta, more. So please hear attentively what he says.”

He asked me and I gave attention. When he took seat, Swāmī Mahārāja asked me, “How did you hear?”

I told him, “I shall say later on.”

Another man, he also spoke, “Later on I shall say.”

And I heard that what you are saying is all right, only one mistake. That is a history mistake. He mentioned that Tapana Miśra in Benares, he was, no, Candraśekhara in Benares, he took him for Candraśekhara the maternal uncle of Mahāprabhu. Navadvīpa, he mistook, he mentioned Candraśekhara the maternal uncle of Mahāprabhu. This Candraśekhara and that Candraśekhara are separate. This mistake he committed, (name), otherwise what he told, that was quite right. I saw.

But Swāmī Mahārāja told, “Amongst others, he is the most proficient in the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava siddhānta.” He told me, I was there.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Which year was that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't remember.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: 1974, 73?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: That must have been early seventies.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That place, the buildings have been constructed and I was invited there, and perhaps Bhāvānanda has already come. Bhāvānanda took me in the motorcar, and Acyutānanda accompanied that time. Some special consideration for (name) I saw in him, so much I can say in his favour. But that does not mean that he will be the Guru of all the Ācāryas. So much is not possible. In that case (name) would have been the single Ācārya of the whole, that is, that was not the, his conception at least. Not only, he was not declared president of the Ācārya Board, (name) was not even declared the President of the Ācārya Board. Why, he should not claim like that. But he may guide, he may try to draw attention towards his understanding, and some criterion. If I am to give opinion then I must have some materials that (name) says this and the others all told this. Then if I say (name) is right then I can something in favour of (name) or any one I shall have to see their particular example. They differ and who is the right man? I may try to see that. Otherwise, I can't say so.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Now, Mahārāja, there is a doubt in many devotees that a, whether Prabhupāda really appointed them as Ācāryas. Because, should I read this?

These are the final instructions of Śrīla Prabhupāda. In this he said, when asked, “Who would succeed him as the leader of the Kṛṣṇa consciousness movement?”

Śrīla Prabhupāda replied, “All my disciples will take the legacy. If you want, you can also take it. Sacrifice everything. I may soon pass away but they are hundreds and this movement will increase. It is not that I'll give an order, 'Here is the next leader.' Anyone who follows the previous leadership is a leader. I don't make any distinction between Indian and European. All my disciples are leaders as much as they follow purely. If you want to follow you can also lead.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: History will stand witness to it. (Bengali) In other words, in the material form, the history will prove. (laughing) From the material standpoint they will see itihas saki, who is right, who is wrong.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali) You want to show that other thing also, Prabhupāda's discussion with Satsvarūpa Mahārāja? This is also...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) I would like you to refer to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Hari-Nāma- cintāmaṇi. In that book the tattva on Guru, Ācārya, has been dealt with very extensively. In Caitanya-caritāmṛta we find Caitanya Mahāprabhu asking questions to Rāmānanda Rāya and Rāmānanda Rāya answering. But here in this book we find Caitanya Mahāprabhu asks Haridāsa Ṭhākura about the efficacy and the transcendental position of the Holy Name of the Lord. He has dealt with the question of Ācārya very scrutinisingly in this particular book.

So the point of accepting a Guru under what conditions, once you have accepted a Guru there is no question of rejecting. This point has been discussed very subtly. And also the point where a disciple accepts a Guru and under very peculiar conditions is forced to ultimately reject him has also been discussed in this book.

It is actually a misfortune for that disciple to have to reject his Guru once he has accepted him. One must be very careful and judge everything according to śāstra before he accepts a Guru. Precaution should be taken before one actually accepts a Guru. After considering who the actual Guru is, then one places his head at his lotus feet, and once he has placed it at his lotus feet it is very difficult to take it away again. All the symptoms of a bona fide Guru should be scrutinisingly judged before accepting as a Guru.

Here in India before the marriage, before the negotiations, everybody can judge the qualities of the bride and groom. But once the marriage has been completed then it is a point of no return.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja is telling that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in a book called the Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi has explained everything about Ācārya...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirbhajan and regular relationship, you'll find it there very elaborately in Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: When you get married, before getting married those people will look at the bride and groom and select and make negotiations. At that time all kinds of testing can go on, but once you are married then it is done.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In that spirit, none should be easily accepted and dismissed. That should never be in the spiritual life. It is a great disturbance. So before we go to take initiation we should try our utmost and we shall invoke divine mercy to guide me. In all ways I shall try to see that I am not giving my head to any place and every place.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But a newcomer, due to inexperience and lack of knowledge, may be erroneous in his choice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ignorance is no excuse.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Sometimes devotees are forced to take initiation also. Like Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja was telling me just this morning that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then that must have reaction. It will pay its own coin.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: So this is a discussion. Satsvarūpa Mahārāja is asking some questions to Śrīla Prabhupāda on behalf of the GBC and Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is also there. So I'll just read from here.

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja is asking, “Then our next question concerns initiations in the future particularly at that time when you are no longer with us. We want to know how first and second initiation would be conducted.”

Śrīla Prabhupāda: “Yes. I shall recommend some of you. After this is settled up, I shall recommend some of you to act as officiating Ācārya.”

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: “Is that called ṛtvik Ācārya?”

Śrīla Prabhupāda: “Ṛtvik, yes.”

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: “What is the relationship of that person who gives the initiation and the...”

Śrīla Prabhupāda: “He's Guru. He's Guru.”

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: “But he does it on your behalf.”

Śrīla Prabhupāda: “That is formality, because in my presence one should not become Guru. So on my behalf, on my order, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā, he is actually Guru, but by my order.”

[yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: “So they may also be considered your disciples?”

Śrīla Prabhupāda: “Yes, their disciples, but consider who...”

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: “No, he is asking that these ṛtvik Ācāryas, they are officiating, giving dīkṣā. The people who they give dīkṣā to, whose disciples are they?”

Śrīla Prabhupāda: “They are his disciple.”

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: “They are his disciple.”

Śrīla Prabhupāda: “Who is initiating, his grand disciple.”

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: “Then we have a question concerning...”

Śrīla Prabhupāda: “When I order you become Guru, he becomes regular Guru, that's all? He becomes disciple of my disciple, just see.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So it appears in this conversation that Prabhupāda is saying that they are Gurus even in his presence and the people they initiated are their disciples and are his grand disciples. Is that possible?

(Bengali)

This point has to be gone over once more. This question about grand disciple has to be clarified. The ṛtvik Ācāryas, when they initiate, their disciples become grand disciples of Śrīla Prabhupāda. This is a question to clarify what Bhakti Cāru Mahārāja was reading. And if the first initiation is done by the ṛtvik Ācāryas and they come to Śrīla Prabhupāda for the second initiation then whose actual disciples are they? This is Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja's question. Here Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja wants to clarify the point whether Śrīla Prabhupāda is not available for the second initiation. And if the second initiation is also performed by the ṛtvik Ācāryas then whose disciples do they become? Do these points manifest themselves in this particular conversation? They certainly are Śrīla Prabhupāda's grand disciples, but the question is what has Śrīla Prabhupāda done in his lifetime? Has Śrīla Prabhupāda allowed in his presence others to initiate the Hari Nāma, the Hari Nāma dīkṣā?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali) Yes, during Śrīla Prabhupāda's presence some of the ṛtvik Ācāryas actually initiated Hari Nāma. Here it sounds like Prabhupāda is saying that actually they are Prabhupāda's disciples. Who is initiating? Who is actually initiating? Prabhupāda is initiating. So his grand disciple because Prabhupāda is giving the order āmāra ājñāya guru hañā.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He says, "When I order, 'You become Guru,' he is regular Guru."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) re grand disciples. When he is prakat, he's here in appearance, then he's delegated someone to give Hari Nāma. And he took Hari Nāma from his delegate, his delegated power, man. Then he comes to him, he comes to see Swāmī Mahārāja, whether he will take initiation from Swāmī Mahārāja or he will go back to take initiation from the delegated person? Any such thing occurred during Swāmī Mahārāja...

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No such event.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (explaining to Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja) So Prabhupāda was there but he could not initiate so somebody as Prabhupāda's representative is initiating. Now when they, say later on if they have to take second initiation, will they take it from Prabhupāda or will they take it from the ṛtvik?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In the other conversation, Prabhupāda first he gives them the right to do first initiation and then he says, "Let me think about second," and then he says, "Yes for second also."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) Did the ṛtvik Ācāryas during Prabhupāda's time actually initiate or give Hari Nāma? And did Prabhupāda interfere in that particular context with second dīkṣā?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (explaining to Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja) Do you know, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, once a ṛtvik gives Hari Nāma initiation then did Śrīla Prabhupāda ever interfere? Like for the second initiation.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. In this conversation he gives them the right to give second initiation also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Second initiation, whom? Prabhupāda?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The ṛtviks.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Prabhupāda first gave them the order that, “You give the first initiation.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: At the same time, he thought a little bit and he said, “Both.”

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Then after awhile, after a short time (two minutes), he said, “You can give second initiation also.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He ordered, but he did not interfere, he did not give initiation himself. But we heard, we heard, we saw that some of the disciples of Prabhupāda [Bhaktisiddhānta] they went away for some time almost leaving Prabhupāda, and there they got some disciples and again joined the Mission. And those disciples were taken to Prabhupāda and Prabhupāda gave them initiation.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: That did not happen in our society because Śrīla Prabhupāda appointed the ṛtvik.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ṛtvik, and that is final order then. When he has once appointed any ṛtvik and the ṛtvik has given initiation during his lifetime, initiation to any person, and when that person has again come to your Prabhupāda, hmm, and he ordered the same person who gave Hari Nāma, that give second initiation, and he did not take them personally, this is the case? Then the position of the ṛtvik, it gets as good as an Ācārya?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right. That is what he is saying. Right, that they were Guru then.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: He is saying that the position of the ṛtviks is as good as the Ācārya's.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right; and the people they initiated were their disciples, and Śrīla Prabhupāda's grand disciples.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only he gave order but in his presence he wanted them to do that function?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, this is another point. Knowing that he was doing that, making them regular Gurus, he did not say, "You need vyāsāsana, you need this kind of worship." He didn't make any special arrangements. Everything went on; there wasn't any special fanfare at that time.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Now he is questioning that although Śrīla Prabhupāda appointed them as Ācāryas, Śrīla Prabhupāda did not say that now you need, now that you have become Ācārya, you need vyāsāsana, you need the Guru, this, all this fanfare for the Guru, Śrīla Prabhupāda did not say anything of that sort.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The vyāsāsana question, that is on the question of protocol that should be changed and adjusted according to the policy. For the time being it should be adjusted amongst them, anyhow. Guru, it is very difficult. It is easy for those who have already to adjusted things within their minds. But the newcomers should be given the highest attraction, the chance of attraction physically. I am not clear?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yes, it is clear. The neophyte, the newcomers you know, they should be...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adjust things mentally.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: That their Guru is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To draw their maximum faith. His Guru should be given the fullest advantage. Otherwise he will think that my Guru is of lower quality.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What happens when the God-brothers do not have faith in their Guru-God- brothers as a bona fide spiritual master?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That respect should come voluntarily from the Ācāryas. The Ācārya sabhā, they must prepare rules and regulations to guide themselves so that the newcomers may not be disturbed. They...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: See, even some newcomers have recognised what they feel are deviations in the instructions of these Gurus.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: So he is saying that even the newcomers, they notice some deviation in their Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of their Guru, in respect of the behaviour of the other Ācāryas.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Or in their own Guru, disciples they see what they feel are philosophical discrepancies with Śrīla Prabhupāda and the predecessor Ācāryas.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Even the disciples, they notice some discrepancies in the philosophy of Śrīla Prabhupāda and...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And in the Ādi-līlā of Caitanya-caritāmṛta when there is discussion of Advaita Ācārya and his sons, when they had a difference of opinion with Advaita Ācārya they became asara, or useless, and Śrīla Prabhupāda says that is the beginning of schism. You can mention Advaita Ācārya?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (explains) Śrīla Prabhupāda says that this is the beginning of a schism, this is the beginning of a separation. That when there is difference of opinion, that when they are not following...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One thing, sons and disciples are not of equal status. The son of Viṣṇu- Vallabha Narakāśura became āśura, son of Viṣṇu. So what should be the main point of consideration? The cultural descents and the physical descents, if we call it such...

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: But how about the disciples, those who are deviating from their spiritual master's instructions?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What is their; Śrīla Prabhupāda says they have no standing in Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a very...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He says that if you have an opinion different than the opinion of your Guru then you are not Guru, you are rascal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is a very risky thing; two or three Vaiṣṇavas together living and disciples of every person should give the maximum respect to his own Guru. But if he sees that Guru one, he seems to be higher, and his Guru is lower, his regard will decrease. But it is a very perplexing and a very difficult thing. The criterion will be of such nature. Suppose one Guru is more educated, another Guru is less educated. But the disciple who appreciates education much, he'll see my Guru is not educated, his Guru is educated; so he disregards his own Guru.

But education and the physical beauty and the other things should not be taken into consideration. The question of faith, faith and service, only that point should be considered. Śraddhā, bhakti, prema, that thing is to be considered and if in that case, if śraddhā is real, then by education, or by figure, or by delivering lecture, or any other acts - that should not be considered at all: the question of faith, in regard. And even if a śikṣā Guru is allowed, dīkṣā Guru should not be dismissed very easily. But one may take śikṣā Guru and he may have respect for śikṣā Guru, but dīkṣā Guru should not be dismissed if he is in faith, normal faith in the Guru paramparā, in Kṛṣṇa, in Gaurāṅga, in Gurudeva. The faith should be considered first thing, śraddhā, and not other garments like education, like good physical body, like delivering lectures, like social temperamental, these things are immaterial. The main thing is śraddhā.

Haridāsa Ṭhākura was not much educated; Rūpa, Sanātana, highly educated. So a disciple of Haridāsa Ṭhākura, they will run to Rūpa, Sanātana?

They may take, demand education, but the Guru may not be removed. This sort of adjustment should be done. The Guru without education, or without external grandeur, but if he has got strong faith, perhaps greater than that educated man, and he will, he will be doomed disciple?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That is when that faith is there. But we were saying before, if there is deviation, how can you say there is faith? Deviation comes as a result of lack of faith.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deviation is a very difficult word, deviation in what standpoint? And who is to judge deviation?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: If it becomes obvious...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as we say that this order, that sixteen times counting, that may not be the highest criterion for discharging a Guru.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Not that, but Mahārāja, if it is seen, that a Guru or whoever he is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because that varies, the first thing is whether he is deviated in śraddhā, śraddhā in his Guru, in Mahāprabhu, and in Kṛṣṇa. And what are the signs to show, to prove that his śraddhā has been, has dwindled? We have to prove that his śraddhā has been dwindled. Higher proof is necessary, not only formal habit or this or that.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: If it is seen that he is more attached to matter than the spiritual endeavour, if he is directly manifesting his attachment to matter more than spirit, then what? I mean this is a direct sign of deviation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then the disciples may wait for some time to study very closely and very steadily. And if he finds that it is real attachment, real attachment and deviation, and he is losing his attraction on the other side, of course then he may be aloof for some time, wait, and then, not that he will do anything abruptly, and when he will be quite confident, he will pray to the Lord, “Please save me from such a disaster.” And then he will perhaps get light and he will do according to his own divine consciousness, spiritual conscience or conscience. Not very hurriedly or rapidly, will he do anything, but patiently he will see and study and when he is quite confident that his Guru was, that he has deviated, his śraddhā dwindled, and he's more attached to the worldly life than to the spiritual, then of course he will be indifferent for some time and pray to the Lord fervently, “Save me from such disastrous teacher and show me the right way.” And he must be sincere to his own conscience and do accordingly. Not very hurriedly and roughly, very patiently, and he will consult with the Vaiṣṇava whom he can regard, and with their help, he will try to get from these clutches and to enter into some other place. But it should not be a very hurried thing, unconsidered thing. In Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi you will find like that.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Now the question comes, now that Rāmeśvara Mahārāja has removed his vyāsāsana from the temple, what should he do?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who, Rāmeśvara Mahārāja? I appreciate this to a certain extent that it has become too much so to; as a reaction to that extreme gorgeousness he has taken this path. But Guru's special position, āsana, that should be there. Not so very splendidly but somewhat respectfully.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He has one; he has a respectable seat.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some respectful position must be given to Guru, some respectful...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, he is taking that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But not too much gorgeous. Too much of everything is to break...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But how are the disciples to view the discrimination? They see here is Śrīla Prabhupāda in a very gorgeous setting and here is their Guru in a very...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, my mother is most affectionate to me, not my grandmother. This is nature.

So one should show maximum respect to his own Guru and a little less to his grand Guru, param Guru. More respect to own Guru than param Guru. My Guru we see form in that link. I shall see my Guru link. The link will be in this way. My Guru is sure to hold his Guru's feet fast. If I hold him, his feet fast, then I am safe. That is the underlying meaning. It is my duty to hold fast the feet of my Guru that I may not fall down and it is; I fully know that my Gurudeva has held the feet of his Guru fast, so the chain is unbroken. It is not my lookout to see how my Gurudeva is dealing with him. I am confident that my Guru is holding fast. The chain comes in this way. All my power should be engaged to see, to hold my Guru's feet fast, but if that is vulnerable and that particular chain is vulnerable, breaks down, then I shall fall. So in that case, if it is clear that the chain which I have held is vulnerable then of course I shall have to think and to hold any other chain so that I cannot be disconnected from the link coming from upward to this world.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now in our Kṛṣṇa consciousness movement all of the members are reading the books of Śrīla Prabhupāda. So we personally did not read the books of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Prabhupāda, only maybe the Brahma-saṁhitā. But in our movement, everyone, even the disciples of these Gurus, they are reading Śrīla Prabhupāda's books. So is he in the position of their śikṣā Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have to hold your Prabhupāda very fastly and there is no question there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What about the new disciples?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But of the new disciples, if they see, they will also hold the feet of their Guru, that will be the first consideration. But this, if that unhappy circumstance appears to become fact by his great misfortune, it is of course none to be blamed. He has come to a wrong Guru. That is also his fate or karma, his sukṛti. He is responsible for that, to come to a false Guru - his, not any other, not anyone else. So anyhow, if by the grace of the Vaiṣṇava he comes to find that he has done wrong in selection of his Guru then he will deviate, he will be indifferent for some time and consult with other Vaiṣṇavas, and then he will think of changing his Guru. If his clear spiritual conscience urges him, he must accept his inner voice.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What if someone says, "I want to wait for an uttama-adhikārī Guru?"

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Explains in Bengali)

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They read in Śrīla Prabhupāda's books what the position of the spiritual master is and they feel that these men do not meet that standard.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, if he feels in his heart, that he should wait for an uttama-adhikārī Guru, wait for some time in his selection, but selection is agreed and final. So it does not, when it will take some time, it may not be discouraged, but if he, when he will select, he must select it well. So time he may take if his conscience asks, says, his inner voice asks him to wait, they may wait for some time and see, finish all his inquiries, then he will surrender to a particular personage as his Guru. The śāstra will guide. Sādhū and śāstra, śāstra, by śāstra select a Guru, and a Vaiṣṇava helps us understand the meaning of the śāstra. Both inter helping; śāstra and the sādhū help one another. Śāstra helps to understand who is sādhū and sādhū helps what is the meaning of the śāstra, both interdependent and inter helper.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, Rāmeśvara Swāmī is saying that, "I am somewhere between a neophyte and intermediate level devotee." So one point that Rāmeśvara Swāmī is making in this paper, he is saying that, "I am like the madhyama-adhikārī Guru but I'm giving my disciples the uttama-adhikārī Guru of Śrīla Prabhupāda as śikṣā Guru by reading his books and hearing his lectures. So they have the uttama connection."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, He says that, "I recommend my disciples to go to other Ācārya?"

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Śrīla Prabhupāda. "I am a second class Guru, madhyama-adhikārī Guru, but I am taking my disciples, I am giving my disciples the uttama-adhikārī Guru; that is Śrīla Prabhupāda, through Prabhupāda's books and Prabhupāda's instructions." So he is trying to link his disciples with Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (pause) If I am to answer this question, I shall have to say that this is a fair and sincere statement, but a little faulty and weak. He should take risk. Not only he will confirm his faith in his Gurudeva and ask his disciples to carry out his words, but he must dedicate himself totally, taking the risk, what is necessary. Only not to show the śāstric meaning and other things, and he should also sacrifice himself, even he will have to give his feet for worship, and it will go to Śrīla Prabhupāda. This sort of risk must be taken.

The gopīs they told Nārada...

Kṛṣṇa once in Dvārakā, He told that, "I have got a severe headache, Nārada, and the medicine is the feet dust of the devotee, give feet dust."

"No, no, no. You are God the Absolute. I shall offer feet dust? Please forgive me, excuse me."

Then Nārada went to the princesses, Rukmiṇī and others. "Kṛṣṇa is suffering severely from headache and the feet dust of His devotee will cure it. He has sent me; please give something that will..."

"No, no, no. What do you say, Nārada? Do you want to send us to the hell? That I shall offer feet dust to Kṛṣṇa who is God Himself, the Absolute, feet dust? Never, never. You are a devotee; you give your feet dust."

And Nārada was - then he went to Kṛṣṇa.

"Oh, very severe pain, Nārada, have you got the feet dust?" "No, none is prepared to give feet dust."

“Oh, I am feeling very severe pain. Just go and fetch something from Vraja. You go there.”

Then Nārada at once went by yoga process, went to Vṛndāvana. “How is Kṛṣṇa, Nārada, you are coming? How Kṛṣṇa is living?”

“Oh, He is at present under severe pain from headache and He wants some feet dust of the devotee, that will be all the medicine to cure Him.”

“Oh, is that so? Then take feet dust; give your feet dust; take my feet dust.”

Nārada was astonished, astounded. “What is this? Do you know what the result is of giving feet dust to Kṛṣṇa?”

“Yes. We are fully conscious what that is, eternal hell, we are prepared for that.”

So this sort of risk should be taken if one is going to take the position of an Ācārya. He must risk. No risk, no gain.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: But Mahārāja, at the same time, isn't the Guru going to accept...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: False imitation will also kill. It is risking, and the imitation of risking will not save. The real thing within must be there, at the same time.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja, isn't this the understanding, that the spiritual master is accepting disciples, but he is offering the disciples to his spiritual master?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: That is the mood of Rāmeśvara Mahārāja also. He is accepting disciples but he is feeling unqualified...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At the same time, at the command of his Guru, he will be prepared to give facility to his disciples as he gave. At the same time he must...

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: I am not qualified, but my spiritual master is qualified so let me offer these disciples to his lotus feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But still, I am taking this risk. Why? By his order I am taking this risk. And mentally he should be sincere to that path that his spiritual master is all, he is nothing. But by the command of his Guru, he will sacrifice his whole self, mind, body, everything. Karmana, manasa, vaca, not only the mind but the words as well as the body.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So when Mahāprabhu says, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128] become spiritual master, doesn't that mean qualify as spiritual master?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahāprabhu is instructing that āmāra ājñāya guru hañā. Doesn't that āmāra ājñāya guru hañā mean that you first become qualified to be a Guru? That is, vāco vegaṁ manasaḥ krodha-vegaṁ, etc.?

[vāco vegam manasaḥ krodha-vegam, jihvā-vegam udaropastha-vegam etān vegān yo viṣaheta dhīraḥ, sarvām apīmāṁ pṛthivīm sa śiṣyāt]

[“A sober person who can tolerate the urge to speak, the mind's demands, the action of anger and the urges of the tongue, belly and genitals is qualified to make disciples all over the world.”]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At first you qualify yourself to be a Guru and then you deliver the conditioned living entities. So it proves that āmāra ājñāya, he must have faith in His command, sufficient faith, that will be the first qualification, the faith, the śraddhā. Then he will take the risk and do the necessary. Otherwise he will dismiss - Oh, he says and that vanishes in the air and what shall I do?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: But Mahārāja, isn't this very important in this respect, that he has to have the link with his spiritual master, that very strong link?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He may convert from grandeur to plainness. Plain, plain method he may accept, but that method should be accepted as it is necessary to draw maximum attention of the disciple. That is necessary. Then that method may not be - most gorgeous but plain, but roughly what is necessary for the purpose. That should be allowed, karmana, vaca. Not only word but also in mind and also in body. Another important thing to consider in this respect is that ISKCON, Prabhupāda is the Founder-Ācārya of ISKCON.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Of course. ISKCON is Prabhupāda’s creation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, so it is very clear, just as Rūpānuga, Narrotama parivat, and we are rather inclined to say that we are Bhaktivinoda paribat, and you will all say we are Swāmī Mahārāja parivat. As the stalwart, just as in the vaṁśa, the gotra, and the – the gotra is coming from the origin, gotra means stalwarts among the descending line – so in the line of Mahāprabhu there are principal Ācāryas, just as in our Guru paramparā. Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara, Rūpa, Raghunātha, Jīva, then Kavirāja, in this way Raghunātha, Kavirāja, there, Jīva, Kavirāja, Narrotama, the selected few coming down. So Swāmī Prabhupāda is one of the stalwarts in the paramparā, the spiritual generation.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: The disciplic succession.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One of the stalwarts is he who spread throughout the length and the breadth of this earth.

pr̥thivīte āche yata nagarādi-grama, sarvatra pracāra haibe mora nāma

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is the pioneer of Śrī Kṛṣṇa saṅkīrtana. He said: “I have come to inaugurate the chanting of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa, and that Name will reach every nook and corner of the universe.”] [Caitanya-Bhāgavata]

That we are that paribat, we are connected with that paribat. Special respect for him: that may be there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Rāmeśvara Mahārāja feels that he should not be honoured by his disciples with titles that are equal to those of these stalwart Ācāryas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It will be to deceive the disciple. He must have such boldness to attract their faith and transfer it to his Gurudeva.

Once in Kathak, in the sea from Gauḍīya, the vyāsa-pūjā, that is the birth ceremony of our Guru Mahārāja, was celebrated in Kathak Maṭh. Prabhupāda was given a throne to take his seat, and so many others, big citizens were invited, including the father of Netaji Subhas Candra Bose. Janaki Bose was a leading pleader at Kathak at that time and many other elites were invited, and they were taking a seat in the ordinary floor. Of course there some carpet, etc.

Then Prabhupāda in his address told that, “I am being given so much honour, garments, then worshipping, sandals, flowers, so many things, and many things are being read in my face. A beast in the zoo, he would also be ashamed to take such worship amongst so many gentlemen; so many elites are here and I am taking the worship. An animal is also ashamed to accept such honour amongst so many things, and I am not such . . . bashfulness? I am not ashamed to take such honour amongst so many gentlemen? But why am I accepting such honour, such respect? To show that my Guru is deserving this honour. And only on his behalf I am accepting so much honour to me, only to send it to my Guru. This honour is for my Guru. I am nothing without my Guru. I am being worshipped because I have got his words, his advices. I have accepted them so I am being honoured, otherwise not. So on his behalf I am accepting and it is public and though it is a very shameful thing, still, at heart though I am aching, but I am accepting on my behalf to show that my Guru’s position is such.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He is accepting, but for example he won't allow his disciples to call him Prabhupāda because he is reserving that name for his spiritual master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (laughs) You see...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So how to make some adjustment?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our Prabhupāda passed away then of course the question of successor came out. And some accepted some Ācārya, some another Ācārya, some new Ācārya, in this way. Now came the question whether or not that Om Viṣṇupāda Prabhupāda, that should be accepted, that should be given, that title to the present Ācārya or not. That was a burning question at the time.

I told, looking at the scripture, that Om Viṣṇupāda Prabhupāda that should be given. It is written in the śāstra that a disciple should pronounce the name of his Guru with all these titles, Om Viṣṇupāda.

But vehement opposition came from the other persons who were not Gurus.

But I continued that it is in the śāstra that a disciple must give all his respect to his Guru, it is written. Then though protesting in the beginning, when those very persons came to take the position of an Ācārya, they used it freely, only with little difference, that Prabhupāda, and this Ācāryapāda, then Guru Mahārāja.

And this thing, because Prabhupāda gave some respect to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Bhaktivinoda was a title given by his Guru Vipina Goswāmī to Kedarnath Bhaktivinoda, a title. Prabhupāda told then, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, and if any person used that title given by his Guru, Prabhupāda could not tolerate, “That person he's Bhaktivinoda?” He could not tolerate.

So we also did not like that Prabhupāda's title should be given to any other disciple Guru Ācārya. So Ācāryadeva, Ācārya Mahārāja, Guru Mahārāja, in this way we used.

But when Swāmī Mahārāja took the title of Prabhupāda – once Bon Mahārāja took the title Prabhupāda but vehement opposition, he left it for the time being. I don't know how he is being dealt with now. But about Swāmī Mahārāja, when this question of Prabhupāda came it did not disturb me because from Gopāl Goswāmī, Prabhupāda the Jati Goswāmī, their disciple is using the word Prabhupāda like father. Prabhu-pāda. Prabhu means Vaiṣṇava and Prabhu-pāda, it is less than Viṣṇu-pāda. Guru should be, Guru's name should be used as Viṣṇupāda. That is higher, but Prabhupāda is less, a bhakta.

But there came some opposition, “Why Swāmī Mahārāja is using the word Prabhupāda, he is allowing his disciples to use the word Prabhupāda?”

But it did not disturb me at all. Because it is, it should be. A disciple will call his Gurudeva as Prabhupāda as this is sanctioned by the śāstra. It is not much. So Prabhupāda may use the disciple's names, but sometimes it is, ki bole? (Bengali) Ācāryapada, Ācāryadeva, Guru Mahārāja, something like that is to be told because it may not give pain to the other disciples. But this is not a much important factor.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's been given a lot of importance in our ISKCON; names.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One day Mahārāja told, “In the śāstra, big Guru and the small Guru, the mantra is always the same in the scripture. This mantra is for big Guru, this mantra is for small Guru (laughing). It is not classified in this way in the scripture.”

So this should be tolerated and adjusted amongst themselves: that it may not disturb the feelings of other God-brothers if we adjust in that way.

Without Prabhupāda you say Ācāryapada, it is well and good. It doesn't matter. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

I am getting tired, so next sitting, your Gurudeva, Prabhupāda, Swāmī Mahārāja.

My Guru Mahārāja wanted me to go west for preaching but I modestly, humbly refused, that I don't consider myself a fit person to preach in the West because you see I can't follow your intonation. So (laughing) I must listen clearly, then I shall tell. So in this way I told that if you order I must go, but I don't think that I am fit to preach in the West. Anyhow, it was stopped and Goswāmī Mahārāja was sent to the West.

And your Prabhupāda also told me, “I have taken so many and now it will be your duty to help them.” That is also some sort of responsibility. And the last time he told, “They want to build a special building for my living quarters in Māyāpur and I shall ask them to do two compartments, two flats, side by side, one for me and another for you.”

Of course, I shall try to help you, not always but occasionally, that I admitted. Sometimes I shall go and stay there with you.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja, why don't you tell us when you were first going to Māyāpur when Prabhupāda came with the disciples from America and you were going to Māyāpur, how you were feeling at that time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Māyāpur?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yes, when first Prabhupāda invited you to come to Māyāpur when he came. I remember once you were telling us that, you were telling everybody, “I could not go to...” that your spiritual master Śrīla Prabhupāda wanted you to go to America and the West but you could not go to the West, but now Swāmī Mahārāja has brought the West to your door step. (Laughing)

Devotee: Mohammed could not go to the mountain...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Laughing) The mountain came to Mohammed. Of course, now and then I remember that thing and I say.

And here also Swāmī Mahārāja said, “I have taken them to you, near you, and it will be your duty to cleanse them.” In this way of course, he told. “Raw things I have brought, taken to you, and it will be your duty to cleanse them to make them ready.” Hare Kṛṣṇa.

I consider him to be śaktyāveśa Avatāra, and it is confirmed here, his spiritual, his journey in the ship through the Atlantic and how he landed there and his, the beginning of his, the nature beginning the movement, how he, how much, what was the intense degree of dedication to Kṛṣṇa, dependent, and how much he made himself empty, quite empty to come down, Kṛṣṇa to help him, that is to be felt in, and it is corroborated that Kṛṣṇa worked on his behalf. He was completely dedicated himself to the purpose, and divine force, power, came down to help him. Otherwise it is impossible. It is not a thing of the ordinary level that anyone will do. The highest thing has been taken down to the lowest position so extensively. It cannot but be the divine power embodied and in a great intensity and magnitude. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: (Bengali) The main reason why we came is because there are many devotees, those who are impatiently waiting to hear what you have to say. Now, if you just show us the way. Now this has come to this point and unless some rectification is made, must be done, then they all will get together to do something about this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: (Bengali) If I have to say something formally from outside, then I have to say that among you who enjoy the greatest confidence of all the devotees, through such a man you call for a meeting in America or wherever the field is the most important. And in that meeting, the ones, those who are willing to boldly face the situation, participate, the GBCs, those who you feel are dissatisfied inwardly, call them and call a few Ācāryas like Rāmeśvara Mahārāja who are sympathetic. And then in the meeting you record the feeling of different devotees and then with the strength of that resolution you call for their explanation.

“That what you are doing in the name of Prabhupāda, you are not absolutely infallible. Due to your activities the mass of the disciples of Prabhupāda has become very bewildered. They are becoming very disappointed and they can see that a great loss is going to be incurred by the ISKCON society. The ISKCON society is in danger.”

So now you all reconsider yourselves and appeal to them to readjust themselves and thus this disaster can be saved.

“So many devotees are leaving the movement. So many devotees have become half-dead, and so many devotees have already died. And so many are lamenting and we cannot just sit idly without trying to rectify the situation. We ourselves do not want any position. But what is going on is intolerable. It is that the major portion is going to die. So we want some action to rectify this situation. We want some remedy for this.”

This must be thought out and accepted. So with this idea, you form a committee, make a resolution, and then selectively invite to come. In this way you call for a meeting, pass a resolution and there call for them and ask them, “To readjust their position and reconsider. Otherwise we shall be in painful necessity to make progress independently.”

You can say this in this line. If you are, so many good men, good followers of Swāmī Mahārāja are exhaustibly frustrated then you may do one thing. You may call a mass meeting of the followers and the well-wishers of your Prabhupāda. And there you may discuss the present hopeless situation of the society that, “It is gradually dwindling and dwindling, and it is intolerable to us. We are well-wishers of this mission and it is intolerable, we cannot tolerate any more. So what is the path before us to redress the wrong?”

So invite a general meeting and you also invite some of the GBC members and if possible Ācāryas like Rāmeśvara. And so, and you amongst yourself, consult amongst yourself what to do.

And then give an ultimatum to the Ācārya Board. “Our resolution at the mass meeting of the followers of Prabhupāda is this: that you should readjust your position, or otherwise we shall be under painful necessity to take the line independently, for the welfare of the whole mission. We cannot be a sightseer, that so many are going astray, and so many dying, and so many are going to be killed and these things. It is intolerable - high time. And you must come to...”

In this way you can, if you feel that the mass will be with you, at least a substantial portion will be with you, and those that are gone astray, that Pradyumna and the others, you may also invite them, the dissatisfied. Before mass meeting, you can have a selected meeting also, first, and then after consultation you go on to prepare yourself for a mass meeting.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?]: Yes, first selected few meeting.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?]: Definitely, at our Māyāpur meeting next year, there will, some, a meeting also of the temple presidents who are also dissatisfied and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are many, this first, the stalwarts meet first. And then a mass meeting you arrange. And after the stalwarts meeting, meeting of the handful, leading persons among you, you may give some ultimatum to the Ācārya Board.

“That this is going to happen, and it will be, the publicity will be great and it will be to your discredit. So try to come to our terms, consult, consultation and readjustment. But if you have argument then we will be forced to prepare for a mass meeting of our God-brothers and to do the needful.”

This process you may take. Before that your group, committee resolution, should be intimated to them and last appeal to their good sense.

“The mass revolted against you. We feel we are also sincere workers, we want to sacrifice our life, and our, we think our life is valuable. So seeing that you are going ostensibly, we see that you are leading astray. We cannot remain impartial viewer, or only a visitor. We have got interest in the Mission; you should know this, and not less than you.”

In this way you can do. What do you say?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Selected meeting and then approach them with a resolution and next mass meeting. If you are prepared for real fighting you can do like that.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: I think that it is going to be like this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Personal contact. Those that are going independent, hopeless, disappointed, going off, away from the association, you may meet them personally one by one. “Let us come together.” In this way a stalwart meeting will be first and then the resolution will be given, notice given to them, and then mass meeting.

And there it should be mentioned that, “We cannot be sightseer. We have got life interest in the Mission. We come to save. And if we say that in the name of saving, you are all killers, we cannot tolerate that. We have also got fire, the spark from our Guru Mahārāja.”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the gopīs, they told, “Nārada, Kṛṣṇa once, in Dvārakā, He told that, “I have got a severe headache Nārada, and the medicine is the feet dust of the devotee. Give feet dust.”

“No, no, no. You are God, the Absolute. I shall offer feet dust? Please forgive me, excuse me.” Then Nārada went to the Queens, Rukmiṇī and others. “Kṛṣṇa is suffering severely from headache, and the feet dust of His devotee will cure it. He has sent me, please give some feet dust from you.”

“No, no, no. What do you say Nārada? Do you want to send us to the hell? That I shall offer feet dust to Kṛṣṇa Who is God Himself, the Absolute - feet dust; never, never. You are a devotee; you give your feet dust.”

Then Nārada was nonplussed. Then he went to Kṛṣṇa. “Oh, very severe pain Nārada, have you got feet dust?” “No, none is prepared to give feet dust.”

“Oh, is it so? But I am feeling severe pain. Just go to fetch something from Vraja. You go there.” Then Nārada at once went to – by yoga process – went to Vṛndāvana.

And, “Oh, How’s Kṛṣṇa, Nārada? You are coming, how’s Kṛṣṇa living?”

“Oh, at present He’s under severe pain from headache, and He wants some feet dust of a devotee. That will be the only medicine to cure Him.”

“Oh, is it so? Oh, take feet dust here. Give your feet dust. Take my feet dust. Oh.”

Nārada was astonished, astounded. “What is this? Do you know what the result is of giving feet dust to Kṛṣṇa?”

“Yes. We’re fully conscious.” “What is that?”

“Eternal hell; we are prepared for that.”

So this sort of risk should be taken if one is going to take the position of an Ācārya. He must risk. No risk no gain.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But Mahārāja, at the same time, isn’t the Guru going to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: False imitation will also kill. It is mere risking, and the imitation of risking is not – will not save. The real thing within must be there at the same time.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, isn't this the understanding that the Spiritual Master is accepting disciples, but he's offering those disciples to his Spiritual Master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That is the mood of Rāmeśvara Mahārāja also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of course.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's accepting disciples but he's feeling unqualified...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At the same time, at the command of his Guru he will be prepared to give facility to his disciples, as he gave, at the same time. He must...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But I'm not qualified, but my Spiritual Master is qualified, so let me offer these disciples to his lotus feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But still, I am taking this risk, why? By his order.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Order, I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'm taking this risk. And mentally he should be sincere to that fact, that his Spiritual Master is all – he's nothing. But by the command of his Guru he will sacrifice wholesale, mind, body, everything, kāya-manosa-vākya, not only the mind, but the words as well as the body.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So when Mahāprabhu says, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā:

[yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei thāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

“Become Spiritual Master.” Doesn't that mean also, “Qualify as Spiritual Master?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahāprabhu is instructing that, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā, doesn't that āmāra ājñāya guru hañā mean that you first become qualified to be a Guru? That is vāco vegam manasaḥ krodha-vegam.

[*vāco vegam manasaḥ krodha-vegam, jihvā-vegam udaroprastha-vegam
[etān vegān yo viśaheta dhīraḥ, sarvām apīmāṁ pṛthivīm sa śiṣyāt]*

[Upadeśāmṛta, 1]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: At first you qualify yourself to become Guru and then you deliver to the conditioned living entities.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, it proves that āmāra ājñāya, he must have faith in his command, sufficient faith, and that will be the first qualification, the faith, the śraddhā. Then he will take the risk and do the necessary.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So it is clear that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Otherwise he'll dismiss, he says and that vanishes in the air, and what I shall do?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But Mahārāja, isn't this very important in this respect that he has to have the link with his Spiritual Master...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From grandeur, he may convert from grandeur to plainness, plain method he may accept. But that method should be accepted as it is necessary to draw maximum attention of the disciple. That is necessary. Then that may not be very much gorgeous, but plain. But roughly, what is necessary for the purpose, that should be allowed, as kāya-mano-vākya; not only in word, but also in mind, and also in body.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And another important thing to consider in this respect is that the ISCKON, Prabhupāda is the Founder Ācārya of ISKCON.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: ISKCON is Prabhupāda's creation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Right, so it's very important that we'll put Prabhupāda in the centre.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you may create, just as rūpānuga, narottama parivad, we are inclined to say we are Bhaktivinoda parivad, you will all say we are Swāmī Mahārāja parivad. In the stalwart, just as in the vaṁśa, the gotra and prabhodha – the gotra is coming from the origin, gotra. Prabho means stalwarts among the descending line, prabhodha. So, in the line of Mahāprabhu there are principal Ācāryas, just as in our Guru paramparā, Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara, Raghunātha, Jīva, then Kavirāja, in this way Raghunātha, Jīva, Kavirāja, Narottama, the selected few coming down. So Swāmī parivad, one of the stalwarts in the paramparā, the Guru paramparā, the spiritual generation. One of the stalwarts is he who spread throughout the length and breadth of this earth. Pr̥thivīte āche yata nagarādi-grama. We are that parivad, we are connected with that parivad.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That is also one way the devotees are...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And special respect for him; that may be done.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Yes, so Rāmeśvara Mahārāja feels that he should not be honoured by his disciples with titles that are equal to those of these stalwart Ācāryas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. It will be to deceive the disciple. He must have such boldness to attract their faith and transfer it to his Gurudeva.

It is written in the śāstra that the disciple should pronounce the name of his Guru with all these titles, Oṃ Viṣṇu-Pāda. But vehement opposition came from the other persons, who are not Gurus. But I continued that it is in the śāstra that the disciple must give his all respect to his Guru; it is written. Then gradually, though protesting in the beginning, when those very persons came to take the position of an Ācārya, they used it freely; only with little difference, that Prabhupāda, and this Ācāryapada, then Guru Mahārāja, and these things.

Because Prabhupāda gave some respect to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Bhaktivinoda was a title given by his Guru, Vipin Goswāmī, to Kedarnath Bhaktivinoda, a title. But Prabhupāda told of him as Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, and if any person used that title given by his Guru, Prabhupāda could not tolerate. “That person, he’s a Bhaktivinoda?” He could not tolerate.

So, we also did not like that Prabhupāda title should be given to any other disciple Guru, Ācārya. So Ācāryadeva, Ācārya Mahārāja, Guru Mahārāja, in this way we used.

But when Swāmī Mahārāja took the title of Prabhupāda, once Bon Mahārāja took the title of Prabhupāda, but with vehement opposition he left it, for the time being. I don’t know how he’s being dealt now. But about Swāmī Mahārāja when this question of Prabhupāda came, it didn’t disturb me, because the Pran Gopāl Goswāmī Prabhu, the Jati Goswāmī, their disciple is using the word Prabhupāda. “My father, prabhu pāda,” Vaiṣṇava means prabhu, and Prabhupāda, it is less than Viṣṇu-Pāda. Guru’s name should be used as Viṣṇu-Pāda, that is higher, but Prabhupāda is less, a bhakta, Prabhupāda.

But there came a voice of opposition that, “Why Swāmī Mahārāja is using the word Prabhupāda, and he’s allowing his disciples to use the word Prabhupāda?”

But it did not disturb me anything, because it should be. The disciple will say of his Gurudeva as Prabhupāda, and this is sanctioned by the śāstra. It is not much. So Prabhupāda, the disciples may use, but sometimes it is [?] Ācāryapāda, Ācāryadeva, Guru Mahārāja, something like that to be told, because it may not give pain to the other disciples.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Because he wanted to make a book...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But this is a non important factor, of not much importance.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: It’s been given a lot of importance in our ISKCON; names, Viṣṇupāda, Ācāryapāda...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, one day Parvat Mahārāja told, “In the śāstra, big Guru and small Guru. The mantra is always the same in the scripture. This mantra is for big Guru, and this mantra is for small Guru.” It is not classified in this way in the scripture. So this should be tolerated and adjusted among themselves.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One may not disturb the feelings of other God-brothers if he adjusts in that way. Without Prabhupāda, you say Ācāryapāda, it is well and good, it doesn't matter. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

I'm getting tired so next sitting.

Your Gurudeva Prabhupāda Swāmī Mahārāja.

My Guru Mahārāja wanted me to go to the West for preaching, but I modestly, humbly refused, that, "I don't consider myself a fit person to preach in the West." Because you see that I can't follow your intonation. So I must listen clearly, then I shall tell. So in this way I told that, "If you order I must go, but I don't think that I'm fit to preach in the West." Anyhow, it was stopped and Goswāmī Mahārāja was sent to the West.

And your Prabhupāda also told me, "I have taken so many. Now it will be your duty to help them. That is also some sort of responsibility I give you."

And in the last time he told, "They want to build a special building for my living..."

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Living quarters in Māyāpur.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Living quarters in Māyāpur, and shall ask them to do two compartments, two flats...

Devotee: Side by side.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Side by side, one for me and another for you.”

“Of course, I shall try to help you, not always, but occasionally.” That I admitted. “Sometimes I shall go and stay there with you.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, why don’t you tell us when you were first going to Māyāpur, when Prabhupāda came with the disciples from America, and you are going to Māyāpur, how you were feeling at that time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Māyāpur?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. When first, Prabhupāda invited you to come to Māyāpur when he came.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I remember once you were telling us that you are telling everybody now I could not go to, your Spiritual Master Śrīla Prabhupāda wanted you to go to America, and the West, but you could not go to the West, but now Swāmī Mahārāja has brought the West to your doorstep.

Devotee: Mohamed could not go to the mountain.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But the mountain came to Mohamed. Of course, now and then I remember that thing and I say. And here also, Swāmī Mahārāja said, “I have taken them to you, near you, and it will be your duty to cleanse them.” In this way, of course, he told. “Raw things I have brought to you and it will be your duty to cleanse them, to make them ready.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Shiny.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. I considered him to be śaktyāveśa avatāra. As confirmed in his spiritual journey in the ship...

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Jaladhuta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...through the Atlantic, and how he landed there, and the nature of his beginning the movement. How much, what was the interest, dedication to Kṛṣṇa, dependence, and how much he made himself quite empty, for Kṛṣṇa to come down to help him. That is to be felt in him, and it is corroborated that Kṛṣṇa worked on his behalf. He was completely dedicated for the purpose and the divine force, power, came down to help him. Otherwise it is impossible. It is not a thing of the ordinary level that anyone will do. The highest thing has been taken down to the lowest position, so extensively it cannot but be the divine power embodied in a great intensity and magnitude. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Jai.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Māyāpur Candradoya Maṭh Kī Jai.

Devotees: Jai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Visvavyadi [?] Kṛṣṇa Consciousness Movement, Kī Jai.

Devotees: Jai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol.

...

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So the first question is in the Fourth Canto of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, in the allegorical story of Purañjana, when the wife loses her husband, Śrīla Prabhupāda compares this to the disappearance of the Spiritual Master. And she says that the world has become overrun with rogues and thieves in the absence of her husband. So Prabhupāda says that after the disappearance of the Ācārya, that irreligious principles, unauthorised irreligious principles are introduced and there's so much disorder and chaos. And it's the duty of the perfect disciples of the Spiritual Master to then recognise in those conditions and establish his mission.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [Explains for two minutes in Bengali (?) what Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī just said]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the common sense also about the history proves like that. Viśvanātha Cakravartīpāda, somewhere in Bhāgavat-bhāṣya, also mentioned, and in this country in the varṇāśrama system also it is mentioned that when Mahā Guru, that anyone's father or mother disappears, then with that crisis accompanies many disadvantages with them. And it is also common sense, when the extreme misfortune is to lose the company of Gurudeva. And that misfortune never comes alone. It brings in its retinue many small incidents that are detrimental to our progress. And progress means, presupposes progress, and progress, hindrances for a man of real character, hindrances are like some examination. Its purpose is to promote us. So the sincere student, real student, he will pass the examination. Others will fall prey to the failure. So misfortune comes to enhance the beauty of the bona fide and to eliminate the ostentatious attempt. So it is a fact that due to the disappearance of Gurudeva many undesirable things will come, will happen. And sudhi [?], a period of sudhi, the purification, that will actually take place. And those that are sincere they will be victorious. Such movement is almost sure to come, to befall on the followers.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja [?] After the departure of the Ācārya, if Kṛṣṇa wants He can actually avoid, stop this process of misfortune. But in order to give us the lesson...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa willing, everything may happen, but this is the general tenor.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?] Just to show that this was a great sage and pure devotee and that he has left us, Kṛṣṇa imposes this misfortune so that we can understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ultimately, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchatī.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate / na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchatī] [“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next.

He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

That period of purification helps the sincere, the bona fide; in misery also they come from a misery period with flying colours. And in a general sense some disaster comes, accompanies the disappearance of Gurudeva, or the leader, or something like, it is an ordinary fact it will be. But Kṛṣṇa can do anything and everything by His special, greater power, can do anything. But the general current of events runs in this process.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Sarvabhavana Prabhu, he’s trying to say that in order to increase the mood of vipralambha, Kṛṣṇa makes the arrangement right after the disappearance of the Spiritual Master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that may be, there may be that purification, particular purification. Failures are also teachers, not only teaching in the direct method, but indirect method also teaching can work.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] What to speak of Gurudeva, even a favourite disciple disappears, that also is a shock to the Gurudeva himself, a shock, a loss. But still, we are to adjust with that. It is Kṛṣṇa's will, and His will is always good. In this way we are to adjust. You see, the guardian is trying to teach the boy to walk, and sometimes he's taking the hand he's helping him to walk, and sometimes he removes his help. "You walk..."

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Alone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...alone." Something like that. That is also necessary, to teach self-help.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, and you also said once that, giving the example of Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, that even an Ācārya tries to find his Ācārya, his Guru, amongst his disciples.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He did so.

Devotee: You gave the example of one particular...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāgavat Janānanda. “Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura came. I couldn’t understand, could not catch.” Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura came in his car, searching for his Guru darśana. Mahā- bhāgavata Guru is always generally in the company of his guardian Guru. Amongst disciples also he’s eager to see that these are all vaibhāva, extensions of my Gurudeva.

Our Prabhupāda used to say that, “The whole thing, I should have done, it is my duty to perform, to look after everything. But I can’t do so, so my Gurudeva has sent all these persons to help me. The whole thing is my responsibility, to do the whole service, I must do, but I’m unfit, I can’t, I’m not able. So my Gurudeva has sent all these faces only to help me in my work.” This is the vision, conception. “So they’re sent by my Gurudeva to help me in my work. I’m unfit.” That sort of conception also is there with Gurudeva, that I’m unable, I’m unfit so they have come to help me. They’re sent by my Lord to help me in discharging my duty. That is also possible. Not only possible but in the highest vision it is like that. And Guru lives in Vaikuṇṭham, not much conscious of the mundane world. At that time this atmosphere seems to him like this. “That I’m doing some service of Kṛṣṇa. I’m not fit, well fitted. So Kṛṣṇa has sent all to help me. They’re my Guru.” Śiṣya sees Guru in śiṣya, Guru vaibhāva in śiṣya, in disciple.

Mahāprabhu says, sanātana mukhe kṛṣṇa murake sikhaila [?] “Kṛṣṇa taught Me through Sanātana.”

Another place in Purī, devaha, bhakti tumi se kaya te more [?]
Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana.

[About fifty five seconds of Bengali [?] spoken] He Himself says like this.

So that does not harm their absolute position.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It increases the sweetness of the absolute position. And to know that the personality of God is so easily accessible to mortals like ourselves.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jñāna-sunya-bhakti, śuddha bhakti, śuddha bhakti, according to our Prabhupāda, the real significance of devotion is to be traced in an event where the Lord is defeated near the devotee. That is the special characteristic of prema bhakti. Bhagavān Himself, He admits that, “I’m defeated by My devotee.” The most beautiful thing, and that is beauty, this extraordinary beauty shows the greatness of prema bhakti. The prema is such wonderful thing that the Lord Himself comes within the fist of the devotee. Ha, ha. Parajai, ikchata parajai bhagavan [?]

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So yesterday you said that loss of faith in the paramparā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One thing I should say. Once I asked Prabhupāda, “Sanātana Goswāmī, he, in his Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, he concludes Vraja līlā in a particular way, closed from Mathurā, not took it to Dvārakā. And Rūpa Goswāmī took Kṛṣṇa to Dvārakā, and the gopīs also in different forms. What is the cause of this difference? Both Sanātana and Rūpa in very particular cases one is closing in Mathurā and another taking it out from Mathurā Maṇḍala to Dvārakā.”

Prabhupāda’s answer was, “The adhokṣaja, it cannot be ascertained to the extreme degree, nothing.

Otherwise why it has been told as adhokṣaja?”

Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā, that everything I shall bring within my fist, this attempt is foolish and detrimental to the real knowledge.

[jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām bhavadīya-vārtām sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vān-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi tais tri-lokyām]

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

We should always be conscious of the fact that He's the Absolute.

yato vācho nivarttante, aprāpya manasā saha / [ānandaṁ brahmaṇo vidvān, na vibheti kutaścanetī] [“As one gets subjective realisation of the transcendental blissful aspect of the Supreme Divinity, he sheds fear completely for all time. Such a realised man of wisdom is freed totally from negative thoughts.

Having his thoughts fully attentive to the All-Blissful Divinity, he is spared from such torture. Such is the secret doctrine.”] [Taittirīya Upaniṣad, 11.9.1, p 522]

Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām. All these things, it is immeasurable. That characteristic we must not forget, that everything, that I, being in the position of a subject, I shall make everything about the God as my object, myself remaining the subject, it is impossible and foolish. And it takes me far away from the real conception of the transcendental substance.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That is māyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is māyā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Niyamitta māyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To eliminate everything, to measure everything, and the attempt to control everything – that I shall be master of everything, this is māyā, to make too much of one's own subjective selfish ego. Namanta eva, our attitude will be that of always submission to the Infinite. As much as He will kindly make me know, that much is sufficient. Eka-bindu jagat dubāya [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 15.19] With this sincere and genuine hankering we shall always be awaiting to understand anything about the transcendental world. Whenever we shall lose this temperament we are cast outside. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So, yesterday he said that loss of faith in the paramparā is sufficient grounds for removal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Honest enquiry is allowed, paripraśna.

tad viddhi pranipātena, paripraśnena sevayā / [upadekṣyanti te jñānam, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ] ["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

And the paripraśnena will come, will be the outcome of surrender. I am hopeless. I can't ascertain. It is a dire necessity for me, but I can't help myself. With this hankering, and no remedy otherwise, so I shall try most humbly to start enquiry, most modestly, humbly, I shall try to know what is this, what is this...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So the mood must be that, I don't know anything, so I must approach a senior Vaiṣṇava...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I shall finish knowing about the matter – that sort of attitude will not allow us to enter into the real domain. Paripraśna, and another thing, most important thing, and that is also necessary for the service. Service is the only important thing, absolute. What will be necessary to render proper service, that sort of paripraśna, enquiry. Enquiry not to satisfy curiosity even, but it is dire necessity for service, for discharging my duty; so that paripraśna, and not out of curiosity or philosophical master-ship or anything of the kind. It is only necessary for the satisfaction of the Lord. Reality is by Itself and for Itself. It must be for Itself, for Himself, for His interest this praśna is necessary. Not for my astrained [?] purpose. The praśna should be, the enquiry should be made only to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, and the devotee of Kṛṣṇa, for His cause. Not for my cause, if it is independent of His satisfaction. Do you follow? Paripraśna. Then He will come. The solution is He. Samanjasa teja taja kanji [?]

The proper solution is He, Himself.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa, His siddhānta, is He. So He will come, and He does not allow Himself to render service to anybody. Only for Himself, He's for Himself only; then He's reality, then He's Kṛṣṇa. He's for Himself. And anything for Himself, that will have entrance and position in His consideration. Do you follow?

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja was telling that yesterday...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yesterday?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: he's disconnected.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I wanted to say the whole question. Well, that's the introduction to the question.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. Right.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So there are devotees who feel that there's a loss of faith in the paramparā. Śrīla Prabhupāda, and as an example, they do not accept Śrīdhara Mahārāja, whose considered to be a representative of the paramparā also. We see that there's a lack of knowledge and detachment...

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja and devotees speak in Bengali (?) for nearly 7:30 minutes]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now the substance of the whole teaching will come to this; that who, the other day my Guru Mahārāja recommended, only two or three years after, his attempt is wholesale failure. So I must search my own heart sufficiently before going to discuss and examine their practices. There may not be any fault, any ulterior motive in me; otherwise I will be the greatest culprit. I must be sincere. I must search myself exhaustively whether my conscience is clear, impartial, and motiveless, no ulterior motive when I'm going to judge a man, whether he's fit or unfit, whom the other day my Guru Mahārāja recommended to be fit approximately. The whole burden will fall to my head. So the searching must be a bona fide one, and sincere. The risk is there. Because there is some authority coming down from above, and I'm going to challenge. So am I in that position; getting some divine, transcendental backing, divine push, do I feel within me? So the ideal is all right, but the application should be very careful because in the back, the recommendation of my Gurudeva is there. And the wholesale – one or two may be easily eliminated, may be, but the whole thing has been rotten within two or three years. A very brave vision. So one must be sure of his own platform where he stands, whether it is a real one. It is a very bold action. If it is real it is very laudable, and it is extremely necessary for the welfare of the world. It is a necessity. It is the importance, there's no question about that. The purification, it is also a duty on me, the purification of the teachings of my Lord, no adulteration should enter there. To see that, it is also my duty, as I am one of the meanest servants of my Lord, the responsibility is also on me, that like a dog, I must bark that the danger is ahead. It is my duty, inherent duty. But still, I must be doubly sure, triply sure, that whom I'm going to eliminate, is he really to be eliminated? A very risky campaign; you see?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In the Fourth Canto of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, in the sacrifice of Dakṣa, Satī recognised that her father was expert materially speaking, very successful in sacrifice, but because he insulted Śiva, vaiṣṇavānāṁ yathā śambhuḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.16], the greatest devotee...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, my advice was wait and see. They will dig their own grave, if it such. Swāmī Mahārāja came with a great motive, with great force, and it cannot be conceived that within two or three years the whole thing will be smashed. So wait and see. They will dig their own grave. And we'll also be disgusted with their misbehaviour. Then it will be easy, and it will be sure, to cleanse the attempt, to cleanse the alien stable.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, sometimes Prabhupāda would give the comparison of Guru, mara, vidya. So if someone feels that my Spiritual Master is being killed by these actions, how can he wait and see, or participate and just pass the knife to those who are cutting the throat of his Spiritual Master?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If one is so clear in his conception that his Guru is going to be killed, of course he cannot tolerate. He may take the risk. If his clear conscience dictates to him that his Guru is at risk, then of course he cannot stop.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Or the Mission of his Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To so much extent, so much intensity, he feels urge within of his conscience that, “You don’t allow these things to go on in the name of your Gurudeva, your Divine Master.” Then he cannot stop him.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The present situation Mahārāja, is that it has become more of a cult, it has become...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In niti, no gamisye gato gachet siddhe kadye saman phalam [?]

Of course, this is ordinary consideration. When a dangerous campaign has come before you, to take the lead, that is also dangerous, but remain behind. This is ordinary niti. And for the brave, and in the case of genius, it won’t apply, he must keep the lead. The whole risk he will take on his shoulder, and he’ll go forward.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No gamisye gato gachet siddhe kadye saman phalam [?]

[?]

Devotee: What is the meaning of the second one?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If there be any danger then the front man will be in danger and you'll be saved, so always try to remain in the back. Ha, ha.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In the background, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is of course ordinary policy. Ha, ha, ha.

[Devotees speak Bengali (?) for just over one minute]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deviation may be of two classes; one formal and another internal, external internal. About external modification we shall have to tolerate. My father dies, in the case of a king, when the king dies, the elder brother he takes his seat in the same throne. And it is difficult to see, to tolerate, by the younger brother, and the mother, and other But still, the old must depart. This is sanātana dharma, an eternal course of nature, the old will retire and the new will be replaced. This is formal current. And we must be very careful – of course it will wound our head, our heart, that this throne was occupied by my Gurudeva, and now one of my brothers he's installed there, he's taken his seat there.

Audacity, revolt, but the śāstra, the general regulation, will ask me to take patience – that this is that the old must make room for the new. Because the new generation, the newcomers are there, waiting, for the same atmosphere as you expected and you got, you wanted, about your Guru. The next generation, with the spirit of toleration, you'll have to adjust internally. And the external circumstance will be given facility to the newcomers.

Devotee: But Mahārāja, in the case of when the king leaves, and the son is below a certain age, and the Prime Minister, he's put to look after the kingdom as a protector till the eldest son, or the only son of the king, grows old enough to take charge.

[Devotees speak with Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja in Bengali (?) for 01:10 minutes]

Devotee: I must understand what I am lacking they're not lacking anything. But we're seeing that they're lacking in spiritual realisation.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And his name is Bhakti Rakṣaka, so he's supposed to protect.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That he can if they come. But if they don't come to him what can be done?

[More Bengali (?) for two minutes]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If they were loyal to their King then everyone fills a gap.

[More Bengali (?) for fifteen seconds]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Vaiṣṇava behaviour, it's so nice, it's so beautiful, that everybody's attracted by the Vaiṣṇava behaviour. But if there's a lack of Vaiṣṇava behaviour, then automatically others will become disappointed. And mostly that is what is happening. Like, instead of Vaiṣṇava behaviour, like the behaviour is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If it is so you all feel then can't help then what to do?

Devotee: Mahārāja, then another point, Prabhupāda said that we should come to you for consultation and advice. Even if we do not have anything to consult, any advice to take, still, seeing your position as a very senior Vaiṣṇava...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The other party's not here...

Devotee: No, I'm not talking about the other party Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...so I'm trying my utmost to plead for them, with some supposition I'm mostly trying to plead their case.

Devotee: On that point also Mahārāja...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You're very generous.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They may think that Guru Mahārāja had some practical experience in that country, but I had nothing of the line. I am here. I have no practical experience about the manners and customs of those countries. So I may not help them properly. Only with the theological part, and the śāstric part I may help them.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But with śāstra cakṣuḥs, with the eyes of śāstra, you can know even how to act there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, yes.

Devotee: But my point, Mahārāja, if I may humbly...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vedi pasyanti pandita [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...when Prabhupāda was on the Jaladhuta, this ship, on his journey to America, he wrote two poems, and in one of the poems...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa delegated some special power in him, giving him the capacity to deal with.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: One of the poems is called Mārkine Bhāgavatadharma. And in that poem, he's on the boat, he's never been to America, but he gives a perfect description of American people in terms of Bhāgavata philosophy, rajas, tamas, he says the population is overwhelmed by passion and ignorance – quoting the first canto of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. So once he was speaking this in Los Angeles he started laughing and said, “How could I know what was the condition of the people of your country? I'd never been there.” But he gave a perfect description on the basis of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. So I can understand that Śrīdhara Mahārāja can understand perfectly the situation on the basis of sādhū, śāstra, and Guru.

Devotee: Another thing Mahārāja, the same point I want to make in a different way is that, even if we don't have any advice to take as concerning the running of the society, but just as Caitanya Mahāprabhu said as one of the aṅgas of devotional life is to have sādhū-saṅga, and recognising you to be sādhū-saṅga, and we all know that Prabhupāda himself, whenever he came here, he himself would come down to see yourself, or he would request you to come there. So that very fact should also inspire every disciple of Śrīla Prabhupāda to come and at least have darśana at your lotus feet. But they never do that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Once in Los Angeles, Prabhupāda was speaking about translation. And he said, “Many can translate,” he said, “But only I can comment; and Śrīdhara Mahārāja.” So some devotees are asking if he would finish the translation, the commentaries, on the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the remaining two and a half cantos.

[More Bengali (?) for about 01:25 minutes]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are in the same level he felt, so he might have told like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. [More Bengali for about fifteen seconds]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His sympathy towards me; his sympathetic remark, and his kind treatment with me, that is moving me. Such a great man disappeared so soon, for the disastrous fate of the whole world. His campaign finished. Kṛṣṇa has taken him up. We are nothing to the man on the street. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Caitanya. My Guru Mahārāja also remarked in my favour sometimes; that poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, that first Sanskrit poem that was read by Prabhupāda and accepted very happily.

Devotee: You wrote that poem?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. And he remarked to Goswāmī Mahārāja that, “At least one man is left behind who’ll be able to represent my decision, my conception.” [?]

Devotee: Jai, Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Mahārāja Kī Jai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] rūpānuga vicāra [?] conclude, step by step rūpānuga vicāra [?] rūpānuga vicāra, step by step, step by step, Rāmānanda-Saṁvāda, “Eho bahya, age kaha ara. Eho bahya, age kaha ara.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59]. In this process the tatparya, the meaning will be carried to rūpānuga conception of the loving service to Kṛṣṇa. That is the criterion of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava Guru.

Whatever will come to him, he will adjust them in such a way that it will gradually lead to the acme and there is rūpānuga Vaiṣṇavism, rāga-mārga Kṛṣṇa bhajana. All taking towards that; this sort of direction he will read from everything, in all the advices and scriptural representation, he'll draw the meaning and will take it to the feet of śrī rūpānuga Vaiṣṇava. The conclusion: Vedaiś ca sarvair aham eva vedyo [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.15], and that aham is Vrajendra Nandan, Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana. Vedaiś ca sarvair aham eva vedyo.

Śrutibhir vimṛgyām [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61], All the śruti scripture, revealed scripture, leading towards Kṛṣṇa. This sort of capacity is the real capacity of an Ācārya, to draw from everything. The gist is the tatparya, the meaning, leading towards Kṛṣṇa paryja, rāga bhajan, the loving service of Kṛṣṇa as depicted by Śrī Rūpa, according to the inspiration of Mahāprabhu, the rāga bhakti Ācārya, the post was given to Śrī Rūpa, so rūpānuga bhajan.

So Prabhupāda, just before his departure, twenty four hours before his departure, he called for me and asked me to sing that song, śrī-rūpa-mañjarī-pada sei mora sampada, and I did, I hesitatingly did. My nature is always hesitating, pushing back. Then Kuñja Bābu [later Bhakti Vilās Tīrtha Mahārāja] asked – I am not – as soon as he suggested, I was not a good singer, so I stopped. Then Kuñja Bābu asked Purī Mahārāja, of Kalna, “You sing.” He began. Then Prabhupāda was a little disturbed, “I’m not, I don’t like to hear the sweet tone of the song.” Then they stopped and I had to begin śrī-rūpa-mañjarī-pada sei mora sampada. He wanted me to sing that song. That this is the fulfilment of life of every one of us, rūpānuga, the conclusion is here, Bhāgavat conclusion. The teachings of Bhāgavat conclusion is to take everyone to the conception of the loving service to Kṛṣṇa, as depicted by Śrī Rūpa in his scriptures under the direction of Śrīman Mahāprabhu Who has come to distribute Himself. Kṛṣṇa has come to distribute Himself in the garb of Mahāprabhu, and His direction is this.

[?] So he would not tolerate apa-siddhānta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All should be eliminated. Every other alternative things will be eliminated and the way must go to the feet of rūpānuga.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course [?] Two things, one positive another negative; negative atat, which is not truth, to eliminate that, and what is truth, we are to culture, cultivate that. These two aspects of the life are the activities of everyone's life. Two things, elimination of the undesirable, and the acceptance of the desirable, every second, every point of life; every second we are to do that. Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I have more questions. After that one question was answered.

Devotee: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, how it's seen in relation to that question. But one point was from yesterday. The lowest level description he gave of a madhyama adhikārī was one who has both feet in this world, but who has, he said that he is fully experiencing the divine place. And he said that he can clearly see the divine. So we don't see anyone who practically fits even this lowest description of the madhyama adhikārī Guru. So I just want to confirm this.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja [?] always experiencing [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Fully experiencing, the divine place.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's going, it is in his view, he's also going and taking the whole retinue with him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: At most we have some general view.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. [?]

Devotee: If none of them fit even this lowest category of Guru, then what is to be done by others who are part of the Society?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The question will come, that this sort of vision is coming from what section? That is to be examined – the foundation on which you stand, that soil is to be examined. By particular cases, if you like my advice about the decision, then particular cases should be given to me.

Devotee: Particular persons?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja Yeah.

Devotee: And their personalities.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The example of personal defects, that this is the objectionable practice in this gentleman. Is it...

Devotee: Bona fide or not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bona fide; any spiritual colour or mundane colour? So this action, we think it to be mundane, but may have any spiritual colour. In a particular case you may put before me and I shall try to understand.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I'm saying that I don't want to embarrass him with any unpalatable details.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā. Generally, those undesirable activities will come under these three groups. Pratiṣṭhā is fine, but wants to take the whole credit within his clutches. Just as you say about Tamal Kṛṣṇa. Tamal Kṛṣṇa says, “I am the person who has received the maximum grace of Guru Mahārāja, and confidence.” That is pratiṣṭhā, may come in the category of pratiṣṭhā. Another is kanak, which means money, men and money, the power. He’s got unquenchable thirst to acquire money and men and power; master of power. Another is kāmīnī; that he’s falling prey to the women charm and mixing beyond the limit. These three classes of complaint may come. And the highest is pratiṣṭhā, and there also it may include that he’s even excluding Guru Mahārāja, and he’s trying to take his position, that he’s greater than him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Like, he once said to one of Prabhupāda’s disciples, he inferred that Prabhupāda said that, “You must serve a person, not a concept.” So he was inferring that Prabhupāda was reduced to a concept, and he was the living embodiment of this Guru tattva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?] You cannot serve a concept. Prabhupāda is not a person, Prabhupāda is only a concept. He reduced Prabhupāda into a concept. And he said, “I’m the person, so you must serve me. You must go through me.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is not objectionable to the extreme, but partially objectionable, because suppose there are five sons of a father. And the elder son says to the youngest, “You don’t know the ways how to satisfy the father. You must, what I shall say you do that to please my departed father. These things were very favourite so offer these things.” This sort of advice may be given. If it is in such colour then of course it is innocent. “That I have got more experience about Prabhupāda’s nature, so if you want to really do favourite work of Prabhupāda, you use my experience and that will help you a great deal. Don’t try to connect direct – connection, relation with him, you’ll be deceived. You’ll not be able to come to his concrete self. It will be only vague.” This sort of...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I think when he describes the three kinds of deviations, those general descriptions; we can understand how to apply them, it's very clear, without going into the details of each individual.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kanak, kāmīnī, pratiṣṭhā, mainly. He's satisfied that from these three standpoints they're proving unfit, from these three considerations. That is his opinion?

Devotee: [?] From these three perspectives we can understand, we can analyse. Like if we have to find out some characteristics of somebody, deviation of somebody, then if their deviation fits into one of these three or all of these three, then we know that he's unfit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course; unfit.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And in the case of pratiṣṭhā, even in everything, the undercurrent idea should not be ignorant. Ostentatiously he may attract pratiṣṭhā and wealth etc, he may, but his inner idea is to utilise them in the service of Gurudeva. We must not ignore that undercurrent...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: His Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...consciousness also.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And we have noticed also Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge [mattala hari-jana viṣaya range]

[“The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration.”] [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura]

The very backbone of our Prabhupāda, vaiṣṇavī pratiṣṭhā, tāte kara niṣṭhā [from Vaiṣṇava ke?] All the glory must come to the feet of my Gurudeva. All, everything, wind up everything and connect it with the holy feet of Gurudeva.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I've got one last question. If you are the Spiritual Master, senior to them, how can they take the superior position in terms of titles or worship, than you?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?] You, you are a Spiritual Master, senior to them. How can they take a superior position or title or worship, than you? [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There seems to be a transgression of etiquette.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Their contention may be that, “What I do, my direct connection is with my Gurudeva. And his direct superior is Swāmī Mahārāja, so on behalf of Swāmī Mahārāja, whatever little they're doing, they're taking everything to the feet of Swāmī Mahārāja.” That may be their plea.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: What if they do not give it to Prabhupāda?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Swāmī Mahārāja is not a mundane figure. He has got his spiritual embodiment and that must be given preference; that conception.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The next question, what he said in his previous conversation with them that was discussed being partially opaque and partially transparent. So if you're opaque, what is going to Prabhupāda and what is coming through him to the disciples? Can you understand? If you're opaque, what goes through to Prabhupāda, and also what is coming through you to them? Right?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Right [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In his previous conversation with the GBC.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Partially opaque and partially transparent. So then the question arises, “What is going through the partially opaque and partially transparent to Prabhupāda? And what is coming through the partially opaque and partially transparent to the disciples?”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: not a mundane figure but he has got a spiritual body.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that should be considered, whether he's nearer to them or nearer to me?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. I remember once you told us – you once told me, that the devotee, whatever he gets, he passes it up to his Spiritual Master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That is a sign of a devotee. Nothing is mine, but everything belongs to my Spiritual Master. So if we can transfer it to our Spiritual Master it's the sign of our advancement. But the demoniac people are the ones, whatever is offered to the Spiritual Master, they take it for themselves.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That is demoniac.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotees: Right. So how to figure out what is... how to judge...what are the symptoms of such a person who instead of giving it to his Spiritual Master, is holding it for himself? What are the symptoms?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That's those three things that he just said.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a very subtle thing, very subtle thing.

One should come to his level to cut him closely. Even a small matter also we can find whether he's for himself or for his Gurudeva. But we should have to come to that particular level to understand the real interest of my Gurudeva; whether the real interest is being misused.

[More Bengali (?) 14.46 – 15.58]

What is the nature of that thing? What he likes to – he's taking something from them and in return he must give something to them. What is that thing? And whose return he's accepting their affection, their attraction, their sympathy, and whatever he's giving to them in return, what is the nature of that thing?

That subtle thing we are to study. If his own Gurudeva, secretly, the secret transaction, whether Guru Kṛṣṇa or his gross self? Who's the party there who's absorbing things? His gross self or he's a mediator to Guru, Kṛṣṇa, Mahāprabhu?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Now that they're failing to show proper respect to you, what we must understand from that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [More Bengali, 17.15 – 17.25]

Devotees: That is a mundane conception. Why did Prabhupāda himself come to meet you, or requested you to come over to Māyāpur, and sent his car? Why did [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja and Devotees, speak more Bengali, 17.40 – 27.28]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was a fact, and that must have been recorded also. I don't know.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?] Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: One question is that in the fourth canto of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, in the story of Dhruva Mahārāja, it's mentioned that Suniti was his varṇa-pradarśaka Guru and śikṣā Guru. And by dint of devotional service of Dhruva Mahārāja, he took her, she was unable to go back to Godhead, and Prabhupāda mentions there that we can understand that by powerful execution of devotional service of a disciple he can even take his dīkṣā or śikṣā Guru back to Godhead. So, the question is, these disciples because they're reading Śrīla Prabhupāda's book, and it appears they have the opportunity to become more advanced than even their śikṣā and dīkṣā Gurus. Can you understand? And they can take them.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [More Bengali spoken, 28.53 – 30.22]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With an absolute consideration it's possible. Because the previous accumulation of the character of sukṛti may be very high quality, and the vartma-pradarśaka Guru like Suniti, she may be of the third class Guru – two legs here and vision on Vaikuṇṭha. And the first suggestion may come from the third class Guru and the fundamental previous sukṛti is so qualified that with this little suggestion he may go higher than this vartma-pradarśaka. And then of course he may attract him towards the high plane. This depends on the previous quality and quantity of the sukṛti. Little starting – little opening – gives the force and he may go up higher than the suggestive Guru on the side. It may be possible, rarely. Rarely, it may be possible.

But this aloka dhana [?] there are four kinds of bhāgavat kṛpa. The bhakti comes acquired and mercy, two sides. From mercy, main thing mercy comes down and acquired bhakti – two classes. Acquired bhakti by sukṛti, and mercy when it comes down from the Lord's side, that is unknown and unknowable nature, ahaitukī. So when acquired sukṛti that mercy sukṛti comes down, then the Guru may be crossed over, the third class Guru may be crossed over.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Another question is that in Śrīla Prabhupāda's...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as in the case of Bilvamaṅgala. You know the name of Bilvamaṅgala?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Cintāmaṇi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cintāmaṇi jayati somagirirgurume, śikṣāgurusca bhagavān sikhi-pichcha- moulīh [Śrī Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, 1] Stage by stage, sukṛti, first suggestion came from the prostitute. He told that Kṛṣṇa's direction through the prostitute. Anyhow, she was the nimita, the outer show, so Cintāmaṇi jayati. Then Somagiri māyāvādī Guru, he first gave initiation, Śyāmānanda Sṛngha. "Everything is false. Brahma is true." Then spontaneous by chance coincidence grace from Kṛṣṇa came down and took him to that domain. Gradual development we can trace there, even from the meanest position. It is possible sometimes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In Śrīla Prabhupāda's last will he established the GBC as the supreme managing authority of ISKCON. So, but with the establishment of eleven spiritual masters, it has become in the GBC that actually eleven people are making the decisions and not the full Governing Body. So the non Ācārya section of the GBC is very discouraged and unable to fully execute their voice as GBC members.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

 [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So the non Ācārya section of the GBC are either simply agreeing with the Ācāryas, or they, in anticipation of becoming Ācārya themselves, they agree with the Ācāryas.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Rāmeśvara Mahārāja's suggestion is to extend the...

[Devotee and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: More Bengali (?) spoken, 36.37 - 38.47]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Could he please speak in English. This is important question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My suggestion was when after the demise, the disappearance of Swāmī Mahārāja, most of his main disciples came to meet me; my suggestion was that during this Gaura Pūrṇimā ceremony, generally you'll have to convene a general meeting and there you particularly follow this idea. That the Ācārya Board and the GBC, that should be a living, dynamic thing. It will be able to extend itself, and also to narrow down, in elimination and addition you will be able to do it if necessary. Just as now there's Tamal Kṛṣṇa's case, and others. Both elimination and addition, keep it open and make it a living one. But...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They're more inclined towards elimination but not addition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But not addition. But anyhow, they went away, did not oppose me here, but after going away from me I heard they expressed that, “No. This eleven we must not go against, outside the eleven.” That was their considered opinion, and I heard that. But my suggestion was that this body must be a living one. It should eliminate and it should add.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because you are now in such a position that you’ll be able to confer, or to delegate your power to your disciple, then why not to the God-brother? With you the succession won’t end – your disciple you must appoint to do the work of an Ācārya. So then why do you not delegate your power to a good, fit God-brother to do the work of Ācārya? That was my contention. But they did not accept this idea. “No. We won’t go beyond the eleven.” That was their decision. And so they go on rather avoiding me. That was the cause of their avoidance and indifference towards me. I think like so. Sometimes they come with particular cases, but not for general advice.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, if someone is above the advice of the God-brother of his Spiritual Master, it says in Prabhupāda’s books, “You’re supposed to regard a non envious God-brother as being equal to your Spiritual Master.” So if someone thinks that he’s above or beyond his advice then he’s taking a superior position to his own Spiritual Master.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

So what should be done about that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What can be said?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am told...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [Ten minutes of mostly Bengali (?) spoken] _____ intolerable for us to look that the whole thing, major portion is going to die. We cannot tolerate this situation, so Some remedy must be thought out and must be accepted, so

_____ Most orthodox to stick to their power
Come and readjust your position, reconsider, otherwise we shall be under painful necessity to make progress independently [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you are so many good men, good followers of Swāmī Mahārāja, are exhaustively frustrated, then you may do one thing. You may call a meeting, a mass meeting of the followers and well-wishers of your Prabhupāda. And there you you may discuss the present hopeless situation of the society; that it is gradually dwindling and dwindling, and it is intolerable to us. We are well-wishers of this mission and it is intolerable. We cannot tolerate it any more so what is the path before us to redress the wrong? So invite a general meeting and you also invite some of the GBC members and even if possible Ācāryas like Rāmeśvara and so, and you amongst yourself, you consult among yourselves what to do. And then give an ultimatum to the Ācārya Board, that our resolution in the mass meeting of the followers of Prabhupāda is this, that you should readjust your position. Otherwise we shall be under painful necessity to take the line independently for the welfare of the whole mission. We cannot be a sightseer that so many are going astray, and so many dying, and so many are going to be killed, and these things. It is intolerable; high time, and you must come to the ready, along with us. In this way you can go. If you feel that the mass will be with you, or at least substantial portion will be with you. And those that are gone astray, that Pradyumna and others, you may also invite them, the dissatisfied. And before mass meeting you can have a selected meeting also, first, and then after consultation you go on to prepare yourself for a mass meeting.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First, selected few meeting.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Definitely at our Māyāpur meeting next year there will be some meeting also of the temple presidents who are also dissatisfied.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So there are many. The stalwarts meet first and then a mass meeting you arrange, and after the stalwart meeting, meeting of the handful of leading persons amongst you, you may give some ultimatum to the Ācārya Board that, 'This is going to happen and the publicity will be great and it will be to your discredit. So try to come to our terms, consultation, and readjustment. But if you are adamant then we'll be forced to prepare for a mass meeting of our God-brothers and to do the needful.' This process you may take. But before that your group committee resolution should be intimated to them and last appeal to their good sense. 'The mass mind revolted against you, we feel. We are also sincere workers. We want to sacrifice our life and think our life is valuable. So, seeing that you are going ostentatiously we see that you are leading astray we cannot remain impartial viewers, only a visitor. We have got interest in the mission; you should know this, and not less than you.' In this way you can do. What do you say?

Devotees: Yes Mahārāja. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A selected meeting and then to approach them with a resolution and next a mass meeting, if you're prepared for real fighting, then everything you may do like that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I think it is going to be like this now...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Personal contact, those that are going indifferent, hopeless, disappointed, going off, away from the association; you may meet them personally one by one. 'Why? Let us come together.' In this way, the stalwarts meeting will be first and then the resolution will be given, notice given to them - and then mass meeting. And there it should be mentioned that, 'We cannot be sightseers. We have got life interest in the mission. We've come to be saved and we say in the name of saving you are all killers. We cannot tolerate that. We have got also the fire, the spark from our Guru Mahārāja.'

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I think first, Rāmeśvara Mahārāja will try, after this, after he hears this tape, he will try to get the other Gurus to get together and come to you for advice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I'm open to all. But generally I want that both parties will come and I shall try to help that it may not be broken asunder, torn asunder. That is that such a great thing has been done by Swāmī Mahārāja. I love it very much. That a worldwide movement, organisation, that will be broken into factions, I can't tolerate this. So I like that both parties will come and I shall try to find out a middle solution. But the party in power they may not care to come.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That's the problem Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But I am, from long time I'm feeling whenever I have come to disconnection a portion is going dissatisfied, dissatisfaction is growing within the party, I am uncertain and unhappy. But the party in power does not care to come to me. Both the parties come I want that some sort of compromise, or course, helpful compromise, not a formal compromise, helpful compromise may be effected and the united front will be kept up intact. That is desirable, for me at least. I have no time, a long time to live. I am sufficiently old but I don't like to see that Swāmī Mahārāja's great work is disturbed in such a way, so laudable a thing.

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is the pioneer of Śrī Kṛṣṇa saṅkīrtana. He said: "I have come to inaugurate the chanting of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa, and that Name will reach every nook and corner of the universe."] [Caitanya-Bhāgavat]

This great maxim undertaken by Swāmī Mahārāja and effectively successful, and that is going to be ruined by internal feud; intolerable. So if both the parties come I shall try my best before I die that it may, I want to see a united front and healthy thing, healthy institution. That is my heart's desire.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That's what most of the God-brothers also feel. They feel that whatever Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says we'll accept that decision.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. From the core of my heart I desire such, that it may not be broken, it may remain a united front and do the victory over the other religious principles. There are so many enemies in the name of religion there flourishing. And such a great future will be smashed; it is intolerable.

And specially Prabhupāda [Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Thākura] asked me to go to the west, I could not go, but Prabhupāda has come, the west to me. So I must have got some holy duty to discharge about that, I feel.

So anyhow it may not be broken into pieces. United we stand divided we fall; but if hopeless, then no other alternative. For the sake of the truth we must always side with the truth and not with the falsehood. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] I can feel, I saw that in him. And Swāmī Mahārāja he took the responsibility of that great unfinished work and did wonderfully successful work. And we feel proud for him. We feel pride for his activity. And how can we tolerate in our lifetime within two or three years after his departure it will be broken into pieces. It is intolerable. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But if for the sake of quality, for the sake of truth, we are to face such situations, can't be helped. Truth is everything.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

(Bhakti Caru Swāmī reads a transcript)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ‘There are āsanas in the temple.’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. There are āsanas on the altar where the Guru paramparā is there, but in the temple there are āsanas for the Gurus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Does it mean that there are āsanas for Gurus and param Gurus everyone?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Previously there was only Śrīla Prabhupāda’s āsana. Now besides Prabhupāda’s āsana there are at least two āsanas, one for the zonal Guru and the other one for the visiting Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For the resident Guru and the other one is for the visiting Guru, that means there are three āsanas?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: There were in Los Angeles, there were eleven other āsanas for the eleven Ācāryas so that when all the eleven Gurus come they can sit there. But Rāmeśvara Mahārāja felt that this practice is minimising Prabhupāda's position. That's why he removed his own āsana and other āsanas as well. Now only Śrīla Prabhupāda's āsana is there. And previously the Guru pūjā used to take place simultaneously, that is, Śrīla Prabhupāda's Guru pūjā and the present Guru's pūjā used to take place together. But Śrīla Rāmeśvara Mahārāja has stopped his Guru pūjā and only Prabhupāda's Guru pūjā is taking place in the temple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then what about the Guru pūjā of your Prabhupāda's Gurudeva, our Prabhupāda, and Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That Guru pūjā is taking place through Śrīla Prabhupāda's Guru pūjā. Their āsanas and pictures are there in the altar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So this Guru pūjā is taking place separately.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I think in Gaudiya Maṭh this practice was not prevalent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. We used to have just pictures in the altar. So this is one question?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, the question is coming.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pointing out to Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, ‘Whose disciple is he?’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He is Śrīla Prabhupāda’s disciple.

Then there’s a question by Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja which has been translated by Bhakti Caru Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja asks, ‘In whose zone does Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja stay?’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: ‘He works under Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, in his zone, in Los Angeles.’ Then Rāmeśvara Mahārāja’s zone was described.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja asks, ‘Is he in his zone all the time or was that Haṁsadūta Mahārāja’s zone beforehand?’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: ‘No. He is working with Rāmeśvara Mahārāja all along. And Rāmeśvara Mahārāja is also looking after Haṁsadūta Mahārāja’s zone.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is Rāmeśvara Mahārāja initiating there also?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No. I don't think he's initiating there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Has Hamsadūta Mahārāja been removed from there temporary or permanently?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. I think it is temporary.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. It is permanent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tamal Kṛṣṇa has also been permanently removed?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. He's also permanently removed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Was this decided unanimously?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Finally it was unanimously decided.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This has been a very serious step. It can be considered to be a death blow. The position that was established by Swāmī Mahārāja on the strength of majority, to dismiss it just in one or two years, this has been a very bold step. This has been an interference into the śrauta-panthā. I think that such bold steps should not have been taken; to challenge the decision of the Spiritual Master and give a verdict against his will. Do you follow?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: 'At one point he is saying that a madhyama adhikārī can become a Guru.' So this is relative. But in the absolute position, so in the absolute consideration what is he saying? But did he ever mention that if there is some fault in the Guru then some action should be taken? Did he say what should be done?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī repeats Dhīra Kṛṣṇa's question, that it's a deviation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja insists whether it's the only deviation or is there any further deviation than that? This deviation is not sufficient criterion to be considered a deviation. Mahāprabhu has advised all of us to chant at least sixty four rounds. Even better than a lākh is three lākh Names. But that is not possible because of overwhelming practical devotional service it's not even possible. So the question at hand is why has he reduced the number of rounds? Is it because of negligence or apathy? Maybe he has turned his attention more towards other practical services. But the consideration of the other service is with what depth, sincerity and intensity, that is being executed? That must be measured. We simply cannot judge by saying that he has deviated. All these have to be taken into consideration.

Mahāprabhu said that until and unless a devotee chants a minimum of sixty four rounds, I shall not accept any prasādam from his hands.

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja says that Śrīla Prabhupāda, being a devoted servant and servitor of Lord Caitanya, is more merciful than Lord Caitanya Himself, and so he recommends only sixteen rounds.

At the same time he said that it is better to chant one lākh names, but generally it is seen that it is not possible for missionaries to complete that many number of rounds. Actually, Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja said that it's three lākh names which is better, according to Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, but for missionaries it might not always be possible. At least four rounds minimum should be chanted, so that we see that the mālā does not get starved. History will stand witness to it. I would like you to refer to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Hari-Nāma-cintāmaṇi. In that book, the tattva on Guru, Ācārya, has been dealt with very extensively. In Caitanya-caritāmṛta we find Caitanya Mahāprabhu asking questions to Rāmānanda Rāya and Rāmānanda Rāya answering, but here in this book we find Haridās Ṭhākura asking Caitanya Mahāprabhu the questions, and Caitanya Mahāprabhu answering the questions.

Excuse me, mistake.

In this particular book Caitanya Mahāprabhu asks Haridās Ṭhākura about the efficacy and the transcendental position of the Holy Name of the Lord. He has dealt with the question of Ācārya very scrutinisingly in this particular book.

So the point of accepting a Guru, under what conditions, once you have accepted a Guru there's no question of rejecting. This point has been discussed very subtly. And also the point where a disciple accepts a Guru and under very peculiar conditions is forced to ultimately reject him has also been discussed in this book. It is actually a misfortune for that disciple to have to reject his Guru once he has accepted him. One must be very careful and judge everything according to śāstra before he accepts a Guru. Precaution should be taken before one actually accepts Guru. After considering it, who the actual Guru is, then one places his head, symbolically speaking, at his lotus feet. And once he has placed it in his lotus feet it is very difficult to take it away again.

All the symptoms of a bona fide Guru should be scrutinisingly judged before accepting him as a Guru. Here in India, before the marriage, before the negotiations, everybody can judge the qualities of the bride. But once the marriage has already been completed then it is a point of no return.

This point has to be gone over once more.

This question about a grand disciple has to be clarified. The ṛtvik Ācāryas when they initiate, their disciples become grand disciples of Śrīla Prabhupāda?

This is a question to clarify what Bhakti Caru Mahārāja is reading. And if the first initiation is done by the ṛtvik Ācārya and they come to Śrīla Prabhupāda for the second initiation, then whose actual disciples are they? This is Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja's question. Here, Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja wants to clarify the point whether when Śrīla Prabhupāda is not available for the second initiation, and the second initiation is also performed by the ṛtvik Ācāryas, then whose disciple do they become? Do these points manifest themselves in this particular conversation? They certainly are Śrīla Prabhupāda's grand disciple but the question is, 'what has Śrīla Prabhupāda done in his lifetime? Has Śrīla Prabhupāda allowed in his presence others to initiate the Hari Nāma dīkṣā?

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja says, 'Yes. During Śrīla Prabhupāda's presence some of the ṛtvik Ācāryas actually initiated Hari Nāma.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Did the ṛtvik Ācāryas during Prabhupāda's time actually initiate or give Hari Nāma? And did Prabhupāda interfere in that particular context with second dīkṣā?

The sons of Advaita on one side, the three of them became Vaiṣṇavas, and the other three became smārtas.

Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana, Babu har bhakti tumi sekhaya chomare (?)

Mahāprabhu said, 'Sanātana, you have taught Me how to practice devotional service.' When Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu was going to Vṛndāvana, thousands and thousands of people were following Him. So Sanātana Goswāmī told Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, 'You're going to Vṛndāvana, You won't get the real pleasure of going to Vṛndāvana with so many people around You.' So hearing this, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu wondered, 'Yes, what Sanātana told Me that is correct. All these hundreds and thousands of people will create a chaos in Vṛndāvana. They'll start breaking and smashing everything in Vṛndāvana, so I won't get any pleasure in going to Vṛndāvana.' Considering this He decided to go to Purī instead of Vṛndāvana and He announced that He will go to Jagannātha Purī instead of going to Vṛndāvana. Due to this instruction of Sanātana He cancelled such a big campaign of going to Vṛndāvana and instead He went to Jagannātha Purī. And then from there, just with one companion with Him, He went to Vṛndāvana.

Ichakritu para jai (?) ...means accepting the defeat by Himself.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: 'Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja was asking that yesterday you told that if somebody is not respectful towards the Guru paramparā, if somebody fails to show proper respect to the Guru paramparā, then he can be removed from his position of an Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Then he's disconnected. I was telling that in the disciplic succession, or the śrauta paramparā, there is links, like links after links like in a chain. If one becomes offensive to that chain of links, if one becomes disconnected from that link, then that is the primary symptom and he has to be removed. But if there's a little rust in the link then one should wait and see. Then it will have to be considered. That can again become clean. So these worldly considerations – like someone may be a little angry, someone may be a little too greedy, somebody may be a little too arrogant – all these characteristics in the external behaviour, these things can be tolerated and watched for a while.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja was telling that many devotees are waiting. For three years they have been watching and they're clearly noticing that many of the Gurus are failing to show proper respect to Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By devotees you mean the God-brothers, yes?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. They're directly expressing their disregard for Prabhupāda in many cases. Like Prabhupāda gave an instruction that if we have any difficulty then we should come to you. But they're deliberately neglecting that instruction of Śrīla Prabhupāda. And they're directly showing disregard to that instruction of Śrīla Prabhupāda. Isn't this a clear indication that they are becoming disrespectful to the disciplic succession, the śrauta paramparā, and thus they're disconnecting themselves from the line of disciplic succession? In the purport of one of the ślokas of Īśopaniṣad, Śrīla Prabhupāda is saying...

This part of the purport was translated and spoken to Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja. While Bhakti Caru Swāmī was reading that purport, Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja quoted a śloka, which means that these kinds of people become attracted by the glamour of the material nature. When Bhakti Caru Swāmī finished translating the purport of Śrīla Prabhupāda from Īśopaniṣad, Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja commented, 'They're traitors, and that's why they'll be punished very severely.' Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja quoted a śloka that says, 'Never go in the front because if it is successful then you share the result equally with everybody else, but if it is a failure then you're the one to bear the brunt.'

Sarvabhavana Prabhu raises a question, that if by any chance some activity taken up by the society somehow or other goes against the instructions and against the paramparā of the Guru, then...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If we go against the instructions of our spiritual master and simply make the present ISKCON set up into cult worship, when instead of distributing the sanātana dharma through the books, they simply take up a method of earning money, any method for earning money. They are simply, individually trying to beat their own drums and be the centre of everything.

If you kindly allow me Mahārāja, then I can individually point out the different ways they are doing this.

A slight interruption from outside follows; not included within the tape, in the conversation.

The question by Sarvabhavana was repeated to Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja in Bengali for better understanding, and additional part will be translated right now.

And now Mahārāja, in our case, when Śrīla Prabhupāda left the planet then he just left certain leaders in command although they were not ready for it. And those leaders themselves often agree to this fact.

But laughing, Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says, ‘But anyhow before leaving the planet Prabhupāda did make some arrangements in the form of a GBC Body.’

Sarvabhavana says that, ‘But at the same time Śrīla Prabhupāda had more or less pointed out a prime minister to whom we could go to in moments of difficulties, and that prime minister, so to speak, was you Śrīla Śrīdhara Swāmī.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja humbly says, ‘Not for protection but rather for taking suggestions when required. He will give suggestions impartially so that the best can be achieved for the society.’

Sarvabhavana adds, ‘Mahārāja, until and unless we realise that we need suggestions, how can we approach somebody for suggestions? They’re thinking that they’re not lacking in anything.’

Sarvabhavana adds, ‘And Mahārāja, one of the most important instructions that we received from Śrīla Prabhupāda was to distribute these books. But at the present moment in America not a single book practically is being distributed. But instead they’re distributing thousands of records and these records are not songs of spiritual songs, but simply songs so that they can earn some money to maintain the temples. Not only are the books not being distributed even the printing has come to practically a standstill. Prabhupāda has done so many things, so many buildings and things he has established. If we could see that our present leaders were even trying simply to maintain what Śrīla Prabhupāda had done, then also we could understand.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says, 'That now they're trying to collect more men through an easy method by giving them an opportunity to gratify their senses.'

Sarvabhavana says, 'But Mahārāja, those men who are coming, they're coming for a few days only and then leaving again. And even the disciples of Śrīla Prabhupāda are also leaving.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: 'How many of Śrīla Prabhupāda's disciples are leaving the movement and they're staying in their own houses and following the principles of bhakti? They're not wanting to stay with the present leaders.'

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja then adds, 'Mahārāja, just a few minutes back you were giving the example of the king... in relation to trying to bring out the point of jealousy. When the king dies then the eldest son sits on the throne and his brothers and other relatives are then envious of his position, that the son is sitting in the same throne as the father did. This envious attitude might be seen in five or ten, but that everybody is envious of his position is not possible. And in the beginning more or less all of Prabhupāda's disciples were very tolerant towards them.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja then says, 'That yes, this envious attitude could affect practically everybody around, but then, once the new king comes and slowly through his activities proves his worth, then this problem can be slowly solved. And the new king can with renewed vigour attract the minds of his relatives.'

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja simply translates what Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja said in English.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says, 'Yes, it is possible that he might have said it.'

...who would often have discussions with each other and so he realised that we were on the same platform.

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja asks Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja if he was feeling a little tired.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, much affected, as the conversation says, that the memories of Śrīla Prabhupāda is affecting him very much, and actually tears were rolling down his eyes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says that his Guru Mahārāja commented, 'That at least one person will be left behind to distribute the instructions of Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. And then when he was preparing to leave the planet, my Guru Mahārāja called me and gave last instructions stating that everything should lead up to and come and corroborate with the conclusion of Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī. Everything would finally meet and explain the efficacy of Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī's siddhānta. That all the different siddhāntas would be taken step by step and ultimately find its beautiful conclusion in rūpānuga bhakti. All the conclusions of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam will lead up step by step to the rūpānuga vicāra. As it is found in the conversations with Śrī Rāmānanda Rāya where Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu says, 'Eho bahya age kaha ara, [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] that you should go ahead, further, and state what is the actual conclusion of bhakti.'

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja says that, 'Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja says that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura would not tolerate any conclusions which are against the instructions and ideas of Rūpa Goswāmī. He would not tolerate them at all, that all the apa-siddhāntas should be done away with. And in that case is it also not our duty to act in that same capacity, or act under the same instructions not to tolerate the apa-siddhāntas?'

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja translates Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja's question into Bengali for Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja. And then further adds that from the descriptions of the lower, of the third class Guru, none of the eleven, present eleven Ācāryas, fit even into that category. So what are we then supposed to do with this present situation? Not only are both their feet firmly planted in this material world, but also their vision is very much in this material world.'

Sarvabhavana repeats the question in Bengali to Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja.

And in reply, Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says that, 'Yes. I'm simply trying to see the brighter side of it so that we may not commit any mistakes against the other party. We must always see the brighter side.' Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says, 'Let me say this in Bengali.'

When Śrīla Prabhupāda disappeared, left this planet, then Vasudeva was made the Ācārya, and then many senior disciples, like Nimi Mahārāja, objected. He said that when a branch is directly connected with the trunk and he's then asked to connect himself with another branch, is that possible? This was the argument he forwarded.

Then I started pleading the case of Vasudeva Prabhu because he was like my elder brother. I said, according to Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī the service to a devotee is the greatest and it is at the same time service to the Supreme Lord. Although the bhakta is only a part, but yet, by serving the bhakta even Lord Kṛṣṇa is receiving the service, is being served. By trying to serve the Lord directly the Lord may not be served, but by serving the Lord's devotee, definitely both the devotee as well as the Lord is served thereby. The śrī rūpānuga vicāra, according to Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī is that once you serve the sādhū, Guru, Vaiṣṇava, then the Lord is also being served.

So that is how I approached this particular situation, that if an elder God-brother is being served and through him our Guru is being served, then we are being successful in our devotional life. And when the senior God-brother is a favourite of the Lord, is dear to the Lord, then I'm serving the Guru through him and ultimately the Lord Himself. This is the conclusion. My own speculation might say so many things, but this is the actual conclusion of the śāstras.

So when I am approaching such a subject I should be very careful so as not to commit any mistake. I should always see the brighter side to avoid any mistake. We must eliminate all the undesirable elements and try to see the brighter side of everything, judging it very exhaustively in order not to make any mistake. And then, even if we fail in that endeavour, then of course there's nothing left for us to do, and there's no recourse to that. Do you understand? We must see all the possibilities from their point of view. We must choose all the possible arguments they might face.

Once, the great learned advocate, Prash Bihari Ghosh, came to the court quite drunk and started pleading the case of his opponent, and the lawyer or pleader of the other side was looking on quite amazed at this thing. He was thinking that this advocate is stating all the facts and points of my client. And then the junior advocate to Prash Bihari Ghosh suddenly reminded him that, ‘Sir, what are you doing? You are stating all the arguments for your opponent.’ The advocate exclaimed, ‘Is it so?’ And then he started telling the Judge that, ‘Your Honour, these are the different points and arguments my opponent may raise. So now I am placing forward my arguments, the points I want to bring to you.’ And when he started speaking about the points he originally wanted to say for his own client, then the other lawyer was quite dumbfounded and had practically nothing to say.

So all the arguments that the other party might want to give, we shall discuss that in detail and bring out the salient points so that we might not make any mistakes. We must be aware that we are not influenced by any prejudices, just like they’re being influenced by prejudices. We should be careful not to commit the same mistake. We must be well guarded so that we’re not led astray from the path of truth.’

Sarvabhavana questions that, ‘Mahārāja, the advice Tamal Kṛṣṇa gives to his God-sister Jadurani Devī Dāsi – she joined much earlier to Tamal Kṛṣṇa and had Śrīla Prabhupāda’s association from earlier times and longer.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says, ‘Not everything can be judged according to the time span. Just like Bhakti Caru Swāmī, he came much later and became a very beloved of Śrīla Prabhupāda. Not everything can be judged according to the time factor.’

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja says, ‘And now, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja would like to put a question to you.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says that, ‘The controller or the master of pratiṣṭhā is Gurudeva, and the master of kanak is Śrī Nārāyaṇa Dev Himself.’

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja says, ‘Mahārāja, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is asking a question to you personally.’ Bhakti Caru Mahārāja asks, ‘Mahārāja, you are Ācārya and a very, very venerable senior Vaiṣṇava. Then how can these eleven present Ācāryas take titles and worship which is even on a higher platform than you? We are seeing that within a very short time they’ve started taking big, big titles and big, grand worship within a few days.’

Bhakti Caru Mahārāja asks, ‘Mahārāja, previously we had spoken to the GBCs and had given that example about being partially opaque and partially transparent.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja gives the example that, ‘When the tax collector of the king is collecting tax and is misappropriating the funds, then the ordinary worker, or the persons who are paying the tax, how can they find out what he’s doing with his funds? In order for them to find out, they also have to come to that level, to come to that position, and get insight, get into his activities, then only can it be established that he is misappropriating funds.’

What excuse are they trying to put forward? What sort of attractive features are they trying to bewilder us with; the present Ācāryas; what are the arguments they’re placing forward? That we have to find out.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says that, ‘Maybe you’ll consider that I’m not a fit person to give proper advice. My advice may not be actually according to proper consideration. This question is very difficult for me to answer.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja further says that, ‘The other day Jayapataka Mahārāja came to me with the case concerning Jayatīrtha Mahārāja. ‘Please let me say what I want to say and clarify this point and then we can discuss further.’ Jayapataka Mahārāja came the other day to find out whether all the crying, and singing, and laughing, of Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, whether they were genuine feelings or not, whether they’re genuine symptoms of ecstasy or not. So I said no. First, I gave the scriptural injunction and then I said that Caitanya Mahāprabhu has explained that it is very difficult to (obtain? dishprapla?) ‘That I am crying is merely to get name and fame.’ This is so on a high platform. Lastly I pointed out that when your spiritual master did not point out, or manifest these symptoms in public, then why is he trying to go above your Guru? At this, Jayapataka was satisfied and he said, ‘Yes. It’s all right. I have come, I have got what I came for.’ This brought out the ultimate point and he did not require any ultimate points further.

Your Śrīla Prabhupāda had earlier approached me to train up some boys, but first he sent them to Bon Mahārāja; disciples like Acyutānanda and Rāmānuja and some others. But Bon Mahārāja he took one away from your Guru Mahārāja and made him into his own disciple. And then he wrote to me, in the name of Govinda Mahārāja, asking me to look after them boys and that letter I still have. So Acyutānanda and Rāmānuja came first and he wanted me to train them up...

Devotees Reading Bengali Translation transcript (part 2)

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja] He always had great trust in me that I will not make a disciple out of his disciple. For this reason he would come to me and also he knew me from earlier years. Pishima had taken Hari Nāma dīkṣā from Bhaktisiddhānta Śrīla Prabhupāda and she had come to me for the second initiation. At that time I decided not to give any dīkṣā because I thought myself unfit, but yet on the other side there was Bhaktisiddhānta Śrīla Prabhupāda's order to give dīkṣā pracāra so I was wavering between these two points. On one side my Guru's orders and on the other side I thought myself unfit and not to give dīkṣā. But more or less the point that I did not want to give was more dominant. I went to Śrīpad Nityānanda Prabhu's place and there I felt an urge to give dīkṣā. And then reading Śrīla Jīva Goswāmī I came across a point where it's said that I should give what I have. If I don't give what I have then I'm a cheat, short; all these points. And Bhaktisiddhānta Śrīla Prabhupāda was always in favour of kīrtana and pracāra, all these points. So when Pishima came I had to turn her away. Many people had come, very many nice people had come, but I had to turn them away, all of them. And they all wanted me to become Ācārya.

Mādhava Mahārāja and Keśava Mahārāja would not have become Ācāryas if I had taken up this post of being Ācārya. They all wanted me to become the Ācārya and if I had become Ācārya then they would not have become. Especially Mādhava Mahārāja and Keśava Mahārāja and many others, even Yajava Mahārāja, they started initiating because I did not want to initiate.

So your Śrīla Prabhupāda had great faith in me that I would not try to lure away one of his disciples. I do not, did not want to become a big person. That is not in my nature. I do not want to move around with many people. I'm just satisfied with whatever I have. I'm only concerned about my high thinking. That is my life, my spiritual thinking is my life; the conclusions of the scriptures, the advices of the mahājanas, to relish them and practice them and to discuss them in a small confidential circle. That is the main goal of my life. That's why he used to trust me. That's why he used to send his disciples to me. Because he knew that I will teach them the truth and I will not take them away, unlike many others. That's why he used to come to me. He used to like me and he used to enjoy discussing with me. There are many points in Bhagavad-gītā, very subtle points, like I was telling the other day that śloka:

teṣāṁ satata-yuktānāṁ, bhajatāṁ prīti-pūrvakam dadāmi buddhi-yogaṁ taṁ, yena mām upayānti te

["To those devotees who are constantly dedicated to Me, and who engage in My service out of their love for Me, I bestow the internal divine inspiration by which they can approach Me and render various intimate services unto Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.10]

Here, this upayānti te is upa, is parakīya. Once I discussed this point with him and he agreed and he said that at this point there cannot be anything else but the parakīya rasa of Braja. He agreed with me and supported me although this was my conception. These four are the four main ślokas of Bhagavad-gītā. [10.8 – 10.9 – 10.10 – 10.11] ahaṁ sarvasya prabhavo.

In my book called Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam which I wrote about thirty years back I explained this as Rādhā-dāsyā, the servitor-ship to Rādhārāṇī. Here there is a hint of the servitor-ship to Rādhārāṇī.

ahaṁ sarvasya prabhavo, mattaḥ sarvaṁ pravartate iti matvā bhajante mām, budhā bhāva-samanvitāḥ

["I am Kṛṣṇa, the Sweet Absolute, I am the root cause of the all-comprehensive aspect of the Absolute, the all-permeating aspect of the Absolute, and also the personal aspect of the Absolute - the Master of all potencies, who commands the respect of everyone - Lord Nārāyaṇa of

Kṛṣṇa is telling that everything has been introduced by Him. Even the service to Him also has been introduced by Himself, ‘Has been introduced by My potency which is non different from Me.’ With that conception if we want to serve Kṛṣṇa, if we try to serve Kṛṣṇa, then that service is through the submission to the spiritual master, following the spiritual master, following Rādhārāṇī. In Bhagavad-gītā in remote connection this link is there. I wrote that.

I was extremely enchanted with the meanings of the scriptures, with the teachings of the scriptures. That's how I used to pass my time, discussing about these intricate instructions inwardly. And along with that I used to do some preaching on the side; and that also in that kind of circle. When I used to stay next to his house in Sita Kanta Banerjee Lane he used to come to me quite often and for a long time we used to discuss about these subjects. There used to be an exchange of understanding. That's why he used to know me quite well. In Allahabad also along with Tapasi Mahārāja I went to his house, gave lectures, and brought him to our Maṭh. Before that he met Śrīla Prabhupāda [Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] once. One of his friends took him to Śrīla Prabhupāda at Ulṭā Dāngā and just by seeing Śrīla Prabhupāda he realised that at last the responsibility of spreading the teachings of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu has fallen on the shoulder of such a person who will do something about it, who will spread it all over. Now this responsibility has fallen on a real qualified person. This was his realisation. And then in Allahabad I was the media to attract him to this path. Then in Sita Kanta Lane, Bombay, and many other places I was with him.

When Bon Mahārāja came back from England and we met in Bombay and he had many questions and I started giving the answers to them.

Then he commented that, ‘Today, Europe has been defeated by Asia.’ He saw that after preaching in Europe quite extensively, the doubts, the questions that he had in his mind, I answered them and dispelled his doubts. That’s why he commented like that.

I always had a close connection with him and there were confidential exchanges; that’s why he used to trust me so much. He had his confidence in me in both ways; he used to trust me in my behaviour and he used to trust me about my spiritual realisations. That’s why he used to feel happy to come to me.

Sarvabhavana Prabhu asks Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, ‘Mahārāja, the other day you were telling me that when Śrīla Prabhupāda was inaugurating the Māyāpur temple then you went there along with your disciple Govinda Mahārāja and you made Govinda Mahārāja give a lecture.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Yes, and I also gave a lecture, and in that lecture Govinda Mahārāja said, ‘He, Śrīla Prabhupāda, considers me like his own son, and he considers my spiritual master Śrīdhara Mahārāja, as his śikṣā Guru.’ In that assembly Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī Mahārāja also was present. Govinda Mahārāja quoted the śloka, kam prati kathayitum īśe, samprati ko vā pratītim āyātu go-pati-tanayā-kuñje, gopa-vadhūṭi-vitaṁ brahma

[“To whom can I tell it, and whoever will believe it, that the Supreme Absolute, Param Brahman, the Paramour of the damsels of Vraja, is enjoying in the groves on the banks of the Yamunā?”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.98]

‘Who will believe this at this present time? Through him, Śrīla Prabhupāda has done something that is beyond belief. He has done something unbelievable.’ Saying this he said that, ‘He loves me like his own son and he considers my spiritual master as his śikṣā Guru.’ And he, Śrīla Prabhupāda, is so humble that in reply to this he said, ‘Whatever Govinda Mahārāja has said is correct. I consider him like my son, and I consider his spiritual master Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, as my śikṣā Guru.’ And then he glorified me by saying Om Viṣṇu-Pāda etc and giving, Jaya dhani. He was so humble. And I became a little ashamed due to this.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī asks Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja that, ‘Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja wants to ask two more questions.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja asks the question and then Bhakti Caru Swāmī translates it into Bengali; the question about Dhruva Mahārāja and his mother Suniti.

Then Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja asks another question which Bhakti Caru Swāmī translates it into Bengali. This question is about the GBCs. The question at last mentions that the GBCs, there’s a proposal that the GBCs also should be included as initiating Gurus.

Then Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja questions, ‘That only the GBCs, not outside the GBCs?’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī says, ‘No.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja asks, pointing to Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Swāmī, ‘He’s in charge of which zone?’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī says, ‘He’s in charge of Los Angeles temple.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says, ‘I guess Haṁsadūta Mahārāja also has that sort of idea?’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī says, ‘Well maybe right now he’s thinking that way, but previously they all were thinking alike. That is, none of them really wanted to increase the number of the Gurus. They were thinking that these eleven are all-in-all and they did not want to include anybody else.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, ‘I told them right at the beginning when they came to discuss with me about this after Swāmī Mahārāja departed. Then I suggested that this should be made into a dynamic practice so that every year during Gaura Pūrṇimā some new Gurus can be included. Then the other party, the God- brothers, non initiating God-brothers, will have their confidence on the initiating God-brothers and give their support to them. Otherwise if they maintain some rigid practice then the relationship will be cracked. This was my suggestion but they did not care about that. On the other hand emphatically they said that no, only these eleven that Śrīla Prabhupāda has selected will remain. Outside these eleven they will not include anybody else. I pointed out that if you include some more initiating Gurus that will be favourable. As it is when you all are going to leave then you have to appoint your disciples as initiating Gurus. You have to empower your disciples. So why can’t you do that to your brothers? Can there be no qualified person? So better you keep it opened. This practice will be very dynamic. If needed you eliminate some people also from their position of Guru, and include also somebody when he’s qualified.’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī requests Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja to speak this in English so that everybody can hear it in his voice and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja speaks it in English.

Then Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Swāmī asks a question and Bhakti Caru Swāmī translates it into Bengali.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja laughs and says, ‘So now they don’t want to listen to the uncle Gurus. That way they can give formal respect but actually the nephew can supersede the uncle also.’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī says, ‘Yes, they may but they do not.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, ‘Actually they have gone or not, that criterion is different in absolute consideration. Relatively they will offer their respects but the nephew can also supersede the uncle, but still he will give him his due respect.’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī points out that Caitanya Mahāprabhu told Vallabhācārya that the one who does not recognise the superiority of the spiritual master, he is like a prostitute. The one who thinks that who has superseded his spiritual master, he is to be considered as a prostitute.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, ‘Noticing the realisation of Vallabhācārya, Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said that, but in the line of Caitanya Mahāprabhu, Śrī Jīva Goswāmī he has mildly differed from Śrīdhara Swāmī, like, tejo- vāri-mṛdāṁ yathā vinimayo [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1], this vinimayo Śrīdhara Swāmī has translated as implementation, but Jīva Goswāmī did not agree with him. He said that vinimay never means implementation or imposition; vinimay means transformation. So Jīva Goswāmī differed with him in this respect. But Vallabhācārya, to establish some faulty conclusions, in spite of being the disciple of Śrīdhara Swāmī, has attacked him. That was his audacity. There was no substance in it. That's why Mahāprabhu has rejected him.'

Bhakti Caru Swāmī, 'At least there was some scriptural understanding, but here there is no scriptural understanding.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, 'I heard from different people that Swāmī Mahārāja has told his disciples that in Bengal, most of the disciples of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, have deviated from his teachings. So know you have to go and reinstate that pure teaching of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura. Giving such inspiration he sent them here. Now if that is true, of course I myself have not heard it from him, I simply heard it from others, and in a way I think it is quite possible also, just to encourage them so that they might not have gone this far from that. What they might think that what our spiritual master, the great preaching work that he has done, what he received from the lotus feet of his spiritual master, that is novel and a wonderful substantial potency. And with that he has come here to recapture. And the ones who are in possession of that they're almost dying. So you all must go and give it there. Like when the brāhmaṇas fell down in Bengal at one time, then Adisur (?) brought the brāhmaṇas from Kanoge (?) and then he re-established the varṇāśrama system here, like that. He also has done something like that.

I heard from Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī Mahārāja that before leaving this planet, Swāmī Mahārāja requested him to beg forgiveness on his behalf from his God-brothers, that at times he might have offended his God-brothers while preaching. This he said – I heard it from Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī Mahārāja. He said that although he had due respects towards his God-brothers, but still while preaching he might have offended them a little bit; so he should be forgiven.

Like I heard once Akiñcana Mahārāja ask him, ‘What your other God-brothers are doing?’ So he replied, ‘Well, they just eat and sleep and ring the bells.’ Hearing this, they became very offended and then they came to me. But my observation is neutral so I said, ‘The drum that he’s playing, if he accepts you as a player of the bell in that band, then you should consider this to be a great honour.’ I told this. My views are different. I saw that he’s playing a huge drum, a battle drum, so if you get a chance to play the kashi, or cymbals, along with that, that is a great honour to you. This I’m speaking from the absolute consideration.’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī pointed out, ‘Mahārāja, if Prabhupāda gave this instruction then he must have given this instruction to all his disciples. Now why, instead of all his disciples, only eleven of them are so hung-up about this? It is not so much of Prabhupāda’s instructions; it’s a matter of their personal, selfish motives. To guard their selfish motives they have closed their doors and windows very tightly so that no attack can come from outside.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, ‘That’s a kind of a policy true, but that cannot be rejected altogether. The way, there was a practice in India before that, ‘Do not go beyond the seas because due to the social exchange you might get degraded.’ Due to the exchange, instead of benefit, you might become degraded. So make a boundary so that you do not become degraded, the way the Chinese made the wall around their country so that the national culture cannot be degraded or destroyed by any external invasion or influence. It may be something like this.’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī, ‘But Mahārāja, the main consideration is that many of Prabhupāda’s disciples are leaving the movement. They’re quite unable to tolerate all this nonsense any more.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, ‘Yes, the ones, those who won’t be able to check themselves they’ll come forward, and the ones who are wavering, those who can tolerate a little more, they can wait and examine what actually is Kṛṣṇa’s desire for a little longer. The primary consideration is Kṛṣṇa’s will.’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī, ‘But we are seeing that in order to accelerate Kṛṣṇa’s pastimes Nārada Muni is acting in certain ways as if he’s acting against Kṛṣṇa’s desire.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja laughs and says, ‘Yes, the way he caused Kāṁsa to kill the first six sons of Devakī. Yes, the inward feeling should be like that. So if this is degradation then even if he cannot come forward then at least inwardly he would feel that, yes, if there’s degradation then let it happen quickly. Let the reaction come quickly. Otherwise it will cause a great damage to many people. Yes, the ones who won’t be able to control themselves they will dive into it. Without considering the good, bad, honour and infamy, without considering the future, they will dive into it for reformation. That is also quite possible.’

Bhakti Caru Swāmī, ‘Śrīla Prabhupāda is giving an example that if somebody has a boil then instead of blowing that boil it is better to press it and get the poison out. Instead of blowing the boil for temporary relief, the one who is a real well-wisher, he will press the boil and get the puss out. That might cause some pain, momentary pain initially, but in the long run this will be beneficial.’

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja laughs and says, ‘The ones who believe in homoeopathic treatment they will say that instead of making such demoniac attempt give him some medicine and that will cure him.'

Bhakti Caru Swāmī, 'But Mahārāja, it has been seen that homoeopathic medicine does not work with everybody.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja laughing, 'But Hanumān will not agree with that.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja continues. Like once when a drowning man was floating across the Ganges and on the bank a yogī was meditating. And one other man saw this drowning man floating by so he dived into the river and rescued the man and brought him onto the bank. And then he told the yogī that this man was drowning and you're chanting while sitting on the bank of the river. Then the yogī replied, yes, I saw that you are coming, I knew beforehand that you are coming to rescue him so I did not make any attempt myself.'

So there are different kinds of people. The ones who cannot resist themselves they'll dive into it. The ones who are a little sober they'll think that the remedy for this Kṛṣṇa is sending.'

Bhakti Caru Swāmī, 'Mahārāja, I asked you this question because in America there's quite a few devotees, those who are impatiently waiting to hear what you think about all this, what you say about this.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, 'Yes I know that there are quite a few people, those who are the well-wishers of the movement, they're waiting and seeing, but this is breaking their heart, this damage to the society. From here, from a distance, I'm saying wait and see. But for them this is becoming yugas (twelve years or more). The ones, those who are the real lovers of the institution, for them this is becoming intolerable. This is going beyond their limit of tolerance.'

Bhakti Caru Swāmī, 'The main reason why we came was because there are many devotees, those who are impatiently waiting to hear what you have to say. Now if you just show us the way that now this has come to this point and unless some rectification is made, must be done, then they all will get together to do something about this.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, 'If I have to say something formally from outside then I have to say that among you who enjoy the greatest confidence of all the devotees, through such a man you call for a meeting in America or wherever the field is the most important. And in that meeting the ones who are willing to boldly face this situation, participate, the GBCs, those you feel who are dissatisfied inwardly, call them and call a few Ācāryas like Rāmeśvara who are sympathetic. And then in the meeting you record the feelings of different devotees. And then with the strength of that resolution you call for their explanation,

'That what you are doing in the name of Prabhupāda, you're all not absolutely infallible. Due to your activities the mass of the disciples of Prabhupāda has become very bewildered, they're becoming very disappointed. And they can see that a great loss is going to be incurred by the ISKCON Society, the ISKCON Society is in danger. So now you all reconsider yourselves and appeal to them to readjust themselves and thus this disaster can be saved. So many devotees are leaving the movement, so many devotees have become half dead, and so many devotees have already died, and so many are lamenting. And we cannot just sit idly without trying to rectify the situation. We ourselves do not want any position, but what's going on is intolerable. It shows that the major portion is going to die. So we want some action to rectify this situation. We want some remedy for this. This must be thought out and accepted.'

So with this idea you form a committee, make a resolution, and then selectively invite some. In this way you call for a meeting, pass a resolution, and then call for them and ask them to readjust their position and reconsider. Otherwise we shall be in painful necessity to make progress independently. You can say this in this line.'

Then Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja himself translates this in English.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...I consider Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja more sober, and senior man, and in his consideration I could trace and could see of your experience your departed master, I want to hear what is his around the present situation.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: My feeling is that Hamsadūta Mahārāja is a very sincere devotee. He loves Śrīla Prabhupāda, he loves Kṛṣṇa and Lord Caitanya, he loves his disciples, and he loves his God- brothers. And in preaching work there is bound to be sometimes some imperfection. In preaching there will be some – not everything is perfect. In this material world nothing can be done perfectly. So sometimes there is mistake; in him, in myself, in everyone, but the motive is very good. And I personally feel that in a similar situation a few years ago there was one God-brother of ours named Siddha Svarūpa Ānanda Mahārāja who also could not get along with his God-brothers. But Prabhupāda always took his side; our Prabhupāda always tried to protect this devotee, and to have all of us – Prabhupāda’s disciples, allow this devotee to continue to function and serve in the best way he could.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja is many, many, many times a more sincere disciple of Prabhupādas than this Siddha Svarūpa Ānanda was. And Prabhupāda dealt with great compassion and mercy upon this Siddha Svarūpa. And I feel that in this case Śrīla Prabhupāda would deal with great compassion and mercy and protection and understanding for Śrīla Haṁsadūta, because I know that Śrīla Haṁsadūta is teaching his disciples to chant Hare Kṛṣṇa mahā-mantra, he is teaching them to attend maṅgala-āratī, he is teaching them Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Bhagavad-gītā philosophy, he is teaching them the standard process of bhakti-yoga. And that is actually what is ISKCON. ISKCON means to teach Kṛṣṇa consciousness. The institutions, the buildings, the rules, they’re all to facilitate the teaching of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So we must see, is Kṛṣṇa consciousness being taught? If there is some other thing being taught then it is serious, but if Kṛṣṇa consciousness is being taught, even there may be some other slight impurity also, never mind the impurity. One time I asked our Śrīla Prabhupāda, that [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To certain extent, then I shall ask him to say.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: One time I asked our Guru Mahārāja, that your God-brother Tīrtha Mahārāja, there is many disagreements with him and other God-brothers, so perhaps he is displeasing Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Prabhupāda. And my Guru Mahārāja said, ‘Oh no.’ He said, ‘Oh no.’ He said, ‘He has very much pleased our Guru Mahārāja. Our Guru Mahārāja is accepting his service just as Kṛṣṇa accepted the service also of Pūtanā. Pūtanā came – there may have been something impure, but she was Kṛṣṇa’s, she came in the gesture of offering service, and Kṛṣṇa accepted the best thing of what Pūtanā came with.’

So then some devotee may not have been perfect in his offering to Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta. Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta was such a great Ācārya that he would only see the good in what the person was bringing forth.

So I see so much good in Śrīla Haṁsadūta and I am seeing that and I am not seeing the other things because to me that is more important. That will endure. That is what Kṛṣṇa is seeing. And I think that is what Prabhupāda would see now. I do not see all these other smaller things. They will all, they are unimportant from the eternal consideration. From the eternal consideration these small deviations are not very important; insignificant. So that is my opinion.

Devotee: [Explains in Bengali (?) what Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja has just said.]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now this new gentleman.

Devotee: Gopāl Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gopāl Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: He's a Governing Body Commissioner for Bombay, Delhi, and Canada, and Western India, and Gujarat.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is your idea of the present situation of ISKCON? And how...

Devotee [Gopāl Kṛṣṇa?]: I think basically you have heard what Haṁsadūta Mahārāja has said. The real problem is, the real question for the GBC Body now is whether we should accept what Haṁsadūta Mahārāja is like and let the preaching go on, or whether we have to become very strict in enforcing discipline. So this is a real thing. Haṁsadūta Mahārāja has always been like he is, so we have to decide whether we're ready to accept him and still accommodate him, or whether we want to enforce a very strict discipline on him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now you have come to pass a particular judgement about the present situation.

Devotee: We have to resolve the present problem.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, it's not that we can pass a judgement because we are not the GBC Body. But from the outcome of our talks here today, then we all have to fly to America and meet with the entire GBC and convince them of our mood.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is he?

Devotees: Bhagavān Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And there?

Devotee: Prabhupāda Kṛpa Mahārāja.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Formally Hari Sauri Prabhu.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is your opinion about the present situation? What do you feel at your heart?

Prabhupāda Kṛpa Mahārāja: I think the main difficulty we have to resolve is what level of authority the GBC can wield on individuals. Our Śrīla Prabhupāda made a society, and because we're all individuals we have our different characteristics, and Prabhupāda accepted all of those, but at the same time kept us within some guidelines for keeping a united preaching front in order to make the preaching effective worldwide as well as in a local way. So we seem to be finding difficulty in getting a balance; how to allow an individual to do his preaching in the way that he knows how, and at the same time to keep a unified front for the preaching work on a worldwide level. So some devotees feel sometimes that that may be disturbed by some activity that Haṁsadūta Mahārāja performed in this last previous year. So therefore the attempt was made to discipline Śrīla Haṁsadūta in a certain way to check those tendencies. But at the same time now, we see practical results that he has become very much disturbed by that. So now we're looking to try to see how we can proceed in the future so that we can accommodate everybody but still keep what's considered a level of respectability or a proper control on the preaching activities; for the Ācāryas and for the GBC.

Devotee: [13:35 - 16:05 Bengali?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhagavān Mahārāja: You have heard everything. Now what's your recommendation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And what is your recommendation as the chairman to save the situation? Let me know that. How we can accommodate, adjust in the present circumstances to do the maximum good for the ISKCON and Prabhupāda? What should be your recommendation?

Bhagavān Mahārāja: My feeling is that everyone has come here rendering voluntary service, but because we are such an international organisation, whatever one person does that affects so many people. So therefore, out of respect for everyone, even the Ācāryas sometimes they have to limit themselves, even though philosophically speaking the Ācārya cannot be limited. But because we have a special organisation based on worldwide preaching, we also have to respect certain limiting situations. In this way, Śrīla Prabhupāda tried to give everyone such a feel that they more or less would not interfere with everyone else. He tried to solve the problem by giving everyone a big enough field so they would not interfere with everyone. One of the problems in America, Mahārāja, is that there are ten GBC, so many GBC are there that sometimes you cannot move without bumping into another GBC. And this has led to very much... we can say, like politics, but in one sense it's inevitable in such a small space everyone has so many different ways of preaching. Prabhupāda knew this and therefore he wanted to spread everyone out in such a way they could do what they want without disturbing. Now originally, Prabhupāda wanted Haṁsadūta Swāmī to be in Śrī Laṅkā; that was one of his final – he didn't mean that he should always just stay there. He wanted him to specifically develop Śrī Laṅkā. But he told him also that he could all over and do some preaching activity. However, after Śrīla Pabhapada's disappearance, the GBC put Hamsadūta in America, and when he got into America, due to his particular personality he started doing some activities which created some controversy. And Prabhupāda also said that certain devotees have tendency to create some controversy where they go. So to try to solve that he wanted to give them some field. Anyway, this is what happened, and er... obviously controversy was created, there was the incident with the guns, and that made worldwide news. And of course we don't take so much publicity serious some times, but the fact is that everyone's preaching work all over the world was affected by such a thing. And the GBC felt that this was some irresponsible activity. But the point where we stand now, he has disciples in America so it is not so practical just to tell him to leave America. What I would suggest therefore, would be that he be given some spot, if he's going to stay in America, some spot where he's not, at least in another state with the same GBC.

Devotee: Explain how America is divided into different states.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is he?

Bhagavān Mahārāja: Rāmeśvara Swāmī. And they at the present moment have very great fight.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the zone was allotted by Swāmī Mahārāja to whom; both of them?

Bhagavān Mahārāja: Well, Rāmeśvara Swāmī has been there for about ten years...

Devotee: Even during Prabhupāda's lifetime.

Bhagavān Mahārāja: ...and the upper part of that zone has been under changing management for several years, by different GBC.

Devotee: [?]

Bhagavān Mahārāja: My feeling, Mahārāja, is that we could at least reach some compromise, at least if he was not in the same state. He has two other states, Washington and Oregon.

Devotee: [?]

Bhagavān Mahārāja: The thing is, if there's going to be two GBC in one state it is very difficult. So at least they must be harmonious. Right now it is too difficult to make some harmony.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahārāja's suggestion? [?]

[?] What is Tamal Kṛṣṇa

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The proposal by Bhagavān Mahārāja is not bad, except there is one difficulty. That in this state which he is mentioning there is an important āśrama which is the centre of Haṁsadūta Mahārāja's activities. Therefore if he, if Haṁsadūta Mahārāja is not allowed to organise, to work in that state, then he loses that very important āśrama.

Bhagavān Mahārāja: But another one can be acquired.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Perhaps.

Bhagavān Mahārāja: That was their plan. Their plan was to get another farm in Washington.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Let him say, then you will...

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But I personally think that our leaders must come to a different platform of working together. We must learn to accommodate many different methods of preaching. Jayatīrtha Mahārāja was speaking with me on the telephone three or four days ago, and he said that if ISKCON is to survive it must be a confederation; a confederation of devotees who all agree on the basic principles of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Although I agree that the United States is one country and what is done in one place does indeed affect another place, still, I feel that all of the members involved are intelligent persons and if we can deal with each other, if we can extend our trust and love to the next person, that will bring out gradually the best in each person. I feel that we must deal on the platform of Vaiṣṇavas, not just on the platform of managers, or parliamentarians. So I feel that in this case, I have seen Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, I have been with him; his heart is very, very pained and hurt. And I feel that Prabhupāda would bestow his mercy and kindness and compassion in some way on him. Exactly how, that Prabhupāda would be able to know how to do, but he would not chastise him any more; that no more chastisement, no more reprimand. Prabhupāda would deal in such a way that his heart would be pacified. So I cannot participate in chastising in that type of mood any more because that is hurting him too much. And a Vaiṣṇava cannot see another person hurt; it gives him pain.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the purpose of his saying that about...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is your suggestion of how to come to a practical solution? What do you suggest?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?]: The situation is very complex, because we're dealing with the disciples of Haṁsadūta Swāmī, with Haṁsadūta Swāmī himself, we're dealing with the God-brothers, and the society, and we're dealing with the disciples of other spiritual masters. The situation has been brought to a level of personal conflict. At the same time the difficulties are mainly on principles, of behaviour, principles of management. Nothing is black and white. Nothing is completely bad or completely good. The basic thing which I see is that Prabhupāda has appointed a Governing Body Commission and told us that no one of us is the absolute Ācārya. That means each one of us should have the humility that Prabhupāda did not think that we are perfect, nor are we independent. Although this will be admitted but in actual practice the tendency is not to listen to our God-brothers, or listen to the Governing Body, and then when we make mistakes we get in trouble and a correction is tried to be made, then we resent that and we revolt to that sometimes.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hamsadūta Mahārāja [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, I feel that our GBC decisions that we took last April were much too severe though we didn't understand at that time that the reaction is very, very much chaotic. The result of our decisions reached last April in dealing with Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī, Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, and Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, has created chaos. And I feel that we should be broad-minded enough to realise that and correct it by returning Haṁsadūta Mahārāja's zone to him, and by allowing him to preach within Kṛṣṇa consciousness and as a member of ISKCON. And I think the whole thing will be settled right there. Because factually, Mahārāja, Haṁsadūta Mahārāja will not accept anything less.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So acute problem now is about the particular zone being half and half – is it?

Devotee: That is part of the problem.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Part of the problem.

Devotee: Part of the compromise.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Particular province; that is one part. And the broad thing is this, that the committee is there, GBC, and the committee has got its rules and understanding, but the nature or behaviour of the committee should be according to the ideals preached by your respectable Prabhupāda. As far as I find as well as my experience of, about the mission, in the practical field some leniency is necessary. Hard and fast rules, very strictly, cannot be applied. So we shall be a little lenient in our dealings. You see justice and sense of equity, or something like that. What is it? Justice and...

Devotee: Mercy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not mercy. In British law, justice we were told, and that should be added by goodness and equity, or something like that. Both combined the practical things should be dealt with. Not only law, law and good sense and equity, both combined can go on. Some particular cases some leniency, and some particular cases strictness. On the whole you should follow the line of your great Ācārya; somewhere slackness, somewhere strict. [?] Strictness is also necessary and leniency is also necessary, and how that should be dealt, seeing the sincerity of the heart. Of course strictness in the case of insincerity, and in the case of sincerity the leniency should be expressed. In this way we shall try to manage. There should be some differences because from the beginning, in the we find that when Uddhava says that, “What is the reason that so many variegated opinions in the field of religion, are they equally true alternately or there is some room of comparison?” Kṛṣṇa told that to Uddhava, in “In the beginning this was one and it was given by Me to Brahmā. And then from Brahmā, his ten disciples they heard it and according to their own temperament they accepted it in a modified way, and when in their turn they went to deliver, the differences arose.” In this way, prakṛti-vaicitryāt and pāramparyeṇa.

By succession and by variegatedness of the listener from the same source; in these two ways mixed today there is so many variegated opinions, but the source is one. So it is necessary from time to time that the Lord Himself, or some original Ācārya from that place, asked to readjust everything again. It is the very nature of the soil that it will create some modification. And the upadeśām, that is the advice, the śruti, śāstra, they are there to harmonise, to purify. And the nature is going differently. So some compromise between the two, and where there is sincerity the law should be lenient, and where there is insincerity law will be a little more strict. In this way we should go. That is my general opinion and my experience also about the missionary life for a long time. So come to practical, that is the general, but come to a practical point. When we find that there is a particular province, half of that, that is the place of dissension.

And another I want to know – you say that this gentleman is not abiding by the laws of GBC. But what is the practical example? I want to know one, one or two.

Devotee: Haṁsadūta does not follow the principles of the GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On what point you decide that this is not according to law, or the order of the GBC, and the particular instance, one or two, I like to hear from you. Anyone may say.

Devotee: I have in four categories. One is illegal activities which risk the good name of our society, one is offences against Vaiṣṇavas, offences against the Guru, and loosening our regulative principles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Offences against Guru, Vaiṣṇava and?

Devotee: Regulative principle loosening [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To break the law, to challenge the law, of the GBC.

Devotees: The spiritual regulative principles.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, spiritual.

Devotee: So, there was...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any complaint of private character that we shall, that I should hear in a very private way?

Devotee: Well his disciples are here.

Devotee: They can go for a few minutes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is here?

Devotee: His disciples are here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: So you have to go now. [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I read from Bible when Christ was going with the cross on his shoulder, on two sides, men standing to see, and Judas was amongst them. And Christ going with his look down, suddenly, where Judas was, he saw him. And he's going, without caring about the mob, but when Judas was in the line, suddenly, he looked to him. And the look was such that Judas fled away from the place, mad. What was in the look? I tried to assert it and I ascertained that Christ looked at him with such depth of pity that, 'Judas, I'm using you for my luxury, glorious life, example of life, and I am giving you _____ blame on your forehead for time to come, eternal time. I am taking the advantage and I am smearing you with blackness. And I am, at your cost, I am exploiting, I am taking the fame of goodness.'

[mahā-kṛpā-pātra prabhura] jagāi, mādhai / 'patita-pāvana' nāmera sākṣī dui bhāi

["Jagāi and Mādhai, the eighty-ninth and ninetieth branches of the tree, were the greatest recipients of Lord Caitanya's mercy. These two brothers were the witnesses who proved that Lord Caitanya was rightly named Patita-pāvana, "the deliverer of the fallen souls."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 10.120]

As Jagāi Mādhai was the witness of the greatness, magnanimous example of Mahāprabhu, they stood black, there, to enhance the greatness of Nityānanda Prabhu. So Christ looked at him like, 'I'm exploiting you to the greatest extent. Please forgive me.' Something like that. So, his sympathy. Anyhow it is_____ [?] Serious, though so grave ostentatiously but it is such in its component. Anyhow, how we can do away with the difference and we can go and meet with as a single man? How it is possible? Bhāvānanda Gi Mahārāja. Jaya Pataka Mahārāja, do you think that what he wrote in his diary that is a serious thing?

Devotee: I think the disciples should still...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Receive the training in such temperament such apprehension.

Devotee: Mahārāja, I think his disciples should wait to come until we're finished.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. In Vaikuṇṭha, in the march from matter to infinite, that characteristic should be maintained. Phenomenal activities should not discourage us; then we are no longer a member of Vaikuṇṭha, that is, no longer a factor of the infinite. Our object of search is He; so many infinities are under His feet.

*athavā bahunaitena, kiṁ jñātena tavārjjuna / viṣṭabhyāham idaṁ kṛtsnam
ekāṁśena sthito jagat*

["But Arjuna, what is the need of your understanding this elaborate knowledge of My almighty grandeur? By My fractional expansion as the Supreme Soul of material nature, Mahā Viṣṇu (Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Viṣṇu), I remain supporting this entire universe of moving and stationary beings."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 10.42]

"Whatever you can conceive is only in My one part."

Just as zero plus zero, zero minus zero, zero into zero, all zero. So also infinite; infinite plus infinite is infinite, infinite minus infinite that is infinite, infinite into infinite is infinite. So infinite is at His disposal, He's above so-called infinite. So Śeṣasajar, Infinite is a plane where He uses infinite as His bed, Śeṣasajar.

Devotee: The problem is that in dealing with inexperienced people if the Ācārya does not control his anger, then that will also affect the inexperienced. Just like Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja and Jaya Pataka they were saying that this incident in South India; actually they were very afraid that someone would get hurt. Because the telegram came, in telegram form, this person should be killed. So Tamal Kṛṣṇa was expressing very great anx...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, suppose, if you take it seriously then what process we can proceed on _____ [?] will you take this same policy in a body that we are to remove him, eliminate him from the world?

Devotees: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then you are to take this policy, you will leave him, exclude him. But he will go on externally. Outside you he'll grow. Would that be a happy and prosperous thing to the institution?

Devotees: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then what should be the better arrangement according to you?

Devotee: The original idea was that for the active managerial area, if he had, if there was no other...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, you see, this is out, when this sort of statement is out and it is condemned from the central body as well as ordinary public, so this will also be propagated amongst his disciples and others, so it will devour itself, it will kill itself. This idea will commit suicide because it came out but no footing it had on the outside.

Devotee: Which idea?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It will be gone. This false plan, it will be out, and when it is out it will lose its gravity [?] insanity. But this is not a grave statement, under policy or something like plan and policy. It is a light thing, a light weight in a peculiar heart. It will have such place amongst you all. But if you do the, take the step, a serious step against it, then it will live outside. That won't be good, I think. And when he himself says that this is a temporary human error of no importance; then let that way may spread, that will may spread amongst you all and necessarily amongst the disciples.

Bhāvānanda Mahārāja: Mahārāja, last night when we were all discussing, Bhagavān Mahārāja, as the chairman of the GBC, and feeling that he has a sense of the mood of the GBC, his suggestion was that if Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī, and if Haṁsadūta Swāmī, appeared before the GBC Body and said to them, 'My dear Prabhus, I have been offensive, I have made mistakes, and you have dealt with me in such a way that I've realised those mistakes. But now I'm asking you to please be kind to me, be merciful to me, and allow me to take up my duties as before.' He said he felt if they did that, that the GBC as a body would very much be appreciative of that and would immediately institute them in their previous positions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [22:28 - 24:00 Bengali ?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī_what misdeed he committed.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [24:28 - 27:38 - Bengali]

Devotee: I could not understand because he was speaking in Bengali.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What I understand from Jaya Pataka Mahārāja's statement is that you impressed your disciples that you are the principal man under the GBC and if they take you in that spirit they will be benefited more.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Jaya Pataka Mahārāja: I can repeat in English what I said.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Jaya Pataka Mahārāja: I said that there was, he had many senior God-brothers with him, and these senior God-brothers have a certain way of preaching and distributing books which was influenced by other senior leaders in the movement. And Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī wanted that in his zone everyone should adopt his particular mood of preaching. And there was some difference of opinion in this preaching mood. So to bring these God-brothers under his control, he was preaching very strongly on the fact that he was Prabhupāda's representative and Guru. And he became over enthusiastic in that line, over-zealous. And there was a tremendous pressure put upon them to accept him as, almost as their Guru. And after some time they...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the reaction came and he was...

Jaya Pataka Mahārāja: He was asked if he could go some other place for the time being.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he lost popularity.

Jaya Pataka Mahārāja: Yea, there was a revolution.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he lost popularity thereby. Do you think like that? That your process of preaching, in reaction came your mispopularity, unpopularity there.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Yes. I think that he has presented it very fairly. What Jaya Pataka has just said is a fair, it is a correct appraisal of the situation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is correct?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then you have nothing to do about such complaint of Jaya Pataka Mahārāja and GBC.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: No. I simply want to correct, I have tried within the last six months, or five months, since this incident to appreciate more how my God-brothers are being inspired directly by their Guru Śrīla Prabhupāda, and how they must also fulfil the guidance which Prabhupāda has given to them and is continuing to give them...

Rabi [Rabindranath] Tagore I heard, he made a strong remark. “Oh. One who does not recognise Him he will throw himself into eternal hell.” Too much audacity; in this way that gentleman – gentleman or, what is the, that nasty man? Gentle and what is the...

Devotees: Rogue; Gentleman and barbarian.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That man he has remarked upon Kṛṣṇa. Anyone who is not submissive to Him he will throw himself to eternal hell. Too much audacity, ha, ha, that fellow. He thinks that, “I’ve got some power.” He’s master of some potency and power, by concoction, by illusion. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Brahmavādīs - these kind - somewhat like so-called Śiva, Rudra, nirviśeṣa.

Devotee: Mahārāja, what’s the difference between Sadāśiva and Mahā Viṣṇu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sadāśiva, Mahā Viṣṇu; They’re of same rank it has been told. Sadāśiva means the Śiva on the Vaikuṇṭha side, crossing the Brahma, that side of Śiva. Śiva means Brahma when vilāsa, Brahma added, vilāsa in its primary, primitive state, it is Śiva. Above Brahma, Brahma is taṭasthā, marginal plane, and above margin towards Vaikuṇṭha, Sadāśiva. And below the margin this side the māyic, māyādhi pati, that is Rudra [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And in the middle the nirviśeṣa, nirviśeṣa when going to cid-vilāsa, the land of dedication, that side that Brahma contacts with Vaikuṇṭha as Sadāśiva. And this side of the māyā the saviśeṣa, that is...

Devotee: Personal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Personally from nirviśeṣa on the negative side, that is Rudra.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: When we say Śiva is the greatest devotee, we see him in pictures chanting japa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The master of Gauri.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: ...where is he...

Devotee: Haṁsadūta Mahārāja is asking, 'When we say that, vaiṣṇavānāṁ yathā śambhuḥ [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 12.13.16], that Śiva is a great devotee of Kṛṣṇa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A relative word, vaiṣṇavānāṁ yathā śambhuḥ, to attract the demonic spirit we say that Śiva is a great Vaisnava; give the respect, a relative term.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Is that Śiva whose doing this work aware of his great devotion to Kṛṣṇa?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Is it one and the same person in different moods?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Functional difference.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Functional difference but same person?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Functional difference makes them different. [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: . Rudra this side. The origin is Mahā Viṣṇu, origin Sadāśiva, then the māyic side so many Rudra, according to different functions in the relativity of māyā.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Same person?

Devotee: Same person. In the māyic side is eleven Rudras but on this spiritual side there's Mahā Viṣṇu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suppose a judge has been delegated with the power of a district magistrate. The judge side when he sits in the court he's on civil side, and when magistrate the criminal. Something like that.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: And when he's at home something else. So different aspects, same person.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Same person. Similarly a king in the court, king in the harem.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Now another question. Lord Śiva is there in every universe. Lord Śiva, he's acting in every universe throughout the creation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That maybe. Śiva is generally one in the whole of the universe.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: But there are other universes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Their function according to Rudra.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: But there are other universes outside of our universe.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmā is for brahmāṇḍa, each brahmāṇḍa, and Śiva is for each...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: One brahmāṇḍa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmā is for one brahmāṇḍa.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: And Śiva for one...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Śiva for one universe.

Devotee: Brahmāṇḍa and universe is the same?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No.

Devotee: No? What's the difference?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

[?]

Devotee: He's saying that when you look at it from the material, from this perspective, it appears the Lord Brahmā, Śiva, and Mahā Viṣṇu, they all are coming out of material nature. But actually it is not. Because since we are looking from the difference of our perspective it appears to be like that. Like the way we look at the sun as a part of this planet although actually... And before that he said that Lord Śiva as Mahā Viṣṇu coming as Sadāśiva is one. But in different universes, or rather different brahmāṇḍas, he is...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Brahmāṇḍa means universe.

Devotee: This fourteen planetary system.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: That's a brahmāṇḍa.

Devotee: Yea but Mahārāja is using the expression 'universe' the entire material nature.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I see.

Devotee: The material nature has eight coverings...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yea, Yea.

Devotee: So in each universe there are different Rudra manifestations and those are coming from Brahmā. But Sadāśiva who is coming from Mahā Viṣṇu, he's one, in Vaikuṇṭha.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Does that mean then he's expanding himself and therefore they're the same or that they're individual entities?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only here but in Vaikuṇṭha also there are many Vaikuṇṭhas.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] How can it be accommodated in our intellect? [?] And Paravyoma, there all infinite. But the unique of Vṛndāvana is such – it seems to be limited but it is the parent of so many Vaikuṇṭhas, so many infinities. Many infinities are accommodated in a part of Vṛndāvana. So what is Vṛndāvana, cid-vilāsa, kṛṣṇe vilāsa bhumi is such characteristic, acintya, gradually going towards acintya. Just as acintya is approaching to human, Kṛṣṇa is approaching to the finite, infinite is approaching to the finite. Then, to finite He's coming as finite, but really He's infinite. So, aprākṛta Vṛndāvana seems to be finite towards us, we finite beings, but that finite accommodates many infinities within it; such finite, aprākṛta. Infinite approaching to finite, He comes in a posing. So in Vṛndāvana the highest infinite is coming towards finite like a finite. In this way, all infinite, but the posing is finite. That is aprākṛta bhumi.

Devotee: He's telling that Vṛndāvana, the area of sixteen krosa...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Appears to be finite.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The highest stage of the approach of the infinite towards finite – Vṛndāvana, aprākṛta.

Devotee: From infinite it is extending towards finite, and just an expansion of Vṛndāvana is Vaikuṇṭha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The extreme stage of the infinite approaching towards finite – Vṛndāvana.

Devotee: Actually Mahārāja, sometimes it is said that one fourth of the entire nature...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Approximately.

Devotee: ...is material sky and the three fourths is spiritual sky.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is some approximate...

Devotee: So how again it can be measured? Because material is illusory and spiritual is real, so how can we compare, I mean keep illusory and real side by side and try to measure it out?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Amongst the loyal subjects...

Devotee: Of material nature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...mainly one fourth is abnormal. It's like that.

Devotee: Oh, I see. Can we look at it this way Mahārāja, that everything is actually the spiritual sky? Since everything is coming from Kṛṣṇa, so everything is of a spiritual nature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But in deepest vision everything is Kṛṣṇas. Apparently the prison house may be seen cut off from the ordinary peaceful life, but...

Devotee: Yes. Right, right, also in the king's kingdom...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...but that is also part of the... for the necessity of the peaceful life those prison houses are necessary. So it is all coming under the same jurisdiction; broader view. Something like that.

Devotee: But then again we can see, as you were pointing out the other day, that actually the projection is from the heart, projection is from inside, like everything's coming from inside; like the material nature although it appears to be external, but actually it is internal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Like a hallucination.

Devotee: Like a hallucination, right. So then again...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So the connection is not outside but inside.

Devotee: Inside, right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sarvate kṛṣṇe murti kalijal mor se leki [?] Eclipsed vision and liberated vision, parama mukta, the degree of liberation, Nārāyaṇa, paravyoma darśana, and more deeper vision, everything Kṛṣṇa, Vṛndāvana; in this way. Revelation, extreme revelation, everything is Vṛndāvana.

As if Her eyes are creating Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha. So much degree engrossed in Kṛṣṇa. Wherever the eye is free, Kṛṣṇa So vision, the eye creates the rūpa, in Her case it is such that as if Kṛṣṇa is being born wherever the glance is; something like that. She has got so much control over Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa is bound to come on Her eye, of course in particular līlā. And in viraha, She's also seeing Kṛṣṇa in different ways, in different... all mixed with Kṛṣṇa but no Kṛṣṇa, all the paraphernalia but without Kṛṣṇa. Prema vaicitra, Kṛṣṇa is just in Her front, She is missing Kṛṣṇa, "Where is Kṛṣṇa?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...taṭasthā, apara and para-śakti, in apara-śakti also He's all-pervading and para-śakti He's also all-pervading; everywhere He's all-pervading. In the Yogamāyā also He's pervading.

*yathā mahānti bhūtāni, bhūteṣūccāvaceṣv anu / praviṣṭāny apraviṣṭāni,

["O Brahmā, please know that the universal elements enter into the cosmos and at the same time do not enter into the cosmos; similarly, I also exist within everything and at the same time I am outside everything."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.35]

Something within and outside - everywhere, pervading.

Devotee: I was trying to look at it this way that ātmā can be in the conscious state or can be in a covered state also, in the material platform...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Covered means misunderstanding, māyā covered.

Devotee: Māyā covered.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Māyā covered. And Yogamāyā is also a sort of covering.

Devotee: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Otherwise covering means compartmental; compartmentalism is created in the Yogamāyā also. Śanta, dāsya, sākhya, different groups and then again different individuals in a particular group, sections of sections. In this way that is all, this Yogamāyā is making division amongst them. Amongst soldiers also, all soldiers and particular soldier groups, different groups according to efficiency - in this way sub division, but all with fighting spirit. So Kṛṣṇa sevā, everything is there, the different groups, and named vaicitra, the variegatedness there to satisfy Kṛṣṇa in different ways, infinite ways.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: this atom a small material unit. But we know that everything comes from Kṛṣṇa originally, therefore everything is ultimately living force in different stages of consciousness. So is that atom a covered living force? And within the covered living force is Paramātmā. Is that true?

Devotee: Mahārāja, Haṁsadūta Mahārāja is asking that, 'We know everything comes from Kṛṣṇa, and so everything is actually conscious, but things get covered over by material coverings and when the coverings are too much then they become almost unconscious, the jīvātmā becomes almost unconscious. Like the smallest material unit, atom, is it that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Material matter; that is the want of Kṛṣṇa consciousness to the extreme. It might be direct or indirect. To understand Kṛṣṇa some non Kṛṣṇa is necessary for us, to understand Kṛṣṇa. He's Kṛṣṇa, he's not Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise what is Kṛṣṇa? What is jīvā? What is the world? The paraphernalia is there. To understand Kṛṣṇa means many things. Kṛṣṇa differentiated from Baladeva. Kṛṣṇa differentiated from Rādhārāṇī. Kṛṣṇa differentiated from Nanda Yaśodā. Kṛṣṇa differentiated from Vṛndāvana. From His disciples. Though Kṛṣṇa and Kṛṣṇa śakti both combined creates all these things. And it is eternal but if we are to say creation, then it is created, eternally it is present there in that way. And what is...

Then there is māyā; para śakti, apara śakti, and svarūpa śakti. Svarūpa śakti is very nearer materials to Kṛṣṇa, and māyā śakti is the furthest śakti to – just as background is necessary for a picture, so māyā śakti is necessary as the ultimate background where the jīvā is also accommodated and the Vaikuṇṭha, everything is accommodated. Just as darkness is necessary to understand light, different shades of light, that Yogamāyā, svarūpa śakti, and be darkness when light is absent to us; that is like māyā. One helps to understand they're all rather created to help the Kṛṣṇa līlā. Understanding of Kṛṣṇa depends on the existence of the non Kṛṣṇa to a certain extent. Non Kṛṣṇa, that is māyā. Kṛṣṇa consciousness depends to a certain extent on non Kṛṣṇa background, that He's Kṛṣṇa, he's not Kṛṣṇa. How to understand that? So non Kṛṣṇa is māyā. Kṛṣṇa means our master. We are our master. They are - he is his master, we are master of this thing, that thing; all these things are necessary. Ultimately everything is Kṛṣṇa and Kṛṣṇa śakti, śakti classified into three, para, apara, and taṭasthā. And then variegated conceptions of various circumstances, time, space, all these things are necessary to make the līlā, the activities, and the rasa, all tasty, making all possible so many things are necessary for līlā. Am I clear?

Devotee: Yes. But I have slight little doubt Mahārāja. Like we have seen that the trees also have life. We have seen that even the mountains have a life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Trees here and trees in Vṛndāvana are not one and the same.

Devotee: No. Your talking about jīvātmā, the taṭasthā śakti coming in the māyā śakti is developing some form, some body, is developing some material body. And now we know that even the hills and mountains they're also living beings, jīvātmā, but they've developed the body of a mountain. The rocks are also a kind of body, living entity, they've developed a body. But they are jīvātmās in a very, very unconscious state. Now when you go to the minutest matter, the atoms...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: The smallest unit of matter is an atom, right.

Devotee: Yea.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you analyse the nature of atom then you'll find electron...

Devotee: Yea, right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and then everywhere you will find consciousness.

Devotee: Yea, that's true.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some consciousness, then you may come to such realisation when that is also broken, that is broken to pieces and again within that so ultimately we'll find all consciousness.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: So the conclusion is that everything is originally living force. The conclusion is that everything, whether it's classified as the māyā śakti is living force.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Everything ultimately is śakti, māyā is Kṛṣṇa śakti.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ultimately you'll see all Kṛṣṇa...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: So that means in...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A different colour or different distance or something like that.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Therefore in the evolution of eternity, the spiritual evolution, will ultimately bring even the atom to its original Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa and Kṛṣṇa śakti.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Predominating and Predominated Moiety, two halves, śakti śakti matur abhīram. One is enjoying part, another to be enjoyed. Enjoying, enjoying, ānanda, and cit, anugati, subjective and objective, two aspects, and one thing converted into both. In the highest conception, absolute conception, They're one, then mainly two halves, enjoyer and the enjoyed. Enjoyed that is prakṛti, enjoyer that is puruṣa, and enjoyed that is prakṛti, two halves, and again sub-division – infinite, you will find everywhere. The absolute enjoyer is Kṛṣṇa and the absolute object to be enjoyed is Śrī Rādhikā.

Devotee: And in the material platform then we find that ultimately it is maha-tattva and pradhana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maha-tattva and pradhana.

Devotee: Mahat and pradhana. The covered jīvātmā is mahat-pradhana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maha-tattva is the outcome of puruṣa prakṛti, first stage.

Devotee: Yes. Outcome of puruṣa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When both combined, first stage, you may find there mahat-tattva in general, then again bifurcation and differentiation.

Devotee: So how is mahat-tattva bifurcating?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahat-tattva then ahaṅkāra, individual atomic conceptions grow from that general mahat-tattva; in this way.

Devotee: But I remember Mahārāja, once you told me that the pradhana is a covered jīvātmā. When the jīvātmā comes into the material nature, a covered condition of that jīvātmā is pradhana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pradhana. matter.

Devotee: Covered consciousness or covered ātmā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prakṛti and puruṣa, this māyā the illusion more active. Pradhāna is something inert. First, consciousness paralysed, something like, and then suppose when hypnotising, his previous movements stopped, then he's directed to another world to see, to speak something. So first paralysis, the consciousness paralysed as pradhāna, then he becomes mahat-tattva, he expresses himself through certain ways in the opposite direction, mahat-tattva in the worldly sense. Moving, movement is there. And pradhāna is ordinary, the mass, the mass supply of this world.

Devotee: Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahma mahad yonir, that is actually just lower to jīva soul, that is Virajā. The br̥hat tama yonir, the first place where creation begins is the br̥hat, the jara prakṛti, begins, _____ _ material creation begins, the first stage. And the ray is coming the suggestion coming from above to the prakṛti as a whole, apara śakti. Apara śakti is Brahman; Brahman means br̥hat yonir the most original and absolute position of the apara śakti. Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I have a question. Sometimes, not sometimes, I think often, and all the time, that yourself, Bhakti Caru Mahārāja, myself, Śrīla Prabhupāda, and all this company of devotees, that it appears to me that they must have been associated before, and that they will be associated in the future, and this will go on.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is not impossible Just as after leaving the bed one comes first, goes to the bathroom and then washing the face and mouth take something, or goes to the book – a daily routine today, and tomorrow similar, not same exactly but similar.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Similar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So in different kalpa of Brahmā, things very akin they pose, they run in that way. So this combination, this peculiar combination might have happened again in some other kalpa. So there is any difference between any līlā of Bhagavān – Śrī Varāha Deva came in white colour – Varāha Deva came in black colour, it is mentioned in different Purāṇas. Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu has harmonised, that in different kalpas, in some kalpas Varāha Deva came many times in many yugas, so in a particular in white colour, in another in black colour, this is kalpa-veda. Similar, daily routines may be similar but not exactly the same, so...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: But on going.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...so something maybe as it is.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: My point is, but the relationships are on going. They may be different from day to day...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It might have taken place previously and again in future such combinations, such talk may be again repeated. It is not impossible, with little difference.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That reminds me Mahārāja. You wrote about Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura Prabhupāda, that praṇamāmi ca caraṇāntika-paricāraka-sahitam [from Śrī-Dayita-dāsa-praṇati-pañcakam], that the spiritual master is always with his associates so the associates are always going to be with the spiritual master, all the time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. All right. In his previous early days, his father, mother, brother, again when sannyāsī so many disciples, in variegated ways we are all surrounded by our associates, anywhere we are we are surrounded by our associates. Brahmā is also surrounded by associates – even the Brahmā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Sometimes I think that there are, the way Kṛṣṇa is the karṇikā, the whorl of the lotus, and the petals that are around Him, the same way the spiritual master also is the whorl of the lotus and the disciples are the petals around that lotus, around that karṇikā, around the spiritual master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In different ways, in many ways, we're all surrounded. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Haṁsadūta Mahārāja once told me before that the relationship with the spiritual master is as such that whenever you come in contact with him; he may be in a different form but whenever you come in contact with him you feel from his heart that here is the person whom is my spiritual master. And he was explaining like how he felt the same way when he came in contact with Śrīla Prabhupāda. So this is not the form but the mood, the feeling of the heart, that here is my spiritual master. He may be in a different form...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Then there will also be some gradation. One can easily recognise that he's my master. Some may be new recruit at that time, and some previously engaged so rank between them.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes. Sometimes, some devotee, and it has been said that one should not think that he was formally associated with his spiritual master because that means he did not perfect and therefore he's obliging his spiritual master to come again and take trouble to preach in the material world. But I don't feel that way. I feel that, I mean, I feel that way simultaneously but at the same time I must have been there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Back to God and back to home. In the first sight you have, "I have found my master..."

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and my home, uneasy here. All may not have such experience according to their gradation...

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Just like suppose we have a good friend and he comes in a disguise. Immediately we recognise him because we know the essence of his being, his gait, his...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...with the element in him and the element in my heart.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're similar. Birds of the same feather flock together. I have found my friend, my master.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes. So that was my... so that's... So this is all right because this was my feeling - not on reason or intellect or something external, but essential.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Essential, heart to heart.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Heart to heart relation, not by intellectualism, by reason, or so.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But that is anurāga, raga connection, the link of love and not satisfaction of the intellect or reason.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is something else.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: That same thing when being in your presence for the first, I'm feeling the same thing; that this is not that you're convincing me by intellect but...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Friendly relations, with heart.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Response of the heart; that is silent thing, does not speak.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That does not deliver lecture.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But automatic, spontaneous feeling. That is higher.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Tamal Kṛṣṇa, when we were in Hong Kong before coming here, when I was speaking with Tamal Kṛṣṇa, all the things you spoke yesterday. So Tamal Kṛṣṇa said, 'But suppose you go to Śrīdhara Swāmī and he completely disagrees with you.' I said Śrīdhara Swāmī will not disagree. He will say exactly what I said. And whatever he says, even if he disagrees I will do whatever he says.

Because my conviction is that he is cent-per-cent just like Śrīla Prabhupāda. Therefore I'm not even thinking that he may disagree. So this feeling is there.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, another thing he mentioned is that, he said that Śrīdhara Mahārāja will not disagree because it is not that we are not speaking on the details but we're speaking with the principle. We're not concerned about the details but we're concerned about the principle and since the principle is the same so the details will also be the same. Ultimately the details will also will...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...will each deduce.

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I shall take something [?]

Devotees: Yes Mahārāja. Ok. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: I mean I see a tremendous amount of our problems are due to this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The administration should come between Ācārya and public. Their relation will be between the Ācārya and public. But the Ācārya, they will have duty from the śāstra, disciple maintaining. Śravaṇam maintaining the disciple, that may be entrusted with the Ācārya board, but the general administration, money matters, book publishing, all these, and the administration body. There should be cooperation. New Ācārya, he may write books, but who will go to publish that? This may come in the board and the board may sanction, “Yes, the publication of this book will be useful,” and it will go before the administrative body and they will publish.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: Prabhupāda used to say, “I am Marx and you are Lenin. I am writing the play and you are dancing on the stage.” He put it like that, “That I am giving the ideas.” Marx gave the idea, but Lenin went and executed it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Translated.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: He executed it. So I find that a tremendous amount of the problems that we’re experiencing in our movement...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Marx example is bad.

Haṁsadūta Mahārāja: But that’s Prabhupāda’s example, because Marx gave the idea.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hegel and Marx were contemporary, but Marx did not find any student in his class, but Hegel when he delivered lecture we are told that even from outside on the streets also the students stood and heard, they eagerly heard Hegel. Afterwards the time of Marx came, that realist. But in the time of Marx, Marx did not find any number of students bona fide. But Hegel, his contemporary, all the students became attracted by hearing Hegel, perfectionism, ideal realism. I am a devotee of Hegel. Ha, ha.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His 'Die to live.' And 'Reality is by Itself and for Itself.' Very impressive and effective, by lecturing, delivering lectures in the college assemblies, that 'Reality is by Itself and for Itself.' This helps a great deal, 'For Itself.'

It helps to understand that, that He is only for Himself. For none, not subservient to any other existence, substance, for then he would be the ultimate. And He's His own cause, Svayaṁbhu, so He's līlā-moy, whatever He's doing it is for Him, to satisfy Him, not any other thing. The master of this māyā as a whole, is Mahādeva. Sometimes he sides with the demons, the demonic spirit. The Guru of the demons is sometimes Mahādeva, and sometimes submissive to Nārāyaṇa, and sometimes revolting. The māyic world means, 'I am a separate entity, I can live without Kṛṣṇa. I can live without Kṛṣṇa independently.' In two ways, based on renunciation and based on exploitation, two phases of māyic world, illusory life. And Śiva being the master of the whole māyic area, he sometimes revolts and sometimes submits to Kṛṣṇa. That is his twofold function, Mahādeva, and a separate ahaṅkāra, that 'I'm not within Kṛṣṇa, within His submission area, but I can live independent of Kṛṣṇa. And this belongs to me, that belongs to another.' This idea has come from, springs from Śiva, Mahādeva. 'I'm master of another world.' And all other parts, the revolted world, springs up from Mahādeva, mentally. 'That I am master.' Not Īśāvāsyam. Everywhere, everything is in the possession of Kṛṣṇa, and everywhere there is Kṛṣṇa. He's all in all. We are His servant. The first deviation came in the conception of Śiva, who said, 'No. We are masters also of something, whatever it may be. Not only we are servant, we can be master.' Then we're master, then we came into the world of concoction, imagination, misunderstanding, misconception that we are master. 'I possess this body. I possess this house. I possess this, that.' All, 'I am a possessor, I am enjoyer.' This conception in its first stage we find in Śaṅkara, and then from him so many Śiva, all mukta jīva Śiva. Pāśa-baddho bhaved jīvaḥ pāśa-muktaḥ sadāśivaḥ.

Jīvas are compared with so many Śiva. But Śiva is twofold, one in the relativity of this māyā and the master of the māyic world, and the other, the causal world, the bhakta Śiva, Mahā Viṣṇu, Sadāśiva. He's more conscious of the superior world and considers himself to be a servant, not a master of this māyic world. A twofold function of the Śiva the mukta jīva is Śiva, but indifferent and also has connection with this, his view of the dhuta. Generally the demons are devotees of Śiva, not Nārāyaṇa. Daiva āsura eva ca, dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca.

[dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca / daivo vistaraśaḥ prokta, āsuram pārtha me śṛṇu] ["O Pārtha, the living beings in this world are seen to be of two natures - godly and demoniac. I have already elaborately described the godly nature to you, so now hear from Me about the demoniac nature."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 16.6]

The diti and the demon, and the deva, they're submissive to Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa. And āsuras are generally sympathetic to Mahādeva and sometimes Brahmā, and always against Śiva [Viṣṇu?] Very rarely _____ for some curse he had to come. And then Prahlād, Bali, several exceptions, mainly āsuras are worshippers of Śiva and Brahmā, and they're antagonistic with Viṣṇu. Dvau bhūta-sargau loke 'smin, daiva āsura eva ca.

The devotees of Lord Viṣṇu are the godly. Those who are just the opposite are called demons."] [Padma Purāṇa] [Gauḍīya Kaṇṭhahāra, 14.1]

Viṣṇu bhakta, they may be less qualified morally in comparison with many of the daitya, demons, but they are submissive to Viṣṇu , that is deva. Sometimes they're seen, Indra and other gods, seen to be corrupted, seen to be less moral, but they are submissive to Viṣṇu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...to suffer from death, or life in death, death and life, only when we come in Kṛṣṇa consciousness we are living a proper life. Other lives, or life after life in death, or death proper. We should consider that is vidhipor [?] to be in vidhipor [?] that is a disfigured state; that is death. And to be in our own intrinsic function, that is life. And that only in Kṛṣṇa conception we have that normal life.

Samuveda pradityum [?] Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Necessarily exceptional case Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. That may be exceptional cases. The general case is, tenor is that, but exceptional cases. Just as in the case of Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī. He feels that his tendency is towards sākhya-rasa. He, when he sings the song of sākhya-rasa, he feels much pleasure there. As much as I can understand, “That my most heart touching feeling from within comes to mix with the sākhya-rasa.” But still he’s going on with that. A special digression in the path may be. Rare case, but generally the way, the Guru paramparā, the mantram, it is all meant, couched in such a way as to facilitate our progress in the mādhurya-rasa. The Guru paramparā, all the Gurus, they’re of mādhurya-rasa, and the rūpānuga sampradāya that means mādhurya-rasa. Even, I have not seen, but I can’t remember where, but I am told that in the commentary of Bhāgavatam anywhere Sanātana Goswāmī himself, he is expressing his desire to be rūpānuga. Outwardly Sanātana Goswāmī is Guru of Rūpa Goswāmī, but that very Sanātana who is outwardly Guru of Rūpa, he expressed his desire to become rūpānuga. It is mentioned somewhere in his commentary.

Devotee: In his own commentary?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Own commentary. It may be in Bhāgavatam, or somewhere. I have not found that myself, or I can’t remember, but I heard that he expressed that rūpānuga, “I wish to be in this way.” It is mentioned. Rūpa Goswāmī was first disciple of Mahāprabhu.

Devotee: Yes, and then Sanātana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And then Sanātana, so Rūpa Sanātana. And Rūpa Goswāmī was given the charge of rāga-bhakti, and Sanātana especially of viddhi-bhakti. And with the help of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa; they took the name of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, both of them in different places, because for his social status. And also some touch and connection with Rāmānuja Vaiṣṇava sampradāya, in Hari-bhakti-vilāsa and other places. And because he was a brāhmaṇa so for some social requirement they took the advantage of the name of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa. And even Jīva Goswāmī he also says that, “What I give to you in a systematic form, I found these in note papers of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa. Collected hither and thither, scattered. These points that I found scattered and unadjusted in Gopāla Bhaṭṭa’s notebook, I have collected them.”

“And I am collecting them in a systematic form and I am representing it to you; taking his name.” Because the brāhmaṇas may not accept that it’s coming from those that are intimately connected with the yavanas etc, maybe, for that, he has got Gopāla Bhaṭṭa’s connection. And another, that he came from a bona fide Vaiṣṇava School, Rāmānuja, established his tol. But the original distribution is from them only, and we understand that predominance. Rūpa Sanātana. A combination of Rūpa for the rāga-mārga, and Sanātana in the viddhi-mārga; they’re masters.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Once you told that in our sampradāya that usually not only in the mādhurya-rasa but they’re strictly the followers of Rādhārāṇī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That not even the other groups also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Strictly from Rādhārāṇī's group in mādhurya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Rādhārāṇī, not only mādhurya-rasa, but in mādhurya-rasa different camps among that may be divided into three. One is Rādhārāṇī's party, main, and the opposite main party, that of Chandravālī, and then another few small parties in the middle. But we want Her...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Exclusively.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Exclusively, Rādhārāṇī's party and especially the extreme followers of Rādhārāṇī, that is Lalitā's group. And again, in the Lalitā's group Rūpa Mañjarī and that is the principal leader amongst the youngsters.

Devotee: Young maids.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Young girls. And their facility is; one gentleman asked me, "Why not, why Rūpa and not Rādhārāṇī or Lalitā?" Then I told; our extreme possibility of gain, the highest centre of our gain, is only to be achieved from that point, because Rūpa Mañjarī's position is unique and in one sense it is the highest position. Why? Rādhārāṇī and Kṛṣṇa, when They're engaged in intimate līlā, the grown up sakhīs they have some difference

_____ [?]

Devotees: Some shame; some restriction; reluctance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, not reluctance, some sort of...

Devotee: Reserved, reservations, they don't like to go there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some sort of shyness may be there, but for the young girls not so much shyness. So when They're intimately engaged then these small girls they can approach, but when they're grown up they feel shy to approach. They're in that position so thereby they can have the chance, the young girls, they can have the chance, in one sense the best facility and privilege they enjoy. So that should be the highest centre of the beginners, at least, not only but for, that should be desirable by all, that even in the most confidential stage of the union, only they can approach. So this is the highest centre, should be considered to be the highest centre of our achievement, ideal. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. I have thought like that, in that way, rūpānuga.

Devotee: This is how you explained to him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In my self enquiry that, 'Why it should be like that?' Then I have come to this conclusion that this is the unique position which is not possible in any other place in the mādhurya-rasa, in Rādhārāṇī's camp, and when They're very closely connected, Both of Them, only these get admission, their admission is possible and not others. So this should be the highest point of our aspiration, the rūpānuga sampradāya. And when Rūpa she sends her youngest sakhīs they can go easily for that purpose, in this way.

Gaura Haribol. High talks but we're not fit for that; high talks. Anyhow, one day we may go to that level. That is our aspiration, highest aspiration, the point of our highest realisation, highest aim, to be there, to be pointed out, to be pinned down there. Our fortune may be tied with that aim, anyhow.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura-Nityānanda.

Nitāi bine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi [Manaḥ-śikṣā, 1] Everything on the foundation on the grace of Nityānanda and Gaurāṅga, otherwise if the plank is taken out, taken away from our feet, then we shall go down, not knowing where.

Devotee: So our prayer is, Śrīdhara Mahārāja bine bhāi, nitāi pāite nāi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Guru and Gaurāṅga. Then if that main support, that energy that is holding us above, if that goes away from our foot we shall go we know not where. So,

Nitāi bine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi, that is the finest structure but the foundation is Nityānanda and then Śrī Gaurāṅga. When we get Gaurāṅga, the whole thing is within our clutches, it's so, both combined, both principles, both authorities combined, and sanctioned from there we may not care for anyone. But Nityānanda Prabhu at the bottom; we must always be thankful to Him. The energy, Baladeva, Nityānanda, the energy, awe in energy, master in Them, and Their grace that will be beautiful. But the plane, the foundation, is also not less important. We must have our gratitude to the foundation first, then the structure is possible. Otherwise everything will fall down, break down. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. This is as we have got conception from our Guru paramparā, Gurudeva, followers of Mahāprabhu Gaurāṅga.

Yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de [Vasudeva Datta / Ghosh] We have come in touch with such higher conception of our own prospect that if, now we shudder that if Gaurāṅga did not come with all these things of so sweet nature then our life would have been useless. How we could live at all? Now we can have such conception. Otherwise we would have been in darkness, no feeling of any necessity, no conception of our prospect, or our own self, all in darkness that is; that piece of, a sort of māyāvādā, and all the atheists.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

We are talking mostly of mādhurya-rasa to you. I don't know whether it is the consequence inevitable that Prabhupāda during just before twenty four hours of his nitya-līlā he wanted to hear Śrī Rūpa-Mañjarī from me, then, is this the cause? That generally I come to place this sort of talk mostly on the head. My tendency is to draw towards this rasa. I don't know whether it is the effect of his last wish to hear from me rūpa-mañjarī-pada. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

The day when I was given dīkṣā initiation by Prabhupāda, Vasudeva Prabhu he asked me, "What sort of Hari kathā you heard from Prabhupāda today, in the day of your beginning this life."

I told that Prabhupāda told all these things. "You are very fortunate," he told, he remarked.

Prabhupāda talked about Rādhārāṇī matters and I reproduced it to Vasudeva Prabhu. He asked me, "What type of Hari kathā Prabhupāda told to you?"

I reproduced, "Prabhupāda told in this way." "You are fortunate enough."

And my name was Rāmendracandra. Prabhupāda kept it, a little modified, Rāmendrasundara. I asked what is the meaning of Rāmendra I should think, Rāmendrasundara?

“Generally Rāma is Dāsarāthi Rāma” he told “Rāma, Rādhā, Her Master that is Kṛṣṇa.” He told, “Rāma Rādhā.”

That is still ringing in my ear. And when we were sent to discover the Rāmānanda and Mahāprabhu’s Milansthali at Godāvarī, he transformed my name again into Rāmānanda Dāsa. And I feel that I have got most sentimental liking for that place; charm, Godāvarī. And that talk, I find there everything in that discourse, that divine discourse between Rāmānanda and Mahāprabhu, everything, that covers everything of Gaudiya Vaiṣṇava’s Theology. Then, you are to go? What do you think?

Devotees: [Laughter.] We’ll leave this train.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Leave this train, ha, ha, ha. You go ... after.

Prabhupāda _____ with some exceptions

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They want admission. Their fortune is drawn unconsciously towards that direction. Gradually they will find their self cleansed and grow towards that more clear and clear. They will emerge from inside and take the way towards that. Mahāprabhu mainly came for that. The combination of Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, Their general campaign will be to draw Their common servitors. That will be Their interest. And anusangit [?]

Devotee: Circumstantially?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Circumstantially?

Devotee: Or supplementary?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Auxiliary aim will be to draw other camps around. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] “You can will, but to be effected, that is My jurisdiction.”

[karmaṇy evādhikāras te,] mā phaleṣu kadācana mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi

to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

This is the type of abnegation to the highest. The highest conception of renunciation is here. The māyāvādī's conception of renunciation, that is not perfect, that is static. But dynamic self abnegation, renunciation when it takes its dynamic character, dedication comes up, comes in. And renunciation makes progress through dedication and it becomes a perfect order when it comes to Rādhārāṇī's camp. Mahābhāva, rasa-rāja mahābhāva. “I shall, I want to devour the whole.” “But how much you can devour I challenge you to see. I am giving wholesale, in its quality, highest, and your appetite must be quenched.” In this way the challenge, rasa-rāja mahābhāva dui eka rūpa [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.282], consuming and dedicating. And when in its highest degree, both the parties, the negative and positive, when They're separated how tension is created there. In līlā, in Yogamāyā, who are to serve Them Both, as if unconsciously that forcibly separates Them then what sort of heat is produced there, the viraha; fire, sweet fire that is inconceivable, the fire that is sweet, viraha. “Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest things.”

“Our sweetest songs are those that tell of saddest things.” So saddest things also tasteful, how, and that is in its original, causal position, what is that. The sun's ray is so hot here we may feel, but in the sun's original position what degree of heat is there, inconceivable for us. So, order to be placed in Rūpa Mañjarī, that is coming down and that is the most suitable position of our emancipation, our liberated svarūpa. There we can get most benefit, we can draw our most desirable things from such distance in such position. All comprehensive, mādhurya-rasa is all comprehensive containing in it all the different types of rasa, the most comprehensive, accommodating; adjusting and in quality and quantity. That has been told by Mahāprabhu and our Guru paramparā. We want to connect our fate, our fortune there. The tuft of hair should be tied to the toe of the foot of our Guru Mahārāja; may drag on. We are to walk on our head, not by foot, because that is a place where the head we should touch, in śṛṅgāsana, in the pūjā, what is venerable, we connect our head there. The subjective, super-subjective, super-super-subjective, only with head we can tread over, and not by our foot. Something like that.

Devotees: Heads first, leading head wards.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Only by giving our heads, our respects, we can make progress, only giving our head we can enter, we can make progress in that land, that wonderful land.

vaikuṇṭhara pṛthivy ādi sakala cinmaya / māyika bhūtera tathi janma nāhi haya

[“The earth, water, fire, air and ether of Vaikuṇṭha are all spiritual. Material elements are not found there.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.53]

The wholesale, the soil is made up of stuff higher than we are. And we venture to enter. And who can get, give us that permission? Only His agents, only through His agents; without their help we are only a mass of clay. Only the grace coming and the lump of clay may be taken there as a living thing, who are so much dependent on Guru Vaiṣṇava. Our existence will be at stake, what to speak of progress.

Devotee: Balaji, He's actually Kṛṣṇa, because He's Balaji, Balagopāl...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But four-handed, ha, ha.

Devotee: Actually His original form was two-handed but due to Rāmānuja's request He manifested two more hands.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tried to push two more handed and take Him in Vaikuṇṭha. But He says that, "I am Balaji, and you can't find in Vaikuṇṭha any young things, they're all..."

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sarva-dharmān parityajya [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]. Ājñajaiva guṇān doṣān, mayādiṣṭān api svakān, dharmmān saṁtyajya [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.11.32], to break the law, that should be the main characteristic of a rūpānuga Vaiṣṇava. Another thing, important, what I conceived to be, that this parakīya principle. I have thought it out in a particular way, that all our previous obligations, pati, pati means the husband, he is supposed to have the whole control over the wife, lord ship, and to disobey him, rather to take out our gratitude from him and to go and to seek comfort or pleasure from other sides, that is to get out from our obligation to all commanding force beyond Kṛṣṇa. That is, all our past activity, they have right to exact their demand from us, our karma, jñāna, wandering in the world we have incurred so many obligations in so many places. And when that is considered in one side who wants to master on us to exact our loan, our debt, so they're one to get out, to take out their debt from us; and that should be placed as pati. They have got their demand to realise from us. So, disobedient to him, to go to Kṛṣṇa's side, to take our free will to that, that is like parakīya bhajan. Their total demand on us by the environment, that is one side, and they take free will towards God, to Kṛṣṇa, without any obligation.

Pati vancana [?] Money lender When we have borrowed money, so when obliged to him, so to deal with him, to de-throw him, to overthrow him, to disobey him; it is not publicly possible to get out of the obligation. So from the innermost of our heart we must take it clear for our own innermost free will to take it to Kṛṣṇa. Because by our previous life we have acquired so many anti Kṛṣṇa tendencies that have captured, that has made us captive; anyhow to take the free will out of that unconsciously of them and to dedicate it to Kṛṣṇa. From our present position, if we can do so, it is only possible. Wherever we are, and however in debt we are burdened, with free will we can take out of that obligatory circle and put it to Kṛṣṇa's side, for the inner, our sympathy, our prejudice, our selection, our prayer for that. I'm in the midst of unfavourable environment. The pati, the mother-in-law, and the sister-in-law, and the society, even the scripture – all against, all against, I'm deceiving them to take my free will, stealthily and with the help of a particular group I can approach Kṛṣṇa. Always, always.

Devotee: It's so wonderful.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I think that all the prejudices they represent that, mainly, arjapatam, dhuta, sajanam, the society and the scriptures, mainly, and they include almost everything. They're all on one side, and I must take my free will deceiving them, stealthily. My heart should be dedicated to Kṛṣṇa, my Lord, with Your own agent, take me out. Take me out, and to be bold enough, a little courageously to disobey the past obligations and to approach with our inner most prayer and interest to dedicate as naividyān, to the feet of the Braja party, Kṛṣṇa and His own.

Devotee: Mahārāja, now, for a woman it is easy to develop this mood?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. It is rather the opposite.

Devotees: (Laugh)

Devotee: I was thinking that as long...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The mental path is perverted, so it is very difficult, it will be difficult for them because that same perverted thing will come to occupy the position of the genuine; a more dangerous position. Apparently it may seem that it will be easy, of course to some extent, because Mahāprabhu's strī śūdra, those that had no privilege in the ordinary, they have been given more, attached more grace for them. But never the less we should be cautious that this womanly nature of this mundane world, that should not be, that should not have no comparison, that may be mistaken for the womanhood of that plane.

Devotee: Mahārāja, what I actually meant is as long as we have the false pride that we are the males, then we cannot develop this mood.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: So we have to give up that tendency, that feeling, that we are the puruṣa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That means that we are not enjoyer, but we are to be enjoyed. That is negative conception. We are to be handled and we are not to handle, this posing, our passive preference, not active; and active in the sense that to convert all this into active but towards Kṛṣṇa's side - their grace. Viracaya mayi daṇḍam dīnabandho dayām vā [Rūpa Goswāmī's cātaka bird example]. That is open, no claim, as if, but underground the claim is being established there through non claimant attitude claim is being established. As much as non claimant attitude we can develop, automatically our claim is established there so much. The degree of non claimant attitude; that really establishes claim there in that wonderful land, dedication means such. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

There we thrive, and here we die. Die to live. Ha, ha, ha. The Hegelian theory, that's a very good thing, Hegel's side. "For Itself, Reality is For Itself," and "Die to live." These two things have impressed me very much, a very general remark, for Kṛṣṇa. All consumer - for Him, everything for Him, a general thing. And Die to Live. If you want to live, you will have to die. Learn to die if you want to live. And to dissolve your ego; to die means to dissolve your ego, and then the covers, one by one; that will be thrown out and the inner jewel that will come with its pristine glory today, finest availability, it will be arranged.

Devotee: Mahārāja, what about the people like Hegel; is it that they have sukṛti from their previous birth?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, might have been, because he could conceive that the ultimate cause, the nature of it is such. It is ontological but it may take shape of a living thing. Satyam śivam sundaram, it will take this connection, the sundaram. And what is sundaram? One day that will come with its full glory. This is sundara, nothing else. To become sundara becomes beautiful, this must be so. Some hazy expression has come there, hither and there. All His own domain and He is free and autocrat. He can throw a drop of nectar hither thither in many places.

When Acyutānanda went with us to my birthplace, then some educated people there said, “We are so near yet we do not understand Mahāprabhu. How is it that from far away you have come to appreciate? How can you understand it clearly and can see?”

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.151]

That was his answer. The brahmāṇḍa, we are within creation, the limit of His creation, and it is said wherever anyone gets such fortune he may come. A few miles of distance, what is that? Even I am repeating, adding, and different casts in the creation. A tree may have sukṛti when flowers are dedicated by a devotee to Kṛṣṇa the tree is getting, acquiring sukṛti . The milk is given to Kṛṣṇa by a devotees and the cow is getting sukṛti . And the dog, he’s watching the temple area, working, and it may get some sukṛti . Sukṛti may be distributed in this way to any and every direction. So many sak is dedicated to Kṛṣṇa, the vegetables getting sukṛti thereby. In connection with the devotee so many things are acquiring sukṛti . The door is open there, but only through the...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: exhausted [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja is telling that he won't be able to speak much, as it is today he won't be able to speak or give a lecture.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I feel exhausted. Yesterday I used Disprin, so exhausted, used Disprin tablet, and then also felt giddiness after noon. Anyhow, now a little better but very weak I feel. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The first thing was that I wanted you to, you quote this verse, and this is the mood of your trying to approach Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] “I want you, I have come here to get you as my assistant in my propaganda, preaching life, your help,” but it is suppressed. And externally He's approaching through the channel of the affection which Sārvabhauma naturally had for Him. Sārvabhauma saw Him like a child because Sārvabhauma's father and Jagannātha Mīśra of same time and same rank, and Sārvabhauma's father, and Nilambar Cakravartī, the maternal grandfather, _____ they were classmates.

Sārvabhauma told that, “That in that relationship I look at him with much affection and I want his welfare.” He told to Gopīnātha, “But you, some people, a particular section are making much of him and in that way you are going to spoil his future. But he’s a gentle, good, and promising child. I shall look after him, just if he can keep up his sannyāsa, though it is taken in a very younger age, I shall have to look after his welfare.”

In this way Sārvabhauma; and Mahāprabhu also entered in through that channel to conquer his heart. And patiently gave hearing, silent hearing to Sārvabhauma’s explanation according to Śaṅkara School, without any opposition.

But when he was asked by Sārvabhauma, “What is this? He’s a very bright student and he does not say anything, only silently with much patience he is giving listening, hearing. This is somewhat wonderful, strange.” So when he asked, “Whether you understand or not what I say?”

Then Mahāprabhu came out, “Yes. I understand the original sūtra, but your explanation I can’t follow. This seems rather to be, to cover the real meaning of the sūtra.”

Then Sārvabhauma was astounded, “What does he say? What I have explained is all wrong, bogus? Then can you explain yourself the sūtra?”

“Yes, if you command I can do so.” “Do it.”

Then He began to explain and Sārvabhauma was astounded. “What is this?”

Then anyhow, when the first stage was minimised then Sārvabhauma told, “I have made some explanation about ātmārāma śloka of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam [1.7.10]. Do you like to hear that?” To maintain his lost prestige Sārvabhauma told like that.

“Yes. You go on. I shall hear.”

Then Sārvabhauma explained in nine different ways, nine meanings Sārvabhauma gave to ātmārāma śloka, and thought, “What I have done I have regained my prestige.” With this sort of posing; then, still for some courtesy sake asked, “Can you explain in any more line?”

“Then if you order I can try.” Then Mahāprabhu there explained in eighteen different meanings that ātmārāma śloka. And this perplexed Sārvabhauma.

“Gopīnātha told that he is not a human being, and what I now hear it is not possible for any human being to do in this way, śloka background,” and perplexed.

Then Mahāprabhu showed him His Godly nature, position.

Śaṅkha cakra gadā padma [?] And then Sita kunjā [?] [pradyumna — cakra-śaṅkha-gadā-padma-dhara / aniruddha —

Then Sārvabhauma was converted. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

[?]

I offer my respectful obeisances to the auspicious lotus feet of Tridaṇḍī Jati Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja. In the stormy night that has fallen after the disappearance of the transcendental sun of his divine grace A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Prabhupāda, he has risen like the new moon to calm the waves of dissension and give guidance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sanskrit ke?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī & Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: 12:34 - Bhaktivedānta namake 15:12

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja is telling that it's very nice and it's correct also, but whether it will be beneficial or whether it will be good for the movement, for the society...

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: But that's not the idea. I just wanted...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The publicity may disturb the mentality of some, a portion.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But part of the ISKCON may be so. But still, to give it publicity may not be very judicious.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Yes. I understand that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So back to the So today is the appearance day of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, and, you can mention how, maybe you can, I think this will be the best thing, if you can just translate this... Prabhupāda once...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Prabhupāda [?] Even among our God-brothers we have misunderstanding, but none of us is astray from the service of Kṛṣṇa. Guru Mahārāja ordered us...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow. The sound is there.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Prabhupāda bolchen. Even amongst our God-brothers we have misunderstanding, but none of us is astray from the service of Kṛṣṇa. My Guru Mahārāja ordered us to execute his Mission combined. Unfortunately we are now separated but none of us have stopped preaching Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Even if there was misunderstanding amongst the God-brothers of my Guru Mahārāja, none of them deviated from the transcendental loving service of Kṛṣṇa. The idea is that provocation and misunderstanding may remain between one man and another, but our staunch faith in Kṛṣṇa consciousness may not allow any material disruption. Please therefore try to be sympathetic with any person even if they differ. The only qualification we have to scrutinise is if one is acting in Kṛṣṇa consciousness as far as one is able to do it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Good.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So, and then Śrīla Prabhupāda said that among Vaiṣṇavas there may be some difference of opinion due to everyone's personal identity [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Among Vaiṣṇavas there may be some difference of opinion due to everyone's personal identity, but despite all personal differences the cult of Kṛṣṇa consciousness must go on.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That's very good. But there may be gradation. All may not preach from the same rank, same plane. Some from a little superior, some from a little inferior plane, but they're working to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness, so it is justified. But all are not of equal level. It should be conceived in this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So then read this, and just read up to here. He wrote this in ex purporting the Advaita Ācārya in Ādi-līlā, Advaita Ācārya and his sons.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: There are many disciples of Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, but to judge who is actually his disciple, to divide the useful from the useless, one must measure the activities of such disciples in executing the will of the spiritual master.

[21:10 - 22:33, Bhakti Caru Swāmī and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja speak in Bengali]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura wanted to print as many books as possible and distribute them all over the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It's good.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja is telling that, “Yes, that's true. And the sign of a disciple is in how much he's been able to grasp the teachings of his spiritual master and act upon those given instructions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To understand and to practice.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Yes. So now the point is that, so first Śrīla Prabhupāda is saying there are differences of opinion, but he's distilled as an essential instruction the publishing and distribution of books.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bṛhat-mṛdaṅga, no objection.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So now in our society the God-brothers, initiating or non initiating, they may have some different ideas about how to execute Prabhupāda's orders.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [24:52 - 25:33, Bengali ?]

Came through the books, that is of permanent character, it is in black and white, in śāstra, the kaladini [?] that personal attempt that is local and temporary, but the preaching through śāstra, śāstra means through books, writing method, the preaching is more permanent and definite. satam badi madika [?]

In our speaking we may be a little slack, but when writing something we must be more accurate. The accurate representation and permanent representation of a thing, that is found in the writing things of the scriptures. So to extend, try to extend the scope of the scripture. That is laudable service no doubt.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: I should continue? So in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the first stage when there was no script it came from mouth to ear, śruti, in the first stage. From heart to heart, tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1], the first vibration came from heart to heart. Then from Brahmā's mouth to the ear of the disciples, then came the writing, to make it permanent, and to spread through the agent also. The book one can carry, who may not be a Vaiṣṇava, may not know anything, but he may carry the advice from one country to another country, it may be extended for preaching purposes, it is more suitable and helpful. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But still, that will be one thing; it is according to the Supreme Will, the division of labour, the choice of the Supreme. He may choose some for śāstric purpose and some for oral purpose. So the superiority may not be decided in this respect, in this matter. The one who is dealing with the śāstra, he must be superior to the man who is not preaching through śāstra. According to His will He wanted one to do in a particular way and wanted some other to do in a particular way. This sort of thinking we must have. Do you follow?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Yes. Is that like...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His choice, the choice of the Absolute.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Like Haridāsa Ṭhākura? He's chanting...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Haridāsa Ṭhākura did not write any book, but his oral preaching, that is also not of less value.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So, in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nityānanda Prabhu, He did not write much, but oral, but His attempt may not be depreciated, the advent of Nityānanda Prabhu, the direct preacher of Mahāprabhu. bhaja gaurāṅga, kaha gaurāṅga [Worship Gaurāṅga, speak of Gaurāṅga], the first rank by oral attempt, and the next, Rūpa Sanātana, through scripture, next stage. Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So, in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Rūpa Goswāmī mentions this general principle of accepting Ācārya, but he doesn't choose to mention the details because they may vary...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: ...from one Ācārya to another.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Rūpa Goswāmī, Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu [?] Repeat that.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: That he says that one should accept the Ācārya, and Prabhupāda mentions that he doesn't go into the details because there may be differences between one Ācārya and the other so he doesn't choose to mention the details but the general principle that one must accept an Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vital points Details non important _____ practised sambandha a little difference there may be, but in the main points they will be one and the same, common. What is the śloka of Rūpa Goswāmī in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu? What is that śloka?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: I don't know the Sanskrit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because already there's so many groups, śanta, dāsyā, vātsalya, mādhurya, and there also any mistake? You say, Caru Swāmī. Vātsalya rasa and mādhurya rasa, they're antagonistic, so they're all pure, and genuine, and natural, and they have got real necessity and position. So even antagonistic preaching has got its room there, ha, ha.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Ha, ha, ha. Yes, but in one place Prabhupāda mentions...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And there are so many branches, in vātsalya rasa also different kinds of branches, not only stale or one thing; in mādhurya rasa so many branches and variegatedness, all serving towards, to Kṛṣṇa, but variegatedness. Just as in the cooked food, the pungent, the salt, the combination of different types.

Devotee: [?]

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So Prabhupāda mentions that a disciple, he must execute the order of the spiritual master but not offend other Vaiṣṇavas.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As much as possible. Sometimes he may also, just as the elder brother may punish the younger. But the good sense must be there, sincerity. He wants the good of the junior and he may chastise the younger brother. “Don’t do in that way. Do it in this way.” That sort of position, there should be room for that sort of...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, if well-meaning, then no harm if he punishes some younger, junior. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid durgatim tāta gacchati [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40] That is rather a form of affection; punishment is also a form of affection. In vātsalya rasa it is used usually, even Kṛṣṇa is not exempted. Ha, ha, ha.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: But sometimes in our society we have the younger brothers who want to chastise the older brothers. Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: [?]

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So, then, see, knowing that there is variety and there will be difference in preaching we have to accept that. But in our society, in the practical sense of how to remain unified with the difference, that has become a problem. To allow for difference and at the same time remain unified.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?] In spite of these differences, how to remain united?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tṛṇād api...

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: English.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The spirit of toleration; that should be spread amongst us. If we want to work in a group, in saṅkīrtana, then this sort of qualification is...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Essential.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Essential and inevitable.

trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, [kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ] [“One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

This sort of characteristic should be maintained and given more attention if we want to work in a group. The toleration and humility, humility and toleration, otherwise combined we cannot take up any work, big work, and amāninā mānadena, these four qualifications are necessary if we want to go on with saṅkīrtana. Bahubhir militvā yat kīrtanam tad eva saṅkīrtanam, Jīva Goswāmī’s explanation of saṅkīrtana. What is saṅkīrtana? Bahubhir militvā yat kīrtanam tad eva saṅkīrtanam; that if you want to go on in that process then these qualifications should be encouraged within the organisation. The spirit of toleration, humility, and the tendency to give honour to others and not to seek honour for himself; especially pratiṣṭhā, the hitch is there in pratiṣṭhā, in fame, and to maintain one’s own position. By attempting to maintain our own position we cannot give position. These sort of things should be educated among the organisation. By seeking position we may not attain position. Sometimes by not seeking but by giving position to others we can get position. So amāninā mānadena; the hitch, the main hitch is there, and with toleration and also humility, first humility, then toleration, then giving position to others, and not want for himself. Then we can go together and that has been given more stress...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: mānasa tohār, parama jatane tāhi labho adhikār. If you really want to go on with saṅkīrtana then these four qualifications are indispensably necessary for you.

- 1) śrī-kṛṣṇa-kīrtane jadi mānasa tohār, parama jatane tāhi labho adhikār
- 2) ṭṛṇādhika hīna, dīna, akiñcana chār, āpane mānobi sadā chārī' ahañkār
- 3) br̥ka-sama khamā-guṇa korobi sādhan, pratihimsā tyaji' anye korobi pālan
- 4) jīban-nirbāhe āne udbega nā dibe, para-upakāre nija-sukha pāsaribe
- 5) hoile-o sarba-guṇe guṇī mahāśoy, pratiṣṭhāśā chārī koro amānī hṛdoy
- 6) kṛṣṇa-adhiṣṭhān sarba-jībe jāni' sadā, korobi sammān sabe ādare sarbadā

- 7) dainya, doyā, anye māna, pratiṣṭhā-barjan, cāri guṇe guṇī hoi', koroha kīrtan
- 8) bhaktivinoda kadi', bale prabhu-pāy, heno adhikār kabe dibe he āmāy

[Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

[1) If your mind is always absorbed with great care in chanting the glories of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, then, in that process of Kṛṣṇa kīrtana you will gain mastery over the mind.

- 1) You should give up all false pride and always consider yourself as worthless, destitute, lower and more humble than a blade of grass.
- 2) You should practice forgiveness like that of a tree, and giving up violence toward other living beings, you should protect and maintain them.
- 3) In the course of your life, you should never give anxiety to others, but rather do good to them and forget about your own happiness.
- 4) When one has thus become a great and pious soul, because of possessing all good qualities, one should abandon all desires for fame and honour and make one's heart humble.
- 5) Always knowing that Lord Kṛṣṇa resides within all living creatures, one should, with great respect, show honour to all living beings at all times.
- 6) Humility, mercifulness, respect toward others, and the renunciation of desires for fame and honour - one becomes virtuous by possessing these four qualities. In such a state you should sing the glories of the Supreme Lord.
- 7) Weeping, Bhaktivinoda submits his prayer at the lotus feet of the Lord: "O Lord, when will You give me possessions of such qualities as these?"

This attitude should be; we should preach and create such favourable atmosphere so we can go on with saṅkīrtana, that is bahubhir militvā [yat kīrtanam tad eva saṅkīrtanam], the many combined in one campaign we can move.

Hare Kṛṣṇa Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. So the next question is that according to Jīva Goswāmī...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Prabhupāda bolchen, according to Śrīla Jīva Goswāmī, a preacher has to accept many disciples to expand the cult of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu. This is risky. [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's from the Madhya-līlā, Chapter twenty-two.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: According to Śrīla Jīva Goswāmī, a preacher has to accept many disciples to expand the cult of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's in the purport.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Prabhupāda Madhya-līlā [?]

[03:17 - 04:25, Bengali?]

Sincerity, the dealing must be sincere. As much as I know I must help the others with that knowledge The posterity and _____ previous Ācāryas, they have left their knowledge for us. I have studied. I have got that advantage; facility. But in my turn I am not extending that to others. The flow is obstructed by me. I have no right to do so. I must also transmit what I got from the predecessors; to the posterity I must extend that. That is a natural, good feeling, requires this, that what I have got from the ancestors; previous, I must let, allow to pass through me that knowledge to the posterity. This is quite natural. And if I create obstacle in me I shall commit offence. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Create what; a struggle?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The knowledge, the flow of knowledge...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Obstruction in me? Yes, then that's offence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The knowledge from previous to me to the posterity [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Predecessors?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, predecessors. What flow is coming from the predecessors and it must pass through me to the posterity. That is natural, the flow of knowledge. But if I create an obstacle in me then it will be an offence. So, especially the spiritual flow, we must not stop when we get from the Ācārya I must transmit to the disciple. That is quite natural. But the difficulty is that we seek our own position. Difficulty is the self seeking mood, self seeking.

We must be medium; there's no harm. But self seeking temperament, that is to be blamed and that is harmful.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That should be avoided.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Avoided. Otherwise, we all may be Guru. Only if I allow my Guru's flow to pass through me, no harm; he's bona fide, he's fitted to be Guru. Only he's passing his Guru's thing through him, it is Guru's property passing through me. As long as I am connected with my Guru, these things I must allow to pass through me. No harm. But when the self centred, ego centred abolished and self centred nature, then the Guru becomes opaque and that Guru is a nuisance to the world. He's no longer a Guru, who is not a disciple. Who is not conscious of his own Guru, he cannot work on behalf of Guru. His Guru only can do the work of Guru. He must consider him the agent, the medium, then there's no difficulty, no wrong. Otherwise, when he forgets his own Guru, and he gives something which is not come, not received from Guru, then he'll create disturbance.

[yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa,] āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

That disciple means to do the service. Everything means that should be taken up with the spirit of service, otherwise then everything is bad. Even beating is service. Hanumān and so many others they created havoc in the world, but they did service. Arjuna, when he fought, he did service, nimitta-mātraṁ bhava savya-sācin.

[tasmāt tvam uttiṣṭha yaśo labhasva, jitvā śatrūn bhuñkṣva rājyaṁ samṛddham mayaivaite nihatāḥ pūrvam eva, nimitta-mātraṁ bhava savya-sācin]

[“Therefore take your stand for battle, take the glory, conquer all the enemies, and enjoy a flourishing kingdom. Actually, all these warriors have long before been killed by Me. O Savyasācin, you simply take all the credit.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.33]

Be nimitta, agent; be conscious of your agency, that you’re agent of a particular person, of your own Guru. Then you go on with the work of Guru; you are quite fit, not any selfish motive; pratiṣṭhāta, “I want fame, I want women, I want money.” Exploitation, the exploitation, the nature of exploitation as well as the nature of renunciation should be eliminated and everything should be done with the spirit of service. Then we are all well, all healthy. The spirit of exploitation and renunciation; both should be avoided, and the spirit of service, and even crossing the śāstric rule, the heart’s purity, that is above. And śāstras are meant for general persons, but there may be higher souls that are above the consideration of the śāstra. Śāstra is generally meant for the mass. Of course, there are different rulings for different stages, but still, on the whole, śāstra means, ‘Whose come to control.’ The purpose is to control. That is not used for the free who are above control, who are naturally posted in that good nature. Śāstra is not for them. Śāstra is for the general mass, to control them, to train them. And who are above training, cent per cent in the service of Kṛṣṇa, śāstra is not necessary there.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Viddhi nahi ya [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viddhi nahi ya - Sarvakam balite viddhi nahi ya [?] Above rules of conduct; they can create śāstra, their very practises are śāstra.

[dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyām] mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ

[Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja said: “The real secret, the solid truth of religious principles is hidden and concealed in the hearts of unadulterated self-realised persons, saints, just as treasure is hidden in a mysterious cave. Consequently, as the śāstras confirm, one should accept whatever progressive path the mahā-janas advocate.”] [Mahābhārata, Vana-parva]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So previously he had mentioned that if this Ācārya-ship were to be extended, the spiritual characteristic should be maintained.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Ācārya’s qualification must be there, if it is extended. A non Ācārya cannot do the work of an Ācārya. Ācārya has got special qualification. What is that? The first consideration is that the Ācārya must be submissive to his own Ācārya, he must be faithful to his own Ācārya. That will be the first qualification. He’s the servant, and it will depend on the percentage of the submission; how much he is subservient to his own Ācārya. The degree, it will depend upon the degree. There’s the difficulty.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So the question is that now, this year, the GBC they may extend the Ācārya-ship. So how will this come that they will recognise a Vaiṣṇava, or that he is under certain standards, and he's making submission to the previous Ācārya? And how will that individual know that he is ready to give dīkṣā?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: śāstra and sādhū; it should be considered from mainly two standpoints, one is śāstra, and another is present, reliable, living *sādhū*s. And also, considering the line of Swāmī Mahārāja as he has expressed his will during his preaching time; and consideration and attention should be given to that; his preaching, his nature, his aspirations. This sort of consideration, and śāstra, as well as living *sādhū*s, śāstra is there and living *sādhū*s, who are they? Who can be relied, who is not very diplomatic. Diplomacy may be very subservient but diplomacy may not have the primary position. Such sādhū's consideration, and also amongst the present Ācāryas and committee their opinion should be given more value who can be relied to have the success of the movement of the whole institution, broad minded, wide viewed. Whose heart is only to extend the genuine activities of the ISKCON with selfless heart, who wants the extension of the genuine flow of the ISKCON, his opinion should be led more importance. With these considerations the Ācārya should be...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Nominated.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...selected, nominated. The nomination will come from the body, not from the mass, perhaps. But the body should look to the mass mind also, those that are within ISKCON, they should consider their feeling in this function. Sincerity, śāstric knowledge, and adherence to Guru, and earnestness to take this divine upadeśa, the council to the mass; all these qualifications should be given more importance, in an Ācārya. His inner hankering to give to the people, and his submission to his Guru, and śāstra, and also a friendly temperament with the members of the ISKCON; these considerations should be given importance. And commanding temperament, and who is able to capture the educated minds, as well as the masses, all these qualifications should be reckoned.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, in the Third Canto of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam [3.4.26, purport], in relation to Uddhava, Vidura, and Maitreya, Śrīla Prabhupāda says, “We should be careful not to transgress the law of maryādā-vyatikrama.” [impertinently surpassing a greater personality]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam [20:50 - 21:26, Bengali?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will be a good conduct, or courtesy, to take his permission, consent; that will be a good thing. But a general look is given in Gītā, Bhāgavatam, Upaniṣad; that is samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham.

[tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham] [“One who wants scientific knowledge about the

fide Guru and offer him everything required for sacrifice. The Guru must be fixed in the truth, having heard it from a genuine source.”] [Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 1.2.12]

Well versed in the knowledge of scriptures, and who has unconditioned adherence towards a spiritual entity, that should be the real sign of an Ācārya; śāstra and the purpose of the śāstra; adherence to both of them, sādhu and śāstra, and sādhu śāstra rupaistra tattva. In Gītā also, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ.

[tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

[“You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Some sort of knowledge, who is established in the divinity, and who can express the characteristic of the divinity to others, that is jñānina, who have got direct perception about divinity and who can also give vent to that perception to the public. That should be the – who knows and who can make others to know; the real characteristic of divinity. That should be the real sign of Ācārya. And other things; who can mix with the people, with the educated society, who knows different languages of the people, who can write, these are also superficial qualifications. The main qualification is, who is in divinity, and who can spread divinity outside. That will be the intrinsic characteristic of Ācārya. And the external qualification will be...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja is saying that it's not actually uttama-adhikārī. Guru's position is madhyama-adhikārī [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He has come down in madhyama-adhikārī, because uttama-adhikārī does not see anything but in connection of Kṛṣṇa. And madhyama-adhikārī sees both Kṛṣṇa and non Kṛṣṇa. So Guru must see non Kṛṣṇa and then he will transform non Kṛṣṇa into Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So madhyama-adhikārī, this is the work of madhyama-adhikārī, whose conscious of both Kṛṣṇa and māyā, and he's clever to take from māyā, snatch from māyā's clutches and send them to Kṛṣṇa's domain. That is madhyama-adhikārī. But it is unquestionable that he may not be tempted to be again caught under the snare of māyā. That should be guaranteed.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: How is that guaranteed?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By his movements we are to see, movements, practices, we are to guess...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The same thing with a sannyāsī also? How he acts, like that has to be...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is their plan? The members of the Governing Body should be given that facility or outside Governing Body also Ācārya may be appointed?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It may be outside also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Outside.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: These are proposals they're discussing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They who are considered qualified should be given recognition, independent of the Governing Body and outside Governing Body. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...that is in Bhāgavatam, and the Paramātmā, yes, wherever there is jīva, his guardian aspect, the Lord, the Bhagavān is also present there without interfering with his freedom. He's watching, He's in the company of jīvātmā. His neighbour's shunned him, abandoned him, but indifferent, indifferently watching; jīva, that is Paramātmā's attitude. Paramātmā is always jīvātmā, but He does not interfere with his activity.

Devotee: How is it determined?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How?

Devotee: Yes. What, how is it determined what form a conditioned soul first receives when he contacts māyā, when he enters material existence, who's to say...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He says, "When the jīva first comes into mahat-tattva, what will determine the rūpa, his form? The form the jīva receives..."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Form? What form the jīva takes...

Devotee: What material species of life?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Material? When jīva is within Brahma conception he has got no individual consciousness; only like some national consciousness, something, hazy. But when there is a push from the side of Mahā Viṣṇu, or Sadāśiva, then from prakṛti, mahat-tattva. Just in the first stage of life it is bruna [?] In the womb, the non-differentiated body of the child, non-differentiated body, no body conception; no eye, no head, no hand, no leg, in the womb the first conception of the child, first stage of the child, what is known as embryo; so mahat-tattva is a big embryo and from there the child's nose, eye, brain, hair, everything gradually springing up.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahat-tattva's a big embryo or big womb?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Prakṛti is the womb and the first stage of the embryo is mahat-tattva. And then from mahat-tattva bifurcation begins gradually and so many jīva conceptions are coming out. A general ego, mahat-tattva, and individual ego is emanating from mahat-tattva, in many numbers, in huge numbers. The common conception of all the jīvas of all the egos of the jīvas is mahat-tattva. But individual ego is emanating from mahat-tattva. Between the prakṛti and... prakṛti is like a watery substance, and teja, that is consciousness, is mingling, coming in prakṛti, in the water, the rays coming into water and there is a commotion and then something is coming, and that is mahat-tattva. And then mahat-tattva again comes to divide itself in innumerable units, and that is so many ahaṅkāra of jīva. Then,

Se citra prakṛtermahān ahaṅkara pancatran mahatrāni. The fivefold gist of the creation, and then that fivefold common basic acquaintances and that is again divided, each divided into three, sattya, raja, and tama. These five into three, it becomes fifteen bifurcated material conceptions. In tama-guṇa, lastly the earth, water, fire, air, and ether, this is the grossest outcome, product from prakṛti. And the eye, ear, this is the middle, and then the sun, the sound, in this way there's three divisions from panca tanmatra. From ahaṅkāra the five branches, and every branch has three, then so many, Twenty-four categories we find ultimately. This is sāṅkhya philosophy which explains the nature.

Devotee: Does the living entity begin in - all living entities in the - when they come into the mahat-tattva, do they all begin from the same species of life, or different species of life?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: When the jīvas first come to mahat-tattva connection, is it the same...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hazy common individual conception, and from mahat-tattva then...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Specified.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Specific individuality springs up.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So then it may be different species, not the same species? He wants to know is it the same species or different?

Devotee: He becomes a Brahmā, he becomes an ant, he becomes a hog, he becomes a bird?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. That is the basis first, and there we can have, all possibilities in germinal form there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: All possibilities in a germinal form there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In germinal form, in non-differentiated form one cannot detect.

Devotee: That's coming from...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The possibility of the product which we see, it was there, but in such a meagre conception it cannot be detected. Because, even again, when mahā-pralaya, the withdrawal of the creation, complete withdrawal of the creation, and it enters into the stage of prakṛti or something like watery substance, the whole thing in a very nutshell is preserved there.

I am told that Japan, they're manufacturing a library, and in a small library they can keep many books.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Many, many books. And the script is such that without microscope it cannot be read.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's called microfilm.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Microfilm.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And in a small place a big book is represented.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or something like that. There everything is but undetectable way, in prakṛti it is there. But the Supreme Lord He can detect anything and everything everywhere and His dedicated agent. But to ordinary understanding it is beyond any knowledge, any experience. It is in such a germinal form.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We can say, “The possibility,” something like that. It is very meagre; cannot be detected. Again when bifurcated, it is generally becoming bigger, bigger, and branching, just as a tree is in a seed. A big tree is preserved in a seed. Every day we see, in our everyday experience we see that non-differentiated and differentiated is springing up.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is there, in the tree, in the seed, the tree is there, the possibility of the tree, of course the environment is helping, taking the help of the environment, the seed is producing a big tree. Something like that. It is beyond our knowledge. But so much enquiry about the unessential, non essential, it is a bar to devotion. So Brahmā says:

*jñāne prayāsam udapāśya namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām
bhavadīya-vārtām*

*[sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vān-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi
tais tri-lokyām]*

[“Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

So Bhāgavata discourages this sort of scrutinising knowledge. There's no end. If you take up this path of knowing the jñāna mārga, it won't help you to take you to the real place. Faith, faith will help you. It may help you partly, to consolidate your faith, in the beginning of madhyama-adhikārī. But you, your real help will come from the plane of faith. Brahmā himself says, jānanta eva jānantu [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.38]. “Those that are very proud of their intellect they may know many things, let them boast, those fools. But it is my conclusion, Oh Lord. I do not know anything. You are infinite. Your ways, Your every movement is infinite. So it is rather insanity to go to enquire after Your ways and nature. Submit, submit, submission, and to have Your Grace, to pray for Your Grace, that is the right way to come to our desired end.”

Jñāne prayāsam udapāśya namanta eva, and jānanta eva jānantu; let them be proud of their knowledge of analysing this thing that thing, no end; there is one particle of sand, if you study for lives together, no end. So don't go that side. That is wild goose chasing. Come direct through the favourite disciple of the Lord, and begin service as much as permission you are given, take up that, and gradually go towards ānanda-mārga. Sat-cit-ānanda, cit direct to ānanda, don't waste your energy in cit and sat, sat-cit-ānandam. You are all desirous of getting ānanda, fulfilment, ecstasy, so try to start your journey direct towards ānanda, eliminating sat and cit. But in the way, to certain extent sat and cit their help should be taken in; only take that much and avoid the rest. No ambition should be fulfilled in their company. But what is your intrinsic demand of you nature, that is for ānanda, rasam, sukham, happiness, so begin your journey direct towards the ānandam, Kṛṣṇa. And that is possible through devotion, dedication, through faith. Śraddhā means faith, optimistic faith...

Dipikā, maṅgala stotram*, 1]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol.

[Bengali ?] _____ 25.12 minutes]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: So I'm offering my respectful obeisances unto the lotus feet of my spiritual master, Oṃ Viṣṇu-Pāda Paramahansa Parivrājakācārya Śrī Śrī Aṣṭottara-śata Śrīmad

A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Prabhupāda. And I am also offering my respectful obeisances unto His Divine Grace Śrīla Śrīdhara Swāmī Mahārāja, who I accept just like my spiritual master. Because as it is stated in the Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta, that the brother of ones Guru should also be worshipped just like ones own Guru.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [25:55 - 26:30, Bengali?]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: And I'm offering my respectful obeisances unto Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Prabhupāda whose appearance day we are celebrating today; because as my grandfather, it is said that the grandfather is even more kindly disposed upon his grandson than the father is upon his own son.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [26:55 - 27:43]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Although I have never personally associated with Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, I can appreciate his glorious qualities because of the glorious sons that he has produced.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [28:04 - 28:18]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: It is said that a tree can be judged by the fruit that it produces. So the fruit of this tree of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura is the most sweet fruit of all.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [28:34 - 28:55]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Because actually this is the tree of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [29:00 - 29:04]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu came as a gardener to distribute the fruits of this wonderful tree.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [29:14 - 29:28]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: He was feeling great anxiety; how to distribute this fruit of love of God.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [29:35 - 29:45]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: The whole world is very much thirsty, but they do not know how to relieve their thirst.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [29:52 - 30:00]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Like a man in the desert they are seeing only mirages in the form of family, friendship, and society, and they are thinking that these little drops in the desert will quench their thirst.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [30:15 - 30:35]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: But as explained in the Bhāgavat, these family members and friends are all fallible soldiers who shall one day perish.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [30:45 - 31:00]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Our life in this material world is like a great war with māyā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [31:08 - 31:14]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: On account of our attraction for these temporary manifestations of māyā, we are lingering here in this material world birth after birth.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [31:25 - 31:34]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: And we are suffering hardly from the pangs of birth, death, disease, and old age.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī:[31:40 - 31:52]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: So in such suffering condition, we are grasping for some happiness to relieve the suffering.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [32:02 - 32:13]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: But māyā only presents false hopes and does not actually give us any real relief.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [32:20 - 32:27]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: In this dark world of material existence there is actually some relief, and that light is presented in the form of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [32:38 - 32:50]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: And in the form of the association of the Lord's pure devotees.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [32:54 - 32:58]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī:

naṣṭa-prāyeṣu abhadreṣu, nityaṁ bhāgavata-sevayā bhagavatya uttama-śloke, bhaktir bhavati naiṣṭhikī

[“By regular attendance in classes on the Bhāgavatam and by rendering of service to the pure devotee, all that is troublesome to the heart is almost completely destroyed, and loving service unto the Personality of Godhead, who is praised with transcendental songs, is established as an irrevocable fact.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.18]

Only by service to the Bhāgavata can we hope to get some relief from the suffering of material existence.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [33:16 - 33:44]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: These great personalities who have come on behalf of Kṛṣṇa are offering us the ripened fruit of love for Kṛṣṇa, love of God.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [33:56 - 34:23]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī:

anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyaṁ, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam

ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanaṁ bhaktir uttamā

[“Pure devotional service is free from all impurities, beginning with karma and jñāna. In other words, it is devoid of all attempts to attain fulfilment through power and knowledge. Śuddha bhakti is the favourable cultivation of service to Kṛṣṇa. In śuddha bhakti, pure devotional service, a devotee constantly serves Kṛṣṇa as Kṛṣṇa desires.] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, 1.1.11] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]

This bhakti is free from any thought of fruitive reactions and mental speculations and the desire for mystic perfections through yoga.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [34:45 - 35:10]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: These results of jñāna, karma, and yoga, are all to be enjoyed here in this material world, and therefore they are temporary and end in suffering.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [35:23 - 35:40]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: But bhāgavat bhakti is enacted on the transcendental platform.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [35:45 - 35:50]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: It is the activity of the spirit soul.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [35:56 - 36:00]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: And as such it can never be checked, ahaituky apratihatā, yayātmā suprasīdati.

[sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo, yato bhaktir adhokṣaje ahaituky apratihatā, yayātmā suprasīdati]

[“The supreme occupation (dharma) for all humanity is that by which men can attain to loving devotional service unto the transcendent Lord. Such devotional service must be unmotivated and uninterrupted to completely satisfy the self.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.6]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [36:08 - 36:26]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: It is expressed when one renders service without any thought of return.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [36:33 - 36:42]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: The mood of the spiritual world is where everyone is rendering service.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [36:52 - 37:05]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: And that service itself is the full repayment, the pleasure of that service is the full repayment for the service rendered.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [37:15 - 37:21]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Just as Kṛṣṇa gave this message to the gopīs after leaving Vṛndāvana, that, “My dear gopīs, there’s no way that I can repay the service that you have rendered. So you must be satisfied with the service itself.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [37:40 - 37:58]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: But we are very fearful of coming on this platform because we think that when we become the servant of someone else then we shall lose something, we shall be taken advantage of.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [38:11 - 38:29]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: But Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu and His representatives in this disciplic succession are coming to show us the example of how becoming the servant of the servant of the servant of the servant, actually we shall achieve all happiness and success in life.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [38:48 - 39:10]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: This is not a temporary message meant for a particular class of people. Mahāprabhu's message is meant for the whole world's society.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [39:21 - 39:31]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Some people may think that this message is a particular property of a certain class of men.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [39:39 - 39:46]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: But Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura has shown that one cannot designate who is a Vaiṣṇava or who is a brāhmaṇa merely by birth.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [39:59 - 40:11]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: And is this not actually the same which Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu and His associates demonstrated?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [40:19 - 40:24]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Just as Haridās Ṭhākura was born in a family of Mohammedans but yet he was raised to the highest position of Nāmācārya.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [40:34 - 40:50]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī:

kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, sūdra kene naya, / yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya.

["Whether a person is a brāhmaṇa, a sannyāsī, or a śūdra, if he knows the science of Kṛṣṇa, he is to be accepted as Guru."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.127]

It does not matter what ones background may be, but if he knows the subject matter of Kṛṣṇa, he becomes qualified as Guru.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [41:05 - 41:31]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: This is the day and age when all people want to become equal, but the problem is they do not know the real message of equality, the real method of equality.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [41:44 - 42:05]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: In the name of communism or nationalism or so many other isms they are trying to raise up those who are lower to the position of higher.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [42:17 - 42:28]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: But their attempts are all failures because they do not know what is high and what is low.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [42:35 - 42:41]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: The highest platform of existence is when the soul is unfettered by the encumberment of this material body.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [42:53 - 43:00]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Only that movement which aims at liberating the soul from its material covering is actually meant to elevate all souls to an equal position.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [43:12 - 43:26]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Therefore Caitanya Mahāprabhu and His representatives come with a most important message...

[Three or four voices are heard together here for about thirty seconds]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī:

harer nāma harer nāma, harer nāmaiva kevalam kalau nāsty eva nāsty eva, nāsty eva gatir anyathā

["In this Age of Kali there is no other means, no other means, no other means for self-realization than chanting the holy name, chanting the holy name, chanting the holy name of Lord Hari."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 17.21, from Bṛhan-Nāradya Purāṇa]

Only by this Holy Name, of chanting the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa, can we actually free ourselves from the suffering of this world, and help others to do the same.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [44:34 - 45:02]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: We were most fallen, most impoverished, with no value at all to our possession, but now I feel that on account of receiving this Holy Name, that we have become the most wealthy persons in the world.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [45:21 - 45:44]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Our only prayer is to keep the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa wrapped around our neck and the dust of the Lord's devotees upon our head.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [45:54 - 46:15]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Giri Mahārāja [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja is asking you to speak something.

Giri Mahārāja:

om ajñāna-timirāndhasya jñānāñjana-śalākayā cakṣur unmilitam yena, tasmai śrī-gurave namaḥ

["I was blind in the darkness of ignorance but my Spiritual Master applied the ointment of proper spiritual knowledge and thus opened my eyes. Unto him I offer my respectful obeisances."]

So, there is a statement in the Vedic literature that one cannot estimate the glories of the Guru.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [47:02 - 47:15]

Giri Mahārāja: The original Guru is Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Ādi Guru...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...of your pure heart.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Defeated. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Govinda Mahārāja Nitāi. Yesterday I received one postal parcel from Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, who sent a big oil painting or something like that, or photo. Myself, another two, and Haṁsadūta Mahārāja himself, big photo, by airmail, from California or something like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Taken here. Very big size.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Big size.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What you will do with it? You'll have to frame; are you going to frame it? Very good picture.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Haṁsadūta Mahārāja has great love for you. He keeps your picture on his altar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Don't know. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We had some questions to ask you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes?

Giri Mahārāja [?]: If, so, the first question is that, what happens to the spiritual master after he leaves this world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is like theosophical question. I think he has given the hint in his own autobiography or something like that, when he was going to America on the journey he expressed his feelings to play with Kṛṣṇa in sākhya rasa. [?] When he was passing through the Atlantic he gave vent to his feelings. That may be the salient points in his Vraja līlā. He'd spoken like that; in Vṛndāvana, sākhya rasa.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: He once said in Bhāgavat, in his Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam commentary in the fourth canto, he said, he mentioned something called vipralambha sākhyā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vipralambha sākhyā, of course when he's here, awake in this surface; that is vipralambha. And when he departed from this consciousness of worldly preaching propaganda then he's already there. It is clearly expressed in his sayings there in the Atlantic. Have you got a copy of that? Nimāi. [?] It is my understanding about his present position he has expressed there himself his eternal position and the acme of his aspiration has been expressed there.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: It's mentioned that the associates of Nityānanda Prabhu in Gaura līlā are in sākhyā rasa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In Vṛndāvana also, Balarāma and Kṛṣṇa, and Nitāi Gaur, and his saying is like that. It is almost clear that he comes from that group. And now he's again there. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: You once said that in the later days of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta, he had asked for one cottage in Govardhana. And some pāṇḍā had seen Guru Mahārāja Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cottage; yes.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: ...saying, “Balarāma, I have come.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Balarāma amargiyaha [?] And Balarāma with, after that dream he wrote a letter, “I saw Guru Mahārāja in a dream in such a clear way. How is his health now?” And by the time he expired, departed; Guru Mahārāja. And also during his last days he used to tell, Jani kati varsana dehi govardhana tam [?]

“O Govardhana, give me shelter adjacent to you.” And also he told, I heard in Rādhā-kunḍa, “That our superior Gurus, they will live in Rādhā-kunḍa, the highest position. And we are not of such high position, but we shall have to go to Rādhā-kunḍa only to serve our Gurus, and then we shall come back to Govardhana nearby and there we shall stay, giving honour to the highest position of our Guru. Always this difference should be maintained between the disciple and the master. The master holds the highest position in the highest place of līlā he will be there, performing the highest form of service. But we, a little lower, we shall be far away we shall, near but away we shall stay and we shall come and serve them, and again go back. So Govardhana is our position.” Our Guru Mahārāja told. “From Govardhana we shall go to Rādhā-kunḍa and we serve our Guru Mahārājas, and then we shall come back and stay in Govardhana.

pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge [mattala hari-jana viṣaya range]

[“The path of divine love is worshippingable to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration.”]

Always giving respect to the higher position of the Guru and the Rādhā Govinda, I am a little lower, he’s big. This should be the position.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Our Guru Mahārāja also he asked in his last days to go to Govardhana on parikramā, Swāmī Mahārāja asked.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That's good, Govardhana parikramā.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

[refrain] kṛṣṇa taba puṇya habe bhāi

e-puṇya koribe jabe rādhārāṇī khusī habe dhruva ati boli tomā tāi

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja:

1) tumi mor cira sāthi bhuliyā māyār lāthi khāiyāchi janma-janmāntare

āji punaḥ e sujoga jadi hoy jogājoga tabe pāri tuhe milibāre

2) tomāra milane bhāi ābār se sukha pāi gocārane ghuri dīn bhor kata bane chuṭāchuṭi bane khāi luṭāpuṭi sei dīn kabe habe mor

3) āji se subidhāne tomāra smaraṇa bhelo boro āśā ḍākilām tāi

āmi tomāra nitya-dāsa tāi kori eta āśa tumi binā anya gati nāi

[refrain: I emphatically say to you, O brothers, you will obtain your good fortune from the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa only when Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī becomes pleased with you.]

[7: O Lord Kṛṣṇa, You are my eternal companion. Forgetting You, I have suffered the kicks of māyā birth after birth. If today the chance to meet You occurs again, then I will surely be able to rejoin You.]

[8: O dear friend, in Your company I will experience great joy once again. In the early morning I will wander about the cowherd pastures and fields. Running and frolicking in the many forests of Vraja, I will roll on the ground in spiritual ecstasy. Oh, when will that day be mine?]

[9: Today that remembrance of You came to me in a very nice way. Because I have great longing I called to You. I am Your eternal servant and therefore I desire Your association so much. O Lord Kṛṣṇa, except for You there is no other means of success.]

[From Prayer to the Lotus Feet of Kṛṣṇa written by Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Prabhupāda on board the ship Jaladuta, Sept. 13, 1965] [ISKCON's Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, pages 26-28]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He expressed his own position in the eternal līlā there. I conjecture like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that Sahajal [?] came to his help. He was so earnest in his prayer to Kṛṣṇa so that he may discharge the duty that has been given by his Guru Mahārāja to him that Kṛṣṇa had to come down to help him, His friend, for this propaganda. So śaktyāveśa avatāra I take him, I cannot but take him to be so. [?]

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Tava kathāmṛtaṁ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

tava kathāmṛtaṁ tapta-jīvanaṁ, kavibhir īḍitaṁ kalmaṣāpaham śravaṇa-maṅgalaṁ śrīmad-ātataṁ, bhuvi gṛṇanti ye bhūridā janāḥ

[“O Kṛṣṇa, the nectar of Your words and the narrations of Your pastimes give life to us, who are always suffering in this material world. This nectar is broadcast all over the world by great souls, and it removes all sinful reactions. It is all-auspicious and filled with spiritual power. Those who spread this message of Godhead are certainly doing the greatest relief work for human society and are the most magnanimous welfare workers.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.31.9]

This is what is necessary and this is universal. Everyone can be only satisfied to the highest degree in his heart by tava kathāmṛtaṁ. Raso vai saḥ [Kṛṣṇa is the reservoir of all pleasure], and akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ [Kṛṣṇa is ecstasy Himself]. His very nature is so sweet. Mādhuryam eva nu mano-nayanāmṛtaṁ nu.

[māraḥ svayaṁ nu madhura-dyuti-maṇḍalaṁ nu, mādhyam eva nu mano-nayanāmṛtaṁ nu venī-mṛjo nu mama jīvita-vallabho nu, kṛṣṇo 'yam abhyudayate mama locanāya] flower? Where is Kṛṣṇa, sweetness Himself, the sweetest nectar for my eyes and mind?

["My dear friends, where is Kṛṣṇa, who is Cupid personified, brilliant as a kadamba

Where is Kṛṣṇa, who loosens the hair of the gopīs? He is the supreme source of divine bliss. He is my life and soul. Has He come before my eyes again?"] [Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, 68] madhuraṁ madhuraṁ vapur asya vibhor, madhuraṁ madhuraṁ vadanam madhuraṁ madhu gandhi mṛdu smitam etad aho, madhuraṁ madhuraṁ madhuraṁ madhuraṁ

["O Lord Kṛṣṇa! The beauty of Your transcendental form is sweet, but Your beautiful face is even sweeter. The sweet smile on Your face, which is like the sweet aroma of honey, is sweeter still."] [Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, 92]

Bilvamaṅgala's Karṇāmṛta, sweet, sweet, sweet, sweetness personified. Madhura, māraḥ svayaṁ. "My first sight I thought Kṛṣṇa was the Lord Cupid, māraḥ svayaṁ, the Master, the Cupid Who can capture everything." Madhura-dyuti-maṇḍalaṁ nu, "No, no, this is not like lust personified which is to be experienced here only, but dyuti. This is cinmaya, consciousness, cinmaya, spiritual substance. This sweetness is spiritual in characteristic I see, I feel, dyuti-maṇḍalam. Mādhuryam eva, “It is the very gist of all sweetness.” Mādhuryam eva nu mano-nayanāmṛtaṁ, “What is this? My eyesight is being nectarised. Experiencing nectar pouring on my eyes, eyeballs.” Venī-mṛjo nu mama jīvita-vallabho, “Oh, He has already conquered my heart. I’m captured, I’m captivated by the sweetness personified.” Venī-mṛjo nu, “Oh, not only captured my heart but the relation is eternal, a permanent relation. He’s venī-mṛjo nu, I am converted into lady love, and He’s adoring me. He is rubbing softly my venī, that is my hair, tuft, or something like that. So I’m kept permanently friendly in divine love, mādhurya rasa. I’m already admitted into the divine harem, as if.” This is Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura’s statement.

So tava kathāmṛtaṁ tapta-jīvanam. Whatever type it may be; of sorrows or affliction, tapta, loka tapta, painful, different layers of painfulness; that will be removed by tava kathāmṛtaṁ tapta-jīvanam. It will give life to us, hope, that we can... We are not created only to suffer in this mortal world, but the life which can, so rough, can send this painful life of mortality. Tapta-jīvanam, that sort of life vitality we have got in our own intrinsic form. Kavibhir īḍitaṁ kalmaṣāpaham, the speculationists they say that Kṛṣṇa consciousness only does away with kalmaṣāpaham, the sinfulness. But that is only their external acquaintance of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. A sin is nothing in consideration to His purifying capacity. Kavibhir īḍitaṁ kalmaṣāpaham, śravaṇa-maṅgalaṁ śrīmad-ātataṁ, śravaṇa-maṅgalaṁ. As soon as we come in contact, even in the form of sound only through our ear, our real śreyaḥ-kairava-candrikā- vitaranam [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 1], our real welfare begins to awake. Śravaṇa-maṅgalaṁ śrīmad- ātataṁ, with all the resources, śravaṇa-maṅgalaṁ śrīmad- ātataṁ, resources of all welfare, it is surcharged full of them, infinitely, śrīmad-ātataṁ. Bhuvi grṇanti ye bhūridā janāḥ, and those that can deal with these things, they who can distribute these things to the world, they are really the givers, they’re the benevolent, they’re the kind-hearted; none else. Bhuvi grṇanti ye bhūridā janāḥ, they give enough who gives Kṛṣṇa to us. Others are hopeless and disappointed. Only this sort of transaction should be continued in the world to save the souls from the suffering from the disease of mortal connection. This is like nectar, the nectar divine, Bhāgavat kathā. So go on with this transaction, always giving and if you give you will have supply from the higher position. If you are sincere to give it, you will have no want in your capital. The capital will be supplied as much as you can give, rather. You will have connection with the infinite source; go on.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa / [āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga / punarapi ei thāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

“Whomever you find you only talk with them about Kṛṣṇa only.” Mahāprabhu says, yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, no other engagement. “Whoever you find, any soul, try to save him from this desert of mortality.” 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa / āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa, “I command you. Don’t be afraid. Take the position of Guru, the giver, and give it to all, everyone. Āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa, Kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, “And I say that the influence of māyā won’t be able to capture you as a reaction. I say.” Kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei thāñi pābe mora saṅga, “And you’ll find in this transaction Myself in you, backing, ei thāñi pābe mora, if you obey My command for distribution to one and all then here you will find Me, that I am there backing you, in this work, punarapi ei thāñi pābe mora saṅga.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma Hare Rāma. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So your great master has engaged you; called you all like so many dedicated soldiers.

“Do relief work in this world of mortality and death, relief work, relief work.”

Devotee: Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Giri Mahārāja [?]: Now, it is said that if some disciples do not go back to Godhead in this life, then the spiritual master will come again and again, until they're all delivered.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he may come again and again...

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: The same...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But with a little different form, but ultimately he is Kṛṣṇa śakti, as Guru, he will come. You will see him the same in different a colour maybe. When, you see, a teacher imparting primary education, he's in a particular shape. When the child's grown up, when he's in higher education, that same teacher who's imparting, the student will see him in another figure. Not that in the figure of the primary teacher, not encouched with that sort of teaching mentality, but a different mentality in different play he's imparting higher education. A little change you will find; in this way.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: But the same teacher?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The same, because God's Will is backing there; everywhere.

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta [karhicit

/ na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

[Kṛṣṇa told Uddhava: “Know the Ācārya as Myself. I am the Ācārya. Never envy the Ācārya; never blaspheme him or consider him to be an ordinary man. Because the Ācārya channels the infinite, he is greater than the sum total of all the finite. Thus, he is more important than all the demigods.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

From different; just as the government from different magistrates continue the government, a little modification, but the higher government is one, and anyhow that same thing is coming from different persons. Something like that. The policy is one and the same.

Giri Mahārāja [?]: Now once, Śrīla Prabhupāda Bhaktivedānta Swāmī, told a story that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura, he told his disciples that the spiritual master of Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura, who wrote Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, that his spiritual master came again in the form of Cintāmaṇi, to give him, to remind him of Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Cintāmaṇi, then Somagiri, and then Kṛṣṇa Himself, He came and delivered from Somagiri, a māyāvādī guru. First Cintāmaṇi; through Cintāmaṇi, not Cintāmaṇi, but through Cintāmaṇi the guru advised him, excited him; and through Somagiri a little digression; and then Kṛṣṇa Himself.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Cintāmaṇi was vartma-pradarśaka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Cintāmaṇi vartma-pradarśaka? That was nimitta-mātraṁ bhava savyasācin [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.33]; only an agent. Through her, Guru Kṛṣṇa, He tackled Bilvamaṅgala. Cintāmaṇi - in form she was Cintāmaṇi, an ordinary prostitute, but through her Guru approached Bilvamaṅgala; and then Somagiri – through Somagiri Guru approached, and then when He delivered from the clutches of Somagiri, from māyāvādā towards śuddha bhakti, then in that case He Himself appeared before him. Sikṣa-gurus ca bhagavan sikhi-pischa-maulih – so, cintamanir jayati somagirir gurur me, sikṣa-gurus ca.

[cintamanir jayati somagirir gurur me, sikṣa-gurus ca bhagavan sikhi-pischa-maulih yat-pada-kalpataru-pallava-sekharesu, lila-svayamvara-rasam labhate jayasrih]

[All glories to Cintāmaṇi and my initiating spiritual master, Somagiri. All glories to my instructing spiritual master, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, who wears peacock feathers in His crown. Under the shade of His lotus feet, which are like desire trees, Jayasri (Rādhārāṇī) enjoys the transcendental mellow of an eternal consort.] [Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura's Kṛṣṇa- Karṇāmṛtam, 1]

There they're also victorious, bhagavan sikhi-pischa-maulih, they're all vaibhava, that is spiritual extensions of that Divine Master; in that way.

Giri Mahārāja [?]: Now, in the previous life, the same Bilvamaṅgala he had a spiritual master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Giri Mahārāja [?]: Now did that spiritual master, that individual...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, one thing we should not miss; that is that Kṛṣṇa Himself can give Him, not anyone else. Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa śakti, so the first starting must come from Him, He's within. In different forms He's coming. But without Him none can give Him. The devotees can give Him but they're also fully – devotees are fully taken in His potency. So Kṛṣṇa can give Himself. Kṛṣṇa śakti denaham tyaga prabaktam [?] Only the very potency of Kṛṣṇa, the very will of Kṛṣṇa, can give Kṛṣṇa to others. So that internal, fine thread, we must not miss, overlook. He is there. When the real transaction is there then He must be there at the bottom. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Giri Mahārāja [?]: So, in this story that Swāmī Mahārāja told us, he said that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta had concluded by saying to his disciples, “You should all finish your business in this life. Do not make me come again to this world.” Or he said, “Do not make me become a prostitute. As Bilvamaṅgala's Guru had to come as a prostitute, so you should all go back to Godhead. Don't make me have to become a prostitute to bring you back again.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. A temporary remark; but still, if the Guru comes to the level of prostitute to recruit his previous connected disciples, he's not in the position of a real prostitute; he's aprākṛta, only that is a form merely.

Giri Mahārāja [?]: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he's ha, ha, this is only to encourage our bhajan, this is a remark only to encourage our bhajan in this life. That does not mean that when he comes in the shape of a prostitute he's in the level of a prostitute. He's aprākṛta always.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, as you have explained, that your conclusion is that from hearing our Guru Mahārāja's poem on the Atlantic, that he is in sākhya rasa. He has gone back to Kṛṣṇa as a cowherd boy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, if one of his disciples does not complete, if we do not complete our Kṛṣṇa consciousness in this lifetime, and if we have to come back again...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...in the next life, will our Guru Mahārāja leave again Kṛṣṇa's abode? Or does Kṛṣṇa act through someone else to finish the job?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. You see, suppose some report has gone to him that some of his disciples are still there neglected, and to take them up it is necessary, some news is going, some wave sent to him. Then he will ask his friend, Kṛṣṇa, “That this sort of news is coming to me. They want me to go there again to take them up. What to do?” Kṛṣṇa’s pleasure, He may say, “Oh. You may ask that friend to do this work.” “No, no. They want me.” “Then what to do? You go again.”

Devotees: [Laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is also possible by the will of Kṛṣṇa that in one form he’s there in the service of Kṛṣṇa, and that often that is the fact, and in another mūrti, another, as if in a body, his double, he went to do the work. It is not impossible. If it is possible for a yogī to extend his body in different places, for bhāgavat-bhakta, for a devotee it is nothing. It’s possible that he’s there and he’s here, it is also possible. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And it also allowed we see Narottama Ṭhākura said, “When will Lokanātha Goswāmī take me by the hand and guide me toward Rūpa Goswāmī, Rūpa Mañjarī?” For further developed education or service. Lokanatha mora hastay [?]

It is also possible. His Guru Lokanātha is taking him, Narottama, to Rūpa Goswāmī. “Do the remainder, train him.” Give it to him and to Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī. It is also possible. And when it is done the disciple will see that they’re all one and the same. No jealousy, “That my Guru of this figure and Guru of that figure, they are different.” It may not be so much complaint in the heart of the disciple. They’re all one and the same. “He gives him to him, yes.” If I have got faith in my Guru he consults me to there for my best benefit. He will go and see one and the same. The same interest, common interest, he will feel in his heart that, “The affection I got from that figure of my Guru, they’re also of the same, not less. My Guru is present here.”

Iśva tattva bheda mani haya aparadha [?] It is written about Mahāprabhu in Caitanya-caritāmṛta about Vyenkatta Bhatta, in the South when Mahāprabhu was travelling at that time. Laxshi gopi [?]

One and the same, what one is doing here another is doing there, that is the same śakti. So there is also oneness and also difference, but still in svarūpa śakti that cohesion, that harmony is always present there. The flow is not treacherous, not jealous; but if there is jealousy then that is of another type to enhance the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. That sort of system, and not like jealousy and other differences in this plane.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not envy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not envy. Chandravālī, Rādhārāṇī, different group, but because They promote the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa to the highest it is planned only for that. That is a separate thing, the competition of love, of dedication competition, not of exploitation, pratiṣṭhā. Exploitation is bad and dedication is good; as much dedication that will help others to encourage in the dedication. Gapara guru sri guli neti dekhatai [?]

Our Guru Mahārāja used to give this example. When the cowshed is burning, the cow is afraid of the red colour of the fire, then if the same cow she sees the red cloud in the sky, she will be afraid, that cow. “Oh. The burning of the hut we stay in, the cowshed.” So, we may afraid of the fire here but not of the reddish cloud there, though it reddish, the colour of the fire, but not to be afraid by that colour of the cloud. That is of another type.

So Māyāvādīs are always afraid of some labour. Labour means dissipation of energy. So cid-vilāsa they cannot accept. The movement, the dynamic character of the transcendental world they cannot tolerate. “Oh. Whenever there will be dynamic characteristic there must be some dissipation of energy and reaction.” They’re afraid of this. The dynamic always means, energising means a reaction of labour, dissipation of energy. But in the eternal world the dynamic characteristic can never have any reaction does not bring any depression in its retinue, in the eternal world in the dynamic character. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, when the spiritual master comes from the spiritual world to reclaim certain fallen souls, is it possible that if he feels his job is very big, that he will bring some other associates from the spiritual sky to assist him in subordinate positions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Please again repeat it. What do you say?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometimes it is said that the spiritual master has eternal associates...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...who come with him. Just as Kṛṣṇa comes with His entourage, so sometimes it is said that the Guru also has some eternal associates.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe. Maybe. Not always. Then, what’s the trouble? He may come with his associates. It is not impossible. Hmm?

Giri Mahārāja: No trouble.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes he may come with associates also, who are to help them from there. There also he lives in a group and sometimes it may be possible that in a group also he may come.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: In Antya-līlā of Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Mahāprabhu says to His associates, “That repeatedly you’ll take your birth, again and again, you will be born throughout the universe to spread the saṅkīrtana movement.” And He said, “If you chant Hare Kṛṣṇa then you will never forget Me, or be overwhelmed by anything material.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Last portion; what does He say?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: He says that His associates they will repeatedly take their birth...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Associates?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He’s saying that in Antya-līlā it is stated by Mahāprabhu...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...that, to His associates, “That you will come again and again to spread this saṅkīrtana movement.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So what is your question?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So my question is that sometimes isn't the spiritual master's position that he's remaining within this universe to preach the saṅkīrtana movement. He may, you were saying, he may go back to Kṛṣṇa, he may also remain.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He may take birth again you're saying?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He may come again. One may be ordered to come again and again. That is not impossible.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa's will.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whether Gurus here or there he has got some connection with Kṛṣṇa always.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Sometimes it is said, that the spiritual master, when we speak of the spiritual master, we say our eternal Lord and master. Sometimes we address the Guru as our eternal Lord and master. So eternal means without beginning and without end. Now just like in my own case, I am a very conditioned person and yet now on account of my Guru Mahārāja's order I am accepting disciples. But I cannot say that eternally I was a liberated soul. I feel myself to be very conditioned. How are they to understand that this person is my eternal Guru if at one point he is seen to have been engaged in very ordinary activities?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] That is your point?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Well I don't know what his translation was, my point is, I'll repeat it again. That taking myself as an example, Tamal Kṛṣṇa, I was a very ordinary person, very sinful, but by the grace of my Guru Mahārāja I have come to Kṛṣṇa consciousness a little bit.

And by his order I am giving dīkṣā to others. Now it is said that the Guru is eternally the Guru of some disciple, so how is it that I could be eternally someone's Guru, when I was only twenty years ago a sinful person? I can see our Prabhupāda is always in a liberated condition, so exalted, but I am very ordinary. No problem for me, but what about my disciples?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, whether you know this story or not. When Kṛṣṇa in Dvārakā once told that He's attacked with a severe headache and only the feet dust of the devotees can cure it: to Nārada.

Nārada went to so many devotees in Dvārakā , none came up to give feet dust. "Oh! It is impossible! It is impossible. We can't do, we can't go to hell."

So frustrated Nārada came to Kṛṣṇa, "Oh! I am very severely suffering now , severe pain. Have you got any feet dust?"

"No sir. None are prepared to give feet dust."

"Then what I can do?" Nārada was benumbed. "You may try in Vṛndāvana."

At once Nārada intimated to the gopīs. Gopīs came with feet dust. "Is it He's suffering? He needs feet dust? Oh! I don't know who is a devotee. Take feet dust. Give your feet dust. Here take all these things and go."

Nārada was astounded, "What is the matter? No devotees came to offer feet dust and these people they are doing. Do you know what is the consequence, the consequence of this?” “Yes, it may be eternal hell. And we don’t care for that. If a slight relief is there that is our [only concern].”

So āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128] Mahāprabhu says, “I am fallible, but I am confident that what my Gurudeva has given to me, it is an uncommon and vital, nectarine thing ; and he has asked me to give it to others. It does not matter. I shall take the risk. He has ordered me. I am his servant. He will look after me. That you will take risk.”

With this spirit he will approach. “I may go to hell, I may die, but I must carry out the order of my commander.” With this spirit he’s to approach, and there will be no danger. If this consciousness is maintained. But if he deviates from that connection and goes for self-seeking, this mundane purpose, then he’ll be doomed, otherwise no destruction can touch him. This internal spirit should be maintained and that is the qualification, real qualification. “Yes, I am ready to die to carry out the order of my Gurudeva. I feel that this is the nectar and I must distribute to others to save them.”

That Rāmānuja’s case. There was another, Ālvār, Purna-prajna kanti or some gentleman [Gosthipurna?] the mantram of , the highest type of mantram of the Rāmānuja sampradāya. Rāmānuja wanted that mantram from him.

He told, “If you don’t disclose it to anyone then I shall give you.”

“Yes.” With this pledge Rāmānuja went to him and he gave the mantram.

This was already announced and so many people standing outside.

“Rāmānuja has accepted this condition and went to his Guru and Guru gave the mantram.” No sooner Rāmānuja came out the mob was waiting there, impatiently. “What kind of mantram? What is this mantram of the highest order that will deliver us all?”

“Yes, this is the mantram.” He gave it out and his Guru called him. “What do you say? What did you do?”

“I did sir.”

“Don’t you know what is the result?”

“Yes I know, eternal hell. But your mantram it cannot but be fruitful. So let them be saved. I shall go myself to hell.”

With this sort of risk then Guru will bless you. You cannot be doomed in anything. So this sort of risk should be taken by the disciple and only on the force, on the basis of that spiritual feeling and he can never be doomed. The eye is there. His God is there. The Guru is there. Then he cannot but be saved. They cannot leave them in danger and relish that that person to carry out our order he’s going to hell. Can they tolerate? Are they living or are they dead, our guardians? Gaura Haribol! Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Also I read in the Bhāgavata of Prabhupāda explaining that in śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ viṣṇoḥ, this nava bhakti, that the first seven processes, that is vidhi-mārga, and sakhyam, ātma-nivedanam, that is rāga-mārga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm? What is the...

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Śravaṇaṁ kīrtanaṁ viṣṇoḥ, smaraṇaṁ pāda-sevanam arcanam vandanaṁ dāsyam, sakhyam ātma-nivedanam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sakhyam ātma-nivedanam. They are interconnected. Without ātma-nivedanam no devotion is possible. Then in the highest sense the ātma-nivedanam in mādhurya-rasa only, not even in sākhya. But on the whole ātma-nivedanam must be there, without that no bhakti is possible. Devotion is impossible without ātma-nivedanam. But there is degree. And the highest degree in mādhurya-rasa, everything. All sorts of bhakti in the highest degree it is to be found in mādhurya-rasa. In vātsalya-rasa a little less, in sākhya-rasa a little less, in this way it is distributed. Pūrṇa rasa is mādhurya-rasa. Taṭa-stha hañā vicārile, yei rasa, sei sarvottama.

[“It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.83]

In his own department they think that they are holding the highest position. But in the absolute consideration if the comparison is drawn, then we see that śanta superior, dāsyā then superior, sākhya then superior, vātsalya, and the supreme most mādhurya; and svakīya and parakīya. Then there is Rādhārāṇī, gradually. The very origin is Rādhārāṇī. And She is distributing in gradation, all Her extensions, extended self. Serving, She is serving Kṛṣṇa in fullest rasa. And whether antagonistic Chandravālī and others, all other rasa also springing direct or indirect from Her. Vātsalya-rasa is antagonistic to mādhurya-rasa to a certain extent. But still it is the outcome. Of course for the understanding to make it clear, the source of other rasa is said to be Baladeva. These spring from Baladeva: vātsalya, sākhya, dāsyā; they are springing from Baladeva. And the mādhurya-rasa Rādhārāṇī. First divided in this way. Then Baladeva is in another form as Anaṅga Mañjarī, she is in the camp of Rādhārāṇī; to attain the taste of the highest quality of rasa in mādhurya parakīya. He is intermingled. Gradually we have to try and understand.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: One question I had was in the Śrīmad Bhāgavatam, first canto, Nārada, he says that, “When I chant the glories of Kṛṣṇa He appears on the mirror of my heart, as if called for.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm, as?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: “As if I called for Him. When I chant His glories then He’s appearing in my heart as if I called for Him.” So Prabhupāda explains in the purport that this is like spiritual television. That Kṛṣṇa is appearing in his description. So that is tantamount, that is like seeing Kṛṣṇa face to face. But associating with Kṛṣṇa personally and directly, that is still different. So when we are chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa, we’re hearing about Kṛṣṇa’s form in Śrīmad Bhāgavatam, some conception of Kṛṣṇa is coming to the devotee. So on the subject of seeing Kṛṣṇa it appears that this subject is very, very broad, beginning with following, seeing Kṛṣṇa in the order of the Guru, and then seeing Kṛṣṇa in the descriptions in Śrīmad Bhāgavatam, and then later seeing Kṛṣṇa also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You’ll have to repeat this, Tamal Kṛṣṇa Prabhu.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: It’s more than a question, he is explaining...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nārada says that when I chant His name I see Him. Then?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: See Him. And he says in the beginning, in the neophyte stage when we have kīrtana and when we hear Bhāgavat, we are also beginning to sense Kṛṣṇa and in a completely...when one goes back to the spiritual world, one is with Kṛṣṇa and he's also seeing Kṛṣṇa. So there are different degrees of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of degrees, different plane, of different types, degrees, different degree, depth, intensity. And according to capacity a partial visit, partial sight may also be in līlā. Some may see ordinary Kṛṣṇa of Kurukṣetra battle, some may see the Dvārakā Kṛṣṇa, some may see the Mathurā Kṛṣṇa, then Vraja Kṛṣṇa, and they're also different.

mallānām aśanir nṛṇāṁ naravaraḥ strīṇāṁ smaro mūrttimān [gopānāṁ svajano 'satāṁ kṣitibhujāṁ śāstā svapitro śīśuḥ mṛtyur bhojapater virāḍ aviduṣāṁ tattvaṁ paraṁ yogināṁ vṛṣṇīnāṁ paradevateti vidito raṅgaṁ gataḥ sāgrajāḥ]

[“O King, Śrī Kṛṣṇa then appeared as a thunderbolt to the wrestlers, as the supreme male to the men, as Cupid incarnate to the ladies, as a friend to the cowherds men; as an emperor to the wicked kings, as a child to His father and mother, as death to Kāṁsa, as the universal form of the world to the ignorant; as the Supreme Truth to the yogīs, as the Supreme Worshipful Lord to the Vṛṣṇis - and along with Baladeva He entered the arena.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.43.17]

When Kṛṣṇa is entering the meeting of Kāṁsa, different persons are getting different views about Him. The same Kṛṣṇa entering but different classes they are looking at Him, by seeing Him in different ways but they are one and the same Kṛṣṇa. It is also possible. According to their adhikāra they are seeing differently. Some seeing foe, some friend, some son, some politician, some kingly. In this way differently. The yogīs, they saw the Absolute in this way. There are persons of different categories and according to their own position, they are seeing Him differently. It is also possible. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Our Guru Mahārāja was kind upon us, so you are kind upon us. I find no difference at all in how you are blessing us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. When we were very near, when living together, and we were discussing things, almost from the same platform we were talking with one another. And Govinda Mahārāja was also the witness there, for long time. He had very intimate connection and affection from him.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: When I used to come every year to Māyāpur, my whole purpose in coming was fulfilled when I would be in his association. So similarly, now I am feeling that as I have come here, that my purpose is being fulfilled, whenever I am in your association.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa! Hare Kṛṣṇa! Hare Kṛṣṇa!

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: If one goes to a holy place and doesn't take advantage of the association... [of the saintly persons dwelling there, he is to be considered no better than a cow or ass.] [Śrīmad-

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

He [Mahāprabhu] told to Rūpa Gosvāmī, and Rūpa Gosvāmī after meeting and teaching he wanted to accompany Mahāprabhu Himself to Nilācala, Purī.

Mahāprabhu told, "No, what I say to you, do this. Go to Vṛndāvana on My behalf to work there." [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19:240-41] So sada sange āsiyācha tumi, “You are always with Me.”

Only physical company is not real association, but anugatya, wherever this body or mental body may be, but if I am faithful serving mood to any person, I am there with him, in cetan. In the world of consciousness only our subjugation, our faithful adherence to one soul, that is to be with him. Do you follow? Am I clear?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am at his beck and call, this attitude gives us nearness of a soul, and not this body or any other things. Only submissiveness, only adherence, only faithful submission to any person, that brings us near to him. So sada sange āsiyācha tumi He told Rūpa Goswāmī, “You are always with Me. You are always with Me. But now, just you go to Vṛndāvana. And again you may come to Me in Purī, but now go. You are always with Me. That I am in recollection of you and you are also in recollection of Me, so there we always meet. And I am in you, you are in Me.”

That is in faith, in śraddhā, in our inner conception of prospect. Oneness is there, nearness is there. And the world is of that type. That world, the infinite, in the world of the infinite, only this sort of consciousness, that is nearness or distance there. Not this physical thing. And physically, two bodies, the bug that sometimes lives in the hair the bug in the bed and some insect, one in the hair, what is that?

Devotees: Lice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lice, they are also very near physically. But in consideration of soul, how far they are. So nearness of soul only by adherence and faith. In the infinite, our nearness is that type. Just as from far off through phone we can connect. America and India, through phone connecting, nearness. So nearness may be understood in different ways. Just as the sun is near to the earth, in the case of influence, then the next is moon, or in the case of influence of moon to the earth. In this way they are near or far. So the distance may be measured in different ways. So in the spiritual world the nearness and the distance is measured like that. And physically by another medium. In this way. Near and far.

We are sorry if we tire you, but we are very thirsty, because we are growing children, very young children. So we require to be nourished very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes of course, and that is the sign of life. When the baby wants to take food, the vitality, the life is there. And when baby lying and not showing any sign of taking food. “Oh!” Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī [?]: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: So Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is here, and Guru Mahārāja is here Vṛndāvana. And we have some students from San Francisco, he's a scientist. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. All welcome.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: So, we were discussing about the theory of biology. So I was wondering whether you could kindly give us some hints about, we want to make a very strong philosophical and scientific presentation of the idea that the original source is a Supreme Person. In other words, the original source has supreme consciousness and supreme intelligence, and everything is coming from Him, and everything is derivative out of that supreme consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that is absolute good and that is autocrat. Law emanating from Him, and He's above law. Hmm? Then it will come to Kṛṣṇa consciousness, autocracy, but absolute beauty. Beauty and love almost of same category, and autocracy there should be there. Law when plurality begins, and when advaya in its highest position, there is autocracy. Law emanating from Him. Eko ham baho syama. When there is many, necessity of law. Even when unity through love, it is no law is necessary there. In other words, that law is not like the law of this world. That is another law, another law. There is also competition, but law loses its sting, because dedication, the competition of dedication, so law is useless. Sacrifice, not aggrandisement, self aggrandisement, so law is useless there. Hmm? The competition of sacrifice, competition of dedication, dedication.

When Gandhi began his movement here, his ahimsā movement, British Government was in a very awkward position, because the implication of the law where the force will be applied then law will come. But the passive resistance, no question of force. "I am not opposing the road. I am lying down. You go over me. I'm not giving any opposition. So no application of force, so law does not come, inaction."

So, where there is competition of sacrifice and dedication, law in its own sense can have no application. Beauty is autocrat, is all capturing. Love is also autocrat, all capturing. Eh?

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: One of the points that I've been thinking regarding this book is that, somehow this living entity is forced to be within this material body.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm? Some?

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: Somehow the jīva, the living entity...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: The jīvātmā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: ...is forced to stay within this temporary physical body.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's not forced. The first starting point is that of free will. We are to accept that. And we are to find out that. Otherwise God will be responsible for his misery.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāṇi, lokasya srjati prabhuḥ na karma-phala-saṁyogaṁ svabhāvas tu pravartate

["Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

"I am not responsible for the suffering of the jīva. I am aloof. I am left with freedom. And freedom is their intrinsic qualification. Whatever is conscious, that is free. It depends on the magnitude. Anu caitanya, freedom is also anu. So vulnerability. And by exercise of their imperfect freedom they come to the world, and not anything forces. And then when he comes in cooperation with māyā then the force of māyā comes in application first. First starting is free will, then the māyā grasps, takes him.”

When I give some writing, anyhow, he got something in writing from Hyderabad, and then the police work when they wanted to go away then this Chodary was sent to take police action only some writing because the British told that Indian chiefs they’re free, they should accept either India or Pakistan. But they are free to choose, to take their choice. But representative of Nirjan [?] came to Delhi and a sort of writing, a special consideration you will get about other chiefs. Then anyhow entangled and then the police action went on.

So, first consent of jīva with free will and then the māyā is there. In this way this world transaction begins, and not interference of the Supreme there. The anu caitanya, the defective consciousness and the small free will. There are many. Some coming this side, some coming that side, from the marginal plane.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: So at what point the jīvātmā begins to recognise he’s using a free will in a negative sense?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The possibility as there is in the taṭasthā, in the germ, possibility of the positive participation, so possibility of the negative participation, endowed with the two functions in germinal form when he’s in the marginal position, plane. Possibility of negative and positive. Then by free choice, one side one possibility is taken, is given recognition, and it got a start and the journey began. And then by handling of the sādhus, of the divine agents, that can be modified when wandering in the world. Then the positive is tackled and when positive aspect awakens then that gives the chance to go out towards the divine realm.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: That also is dependent on the free will, to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. First, free will is there. Consciousness means free will, endowed with free will. Any atom of consciousness, all atoms of consciousness means they're all endowed with free will. Without free will consciousness may not be conceived, and then it is matter, material existence. Conscious spirit means endowed with free will.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: So then it is like to, conclude that when we like to be free from this bondage of this material existence, I must exercise my free will in the right direction, but how?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But generally when he's here, independent of his free will, the agent, the divine agents help them beyond his consciousness, sukṛti. First stage ajñāta sukṛti, unknowing acquisition of the favour of the Lord through the sādhus.

Just as when the patient is unconscious the doctor is helping by injection perhaps or something like that. Then he comes to consciousness, then the cooperation begins, and the treatment goes on. But when he's unconscious, at that point also treatment is possible.

So when he's engrossed with material consciousness the divine agents they come and utilise his energy in any way for the Lord, and the ajñāta sukṛti, beyond his consciousness. Then jñāta sukṛti, then śraddhā, he comes on the surface, and then cooperation. When śraddhā, sukṛti when develops into a stage of śraddhā, faith, then the cooperation of the sādhus and development of the spiritual life proper. Before that underground works and that is sukṛti, and that is done by the sādhus, the divine agents. Unconscious he is, the patient is unconscious, the doctor is helping, something like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: Thank you very much Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you have engagement, important engagement there, you are to go. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So wherever there is Paramātmā there is jīvātmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So, in Brahma-saṁhitā [35] it says, aṇḍāntara-stha paramāṇucayāntara-sthaṁ, so in every molecule, or every atom, there's Paramātmā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Both jīvātmā and Paramātmā, hmm?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So in that condition jīvātmā is unconscious.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Isn't it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Unconscious or mal- conscious.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Mal conscious.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, maybe. Inattentive towards Paramātmā, engrossed in the exploiting, buried in the exploiting tendency. Jīvātmā unconscious of Paramātmā, but Paramātmā is conscious of jīvātmā. When jīvātmā is going on his own way Paramātmā is watching and willing good for jīvātmā but He's not interfering with his activities in a direct way. In Gītā you will find:

upadraṣṭānumantā ca, bhartā bhoktā maheśvaraḥ paramātmēti cāpy ukto, dehe 'smin puruṣaḥ paraḥ

[“Within this same body (distinct from the soul) the Supreme Person or Parama Puruṣa is present as the soul's intimate witness, sanctioner, supporter, guardian, and Lord. He is known as the Supersoul.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 13:23]

In Gītā we get the so many signs of Paramātmā near jīvātmā in the body. Upadraṣṭā, He's overlooking, He's looking stealthily what jīvātmā is doing. Jīvātmā is unconscious but He's consciously seeing, noting what jīvātmā is doing, upadraṣṭā. Anumantā, anyhow He can oppose, Paramātmā can oppose the actions of jīvātmā but He does not, He's indifferent there, indifferent, only looker on. Upadraṣṭānumantā ca, what he's doing, He's with His negative attitude He's approving. He's not interfering, upadraṣṭā. Anumantā ca, bhartā, and He's also tolerating him and not withdrawing all help to jīvātmā, supplying facilities for the work, bhartā. Bhoktā, and also a sort of sorrow we may find in Paramātmā for jīvātmā, that he's going astray, as if a shadow for the misery of jīvātmā is on Paramātmā. He's not satisfied, bhoktā. Maheśvaraḥ, but if He likes He can interfere and He can stop but He does not. This attitude of God, in respect of jīvā, is known as Paramātmā.

Devotee: This attitude of God?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This function of the Supreme Entity in relation to jīvā is known as Paramātmā. He's always with him with friendly attitude but does not interfere with his freedom. That is the attitude of Paramātmā. That function is known as Paramātmā.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: In one place, in Prabhupāda's Bhagavad-gītā he describes, he quotes some verse from the Vedas saying that the Paramātmā...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sweet and magnanimous. That is the characteristic of Navadvīpa, sweet magnanimity, or magnanimous sweetness. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Like the other day you'll take some prasādam?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Yes. But first we want to be with you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'm not doing very well, but still I must try to attend you. It is my duty to do so as much as I can; I think imperative duty. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Sometimes, just like Purnacandra, he got Hari Nāma dīkṣā from our Prabhupāda, and I think he never; sometimes there are others like him, and then when Prabhupāda disappeared they took their Gāyatrī mantra initiation from one of Prabhupāda's disciples. So sometimes they want to know how they should regard their Gāyatrī mantra Guru, and they ask the question, "My relationship with my Hari Nāma Guru is eternal. Is my relation with my Gāyatrī mantra Guru also eternal?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, the first importance to Nāma Guru, and the second to the initiation. But the dīkṣā Guru must have respect, then all other disciples of Prabhupāda. First honour to Prabhupāda, Nāma Guru, Guru of Guru, and the second honour to the dīkṣā Guru; and the rest accommodating, according to their status, should be accommodated.

Jīva Goswāmī has written that the Name is the principal thing. In the mantram also, so many other words, but the Name is the most important. Suppose the Name is taken away and another name is put there, then the whole thing is rotten. In this way he has judged, has given his decision. The Name is all-in-all. In a Gāyatrī mantram the Name is there, Kṛṣṇa Nāma is there, and so many other words couched, but if Kṛṣṇa is taken away and Śiva is put there, the whole thing will come to Śiva. So the Name is the all important factor, so Nāma Guru; even Gāyatrī mantra may not be necessary.

pujyadhi yatna katham api sakṛdāttam muktidaṁ prānināṁ yat paramāmṛtam ekaṁ jīvanaṁ bhuṣanaṁ me]*

[Sanātana Goswāmī says: “Let ecstasy in the service of the Divine Name be victorious. If somehow we can come in contact with that sound, nāma rūpaṁ murāreḥ, then all our other activities will be paralysed; we will have no necessity of performing any other activity. Our many variegated duties will have no importance to us at all if we can achieve the service of the Divine Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, 1.1.9]

na ca sat kriya, na dikṣe na ca purāścarya manadilate mantrayam rasana spri hanato śrī kṛṣṇa nāmātmaka

[“One need not undergo all the purificatory processes, or follow the six ritualistic ceremonies mentioned in the Vedas for pious life; one need not even take initiation into the Gāyatrī mantra. If one simply chants the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa without offence, everything will be successful.”] [Jīva Goswāmī]

Anyhow, the Name is the most important, even the Gāyatrī mantra may not be necessary, but Gāyatrī mantra we accept only to help the Nāma bhajan, otherwise it may not be necessary at all. It has been judged in such way. Only the Name can do everything for a person, the full thing. But to help the Nāma bhajan, to do away with the aparādha and ābhāsa, the Gāyatrī mantra comes to help us, only this much.

I showed once, in the bigger circle, the Name goes from the lowest to the highest, and the Gāyatrī mantra circle is in the middle. From the lowest the Gāyatrī mantra cannot go but the Name can go from the lowest portion. And the Gāyatrī mantra only goes and finishes up to salvation, emancipation, and then the Name goes with no Gāyatrī mantra. This is the Gāyatrī mantra and the Names connection. The Name goes from the lowest position where caṇḍālas, yavanas, everyone can receive the Name, but not all are eligible for the Gāyatrī mantra. After the Nāma is in a little developed stage then the Gāyatrī mantra can be conferred, and the Gāyatrī mantra's jurisdiction will be finished when emancipation is attained.

kṛṣṇa-mantra haite habe saṁsāra mocana / kṛṣṇa-nāma haite pābe kṛṣṇera caraṇa

[“Simply by chanting the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa one can obtain freedom from material existence. Indeed, simply by chanting the Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra one will be able to see the lotus feet of the Lord.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 7.73] [Within the Purport: “In the Anubhāṣya, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhanta Saraswatī Goswāmī says that the actual effect that will be visible as soon as one achieves transcendental knowledge is that he will immediately become free from the clutches of māyā and fully engage in the service of the Lord.”]

In Caitanya-caritāmṛta it is found, kṛṣṇa-mantra haite habe saṁsāra mocana, to help our emancipation the Gāyatrī mantra is necessary, and then mantram is finished, its function gone after giving us emancipation.

But the Name will continue all along, from the lowest to the highest, the Name is, only Name no mention of any application – I want this, that, only the Name automatic, spontaneous. That will encourage every good will in us, Name, uddīpana, but the Gāyatrī mantra's function is limited. So the Name is all important. Nāma Guru will have the first honour, and next the Gāyatrī mantra Guru, then other Vaiṣṇavas.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: How should the devotee who has taken second initiation, should he regard his Gāyatrī mantra Guru as a God-brother or as a Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Acintya bhedābheda. Generally Guru, according to his present stage, but if he transcends, he goes to his previous history, then he will see something like God-brother. But generally in his present stage he will see as Guru, and in the background God-brother; the direct connection Guru and in background is God-brother. And that may be the general estimation.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: And sometimes they ask, “Will my relationship,” just as you said, “The Hari Nāma continues after the liberated condition.” “So does the Gāyatrī mantra Guru continue any activity with the devotee beyond the point of liberation?” In other words, is the relationship with the Gāyatrī mantra Guru also to be considered eternal or only the Hari Nāma relationship?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow. Nimāi?

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Because they may give less importance in consideration.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then there, the Name will be in the background, and the other functions of services will come in the front. When you will enter that domain they will give some function there in the service of Kṛṣṇa, and that will be very conspicuous, prominent, and Name will be in the background there, in that position. When you go to a particular group in a particular rasa, sākhya rasa you say, then he will come under a specific duty, under Subala, or Baladeva, or anyone, and he will be given duties to be discharged. That will have the first importance, and the Name will be in the background. It will help to energise, and there the Guru will be this Nāma Guru, and Guru will be in all Gurus, but still there is hierarchy. At the immediate, it is a family life, the Guru's Guru is there, but he'll be under his own boss, and he has got his boss; in this way. But he will receive direction from his immediate higher position; in this way the hierarchy is there and he'll be transformed into that sort of function. The Gurus, their all Gurus, their hierarchy, even I am under some as a servitor, and my immediate duty will be to attend to his orders; in this way. It will be transformed there. Am I clear?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Oh yes, loud and clear. Another question is that when the jīva falls down into this material world from the spiritual world, does he first, sometimes we have heard that his first birth is as Brahmā, and then he takes different types of birth. Then other times we have heard other things. In what type of birth does the soul first take its birth when it falls from the spiritual world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a broad question.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Caitanya. You will see it will be of two classes. Generally, jīva does not fall down from Vaikuṇṭha, or Goloka. Generally the jīva, the source of the fallen jīva is brahma-loka, the taṭasthā-loka.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: Brahmajyoti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The product of taṭasthā-śakti; that can fill up this brahmāṇḍa jīva. From there, from śivatta it may come to brahmatta, Brahṁā, gradually it may come down, general question. And in higher visions that is also seen that Goloka servitors and Vaikuṇṭha servitors, they're also seen to be within the jurisdiction of brahmāṇḍa, but that is only a play, līlā. When they come from that plane, that is to be considered as līlā. For some time the vipralambha, for separation, it is necessary for them, anyhow they come and they go. This is one class. And another class, that ordinary class, comes from that taṭasthā-loka, brahma-loka, not from Vaikuṇṭha, not from that area. And there, under māyā, the first position will be like that of Brahṁā, and then of course according to karma they will be mingled and the karma will decide their up and down life.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: First will be like the position of Brahṁā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deviation, first deviation...

svadharmma-niṣṭhaḥ śata-janmabhiḥ pumān, viriñcatām eti tataḥ paraṁ hi mām

avyākṛtaṁ bhāgavato 'tha vaiṣṇavaṁ, padaṁ yathāhaṁ vibudhāḥ kalātyaye

["A person who executes his occupational duty properly for one hundred births becomes qualified to occupy the post of Brahmā, and if he becomes more qualified, he can approach Lord Śiva. A person who is directly surrendered to Lord Kṛṣṇa or Viṣṇu in unalloyed devotional service is immediately promoted to the spiritual planets. Lord Śiva and other demigods attain these planets after the destruction of this material world."] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 4.24.29]

In Bhāgavatam, Mahādeva says, Śiva, Mahādeva says, svadharmma-niṣṭhaḥ śata- janmabhiḥ pumān, viriñcatām eti. If one discharges his duty of varṇāśrama dharma perfectly for one hundred lives, then he attains the post of a Brahmā. Svadharmma-niṣṭhaḥ śata-janmabhiḥ pumān, viriñcatām eti, he comes to the position of Brahmā. Tataḥ paraṁ hi mām, then progressing next he comes to my position. What is that? Mām avyākṛtaṁ, not very differentiated character, Mahādeva. Brahmā is this side and that side. In the māyic side some differentiated character; that is Rudra, and the other side of the brahma-loka differentiated character, that is bhakta Śiva, Mahā Viṣṇu. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We want to clarify some details on your description which you have just given. When you say brahma-loka, what exactly is that brahma-loka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahma-loka and Brahmā, these two things are separate. Brahmā is already a person in the connection with māyā. And Brahma, the non-differentiated marginal plane, where you cannot differentiate, but that is the source of many, many; jīva soul is a particle, and this plane consists of many particles, and we cannot differentiate them, they're in one and the same plane of non-differentiated character.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Brahmajyoti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmajyoti, jyoti, and jyoti [?] jīva soul means an atom in the jyoti and pencil of ray. So the jyoti, the brahma-loka is a product of so many atoms, of jyoti atomic. Many atoms of jyoti makes the seat of brahma-loka. So generally from brahma-loka, and that is a living thing, a growing thing, and from there the supply of the jīva soul, yayedam dhāryate jagat, in Bhagavad-gītā, [7.5]. Apareyam, para and apara śakti, the world is made of, and para śakti that is brahma-loka; jīva soul. And yayedam dhāryate jagat, and these two mixed, they're just as the gas and the iron machine continuing, the railway engine, and other things, either electricity or gas, and the body of iron and steel, working. So jīva soul, that is the conscious atom that is within, and the apara śakti that is out, and the machine is working, with the help of these two, yayedam dhāryate jagat The para śakti is jīva, that is taṭasthā, and antaraṅga śakti is not mentioned here. That is included in Bhagavān Himself.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So generally the jīvas who are here in this world have come from that brahma-loka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahma-loka.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: They have no experience as yet of Goloka or Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because, yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama. [na tad bhāsayate sūryo, na śaśāṅko na pāvakaḥ yad gatvā na nivartante, tad dhāma paramaṁ mama]

[“My supreme holy abode is that place which the surrendered souls reach, never to return again to this deathly plane. Upon going there, one never returns to this material world. Neither sun, nor moon, nor fire - nothing can illuminate that all-illuminating supreme abode.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.6]

If jīva catches the current, that in-carrying current, then he's not to come back. But they also come back, as in Brahma-vaivarta-Purāṇa, etc, the Rādhārāṇī, the Subala, they're playing and they're cursing each other and they had to come here in the martya-loka. This is all play, this is līlā. They sometimes come here but they're not overpowered by māyā. They're senior, but they have come in a form of play here. That is another thing, and this is another thing. Even, it is mentioned in Bhāgavatam, Jīva Goswāmī has discussed and decided that in the womb of the mother, in the seven months in the womb, the child can see the Lord. And his one hundred previous births come to his memory at that time, and he promises that in this present birth I won't mix with māyā but I shall try to go to You with devotion etc. But, Janama haila puli maya jali nahai gana lobha [?]

As soon as he gets out of the womb he forgets everything. There Jīva Goswāmī says that it is not the case with all the jīva souls that they must see Bhagavān in the seven months in the womb. Once one can have darśana of Bhagavān, he never comes down in this world.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So they all see or they don't see?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: No. Not all of them.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: It is a rare thing. It is very rare to see Bhagavān within the womb of the mother?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only particular jīvas have got such experience and those that have got such experience they never come down; they will have to go up. Because if that is true that he has got a real darśana then māyā cannot clutch him, catch him. That is given by Jīva Goswāmī. How is it possible that once you have got darśana of Bhagavān; how can you come down? But janama haila puli maya jali nahai gana lobha [?] In some cases when the darśana is very vague and meagre it may take place. But generally...

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: He'll come out, he'll take birth.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: In which case?

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: When it's vague and meagre.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In that case it may again be covered, and then getting any least chance of help then he'll go up.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: But if they go up and they were in the womb of mother, what of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'm talking of the soul; not the body. The body is there. Gradually they will go up and then when emancipated then only they can live without a body.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: So they will take birth, but in divine consciousness?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Divine consciousness will have superior position, and they won't interfere with the māyic world, like Jaḍa Bharata and others. They'll be here but they'll not mix much with the māyic affairs. They'll go up gradually with the help of the sādhū and śāstra, and their internal connections, revealed advice, they'll go up.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: When the jīva, when the body dies, not the jīva, when someone dies, they are taken to the court of Yāmarāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, not all; there are exceptions.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: And what are those exceptions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Exceptions are those that have the chance of entering into ananya bhakti, śuddha bhakti. There the jurisdiction changes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Supposing a devotee who has executed some devotional service but not...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One who has come in connection with a Guru of śuddha bhakti, he won't be produced to Yāmarāja. His jurisdiction already changed. Whatever should be dealt with about him; that will come from Vaikuṇṭha, and not from the judge of this mundane world, Yāmarāja.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: And if someone is under the jurisdiction of Yāmarāja, how long does it take until the jīva takes its next birth in the womb?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is variegated in different cases. Different cases differently. Generally we may take that within twenty four hours the ātmā, the soul, is taken to Yāmarāja. Then with some sort of bail he's released, and then after one year's time his case is taken up. And then he's judged and amount of sin and amount of good action is judged and he's asked, "What will you take first, the nāraka or sargara? Do you like to enjoy the fruits of your good action first?" Of course, if the amount is great, of any good action or bad action, then he takes up in his own hand, he will go to suffer the results of the bad actions first, and then good actions.

Devotee: In time and space theory [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Time and space theory? A general case, what I say, but there are particular cases which are urgently adjusted in a court; the urgent case may be dealt urgently. Some may take a birth immediately after his death and he enters into a womb. There are also particular cases are many. That Vasudeva says, we find in Bhāgavatam, that when Devakī is married and Vasudeva is taking away Devakī to his own house; Kāṁsa is taking the rein of the horses who are conducting the chariot, and on the way there was a sudden sound came from the sky.

“That Kāṁsa, you are relishing so much this occasional joy, taking with such tearfulness your sister to her husband’s house. But her eighth child will kill you.” Twice or thrice, when this sound came from the sky, then Kāṁsa was enraged and he took his sister by the hair and was about to cut her throat, then Vasudeva came to protect her.

“What is this? You are a hero. Are you afraid of your death? You are not a coward.” In this way he began discussion. “Then you have no cause of fear from her, but her child. But I assure you that these children will be given to your hand, you may do away with them, but leave her. She is not going to kill you.”

Anyhow, at that time, Vasudeva comes to talk about some philosophical line and says that, “Before one is dead, his next life begins. Before one is dead, his next life begins. How? When he’s going to die his previous actions in subtle form, all come in a rush to gather and everyone demands, “The next birth I want.” According to the intensity for their priority they come to propose that, “The next chance I must get.” So before the actual death it is determined. And the idea catches him there, “I have got possession.” Suppose anger or jealousy or some greed, so many propensities are within. And who gets the first chance, he takes possession of the ātmā, and then he dies and he takes him. The idea, he’s taking possession of the idea, he goes to some society, his own society, and from there it comes to the physical plane. Suppose there is much anger, his possession, the buffalo mentality takes possession. Very ferocious, the tiger mentality takes possession, and takes him up in the tiger society, and then he comes with a tiger body.

In this way, in the case of Bharata, he went to help the deer, but he left everything in his youthful life, left everything in his kingdom and adopted a life of a sādhū, but when he was dying he thought, “If I die, this small deer will also die by, without getting food.” Only when he was thinking about that, his soul passed, and he had to become a deer. In that society he had to go. That thinking took him there, and with a deer’s body he came out.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: What is that one year bail period? You used the; I don’t know the Bengali word...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because in the karma-kāṇḍa we find under one year in suspension, and during that time the ṛṣis in the Vedas, karma-kāṇḍa, they say, “Try to make some help. He leaves the property and the successor of the holder of the property, he makes some arrangement to help the departed soul, with piṇḍa dāna, one year, goloka piṇḍa. After one year is completed he’s under suspense and help may be arranged for him and then they talk and the final decision. He’s taken in that way. Generally in the karma-kāṇḍa ṛṣi we find that process. But this is a general case, surmised, they do. But there are particular instances according to the gravity of the situation, and the judge does many things.

Bhakti Sudhīra Goswāmī: When do the hellish sufferings that are described in the Bhāgavat, in the fifth canto, when does that, what period does that take place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When the sufferings also of different types according to the heinousness of the evil deed, they’re classified and sufferings without a physical body. Just as in a dream, we may have a good dream, we may also have a bad dream. In dreams also we may suffer, and in dreams also we may feel pleasure. So without this body, our subtle body, when he feels eternal and intense pain, that is nāraka. Not physical body but in mental body.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Subtle body.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mental body with continuous and intense suffering of different type, the different hell, without body.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: How long?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to the intensity and magnitude of the action, the judge, the Yāmarāja, the controller, the administrator, he dispenses and he's forced to suffer like that. And in a pleasing dream, as we feel, there is a government; you see, in the mental world also there is a government, just as here there is a government in the physical world, so the body which we find within us in a dream, such a strong body. There is a plane with so many astral bodies and there is a government, and the administration is there, and they're dealt with in that way. That is generally known as Pitṛ-loka, or Preta-loka, Preta-loka, for departed souls.

Giri Mahārāja [?]: Now, sometimes after a person dies, the family members will invite us to do kīrtan, chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa. Now, will that help the departed soul?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, that will help him. In his connection the benefit he may get in that way we perform some and that vibration will go to help him, higher help than in ordinary śrāddha, bhāgavat-prasādam if we confer. But kīrtan – good wishes also can help the departed souls.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, when the soul falls from the brahma-loka and takes birth in the material world, now is that soul's eternal rasa with Kṛṣṇa in the spiritual world...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That soul's?

Giri Mahārāja: Is that soul's particular relationship with Kṛṣṇa in Goloka, is that already fixed when that soul falls down?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, that is, everything has got some probability or prospect within him. So if it is the dissection, analysis, then the prospect; just as svarūpa, after emancipation one may go to Vaikuṇṭha, and no further. And one may go to Goloka, and there also different rasa. Some going to vātsalya rasa, some going sākhya, or mādhurya, some into śanta rasa; that is internal position, svarūpa, according to that they're classified after emancipation. So also here in the māyic world also according to that intrinsic probability they may come down, and where, what, in this way, that way. So first from Brahmā rank he may come down, and he may go down to any extent, and the differentiation will also be there. But still he's got some innate, permanent thing of prospect in him. That will come to decide. Follow?

Giri Mahārāja: Yes. Now, suppose a soul...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What was your question?

Giri Mahārāja: You answered it. Now, suppose the soul has the desire to become the mother of Kṛṣṇa in the spiritual world...

Swami B.R. Sridhara Maharaja: In rank, motherly rank, not exactly mother. Mother is Yaśodā, fixed, but in that rank.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Can you elaborate about that rank? In other words, Yaśodā is Kṛṣṇa's mother, so what do the others who are in...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They are helping in that camp in different ways, helping her in vātsalya rasa.

Devotee: [?]

Giri Mahārāja: Now, just as when Kṛṣṇa comes here, there's so many different households and families in Vṛndāvana. Now, in Goloka are there also many households with parents and children?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. The whole thing comes here. And also, it is still maintained there, and also as reflection, or rather not reflection, but substantially one and the same, vaibhava.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Expansion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Extension comes here.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, when Kṛṣṇa was here, after Brahmā stole the cowherd boys and calves, He expanded into a duplicate set. For one year, some of those elderly, they had the chance of having directly Kṛṣṇa as their son. So does that sometimes happen in Goloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is kāya-vyūha. One can extend one's self in different places at the same time. If even a yogī, he's here and he can show himself in some other places also, the same, the double. So in the case of Kṛṣṇa it is not impossible that He may extend Himself in many places in many forms and variegated nature. It is also mentioned in the Caitanya-caritāmṛta, that in Dvārakā He had sixteen thousand wives; or something like that, and He presented Himself everywhere. And Nārada is astonished to see that. And it is mentioned there, kāya-vyūha haile nāradera vismaya nā haya.

[saubhary-ādi-prāya sei kāya-vyūha naya / kāya-vyūha haile nāradera vismaya nā haya] ["The prābhava-prakāśa expansions of Lord Kṛṣṇa are not like the expansions of the sage Saubhari. Had they been so, Nārada would not have been astonished to see them."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.169]

The kāya-vyūha of yogī, the extension of a yogī, siddha yogī, is of a limited character. For example, if he's standing here, his facsimile in another place he will also stand. If he lies down it will also lie. But in the case of Kṛṣṇa, every form can do independently. So in different ways, in different manner, different types, He can extend His līlā in any way.

After all, we must think that we are limited, and we are trying to talk of the infinite, unlimited, so with this much modesty we must try to approach the thing. Adhokṣaja. Everything may not come within my clutches, but as much as possible, we can guess, we can have a peep, into the approximate characteristic of the Infinite.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Now, when Kṛṣṇa came here...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: ...like this.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: And Mother Yaśodā she could experience baby Kṛṣṇa, young Kṛṣṇa, all different ages.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So in Goloka, does she also experience these different ages of Kṛṣṇa, or does Kṛṣṇa remain fixed in one age? And if so then...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So, sometimes it has been mentioned that Gokula Kṛṣṇa, that is the original, and it is most peculiar. And Goloka is an extension of Gokula. It is very peculiar. In prapañca of prākṛta, this is very similar; prākṛta – transcendental, and aprākṛta. Aprākṛta – the very term has been used to this effect, that very similar to prākṛta, very near to prākṛta. So to make us, to give us warning – it is not prākṛta it is aprākṛta. There is every possibility of taking as prākṛta this ordinary fallible, mortal thing, so similar. So for the similarity the warning is given – aprākṛta not prākṛta, but very near to prākṛta. So there also the wave from child, to the grown-up, this wave is always moving in a circular way.

In Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta you'll find in Sanātana Goswāmī's writing. He says that Kṛṣṇa līlā suppose begins from the birth of Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana. Then He grows up, then the play with the cow boys, then so many things, then Akrura comes to take up there to Mathurā. And after prabāsa, then Nanda and Yaśodā there in a very mournful stage they're passing their days. The Kṛṣṇa in Mathurā, they are suffering from separation. In this way some... Then suddenly the will changed, by Yogamāyā. Then the atmosphere came, "Oh. Nanda Yaśodā is there, from a long time they're suffering, they have got no child." This stage previous to the birth of Kṛṣṇa, that suddenly comes again within the will. Then again, Kṛṣṇa and there no child of Yaśodā, then gradually some hope and some offering to the Deities etc, that they may have a child. Then gradually Kṛṣṇa came and Kṛṣṇa goes. Then again Kṛṣṇa goes to Mathurā. All these rasas, the prabāsa, then suddenly change came, just as in a circular way, winter, summer, rainy season, and this autumn, in this way the līlā is moving, bujhite nā pāre līlā kemane 'nitya' haya.

['nitya-līlā' kṛṣṇera sarva-śāstre kaya, bujhite nā pāre līlā kemane 'nitya' haya] ["Descriptions of Kṛṣṇa's eternal pastimes are in all revealed scriptures. But one cannot understand how they are continuing eternally."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.385]

In this way; and also, Kavirāja Goswāmī has given us to think in another way. The sun is rising here, balya līlā, and it is continuing. Everywhere the sun is rising in one place. Here rising, then next second a little far off it is rising. And setting, rising, and noon, is always to be found in any portion of the world. Is it not?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So also, Kṛṣṇa līlā from this brahmāṇḍa, it is extended like the sun, the balya līlā passed here, and in another brahmāṇḍa it is continued, like the sun. Bujhite nā pāre līlā kemane 'nitya' haya. Jyotiścakra-pramāṇe.

[drṣṭānta diyā kahi tabe loka yadi jāne / kṛṣṇa-līlā — nitya, jyotiścakra-pramāṇe]

[“Let me give an example by which people may understand Lord Kṛṣṇa’s eternal pastimes. An example can be found in the zodiac.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.386]

In Caitanya-caritāmṛta we have found, jyotiścakra-pramāṇe, it is continued. The morning is everywhere, the noon is everywhere. It is revolving, and in different brahmāṇḍas. Now Kṛṣṇa is taking birth, next moment in another brahmāṇḍa, next moment another brahmāṇḍa. It is always continuing.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: And in Goloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Goloka also that; it is also dynamic, and must move in a circular way, it is nitya. Generally we have got this idea. To be nitya-līlā; and not only that, we are to also have a conception of this, that here you can think of the balya-līlā of Kṛṣṇa, he can think of the kaiśora-līlā of Kṛṣṇa, he can think that Akrura is taking Him away to Mathurā. Here we can simultaneously think we have a touch. So all līlā is crossing space and time, and every point of līlā is nitya and continues. We can think of that and that is something; even sādhus, they can't think it. Kṛṣṇa is there is of such characteristic. Everything there I say. And also it is not to be eliminated that there is a continuance; the balya, the pauganḍa, the kaiśora, the acintya bhedābheda of Mahāprabhu. Paśya me yogam aiśvaram.

mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ. na ca mat-sthāni bhūtāni, paśya me yogam aiśvaram

[bhūta-bhṛn na ca bhūta-stho, mamātmā bhūta-bhāvanah]

["In an unmanifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity."] ["And again, that is also not situated in Me. Just behold My inconceivable simultaneous one and different (acintya-bhedābheda) nature as the perfect, omnipotent, omniscient originator and Lord of the universe! Although My very Self is the mainstay and guardian of all beings, I am not implicated by them."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.4-5]

"I am everywhere. Everything is in Me. I am nowhere. Nothing is in Me. I'm not a mad man. Try to have an estimation of My Self, Arjuna. What am I?” Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Such a bold statement has ever come into the world of philosophy? Ha, ha, ha. “I am everywhere and nowhere. Everything in Me, nothing in Me. Try to ascertain what I am. This sort of straight, simple and most perplexing, and impossible and possible together; I am that.” Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. So,

*jñāne prayāsam udapāśya namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām
bhavadīya-vārtām*

[*sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vān-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jita jito 'py asi
tais tri-lokyām*]

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa: “Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

Give up your attempt of measuring Him, but through faith try to approach. You are finite, so about infinite, how much faith may you have? A very little, so don't think that you will be deceived, your faith will deceive you. How is the length and breadth of your faith? You are a tiny person. In the infinite anything is possible. So don't be afraid of your blind faith when you come to search for Kṛṣṇa - Infinite. Only faith can take you there and no knowledge. It is clearly stated in Bhāgavatam; never approach with the weapon, with the instrument of knowledge. That will deceive you. But faith, adhokṣaja, He can come down, and if you doubt, He may not care to come down to you. Open; spread wide your heart to receive Him, and whatever sort of wonders He may come to show you, prepare yourself to be so much, so broad, and wait. What are the waves of the Infinite? What sort of waves come to touch you from the Infinite, the centre of Infinite, of love, beauty, etc? Wait and see. Be clear and open and unbiased. Don't go to measure with your tiny examples of this finite world of nasty nature. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Tatra laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ.

[kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-bhāvitā matiḥ, kriyatām yadi kuto 'pi labhyate tatra laulyam api mūlyam ekalaṁ, janma-koṭi-sukṛtair na labhyate]

[“Pure devotional service to Kṛṣṇa cannot be obtained by performing pious activities even for millions of births. It can be purchased only by paying one price: intense eagerness. Wherever it is available, one must purchase it immediately.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.70]

Your hankering only can help you to have touch of that magnanimous divine thing. If you go challenging, He'll not care to come. What is the loss to Him? You are deceived. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Go with your heart willing, but go forward. Jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām bhavādīya-vārtām, sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām. Brahmā says, jānanta eva jānantu.

[jānanta eva jānantu, kiṁ bahūktyā na me prabho manaso vapoṣo vāco, vaibhavaṁ tava go-caraḥ]

[“There are people who say, “I know everything about Kṛṣṇa.” Let them think that way. As far as I am concerned, I do not wish to speak very much about this matter. O my Lord, let me say this much: As far as Your opulences are concerned, they are all beyond the reach of my mind, body and words.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.38]

“Those that say that they know something, let them enjoy self deception thereby. But I am reserving, that manaso vapoṣo vāco, vaibhavaṁ tava go-caraḥ. I could not enter into the very negligent, slight point of Your acquaintance. This is my finding.” Brahmā says like that. “These puffed up fools, they may talk about anything. They can know this, they can know that, everything can be known. Those fools, let them dance with their foolish tendencies. But I am sure that no weapon, no instrument, can have any, catch any slight touch of Him. He’s always new, always of new characteristic. He’s infinite. But finite and Infinite are of opposite characteristics, so how is it possible to let you loose within the infinite?”

I told in Karachi to one President of the Ārya Samāj, when I went there to preach, the Ārya Samāj thought, “We have got a prey. The Vaiṣṇavas are idolaters.” They came to attack, and he told me, “If finite can know Infinite, then He’s not Infinite.” He told like that. And it also came to my mind immediately, “If Infinite cannot make Himself known to finite, then He’s not Infinite.” Just the opposite; then I gave him a handshake, and said namas te and departed. So that is our only solace, that Infinite can make Himself known to finite, and finite cannot know Infinite, so that sort of characteristic of Infinite, His grace, we always foster. That should be our, the money which is necessary for a journey, what is that?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Fare.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fare. That should be our fare, our attitude. We have not come to deal with a limited thing. My aspiration is not so base and mean. I have come in the relativity of the Infinite. So my behaviour must be according to that, bhakti.

tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, [kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ] [“One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

The negative tendency should be increased to attract the positive, chaida [?] “I cannot but want You. I can’t stay without the least of Your connection.” And thus we are to invite Him. “I am poor, I am mean, I am so and so. There is no meaner fellow than myself.” That is the way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Our Prabhupada used to give one example. In some fair it is seen that a stand with some bamboo or some post is there and it is smeared with oil, and this ripe plantain fruit...

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Banana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...with that banana, so very slippery. And a post is there, and there is a man at the side and he says, “If anyone can climb up, he’ll be given such reward.” And everyone wherever he catches it he comes down; cannot go up. So it is like that, we cannot go up, we can’t go up, āroha-panthā, slippery, slippery, slippery; we can come down but we cannot go up. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

So, we are brave enough to deal such things, with such audacity? Ha, ha, ha. But still, the position is there. It is by His grace, the line of His grace. He wants to distribute Himself in a line, so śrauta-panthā Guru param pūjā. It is exclusively, the necessity is there, the śrauta-panthā, Guru paramparā. The knowledge and the bhajan, everything comes down from Infinite to finite and never from finite to Infinite through āroha-panthā. That should be the backbone of our movement always. So whatever we shall go to do, we shall look up to Gurudeva. “If you do it may be done. I am nothing. I am nowhere sir.”

Once, I found in the Rāmānuja character, that he had a sitting with a māyāvādī paṇḍita for fourteen days, and he came away frustrated, he could not defeat him. And he came to Varadaraja, “What am I? I can’t defeat in discussion, for so many days I’m trying to argue. I’m nothing, nowhere, I should not go up with my head erect as an Ācārya of the samprādaya.” He prayed to Varadaraja temple. And the next day, no sooner had he gone and begun a slight talk, that gentleman expressed his defeat, he clearly saw, “Yes, what you have said I have understood. I am wrong. What you say is right.” By His will, that man was defeated.

So devotees are always expectant, upward; by Guru’s will. I have got nothing. He may do through me. If I go to assert myself, I’ll not only be defeated, but I shall also be lost. But when I shall go to show a proud attitude also in the name of my Guru, sincerely, then it will be bhajan. It will help me and others also. As much as I have the tendency of taking power from up, my attempt of the Ācārya will always be to bring things from up, from his Guru and sādhū – “By your grace.” Always dependant, he can never say I am in possession of the potency, power; no.

*jagāi mādḥāi haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha, purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha mora nāma śune yei tāra puṇya kṣaya, mora nāma laya yei tāra pāpa
haya*

[I am more sinful than Jagāi and Mādḥāi and even lower than the worms in stool. Anyone who hears my name loses the results of his pious activities.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.205-6]

This is negativity, the conception of the ego of the negativity is so intense that, “I am such. But Nityānanda Prabhu is great, He’s Patita-Pāvana. So I have got.”

ye yatha patita haya, tava dayā tata tāya, tāte āmi supātra dayāra

“I can claim, because I am the most fallen. I think I realise that I am the most fallen. I have got the greatest claim for Your grace, mercy.”
[Gītamālā, Yāmuna-bhāvāvali, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura]

That should be the attitude of a real devotee. As mean as one can conceive one’s conception of himself, so great he is in the eyes of the devotees, dainya. Hare Kṛṣṇa, hankering, laulyam, hankering, that is their wealth. The wealth of the devotee is there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Hare Rāma. Rāma Rāma, Gaura Haribol. I am proud of the power of my Gurudeva and never of myself. That should be the attitude. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Anything else? Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: No. These were our questions today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Today? All right; any side questions?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: The babies are full of milk now. We are well fed. We have been fully fed today.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. No end. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: In Goloka, the cows are called surabhi, they give unlimited milk at any time. So we think you are like a surabhi cow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. If you think it may be for some time according to your requirement. If the requirement is stopped then perhaps I may be a dead thing; the river will dry. Ha, ha. The dry bed in the river, no water passing; the source is there, water. It is His will, His will.

Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana Goswāmī, “Sanatana, Kṛṣṇa is very gracious to you. He is sending so many things for you, through Me. I don’t understand them, but for you, so many things passing through Me I feel.” This is in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana, “The grace of Kṛṣṇa is flowing through Me to you I feel. I do not know all these things. It’s not Mine.”

It is also mentioned, vyāso vetti na vetti vā.

[aham vedmi śuko vetti, vyāso vetti na vetti vā bhaktyā bhāgavatam grāhyam na buddhyā na ca ṭikayā]

[Lord Śiva says: “I know the true purpose of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam; Śukadeva, the son and disciple of Vyāsadeva, knows it thoroughly, and the author of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Śrīla Vyāsadeva may or may not know the meaning. The real purpose of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is very difficult to conceive and can only be known through bhakti.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 24.313]

The Vyāsa who has written Bhāgavatam, he may or may not know. It is coming for the others through him. It is also possible sometimes; sometimes, not always. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Kṛṣṇa is so independent, jayuktaho, all glories to His independence. We are His servants. What responsibility is with us? His things; we are instruments.

He may do in His own way. He's willing and things are going on in such a way, and He's willing otherwise and things go on in another way. Everything is a part of His līlā; the Absolute is līlā-moya, līlā, continuous and irresistible flow of ānandam. Only our narrow ego deceives us, the feel of egoism deceives us partake in that universal wave, the flow.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So we will visit you again soon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Nimāi prasādam [?] Hari kathā flow, Hari kathā, Mahāprabhu kathā, Prabhupāda kathā, Swāmī Mahārāja – your Prabhupāda, our Prabhupāda, perhaps we're all under their eye. Their very satisfied to see their things are going on in this way. Gaura Haribol.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Jaya Om Viṣṇupāda Paramahaṁsa-Parivrājakācārya Aṣṭottara-Śata-Śrī Śrīmad Bhakti Rakṣak Śrīdhar Dev-Goswāmī Mahārāja kī jaya!

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The other day Tamal Kṛṣṇa Prabhu, today...

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Giridhari Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Giridhari Swāmī. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Giridhari Swāmī: Now we are tied together, this cord and garland has tied us together.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. It was already tied but only now seen.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We have vision. We are the blind men.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Never. Then how can you see the utility, or tastefulness of these things. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Mahārāja. They had one other question, which was that, you described that the mantra Guru – if you have one Hari Nāma Guru and then his disappearance comes, and you take mantra from another, you are to regard the mantra Guru as vaibhāva, extension. So, one question also, is the sannyāsa Guru vaibhāva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The Guru is one and the same, but there is gradation, importance. And especially when the Nāma Guru is Guru of sannyāsa Guru, and Nāma Guru is the Guru of mantra Guru – but the principal is Nāma Guru, and then mantra Guru, Gāyatrī Guru, and then sannyāsa Guru. Sannyāsa Guru is not given so much importance as we find – of course in particular cases everything will be different, but general. Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa from a māyāvādī Guru. That was necessary only for a preaching purpose. For preaching convenience, sannyāsa Guru was accepted by Him, and red cloth. But that was not very formally important. Of course for Mahāprabhu nothing is of importance because He's superior to everything, but still His practice left us things for learning. So Nāma Guru is of first importance, then mantra Guru, then sannyāsa Guru. But we shall try to see in the same line, in the same respective way they are, respectful way.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Our Guru Mahārāja was telling that Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura was appearing to him, again and again in a dream, telling him to take sannyāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: So when he was describing this to his disciples, he said that Keśava Mahārāja came to give him sannyāsa, but he was seeing it that his Guru Mahārāja is come to give the sannyāsa, through his God-brother.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It is really so, through his inspiration, otherwise he did not come to take sannyāsa at all. “The direction of Guru Mahārāja in subtle form; that made me to accept sannyāsa, and it is he that gave sannyāsa in the subtle sense, that I took sannyāsa from Guru.” Our Gurudeva took sannyāsa keeping the photo of his Guru in front of him.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Gaura Kīśora.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Kīśora. But he was bābājī, and he took sannyāsa for preaching purposes. Fit person to see, in the position of Guru, was not available; he was not satisfied so he had to do like that. Rāmānujācārya also did so; he himself keeping the photo of his – in the place of his Guru he took sannyāsa himself, because he could not find such a person to whom he can surrender.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Now, there’s one case – there’s a man who’s a very popular sportsman in the West, and he knew our Prabhupāda for many years. He never took Hari Nāma dīkṣā, but for, say, seven years he is accepting Prabhupāda like his Guru. So now, after Prabhupāda’s...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He’s an American?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is he?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: His name is Peter Burwash, he's a tennis player – but devotee. So he accepted Prabhupāda for so many years like a Guru, but he did not get the Hari Nāma dīkṣā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hari Nāma dīkṣā, or garment, nothing of the kind?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Nothing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But mentally he has accepted him as Guru?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Yes. He has Mūrti of Prabhupāda ...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Worshipping in his own way.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Worshipping in his own way, but our way, the same way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Same way? But without mantram, only giving flower to...

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Doing everything, but no formal dīkṣā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But mantram, where did he get mantram?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: He chants Hari Nāma, sixteen rounds.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he did not get it from any person, personal instrument?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: So now that Prabhupāda has left, it is very difficult for him to accept one of Prabhupāda's disciple Ācāryas as Guru. So what is his... We think of him as a disciple of Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Materially, not formally. But what is the difficulty in him that made him not accept Hari Nāma or dikṣa, anything of the kind from Prabhupāda? What opposed him?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: That I don't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What sort of mentality came in opposition? Any environment was unfavourable for him?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Yes. That's one part of it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And when Prabhupāda departed then perhaps he was very, his earnestness was increased, and he felt that what mistake he has committed? Is it?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After the departure of your Prabhupāda, one lady ran from England to here. She told that her father was for a long time in the Police Department of India, and she stayed with her father in Allahabad for a long time. And after retirement they went home, and she heard that Swāmī Mahārāja is doing this and that, miraculously he's capturing many to Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And she had a dream that Swāmī Mahārāja has come and she went to see him, but she could not see him, there in London. Then she was told that he has gone to India. Then she came to India, and coming here, she heard that he had departed. And with a frustrated heart she came to search him, she came here also. And her ways and her picture was that of very much indifference, vairāgya, almost like a widow. "I am frustrated. I am so unfortunate. I got a dream. I wanted to see him there but heard that he had left London. I came to India and when I reached here I heard he has gone away. How disappointed and unfortunate lady I am." With much eagerness; then she went to Māyāpur, and what is her fate I don't know. But I saw too much earnestness in her, she's disappointed, the signs of disappointment were very intense.

And this gentleman, now he's mourning, that what have I done? Such is the case. But that does not matter. In future that will be compensated. What we wish sincerely we have it. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So infinite alternatives – alternatives are also of infinite character. Ha, ha. Kṛṣṇa can manage all these opposites, can harmonise all the opposites.

Virudhya samanāṁ tasmīn na cit tvam [?] In Vedānta-sūtra, virudhya samānyam, opposites can be harmonised by Him, He's such, tasmīn na cit tvam, it is not wonderful that He can harmonise both the opposite parties. All forms of opposition is harmonised there. He's such. So what question will you take about Him? Ha, ha, ha.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Virudhya samānyam tasmīn na cit tvam [?] It is not much...

Devotee: Where is that verse from?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vedānta-sūtra. Virudhya samānyam tasmīn na cit tvam, virudhya samānyam, that to harmonise the opposites, is not any wonder in Him, cit tvam means wonder, tasmīn means in Him, virudhya samānyam, na cit tvam, it is nothing. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Vasudeva Prabhu says that in Fiji, one lady she had two Gurus who turned out to be bogus Gurus. So now she's chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra on the malika, but she's telling that she has accepted Śiva as her Guru. So he wants to know how to deal with this. What is her position?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He wants to know?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Vasudeva wants to know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his position?

Vasudeva [?]: She won't accept any of our Gurus. She's had bad experience with the Gurus.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But that is not a laudable position. That is in some imaginary, good imagination; not a practical position. Imaginary plane, satya-guṇa, not connection of nirguṇa, but satya-guṇa.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: There is also one verse that Prabhupāda quoted, sampradāya vihinā ye mantrās te niṣiphalā matāḥ.

[sampradāya vihinā ye mantrās te niṣiphalā matāḥ, ataḥ kalau bhaviṣyanti catvāraḥ sampradāyinaḥ śrī-brahma-rudra-sanakā vaiṣṇavāḥ kṣiti-pāvanāḥ, catvāras te kalau bhāvyā hy utkale puruṣottamāt]

[“If someone receives a mantra from a Guru who doesn't come in a bona fide sampradāya that mantra will have no potency and will be fruitless. Hence in the age of Kali there will arise four founders of sampradāyas, namely Śrī, Brahmā, Rudra and Sanaka. These four Vaiṣṇavas are the sanctifiers of the earth. Their four respective sampradāyas will arise from the Supreme Personality of Godhead in Utkal (Orissa).”] [Padma Purāṇa]

So even if you're chanting, if that sampradāya connection isn't there, it's minimised?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a bona fide way if I approach then I must have the chance of such connection.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: You were telling us yesterday that you may be chanting but if you do not have that connection, it's just on your tongue, or in your ear, it's not...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is that it may be something like imitation, generally, general case.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Hare Kṛṣṇa. There's one other request from Rāmeśvara Swāmī. He is in charge of the artists who paint the illustrations for all of Prabhupāda's books. And he would like to bring them here to speak with you. Because the artists, they used to ask Prabhupāda some of the details so that the paintings are correct. So is that all right?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If they say to me clearly then I can help according to my capacity.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Especially this book Brahma-saṁhitā, they will be painting for that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. I told previously, that I do not know that Brahma-saṁhitā was translated by Prabhupāda, but I forgot. It was published in Madras and I was present there. I forgot the whole thing due to loss of memory. And I have got a copy also here.

Devotees: [Laughter. Jaya]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And I was present also at that time when Brahma-saṁhitā was translated and published Hare Kṛṣṇa. I forgot. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. You like to go now, go away, yes?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: I wouldn't say that I like to go, but we're going. Ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only considering my health?

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Yes.

Devotee: We don't want to tire you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, do again, tomorrow...

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Yes. We're coming again.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Sudhīr Goswāmī: Tridaṇḍī Bhakti Rakṣak Śrīdhara Dev-Goswāmī Mahārāja kī jaya!

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Prabhu kī jaya!

Śrīpāda Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja kī jaya!

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sevā Vṛnda Ki Jaya. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. I want to hear something from our Dayādhara Prabhu, and what he says. You are already acquainted but he's not acquainted. I can't see; only through ear I can see. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The sun on the face, that is disturbing.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Well, if you want we can move forward.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, come this side. But still the sun is there. Let Caru Swāmī Mahārāja come this side. It is disturbing my eyesight also, the sun. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: I was feeling fortunate to come only by your mercy, because it seemed so difficult to get here. It seemed like so many impediments were being put in my way. But on the way here I was trying to look at the impediments from a higher perspective.

And I was looking through the Gītā in the fourth chapter, and I think it's the thirty-third verse,

*śreyān dravyamayād yajñāj, jñāna-yajñāḥ parantapa sarvaṁ
karmākhilam pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate*

And I was just wondering – Prabhupāda gives in the purport some indication, but I was still feeling that there was something I wasn't understanding; and of course that's the verse just before, “One should try to approach the spiritual master.” And I was wondering about the significance of that. Why is it that Kṛṣṇa's making that statement before He gives the statement – why that śloka rather than any other?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caru Swāmī. What does he say? You are to say again to me.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śreyān dravyamayād yajñāj, jñāna-yajñāḥ parantapa / sarvaṁ karmākhilam pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate. Then?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The jñāna or guidance; to get the standpoint that is the most important thing. The standpoint from anywhere and everywhere that may misguide, mislead us. So we must be very much particular to have the direction and the direction is given here.

tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ

[“You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

The general guidance He has given. Where should we try to get the standpoint, the measure through which we are to understand? From a real sound, a bona fide source, we must get the standard. The standard to measure truth, or untruth, or anything, the most important thing is the standard. And that must come from a real plane, not a vitiated plane, ordinary plane, vulnerable plane. Tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā / upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ. It must come from such a plane where these two qualifications must be – and that is jñānī and tattva-darśī. A conception of the thing and also the practical benefit, both these two qualifications must be there where from I shall get this standard to measure what is right and what is wrong. And my attitude should also be of such type, praṇipāt, paripraśna, sevā.

Praṇipāt means to surrender to such knowledge. Such type of knowledge is not an ordinary class of knowledge which as a subject we can make it object. But it is a super-subjective thing. So praṇipāt, I must surrender, that I want something which is superior to me. I want Him, not an objective thing which I can make the object as a subject, so praṇipāt. And also praṇipāt means that I have finished the experience of the world outside. I have no other charm for anything in the plane where I have travelled already. Praṇipāt, exclusively I am offering to Your altar, and I want to have Your grace. In this mood we approach the higher knowledge.

Praṇipāt, paripraśna – honest enquiry is always allowed, sincere enquiry. Not with the tendency of discussion in the sign of tarka, argument, not with argument, but all the force should be concentrated to understand in a positive line. Without giving away the spirit of doubt, suspicion, and all attentively we shall try to understand because it is coming from higher where I am not ever known.

Praṇipāt, paripraśna and sevā, and this is the most important thing. That I am going to have the knowledge, not because that I can get the help of that plane and I shall utilise that experience for the persons living here. That plane won't come to serve this lower plane. But I must give a pledge to serve that plane. With this attitude I approach that plane and that sort of knowledge. I shall serve Him, that higher knowledge, I shall serve Him. And I won't try to make it serve myself or my lower plane. That idea I won't allow to enter me, in that domain. The knowledge won't come – He won't come to serve this lower plane. It is rather, I shall have the fullest tendency, that if I get that knowledge, I must serve, I must offer myself to be utilised by Him; and not that I shall try to utilise it in satisfying my lower purpose.

Praṇipātena, paripraśnena, sevayā, with the sevā-vrati, that I shall dedicate myself to Him; not that He will dedicate Himself to satisfy my lower animal purpose. So with this attitude I shall seek the plane of real knowledge and to have standard from there, to understand what is what, to have a proper estimation of the environment where we are.

Praṇipātena, paripraśnena, sevayā. This is the, the Vedic culture is always only being imparted in this process, and never by intellectual approach.

Our Prabhupāda used to give some analogy. The honey is in a bottle and the cork is there. And the bee has taken a seat on the glass, and it is trying to lick the bottle and foolish people may say that it is eating the honey.

So the intellect cannot approach ātmā, spirit. It may think that I have got that, but it is not possible. The barrier is there, like a glass barrier. So intellectual achievement is not real achievement of the higher knowledge, or higher plane. Only through faith, through sincerity, through our dedication, we can approach to be a member of that higher plane if they admit us to enter, if they give the visa. Then I can enter that plane of higher living, of divine living.

So praṇipāt, paripraśna and sevā, these three qualifications the candidate must have before he can approach the truth which is on the higher plane, on the real plane. The plane of truth should be approached with this sort of attitude; humility, sincerity and dedication – we shall approach. It is always, in Gītā it is so, in Bhāgavatam also a parallel passage; śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam.

[tasmād guruṁ prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam

śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam]

[“Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

Gurum evābhigacchet, samit:

[tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet / samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham] [“One who wants scientific knowledge about the Supreme Truth must approach a bona fide Guru and offer him everything required for sacrifice. The Guru must be fixed in the truth, having heard it from a genuine source.] [Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 1.2.12]

In Veda, in Upaniṣad also, sa gurum evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham. Gurum evābhigacchet, gurum eva, he’ll approach the spiritual master, evābhigacchet means samit, not hesitatingly or haphazardly, he’ll go with a clear heart, earnest hankering.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] With full heart he’s approaching. Not, as in our Prabhupāda’s language, ‘Not cutting any return ticket.’ He used to say always, “You have come here cutting a return ticket.” We’re not for that; come for all. So evābhigacchet, sa gurum evābhigacchet, I have seen and have got full experience of this mortal world. I have nothing to aspire after here. With this clear consciousness you go; the only way to live. This is all mortal. None can live here. To live, that is an innate tendency everywhere. No means to live here, no possibility, so only to live, only to save myself, my life, I’m running to the real shelter with this earnestness, evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ. The necessary materials the disciple will take, and also he won’t go to trouble the Guru, but with his own necessities, with his own bed and baggage and everything he will go with his own necessities. And not to show some kindness to the spiritual master, ‘that I have come to you to give you some fame and name etc.’

Evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham - What will be his position? Śrotriya, he will be well versed in the śruti-śāstra, not ordinary, but revealed truth. Revelation in many shades have been spread in the world from the upper realm. So he must have some knowledge, some spacious, graphic knowledge, extensive knowledge about the revealed truth, revelation. Śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham, and who is already practising the real life in relativity with Brahma, not with the mundane world. The Brahma means the plane which can accommodate everything, the fundamental, the homa [?], the basis of everything, Brahma, which accommodates everything within Him. Brahma-niṣṭham, and he's always living in relativity with that; not with any mortal or mundane reference is he living his life. He's always living in that plane. He's doing anything and everything always keeping him in connection with that plane, his whole life, whatever he does, only with that consciousness he'll do. Brahma-niṣṭham, in the Upaniṣad, and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

tasmād guruṁ prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam

Whenever he comes to such conclusions, all around there is mortal thing. Everything will vanish. All are shows of deception, so māyā means misconception. In the midst of misconception we are living. Whatever conception we have got about the environment are all misconceived ideas and thoughts, not proper conceptions or anything else. From the absolute sense all relative. And the provincial selfishness has been imposed on the environment, and we are living under that, within that.

So, tasmād guruṁ prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam, then he will feel the necessity of approaching the Guru, the guide, the preceptor. Jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam, with the purpose of enquiry what is, jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam, what is best in the world, śreyaḥ uttamam, mangal Good, the highest good, what is the highest good for me? With this enquiry, inquisitiveness, he will approach the guide, the spiritual master. Jijñāsuḥ śreyaḥ uttamam, highest good, śreyaḥ uttamam.

Śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, to whom he will approach? Śabde pare, śruti-śāstre, śabda-śāstre, śruti-śāstre, that is he's well versed in revealed truth, pare ca, and not only on the precepts of the revealed scriptures, but also he has come in contact with the drsya-vastu, the pare ca, śabde pare ca, who is conversant with the very object of the scripture, of the precepts. Who's conversant with the practical experience, who's established in that consciousness, in that plane. Such a man one should approach for his own relief and to understand what is the highest benefit in the world, and how that is. So this is necessary, this is there, it is real, it is not imaginary, at the same time it is difficult and it must be sought in a real process. Otherwise we shall go in the wrong way and we shall say, "Oh, there is nothing." Ha, ha. That may not be. If you go in a real process then you must come to have an experience of the divinity. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: will you ask something about your Vedic paradigms?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then he's a Doctor of Science?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's a Doctor of Neurophysiology. [Dr. Daniel Murphey, Dayādhara Gaurāṅga]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Neurophysiology means? Physiology means vitality?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Vitality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Neuro?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: About the brain and mind.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brain and mind?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: It's like biology, the study of the body, yes, but the brain specifically, the function of the brain.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But the subtle aspect of the matter?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: The subtle aspect but of course in the mundane field they think that the subtle aspect is coming from the gross. So the subtle aspect...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, mundane. But just a Swāmī Mahārāja asked Svarūpa Dāmodara, “Just set up, or set down, not fossil fatherism, but soul or God fatherism, fossil fatherism, the fossil is the father of everything. It is moving upward, not, it is coming down. In Bhagavad-gītā you must have found,

*ūrdhva-mūlam adhaḥ-śākham, aśvatthaṁ prāhur avyāyam chandāṁsi
yasya parṇāni, yas taṁ veda sa veda-vit*

[“The holy scriptures proclaim that this material world is like an unchangeable Banyan tree with its roots facing upwards and its branches down, known as an Aśvattha (transitory) tree. Its nutriments are the Vedic aphorisms, which are represented by its leaves. Whoever knows this tree in this way is a genuine knower of the Vedas.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.1]

Who knows the real purport of the Veda? Who can understand Veda in such a way, has got such sort of estimation about Veda, he has got some conception of the Vedic knowledge, who says that it's coming from up to down and not from down to up. Matter does not produce soul; it is rather that soul contains in its one negligent portion the conception of matter. Like an eczema is like a disease, the material world exists like an eczema in a wholesome body. This is Vaidantic literature. It is a miracle that a stone has produced soul. This is also very wonderful. But they think it is rather easier and more reasonable that soul has produced the conception of stone. In the soul there are many conceptions and one conception is that of stone, that of this, that of that, it is all in the plane of soul, consciousness. It is easy, it is natural. But that stone can produce soul, consciousness, intelligence, all these things, it is rather very difficult and ludicrous and inconceivable, unreasonable. The [George] Berkeley's theory, that the world is in the mind, and not that the mind is in the world, but that the world is in the mind; something like that.

yasya parṇāni, yas taṁ veda sa veda-vit*

Only deviation from the truth brings us into this mundane world, deviation from the truth cent per cent. How and where that deviation begins, that is to be thought. But deviation from the truth has taken us into this false area. And another thing I wanted to say to Mr. Svarūpa Dāmodara Prabhu, is that science only goes on increasing the circumference of the mortal world, the world of exploitation. And according to [Isaac] Newton, for every action there is equal and opposite reaction. We must be conscious of the fact. Then all acquisition that is nothing. Like boomerang it will come to zero again. So scientific progress is no progress, it is a progress in the wrong line. It is something like only borrowing money, but it is not money at all. It is only making a loan from the nature, and that will be exacted from us to the paise. So it is no gain, no profit; the exploitation to increase the circumference of the exploiting world. Everything is an object and we have vested power from the nature, taking loan, and the loan must be cleared, rest assured. No progress, wrong progress. But the first principle of any living body is to live, to save himself. That is the first principle. That should be the starting point. As in Upaniṣad we find:

asato mā sad gamayo tāmaso mā / jyoti gamayo mṛtyor mā amṛta gamayo

[Bṛhad Āraṇyaka Upaniṣad, 1st Adhyaya, 3rd Brāhmaṇa, 23rd mantra]

This should be the primary tendency of our quest. What are these three phases? Asato mā sad gamayo, I am transient, I am mortal. Make me eternal. And tāmaso, I am ignorant, in nescience. Take me to science, knowledge, from ignorance to knowledge. Jyoti gamayo, from darkness to light. And mṛtyor mā amṛta gamayo, that is ānandam, enjoyment. From sorrow, misery, guide me to sweet life there. These should be the real principles of life, and any research must be begun here only, in these three phases; to save one's own self and to save the world, and to remove the darkness and to get the light, and to remove the misery and to get the nectar, the sweet, sweet life, these three, sat-cit-ānanda, satyam-śivam-sundaram. That should be the matter of our search, line of our search; all other false scents, we are wild goose chasing. This scientific research means slaughter, suicidal, this is suicidal, this atomic research is going to prove very soon that science devours himself, itself, it sucks its own blood. This sort of civilisation sucks its own blood and it will live by feeding on the flesh of his own self or own friends or himself. Material scientific knowledge means this, but this is no knowledge. The vital acquaintance of pure, real knowledge must absolve yourself and others, remove darkness bring light, and remove misery and bring eternal peace. That should be the line of our attempt. Any attempt must be approved by these three principles of life. What do you think?

Devotees: [Laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Am I wrong?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: No. You're right, you're absolute, but...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. This is Guru's property.

Devotees: [Laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your Swāmī Mahārāja went to say all this to the West. Our Guru Mahārāja came here to spread this sort of knowledge. And we came hankering, hungry; we felt ourselves and came for such things, for our drink. And still I am engaged in that sort of quest; that this is real life. That should be real life to one and all who are in this mundane world. There cannot be any other quest or engagement, nothing of the kind, always. And through Nāma, through divine sound, it is easy to begin the spiritual quest, through sound. The most subtle thing met here; the sound. It is very, very easy and very cheap; sound, Name, sound, that is very cheap. Then others, dabhya yajña, etc, so many things to be gathered; but sound one can feel and any without any expense one can go on researching through the sound. But that sound must be that of divine character; it must show. Just as homeopathic globule, the outer figure cannot show what medicine is there. So sound, the Name Kṛṣṇa, the one who's delivering, He's will is there within. So Kṛṣṇa from the mouth of a sādhū, and Kṛṣṇa from the mouth of an ordinary person is not one and the same. Like homeopathic potency. What's the idea behind the sound? From where its origin is, in Vaikuṇṭha, in Goloka, in what rasa the origin of the sound is? That will assert. Gradually the sound will take you there, to that plane, so sound, vaikuṇṭha-nāma-grahaṇam.

[“One who chants the Holy Name of the Lord is immediately freed from the reactions of unlimited sins, even if he chants indirectly - sāṅketyaṁ (to indicating something else as in the case of Ajāmila who called for his son by the Name of Nārāyaṇa), jokingly - pārihāsyā, for musical entertainment - stobha (to use the Name with some other intention; Jīva Goswāmī has taken advantage of this in his book of Sanskrit grammar, the Harināmāmṛta-vyākaraṇa; when one is playing the mṛdanga drum, using the Names Gaura Nitāi, Gaura Nitāi to represent different drumbeats), or even neglectfully - hela (when we are rising from bed in the morning sometimes, we may neglectfully say Hare Kṛṣṇa; in this way we may cast off our indolence). This is accepted by all the learned scholars of the scriptures.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.2.14]

The Name, the sound, must be Vaikuṇṭha, come from the Infinite world, and not of any mundane origin. That is to be discerned and detected. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotees: Jaya. Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. To certain extent I'm able to give some idea.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: There's a text in the fourth chapter of Bhagavad-gītā also. I'm not sure of the Sanskrit, but it's, "Those performers who know the meaning of sacrifice..." Do you recall that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Know the meaning of yajña? Sacrifice means yajña. yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, loko 'yaṁ karma-bandhanaḥ

[tad-artham karma kaunteya, mukta-saṅgaḥ samācara]

["Selfless duty performed as an offering to the Supreme Lord is called yajña, or sacrifice. O Arjuna, all action performed for any other purpose is the cause of bondage in this world of repeated birth and death. Therefore, remaining unattached to the fruits of action, perform all your duties in the spirit of such sacrifice. Such action is the means of entering the path of devotion, and with the awakening of true perception of the Lord, it will enable you to attain to pure, unalloyed devotion, free from all material qualities (nirguṇa-bhakti)."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9]

Only work, or sacrifice, that is to be reckoned; other works gone; mere energising faults.

And:

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānāṁ, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca

[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."] [Bhagavad- gītā, 9.24]

The guardian says, "It must direct towards Me to My satisfaction, otherwise it's not yajña." Sacrifice means the sacrifice must be for the Absolute Centre, and not for any provincial purpose or any sectarianism or anything else; it must go to the Absolute. That is real yajña. Other yajnas, so many, devata upāsanā, that will go and come down, come down.

So devata upāsanā and the māyā upāsanā, that is nirguṇa, and this is all saguṇa; this is under the influence of māyā, good and bad here. And nirguṇa means that of absolute characteristic, whose value is everywhere. Just as like gold – not dollar, not money, not yen, not rouble – but gold is the common standard. So according to rasa the standard must be absolute for which no provincial ideas or sectarianism or anything like that. "So that will be the devata upāsanā and not that of Myself." And:

antavat tu phalaṁ teṣāṁ, tad bhavaty alpa-medhasām

[devān deva-yajo yānti, mad-bhaktā yānti mām apī]

["But the fruit obtained by those provincially interested worshippers of the various demigods is temporary. They reach their respective gods, but My devotees obtain Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.23]

Those little-brained persons, their attempt will be futile that goes up and comes down.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate

[“O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānām, bhoktā ca prabhuḥ eva ca

[na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

[“-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

[na mām karmāṇi limpanti, na me karma-phale spṛhā] iti mām yo 'bhijānāti, karmabhir na sa badhyate

[“I am never implicated by the law of karma which I have created to fulfil the destinies of the living beings, nor do I ever aspire for the results of action. (Since I am the Supreme Lord replete with all six opulences in full, the paltry fruits of worldly actions are totally insignificant to Me.) One who appreciates this conception of My singular independence from the actions of the beings of this world, and who can thus understand My unchangeable existence - such a person is never bound by any action. By practising pure devotional service, he surely comes to Me.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 4.14]

bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram suhṛdaṁ sarvabhūtānāṁ, jñātvā māṁ śāntim ṛcchati

[“I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshipping object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshipping Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

“Only I am the enjoyer of everything. And I am friendly to all. When you can realise that; that I am all-in-all but a friend to all at the same time, so all the misgivings will disappear in you.”

My guardian, who is the Absolute Power, is my guardian. My interest is represented in Him. I may not know of my real interest, but He knows it better, so I do not have to be afraid because the management is with Him. Absolute Good is Autocrat. That is the best arrangement. In the Absolute Good, the Autocracy, the freedom must be there, concentrated, then everyone will be benefited because the centre of all absolute power is all absolute good. So no misgivings, no room for apprehension, and then his heart will be full of peace only. Yajña.

śreyān dravyamayād yajñāj, jñāna-yajñāḥ parantapa

[sarvaṁ karmākhilam pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate]

[“O Arjuna, subduer of the enemy, of those various sacrifices, the sacrifice of knowledge as mentioned, brahmāgnāv apare (Gītā, 4.25), is far superior to the sacrifice of various articles, indicated by brahmārpaṇam brahma haviḥ (Gītā, 4.24), because all action ultimately culminates in knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.33]

All yajña, all sacrifice; yoga also:

apāne juhvati prāṇam, prāṇe 'pānam tathāpare [prāṇāpāna-gatī ruddhvā, prāṇāyāma-parāyaṇāḥ apare niyatāhārāḥ, prāṇān prāṇeṣu juhvati]

[“Others practice breath-control. Stopping the right nostril and inhaling through the left, they bring the ascending air into union with the descending; closing the left nostril and exhaling through the right, they similarly offer the descending air into the ascending; and lastly, stopping both nostrils, they check both ascending and descending airs. Yet other aspirants of sense-control offer all the senses into the life-air by reducing their food intake.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.29]

Sacrifice that is promoting welfare, dedication; by dedication we live, we grow, and by exploitation we die, we go down. And by renunciation we come to become a zero, stand still like in deep slumber - renunciation. So both exploitation and renunciation must be given up, and dedication to the centre and to all in the connection with the centre. Everything is friendly to us. I shall not exploit anything and at the same time I must not dismiss anything. Everything is friendly to me. I am to see that.

yo mām paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca mayi paśyati tasyāhaṁ na praṇaśyāmi, sa ca me na praṇaśyati

[“For one who sees Me in everything and everything in Me, I do not remain unseen and he also is not unnoticed by Me: he never sways in his thought of Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.30]

“I’m everywhere. Only finding that connection, with that angle of vision, try to find that everything is in Me, so you are out of danger.” Otherwise, what is non-God; that will take you down; the sense of non-God will take you otherwise. And if you can see the connection of God everywhere then you are saved. None will be your enemy, no foe. You are in the midst of friends. He’s everywhere and everything. Yo mām paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca mayi paśyati tasyāhaṁ na praṇaśyāmi, not lost. And sa ca me na praṇaśyati, he’s not lost in My sight and I am also not lost in his sight.”

In Bhāgavatam also:

sarva bhūteṣu yaḥ paśyed, bhagavad bhāvam [ātmanaḥ

bhūtāni bhagavatya ātmany, eṣa bhāgavatottamaḥ]

["A person advanced in devotional service sees within everything the soul of souls, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Consequently they always see Kṛṣṇa everywhere and in everything. One who is situated on the topmost platform of devotional service is known as an uttama-bhāgavata."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45]

“One who can see always My connection, and accordingly his connection with that thing; My connection and following that, his connection, calculating ‘who is he to Me, and accordingly My such connection what will be his connection. In this way he’s adjusted. He can adjust with everything. Sarva bhūteṣu yaḥ paśyed, bhagavad bhāvam ātmanaḥ, bhūtāni bhagavaty ātmany, and everything in Me and accordingly in him, how it is adjusted. Then he’s saved completely, perfectly.”

Otherwise we cannot avoid the Yāmarāja, the punishing judge is there, he won’t allow us to take French leave. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. So we may meet several times. In the meantime if you arrange to put some questions to ask then I shall try to clear out...

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: I was wondering...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One question?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, he was wondering.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes. It seems that this yajña in one sense it bestows on the performer the benefit regardless. But in another sense the Bhagavad-gītā is saying that only those performers of sacrifice who know the meaning of sacrifice... Can you phrase it better?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. Anything that is offered to Kṛṣṇa is yajña.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But it is also the custom in the Vedas to perform yajña and before different types of gods, demigods. But the yajña that's performed towards Kṛṣṇa, that is the right type, real type of yajña.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And that is a yajña with knowledge.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is truth, but may not be an intellectual scholar, but intuitively if one performs yajña towards Kṛṣṇa, guided by his previously acquired tendency of devotion, he'll bring the right thing.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It is not a scholarly knowledge, but it's knowing the truth.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: to know the meaning.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja is saying that yajñas can be performed even for demigods...

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But in that yajña one doesn't know the purport.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Right, one doesn't know the purport. But only when it's done for Kṛṣṇa then that yajñas performed in truth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the conception of Kṛṣṇa should also be proper. The Māyāvādīs and others, they also recognise Kṛṣṇa, but Kṛṣṇa in māyā, but nirguṇa Kṛṣṇa, that we must have in view, and it is the question of faith which is acquired by previous sukṛti.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, I just remembered one discussion I had with Dayādhara Prabhu a long time back when we were in America. One day we were discussing about the material nature, like earth, water, fire, air, ether, and then mind, intelligence, and false ego. Now, by means of material science we can somehow perceive these gross material elements, like earth, water, fire, air, ether, bhūmir āpo 'nalo vāyuḥ kham [Bhagavad-gītā, 7.4] and then we can even understand the existence of mind and intelligence. But how to establish the concept of false ego by means of modern science?

End of 81.02.28.C

81.02.28.D

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That analogy may not be very clear. The false ego means the ego who's receiving and transmitting false information perhaps. Gathering false knowledge, receiving and transmitting what is falsehood. Then that sort of yantra, a false machine; receiving false news and transmitting false news. That machine; is it false or is it real? So it is like that, gathering false news and also transmitting false news; what is not wholesome, what is opposite to our real interest. We want to live – a little while ago I told, our innate tendency to live, but it is engaged in false information. What hampers me, it is not correcting that, and not transmitting that. It is deceiving my inner nature, inner necessity, it is working against my inner interest. So this is false. The computer is false; recording false things and transmitting false news. So it is like a computer, the ego. Because it is dealing with falsehood, so it is a false ego.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Duality.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dwaita, duality. That false information is a duality of the material nature.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Duality, that is not very comprehensive. Ha, ha. Duality also may be real duality. Bhagavān and His potency, that is also duality. But this is all false, so not duality it will be acquainted with. It is unreal, one or two or many, the wholesale is false, forgery.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Then what is the process...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...to get out of falsehood, false knowledge.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: ...the process is for one to approach a bona fide spiritual master.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The process is to approach a bona fide spiritual master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, the sukṛti will guide us, faith that comes developed from sukṛti. The first stage ajñāta-sukṛti, then jñāta-sukṛti, then śraddhā. In śraddhā we are on the surface, then we can be found with tendency to search after truth from a true agent. And below that, under the foundation, underground, both ajñāta-sukṛti and jñāta-sukṛti, that is to be taken up some other day. Some other time I shall take up that thing.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: ...one point and another point, but that he never comes to the conclusion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tarkā-pratiṣṭhānāt [Brahma-sūtra, 2.1.11] Only argument cannot reach any conclusion. So śraddhā can give us, and no discussion can give birth to any fulfilment in conclusion, no conclusion. Śraddhā only can surely take us to a particular plane, and nothing else. The very conclusion, it is so high, only śraddhā can reach. Just as only ether can reach the sun, moon, and other stars, and not air and other mediums. So to approach the infinite world only śraddhā comes to our relief and nothing else. No knowledge of experience of this world, however bold, it is like there around the globe, the intellect or knowledge, something like that. The atmosphere around the earth, that is limitation, with limited knowledge, because that is drawn from the experience of the earth. It cannot pierce through the domain. But only ether connects everything. So śraddhā, faith can connect from the farthest quarter to take us up. That is also in the case of infinite that is also a deeper faith, deeper faith, faith also of different types.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, I wanted to ask you one question about śaktyāveśa Avatāra. Is it that the individual jīva who's acting in the position of a śaktyāveśa Avatāra, he descends, or that the śakti, this āveśa, empowerment, that that is descending?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I'm saying that a jīva, he gets the śaktyāveśa, empowerment...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A qualified jīva, not ordinary jīva, but a qualified jīva; of course as it is required for the purpose, such qualification. Then the particular potency of the Lord, He enters or inspires him. Just as, tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye:

*[janmādy asya yato 'nvayād itararaś cārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāṭ tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ tejo-vāri-mṛdām yathā
vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā*

dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahī]

[“O my Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, son of Vasudeva, O all pervading Personality of Godhead, I offer my respectful obeisances unto You. I meditate upon

Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa because He is the Absolute Truth and the primeval cause of all causes of the creation, sustenance and destruction of the manifested universes. He is directly and indirectly conscious of all manifestations, and He is independent because there is no other cause beyond Him. It is He only who first imparted the Vedic knowledge unto the heart of Brahmājī, the original living being. By Him even the great sages and demigods are placed into illusion, as one is bewildered by the illusory representations of water seen in fire, or land seen on water. Only because of Him do the material universes, temporarily manifested by the reactions of the three modes of nature, appear factual, although they are unreal. I therefore meditate upon Him, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Who is eternally existent in the transcendental abode, which is forever free from the illusory representations of the material world. I meditate upon Him, for He is the Absolute Truth.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]

A current, a flow, comes to him, a flow of supply comes to him and inspires him and makes him dance in a particular way.

Acyutānanda told once, sometimes when he began the work there, then he was compelled to stay with Dāmodara Mahārāja for some time. Dāmodara Mahārāja kept him in a room and went to collect some funds, and one day he had to fast, nothing in the room even to cook. So then he came here. “The Dāmodara Mahārāja has gone. The two or three days of rice etc he gave to me, he’s not returning, and nothing, I’m fasting.” After one day’s fasting he came to me. Then I consoled him, he was very much troubled. “No, no, Kṛṣṇa is dancing.” He answered, “Kṛṣṇa is dancing; in His own way He’s dancing, and so many jīvas they’re cast this side, that side, He does not care for us. In this way. He’s dancing in His own way and we are pushed this side that side, by the pressure of the pushing of His līlā. It does not matter.”

Devotee: Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Fossil fatherism, and Vedānta means subjective evolution.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Objective evolution is the Darwin theory. The stone evolving the consciousness. Matter evolves consciousness. That is objective. What is object, that is existing first, and then by its development, the life coming, the consciousness coming, the intelligence coming from the stone. That is objective. But object is a relative term. Without subject object cannot stand. Subject is the primary substance and then whatever is to be felt, that is only an idea in the subjective ocean. So subject is first. Consciousness is first. And then it develops in the lower line. Guṇa-pravṛddhā viśaya-pravālāḥ [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.2] Prakṛtermahān ahaṅkara pancatran mahatrāṇi. The object, the gross coming from the subtle, not that subtle coming from the gross.

mayādhyakṣeṇa prakṛtiḥ, sūyate sa-carācaram / [hetunānena kaunteya, jagad viparivartate] ["O Kaunteya, My deluding potency, under My direction gives birth to this universe of moving and stationary beings. And for this reason, that is, since only a created object is subject to destruction, the universe is created again and again."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.10]

A particular potency, when that is interfered with, or handled by Kṛṣṇa in a particular form as Mahā Viṣṇu, then prakṛti begins to move and to produce something. The first product is mahat tattva from prakṛti, and that is a general individual ego. And then gradually so many plural individual egos are being created, emanating from the general ego. In this way it is coming. From ego comes the experience of this world. Some goes in tama guṇa to rūpa, and raja guṇa eye, and sattva guṇa sun, light. In this way; ether, ear, and sound, in this way raja, tama guṇa, this is being bifurcated and so many complex things. But from subtle gross is coming; that is vaidantic. And from gross subtle is being produced; that is something like Darwin's theory. But at the present, vaijñānī, they're fond of Darwin's theory; the gross producing subtle, and ultimately stone can produce consciousness. But it is difficult to make them understand that intelligence is more valuable. Intelligence can produce. It is easy for intelligence, consciousness to produce stone; but it is difficult for the stone to produce consciousness, that is more valuable, and the stone is less valuable. So more valuable things can produce less valuable things, but that less valuable things can produce more valuable things; it is difficult to explain. Something like that.

So vaidantic vicāra, that consciousness producing everything, consciousness is eternal, and this is not eternal. This is a temporary production. And stone cannot produce consciousness. Consciousness is the eternal subject, pure consciousness, ātmā, sanātana, nitya; that is consciousness. That is not a product but productive, that can produce everything, consciousness. Ether can produce the air, fire, earth; but the stone, earth, cannot produce ether. Something like that.

The sukṣma, the subtle, that is more efficient than the gross, stula, the gross. This is of secondary importance. The principal importance that is soul, ātmā, consciousness; that is of primary importance. That is the real party, party is consciousness. The gross cannot be a party. The starting point must begin from the party, the interested thing. The soul is endowed with interest, but stone has got no interest, no plan, no purpose, no project; nothing of the kind. Plan and purpose is pervading everywhere and that is the important thing. And according to that the original characteristic of the Absolute should be, the original substance should be calculated. And things of limited attributes and capacity, that cannot be the ultimate cause. Things of unlimited quality and capacity, that should be taken as the cause of the whole. That is reasonable, more reasonable.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: Science is beginning to realise that, slowly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Slowly. Science meets philosophy – there are some who think that science is gradually trying to meet philosophy. But in philosophy also there are different kinds of thinkers. There's also Mill, Hume, Locke, etc, and Kant and Hegel, and Berkeley, ideologists. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: There was a big international science conference in Toronto, in January [3-8]. So I went to participate. There were five thousand scientist from all over the world; so all the scientists were discussing about moral and ethical issues in today's science and engineering studies. So there was very much like a religious tone that the whole scientists were discussing, because they find that this material education, it doesn't lead to something of higher significance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The tendency of exploitation cannot help us. That is only borrowing from nature. Science is only borrowing from nature. But there is reaction, the Newton is there, to every action there is equal and extorting power from the nature. And that is you are borrowing and you will have to pay that. So the whole civilisation is like a civilisation of loan, and when we are to repay the loan we'll be bankrupt. And also, this is wild goose chasing, it is unnecessary. The real necessity – you are to begin with this.

asato mā sad gamayo tāmaso mā, jyoti gamayo mṛtyor mā amṛta gamayo

["I am mortal, make me eternal. I am ignorant, filled with nescience, take me to science, knowledge. And I am threatened with misery, guide me towards bliss."]

[Bṛhad Āraṇyaka Upaniṣad, 1st Adhyaya, 3rd Brāhmaṇa, 23rd mantra]

The beginning will be how to save myself and to save others. We are all threatened with mortality. Every second we are attacked by death, every second we are dying; so many atoms in our body dying. So we are always under the threatening by death. So first principal, first starting must be the point how to save myself and at the same time how to save others. That should be the first problem, the starting point. Not, “How can I increase the circumference of my exploitation and I can lord it over my environment?” That is the wrong starting. The starting should be to save oneself in the fight with the environment. How can I save myself? Asato mā sad gamayo, “I am threatened by asat, mortality, death. Please guide me towards eternal existence.” And the second, tāmaso mā, jyoti gamayo, “I am ignorant. From ignorance guide me towards light.” And mṛtyor mā amṛta gamayo, “I am threatened with misery, guide me towards bliss.” These three should be the guiding principal of every life, and it should be normal. And by extending the space of exploitation, that is the wrong way. You will be exploited, surely. Nature won’t forgive you. It is all blank cheque. Whatever the scientist are giving to us we are to pay back with interest. That is the very basis of Indian philosophy. And you are to start in that way.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: So this mentality of exploitation...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To analyse what is the mind, understanding the reason faculty, what really is our need, and we must work up to that to the point, not anomaly, to the point. Our energy should be invested rightly, not wrongly. And what for, what is the immediate need? That is self saving – the first principal of life will be to save ones own self, asato ma sad gamayo, and the next, to save others. And then not only saving, but from ignorance to light, tamaso ma, jyoti gamayo, light from ignorance – nescience to science, I want to go. But what is science? Science means not just to extend the jurisdiction of exploitation, knowing fully well that there'll be reaction. That is jñāna papi. If knowingly one commits an offence, then he's charged with more punishment. So what is it that they're doing? They're suicidal. And it is also clearly proved they're threatening each other with atom bombs, as the highest product of the scientists.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: That's the perfect job of exploitation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Exploitation - and renunciation is not the remedy. That is the next question. Then the question of renunciation, the way of renunciation will be our remedy? The first answer may come like that. The Buddhist and the Śāṅkarites, they say, "Yes, renunciation is the remedy. Leave everything." But the Vaiṣṇavas come with a third proposal. "No. It is temporary. If you back the land of exploitation, but one cannot exist without engagement. Only complete renunciation, withdrawal means to resolve to zero, that is not desirable." So the Vaiṣṇavas they say that there is a land of dedication, and that is the normal. Every unit is dedicating. The land is constructed by the unit of dedication and that is our inner ātmā. Not mind, not this mundane intelligence, but transcending all these things our real – that is the soul – has got some relationship with the upper and subtler realm, the land of dedication, which begins from Vaikuṇṭha and ends in Goloka. Vaikuṇṭha is the calculative dedication, and bound by constitution and law, and looking at some interest of dedication and calculation. But in Goloka, in that layer it is spontaneous, it is desperate and careless of its own self, so intense, and that is the highest. And by the work and dedication of all, that makes it a very heavenly area. All dedicating, none exhorting so that is the happiness at its highest degree is to be found there, everyone enjoying. All the idle men they meet together then that will be like hell. And all the working men meet together there will be immense opulence. So everyone is dedicating to the highest point. So opulence, or bliss is flowing everywhere. No want. So that dedication is divinity life, and all Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that is beauty not power, but beauty and love that reigns there. The king is that of beauty and love, not forcing, not labour by force but labour of love and beauty. Satyam, śivam, sundaram – beauty is controlling, love is controlling, not power. That is Goloka. This is Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavism, Mahāprabhu, and your Prabhupāda he carried the banner of such creed. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: That is why desperation is the quality in Gokula, versus calculation, the quality in Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vaikuṇṭha is calculating and Gokula is not calculating, it is spontaneous and irresistible. There the dedication is spontaneous and irresistible; cannot be hindered or opposed, such a natural flow, in its intense form. And concerning that Kṛṣṇa as being in the centre – Rādhārāṇī, Yaśodā, in different rasa, there are so many leaders.

_____ Then what were you talking?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, so you said about śaktyāveśa Avatāra, how Kṛṣṇa's empowering him, this jīva. So you mentioned about dancing like a puppet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa's dancing, and waves are passing this way that way, and so many things. Dancing means His līlā. From the centre the waves emanating, and influencing dancing, others in that līlā. And that is especially in Goloka, and here it is very hard and those fortunate they may feel the wave of that dancing. They're mostly māyā dancing, Mahādeva dancing, Śiva's dancing is something like an epic, where the Cāṇakya and Candragupta's characters have been given to us. The Śiva is dancing, he wants to dance, but he can't. If he throws his hands upwards then so many planets and stars are being displaced. If he pushes his heat a little towards the earth then the earth is shivering. So the poor Śiva could not dance with his full heart. The Cāṇakya was such a great politician that he didn't find any opponent, so he had much sorrow in his heart. "I don't find a fighter for a proper duel." That was the hint in the beginning of Śiva's dancing, and everything is being topsy-turvy. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So śaktyāveśa Avatāra, śakti āveśa, the potency of a particular agent may be transmitted in another. So Baladeva śaktyāveśa – sometimes Mahāprabhu showed in His līlā in Nadia – mordanu mordanu [?] Caitanyadeva, Nimāi Paṇḍita at that time, He says, "Give some wine, give some wine." Baladeva was fond of wine. So the devotees thought, "Why Nimāi Paṇḍita says 'give Me wine, give Me wine? I want wine.'" Then they gradually came to understand that Baladeva is within Him with His potency and it is Baladeva's nature that is displaying mordanu [?]. So sometimes some divine potency comes down and tries to keep the jīva under his control. And making him an instrument he does in his way, as śaktyāveśa. And when he leaves he's there as an ordinary man. That is śaktyāveśa.

Paraśurāma, he's a case of śaktyāveśa, but after he met Rāmacandra the śakti was drawn away by Rāmacandra, Dāsarāthi Rāma. And then after that, Paraśurāma was no longer śaktyāveśa Avatāra, and he was defeated by his own disciple (Viśva, Bhīṣma) [?], Paraśurāma. But before that Paraśurāma was undefeatable, when śaktyāveśa, the higher potency was there.

So śaktyāveśa, śakti and āveśa, if śakti is withdrawn, śakti may come, potency may come and potency may go; and the potency coming in his heart occupies him, and through him he works in his own way, in that body. That is śaktyāveśa Avatāra. Avatāra means Avatāram, from the higher sphere He's coming down, Avatāram, coming from up to down, that is Avatāra - who are coming from up to down, Avatāram Avatāra. Then the higher power came down in the lower position and He did His works and then He retired and the previous man is there. Sometimes with the passing of the instrument the power disappears, and sometimes living, just as in the case of Paraśurāma, the living person he retired. It may be.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, in the Atlantic, our Guru Mahārāja he wrote two poems. In the one poem [Prayer to the Lotus Feet of Kṛṣṇa] you discussed the other day about relationship with Kṛṣṇa. But in the other poem [Mārkine Bhāgavata-dharma] he said this śakti nāhi, that, "I don't have this śakti or this potency." And he was praying to Kṛṣṇa, "That by Your potency You can make my words suitable."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He felt that his Gurudeva had given some responsibility to discharge some duty. And he found within him that that task is a very great one, and he could not think himself fit to discharge the duty, that great task. So fervently he prayed to Kṛṣṇa, "Come to my relief, my dear friend, come to my relief. My Gurudeva has given his acquaintance also, and he has given a burden on me to do this. But I am helpless, I can't do. I crave Your mercy, Your kindness, so that I may keep the order of my Gurudeva." This fervent prayer drew Kṛṣṇa, "Yes. I'm at your back. Don't be afraid." Kṛṣṇa, maybe Baladeva – Baladeva in this sense is the leader of the sākhya group, one thing, and Baladeva is Nityānanda. And Nityānanda has got special favour on the clan. The suvarṇa vāṇī - Nityānanda was very fond of them. Almost all of them accepted Nityānanda Prabhu. And Nityānanda's grace does not know any law or rule.

preme matta nityānanda kṛpā-avatāra, uttama adhama kichu nā kare vicāra

*[ye āge paḍaye tāre karaye nistāra, ataeva nistārīlā mo-hena durācāra]
[ataeva mo adhame korilena para]*

[Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī says: “Lord Nityānanda, who is always intoxicated by divine love, is the great saviour of destitute jīvas and the magnanimous incarnation of divine mercy. His benevolent nature does not discriminate between high and low, or qualified and unqualified. He simply delivers, from material existence, anyone who comes before Him and falls at His lotus feet surrendering themselves to Him with all sincerity. Therefore He also mercifully delivered me who am so fallen and disqualified.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.208-9]

No consideration for qualification. Nityānanda’s nature is such. Baladeva and Nityānanda have infinite power, masters of infinite resources. He does no care for any law, or whether he’s needy or not needy, He may not care for that. He’s master of infinite store and He’s pushing to this that without caring much whether he’s a fit or unfit beggar. That is the general nature of Nityānanda. If there’s a slight demand then there’ll be no question.

This is my conception. That his earnestness, his helplessness, for the duty, the magnitude of duty was so much, and at the same time his selflessness and earnest prayer, “That I must do, discharge the duty. What hint I got from my Guru Mahārāja to do the duty, I cannot but do it, but I am unfit.” These two things made the higher power move and from there power came, and that power worked within him. And such a tremendous work was possible in his old age and in a short time, heroes work. The magnitude of work is unfathomable because it is not an ordinary thing, not primary things of the religious conception, but of the highest, according to us. The highest thing is so extensively spread, it is almost impossible, and that has been possible by him.

pr̥thivīte āche yata nagarādi-grama, sarvatra pracāra haibe mora nāma

[Caitanya Mahāprabhu said, “I have come to inaugurate the chanting of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa, and that Name will reach every nook and corner of the universe.”] [Caitanya- Bhāgavat]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s divine vision could see, “Through reason, through spiritual reason, that what Mahāprabhu gave, it is very easy and very reasonable and very taking. Why would the intelligentsia bar itself by not accepting such easy and available and such higher things? It is impossible for the intelligentsia to deny this what Mahāprabhu has given. In the world of religion, this prema dharma, this cannot but be unique and it must be widely accepted, cannot but be, it is intrinsic nature. And it is meant for Kali-yuga.” This was the foresight of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

And Prabhupāda [Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura] took up that thread, to work, and Swāmī Mahārāja, just as you told that Buddhadeva preached Buddhism and Asoka made it widely preached, felt. So Prabhupāda began and Swāmī Mahārāja very extensively and wonderfully he has extended that thing door to door in the world. And through literature also he has spread it like anything. And the people they will come to see, “What is this?” Gradually. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: Mahārāja, I want to introduce devotees. This is Atreya Ṛṣi, he’s from Iran, and he’s the GBC for...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Arabic Gītā gentleman? Atreya Ṛṣi. I have got a copy of Gītā in Arabic script. Is it made by him?

Atreya Ṛṣi: No. I have done the Farsi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. That may be Farsi. I don't know. But the script is Farsi script?

Atreya Ṛṣi: Yes. It's an Arabic script. Upaniṣad...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I got the copy of Bhagavad-gītā.

Atreya Ṛṣi: That is Arabic and that is done by Harikeśa Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, that is Harikeśa Mahārāja. And you did in Farsi language, Upaniṣad. And now...

Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī: Prabhupāda inspired him to preach Kṛṣṇa consciousness specifically in Moslem countries. And also he's a, we are co-directors for this Bhaktivedanta Institute, so we're beginning to work together in San Francisco. So some students and members have come from San Francisco just to have your darśana. There are ten of us, and some Vaiṣṇavas from Manipur. So I think we'll be leaving. And I think Bhakti Caru is coming tomorrow. We'll come again with Bhakti Caru. I think we have some duties for other things.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?] The living entities, those who come to this material platform, generally they're from the brahmajyoti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Then at the same time we heard that every living entity actually has a relationship with Kṛṣṇa in one of the five rasas, one of the five mellows.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is the plurality, by analysing svarūpa. Just as from taṭasthā-loka it is possible to come down here, so also the possibility is there to enter into that domain. The innate identity is within. Yesterday I dealt with this, perhaps with Tamal Kṛṣṇa Prabhu's group. This was dealt with yesterday, that generally from brahma-loka. In brahma-loka that is non-differentiated unit of consciousness, and with the possibility of bright and dark. Dark possibility takes him this side, and bright possibility... when analysed then it is found that their svarūpa is suitable for such and such service in the Vaikuṇṭha or Goloka. So they have got their fixed svarūpa, some in Vaikuṇṭha, some in Goloka. In Goloka also there are five rasas. So it is within. If one can see into that deep nature, then it may be detected that in svarūpa in germinal form there is that, though the origin is in brahma-loka. This is the general case. Then there is special capacity of Kṛṣṇa of transformation; very rarely. From one group can be led to another group. From sākhya rasa Śyāmānanda Prabhu was transformed into mādhurya rasa. Ostentatiously it was seen; very rare.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But once you told me Mahārāja that Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura said that Śyāmānanda Prabhu's actual rasa was mādhurya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mādhurya; it was not detected perfectly by his previous Guru. Of course he has written like that, but also Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has written in perhaps Tattva-sūtra, that Kṛṣṇa can do anything.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. His inconceivable potency.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So even the experts fail to detect the svarūpa, but it was there. And still, Kṛṣṇa's will is supreme. He can even do away with the existence of the jīva, though it is nitya. It has also been told like that. But it is not very palatable to us. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is asking, "What's the difference between the svarūpa-siddhi and vastu-siddhi?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svarūpa-siddhi is the completion of internal realisation, and vastu-siddhi is both internal and external – vastu-siddhi.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In svarūpa-siddhi one doesn't have anything to do on the material platform? I'm sorry. In svarūpa-siddhi he still has some link to the material platform?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He may exist on the material platform, but his complete cent per cent engagement will be otherwise. In vastu-siddhi he's taken away from here and posted there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So in the svarūpa-siddhi, because of the material connection, are material urges or desires entering the consciousness?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, it may be in the background, the material conception of the world in the background, in svarūpa-siddhi. In vastu-siddhi there's no consciousness of materialism. Even the material consciousness, that part is also converted into spiritualism – no vision of materialism, even in the background.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Kṛṣṇa says,

mām ca yo 'vyabhicāreṇa, bhakti-yogena sevate sa guṇān samatītyaitān, [brahma-bhūyāya kalpate]

[“One who renders service exclusively unto Me (in My form of Śyāmasundara, Rāma, Nārāyaṇa, etc.) by the path of pure devotion (unadulterated by all spurious attempts based on exploitation or renunciation), and who does not fall down in any circumstances, absolutely transcends these three modes of material nature. One thus come to the level of Brahman and becomes qualified for the cognisance of their internal divine identity.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.26]

So if we engage in śravaṇam kīrtanam viṣṇoḥ – isn't that liberating?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Just being engaged in śravaṇam and kīrtana, isn't it liberating? Isn't that process going to liberate us?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of course.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So then the devotee...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only liberation – liberation unconsciously takes place, but he enters into the real serving spiritual domain proper. Śravaṇa kīrtana helps us enter into the reality, and emancipation or liberation is automatically done unconsciously. When you are making progress in the positive side, the negative side is necessarily going back. Liberation, on the way, it will become Liberation does not mean to get out of a particular thing, particular idea, but the ideal exploitation and renunciation. That means that everything will come within Kṛṣṇa consciousness, nothing will remain outside.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Svarūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ. To be situated in one's sva-rūpa is mukti. [muktir hitvānyathā rūpaṁ svarūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ]

["Liberation is the permanent situation of the form of the living entity after he gives up the changeable gross and subtle material bodies."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.10.6]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In sva-rūpa mukti the positive conception of mukti is there.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And that means relationship with Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, with Kṛṣṇa, kāṛṣṇa, both, Kṛṣṇa and kāṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa sambandhiya, everything connected with Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Now Mahārāja, say the spiritual master he is personally situated in one particular rasa with Kṛṣṇa. Now the disciples that he takes, are they necessarily going to belonging to the same rasa or can the disciples be of various, different rasas also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: May be of different rasa, to certain extent under his care. Then we'll say, "That master he has come in this rasa." In this way he will find - oneness and difference, bhedābheda.

_____ [?] When will you have to go? Ten or...? [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, if say the spiritual master is in mādhurya rasa and his disciple is in sākhya rasa, so how the sorting out will take place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If the Guru is in mādhurya rasa, then it is no difficulty. But if Guru is in sākhya rasa, less, then of course a little difficulty arises. But he will see in two ways it may be completed. As we find Narottama Ṭhākura says, "When will Lokanātha take me and he will connect me with Rūpa Goswāmī?" Kavi hati te diya rupa stane amara ke daran [?]

The Guru from this rasa, my help so far, and next you will get help from this person, or this gentleman. In this way he may take to. In Jaiva Dharma, that Vijay, first Brajranatha and Vijay they had some talk with Raghunātha Dāsa Bābājī, and there Brajranatha was completed. And Vijay went to Purī and there he again got that śikṣā of mādhurya rasa in some other...from there. So it may be that also.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Jaya Śrīpad Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja Ki Jay. Sevā Vṛnda Ki Jaya. Tamal Kṛṣṇa Prabhu Ki Jaya. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Caitanya. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Once Mahārāja, you told me regarding that, that how it takes place, and you gave an example. That say somebody is actually in mādhurya rasa and he's accepted by someone who's in actually sākhya rasa, so then the leader of the group from which group he actually belongs, the leader comes and tells the leader of the sākhya rasa, like Lalitā Devī comes and tells Subala that, "Subala, I'm taking this person from your group into my group."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It is written in a book, Śyāmānanda Vilāsa, or something like that, that Rādhārāṇī proposed to Subala, "I want to take one of your followers into My group."

"Yes, yes. I'm very pleased to sanction. It is very good. It is well and good. He will get the better chance. You do that." In the case of Śyāmānanda Prabhu it has been written like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So if the living entity actually came from the Brahman platform, the brahmajyoti, that means that he has an unlimited scope when he goes back to the spiritual sky he is open to be situated in any of the rasas; as he progresses?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He may have possibility of entering into any of the rasas. But with the development it will be detected properly, where he goes, and where the final settlement is. By the process of development that will be detected where he's finally to be posted in service, his fitness, according to the inner fitness where he's to be posted finally. In the gradual internal evolution it can be ascertained; the fitness. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Mahārāja, in the development of the body in the embryo, in the first stages of life...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In the development of the embryo in the womb.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: We are to understand that the subtle body pervades the gross body.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you understand that?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The subtle body pervades the gross body.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: And during embryologic development we see that the gross body takes a form which is first not so definitive. Such as...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The gross body develops in such a way that in the beginning it is not definitive.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The subtle body is there. Suppose when a man is sleeping, then where is the subtle body? Subtle body is there, and it is not growing when in sleep. So the subtle body may remain in its own way. It may also sleep, it may work. But it is told that within seven months or so the subtle body awakens, as it may be said. The awakening of the subtle body in a particular stage otherwise it is in sleeping condition, it may be.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: In the development we understand that we get the next form due to the mentality at the time of death in the former form. In the human form at the time of death, depending on your mentality, your desires, you get the next body.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. There may be so many desires, but a particular desire which is more intense and urgent, that takes the next chance, gets the next chance of birth. There are so many.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So in the development of the next body, is the subtle body supervening that development, or is it coming directly from Paramātmā, or how the gross...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The subtle body is not with Paramātmā. That is in the subtle world. That is a member of the subtle world. And the gross body, as much developed and fit of its activity, the subtle body is expressed thereby so much. [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja says that say something has to be done through a machine, as long as the machine is not complete the performance will not be there. But as soon as the machine is complete, then only will the performance be done.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The battery is there but if there's a defect in the machine, the machine is not working fully. The machine is defective but the battery is there.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So how is the machine to work?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The body is the machine and the spirit soul is the doer. As long as the body is not complete the spirit soul will not be able to act through it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It cannot express itself fully. In that way we may surmise.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So the body is developed and given to the ātmā...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Now the question he's asking is how the body develops...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This analogy you may continue to ātmā and sukṣma body, subtle body. Ātmā's position is higher than subtle body. The ātmā may be there, and it depends on the subtle body as well as the gross body to express its activity into this mundane world.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But Mahārāja, the ātmā is not acting in the body, in the womb the ātmā is dormant. So how is the body developing, and who is developing the body? Material nature, prakṛti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prakṛti without the connection of ātmā it cannot develop. The soul must have at least some passive connection. Otherwise it is all darkness. Ātmā is only light. Any expression presupposes ātmā. Any assertion presupposes ātmā.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: The detail is that in the development, like I said, it's not distinct at first, you may develop a hand embryologically, in the embryo, but it's like a plate. And then with further development the cells die in between and the fingers develop.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When in different types of species it may go on in a different process, and that does not matter. But in general without ātmā nothing can be asserted.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dayādhara Prabhu is asking Mahārāja, how that takes place?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We are to think in this way, that everything is a concept. Beyond that we can't know anything. It is not possible. The conception, the ātmā is presupposed to assert any sort of existence, even darkness. If ātmā is not there nothing is there. The very root of conception, how can you assert the existence of anything? So ātmā is self evident truth; that ātmā should be accepted first in the existence, in the least of existence. Then the other different sorts of existence you can bring in. Otherwise it is not possible. The consciousness you are to admit first. Whatever you'll say that is a sort of consciousness, a sort of concept, even darkness, even ignorance, a particular concept. But it presupposes a consciousness, the assertion. The doubter must be there, according to Descartes. "I doubt." But the doubter is to be accepted? The first principal is self evident that we are to accept ātmā. Otherwise nothing can be explained. If I am not there then how can I assert this thing, that thing, so many things? So the first party must be ātmā, and then you can speculate many things on this.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So the ātmā is supplying the energy for the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ātmā means consciousness in the general sense; ātmā means consciousness in this case. Not jīvātmā or Paramātmā. You are to go on in deep thinking, then Paramātmā or God exists first, then anything. But higher type of consciousness, that must exist first, self evidently, then other things may be attributed within Him.

Devotee: But I want to put one question at your lotus feet. Without the help of soul, proper development of body is not at all possible, is it? Because the development of a dead body is not possible; the soul helps the material body develop, gradually.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Without soul no development, no function, no activity, nothing is possible.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But consciousness pervades many forms from one celled animals, bacteria, all the way to man...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In different places, even in tree, even in stone, ātmā is there. Everywhere it may be there.

Devotee: And even in a dead body also? Because a dead body is also a collection of atoms.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not that ātmā, but in different types, there are so many germs etc.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: In the development we see that there's in the cell, the DNA, the chromosomes, they give the cell growth, some direction, a function. But before that determination there's another determination that the scientist finds that is inexplicable. And that determination occurs due to the position of the cell in the embryo. So in order to try to explain to the scientist, to the material scientist, what that controlling factor is for the growth of the form of the embryo – that is my question.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I'll speak in English so if I'm mistaken you can correct me. In the cells it's noticed that the growth of the cells are directed or controlled by the DNA, the chromosomes. The chromosome is controlling the growth of the particular cell.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Not the growth, the differentiation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is delegated power.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be delegated power from the higher quarter.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes. So the ātmā, or consciousness...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The question is that we see that subtle matter is helping to grow the gross matter. You see when we want to capture a dacoit, we, with the help of another dacoit _____ so something like that. The subtle matter has the power delegated to it and helping there. The immediate centre of development is there, but that is not the ultimate thing.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: But that is determining the detail of the development, no, the subtle body?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You'll see in the computer also there is a guide, though to an ordinary man a computer is independent. But still one guide is necessary to handle the computer. So there may be so many things in our perception, not only that this is the perfect centre, but that may not be the higher centre behind. In this way we are to consider. In the process there are so many stations, so many centres, so many stations. But we are to deal with the ultimate.

Devotee: Subjective evolution [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Subjective evolution, not objective evolution but subjective evolution. This vaicitra, this variegatedness, is the result of subjective evolution, in different...

*ūrdhva-mūlam adhaḥ-śākham, aśvatthaṁ prāhur avyāyam chandāṁsi
yasya parṇāni, yas taṁ veda sa veda-vit*

[“The holy scriptures proclaim that this material world is like an unchangeable Banyan tree with its roots facing upwards and its branches down, known as an Aśvattha (transitory) tree. Its nutriments are the Vedic aphorisms, which are represented by its leaves. Whoever knows this tree in this way is a genuine knower of the Vedas.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.1]

Guṇa-pravṛddhā viṣaya-pravālāḥ.

[adhaś cordhvaṁ prasṛtās tasya śākhā, guṇa-pravṛddhā viṣaya-pravālāḥ adhaś ca mūlāny anusantatāni, karmānubandhīni manuṣya-loke]

[“Some of its branches extend upwards (in the planets of the demigods and celestial beings), some of the branches extend downwards (in the planets of the humans, animals, and lower species), and its mature (three modes of) nature and aim and object (of sound, smell, touch, taste, and form) are its fresh, young shoots. Some aerial roots also extend downwards, to take root in the land of exploitation, within the human plane.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.2]

From subtle the gross is springing up. Guṇa, pravālāḥ means branch, guṇa-pravṛddhā viṣaya-pravālāḥ. Viṣaya, the colour is coming from the eye; rather, from one thing three branches – the sun, the eye, and the colour. So the ether, the ear, and sound; from common different branches this is springing up from one common thing. From the subjective, from the subtle, it is coming into gross.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So the subtle body is active in a different way in the embryo than after birth?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may develop in a different way. But we are concerned with the general thing, not any particular details. That is with the scientists.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Can we look at it this way then Mahārāja, that everything is being directed by the spirit soul, like some matter is being controlled by the spirit soul and that matter and the spirit soul is controller of the body. And due to the different consciousness of the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A delegated power, the prakṛti-sthāni karṣati.

[mamaivāṁśo jīva-loke, jīva-bhūtaḥ sanātanaḥ manaḥ ṣaṣṭhānīndriyāṇi, prakṛti-sthāni karṣatī]

[“The soul is a part of Me, as My separate fragmental particle or potency. Although he is eternal, he acquires the mind and five perceptual senses, which are parts of material nature as creations of māyā, My deluding potency.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.7]

Lord says in Gītā,

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāni, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

[“Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

Some power delegated in the nature, nature is doing automatically, but His sanction is there always. Otherwise not even a straw can move, but delegated power in different places, not direct connection. He says, suppose a criminal is going to be hanged – who is the cause? Is God the cause? He’s the cause of everything, but still not the direct cause. The government is not the cause fully. Real cause is the man who committed the offence, murder, and he’s going to be hanged. His action is the real cause. But if there is no government then by killing a person he may not be hanged. So he’s the cause of his own hanging because he committed murder. That is the main cause. The other cause is that the government is there, the law is there; so, so many causes, the direct and indirect causes. There are so many things in the natural law. His own karma here in this jurisdiction his own karma is the real predominating cause. And there are others. On the background of a particular event there are five things, in pañcaitāni mahā-bāho, kāraṇāni nibodha me sāṅkhye kṛtānte proktāni, siddhaye sarvva-karmmaṇām

[“O mighty hero, in the scripture known as Sāṅkhya, or Vedānta, these five causes of the accomplishment of all actions have been described, and you may now learn of these from Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.13]

...

adhiṣṭhānaṁ tathā kart, karaṇaṁ ca pṛthag-vidham vividhāś ca pṛthak

ceṣṭā, daivam caivātra pañcamam

[“With the help of these five factors, all actions are effected: The body, ego (in the form of the knot of spirit and matter), the separate senses, the different endeavours, and destiny, or the intervention of the Supreme Universal Controller.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.14]

These five things are considered to cause an event [?] Direct and indirect cause [?] Our negligence of the allegiance to the Supreme Authority has taken me here. That is the root cause of all these events. Do you follow? No?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Negligence and disobedience to the Automatic Supreme Authority; that is the first cause. And then it takes me to the distance and I’m captured by environmental influences and different causes are arising, in this way. I’m coming far from the centre and so many things are surrounding me, and their contribution is to be detected. So many causes we are seeing at present. This is the cause of this event. This is the cause of this assumption. No. This is the cause. But the real cause is to be traced in the beginning. From there I’m degraded to here and now I’m under the – I was first Brahmā, first fall, and then I’m now – my karma has taken me to a beast. Suppose a tiger, then I’m engaged with and surrounded by tiger mentality. I’m going to be a tree or creeper, and such impressions are surrounding me. So many things are coming and I am within action and reaction. In this way the case is complex. But it’s not that there’s no end of this variegated nature I’m to analyse. We are concerned with the main thing. Then by a degradation we may go anywhere and there are so many laws and they’re imposed on us. But there’s not any benefit by going into details of a particular nature of a particular atom. But we’re concerned with the general thing.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Would it be proper to say, due to the abnegation of one's service to the Supreme, one falls to the material plane, and due to his association in the world, he is in a dream like state and the subtle body is then developing the gross body in dream like state.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Due to the abnegation of the service, the living entity gets into a kind of a dream. [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] How the transformation of the material conception is springing from the pure consciousness? Is it your question?

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It depends upon; first, [?]

_____ [?]

The matter is not an independent thing of spirit. But when we – in brahma-loka we are equipoised in a marginal potency. Then there are so many points of ray in the brahma-loka, jyoti, so many electrons, atoms or whatever you say, the unit of consciousness. Consciousness means endowed with free will. Without free will no consciousness can be conceived. So consciousness means free will. A point of consciousness means very meagre free will. By the exercise of its free will it is asserting itself. It may go that side or this side. Some going that side, some coming this side, marginal plane. The free choice is to be traced as the first action of coming into this side; a free choice.

Na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāṇi, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ - svabhāvas [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

It is already given in Him, the very nature. But as a result, in consequence we see that some have taken their chance this side. They've not accepted submission but want to dominate. And with the germinal idea of domination he's entering in the world of exploitation. And the consequence of exploitation added to his free will then that is the basis of all these developments in variegated nature. And the first starting point is like that. A conscious unit, and what is material, material unit means the result of reaction of exploitation; exploiting tendency. That is coming, that descent. That is capturing him gradually. And in the process so much variegated development in the world. When it started it was very subtle, very meagre, but the result is such. Am I clear? What do you think?

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Free will.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: Free will.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Free will. The starting point is free will, because free will is endowed with consciousness. But free will is vulnerable; it is anu. Only free will is absolute with the Absolute. And because this free will is very small, everything is very small, so vulnerability is there. The possibility of committing mistakes is there. So with his first choice he wanted to dominate and gradually he entered the world of domination, and all other things in future are the result of his first action, developed in this way. So the devata, the gāndharvā, kinnara, in different rank, classes divided, and going to the tree, to the stone, everything. In watery bodies, or gaseous bodies, anything that we find is in that way. The unit is there in that way, we see in that way the world.

Dayādhara Gaurāṅga: So that embryological development is taken under the jurisdiction of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But the starting; the party is soul, and from there all these things happen. It will evolve in his mind, or something like that, individually or in a group. It may subside when his work – suppose a donator looked truly at a culprit [?]

Everything is based upon and depends on experience, knowledge, experienced life. Just as in a dream. Subjective evolution, just as we experience in a dream. In a dream also from the subtle body many things are being seen, many experiences we gather in a dream. It is coming out from the subtle body. So it is – ultimately if we can trace, we will have to see that everything is coming from the centre, and is around Him, surrounding around Him. But the origin, the cause, is in the subject. If you can remove the cause, the subject, nothing remains.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: I wanted to ask that, we see that Kṛṣṇa comes in many incarnations. So just like Nṛsiṃhadeva, and Rāmacandra, Varāha – do each one of these incarnations have Their own planet in the spiritual world? Just like if somebody is a devotee of Lord Rāma here, is there a loka, a planet of Śrī Rāmacandradeva in Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They have got Their own Dhāma, own place in Vaikuṇṭha. They're nitya; with Their selected group They're reigning there in a part of Vaikuṇṭha.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Sītā, Lakṣmaṇa, They're all there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes. Always, eternally They're there, and also we may find in some of the brahmāṇḍas They're also reigning now. And the original group is there in Vaikuṇṭha, and that is also extending in different parts of different brahmāṇḍas. It is nitya, eternal - eternally existent in the infinite world. It never dies, never vanishes, all eternal, līlā, nitya. Because such ideas, such type of devotion, such type of devotee, and such type of master, is always to be, always stays existing, such stages of devotion; all nitya, eternal. The Prahlāda is also eternal. That līlā which once demonstrated here, that is going on in some quarter of brahmāṇḍa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Is it also going on in Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And originally it is in Vaikuṇṭha.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Nṛsimhadeva, with that same form?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nṛsimhadeva, yes, same form. And rolling, every līlā in a rolling system. Just as depicted, Nṛsimhadeva came, He tore up, and then the brahmadi dev made stop, and then He gave some boon in Prahlāda— this is a flow, and that flow is in a circular way it is continuing.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: But that Hiranyakaśipu, he was here in this brahmāṇḍa, but do we find Hiranyakaśipu in Vaikuṇṭha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Vaikuṇṭha is also, Hiranya, no not Hiranya, but Jaya and Vijay.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: But Nṛsimhadeva's līlā here, we see Him destroying the demon. So is such a demon there in Vaikuṇṭha to be destroyed?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is said that just as here we see the Lord, in a portrait, in a picture, in arca, so the mundane aspect is shown in Vaikuṇṭha like picture, depicted in a passive way; it is there.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Can you elaborate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The mundane aspect of līlā, that is there, just as in prapañca we find Kṛṣṇa in Vighraha, in pot, in this way. So the opposite, in cetana, the jaw is represented just like some picture or something, not original is possible. Only in a passive way, not active, only to create the background of that līlā. As witness of that līlā it is only a passive representation is possible there, of the matter. Material things are represented in the conscious world as if in a passive way, as if in a picture. Just as spiritual things also are brought here in a picture, the chaya, the shadow. Just as you may present the blackness in the case of darkness; black colour represents the darkness. And white represents the light. In this way the māyā is represented there in a passive way, in a pictured way. Māyā is not active, māyā is there but she's not active in Vaikuṇṭha, but like a chaya, like a shadow.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, in the case of demons, in Goloka, actually there are no demons coming to attack Kṛṣṇa [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But demon, that is also like a shadow, because it is related with Kṛṣṇa līlā, the demons are related. But they're not actually to be found there. That's all in a picture to show that these things happen there. In this way, like they're in a shadow represented in Goloka.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is asking, "That Lord Nṛsiṃhadeva, He has His half-lion half-man form, and also Lord Nṛsiṃhadeva has His four armed form, catur-bhuja Nṛsiṃha, so are They on the same planet?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lord Nṛsiṃha with four arms and half-lion half...yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, but Viṣṇu form, Lord Nṛsiṃha as Viṣṇu...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the same case, Muchaku [?] Varāha same case. They have got Their Vaikuṇṭha. Such stages what was shown to this world, those things to be occurred repeatedly, and occurs. It is also in the process of the gradation, it is also a general thing that these circumstances will come. Just as disease and the medicine; disease is there, the medicine is there, so if disease is eternal the medicine is also eternal. So in this way when in the combination of the different activity of the jīva, such things occur many times. And Viṣṇu Mūrti comes to relieve. And this is eternal, and this has got some permanent position in Vaikuṇṭha, flowing.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

[?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

[?]

Where is the difficulty? If Nṛsiṃhadeva is eternal then where is the difficulty?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja actually wanted to know whether the Nṛsiṃha that twenty four expansions of Nārāyaṇa, that Nṛsiṃha, whether – what is the relationship between the half-man half-lion Nṛsimha, and with that Nṛsimhadeva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That original Nṛsimhadeva; that is separate figure? This Nṛsimhadeva is there, and that Nṛsimhadeva came here. It is not mentioned in the śāstra that that Nṛsimha was of another type, like Nārāyaṇa or so, that is not mentioned. So these Nṛsimhas are one and the same. [?]

Vaikuṇṭha free of mundane relationship, but how the mundane reference is dragged into Vaikuṇṭha, how is it possible? In the lower part of the Vaikuṇṭha, the possibility of these things are connected with the mundane world, and for the relief arrangement is made there. And suppose an officer from England came here to India, and he did some glorious action and he takes the photo of the reception he got here, and there in London in his home those pictures are shown. So this is partially true because this is not original and the first place of occurrence is here and that is mentioned there. But these things are continued, so it is nitya there.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Like a picture there; not the actual act of killing.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Not the actual act of killing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not active, this side is not active there. Anyhow, relativity is maintained between good and bad, consciousness and unconsciousness. The relativity we cannot deny. In any way it is to be maintained. So that is powerless; when that comes here all powerful, and when this goes there, it is powerless. [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu [?] Like a wooden doll represented there, not living. Mundane things cannot be represented there in a living way, but only a reference is drawn there; in this way a relationship.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, in the Kṛṣṇa līlā here, the gopīs who loved Kṛṣṇa, they had husbands. But in Goloka they may not have husbands? But the same mood of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Goloka also [?] In Goloka only a pictorial representation of the husbands, otherwise parakīya is not possible.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: But there are no actual husbands?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, not actual, but a shadowy representation, to create some panic into the mind of the gopīs so that the intensity in the love, in the milana. In mādhurya rasa we can have the complete connection and then if it is necessary to enhance that it should be pushed in such a way that it will be very rare and very intense. So such form is necessary to help. So in a pictorial way a shadow of fear appears in the heart of the gopīs, “Oh. I have got my husband. How can I go?” All these things should be created in the mind to make it more tasteful, the milana.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: It is like a remembrance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Remembrance or some excitement in that way. That sort of consciousness is necessary to give it a parakīya character. And parakīya characteristic is necessary to make it very rare and also risky, so it becomes very much intense. And that is appreciable in the love of Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: I have another question. In the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam there are many pastimes involving Indra. There are many different līlās, narrations regarding Indra. And many times he gets the good fortune of associating even with Viṣṇu Himself. Even we find in Kṛṣṇa līlā Indra's also there. And yet he goes on making so many mistakes. Sometimes he disrespects his Guru, sometimes he...why doesn't he learn. Why is it that he goes on making these mistakes? And yet he's such an exalted person, he's the king of the demigods.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Brahmā also.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: How is it possible? He should be a pure devotee. He has so much association with Kṛṣṇa and great souls. How is it he makes these mistakes again and again?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From two standpoints that may be judged. One from intellectually; we may think, finite, however perfect, in comparison with infinite it is nothing. One thing. Another, the supremacy of Kṛṣṇa to do anything and everything. These two things, He can, to suite His līlā He can handle the environment in any way He likes, so His supreme power can do anything and everything. That is one thing. And another thing from this side, intellectual side, that when we come to deal with the infinite, then a finite thing however greater it is, it has got no position. No position in the saguṇa līlā, it is not in nirguṇa. Indra, Brahmā, they're conceived in this saguṇa, in this māyic knowledge, in the area of misunderstanding. The background, the foundation is that of misunderstanding, so futile, however great it is, it is misunderstanding. A small mistake and a great mistake, so all is mistake, mistaken conception, so not much difference from small to great, all is mistake. So even Brahmā is tempted sometimes, even Mahādeva is being tempted. Only in the nirguṇa plane Haridāsa Ṭhākura is being saved, but Brahmā is being tempted, he becomes prey to temptation, but Haridāsa Ṭhākura he cannot be tempted. It is nirguṇa and saguṇa. In saguṇa, that is in the plane of misconception, however big a thing is, it is not reliable. From any position any mistake can be committed because on the whole it is an area of mistake.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: But how is it that Haridāsa Ṭhākura cannot be tempted?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's in nirguṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: What does that mean, "That he's in nirguṇa?" I don't understand...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nirguṇa means exclusively given to Kṛṣṇa, ananya bhakti. And this is saguṇa, this is going up, and the Brahmā will have to come down again in this vicious circle, going up and down, going up and down.

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna

[mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

It is in the zenith, and the next moment it will come here, and the next moment in the last point, in this way evolving.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: But Brahmā, in the Kṛṣṇa līlā when Brahmā sees his foolishness and he offers prayers to Kṛṣṇa, at that point...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In Kṛṣṇa līlā it is shown that Brahmā commits mistakes. And again in Dvārakā he's committing mistakes. How is it possible? One thing is that to show the greatness of Kṛṣṇa, the Infinite, the finite is handled in such a way. For the finite is a play doll in the hands of the Infinite. That's one thing. And here, however great, it is not reliable in this māyic world, going up and going down, that is possible here. One mistake one can commit a thousand times in the māyic world. But in the nirguṇa such things are not to be seen, but only if it is seen anywhere, that is by the direct interference of Kṛṣṇa, that is sometimes seen there.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, we understand that the same Lord Brahmā, he may have come in the form of Haridāsa Ṭhākura...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Giri Mahārāja: ...so that he could attain this position of pure bhakti without any defect. Now how can we transfer ourselves from the platform of making mistakes and being influenced by māyā, to the other platform...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There are many examples like this. The Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma are Keśāvatāra, the gopīs are prostitutes of the heaven, so many from the Purāṇas, they all come and form a part of Haridāsa Ṭhākura, Brahmā came. Brahmā came to mix with Haridāsa, mingled with Haridāsa as a part of Haridāsa. The Keśāvatāra came and joined Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma, and Kṛṣṇa Balarāma, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān and Svayaṁ-Prakāśa. In this way it has been shown to us from the mahājanas and śāstra that this occurs in this way. The one is...the lower...the function when magistrate comes, the function of the deputy magistrate enters in him. It's something like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Inconceivable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When a king comes then the viceroy enters into king; his function. It is something like that. Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very subtle things are being discussed. Ha, ha, ha. Gaura Haribol.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: I have another question, regarding the devatas, the demigods. The demigods are said to be devotees of Viṣṇu. They're devotees, they're devas, not demons.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Devotee means not pukha devotee, only a little submission.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Karma miśrā bhakta [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe? Only subjugation to Viṣṇu, and āsuras they regard more the moral laws, and the deva generally they have some sort of faith in Viṣṇu, the highest authority. But that does not matter that they're all devotees.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: They're not very seriously cultivating Kṛṣṇa bhakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the Kṛṣṇa bhakta, ananya bhakta, they're a completely separate thing. The very important thing is this. That to understand, to differentiate saguṇa and nirguṇa; the highest attainment in saguṇa equates to zero, and a bit of participation into nirguṇa that is eternal. Saguṇa and nirguṇa are just opposite. So we are within saguṇa and the big in the saguṇa attracts us, but that is nothing. That is only moving in a cyclic order; today Brahmā and the next day a worm.

*tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido, na labhyate yad bhramatām upary

[“Persons who are actually intelligent and philosophically inclined should endeavour only for that purposeful end which is not obtainable even by wandering from the topmost planet [Brahmaloka] down to the lowest planet [Pātāla]. As far as happiness derived from sense enjoyment is concerned, it can be obtained automatically in course of time, just as in course of time we obtain miseries even though we do not desire them.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.18]

One cannot want misery but misery comes of its own accord. So pleasure also comes of its own accord. We won't aspire after it, it is not necessary to aspire after pleasure, it will come just like misery. Kālena sarvatra gabhīra-ramhasā. The flow of our karma, our activity, is planned in such a way that, Cakravat parivartante duhkani [?]

Misery and pleasure, it is couched alternately it will come, so no development in the illusory world is to be considered to have any value, even a penny, no value, in the saguṇa world. The high position in the saguṇa world has no value, just as in our dream. And the real progress may be a little bit, in the nirguṇa, in the plane of Kṛṣṇa līlā, the autocrat absolute flow which is comprehending everything within it, and which in no time and no power can contest it or disturb it. That inevitable flow is underground or overground – that is to mix with that. That is of eternal value, that nirguṇa. And a man in the nirguṇa plane he may be considered to be a culprit in consideration with the saguṇalīlā, but that may not affect.

*api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāḥ sādhuḥ eva sa
mantavyaḥ, [samyag vyavasito hi saḥ]*

[“If even a person of extremely abominable practices, abandoning all non devotional pursuits of exploitation and renunciation engages in My exclusive and uninterrupted devotional service, he is venerable as a true saint because he has embraced the revolutionary plane of life.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30]

The progress in the saguṇa misconceived world is no progress. So one who is participating in the nirguṇa līlā, that can never be condemned. That is reality itself. That is the general, original, and absolute flow of līlā, and that can never be disturbed or challenged. That līlā is going on and anyhow we are to enter into that to have participation in that current. That connection we must discover, that flow, that current, and connect with that. And that is invincible and that is nourishing to the extreme helpful. That is Kṛṣṇa līlā. Anyhow we are to, through scripture and sādhū:

sādhū-śāstra-kṛpāya yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya / [sei jīva nistare, māyā tāhāre chāḍaya] [“If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120]

The sukṛti of different lives, that is the main cause, śraddhā, then sādhū-saṅga, then only can we connect with that undercurrent plane, invincible, absolute plane, flow. And that is the sweetest of the sweet, madhuraṁ madhuraṁ. Apratihātā, we are anyhow to come in connection with that; and good or bad:

'dvaite bhadṛābhadra-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' / 'ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama'

[“In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, ‘This is good, this is bad,’ is a mistake.”]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

It is all erroneous – good or bad in this world. So when we draw comparison between nirguṇa and saguṇa that is ludicrous almost. Still, we are in the midst of the saguṇa, we can't avoid it at all exhaustively. But the law of that world and the law of this world is completely different.

Devotee: Mahārāja, there are many, many Brahmās. In this universe, there may be one Brahmā who is purest devotee, is it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When he's a devotee that question is separate.

Devotee: Just like we can see in Bhāgavatam, Brahmā is making his obeisance at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All Brahmās are not of equal status. The rank is but the guinea stamp; man is the goal for that. So Brahmā is a rank and man is a devotee. A devotee may have a rank of Brahmā, his case is separate. But generally Brahmā is a rank, a functional god. And a devotee also by chance may be appointed if there's no candidate of Brahmā.

*bhakti-miśra-kṛta puṇye kona jīvottama, rajo-guṇe vibhāvita kari' tāhṛa

[“Because of his past pious deeds mixed with devotional service, a first-class living being is influenced by the mode of passion within his mind and empowered by

Garbhodakaśāyī Viṣṇu becomes Brahmā. Such a living entity becomes the qualitative incarnation of the Lord in the mode of passion for the purpose of engineering the total creation of the universe.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.302-3]

When not available, then He Himself deposes a person of His own to do the function. That is separate. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: When Brahmā is our Gurudeva, master...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Brahmā is not to be seen like a – who is committing – so Madhvācārya has eliminated those two from Bhāgavatam. “That how our Gurudeva can commit mistakes to understand Kṛṣṇa?” But Mahāprabhu did not do so. The supremacy of Kṛṣṇa is unchallengeable. If He likes He can do His līlā in such a way to show the importance, “That be careful. Even in the position of Brahmā the error is possible, so be careful.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. He sees his own with such great affection, and he has got such faith in his own Guru. “I have got his blessing, very great, and I must take it everywhere. Even I shall go to Mahāprabhu to serve Him in a novel way, as inspired by my Gurudeva.” That is appreciable from one standpoint. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. That is not pride, but sincerely if we take it, it is the real qualification of the disciple.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: When I came to see you previously, in September, you described that we can conceive of madhyama adhikārī in three ways. You gave some examples, about one foot in the spiritual world extending here, etc.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, in Prabhupāda's books, when he talks of uttama adhikārī he sometimes speaks in a very broad and general way...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How it is.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Like he will say, "One who chants the prescribed number of rounds, of mālā, and who is always absorbed in thinking how to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness, that is an uttama adhikārī." And then in other places he gives a very high definition of uttama adhikārī. So as you said we could conceive of madhyama in three different ways, are there different ways to conceive of uttama?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Now, the three kinds, three types of Gurudeva what I told to you, that is not three stages of Vaiṣṇava but three types of Gurudeva. Uttama adhikārī when he plays the role of Guru, Ācārya, madhyama adhikārī, uttama adhikārī has one leg there and by the order of Kṛṣṇa another leg here and he does the duty of an Ācārya.

And one leg here and another leg put there, madhyama adhikārī he also discharges the duty of the Ācārya. And the lowest class of Ācārya two legs here but eyes are there and he's doing the duty of Ācārya. This is the gradation of Ācārya. And the stages according to Vaiṣṇavism, that is another. That is in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

arcāyām eva haraye pūjām yaḥ śraddhayehate

na tad-bhakteṣu cānyeṣu sa bhaktaḥ prākṛtaḥ smṛtaḥ

["A devotee who faithfully worships the Deity, but does not properly respect the Vaiṣṇavas or the people in general is called a prākṛta-bhakta, kaniṣṭha-adhikārī, or materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position of devotional service."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.47]

A lowest class of devotee is this, Vaiṣṇava; and the second class:

īśvare tad-adhīneṣu, bālīṣeṣu dviṣatsu c prema-maitri-kṛpopekṣa, yaḥ karoti sa madhyamaḥ

["The devotee in the intermediate stage of devotional service is called a madhyama-adhikārī. īśvare is one who loves īśvara, the Supreme Personality of Godhead; tad-adhīneṣu means one is a sincere friend to all the devotees of the Lord; bālīṣeṣu shows mercy towards bālīśa, the innocent and ignorant; dviṣatsu ca, and disregards the envious."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.46]

sarva bhūteṣu yaḥ paśyed, bhagavad bhāvam ātmanaḥ

[“A person advanced in devotional service sees within everything the soul of souls, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Consequently they always see Kṛṣṇa everywhere and in everything. One who is situated on the topmost platform of devotional service is known as an uttama-bhāgavata.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45]

...the highest stage in Vaiṣṇavism, according to Bhāgavata. And Mahāprabhu gives us three stages of, nama bhajan akariya vaiṣṇava [?]

...of another quality; ordinary Vaiṣṇava into three classes, and the nama bhajan akariya Vaiṣṇava they’ve also got recognition in three stages. Even pure Name even once one can utter, he’s kaniṣṭha adhikārī Vaiṣṇava. And who always utters the Name he’s madhyama adhikārī. And uttama adhikārī, whoever casts a glance to him he feels tendency to take the Name. That is,

In Caitanya-caritamṛta, uttama adhikārī, the Nāma bhajana aspect, the highest Vaiṣṇava is he whoever will come across and casts a glance he will feel to take Name in him. That is the highest type. And who is always taking Name he’s madhyama. And at least once who has got pure Name on his tongue he's kaniṣṭha adhikārī.

Eko kṛṣṇa nama

*mukhe*_____

[?]

Yāñhāra darśane mukhe āise kṛṣṇa-nāma / tāñhāre jāniha tumi ‘vaiṣṇava-pradhāna’

This is Nāma bhajana characterised in three stages, and ordinary Vaiṣṇavas in three stages, their another standpoint by which the adhikāra of the Vaiṣṇava is being expressed to us, arcāyām eva haraye.

surarṣe vihitā śāstre harimuddiśa yā kriyā saiva bhaktiriti proktā tayā bhaktiḥ parā bhaved

[“O sage amongst the demigods - Nārada! Those activities prescribed in the revealed scriptures for satisfying the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Lord Śrī Hari, are called the regulative principles of bhakti (sādhana-bhakti), by which practising one may attain the highest bhakti (prema bhakti).”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.13]

Whose reliance, śraddhā, regard, is in śāstra, vihitā śāstre harimuddiśa yā kriyā, and those rules and regulations that are found in the śāstra, in the scripture, he attentively observes all those practices; this is kaniṣṭha adhikāra.

laukikī vaidikī vāpi, yā kriyā kriyate mune hari-sevānukūlaiva, sa kāryā bhaktim icchatā

[O great sage! One who aspires for devotional service should perform all activities, whether Vedic or mundane, in a way that is favourable for the service of Lord Hari.]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.200, from Nārada-Pañcarātra]

Whether it is śāstric, scriptural practice, or social, or anything like that, every movement is coloured by the faith in God. That is madhyama adhikāra. And the last:

Eha yasya hare dasye karmana manasa adhikar nikhila supavastasu [?]

Whatever circumstances there may be, his standpoint is to do according to the... the faith is always guiding him. The faith in Kṛṣṇa is the main guidance in whatever circumstances. Eha yasya hare dasye. By body, by mind, by thought, word and deed. In every way he does everything, under whatever circumstances he may be in, from the standpoint of the service to Kṛṣṇa. That is uttama adhikārī. So from different standpoints it has been expressed to us what the characteristics are of the stages of a Vaiṣṇava, a servant of Kṛṣṇa, a servitor.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But the śiṣya, he will conceive of the Gurudeva as uttama adhikārī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Not only uttama adhikārī, but he will even see as a special delegation of the Lord, or His Supreme Potency, Lord Himself or His Supreme Potency rather. In mādhurya rasa it may be Rādhārāṇī, or Rādhārāṇī's delegation Rūpa Mañjarī. In this way variegated darśana is there; in Gurudeva. It varies, according to the progress it may vary, the darśana will vary. But generally in the primary stage it is given to śiṣya, "See the potency of Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa Himself, then potency of Kṛṣṇa, then that kind of potency of Kṛṣṇa.” In this way it will develop. Do you follow? In the first stage a śiṣya, a disciple is requested to see Guru as Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then a little higher, then he will be requested to see His potency. Then a little higher he will be able to see what sort of potency according to His demand; sākhya rasa or mādhurya rasa or vātsalya. This differentiation will gradually develop there. In the first stage Kṛṣṇa Himself, Bhagavān Himself. Why? Svarūpa-śakti and Bhagavān one and the same there. No differentiation between svārūpa-śakti and Kṛṣṇa; Kṛṣṇa and svārūpa-śakti total together. “You should see Kṛṣṇa Himself, with svārūpa-śakti within Kṛṣṇa.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In Bhagavad-gītā it says, bhaktō ‘si me sakhā ceti...

[sa evāyaṁ mayā te ‘dya, yogaḥ proktaḥ purātanaḥ bhaktō ‘si me sakhā ceti, rahasyaṁ hy etad uttamam]

[“Now, I shall deliver that eternal teaching to you. Because you are My devotee and friend, this supreme, hidden path is today revealed by Me to you.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.3]

...that it is best understood by one who is sakhā, Kṛṣṇa’s friend, who’s friendly towards Kṛṣṇa. So Arjuna is, we have read in the Gaura- gaṇoddeśa-dīpikā, that he is Lalitā or Viśākhā from the spiritual world; Arjuna. So in the spiritual world Viśākhā is in mādhurya rasa, but here with Kṛṣṇa, in Bhagavad-gītā, Arjuna is Kṛṣṇa's friend.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Arjuna in Dvārakā līlā, but in Gaura-gaṇoddeśa-dīpikā if it is mentioned I don't know, then it will be some reflection, a classification of type it may be. Otherwise Lalitā, Viśākhā, in Dvārakā in mādhurya rasa, they'll be with Satyabhāmā, with Rukmiṇī, etc, Lalitā, Viśākhā. They'll be there in mādhurya rasa, in narrowed down mādhurya rasa in Dvārakā. The Lalitā, Viśākhā of Vṛndāvana, they will be represented in Dvārakā in mādhurya rasa to help their Mistress, the Rukmiṇī, the Satyabhāmā, etc. And Arjuna may be a sort of similarity may be drawn, not actually Arjuna is such. Something like a classification of that type, the nature, and according to analysing the nature we may classify Arjuna like that. Some sentiment, there are some intelligence predominating, some sentiment predominating, some variegated qualification; in this way there are classifications. So in that way that type may be considered there.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The colour and the posing, but they're higher, in mādhurya rasa they're already, in sākhya rasa, just as in the case of Subala. He's very adjacent to mādhurya rasa, and Madhu Mangala a little less, and Sridhama a little indifferent to mādhurya rasa. In this way there may be classification. So in Dvārakā līlā to represent Lalitā and Viśākhā, there in the mādhurya rasa camp there should be their delegation. And if it is written in any scripture that Arjuna is that type, it is a question of type, according to the variegatedness of the attributes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, one question I had was that in the Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana that every letter of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is Kṛṣṇa. But some of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is the statements of Hiraṇyākṣa, Hiraṇyakaśipu, some statements are Śukrācārya, Śiśupāla, so how is it that we become, by hearing that sound...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

mukhya-gauṇa-vṛtti, kimvā anvaya-vyatireke / vadera pratijñā kevala kahaye kṛṣṇake

[“When one accepts Vedic literature by interpretation or even by dictionary meaning, directly or indirectly the ultimate declaration of Vedic knowledge points to Lord Kṛṣṇa.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.146]

Are you acquainted with this passage of Caitanya-caritāmṛta?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don’t know the Bengali.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa, the aim of every letter, the aim and object of every letter is to show Kṛṣṇa. Some direct, some indirect. Direct and indirect, anvaya-vyatireke, some showing Kṛṣṇa indirectly and some directly, anvaya-vyatireke, so all not in a positive line but in the negative line also showing Kṛṣṇa. Do you find? The character of Hiraṇyakaśipu that is also playing a part to establish Prahlāda and Hari. It is necessary for the background. So in indirect way that also promises to show Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa līlā, the contribution, has got something to contribute in Kṛṣṇa līlā in different ways. So indirectly they're showing Kṛṣṇa, anvaya. gauṇa-mukhya-vṛtti, gauṇa-vṛtti and mukhya-vṛtti, the principle meaning or the gauṇa, ordinary meaning, and the special meaning: mukhya-gauṇa-vṛtti, kiṁvā anvaya-vyatireke, direct or indirect. Anyhow he's always showing a finger towards Kṛṣṇa. Why was the character of Hiraṇyakaśipu necessary? To establish the greatness of devotion in Prahlāda to Kṛṣṇa so it is necessary. For a structure of a building, bricks and many things are necessary. So in that way it has been told there that everything is Kṛṣṇa in Bhāgavatam, they're all helping. Every brick is helping the building. Even what is seen to be false, concoction, that is also true because that is necessary to show Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What is an example?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suppose if you go to teach a child, you create a story to give an impression. Then that story, though you concoct, you imagine, still that has got some real value to teach the child; in that way. Even the story may have some value. As in Aesop's fables so many imaginary stories are there, but they contribute some lesson. In that way it has got some value to contribute towards the truth, though imagination. Is it not? Eh?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then it has got value though imaginary.

Aesop's fables, Panca-tanmatra in Sanskrit, Hitopadesa, concerning so many beasts, it has been designed. But the moral is there that helps you and has got true contribution to the cause. So in Bhāgavatam, everywhere, the imagination has got real validity, value, because it helps us. Just as, vishesa visha moshavam [?] Poison is medicine to poison, vishesa visham oshavam [?] One poison can drive away another poison. So we are within concoction, within māyā, misunderstanding, and another misunderstanding may come to help me a little bit towards Kṛṣṇa. It is also possible. So whatever will help me, to guide me towards Kṛṣṇa; that is real. So, by raja guṇa we subdue tama guṇa, and by sattva we subdue raja. And then by nirguṇa we subdue sattva and go up. That is also a policy. Is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. So then that nirguṇa platform we want to be fixed, we want to be constant, like, mām ca yo 'vyabhicāreṇa, without coming down again.

[mām ca yo 'vyabhicāreṇa, bhakti-yogena sevate sa guṇān samatīyaitān, brahma-bhūyāya kalpate]

[“One who renders service exclusively unto Me (in My form of Śyāmasundara, Rāma, Nārāyaṇa, etc.) by the path of pure devotion (unadulterated by all spurious attempts based on exploitation or renunciation), and who does not fall down in any circumstances, absolutely transcends these three modes of material nature. One thus come to the level of Brahman and becomes qualified for the cognisance of their internal divine identity.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.26]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vyabhicāreṇa, yes, continued. Continued flow is there and we should try to catch, to come in touch of that flow; nitya līlā. We should try to connect to and live in that plane of the continued flow underground, surpassing everything. That ethereal flow it is everywhere. The flow of the wind may not be present everywhere, the flow of the wind cannot pierce through the wall. But ether, the x-ray, it can pierce through the wall. So Kṛṣṇa consciousness is all-pervading, and we shall, through our ātmā, only our soul aspect can connect with that fine flow and enter there and identify himself within that flow, to work; Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Kṛṣṇa consciousness is the finest flow, all-pervading, and eternal substance, the līlā, and that is a dynamic characteristic there, so many things there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So the difficulty arises on the relative platform, in the relative world. Some difficulty comes in dealing with the relative world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Relativity of the world?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. That sometimes makes for a strong tendency to come down to the material platform and become offensive to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, so the māyā is also existent; māyā is not nothing, it is also existent. The wall is also existent but still x-ray passes through it. If it's not x-ray ordinary ray won't be able to pierce through the wall. So sādhū and śāstra, scripture and sādhū, only the agents of that plane, they can come to us and they may help us to go there.

sādhū-śāstra-kṛpāya yadi kṛṣṇonmukha haya / [sei jīva nistare, māyā tāhāre chāḍaya]

[“If the conditioned soul becomes Kṛṣṇa conscious by the mercy of saintly persons who voluntarily preach scriptural injunctions and help him to become Kṛṣṇa conscious, the conditioned soul is liberated from the clutches of māyā, who gives him up.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.120] We are within māyā.

[daivī hy eṣā guṇamayī, mama māyā duratyayā] mām eva ye prapadyante, māyām etāṁ taranti te

[“This ‘trimodal,’ supernatural, (alluring) deluding energy of Mine is practically insurmountable. However, those who fully surrender exclusively unto Me can certainly surpass this formidable fantasy.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 7.14]

The sādhū, His agent, comes to our relief, to take from the rigid conviction. Our conception in the materialistic world is very strong, may be, but that also can be broken by the *sādhū*s.

Went to Calcutta, Caru Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhakti Caru, yes, he's gone to Calcutta.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Important meeting?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. This is a very crucial point for our society in general.

Devotee: They'll come here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. This is a very crucial time for us, how we can learn...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes; whether this way or that way.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, or together, how we can proceed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes; whether rigid or flexible?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, but you may have two rigids.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two rigid camps?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Some are thinking to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Modification is necessary; and some think, 'No.'

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, because you said...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Changer or no changer; two camps.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You said, in October, that Guru's position is a free one. And some are afraid, so many want to extend Ācārya-ship, but there is a fear of anarchy with so many free persons – then anarchy. So that is one fear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So some sort of restriction should be, but life cannot be ruled only by law. Both must be accommodated. The scope to merit must be allowed and there should also be sort of rulings there. Law and vitality; law is there but merit of vitality cannot be checked. They must have proper field; merit must have proper field. In such way we shall, we should accommodate fair field, there should be fair field. By law, should not check the proper person and only encourage improper one. Both sides; regulation, law is also necessary to be subservient to the natural growth. Suppose a boy requires more food, he will grow, he'll be more strong. If you restrict his food then it will be injustice. According to his capacity he should be given food, he'll gain more strength and do more work. So this sort of provision must be in the law. Is it not? To make a movement quite living.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, but...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is my opinion.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...you have this sensitivity, and Prabhupāda he also had such sensitivity; to know when the person needs growth. But in our Governing Body and this sensitivity...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But must not be too rigid to government. This facility that is to create a fair field. It must be a living Governing Body and not a mechanical Governing Body but a living Governing Body. That is, just as I told, 'He will grow more, he needs more food.' In this way, something like that, fair field. Facility must be given to the merit.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As much as possible, our aim should be towards that. That work is necessary. And who will be the general? Only seniority may be reckoned, but always seniority may not do the work. Even the younger man may be promoted to be the general. Just as Rommel was given a position and he cut a very good figure. From the ordinary class he came. He was appreciated generally by the enemy and his own country. Is it not? Have you heard the name of Rommel?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Rommel, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He had got appreciation from even the enemy quarter.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. That's true.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was given facility and he showed his capacity. So the body should be formed in such a way that the fair field is created and then the qualified persons they may have better chance. Otherwise we'll be jealous of one another and the work will be lost. The merit must be given freedom and help. I think it should be like that, a fair field. So they are to take decision on that point in this important meeting.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They will – Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, he has proposed on this question of the extension of Ācārya-ship that the GBC come to take your advice. So for certain they will come to hear from you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, they may come. I shall talk to them whatever I feel. I am a third person. I can give some advice according to my experience to them. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, and there is Bhagavān Dāsa, this Kīrtanānanda, Satsvarūpa, they're more influential, is it not? Kīrtanānanda, Satsvarūpa and Bhagavān Dāsa, they are more influential.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Kīrtanānanda, he's very aloof from any political dealings. And Satsvarūpa Mahārāja he's also aloof from any such... but Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, Tamal Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, Bhagavān Mahārāja, Jayapataka Swāmī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're very particular about the administration, and constitution, all these. There are different types of persons. They're more brahminical; Satsvarūpa and Kīrtanānanda.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And they're more kṣatriya, administrative nature, sober and indifferent.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: See, Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, once our Guru Mahārāja he told, he said, "All you GBC, you are like so many children. Therefore I must stick my nose into everything." He said, "But Rāmeśvara Mahārāja he’s a little intelligent.” So his concern, he wants to extend also this Ācārya-ship. But one problem that the temple presidents are concerned with is they may invite one Ācārya to initiate in their temple and so he will make so many disciples. But then later he may call all the disciples to be with him in some local project. So then the president is worried that, “I will invite some Ācārya to initiate these new men, and then he may take them away later.” So this has perplexed them. So Rāmeśvara Mahārāja he has suggested one proposal that there can be extension of Ācārya-ship, but the śiṣya, he should remain in that local temple. Unless his Guru, there’s some blasphemy, aparādha, or if he is going to leave Kṛṣṇa consciousness altogether. Under those circumstances he could go to be with the Guru. But the Guru should voluntarily allow the disciple to remain in the local temple so that it is strong.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In general the local interest should be attended to, but in particular case even if a Guru likes he may take his śiṣya, in a very rare case. But ordinarily, wherever he’s recruited he may be deputed there for the service to keep the oneness of the whole ISKCON.

Devotee: This year, who is being elected as President?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The Chairman; on the fifth they elect the Chairman, the Officers of the GBC. So on the fifth they will elect for the following year.

Devotee: Who can be elected?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Different GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now the President is Kīrtanānanda?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. Bhagavān Dāsa Goswāmī, he's the Chairman.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One year or two years?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: One year. Vice Chairman is Jagadisa Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is he?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's the Gurukula Minister.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's not an Ācārya?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. He's gṛhastha. The Secretary is Jayapataka Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Chairman, Vice Chairman, and Secretary.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Those are the officers.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And this year again it will be again new election will take place?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, three new officers.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And one may be continued if the committee wishes?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don't think you can continue in this same post two years in a row. You can be another officer but not the same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But if the committee likes he cannot keep one, extension is not possible under any case?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, currently I don't believe it's possible, but they could do so if they like.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that is good.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But this is what I was speaking that we have for Mahāprabhu’s service, we have to engage in so many affairs in the material world, so it is difficult with so many dealings to keep our consciousness pure, and keep ourselves free from personal motives.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchatī.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchatī]

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

Sincerity is the best qualification; sincerity. Sincerity is purity. Inner purity is sincerity, śraddhā.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: How do you define sincerity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Sincerity. Sara daivay gaura siksa daivay [?]

Whoever comes to embrace the teachings of Mahāprabhu with appreciation; sincerity is inner appreciation. And one who has got sincerity he can recognise sincerity in others. One who has got intelligent reason he can appreciate reason in another person. Is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When he has got that talent he will see the talent in another person. Sincerity can detect and know sincerity. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You quoted this verse once: mādhavendra-purīra ‘sambandha’ dhara — jāni; that you can recognise also the qualities of your Guru Mahārāja.

[kintu tomāra prema dekhi’ mane anumāni mādhavendra-purīra ‘sambandha’ dhara — jāni]

[Caitanya-caritamṛta, Madhya-līlā, 17.172]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's an unknown person but by his dealings Mahāprabhu detected he must have got some association with Mādhavendra Purī. Otherwise such conduct is impossible. The inner eye conjectured that here is...

I generally quote this Norton, there was one Barrister in Calcutta High Court. Arovinda absconded. Did you hear of the name of Arovinda?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Śrī Arovinda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First he was a revolutionary, then he absconded, and Norton, Barrister of the Government Party, he used to read the newspapers, and wherever he found forceful writing, "Here is Mr. Ghosh. So this article must have come from him so try to tackle the editor of this journal, and there we must get the clue of Aurovinda. Here is Mr. Ghosh, in his writing." Sincerity. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Śrīpāda dharamādhavendra-purīra 'sambandha.' Without that such touch, without his touch, such thinking is impossible, thinking of this layer, of this plane, cannot be had anywhere. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: One other question I had was, how can we know after the disappearance of our Gurudeva that we are pleasing him; that we will not go astray? Because māyā can trick us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your duty is finished when you try to be true to your Guru. You have got a conception of your Guru Mahārāja. You may ask him and stand before his imaginary picture in you and ask, "What way am I to go? Please direct me." And whatever we feel within we will go without being prejudiced by the present circumstances. That will be the highest. Because the conscience that took you to your Guru, that may not betray you. Is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After all your spiritual conscience of the spiritual characteristic took you ultimately to the holy feet of your Guru Mahārāja. He won't betray you. Sincerely stand before him, "What am I to do?" And that will be the final decision. And also you must have the love of the institution what he has created. "I see you in one way and the institution you created in another way, a great difficulty in me. Please guide me what I am to do. Follow blindly the resultant conclusions of the committee, or my inner consciousness as I imbibed from your direct advice?" In rare cases, generally we shall try to work combined, but in rare cases when such occasions will come we are to take decision. According to me I must believe my inner sincere conscience.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in the first stages, magnitude; but in the highest consideration, quality. For self interest, to save your own self, your soul, you may sacrifice the whole of the world, universe. There's the question of quality.

Devotee: Quality, not quantity [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and so long quantity, but the last decision...atma te pratibima tad hay [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Your inner conscience took you, did not betray you, took you to your Ācārya, Guru Mahārāja. You can't eliminate or neglect that spiritual conscience, your inner voice.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And how to ensure that it is not some manodharma, some concoction?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course as long as you do not come into conclusion you must follow the general – but if there is a pricking that you can't tolerate you will try to adjust with the opinions of so many. But if such circumstance arises that you can't accommodate the... you can't accept them; in that case it will always be biting, the conscience will be biting you. If such case occurs then we cannot but do the same thing, atma te pratibima tajit [?]

I must follow my own religious guide, inner guide. I may not continue to be a hypocrite's life.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But on the spiritual path we place in the highest value sādhū-saṅga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Of course we will be always open. If I find that he's in many events it's proved then I must not have over confidence in me; not over confidence. I shall try, "No, to give proper consideration, proper way, their opinion and advice." But in the last resort I am talking like that. We shall try to accommodate them as much as possible and won't believe my own self so much, that, "They're all false, all wrong, and I am right." That sort of pride should not be encouraged. But still, the highest faculty of decision is that I cannot go on as if in a hypocrite's life, an artificial life. The last position will be that. That does not mean that I shall indulge all my sentiments to be Godly and all others are bogus. I don't talk like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: What he wants to say is that first conscience has guided you towards the lotus feet of your spiritual master and that can never be wrong.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Who did that come from, that conscience, from Kṛṣṇa, from jīvātmā, from kṛpā-siddha?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. That is generally Śrī Guru, generally, caitya Guru, the Guru internally, and mahanta Guru outside. In the beginning mahanta Guru is necessarily indispensable but in higher stages caitya Guru comes to our help. In the absence of mahanta Guru we can go on with our life accepting the guidance under the direction of caitya Guru.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: When the Guru appears to us in our consciousness through his instructions, is that caitya Guru or our...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caitya Guru. In the absence of our Guru, whether mahanta Guru is living or not; suppose mahanta Guru is living and I'm somewhere in a distant place and I have to take a decision immediately. What am I to do? No possibility is there that I get order from him and then do. Immediate action is to be taken. Then I shall ask myself what my Guru in such position wants me to do. I shall do that. So after the departure of our mahanta Guru I shall ask myself what my Guru should want me to do in such circumstances. I shall do that. As much as I can conjecture, his advice to me, I shall do that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And that is caitya Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, caitya Guru, then I am sincere, if more cannot be expected from me; he will see, he will look after.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I was thinking, Gadādhara Paṇḍita, he did not want to hear the explanations of Vallabha Ācārya on Kṛṣṇa Nāma, because Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said, "I know only Yaśodānandana and another Name of Kṛṣṇa. I cannot know any more Names." But Vallabha went to Gadādhara Paṇḍita and said, "Won't you hear my explanations of Kṛṣṇa Nāma?" And he was perplexed. He knew this would not please Mahāprabhu. But he didn't want to disturb Vallabha. So he thought, "Caitanya Mahāprabhu is in my heart, and He knows."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Other followers of Caitanya Deva were enraged with Gadādhara Paṇḍita. "Why do you give indulgence to this Vallabha who is not faithful to our Master? You are giving indulgence." But Gadādhara Paṇḍita with some tolerant spirit it did not disturb him. He came and talked something though not very pleased, Gadādhara Paṇḍita, but still he was going and tolerating. This is justified when by such tolerance Gadādhara Paṇḍita attracted Vallabha Ācārya, and Vallabha Ācārya became his disciple. So then the meaning of tolerance came out.

Devotee: Vallabha Ācārya became disciple of Gadādhara Paṇḍita.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He appreciated mādhurya rasa, he entered, got admission into mādhurya rasa and took mantram from Gadādhara Paṇḍita. So Gadādhara Paṇḍita's toleration came with meaning in flying colours.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because sometimes because in our society we're all very new to this, that we may make some mistakes in terms of etiquette or may not speak properly...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...so I've taken help from this verse from Caitanya-caritāmṛta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, Kṛṣṇa līlā accommodates everything, even mistakes. A mistake sometimes goes upper than right event or deed; it may be.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: How is that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whatever pleases Kṛṣṇa that is good. You see Kṛṣṇa wanted Yudhiṣṭhira to just say a falsehood. Yudhiṣṭhira hesitated, and at last when he uttered, asvatthama hatta iti gaja [?] Are you aware of the incident?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. He asked him to lie.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To tell lie. But Yudhiṣṭhira hesitated. But submission to Kṛṣṇa requires whatever He wants. Whatever satisfies Him that is truth. The satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa – that is the final test, and not any event measured by the standard of this world of good or bad. Only the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, the highest criteria of līlā is there. In Rāmacandra we don't find all these things, neti is getting the upper hand. But with Kṛṣṇa līlā we find the inner importance eliminating the external rigidity of morality.

You see, Arjuna comes in the day of Karna vadha [?] perhaps. Yudhiṣṭhira was insulted by Karna in the battlefield. Yudhiṣṭhira came out and then Arjuna and Kṛṣṇa also came for the rest in the midst of war came for some refreshment. And then Yudhiṣṭhira rebuked Arjuna. “You have taken me and entangled me in this war. I was not very in favour of war. I depended on you and you do not care in fighting sincerely for me. You were there and Karna insulted me. Fie to your Gāṇḍīva.”

Then there was a promise of Arjuna that whoever will blame his Gāṇḍīva he will behead him or he'll die himself. When Yudhiṣṭhira blamed the Gāṇḍīva, Arjuna is about to take out his sword, and Kṛṣṇa saw.

“What are you doing fool? Are you going to behead your elder brother to fulfil your promise? What is the value of that promise? Did you not promise a thousand times that you’ll make Yudhiṣṭhira your elder brother a king, emperor? Where are those promises? You are only going to carry out one bogus promise and to behead your elder brother? And so many promises are there in the war field, the battle is continuing in full rage, and you are going to a particular part of your promise you are going to behead your reverent elder brother? Do you think that this is the purport of the moral laws? For such bogus things the moral laws have been created – do you think like that? Eliminating the substance and only taking a part of the form; making much of a mole hill. “I promised like that, I promised like that.” Yes, there are eight kinds of death. To praise ones own self that is also a kind of death, so you praise yourself, “You are so big, so big, so big.” And that is a kind of death.” Then Arjuna...

The purpose, the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, of the centre, the absolute good and all consciousness, all knowing, omniscient; His satisfaction that is the highest criteria of every action. And other laws are all subsidiary to that law. Do you follow? There are so many laws, in so many grades, but the highest is that all are leading to the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. That should be the highest criteria of everything. Kṛṣṇa sukha [?] And He’s autocrat absolute, but He’s absolute good. That is the justification; absolute good is autocrat. And we all like military camp, all towards the general. No other; all laws concentrated in the order of the general. He knows better than we soldiers.

Devotee: Who can be autocrat? Only the absolute good can be autocrat.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And yasya prasādād bhagavat-prasādo [ŚrīGurv-aṣṭakam, 8]. Kṛṣṇa and Guru, but how will we know what is pleasing to Kṛṣṇa, without Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So I feel so far that it may not be possible to detect what is the nature of His satisfaction. So His agent sent by Him to me, if I carry out his order, his temperament I look out and I read and do, then Kṛṣṇa will say, “I have deputed him. And because I am far away from him so many hindrances, so My deputation is there and his satisfaction is My satisfaction. It is already ordered by Me.” That is the general case. By satisfying Guru we can satisfy Kṛṣṇa, because he’s in that position by order of Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Jñāna-sunya-bhakti, jñāna miśrā-tahi bara [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, then I was thinking, to be sincere can also make mistakes. Like this Arjuna Ācārya who was in Bhagavad-gītā [9.22] he was ananyāś cintayanto mām, ye janāḥ paryupāsate.

[“I personally assume the whole responsibility of acquiring and protecting the necessities of My fully dependent devotees who are always absorbed in thought of Me alone, and who worship Me exclusively in all respects.”]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is possible, rarely, but sometimes by the influence of Kṛṣṇa he’s benumbed only to show to the ordinary public a particular picture. The moha pardon. By the special will of Kṛṣṇa, Arjuna was covered by misunderstanding. And by doing so, by taking Arjuna as a misguided disciple He delivered the Gītā Upadeśa, nimitta-mātram [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.33] Do you follow? Am I not clear?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, nimitta-mātram, an agent, an instrument.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Arjuna was not of that type, but temporarily he was overpowered by the will of Kṛṣṇa to be in such a position. So many things came out from Arjuna and He's going to answer all those questions. Temporarily Arjuna was put in such conditions by the special power of Kṛṣṇa to teach the people at large. Arjuna was transformed into such, taken and forced into being in that position by Kṛṣṇa's will. To make it – Arjuna was forced to take the position of an unlearned man and thereby the public was given the advices of Gītā. Arjuna was a nimitta.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What of in the case of this Arjun Ācārya who was writing? In this verse Kṛṣṇa says, “Teṣāṁ nityābhiyuktānāṁ, yoga-kṣemaṁ vahāmy aham, that I come personally. [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.22]” And he was thinking that Kṛṣṇa must not come personally; He must send someone else. So he changed the writing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not this Arjuna; that is Arjun Mīśra, another person, a paṇḍita, a scholar.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A scholar in devotion named Arjun Mīśra in Orissa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What of his case? He was changing the message.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He could not tolerate the idea that my affectionate Lord He will carry on His shoulder or on His head what are the needs of His devotee. He could not tolerate. As Jayadeva could not tolerate the idea though it rushed in his mind that Kṛṣṇa is going to touch the feet of Rādhikā. In these two cases Kṛṣṇa says that, “What I am pushing in your heart, I am there. Yes, I am.”

maha-mohan, not karan-mohan, varan-mohan, bahan-mohan [?]

He showed it practically. And in Jayadeva’s case also He came and wrote, dehi pada-pallavam udāram [Gītā-Govinda, 10.7]. They’re high things. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

You will accept some anukalpa here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, today’s Ekādaśī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ekādaśī; no anukalpa?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I’ve been trying to fast.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The whole day, fast?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You don’t take any anukalpa? All right.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because I was thinking, I’m a sannyāsī, I should try to be a little renounced, a little renunciation.

Devotee: He tries to do little renunciation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, sannyāsī. Ha, ha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because you are always saying that beware of renunciation; so do you think this is good or this is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Between Scylla and Charybdis, do you know the expression ‘Between Scylla and Charybdis?’ I am between Scylla and Charybdis. Near Italy in the Mediterranean, Charybdis is a hidden rock, and another there is a whirlpool, Scylla. So when a ship goes through them between Scylla and Charybdis, if it’s near Charybdis it will strike against it and will be ruined. And if it comes near the Scylla it will come under the course of the whirlpool and will go down. So it is very difficult to pass through Scylla and Charybdis.

[Charybdis: Greek mythology. A dangerous whirlpool in a narrow channel of the sea, opposite the cave of the sea monster Scylla] [Scylla: Greek mythology. A female sea monster who devoured sailors when they tried to navigate the narrow channel between her cave and the whirlpool Charybdis. In later legend Scylla was a dangerous rock, located on the Italian side of the Strait of Messina] [Scylla and Charybdis, used to refer to a situation involving two dangers in which an attempt to avoid one increases the risk from the other.]

[Oxford English Dictionary]

So this side is bhoga and tyāga, exploitation, selfish enjoyment, and another side renunciation. Renunciation and exploitation – both are dangerous. Renunciation is more dangerous than exploitation. It is a more powerful enemy. The tendency of renunciation that is more powerful enemy of devotion of Kṛṣṇa than this weak though cheap enemy is that of exploitation. Exploitation is a weak enemy and renunciation is a strong enemy.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, but, now, so, in the Gauḍīya sampradāya we have to take sannyāsa for propaganda purposes. But how much renunciation...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is sham sannyāsa, to capture those that are in the rank of sannyāsī. Only for that purpose Mahāprabhu did and even took māyāvādā sannyāsa to capture the māyāvādīs because they had the power in their hand. At that time the society was under the control of māyāvādīs, mostly. So He took the garb of māyāvādī sannyāsa, the Ācārya, and entering within their camp He preached that, “What you are doing is all anti devotion and that is bad. The Buddhistic principles you are trying to enter into the Vedic doctrine, doing great disservice to the society. Vedāśraya nāstikya-vāda bauddhake adhika.”

[veda nā māniyā bauddha haya' ta nāstika / vedāśraya nāstikya-vāda bauddhake adhika] [“The Buddhists do not recognise the authority of the Vedas; therefore they are considered agnostics. However, those who have taken shelter of the Vedic scriptures yet preach agnosticism in accordance with the māyāvādā philosophy are certainly more dangerous than the Buddhists.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 6.168]

“Really you are delivering the goods of the Buddhistic School under the garb of Vedic fashion. That is more dangerous. You’re doing great harm to the society. The varṇāśrama, the Veda, always leads towards Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa bhakti, positive thing; not negative Brahman.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So how should I know how strict to be with myself?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What sort of strictness I should observe as a sannyāsī? I should devote my maximum energy to Kṛṣṇa and whatever will be favourable to that I’ll accept that; if fasting is more favourable. The service of Kṛṣṇa that is more important and what will help me for that I shall do.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

[?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: When our Guru Mahārāja, at the time of dīkṣā, he would request that we follow four principals. No illicit sex, no intoxication, no meat, fish, or egg eating, no gambling. And then he would tell us to chant sixteen rounds, sixteen times. So at the time of initiation of Gauḍīya time of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta, what would he request of the disciple, of the śiṣya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His main object was to chant Kṛṣṇa, to preach Kṛṣṇa, under the guidance of a superior sādhū, Vaiṣṇava. Under the guidance of Vaiṣṇava, go on preaching Kṛṣṇa. That is the first thing, most important, others only helping that life. Of course the mālā may not fast, that is the mālā should not fast, that is some sort of food should be given to mālā. That is according to the necessity of the service, if it is necessary to decrease the number you may do. You're doing the kīrtana and this is japa; kīrtana is superior to japa, but don't neglect it but that is the superior – kīrtana, Hari kīrtana. And do it with utmost power. But to make it valid, pure, guaranteed, you must do it under the direction of a Vaiṣṇava whom you regard. Kīrtana is that. And all other duties that are forms of devotion are subsidiary to kīrtana, preaching.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bṛhat-mṛdaṅga.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bṛhat-mṛdaṅga in writing, and in writing or orally, go on pushing Kṛṣṇa kīrtana. Fight with māyā. Try to establish Kṛṣṇa consciousness driving away the misunderstanding that “I am God, I am enjoyer, he's enjoyer, country's enjoyer.” Demolish all these things. Kṛṣṇa is the only enjoyer and He's such and such. Spread this Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Once in Janmāṣṭamī day, MādhavaMahārāja, he was Hayagrīva Brahmācārī at that time. Prabhupāda had to go to Mathurā, perhaps to observe the Puruṣottama Mas or something; anyhow, he had to go to Mathurā. And Hayagrīva Brahmācārī he selected to go one day earlier and to hire a suitable house. And when Hayagrīva Brahmācārī was to go that day was Janmāṣṭamī. Prabhupāda asked his own cook, “Feed him with rice.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: On Janmāṣṭamī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On Janmāṣṭamī day. “He will have to take a tedious journey and his energy will be wasted but he has got that important duty to fix a house there so give him rice.” That was his order. But Hayagrīva hesitated and his cook also hesitated, Sajjana Mahārāja. Anyhow the sago and plantain and curd, all these things together he took in Janmāṣṭamī day.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And rice also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not rice.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, he didn’t take, he wouldn’t take.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And if Professor Sanyal were in his position he must have taken rice. He was so much adherent to the – extremely submissive to Prabhupāda’s order. He would have said, “Oh Prabhupāda has asked me to take rice. I must take rice.” That was his contention, his line of thought. But Hayagrīva hesitated. “No, no. None is necessary. I’m strong enough. I shall do the duty. When Prabhupāda wanted me to eat something in this fasting day, let me have something, anukalpa.” Then he went on.

So for kīrtana purpose; when the first party went to England – Bon Mahārāja, Tīrtha Mahārāja, and Sambit, they could not make any special arrangement in cooking their prasādam, the ordinary prasādam. Some took pāraṇ ate etc, and some vegetable arrangement was there but all touched and not separate arrangement of vegetable or non vegetable, but all connected and mixed together. Some took that touched vegetable, and Prabhupāda approved that.

And once, Prabhupāda was telling in his discussion about western preaching in Bombay. He told that, “There should be a Hindu home established and there will be a Hindu hostel. And there all the Indians should be invited to stay there. And those that are vegetarian the prasādam will be distributed to them. And non vegetarians we shall arrange with the hostel and they will serve meat there for them.”

Then I protested; that if for the non vegetarians we arrange with the hostel to serve meat into our compound, then there will be a bad name of the mission.

“Oh. What do you say? We must have vaikuṇṭha-vṛtti.” This expression was uttered by him, vaikuṇṭha-vṛtti. “I shall do this, I shall not do this. That won’t go. Anything - I am vaikuṇṭha-vṛtti.”

That was like a lightening shock within me. Vaikuṇṭha, what is the meaning of Vaikuṇṭha? Unlimited, unconditioned; so for Kṛṣṇa I am to do anything and everything. Such mentality I must have. For the purpose of the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa I must be up to anything. Whatever, for His service is necessary, I must do that without considering any consideration of anything else in this world.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you are of such nature. Preaching, I’m going to preach. Kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, [punarapi ei thāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[Sri Caitanya Mahāprabhu told His followers: “Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-129]

“This worldly wave will never be able to touch you if you are engaged in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. You must mind that. Kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei thāñi pābe mora saṅga. I am giving order and again in the process of discharging this duty you will see Me, that I am backing you.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Thank you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suicidal squad; in the army there is a department of suicidal squad, is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The kamikazes, in Japan the kamikazes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Japan, with some bombs in their armpits they jumped into the chimney. And thereby, two main navies of the British were destroyed by Japan. Hitler told, “If I have to learn anything in the military science, the military administration, I have to learn from Japan and none else,” after these two incidences of the suicidal. So from that time a suicidal squad was formed by every army. They’re always ready by committing suicide they’re always ready to perform the service. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So for us, what is that suicidal work?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If we do,

Premi bhakta viraha chai moritay premi kṛṣṇa milay sei na pai moritay [?]

So, for the earnestness to render the service, a devotee may risk his life. But He’s there, He comes to save him. So at the risk of life one should go forward to serve Kṛṣṇa. Your Prabhupāda wanted to send you to China, to Russia, but they’re so demonic they may try to kill.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I went to Russia.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You went to Russia?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that Gopāl Kṛṣṇa was sent; that Punjabi, he was sent by your Prabhupāda to Russia.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: India is friendly to Russia, and with that advantage he sent him. Gopāl Kṛṣṇa came here the other day.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Oh, he did? He was here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He came and he seems to be one of the candidates of the Ācārya post.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In this meeting perhaps he will put his application, “I am a candidate for the post of Ācārya.” Gopāl Kṛṣṇa perhaps: that Punjabi gentleman.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But Mahārāja, there cannot be a vote, can there? A vote, say you're going to vote for Ācārya. The majority, you will tell your disciples the majority has...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the present case of course the vote has some consideration. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.146]

Every letter in Bhāgavatam is Kṛṣṇa. This spacious idea we must foster. The dialectic method is thesis, antithesis, and synthesis. Have you read the German philosopher Hegel?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Little, I've heard a little.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His method is dialectic logic. Thesis, then antithesis, and harmonising both of them, the greater synthesis. Again one sees that is again thesis, and again antithesis, and harmonising both the greater synthesis. In this way the world is making progress. That is his theory, the dialectic method. The world is progressing in a dialectic method. Whatever there will be there will be some opposite conception, and then the third will come to harmonise both.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That we must do for preaching. For preaching we must do like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes by God's will it comes to effect like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Anukalpa?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. I think I should fast for Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Venkatta [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Venkatta, Vṛndavana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was in charge of Gurukula there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. That's right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Canadian gentleman.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Oh. Yaśodānandan.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yaśodānandan. He came here by Toofar mail [a train service] in the day of Ekādaśī, and when he reached here during the evening and went to take bath in the Ganges and then kīrtana, dancing, and all these things, circumambulation; then I asked him whether he'll take any anukalpa. "But generally I don't do, but if you like then of course I must take anukalpa. Your will is greater than fasting." Ha, ha, ha. That was his decision, and he did so.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That's also my decision, because I always want your mercy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So if you desire that I take some prasāda I'll do that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: My Guru Mahārāja— "That maximum energy, you take good food and do good service." That was his maxim. "Kṛṣṇa is not a liquidated party; take prasādam full and do full service, maximum service, and whatever is necessary you take it and for the cause of Kṛṣṇa you are to take, not for your own cause. You are Kṛṣṇa's, so if you grow weak, and if you are weak, then the hampering in the service then you'll be loser. I'll also be loser. My soldiers should be well fed and well working." That was his principle.

Half fed soldiers Napoleon told, “One full fed soldier is equal to ten half fed soldiers.” Something like that Napoleon told.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...say that they’re not qualified to be Guru. And they will say that you are saying “Oh. You can be Guru, have two feet here...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two feet here and...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So they’re saying...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the eyes fixed on Vaikuṇṭha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're of that opinion but they have no eyes to Vaikuṇṭha at all.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And they say that you must be the uttama whose acting on the madhyama platform. That is the Guru that one must seek out. The madhyama Guru he may be some kind of Guru, but who is interested in such a Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I also had such ideas first, but through transformation I did not venture to make disciples in the beginning, after the departure of Prabhupāda. But I had some transformation through three events. Then I came to take up this work humbly, modestly, in a...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What was that, can I ask?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The other day it was taken in, such question. Tamal Kṛṣṇa asked, "That I do not consider myself quite fit to do this work. Then should I go on?" And what did I answer?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You said, "āmāra ājñāya guru hañā." That by the command of Mahāprabhu and my Guru Mahārāja it is his order.

[yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa / āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra' ei deśa] ["Instruct everyone to follow the orders of Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa as they are given in the Bhagavad-gītā and Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way become a spiritual master and try to liberate everyone in this land.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That we must be so much careless if it is possible, that I may go to hell, but I must carry out my Guru’s order. So through me the work will go on, may go on. That is one, and another instance, one of gopīs, and another instance...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa’s headache.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And another instance I also quoted. What is that? Rāmānuja. I may go to hell. But this sort of conviction.....into the process into mantram, that gives us position to carry out. This is helping, this medicine is – I’m in the curing process, this medicine is helping me. In a similar case the medicine I may hand over to him.

And Jīva Goswāmī says jñāna śāthya vittha śāthya. “I have got some money. Another person is suffering, can’t pay. If I keep tight that money and he dies fasting without food, then I will be responsible for that, vittha śāthya. So jñāna śāthya is there. I have got some knowledge. I can help my neighbour but I don’t do that, then I’ll be responsible, I shall commit some offence against the society and against the cause.”

You see, in this world this also came to me. I asked one doctor, “What do you know? Do you know about the disease perfectly? How do you venture to cure, to treat a patient? You have got meagre knowledge. You don’t know his body fully. You venture, you are wrong.”

The doctor submitted to me, but the reaction came in my mind. Then the whole method of treatment will vanish? All half-knowing, not anyone to be found with full, perfect knowledge, then this curing process should be abolished? It is not possible.

So in the case of all culture one should help others in good faith. In good faith whatever knowledge he has got he must help others with that knowledge and guidance, sincerely. So in that spirit we may take it. Otherwise we'll be blamed.

So with that good sincere spirit we can go on. Wherever, but we must be careful. Whenever a Guru of superior quality is there, I must take to him. Better seed is available. The kṣetra, the land, is there, but when better seed is available for the cultivation, no bad seed should occupy. So when the better Guru is available we must help a person to take to him. I must not go to be a trespasser.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But the Vaiṣṇava he's always thinking himself, jaḡāi mādhaī haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 5.205] he's thinking himself, so he will always want to take someone to the other Vaiṣṇava.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So Vaiṣṇava, the degree of Vaiṣṇavism will take us to almost akiñcana, that I am nothing, I am the lowest of the low. But when Ācārya abhimāna will flow it will come through the order of Kṛṣṇa, you will have to do it. In that case he wants to do. It is His flow.

Mahāprabhu says, "Sanātana, Kṛṣṇa's grace is flowing, passing through Me to you. I can't understand. Kṛṣṇa is going to grace you, and it is passing through Me, all these words. I don't understand them but it is going, passing through Me, I feel, something like that. My Ācārya's order I am carrying out. Being so low but still I am accepted, ordered by Ācārya to do."

With this necessity, that is not always externally but internally also. The Ācārya asked me, "Go on with preaching, do. You are qualified. If you don't do then why did I give it to you? I spread it so you also spread." If such sincere urge one feels in his heart he must do. If I do not serve the society, whatever I have got with that, then if I think that no, I'll be responsible to my Guru. "That you got so much energy from me and if you keep it within you, four walls within your heart, let them lose to help others." If one comes in this sort of thought he should try. But the difficulty is there that to become a Guru, to capture the position of a Guru, the respect of the Guru, that is one thing, and to discharge the duty that is another stage. Sincerity is necessary in the conception. The conception of course is difficult no doubt. No doubt it is a difficult thing. He will be lost and others will also be lost. So in the name of helping others he will deceive others if he himself is a deceit. So we must be careful. Whether I am eligible to discharge the duty what I have received from my Guru, whether I'm eligible to do good to others.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But you can do that, you can give śikṣā also, yes? You can give what you've heard from your spiritual master, your Guru, you can give to others.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So what is the necessity of dīkṣā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is also a trap to catch the Guru. You give the śikṣā and those that have got your śikṣā will say, "I cannot go to any other. Whatever I heard from you I cannot accept anyone to be Guru than yourself."

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But you can say, "If you accept me, then I tell you to accept him."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And if he's sincere, if you accept him, I show you have faith in me, real faith, then I show you to go to that gentleman. He may say if he sincerely believes that he's superior to him, he may say. And if of equal status with the Ācārya then also he's already in the constitution. "You go to see. I don't want to disturb the constitutional work." In that case also to a certain extent it may be adjusted like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But if one says he's going down, how can I recommend this sincere gentleman to connect with him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There at that time he will have to come down himself to take the responsibility of continuing the work of his Guru. It all depends on sincere realisation.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because some people they came to you and you were telling that you thought yourself unfit and you sent them away, in the beginning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I sent some away. Mādhava's mother, Swāmī Mahārāja's sister came to me.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Pishima. [aka Bhāvinī Didi]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: She had Hari Nāma from Prabhupāda and for initiation she came to me. But at that time my mind was hesitating. I sent her to Goswāmī Mahārāja. If I am not going to take up the duty, and he has taken, if you have faith in me, I recommend you to go there. I did, and many I did, in the beginning.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This is another thing. Some people say that in the Ādi-līlā of Caitanya-caritāmṛta, it says there is one initiating spiritual master and there may be many instructing or śikṣā Guru, but one dīkṣā Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For the particular person śikṣā Guru may be many, but dīkṣā Guru one and the same, in general case. But if he's a bogus one, then he should be left and, avaiṣṇava.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But some devotees, they are bewildered. They're thinking that if you can only have one dīkṣā Guru then how is it that after the disappearance of Prabhupāda, disciples who have dīkṣā from him, Hari Nāma, they can take mantra from someone else? Isn't mantra also dīkṣā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In considering that he's His vaibhāva, extension, he has asked them, His extended delegated power, delegated

His will to perform the residue, the duty that is taken up by him. So by submitting to them I am submitting to Him, His order. In this way you may adjust. But if he finds that he's satisfied that he's in the line of former Guru. Otherwise it is also possible that he may not have the second dīkṣā at all.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But what if he takes second dīkṣā and he sees some conflict between the mantra Guru and Hari Nāma Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In that case he should not, after dīkṣā or before dīkṣā, if he finds any difference then he may not venture very easily.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But what about after? He has taken mantra from someone and then he sees some difficulty?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After taking mantram he's in difficulty?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, between Hari Nāma Guru and mantra Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If there's some difference at present in his mind, new ideas of difference have sprung up in his heart?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That he's not in the line.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then of course he cannot but be indifferent to his present Guru, in the beginning. That I see difference, he's not in the line, but I have done. Wait and see. That should be his behaviour, wait and see. I do not find encouragement in him to engage in the service with earnestness, it may be. That is of course a disaster, calamity.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It may also be due to immature understanding.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But those defects should be realised whether they're exterior or interior. The difference what is being detected, that is external, superficial, un substantial. If it is superficial, he should be encouraged that this may be neglected. But if internal, then of course it is a difficult case, and cannot but be indifferent for some time, and then gradually the thing will – time will decide and show what's the matter, and then he's to take such steps accordingly.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jai. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Finished?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Thank you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Thank you.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I hope I don't bother you by coming so often.

...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...written about you in his book, this Autobiography of a Jewish Yogī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. How has he represented me?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He compares you to a great general, when he met you. And there he tells of the instructions how Śrīla Prabhupāda told him that he regarded you as his śikṣā Guru, and that Acyutānanda Swāmī should come here for your instructions. He was in some spiritual difficulty. So he describes the nine months that he was living here and his hearing from you, the many different subjects you would speak about.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And ultimately, the conclusion?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The conclusion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The result of that association has taken him far away from the ISKCON?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, no. Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The consequence shows this and my association is responsible for that. Ha, ha, ha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. No. We were, for all these years we have wondered how Acyutānanda Swāmī knows so many things. Everyone has always wondered. And then now we can understand, by your association, where he learned so many things.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But his conclusion was that your instructions were non different than our Prabhupāda's instructions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not different?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Non different. But at the same time different. This is my understanding. This is the spiritual sweetness of variety. It's non different but at the same time it's different. And I didn't know that it could be like this. Because as you said in your poem to Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta, about this world is filled with the cheaters and the cheated. So Prabhupāda was the only person that I ever met who did not cheat me, until I met Your Divine Grace also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It's corroborated.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And everything that you tell me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But in Acyutānanda's writing there is appreciation for me?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is your opinion? You have read, you have gone through that book?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, I've gone through it, and he presents you very nicely.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja wrote a letter in his address, in his good name.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Ask Mahārāja,” that is myself, “to keep Acyutānanda in his Maṭh and to give some advice to him.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Acyutānanda wanted that letter. At that time it was not found.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. He has asked me if I can bring it back to him in America. Acyutānanda Swāmī wants me to bring it to America. Now Bhakti Caru Swāmī has it, so I can take it from him and I’m going to New York, I will give it to Acyutānanda, if you like.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That letter?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. And we can leave a copy here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caru Swāmī will have a copy?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. I’m also keeping a copy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Copy means?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Block? And then that will be given. Copy should be distributed. The original will be with him and the copies should be distributed.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. With who, the original?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With Caru Swāmī.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, with Bhakti Caru. Yes. All right, then I can give Acyutānanda a copy, because he is putting that letter in his book, he's putting it there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Acyutānanda does not plan to come to India again? He has no such plan?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not immediately, no.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is he doing? Is he delivering lectures in different universities?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. At universities, and also he's trying to get his book published. Because if you have a book then you can travel around and you can be on television and you can get so many preaching opportunities if you have a book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. A better position of a preacher, he has it in black and white. All right. But why Jewish Yogī?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That is his humour.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jewish Yogī is converted into a Kṛṣṇa bhakta.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. There is one very famous book by Paramahansa Yogānanda. Do you know Paramahansa Yogānanda? He is a māyāvādī, and he has one famous book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is known as yogadā.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yogadā, I do not know. But he's very popular; this book is very popular in the western countries. And his book is called...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Rabindranatha wrote against him, that this hot yogī had a closer association with the ladies, to teach them yoga, that is a blasphemy in the name of Indian culture. There I saw in the writing of Rabindranatha Tagore, yogadar. He had a centre in Ranchi [?] perhaps.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, I think so, it sounds like the man. He has one book called Autobiography of a Yogī, and everyone reads it. So Acyutānanda Swāmī has called Autobiography of a Jewish Yogī to take from that popularity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From that position he will show that Kṛṣṇa is the highest.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not the charm of yoga and the charm of Jewish method of worshipping of many gods. We have left those two planes and I am going, fixing my aim, to the highest, as Kṛṣṇa conception.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, he's showing that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow, he has chosen that to be the platform where from he's to speak. Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Jai. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. You are to stay here sometime more?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In Māyāpur?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are to take anukalpa?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As you like.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, as you like.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja:

mahat-sevām dvāram āhur vimuktes, [tamo-dvāram yoṣitām saṅgi-saṅgam mahāntas te sama-cittāḥ praśāntā, vimanyavaḥ suhrdaḥ sādhave ye]

[“One can attain the path of liberation from material bondage by service to the great devotees. One who wishes to advance in spiritual life must render service to the mahātmās. For those who are not interested in advancing in spiritual life, who associate with those fond of women and sex, the path to hell is wide open. The great devotees are equipoised. They do not see any difference between one living entity and another. They are very peaceful, and are fully engaged in devotional service. They are devoid of anger and they work for the benefit of everyone. They do not behave in any abominable way. Such persons are known as mahātmās.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.5.2]

I am here just to try and serve you, then the door to Vaikuṇṭha is open.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, service is better than sitting idle. So prasāda sevā, if it is service, in a serving mood of course, but at the same time the individual position of a devotee should be considered, should be taken into consideration. The sahajiyās, they do not observe Ekādaśī fasting at all. “Oh. We are in Vṛndāvana. No fasting there.” But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Prabhupāda, did not like in the Name; that is sahajiyā, in the name of Kṛṣṇa bhakti to go on with feeding, feeding the senses. But when necessary for the service of Kṛṣṇa to keep up the body for the nourishment what is necessary in the service of Kṛṣṇa, we don't like by taking to fasting that the loss of energy may not be affected, in this way we are to... Ekādaśī we honour.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If fasting does not hamper your service you may go on fasting. Your Gurudeva perhaps wanted.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, see, he did not do this. Our Gurudeva, he would eat something. So I was thinking that I can fast and I do not become weak, but I was thinking that maybe I will start to think that I am greater than my Gurudeva, because he was eating and I was, so...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That danger may be there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A greater danger, that I am more greater devotee than my Guru. Ha, ha, ha, ha, by observing fast. When you are aware of that danger that won't attack you. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Now I'm completely confused.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Confused? [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So you have to tell me, śiṣyas te 'haṁ śādhi mām tvām prapannam. [kārpaṇya-doṣopahata-svabhāvaḥ, prcchāmi tvām dharma-sammūḍha-cetāḥ

yac chreyaḥ syān niścitaṁ brūhi tan me, śiṣyas te 'haṁ śādhi mām tvām prapannam]

[“Now I am bewildered. What is my real duty? Overwhelmed by apprehension for the fall of our dynasty, I am begging You to please tell me clearly which course of action is most beneficial for me. I am Your surrendered disciple. Kindly instruct me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.7]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A small, only a little honour, to show your respect on the both sides.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But at your Maṭha there is no conception of little. They have lost this conception. They're only conceiving the infinite, the unlimited. They have no conception of the finite. So I'll take a little, or try. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When the Guru is there, the disciples are more free, but when he's departed they should be more careful. The guardian's vigilant eye is not over my head I should be careful. But when the guardian's vigilant eye is there, the son is more free to do this thing that thing because he's there, he's to check.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mādhava Mahārāja, he showed a strict ideal; very eager to show an ideal of Guru without any defect strongly to his disciples. But when he used to come to visit me he used like a child, like a friend. No restriction of the order. Even the disciples, the followers with him, but here he had no independence. He took his bed just on the floor sometimes, and used to take the fried rice, this pakula etc. He was quite free in his dealings. But when he's separate he's a very strict Ācārya, observing so many practices so that his disciples may not mistake him to be in an enjoying mood. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Also I'm conscious of that, because this is a question of śraddhā. And that is not something artificial. Śraddhā comes naturally.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Natural, spontaneous.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But in the beginning, one may want to tell someone else, "Oh, look what I have found," but they may not appreciate the value. So we have to be very careful. But I think...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Careful, and as the well-wisher of ISKCON I am also a little careful.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I feel. But still what I feel to be sincerely to be the truth, I cannot deviate from that. That is my difficulty.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Jai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who are to put question first? Ha, ha.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We're very glad to see you again.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very? We'll be more glad, but my age and health is not allowing. I should be rather more bright and more cheerful to do this service. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We find you very bright and effulgent.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha ha. Then there's special eyesight. Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

[varīyān eṣa te praśnaḥ,] kṛto loka-hitaṁ nṛpa

ātmavit-sammataḥ puṁsām, śrotavyādiṣu yaḥ paraḥ

[“My dear King, your question is glorious because it is very beneficial for all kinds of people. The answer to this question is the prime subject matter for hearing, and it is approved by all transcendentalists.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. 2.1.1]

Śukadeva first invited and welcomed the question put by Parīkṣit Mahārāja, and the second canto of Bhāgavatam begins like that. “Varīyān eṣa te praśnaḥ, this sort of question should only be made, ātmavit-sammataḥ, because from two standpoints the question is judged for its validity, ātmavit-sammataḥ and loka-hitaṁ. One aspect of the question is ātmavit-sammataḥ. Those that know their real intrinsic need by self analysis, it is asked by them, ātmavit-sammataḥ. And loka-hitaṁ, really, this question will help the good of the people. So Parīkṣit Mahārāja, your question is a bona fide one and I am just going to answer that.” In this way Bhāgavata began. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ātmavit-sammataḥ and loka-hitaṁ. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Giri Mahārāja: So, we did have one question to begin, and that is, the disciple comes to the spiritual master in any position and then gradually by the mercy of the Guru he's elevated through the modes, the different guṇas, rising higher and higher up to the mode of goodness and then finally pure goodness. Now in our various duties sometimes we have to act more like a kṣatriya or a manager which is more associated with the mode of passion. But on the other hand we're trying to come more to the stage of goodness and then pure goodness beyond any of the material modes. But sometimes in discharging our management duties it seems that we become affected by the mode of passion and that weakens us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You please reproduce it.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Yes. He's saying that in doing daily activities, especially our leaders, we have to act in such a way that it is like raja guṇa. Yet when cultivating Kṛṣṇa bhakti we want to come to the point of śuddha sattvic position. So sometimes our daily functions...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes. What is nirguṇa, that includes rajas, tamo, and, seems to be, apparently, seems to include raja, tama, and sattva, but it may be nirguṇa. Even killing may be nirguṇa, and at the same time, killing and worshipping may be saguṇa, formal worship. The very angle of vision, the standpoint, the inner purpose, that is what is the all important factor. You see, if a cent per cent, by the direction, and directed by the Guru's good will, one is going to control, to handle all these things, that may be nirguṇa. This chastisement, stricture, all may be nirguṇa. It depends on the plane from where he's dealing and for what purpose. The external form is not everything to be judged. Of course I don't say that all the chastisement and all the rough dealings will be nirguṇa, may not be, generally it may not be, but it can be nirguṇa. The purity of the purpose, the sincerity of the purpose, it depends on that. How he's handling and what for, how much sincere goodness he has got in his heart for the person whom he's chastising. Just as mother's chastising and ordinary enemies chastising is not one and the same; the good will at the back. So only external behaviour is not everything which will guide us to judge the action.

Giri Mahārāja: Yes. Now suppose I go, suppose some sincere lady comes and with all sincerity I want to preach to her, but due to that contact, although I begin will all sincere desire from the nirguṇa platform, but after that association...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. There are crucial points that should be judged from various standpoints. The sincere I shall try to attend, at the same time I shall have to reckon the good of others they may not mistake me, and the position of the person who is going to help, all these things may be taken into consideration. Sometimes a sincere man may be sacrificed for the good of so many. Sometimes it is necessary. And sometimes one's sincere hankering so much that the Ācārya may take the risk to help him. And the Ācārya's position must be substantial; he may not be weak, so that he may not be entrapped. All these things should be considered. But generally ānukūl and prātikūl, ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam.

[ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, goptrtve varaṇaṁ tathā. ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatih evaṁ paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ]

[The six divisions of surrender are to accept those things favourable for devotional service, to reject unfavourable things, the conviction that

Kṛṣṇa will give protection, to accept the Lord as one's guardian or master, full self-surrender, and humility.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100]

According to our own reason and the wish of our friends, we shall take the decision. And there will be victory and defeat at times and we are to take the responsibility of that in our practical life. We may be taught even by defeat, but sincerity, sincere attempt; that is always laudable and victorious.

Giri Mahārāja: Our Prabhupāda has written in his purport to the verse api cet sudurācāro [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30] this similar point. I shall read, that, “When a living entity is conditioned, he has two kinds of activities: one is conditional, and the other is constitutional. As for protecting the body or abiding by the rules of society and state, certainly there are different activities, even for devotees, in connection with the conditional life, and such activities are called conditional. Besides these, the living entity who is fully conscious of his spiritual nature and is engaged in Kṛṣṇa consciousness, or the devotional service of the Lord, has activities which are called transcendental. Such activities are performed in his constitutional position, and they are technically called devotional service. Now, in the conditioned state, sometimes devotional service and the conditional service in relation to the body will parallel one another. But then again, sometimes these activities become opposed to one another. As far as possible, a devotee is very cautious so that he does not do anything that could disrupt his wholesome condition.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Finished?

Giri Mahārāja: “He knows that perfection in his activities depends on his progressive realisation of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Sometimes, however, it may be seen that a person in Kṛṣṇa consciousness commits some act which may be taken as most abominable socially or politically. But such a temporary fall down does not disqualify him.”

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Have you finished?

Giri Mahārāja: I think so.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Now what’s the point?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, it is all right.

Giri Mahārāja: So the question is in terms of our lives, what is the meaning of conditional activity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Provincial and eternal; eternal function of the innate eternal function of the soul is in the plane of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And our country consciousness, our social consciousness, they also attach to us some sort of duty. And when they’re one and not antagonistic it is all right. And when there’s a clash the weak devotee he will follow the provincial and social and political; he’ll be prey to that. But a strong devotee he will repulse this political and social and some such obligation and he’ll go on with his program of eternal devotion towards Kṛṣṇa, and he’ll be ready to suffer.

Just as, take the case of Haridāsa Ṭhākura. Haridāsa Ṭhākura was warned by the Muslims, by the Kazi, “Why, what is this? You are born Mohammedan, in a pure society of Mohammedan School, and you are going to the kafir and you are taking the name of their God. I’m warning you, don’t do that.”

But Haridas Thakura did not care. Then he was punished, whipped...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...whipped, but he did not leave his campaign of Kṛṣṇa Nāma. The social, and even the ordinary religious demand came against him. He did not care. But weak-minded fellow, he will submit, “Oh. I must give.” So there may be clash and sometimes may not be clash, friendly relation. Now, in a particular case, api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāk.

[api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāk sādhur eva sa mantavyaḥ, samyag vyavasito hi saḥ] saint because he has embraced the revolutionary plane of life.”]

[?]

Giri Mahārāja: Now, for promoting, sometimes we have to go to the bank, we go to the market, we go to the printer, we have to do so many things. Are those considered constitutional activities or conditional?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Yes. Yes. That is, that it depends upon the strength of the creed of the person whose doing it. It's a personal question, individual case. Sometimes you may take to any false statement, externally. But internally you are right. You are doing for the service of Kṛṣṇa you are speaking a lie, or perhaps to a dacoit, to a thief. In this way,

*ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam [rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, goptṛtve varaṇaṁ tathā. ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, ṣaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatih
evaṁ paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ]*

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100, from Vaiṣṇava Tantra]

Whatever will help you to discharge your duty you will accept that. And whatever opposes your main progress you must renounce that, ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya- vivarjjanam. This sort of policy we shall accept. Not strictly to the truthfulness in the ordinary worldly sense, neither we shall speak always lie, and we shall think that Kṛṣṇa bhakti means lying and thieving, and all these things. We must not indulge in that. And when necessity, suppose some dacoits come to attack the temple, if it is possible I may tell a lie and guide them to some other direction, I shall do that, to save the institution and the devotees. Even if that lie takes me to hell, still I may speak the lie. “Oh. Let them be saved, and I may have to reap any result. I take the risk.” That lie will also be nirguṇa. But if I oppose the sincere good will, that will means service of Kṛṣṇa, according to that we are to adjust in the factor of time.

Good or bad in the conditional world; that may be neglected. Your Swāmī Mahārāja has explained clearly. When the conditional duty comes in clash with the constitutional duty, the conditional duty should be given up, be shunned, abandoned, and we must stick to constitutional duty. That should be our ideal. But a weak minded devotee, a beginner, he may not be so strong, he may yield to the conditional duty. But that is not the ideal, that should not be the ideal. Do you follow?

Giri Mahārāja: Yes. Now, at the end of his translation of Caitanya-caritāmṛta, our Prabhupāda made some concluding statements in which he gave all of the credit for whatever he did to his Guru Mahārāja, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Giri Mahārāja: Now I will read a few sentences from there. He says, “I think that His Divine Grace Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, is always seeing my activities, and guiding me within my heart by his words. As it is said in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam [1.1.1], tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye, spiritual inspiration comes from within the heart, wherein the Supreme Personality of Godhead in His Paramātmā feature is always sitting with all His devotees and associates. It is to be admitted that whatever translation work I have done is through the inspiration of my spiritual master, because personally I am most insignificant and incompetent to do this materially impossible work.”

So the point we want to clarify is that our Prabhupāda says that the Supreme Lord with all of His devotees and associates are situated within the heart. So that seems to indicate that the spiritual master is also one of the associates of the Lord who is seated in the heart along with Paramātmā. So does that mean that the individual spiritual masters, say in our case Śrīla Prabhupāda, he may...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramātmā is, the plane of Paramātmā, that is superseding jīvātmā, Paramātmā, but Paramātmā conception is only like a pita, like āsana.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Pita?

Devotee: Position?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramātmā, the realm of Paramātmā, the conception of Paramātmā is lower to that of the position of Gurudeva and his paraphernalia and his worshippable Lord. So beyond the jīvātmā and Paramātmā, and we are to, he says that my Gurudeva is the source of all my inspiration, as if he's sitting with his paraphernalia above the Paramātmā sphere. With all his knowledge and love divine is there. And from that source I find the stream of inspiration coming to me and whatever I am writing it is just as a fountain pen, the ink is supplied, so it is passing through me and writings are being produced. This also is in Caitanya-caritāmṛta. [Kṛṣṇadāsa] Kavirāja Goswāmī has said:

ei grantha lekhāya more 'madana-mohana' / [āmāra likhana yena śukera paṭhana]

[“Actually Śrī-Caitanya-caritāmṛta is not my writing but the dictation of Śrī Madana- mohana. My writing is like the repetition of a parrot.”] [Śrī-Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 8.78]

“I am an old man. When I'm writing, I'm too old, my hand is shivering. It is impossible for me at this stage of old age to write, but still I myself am wondering how can I write? But still I am writing. So it is not my writing but someone is writing through me.”

Sanātana Goswāmī says in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, “What is this that I'm a tiny fellow, mean human being, and I'm writing about the harem of Kṛṣṇa? The Rukmiṇī is such and such, Satyabhāmā is such and such, Kṛṣṇa is such and such, Their relation is in this way – what audacity I have got. What am I? A mean fellow of the dustbin, and I venture to write, to describe that. But believe me, this is not my writing. Someone is forcing my hand to write all these things. The externally internal, it is not my writing, not my product. I cannot venture to enter into that sphere, and I am writing authoritatively giving opinion, this servant is such, this servitor is such, this Queen, this here there. Where are they and where is myself? But someone is forcing me to write down all these things.”

And even Mahāprabhu says to Sanātana Goswāmī: “Kṛṣṇa is helping you as He’s sending so many words to teach you, and they’re passing through Me, I feel. But I do not understand them, what is going through Me to grace you.”

So it is possible, that is coming down, the inspiration, like inspiration it is coming down and I’m going on. And without that the written thing cannot be pure. That is revelation, that writing is of the type of revelation. It is coming down from some other quarter to this plane to help people like us. So that is all right. Otherwise in such a short time it cannot be possible for that man of old age to produce so many written books on the high thoughts. So inspiration there was. His heart or his mind was empty, and it was only an instrument for the divine agent to use him as their instrument. In this way he produced all these things. It came through him.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: In the field of writing transcendental literatures - in regard to writing transcendental literature, is it permissible to write proper siddhānta, bringing out proper conclusions of śāstra, in a context of fiction? In the context of fictitious stories, in other words, creating some fictitious characters etc, but these personalities are interacting to produce a devotional teaching. Is that permissible?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is not fictitious. The gross world may be fictitious, but whatever is coming from there, that has got some position in more real plane than this gross earth. It is existing in a particular plane and that plane is more true than the concrete world what we feel and live in. So he can do that. And another antagonistic thing I found in you. What do you say? Repeat it.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: I said that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Inconsistent, some conflicting.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: I was asking whether...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When a person is writing, then?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: He may create some fictitious...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, fictitious. Then whatever when the transcendental contract then he's not writing but he's forced to write; that should be the perspective. He's forced to write. He's absent, when the revealed truth is rushing in, then he's mere instrument cent per cent, not his writing. When he's writing and something is coming then there will be a mixture of both the things.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Could you repeat that? When he is writing...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's writing, his own abhimāna, his ego, and also transcendental inspiration, both combined, then that will be a mixed thing and not purely cent per cent pure.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So is that acceptable or not?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Partly acceptable.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So then it seems that what you have just said is different than what you had said at first.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, when Kṛṣṇa inspired Brahmā, tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1] he referred, and when from Brahmā the different disciples came, modification began. And then there is a jungle in the religious world of different conceptions. Prakṛti-vaicitryāt and pāramparyeṇa, the modification, and limitation, and the original thing gone, and the sham things are reigning inspired.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But in paramparā there should be no material modification.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramparā, the opaque Guru, the paramparā, the mediums must be pure, otherwise it is sometimes, often it is not pure so difference is there.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So just like in the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, all of the narrations are factual, they have occurred.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Kṛṣṇa says:

imaṁ vivasvate yogaṁ, proktavān aham avyayam vivasvān manave prāha, manur ikṣvākave' bravīt evaṁ paramparā-prāptam, imaṁ rājarṣayo viduḥ sa kāleneha mahatā, yogo naṣṭaḥ parantapa

[The Supreme Lord said: “Previously I instructed the sun-god Sūrya (Vivasvān) in this imperishable scientific knowledge, which is achieved by selfless action. Sūrya, the presiding deity of the sun, delivered it to his son Vaivasvata Manu, exactly as he had heard it from Me. Thereafter, Manu instructed the same knowledge to his son Ikṣvāku.”] [“O conqueror of the enemy, in this way, the saintly kings such as Nimi, Janaka, and others, learned this path of knowledge through divine succession. From the beginning of time, I am giving My tidings to others, transmitting the truth that I am the goal through this system of disciplic succession, generation after generation. Presently, due to the influence of this material world and the passage of time, the current is damaged, and this teaching appears to be almost completely lost.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.1-2]

“Again I am rejuvenating that karma yoga.” Kṛṣṇa says in Gītā to Arjuna, “First I told these things to Sūrya, and from Manu, all this. Then in kala-dharma it is mutilated and almost vanished. Then again I am speaking it to you.” It is in Gītā, imaṁ vivasvate yogaṁ, proktavān aham avyayam. Arjuna says, aparaṁ bhavato janma, paraṁ janma vivasvataḥ katham etad vijānīyām, tvam ādau proktavān iti

[Arjuna said: “Vivasvān, the Sun-god, was born in ancient times, and You were born only recently. Therefore, how is it to be believed, that You previously instructed these teachings to him?”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.4]

bahūni me vyatītāni, janmāni tava cārjuna tāny ahaṁ veda sarvāṇi, na tvam vettha parantapa

[The Supreme Lord said: “O Arjuna, chastiser of the enemy, both you and I have passed through many births previously. Due to My position as the supreme controller, I am able to remember all those births, whereas you, a living being of finite consciousness, cannot.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 4.5]

“I have got many births, and you also the same, but you don’t remember but I remember that I descended here many times. And first I told it to Vivasvān, and then from Vivasvān it came to Manu, and then from Manu to others, and in the course of time it is finished. Again I am telling.”

yadā yadā hi dharmasya, glānir bhavati bhārata abhyutthānam adharmaḥ, tadātmānaṁ sṛjāmy aham

[“O Bhārata, whenever there is a decline of religion and an uprising of irreligion, I personally appear, like a being born in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.7]

Giri Mahārāja: The fallen souls generally are coming from the brahmaloka, or brahmajyoti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is from the marginal land.

Giri Mahārāja: Yes. Now is there any difference between that soul and the souls that are eternally with Kṛṣṇa in Goloka?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. It is prohibited to think like that, that once liberated, once entered into Kṛṣṇa consciousness – of course there is gradation. But one who has got the grace of Kṛṣṇa and are of the same rank, no distinction should be continued; that he was in previous life in a conditioned world. To foster that sort of memory, thinking, has been discouraged, then don't do so.

Giri Mahārāja: Now when a soul is eligible to enter the spiritual world, say...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From conditioned function to constitutional function.

Giri Mahārāja: Yes. Now say that person is going to take the form of a cowherd boy. Now how does he enter the spirit...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All may not. Some may have their end of their journey in Vaikuṇṭha, some in Dvārakā, some in Mathurā. All may not come to Vṛndāvana to cowherd conception. Even Lakṣmī Devī could not have admission in the cowherd clan – what to speak of others. That is a special...

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: The question we want to know is that in Goloka there are cowherd boys, cowherd girls, there are mothers, fathers, everything. So suddenly if one re-enters, if one goes to Goloka in his constitutional position, how does he suddenly appear there? He has father, mother, friends, how suddenly...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is – that going cannot be a chance coincidence, but he's to follow a constitutional method to go there. So gradually it will awaken in him. He will have gradual conception of his paraphernalia, or his environment, and he will make progress; not suddenly.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: What about that environment? In other words, when, how, if he goes back to Godhead...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His ruci, his inclination, will, according to his progress, gradually make acquaintances with the paraphernalia. And it will be that he's to be pushed towards that domain.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: If he becomes a cowherd boy, then he has father and mother there, so how...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So that father and mother, how did they get him? Has he become... He's not being born there...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He will think that, 'I was here' because it is svarūpa, 'I was here but my mind was scattered.' Just like a mad man, he forgets his previous acquaintances and as soon as he comes back to his old memory, it's something like that.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: And the father and mother, what do they think?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They will think that, 'after a long time my son has come into senses and he's recognising me,' and in this way they will take him and he'll see them.

In Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta we find when a new recruit came to Kṛṣṇa, when he's coming on the way, _____ coming back, just at that time one fortunate soul met Him. And Kṛṣṇa welcomed him and firmly embraced him and lost consciousness with him. Baladeva and other cowboys they are more or less puzzled. 'What's the matter?' But Baladeva knew the matter and saved the situation, consoled the fellow. After some time, Kṛṣṇa woke and began to talk with that new friend. "My friend, so long, how could you stand, how could you move without Me?" Ha, ha. And that was His first address to that newcomer. "So long, how could you live without Me, My friend?" So something like that, that milan, that meeting, comes into the jurisdiction of eternity. From conditioned it comes into constitutional eternity. As if the point where finite and infinite meets, the position is something like this. The conditioned meets the eternal function. He gets it back. "It was my innate wealth. I lost it." This sort of consciousness arises and compromises the two. Two opposite things compromise in friendly plane in such a way we are told.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, if a disciple leaves the body thinking of the spiritual master, so he will go to where the spiritual master is.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, of course. If that is of sufficient growth and attraction then he will go. It depends upon the degree of attachment.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, one disciple of our Prabhupāda commented that he only wants Prabhupāda. He doesn't want to be led to any other party or group. Now, if that is...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ultimately that depends upon the will of Kṛṣṇa; wherever He will like to send him. There are so many qualified. The king recognises one, "As a General, go to the battle field." Then another one he may send. It may be like that. But still, just as in Vaikuṇṭha, there are sub Vaikuṇṭhas of different Nṛsimhadevas, Varāhadevas, so this Gurudeva with his paraphernalia that is also nitya. That has got its position in the constitutional; that is not a chance coincidence. That will move. Even here a sound is not lost, it is moving somewhere or anywhere or other. Is it not? A sound when produced it is moving in the atmosphere. The colour, that is also moving even here, but in Vaikuṇṭha nothing is lost. It is there, it is there; in the heart, in the feeling. That is not outside the Vaikuṇṭha. He has got the memory of his Gurudeva, how he came, and it is not abolished or effaced from the infinite. That is there, that picture; that picture is there so it is eternal. But again a new paraphernalia may be created also. The General may be recalled from a particular army. He may be posted in another army.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: But the memory of the first army remains also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, the first army that was there.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: That he'll remember.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The remembrance, he will be, the photo will be there, it will be in the mind of so many that he's our General. So, in Vaikuṇṭha everything is eternal, everything is eternal, coexistent. Coexistent, it can accommodate, there everything is coexistent. Any difficulty?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You once said that a mahā-bhāgavata Guru is in constant association with his Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And sometimes our Prabhupāda was criticised for not going to the samādhi of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta. And he said that, "He's sitting beside me at every moment."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what of that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, that seems to indicate that it's just like we're personally sitting with you right now, that kind of association. And generally we think in terms of the instructions; your associating with your Guru by his instructions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In prapañca that is – experience through the senses and mental experience may differ. By recollection I may come in association of something and bodily also I can go. But here, what he said, “That I am always with – I see the samādhi of my Gurudeva,” that is more than mental, transcendental sphere. He's there, and sometimes samādhi, sometimes birthplace, sometimes his only dīkṣā place; it may vary.

Mahāprabhu says to Rūpa Goswāmī: sada sange āsiyācha tumi, [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19:240] When after the training is completed of Rūpa Goswāmī, Mahāprabhu wanted to come to Nilācala, Jagannātha, to return, then Rūpa Goswāmī proposed, “Please order me to follow You. I can't stand Your separation.”

Then Mahāprabhu told: “You are always with Me. Now you just go to Vṛndāvana.”

So by our, we can keep company in the spiritual world by – the other day I also told this– by anugatyam, by our submission. Soul is near to soul only through submission, in that relationship, and not so much by close physical relation. The other day I told that there are bugs and lice also very close, but they're not very near. Physical nearness is not real nearness. Mental more and nearness of soul, that is more and more real. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then? On what point it came?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You said yesterday that first we see the Guru as Kṛṣṇa; Kṛṣṇa as Guru. Then intermediate stage...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Comprehensively, first we see Brahma, then Param Vasudeva, then Lakṣmī Nārāyaṇa; gradual progress, so first we see Guru as Kṛṣṇa when we do not see the differentiated character there. For the beginners it is told that Guru is Kṛṣṇa. Then deeper vision will gradually disclose that Guru is a particular function of Kṛṣṇa. Then more closely the particular function in what channel? The elaborate conception of the function discloses the hierarchy there, in this way. But in the first sight all included in Kṛṣṇa, all Kṛṣṇa, and then Kṛṣṇa's potency, particular function. He has got many other functions. This is one partial aspect, then details in the partial aspect, that takes us, leads us to the differentiated character into Guru. And according to rasa when classified, different groups, so much variegation in details goes to a particular group of servitors in the particular clan. And in the service also there are so many variegations, the food department, then the bed department, then the ornamental department. There are many departments. According to the inner taste one is accepted in a particular place, position. What is hazy and non differentiated in the first sight, in the near and clear sight, it expresses so many differentiated and specified characteristics, clearly, in a particular way.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, some of the same personalities from Kṛṣṇa līlā came in another form for the Gaura līlā. Now, we have understood that Rāmānanda Rāya, he is Viśākhā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We may not say that he came from there to here. That was emptied. It is not. Their two-fold presence rather, you may think like that.

Giri Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is also eternal and this is also eternal.

Giri Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So two-fold, the double function, a little modified.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, sometimes we hear that Rāmānanda Rāya is the same personality as Viśākhā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A corresponding.

Giri Mahārāja: And at the same time we hear that he's also Arjuna.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Arjuna. That Arjuna's function may be traced there partially. According to the interest and necessity of the person who sees, it is like that. Some may think Rāmānanda is a Governor, some may see his nearness to Viśākhā in temperament; sober and Kṛṣṇa-Rādhikā, not partial to anyone. All these signs may help others to think that he's of the Viśākhā temperament. And Arjuna, that he's endowed with various qualifications among the five – Arjuna. That is given to the ordinary public, a reflection, that he's the most qualified amongst the children of Bhāvānanda, who are of different character. In this way they like to see him, and in that with some sober decision and exceptional qualification and capacity the picture of Arjuna. And that is to be thought.

Giri Mahārāja: But earlier you said that if someone is equally addicted to Kṛṣṇa līlā and equally addicted to Gaura līlā, that same person may simultaneously take part in both. Now, is it that the same Viśākhā, individual person, who is there in the Kṛṣṇa līlā, the same person is also present in the Gaura līlā as Rāmānanda Rāya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāmānanda has got such impartial temperament towards Kṛṣṇa and Rādhā. Of course, a little more towards Rādhikā, otherwise he cannot be grouped as sakhī. He's not sakhā to Kṛṣṇa but in the mādhurya rasa, still has got some impartial attachment, almost equal attachment towards both the parties. And also the other qualification is Viśākhā, in dancing and singing, etc. They're also there, in partial tendency as well as so many variegated qualifications.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, Svarūpa Dāmodara, Caitanya Mahāprabhu's secretary, he is described as Lalitā. So is he the actually the same person Lalitā, or he has the same qualities and gives the same impression?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lalitā's double in Gaura līlā; both co-existent. We are to think like that, co-existent.

Giri Mahārāja: I'm very satisfied with this answer. We're all satisfied with your answers.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: When I hear you speak about these subject matters, it reminds me that Lord Brahmā he stole away the calves from Kṛṣṇa, thinking that he could understand what is God. But after he saw Kṛṣṇa manifest Himself as the four-handed Nārāyaṇas, so many times and duplicating Himself in all the cowherd boys, then he said, “Some people may think that they can understand You. But myself I know that I have no understanding what-so-ever of Your unlimited qualities.” So when we hear you describe the spiritual world we begin to realise that there’s no way that we can possibly grasp the full magnitude of the spiritual world. It’s so unlimited.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On spiritual common sense I take my stand, known and unknown. You see, there is a story here, that a student, asking his preceptor, “When shall I be a paṇḍita, I shall have recognition of a paṇḍita?” Then the preceptor answered, “When what you have read and what you have not read, both equal to you, at that time you will be a paṇḍita, a scholar.” Do you follow?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The preceptor told: “When you have read the portion, and unread portion, both equal to you, you equally understand, at that time you will be reckoned as a paṇḍita.” Then he went away home for some time and forgot what he read. Then came to the preceptor and told: “You now give me the title of a paṇḍita.” “Why?” “What I read I forgot and I can’t understand, and what I did not know of course I can’t understand that so both equal to me.”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...I try to connect with Guru Mahārāja. I look after him. And then I have a survey, I consider the past, and also the present, and I utilise my common sense, and then I say, whatever it may be. The background is there within me from the beginning and that background will produce what I say; the background. A general conception I have got about Prabhupāda's līlā, his sayings, all recorded to some extent within me, in some way or other. And I moved the whole plane, or background, and whatever comes it must be harmonised. What will come that must have harmony with the whole thing that I have got the photo of from different times. The common thing which will be approved by all the planes I received, in that way I talk. That whatever I shall see, that must have harmony with all I have gathered from the scriptures, from Guru Mahārāja, from his important servitors; a common thing produced like a computer. Ha, ha. In that way, what other can I do? The sum total of the whole spiritual experience of my life; when that is tackled then some reaction comes and that I produce to you. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: One of our present Ācāryas has had a dream. And in that dream our Śrīla Prabhupāda is coming to him and telling him that at a specific time in the future he will again appear here to direct our movement. So how should we take this? How should we understand this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You may not attach much importance; it may be an individual case, and also you may not ignore. Yes, in the Infinite if it is possible, such, God willing it may be so. We don't deny, nor are we very credulous. We are to wait for that time. We won't wait for that time, "So then we shall sit idle, and when he'll come again then I shall begin." That sort of tendency may not come within us. And at the same time I don't think that nothing is impossible in the Infinite. He may come. God willing, Kṛṣṇa willing, that may be, that may occur. It is not impossible. And at the same time, what I told, we may not be, or that I may not be impart anything to you, to make us loser. We should not be indulged in that way. Yes, all well and good if he comes, and he comes and puts the question, "So long, what progress have you made?"

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Yes, I have discharged this duty. I offer you." With a bold stand you may show the record of your service to him. It is good, no harm, it is laudable.

Giri Mahārāja: Now, Hiranyakaśipu, the father of Prahlāda, he took over the planet of Indra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Indra's position, he snatched the position of Indra, and he himself became Indra. Then, what about that? Indra means his adhikāra, his power.

Giri Mahārāja: Yes. That's right. So now, when Nṛsimhadeva killed Hiraṇyakaśipu, did that take place on Indraloka or some place on the Earth planet?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Earth.

Giri Mahārāja: Because in South India there is some place which is supposed to mark where Nṛsimhadeva killed Hiraṇyakaśipu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, Hiraṇyakaśipu may have his seat on the Earth, and from there he may control even the heaven. He defeated Indra, but that that does not mean he always lived there, but that is a partial statement.

Real statement is this; when Mahāprabhu departed, some saw He entered into Tota Gopīnātha, some saw He entered into Jagannātha, some saw, we find it is described, He went over the sea. In this way the subjective control, not a... the subject can force the object to see in any way He likes. So in variegated way He may show Himself. Līlā, Bhāgavat līlā is like that. One man is seeing Him and another in the side cannot see Him. It is something like hypnotism. The whole līlā, the whole creation, is something like hypnotism, in the line of hypnotism. All this creation rather is in the line more similar to hypnotism than any objective fossil – everything coming from a fossil in a rigid way that cannot be moved – that cannot be described, not like that. The whole thing in the subject, in the universal subject; the background is this. Then we can explain everything, when you take in the character of hypnotism. He's evolving. "And one man seeing Me, another may not see, but are seeing another way." The whole thing is regulated from the centre of the subject, higher subject. So many antagonistic things may also occur.

It is explained by Jīva Goswāmī as kalpa-veda. Some say Varāhadeva came in white colour, some say in śyāma, black colour. But in different kalpa it may be, and at the same time as Varāhadeva liked to show Him to a particular person He can do that. The subjective characteristic and power is such, position is such.

And the other day I forgot to mention to speak to you about one thing. That whether the Hiraṇyakaśipu līlā was in Vaikuṇṭha. What is the characteristic of Vaikuṇṭha, or Goloka? Anything and everything may be harmonised, embraced. The heinousness which is here in the mundane sphere; when that is in Vaikuṇṭha that is all right, that is palatable. Nothing. Just as in a drama, dramatic play, when the drama is showing the discord of the different parties, and molestation and killing, hurting, all these things which is very bad in our consideration, when it is shown in a drama, then it is not so harmful. Is it?

Giri Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Practically, no harm is done by the drama, but only a picture of the mundane world.

Giri Mahārāja: Play acting.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So also, just as Govinda Mahārāja said the other day that, singha prasena bhavadit [?] Singha devoured Prasena, killed Prasena, but Prasena also enjoyed and Singha also enjoyed, because no dissipation there exists. So in drama also, one who is aggressing and who is being aggressed, both may be satisfied.

So in Vaikuṇṭha, in Goloka, any type, this is in līlā, everything is a pleasing sensation only different plan. But really, nothing, no sorrow can exist there. It is nitya, ānanda moya, the plane of ecstasy. Different variegatedness may exist without their sting; especially in Goloka. Everything is good, bad, everything harmonised, good, bad, in our consideration; everything harmonised there and everything is pleasing and ānandam.

Even the idea of prostitution, that is also adored in Vṛndāvana. What is very nasty in this plane, parakīya, the stealing. Because it belongs to Kṛṣṇa and it occurs to satisfy Him. Whatever will satisfy Kṛṣṇa, that is līlā, and that is admirable, and that is pure, and that is all perfect. We are to conceive like that, that undesirable things are also harmonised. Such peculiar nature and position is that of Kṛṣṇa, so perfect. And nothing bad can enter in His connection. Good or bad exists between the clash of the different parties. No party, only one party.

As sometimes we heard after the second great war, America wanted one state world, only one controller, to eliminate the quarrel – there will be one power. We are told like that in a paper, they wanted that the whole world will be controlled by one state, from one centre. Then there will be peace. Something like that, that one centred controller.

And whether it is good or bad, it is measured by His satisfaction, and everything in a dedicated mood. And according to the degree of dedication it will be purer and purer. The competition of dedication – dedication loses its meaning as a loss, dedication is not loss. Dedication in nature it is such it is invulnerable, it is immortal and it is blissful. So the land is of that type.

Whatever filthy example is dramatised there, that is all good; filthy in consideration with the many enjoyers and in such plane of – where the clashes of different interest. But one interest, and dedication to one interest, that makes everything pure; and all else comes accordingly, and not independent. And independence also, there is sometimes quarrel between Yaśodā, Kṛṣṇa, Rādhārāṇī, Kṛṣṇa, but that is convened by Yogamāyā to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. So, the whipping of Yaśodā, because that pleases Kṛṣṇa that loses its cruel characteristic, so also all things like that; they've got no sting. That is Kṛṣṇa līlā. You may put an example how that thing may be harmonious, how that thing may not be filthy, everything may be, because that is to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, the only one criterion. And whatever is His līlā, He's satisfied that everything is done, yasmin tuṣṭe [jagat tuṣṭam priṇite priṇito jagat], everything is done. And everything cannot but be satisfied because He's satisfied. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, that sort of thing we shall try to bring within our plane. That plane we must be acquainted with; have some acquaintance with such a plane, the plane of perfection, plane of all harmonising nature. The Kṛṣṇa līlā, how it is. Then all other questions may be solved there in the middle. This background we must have, the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa sukata praja [?] Dedication; all carrying towards Kṛṣṇa, His satisfaction, if He's satisfied then everything is all right. The chastising, the māna, abhimāna, all these things may be there, it doesn't matter. The only criterion will be, if you can understand and have a real picture of that, then you'll be able to answer all questions. Adjustment with that point what is necessary, yasmin tuṣṭe jagat tuṣṭam. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So, I think we will be going now, and we will return again, within a day or two to come and visit with more questions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, you come, you are welcome.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: More persons will come with us each day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe. Let them come. I am here to help you through whatever service I can do to you my new friends, who have come to Mahāprabhu's feet to serve. And Swāmī Mahārāja has taken you all here, and my meagre service if it is possible can help you, I'm ready for that. This is my nature. I can't shun, I can't avoid this. My fate, my very existence requires this. You are taking from here and you are spreading to the world at large for their relief and for their good. How laudable and how desirable your deeds are. I should have a peep into that, the plane of your activity. Jagat kalyan jagat daya [?], loka-hitam, loka-hitam nṛpa [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.1] Śukadeva only accepted the question; a man who did not care to have a cover on his body, ulanga [?] he says that, "Yes, this question is a real question, for two reasons; ātmavit-sammataḥ and loka-hitam. So loka-hitam, you are engaged in loka-hitam. Order supplier, only so many spiritual canvassers of Mahāprabhu, and Prabhupāda, and Swāmī Mahārāja; you have dedicated your life for this holy duty. You are adorable to me, all your attempts. By you, we want to live. Ha. Ha. We can live, our Guru Mahārāja can live, your Guru Mahārāja, Mahāprabhu, we can live here through you all. You're life giving, your attempt to all our clans. It is very laudable. And I can't shirk about this book. Ke?

Devotees: Microphone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Happy style you have written the book; the style is simple, and accurate, and profound, in a good style the book is being published. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This volume, number one, it is describing Prabhupāda Swāmī Mahārāja before going to America. It is his life in India before leaving for America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I heard. There I had to say something, and that, aprākṛta and adhokṣaja, two stages of spiritual existence; aprākṛta is a very difficult thing, it is like prākṛta, it bears the similarity with the mundane, but not mundane. Aprākṛta bhaumika, that plane is so comprehensive characteristic it has got that it can accommodate everything what we cannot hope to have sanction from the standpoint of morality even. That also can be harmonised there. So it is a very difficult thing to make general public of generous and religious heart, to understand aprākṛta. Not prākṛta but seems to be prākṛta. The harmonising capacity and duty is of such magnitude that it can harmonise anything imaginable, even immoral things.

But the only criterion is seeking and searching the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, none else. Only the centre, and all, and everything, by the spirit of dedication, everything eliminated. Only one aim; satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, the whole concentration there, and it is adjusted. And little deviation from the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, that will make everything topsy turvy.

So the mundane life of a Vaiṣṇava, not mundane, but similar to mundane, life of a Vaiṣṇava should be dealt very carefully and with some caution. Wherever there is any room for criticism we shall be over cautious to guard that portion, special note, that this is not mundane. Otherwise people will misunderstand in general. There is the possibility. This much I had to say about the Autobiography. Even in the case of the Supreme Authority, Kṛṣṇa, what to speak of the Vaiṣṇava; there's every possibility that the people will undermine, and some caution must be given there and stress should be there, put upon that point, that this is not mundane, though similar. That whip in the Biography, now and then, and here and there, that should be repeated, that sort of whip, "Don't take it otherwise, don't misunderstand." This sort of warning should be mentioned here and there when dealing with the life of a person divine. That should be used.

Devotee: Caution.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caution, here and there, caution, don't take it otherwise. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Otherwise there will be room for misunderstanding. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. They're dying, they're suffering from disease, they're eating, they're going to latrine. Nāvamanyeta karhicit, ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta. Never undermine, nāvamanyeta, never belittle him, though there are so many mundane signs there.

[ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit

na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

["One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

It is written in Bhāgavatam, ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta, avamanyeta, avamanana, don't go to insult him by misunderstanding. Nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, your mental conclusion, don't use there, in the mental plane. The experience of mental plane won't cover it, screen it, nāvamanyeta karhicit, never allow the mental experience to screen it. Na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ. All the good signs are embodied there, good tendencies, all the high substances of variegated nature of divinity, are present there. We are to show that, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That should be kept up, maintained, all through. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

The world of experience should be kept underfoot, should be crushed underfoot. The experience, always the hammer must be stricken on the head of the worldly experience. Every now and then the hammer must go on the head of the worldly experience. If you want to enter into the domain of the divine, then experience should be left here. It won't help you in any way; rather it will draw you from behind. Your knowledge of experience will draw you from behind. Be clear. Liberate yourself from the disease of worldly experience and try to enter the domain of the divinity. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

And adhokṣaja, that is not under any law. Not only made by you but made by any agent. It is already independent. Everything, the soil, the ways, everything is independent, adhokṣaja. Adhaḥkṛtaṁ indriyajam jñānaṁ yena. Adhokṣaja is the term which is very favourite to Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. Here and there, Bhāgavata has always used the word adhokṣaja, the expression, always to remind that akṣajam jñāna, that is the knowledge of experience, keep it always down. Adhaḥkṛtaṁ indriyajam jñānaṁ yena, indriyajam, that is the knowledge of experience that's drawn through the senses, always keep it below.

The warning, adhokṣaja; unintelligible, unknown and unknowable, only through faith, and regulated faith, not only that faith means blind faith or something like that, but faith has got its real characteristic. So faith proper, that only can enter there - śraddhā: śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka, in Upaniṣad, there is a domain which can only be tackled by śraddhā. And what is that śraddhā? Kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.62] If I discharge my duty towards Him, everything is done. That should be the very gist, the life of that attempt, that expression named faith, śraddhā. So if we do that, then it will be aprākṛta otherwise it will be reckoned as the so many epics here.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Your illustrious Gurudeva had this infallible aim.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol.

In Caṇḍīdāsa we found, which meaning is mutilated and turned into the opposite direction by the so called scholarly fellows of the time.

Suna he manase bhai sabhar upe manase satya tara upara nai [?]

The Bengali passage; the general meaning is, “Oh my brother, human beings. You listen to me. Human species is above all, and there is nothing above.”

In Caitanya-caritāmṛta, [Madhya-līlā, 21.101] the parallel, but more clear.

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa

[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

[“Lord Sri Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being.”]

Amongst all the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, His human pastimes is at the zenith, forms the acme, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa. It is very akin, very near to human fashion, but not human. We are to strive hard to show it, to maintain this characteristic; humanly but not human. This sort of attempt always be retained, to caution the human mind, they're not human. Our diligence.

Devotee: If an ordinary man appreciates a great soul as human, but does not understand that he's actually beyond human, doesn't he gain benefit, or is that offensive?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow. What does he say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: If a common man, he savours a great Vaiṣṇava, he thinks of him favourably, but he doesn't understand him as a great Vaiṣṇava...

Devotee: He thinks of him as a great man, but still something as the human kind.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So really, the necessity of the inner eye to recognise the Vaiṣṇavism. A Vaiṣṇava can understand Vaiṣṇava. An intelligent man can understand the intelligence of others; but an ignorant man cannot detect who is intelligent or who is non intelligent. Intelligence can understand intelligence; so ordinary people will think: "Oh, it is an ordinary man." But the true Vaiṣṇava, he will understand that he's a Vaiṣṇava. Not by external endeavour, gesture and posture, but by the standpoint, the angle of vision, by that the Vaiṣṇava can understand Vaiṣṇava. An intelligent man can understand an intelligent man.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

[kintu tomāra prema dekhi' mane anumānī] mādhavendra-purīra
'sambandha' [dhara - jānī]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 17.172]

When Mahāprabhu was travelling in Vṛndāvana, He found a person, Sanoḍiyā brāhmaṇa, and He recognised, “Oh, you must have connection with Mādhavendra Purī. Whatever I see in you, it cannot come otherwise. You please express how you have come in connection with Mādhavendra Purī.”

Then he came to explain, “Mādhavendra Purī, he came here, he did this, this, and I got his grace.”

“Yes. Otherwise this thing cannot be detected anywhere.” Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: Should we avoid writing the disappearance of our Śrīla Prabhupāda, or can that be told?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: His tirobhute, his disappearance, should Satsvarūpa Mahārāja avoid that, not write so much about that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You can do that, but with sufficient caution. About Mahāprabhu, so many tales are going on. “He passed in this way.” Some say, “In that way.” Everything may be true. Like a hypnotist He showed some people, “I am going.” Another section saw, “Oh. He is passing there.” In this way it is His sweet will to show there passing in different ways to different sections, it is possible. So everything is deception of the sense experience. Whatever is done by them, it is super-experience, so it deceives the experience. The knowledge of experience cannot catch, cannot reach up to mark. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Suffering, taking medicine, passing.

Sītā Devī was stolen. And one devotee in the South, he’s fasting, even very indifferent to attend Mahāprabhu, his guest. Mahāprabhu detected, “Why you show so much repenting temperament?”

“I don’t like to live any longer here. I am to hear that Lakṣmī Devī was snatched away by a demon. I want to die rather.”

Then Mahāprabhu solaced him. “Don’t think that way.”

aprākṛta vastu nahe prākṛta-gocara, [veda-purāṇete ei kahe nirantara]

[“Spiritual substance is never within the jurisdiction of the material conception. This is always the verdict of the Vedas and Purāṇas.”]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 9.194]

Sītā Devī, everything is all consciousness, spiritual body, and the demon with fleshy hand cannot touch Her. The knowledge can be touched by the flesh, the pure above knowledge. Her body is that of conscious substance, not of this fleshy substance. So flesh cannot touch the consciousness, the soul. So why will it be possible the demon to catch? It is all māyā. To teach the māyic people in a māyic form it is delivered. It is served in that way.

81.03.04.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...he cannot see, so what is the possibility of touching, even he cannot see, the demon with fleshy eye cannot see Sītā Devī. Not to speak of touching and catching. This is all a show to teach the mundane mind, to take them gradually upwards.

Then Arjuna coming with the Queens of Dvārakā, the dacoits looted them. All mahā-māyā. Keśavatāra , Brahmā told two, one white one black hair, giving to Pṛthivi. “Oh. I give it to you. They will incarnate and will relieve you from all your burden of sin – Keśavatāra. And that was Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma, white and black. This is mentioned in Purāṇa. It is mahāmoy, or what came that merged into Kṛṣṇa and Balarāma. Ke [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He’s taking some pictures.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. The style of your writing is very taking, touching. I’m impressed to see the style of writing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, Mahārāja, there was one question concerning one writing of Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, The Bhāgavata. That he made some statement – do you know the exact words? That the statements in the fifth canto of Bhāgavatam, may be imaginary, some of the statements given there about hellish planets to frighten people.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. You see, Darwin's objective evolution has devoured us, swallowed us. Though externally we reject it, but we hate it, but still the ghost of Darwin's theory has devoured us.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The opposite is true; subjective evolution. Subject controls and orders, "See this," we are to see that. In Viśvarūpa, what do we see? Paśya me yogam aiśvaram.

[na ca mat-sthāni bhūtāni, paśya me yogam aiśvaram bhūta-bhṛn na ca bhūta-stho, mamātmā bhūta-bhāvanaḥ]

["And again, that is also not situated in Me. Just behold My inconceivable simultaneous one and different (acintya-bhedābheda) nature as the perfect, omnipotent, omniscient originator and Lord of the universe! Although My very Self is the mainstay and guardian of all beings, I am not implicated by them."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.5]

“You see Arjuna.” And Arjuna saw that; in the line of hypnotism.

In Kuru sabhā, when Duḥśāsana came to bind Him with a rope and put into prison house, then Kṛṣṇa said, “Oh. You will bind Me?” So He showed Himself in such a way that that man was perplexed. And there was Nārada, Vyāsa, Bhīṣma, Droṇa, they began to chant songs in praise of Him.

Then Dhṛtarāṣṭra, the blind man there, he told, “Oh. They’re chanting so many praises, seeing You in a particular grand way. I am blind. I can’t see. Please for the time being remove my blindness and allow me to see.”

Kṛṣṇa told, “It will not be necessary to remove your blindness. I say you see Me.” And he saw; the blind man saw. What is this?

Vyāsadeva saw the whole – all the events of the battlefield, who is saying what words to his opponents, in that whole battlefield, everything is described there. And Sañjaya also could see through the inspiration of Vyāsadeva, and he’s relating everything to Dhṛtarāṣṭra. This we do not see only as literature, only an epic, but truth. It is possible.

“See Me in this way.” And I must see. “If I ask you to see Me in this way, you will see.” But the next man won’t be able to see in that way. So subjective control, the experience, any knowledge of this world - that comes from subjective control, subjective evolution, not objective evolution. Not that the object is fixed and subject is compelled to have the estimation. If we have also got experience here of such kind, that is also, it is fixed for a particular group to see in a particular way they’re seeing that. Another group tuned in another way and they will see it like that. It is like that ultimate flow is coming from up to down, not from down to up.

We are to take, Śukadeva, when he was describing Bhāgavatam, the Lord showed him the world situation in such a way, geographical position. On the basis of that he delivered. It is fixed to a particular stage of consciousness, but it has got no real background, as a fallible creature having experience, not any background, any stable background. The vision is controlled, the experience, the knowledge, is controlled from up to down, not down to up.

*ūrdhva-mūlam adhaḥ-śākham, aśvatthaṁ prāhur avyāyam chandāṁsi
yasya parṇāni, yas taṁ veda sa veda-vit*

[“The holy scriptures proclaim that this material world is like an unchangeable Banyan tree with its roots facing upwards and its branches down, known as an Aśvattha (transitory) tree. Its nutriments are the Vedic aphorisms, which are represented by its leaves. Whoever knows this tree in this way is a genuine knower of the Vedas.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.1]

Vedic knowledge, revealed truth, is true. Truth drawn from experience is false. What does it mean? So no stable objective characteristic of anything; like that of hypnotism, paśya me yogam aiśvaram, and Arjuna had no other alternative but to see that. And he had to pray, “Please withdraw this sort of sight and confer on me such temperament that I can see as I already saw You.” He had to pray for that.

And then, just as the yantra, the music yantra, in this way by making it round we can differ its tune. Tune can be differed by handling; the yantra is there, the music machine. So as the switch of the eye is handled in a different way we see different things.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It also seems that sometimes in reading the śāstras, in studying śāstra, some people in their study they become confused and bewildered and they begin to doubt. And others, the bhakta, the devotee, he may see something that is confusing, he doesn't understand, but he remains firm and he continues.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His śraddhā, his faith, helps him to stand in and wait; and this man, he's a prey to the knowledge of experience - he easily dismisses. "It is impossible." And when one is disgusted with the ways, and has got not charm of material aspiration, he will stand and wait for something new form of happiness that may come or not. Praṇipāta, paripraśna, and sevā:

[tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Praṇipāta means I have – I heard from our Guru Mahārāja – praṇipāta means to bid adieu to all the experience of the material world. That is the meaning of praṇipāta, that I have finished this. No charm for any material aspiration – then it makes praṇipāta. All my hopes may be granted from up; here, finished. I have taken leave from any sort of prospect from this mundane. I don't want them. If anything else I have come with expectant attitude. I am to receive that. This is finished. Janma-mṛtyu-jarā-vyādhī-duḥkha-doṣānudarśanam [Bhagavad-gītā, 13.9] The whole kingdom, the whole imperialism may be offered; I hate it, bad association, mortal association. That association with mortality, disease, all these things, I despise it. So with full attention I have to come to have an opening of my hope, whether it is possible for me to have or not; with this attitude, praṇipāta.

Then paripraśna, honest enquiry allowed; not that blind faith will take you there, but enquiry must be sincere.

And the all important factor is sevā. You want that thing for His satisfaction, not your satisfaction. Sevā, dedication, the land of dedication, you want to enter into the land of dedication, and the land of exploitation taken leave of. None can thrive in the land of exploitation. That is loan; exploiting means incurring loan, and we are to repay it, we're bound. For every action there's equal and opposite reaction; it will devour itself, suicidal. The exploiting civilisation is suicidal. It must devour itself. It is all loan from nature. How strongly they show their head raised high, but it is all loan from nature, exertion from nature. And to every paisa it should be cleared, the debt should be cleared. So all pride and boast are all of negative. No positive contribution comes from this civilisation of exploitation. Exploitation must stop. Exploitation means to exhort things from others, and that must be paid. It is a natural law. So this is nothing. We must enter into the land of dedication and everything will be preserved in the bank. Whatever point I shall dedicate, that will be kept in a savings bank. That will be kept to be utilised by me, though I won't draw any cheque. Only I shall deposit. The land of dedication; a new land, a land of wonder I want to enter, to have admission there. Exploitation is hateful in itself, and dedication is the purest of the pure. I want to be a member of that land, where I shall live. I won't take. So purity, and there, in the land, there is gradation, and that purity has got intensity. Gradation according to the intensity, quality, quantity, in this way it is vaicitra, of variegated nature. And on the top, that spontaneous love and beauty, the flow in the kingdom of Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, who, only to remove a little pain, fictitious pain in the headache, they want to contact eternal hell. This type of dedication...

Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In the Śikṣāṣṭaka of Mahāprabhu, He says:

āśliṣya vā pāda-ratām pinaṣṭu mām, adarśanān marma-hatām karotu vā

[yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampaṭo, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa eva nāparaḥ]

[Śikṣāṣṭakam, 8]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. That is, that type of love, that never can make us separate from the – that sort of attitude can never make us separate from Kṛṣṇa. The acme of dedication; what does it mean by dedication? Dedication in its highest stage - that is union in separation. Ostentatiously I may be driven away from that, but in heart my faithfulness is increasing in degree. If I am punished, still I adhere to that. That means the connection, the link, has become very invulnerable. Even by separation I cannot be – by dealing any sort of punishment – I cannot be detached. The higher form of unity in the deepest plane, that none can snatch away things from me, if I have connection of such quality. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Āśliṣya vā pāda-ratāṁ pinaṣṭu mām, adarśanān marma-hatāṁ karotu vā. Stage by stage it is going deeper and higher. Adarśanān marma-hatāṁ karotu vā, yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampāṭo. Even my claim, what is my right, my claim, that is given to others, in my very sight. That also cannot be taken away from that, from my high ideal; the purest object of my ideal. Then when we can acquire such nature then we are relieved to that extent. We come within the jurisdiction of His confidence. When, by dealing in this way also we cannot be separated, then we come in the highest confidence area of the Absolute, of anyone. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. I am clear? I am not clear?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's clear but profound.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Profound of course, cannot but be. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So you said that we want to; we hate the world of exploitation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But in Bhagavad-gītā, in the fourteenth chapter [22-25], Arjuna and Kṛṣṇa are speaking about what are the qualities of a liberated soul. And Kṛṣṇa says, "He doesn't hate illumination or attachment when they come." He doesn't hate; at the same time. So how are we to despise these things on the one hand...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Exploitation is hate, and when we are free from exploitation, and posted in the plane of service, dedication, then hate is eliminated and we embrace everything. Only the spirit of dedication can make it possible to embrace everything. And exploitation, where there's no possibility of exploitation, we hate that. And exploitation, the hatred comes from exploitation. And dedication makes everything a friend. I don't want anything in its turn, so everything will come to me. I don't want to exhort my selfish ideas from anything from the environment. Viśvam purna sukhāyate.

The māyāvādīs hate, hateful are the renunciationists. They indulge in hatred, but the devotee is opposite. Karmī exploits and the jñānī hates and the devotee embraces everything, but with reference to the centre that is Kṛṣṇa, in Kṛṣṇa connection, Kṛṣṇa sambandha, everything is embraced. "Oh. he's my friend. I can utilise him in the service of Kṛṣṇa." And sometimes the flower will remind me, "Oh. Take me to Kṛṣṇa." That is when I'm fully established in the plane of dedication; everything will help me and remind me, "Oh. Go to go to Kṛṣṇa." All friendly atmosphere - that only can be acquired, that is in devotional spirit, in the spirit of dedication. Hatred can have no room there of hatred. Hatred is in the temperament of the renunciationist, tyāgī, mukti kāmī; not bhakta. Nirbandhaḥ kṛṣṇa- sambandhe, yuktaṁ vairāgyam ucyate.

[anāsaktasya viṣayān, yathārham upayuñjataḥ nirbandhaḥ kṛṣṇa- sambandhe, yuktaṁ vairāgyam ucyate]

["That renunciation in which there is no attachment for the objects of the senses, but in which everything is seen in relationship to Kṛṣṇa and all things are engaged in His service is called yukta-vairāgya, or practical renunciation."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 2.125]

Everything is in connection of Kṛṣṇa. How can I hate it? Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometimes, people, they criticise us; that we condemn everything material.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They say, “Too much...”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That material means objects of exploitation; that is material. Objects of exploitation; that is matter. And what can be dedicated in the service of Kṛṣṇa; that is not matter. We want to utilise everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa. Not for my diseased temperament, to satisfy my diseased temperament. We don’t hate matter, we hate exploitation. We want to help everything in the service of Kṛṣṇa. We don’t shun anything, we don’t want to leave anything, but we’re afraid of exploitation and renunciation, bhukti mukti.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But the madhyama bhāgavata, he must make some distinction, he can’t embrace all.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, some distinction. That may be captured by the spirit of exploitation. In renunciation he accepts so much that he may not be food of the exploiting agent, so he keeps aloof from exploitation, in lower madhyama bhāgavata. And for the kaniṣṭha bhāgavata afraid of the environment, they will encourage the exploiting tendency in him. So, keep away from exploiting agents. That is necessary there. But it is not in the ideal. It is a temporary ailment in our practices, temporary. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, Mahārāja, there's a question about how the spiritual master is taking the karma of the disciple, because, at first, Hari Nāma initiation, he's taking some karma, and then in mantra dīkṣā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the criteria of karma? Energising, the movement, all movement is not to be reckoned as karma; given the stamp of karma. What is karma? The spirit of enjoyment must be there; then it is karma. And if it is offered to the Deity, to the Guru, Vaiṣṇava, it is bhakti. Karma is not external movement only. The aim, it should be named according to its aim, its object. The dagger may not always be meant to stab; even stabbing when one is going to murder once, even stabbing may be adjusted, may be allowed, to save him.

When I was delivering lecture in Dacca University, one Mohammedan student from the post graduate college, he – I told in every lecture that don't disturb when I deliver lecture, but after the lecture is finished, you are allowed to make any question. So when the lecture was finished one Mohammedan student he rose and put a question.

“Rāmacandra, according to you, is an ideal king. But what is His explanation when He beheaded one śūdraka, who was by birth a śūdra and he was engaged in penance; what is the justification? Why did He behead śūdraka? He was innocent; he was only engaging himself in penance. And because by birth he was śūdra, and so he was beheaded by the advice of Vasiṣṭha. How can you justify?”

I told that who is śūdra? Sutadhatu – it comes from the derivative meaning that one who mourns, he's śūdra. Mourning qualification, who mourns, whose absorbed in the mortal world, he has to mourn, lament. Mortal relativity only helps us to mourn. So he was engrossed in mortal achievement, like Hiraṇyakaśipu, Rāvaṇa, who were his predecessors, who were engaged in mortal achievement that has got a reaction. And tapasya, what is the meaning of tapasya? To acquire power, more potency; he engaged himself to acquire more power to do a disaster, to make supremacy, to spread his supremacy over the world. So killing, and in a vicious way, and as a reaction the havoc will be created as a result of that potency. The capturing the potency in subtle form, and the reaction will come to him also and he'll have to come down. So it is not wholesome from any standpoint, because the object is very mean, to acquire material supremacy. The reaction is inevitable, so it is a disastrous thing, a curse to the country. So that was nipped in the bud. To save both the parties, he was silenced. So, what is devotion and what is karma, we are to detect it.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Hṛdayānanda Mahārāja, he has a question, that what is the explanation that Rāmacandra has killed Vali, Sugriva's brother?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, I know. [?]

Rāmacandra gave explanation. It is related by Valmiki there. But we make much of the mundane law and go to judge the Absolute. Anyhow, Rāmacandra gave this explanation. When Vali is going to die, he called for explanation. "I am innocent, sakha meda. I did not make any harm to You, Your interest. Even I could do, what You will have to do during a year, during a day I could finish Your object, I could bring Sītā to You. But what wrong You have committed You don't know. I am an innocent, half jungle animal. And You, without any cause, You kill me."

So Rāmacandra says that the administration, responsibility of this world has been given by Brahmā to suja varṁśa. There may be so many mushrooms to take the reign of the government, but that is no sanction from above. But it is Brahmā who placed the responsibility of administration of the whole world to our family. And now, Mahārāja Bharat is in the throne. It is his lookout to see what is happening where. And any person born in the suja varṁśa he has got automatic power of the police; he can take in his own hand the police administrative responsibility and can discharge it. Even without apparent order from the centre. It is there.

So, you have accepted Sugriva's wife. According to your social rule it is punishable by capital punishment according to the rule of your society. The younger can take the wife of the elder; that is allowed in your social rule. But the elder can never take the wife of the younger. And if that is done he should be punished by discharging capital punishment. So I have done it because you have taken Sugriva's wife."

That is one – and another; I had no other alternative to save Brahmā, to kill you stealthily, otherwise Brahmā will be nowhere. According to the provision of the boon of Brahmā, whoever will come to fight with you, face to face, he will be ten times more efficient. And so, I can do, but Brahmā's word will be, his promise will be crushed. So I had to do it in a stealthy way."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then ultimately, Vali came to his senses, and he told: "I feel it is my fortune that I die, as I am killed by You. You are Nārāyaṇa. And it is a great fortune to be killed by Your hand. Your hand is always pure. Your only aim, the object, everything, is the purest. So whatever anomaly could possibly have been in me, that is removed when I get punishment from You my Lord. I'm sure that my next chance must have a greater thing beyond my aspiration." Vali himself realised in that way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, but Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja was asking about the spiritual master taking karma of the disciple. When the spiritual master accepts the disciple and initiates him, then the disciple's karma is taken away at that time. Is that right?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Karma?

Devotee: Sinful reaction.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The karma of the śiṣya at the time of dīkṣā, the Guru is taking away his karma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course in some subtle form that sort of responsibility is there.

Devotee: But the Guru is a jīva. Is it actually taken by Kṛṣṇa, or does the spiritual master...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru is not a jīva, but the Guru comes to enter into jīva, it maybe. But when that inspiration, that revelation, that order, that inspiration, comes down in the heart of, Kṛṣṇa to the disciple, he's no longer a jīva.

“He will rather aim to the inspiration that is working on behalf of Me; that agent who has come and taken quarter there to deliver him, to take him the Goloka.”

The śiṣya must look out in that way. I'm not that body, not that mental system, but Kṛṣṇa is working for me, taking His quarter, His position, in that gentleman. Something like that, ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān.

*[ācāryaṁ mām vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-
buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]*

[Kṛṣṇa told Uddhava: “One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

It is His delegation; His delegated power is there, and I am concerned with that. And that will be the way of the meeting of the two, establishing a relation between the two. The connection will be both the gentlemen will be awake in that current, that feeling, that sentiment, the Vaikuṇṭha current, the soul current, current of pure transaction of giving and taking. In this way, Guru does not take any service from the man for himself, but he sends it to his Guru, and in that way it goes to Kṛṣṇa. So whatever little physical service he accepts, that also he sends to Guru, because in that way he may be encouraged. He’s not the recipient. Externally he’s the recipient, but mentally or spiritually, he’s sending it upwards. And it is the service I take and it makes me fit physically and I can render more help to them. So it is not objectionable, it is fruitful. It is not detrimental, it produces something and of pure character. And that helps everyone. In this way he’s to receive. Even at the same time blaming himself that I cannot go on with my worldly life without the help of this or that. He blames himself, but the underlying spirit is that otherwise I shall be unfit and I can’t do my bit of service of the Lord, my Gurudeva. And by taking up renunciation I’ll be loser and incur loss, not for myself, for the world, and my Guru’s service will be hampered. In that spirit he’s to take, whatever, everything, for the cause of Kṛṣṇa, for the cause of Guru.

Suppose if there is a manager who’s very miserly, and he cannot spend money from the cash, and thereby he may not attend a particular state difficulty and the state is lost. Then he will be responsible to the proprietor. “But why did you not spend? Why are you afraid of spending money from my store? Your miserly habit has resulted in the state being lost. Why should you not spend my money for my interest?”

So, we shall, to render service to Kṛṣṇa, Guru, and Vaiṣṇava, to all the world, I must keep up this mundane body, and I shall, I’m entitled to take something; otherwise miserliness, that is māyāvādā, that is renunciation spirit. That will mar my interest. Do you follow?

Devotee: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So that is yukta vairāgya. I shall take from the store of Kṛṣṇa to keep me fit and do service. That is Kṛṣṇa’s account. If I do not do that, I should be a separationist, I should be māyāvādī, a renunciationist. Maximum service I shall try to render to Kṛṣṇa, and whatever is necessary to make me fit for service, I must take it without any hesitation. Otherwise I shall be punishable.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

[Some of this MP3 is unclear, but clearer on the cassette tape recording 4/5-3-81]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Śrīdhara Mahārāja, what about, we have heard that if the spiritual master becomes ill, that is due to the sins of his disciples.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be in some cases, not always, not always. To a certain extent it is there, according to the position of the Guru.

Jiva guru asisya hoile para sri visisya karma phala niya harijan [?]

It is encouraging to know for the disciple, it is encouraging for them. But from the absolute standpoint it depends upon the position of the Guru. And totally it is not wrong. Have to try to underline it. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol!

...

What is the meaning of the word 'thanks'? I always, whenever you depart, at the time of departure this word is always used. But I have not got a very good idea about such word, thanks.

Devotee: Expressing gratefulness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gratefulness.

Devotee: We feel grateful we are given.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Thanking is an expression of gratefulness. Then it shows, just like gifts, dhanam. Dhan presupposes that one is owner, proprietor of a thing. So thanking presupposes the existence of a second party. Is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We're a separate party, we get something, and in return express our gratefulness, a separate party. We are all one party of Mahāprabhu. Ha, ha, ha, ha. It does not send good impression in me, my heart, thanking, gratitude.

Devotee: What should be the real sentiment?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Something like we are highly benefited, or something like that, some expression [?]

_____ [?]

What expression should be accurate and nice? Ha, ha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: One in the position of a disciple, he should try to make some repayment to the spiritual master.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Repayment to his master?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I say otherwise. I shall say one must not think that his possession of property or person, but they're all properties of my Guru, servants of my Guru. That should be the vision. Even we heard our Guru Mahārāja to say that, "The whole work I should have done. It is my duty to do everything for my master, but I can't do, I am unfit. So Kṛṣṇa has sent so many to help me. They're also my Guru come to help me in my work." So our Prabhupāda used to see his disciples as Guru in the right plane. And he told that, "When I chastise a disciple, that is my artificial temperament." Pralāpita vakra.

Mahāprabhu also told to Sanātana, "Whatever I am talking to you it is all My pralāpa. Pralāpa means a madman's speech. I don't know really the meaning of all these expressions but I feel so much that Kṛṣṇa, to grace you, He's passing, sending these flows through Me. What I say that I know everything and I can teach you, this is My pralāpa. That I am superior to you, this is My pralāpa. That I am outside Myself, beside Myself."

"But in the real life you are all my Guru, you have come to help me in my futile attempt of service to my Guru or Kṛṣṇa." Amnayiki [?] and vekhivekiki [?] And by vekhivek darśana at least we shall consider these are all servants of my Guru or Kṛṣṇa. I may be a leader, leader of the clan, leader of the group, maybe. My Guru Mahārāja has appointed me to lead this group, but they're not directly under me to serve me. They're the servitors of my Gurudeva or Kṛṣṇa; in that way we are to see. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Am I clear?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will be more real thinking, on the way. Hare Kṛṣṇa. It is awkward to think that they're my servants, or something like my property, īśāvāsyam.

[īśāvāsyam idaṁ sarvaṁ, yat kiñca jagatyāṁ jagat tena tyaktena bhuñjīthā, mā gṛdhaḥ kasya svid dhanam]

["Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong."] [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 1]

Kṛṣṇa is everywhere. Everything belongs to Kṛṣṇa and His own. I am not still claiming to be, to become one of His own, at the bottom of our heart, but still, what I can do, whatever little capacity I have got I must utilise in the service of Kṛṣṇa as I am ordered or expected by my Guru. That will be the solace and consolation from my activity.

Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa, Hare Hare. Hare Rāma, Hare

Rāma, Rāma Rāma, Hare Hare.

...

[?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is that Rāmānuja now?

Devotee: I don't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He became a hippy?

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha. I think so. I don't know him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He was not known by most of the devotees because that was many years ago.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He came and within a year he left perhaps. He was not very intelligent but anyhow came, chance coincidence. But Acyutānanda was intelligent. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. The Tamal Kṛṣṇa and others they're engaged in the meeting?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, beginning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caru Swāmī, has he come?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhakti Caru Swāmī, no he has not returned yet from Calcutta. Today maybe he's coming.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Bhāvānanda and, no, Sarvabhāvan, he was sick I heard. You don't know about him?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don't know if he's recovered from his sickness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Then new friend from Mexico.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, Mahārāja, could we ask you a question?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I hope it is lokā hita.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But even if our questions may not be lokā hita, your answers are always lokā hita. Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Lokānām hita-kārano.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lokānām hita-kāmyayā.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Caitanya Mahāprabhu, He said, “I feel like a fool. My Guru Mahārāja told Me, ‘Tomāra mūrkhā, You’re foolish.’ So I don’t even know what is the proper question to ask.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

[prabhu kahe — śuna, śrīpāda, ihāra kāraṇa] / guru more mūrkhā dekhi

karila śāsana

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 7.71]

mūrkhā tumi, tomāra nāhika vedāntādhikāra / ‘kṛṣṇa-mantra’ japa sadā, — ei mantra-sāra

[“ ‘You are a fool,’ he said. ‘You are not qualified to study Vedānta philosophy, and therefore You must always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa. This is the essence of all mantras, or Vedic hymns.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 7.72]

In Benares in the assembly of the Māyāvādīns, Mahāprabhu gave His confession like this when they accused, “You belong to our clan. You are disciple of Keśava Bharatī. He’s one of the members of the Śaṅkara sampradāya. You took sannyāsa from him. We are here all stalwarts of the sampradāya but You don’t come to us, You don’t meet us. Not only that we hear that You sing and dance and do so many things. And You do not engage Yourself in the serious discussion and meditation of Vedānta. What is this? But seeing Your figure, Your appearance, I can’t think that You are a hypocrite or a designing man. Your figure expresses as clear as transparent fires, a lustre coming from You. Now we want to know why You do these things, dancing, chanting, and don’t do meditation and discussions about Vedāntic ontology.”

Then Mahāprabhu told that, “My Gurudeva wanted Me to go on chanting the Name of Kṛṣṇa. And he told, in Kali-yuga, general people they’re of less merit, they're not fit for the discussion of Vedānta, such a profound thing. So go on chanting the Name of the Lord.”

“All right, it is not bad to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa. But why do You dance and sing and do all these things?”

Then Mahāprabhu told, “When such sentiments and feelings came in Me I put it to My Gurudeva, ‘What is this? When I take the Name of the Lord such feelings and sentiments come in Me.’ Then Gurudeva told Me, ‘Yes, You are very fortunate that You have got all these signs in Your mind and body.’ And with this he quoted passages from Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam [11.2.40].”

evaṁ-vrataḥ svapriya-nāma kīrtiyā, jātānurāgo druta-citta uccaiḥ hasatyatho roditi rauti gāyaty, unmāda-van nṛtyati lokavāhyah

[When a person is actually advanced and takes pleasure in chanting the Holy Name of the Lord, who is very dear to him, he is agitated and loudly chants the Holy Name. He also laughs, cries, becomes agitated and chants just like a madman, not caring for outsiders.]

“When real devotion descends in the heart of a devotee then these signs must come in him, he will do these things. So You are fortunate enough that You have got that prema, Kṛṣṇa prema, the fifth end of life, You have got. And I am going on, in this way.”

Then the talk of Vedānta also came there. And Mahāprabhu told that the real purport of Vedānta is not impersonal, it is personal. And He established there that sort, that, “Why do you say that Brahma is the ultimate conception of the Absolute, impersonal. The signs in the Vedānta, athāto brahma-jijñāsā, janmādy asya yato:

[janmādy asya yato 'nvayād itararāś cārtheṣv abhijñāḥ svarāt tene brahma hṛdā ya ādi-kavaye muhyanti yat sūrayaḥ tejo-vāri-mṛdām yathā vinimayo yatra tri-sargo 'mṛṣā

dhāmnā svena sadā nirasta-kuhakaṁ satyaṁ paraṁ dhīmahī]

[“O my Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, son of Vasudeva, O all pervading Personality of Godhead, I offer my respectful obeisances unto You. I meditate upon Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa because He is the Absolute Truth and the primeval cause of all causes of the creation, sustenance and destruction of the manifested universes. He is directly and indirectly conscious of all manifestations, and He is independent because there is no other cause beyond Him. It is He only who first imparted the Vedic knowledge unto the heart of Brahmājī, the original living being. By Him even the great sages and demigods are placed into illusion, as one is bewildered by the illusory representations of water seen in fire, or land seen on water. Only because of Him do the material universes, temporarily manifested by the reactions of the three modes of nature, appear factual, although they are unreal. I therefore meditate upon Him, Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, Who is eternally existent in the transcendental abode, which is forever free from the illusory representations of the material world. I meditate upon Him, for He is the Absolute Truth.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]

“Everything coming from Him, everything is allowed by Him; that is preserved by Him, and everything enters into Him. So, these are the signs of sarviśeṣa, not nirviśeṣa. So many specific and differentiated characters are to be found there. It cannot be impersonal.”

In this way there was some talk. And a particular section they were converted.

And then the other day when Mahāprabhu after taking bath in the Ganges, went to see Bindhu-Mādhava, at Viṣṇu Mandir, and there He began to sing and dance nearby the āśrama of the Prakāśānanda. Then some students of his intimated that, “Caitanyadeva is dancing there and singing the Name of Kṛṣṇa. If you like to see that, come.” Then with all the disciples Prakāśānanda came to the adjacent devastana and there he found all these things. And he pressed, and it is told that he left the Māyāvādā School and became a disciple. He entered into Vaiṣṇava theory, that is sarvīśeṣa Kṛṣṇa is above all. Kṛṣṇa conception of Godhead is the highest.

And some say, we do not admit, that Prabodhānanda who wrote many things about Navadvīpa, Mahāprabhu, and Rādhā-rāsa-suddha-niddhi and all, and Vṛndāvana-sataka. Śīśir Kumār Ghosh, the Founder of Āmṛta-Bāzār Patrikā [a newspaper about Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu] he was of that opinion that this converted Prakāśānanda was Prabodhānanda. And he was so much impressed and he got so much grace of Mahāprabhu that he produced all these literatures. But we are not of that opinion.

Prabodhānanda, in Bhakti-Ratnākara we find that Prabodhānanda was the uncle of Gopāla Bhaṭṭa, as a Tamilian brāhmaṇa and he was Prabodhānanda. And in Kṛṣṇa līlā he's Tuṅgavidyā. So he cannot be māyāvādī. One who in Kṛṣṇa līlā was so important a figure he cannot be māyāvādī, Prakāśānanda, in any time.

But anyhow, the Prakāśānanda lost his position in the Māyāvādā School and entered into the Devotional School of Śrī Caitanyadeva and lived in Vṛndāvana the last days of his life past there taking Hari Nāma. He was the leader of the then māyāvādā sampradāya of Benares.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, the other day you were saying about the potential state of the jīva in the brahmajyoti, Brahmaloka. And then also you told about someone being in the spiritual world and reawakening their identity. You said their consciousness may have been scattered. They may have been a little mad and forgetful of their spiritual identity.

Devotee: Like crazy man, like someone whose crazy, delirious, you said.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In the spiritual world, Vaikuṇṭha, you were saying, someone may be looked upon he became forgetful of his position and had scattered consciousness, or was like a madman, temporarily, for a short time. So how can we understand that the jīvas they're coming to the mahāt-tattva from the Brahmaloḥa, are they coming from sāyujya or sārūpya, or can it be...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I told that two kinds of jīva come to this world. One type they're already from Vaikuṇṭha. That is, by the necessity of the nitya-līlā of Kṛṣṇa they had to come here, as a part of līlā. And another by necessity, constitutional necessity, from Brahmaloḥa their balance, their stage of equilibrium is disturbed anyhow and movement begins in the Brahmaloḥa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So movement begins in the brahmajyoti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, brahmajyoti, and then, by that influence of the movement, then the free will is started, began to move. But the general movement, the individual, it is ākṣara, ākṣara becomes kṣaraḥ.

[dvāu imau puruṣau loke, kṣaraś cākṣara eva ca kṣaraḥ sarvāṇi bhūtāni, kūṭa-stho 'kṣara ucyate uttamaḥ puruṣas tv anyah, paramātmety udāhṛtaḥ yo loka-trayam āviśya, bibharti avyaya īśvaraḥ]

[“In this world, there are two kinds of souls: the fallible and the infallible. All beings from Lord Brahmā down to the lowest stationary life forms are known as fallible (as they have deviated from their intrinsic nature). But the personalities who are eternally situated in their divine nature are known as infallible (personal associates of the Lord).”]

[“But totally distinct from both these types of souls, there is a Supreme Person who is known as Paramātmā, the Supersoul. He is the Supreme Lord. Entering into the three worlds in His eternal form, He maintains all beings in the universe.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.16-17]

It was non-differentiated, differentiation begins. And then the, because it was really a conscious place, jyoti means consciousness, unit of consciousness, so differentiation and movement, that starts individual consciousness there. From unconscious, a plain sheet, when the specification begins, movement begins, then individual conscious units grow. And because it is consciousness it is endowed with free will. And by free choice from the buffer position, from the marginal position, they had to take one side, side of exploitation and side of dedication. By the choice of their free will they start, and in the result we see that some comes towards exploitation and some goes towards dedication. If we are to analyse to the extreme then we are to follow such trend of thought. Anādi, anādi-bahirmukha.

[kṛṣṇa bhuli sei jīva anādi-bahirmukha, ataeva māyā tāre deya saṁsāra dukḥa]

["The jīva souls are the marginal potency of the Lord. Though in reality they are servants of Kṛṣṇa, from time immemorial, they have been engaged in misconception, as exploiting agents."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.117]

Anādi means what has no beginning. Then why, after they enter the land of exploitation they begin to come within the form of thought, space and time? Before time, before the conception of this material time, the movement, so, anādi. Anādi-bahirmukha, first, bahirmukhata, bahirmukha means tendency towards exploitation. In the beginning the first tendency towards exploitation. And when it enters the exploitation area then it comes within the factor of time and space, of the mundane world, so anādi-bahirmukha. In this way some enters this side and some may go towards Vaikuṇṭha. In this way the equilibrium is disturbed and the movement, the dynamic character begins, of this world, in the negative side, that is the side of exploitation, the wrong side, the negative side, that of exploitation. And when they come to exploitation, enters the domain of exploitation, then the giving and taking in the negative land of loan, they really become losers. Apparently they think that by exploitation they will thrive, but really they become losers under the subjugation of the material consideration. Do you follow? Am I clear?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. But there's one thing that's confusing to me...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. What is that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...was the other day about saying, you told about someone, Tamal Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī asked about someone entering Goloka or Vaikuṇṭha, some spiritual position. And you said that the others who are already there, they may be seeing that temporarily he was mad. So how is that possible?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is another side. When a baddha-jīva, a fallen soul...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Baddha, conditioned.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...conditioned soul, enters the unconditional area, then they do not make any distinction. That there the method of thinking is all of eternal. So they think that this friendship, the connection which at present we find within one another, that is eternal, that cannot be, but for some time it was not present, so, 'My friend, you are known to me, then why you were absent for so many days. My heart hankers for your company.' In this way they welcome them.

Devotee: That means that he was there before.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The eternal aspect, when they meet, they think that we are eternally connected, but why for some time there was a bar between us?

Devotee: So that means before, the living entity was with Kṛṣṇa in the spiritual world, and then some separation...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only consider, when the eternal aspect is towards eternity, then that sort of conception comes. “That you were absent, and why? We can’t ascertain. For a long time you left Me. How can you go on with your life, leaving Me, your bosom friend?” Kṛṣṇa also tells when a new friend comes after a long time, He says, “You, My friend, why, how you can, and where you can be moving, leaving Me here? I am feeling much pain for your separation. Now you have come it is very good.” In this way he’s received in that plane because for the eternal, and they think it is temporary. It seems like it was temporary in the eternal time. In the factor of eternal counting it is like that.

Devotee: Our Śrīla Prabhupāda, he explained that originally we were all Kṛṣṇa conscious entities in the spiritual world. But because we were forgetful of that consciousness we came under the jurisdiction of matter.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmaloḥa means forgetfulness of a number, a big number forgetfulness, and they’re as if reserved in Brahmaloḥa, the forgetfulness.

Devotee: So originally we were with Kṛṣṇa in the spiritual world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The two sections, and in līlā, sometimes they manage in such a way that some of them come here, they are not posted in Brahmaloḥa, not detained in Brahmaloḥa, but come here also, and then goes up again. That is the part of līlā. And another class that comes, that is posted in Brahmaloḥa for a long time and from there it is coming this side, that side. So in two ways we find that jīva goes to Kṛṣṇa, Goloka, and mundane world.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And in the, our Prabhupāda he had one book...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as suppose, the imperial officers they come in the provincial, with some business they come in the provincial area, and goes back. This is one thing. And provincial officers may be promoted to imperial service. Something like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Prabhupāda, he had one book called the Kṛṣṇa Book. It is the tenth canto of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam in summary form. And in this one pastime, līlā, of Varuna stealing away Nanda Mahārāja, later in that pastime, Kṛṣṇa, He revealed, manifest to the inhabitants of Vṛndāvana the spiritual realm Goloka. And Prabhupāda says there that some of the associates of Kṛṣṇa were His eternal associates who descended with Him. Others, they were new men and He was giving them their first glimpse of the spiritual world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see the svarūpa-siddhi and vastu-siddhi in our attainment of the highest order we are first to pass through the stage of svarūpa-siddhi and then vastu-siddhi. But svarūpa-siddhi is that we attain the fitness of a particular post fully. And vastu-siddhi, then we are engaged in that post. Suppose I have passed an examination of a district magistrate, IAS, ICS, that is one thing, that is an eligibility I have acquired. And vastu-siddhi means that I am posted in that practically. Then, after svarūpa-siddhi, to attain vastu-siddhi, for some recruitment, the eligible, the past hands, they get a chance to enter that Vṛndāvana. And there, in the prapañca līlā they first participates and after participating first in some prapañca līlā, then they are given passports to enter into the eternal līlā forever. Am I clear? No.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For svarūpa-siddhi and vastu-siddhi and before attaining vastu-siddhi, that is eternal service there, these eligible persons they are to participate in the prapañca līlā where Kṛṣṇa has come down. In that particular brahmāṇḍa he gets the birth, and then after first participation in a prapañca līlā of Kṛṣṇa they comes in touch with the eternal līlā and then forever they're admitted into His eternal līlā, vastu-siddhi. So it will be like that. So it is said in that way.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There's one śloka, it is in Ādi-līlā, Caitanya-caritāmṛta [5.36], and Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu [1.2.278], and Laghu-Bhāgavatāmṛta [1.5.41] of Rūpa Goswāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. What is that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja:

yad arīṇāṁ priyāṇāṁ ca, prāpyam ekam ivoditam tad brahma-kṛṣṇayor aikyāt, kiraṇārkopamā-juṣoḥ

[“Where it has been stated that the Lord’s enemies and devotees attain the same destination, this refers to the ultimate oneness of Brahman and Lord Kṛṣṇa. This may be understood by the example of the sun and the sunshine, in which Brahman is like the sunshine and Kṛṣṇa Himself is like the sun.”]

So there...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kiraṇārkopamā-juṣoḥ - Yes. That is a very important śloka and that harmonises many things, many opposite things harmonised there. It is said in the śāstra that whoever is, that anyone, kama krodha vaya desa hi chadya dayo nipa bhavo stad gatim gata [?]

It is mentioned in different places that who is killed by Kṛṣṇa he attains His loka. And also, by dint of bhakti, they also attain Him. Then the both is one and the same? If by that Kaṁsa, Śiśupāla, Rāvaṇa, Kumbhakarṇa, that was killed by Viṣṇu, they also attained Viṣṇuloka. And those that through the processes of the devotees, they by the process of devotion, they also attain Viṣṇuloka. Is this one and the same? Rūpa Goswāmī says no. Then, how is it said like that in the śāstra?

Yad arīṇāṁ priyāṇāṁ ca, prāpyam ekam ivoditam - in the scriptures we find as if the enemies killed by Kṛṣṇa and His friends, they both attain the same place. But it is not actually the same. It is just as sun's ray and the sun is one and the same, so also, Brahmaloḥa and Vaikuṇṭha one and the same. Kiraṇārkopamā-juṣoḥ, ārka and kiraṇ, there is difference. So ārka is original body, and jyoti is, kiraṇ means jyoti emanating from the sun. Both have been taken in the broader sense one and the same. So the enemies killed by Viṣṇu they enter into jyoti, and the devotees they enter the real zone, home. It is in a general way this statement is like that. Kiraṇārkopamā-juṣoḥ, kiraṇ and ārka. So brahmajyoti and Vaikuṇṭha is taken as one and the same, in this way it has been mentioned like that. But really there's a great difference.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So there in his bhāṣya, Prabhupāda, he said, he quoted Parāśara Muni speaking to Maitreya and he was saying that, "Do not think that Jaya and Vijaya in every millennium, yuga, that they are falling from Vaikuṇṭha to become āśuras, demons. We should not think that way.” So my question is this, are some Vaikuṇṭha vāsīs or the inhabitants of Vaikuṇṭha, is it possible for them to fall into this material contaminated world? This is unusual.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There may be two things to be considered here. Jaya and Vijaya are Vaikuṇṭha dhari, dhari means gatekeeper, and Vaikuṇṭha’s gate, outside the gate there is non Vaikuṇṭha...

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...that is merely Brahmaloḥa, or Śivaloḥa. So deviation from that place is not impossible. That is one thing. And another, those that have got some engagement, but the; I told that there are two forms of falling by līlā. For līlā, like play, just as like Hiranyakas, everything is in Vaikuṇṭha or everything is in Goloka in the broadest sense. But Goloka means all accommodating, that Kṛṣṇa līlā accommodates everything but that loses its poisonous habit. Just as a heinous murder is one thing, and when in a play, in a drama it is being shown, it has not got such heinousness. Playfully it is relished by persons, but actually when it happens people will shudder. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a play, when it is found in a play, it loses its sting. So in the līlā of Kṛṣṇa everything may be accommodated but no sting will be there. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So everything, to maintain its dynamic character – just as Rūpa Goswāmī says, ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati, aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva- kuṭilā bhavet.

[aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati]

[“ ‘The progress of loving affairs between a young boy and a young girl is by nature crooked, like the movement of a snake. Because of this, two types of anger arise between a young boy and girl — anger with a cause and anger without a cause.’ ”] [Ujjvala-nīlamanī]

& [Caitanya-caritamṛta, Madhya-līlā, 14.163]

Just as a serpent when he goes, his natural movement is curved, not straight. A serpent never goes straight but in a curved way. So the natural flow of prema, of love, is in a curved way. Ato hetor ahetoś ca, with cause or without cause, yūnor, the lover and the beloved their māna udañcati, there sometimes without any cause, so many feelings, sentiments, the anger and earnestness they spring, ahaitukī, it is...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For the necessity to maintain the dynamic character of the Goloka many things are to be played there. And even killing has got no value of killing. In a portrait you are taking a picture of a murderer but the actual murder is not there. Similarly, in Goloka, whatever is being shown or whatever occurs there, that is not filthy. That is tasteful, that is wholesome. Because the very basis is not of exploitation, it is all of dedication. The competition is there but the competition in dedication that is better, that is better, that is the best competition. So, similarly, everything is present there, the basis is such that everything is well and good and wholesome, because the fundamental plane is that of dedication, not of exploitation, not of selfish play. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are to understand that, the difference between exploitation and dedication, exploiting land and dedicating land.

Harjid Mohamed Marsin we are told, he stealthily threw out money to the poor. There was one in Hoogly there was a Mohammedan chief and he was very benevolent and he helped many poor men. And there were also persons who were poor but do not; they feel hesitation to come to beg. And Harjid Mohamed he arranged, I read in my child book, in infant book that Harjid Mohamed Marsin, he, at night he was out with some money and those that feel shame to beg, he threw some money into his house, ha, ha, ha, stealthily.

So, that is also, stealing, thieving, but that thieving is not, that is admissible, so stealing also admissible. So in the land of dedication everything is admissible, everything is good. And the land of exploitation, everything is bad; the good things are also bad.

The German philosopher Kant says, “No deed can be perfectly good, only,” according to him, “good will. Only without good will in this world nothing is to be found as good, only good will.”

But we also, we say even good will is also bad in this plane of exploitation. Good will, what standard of goodness we shall acquire? The standard is vitiated so we will also create some bad wave in the world, the land of exploitation. Whatever I shall do that will bring some bad thing in its retinue, cannot but be. I shall attend the bed of a patient, the medicine coming from so many creatures, creepers, or so many animals they are killed in this way. And some diet I am administering, the diet means that is killing so many jīva, either in the form of crops, or a creeper, or anything like. So no action can be absolutely good in this plane, in this land of exploitation. Karma dosa bada iti ke. Every action is considered to be wrong, or non beneficial, bad, fetching bad effect, every movement here, karma dosa bada iti ke [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, there’s one śloka in the Bhāgavat...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But is it clear?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: [and others]: Yes. Yes. Yes ...there it says:

mahat-tattvād vikurvāṇād, bhagavad-vīrya-sambhavāt kriyā-śaktir ahaṅkāras, tri-vidhaḥ samapadyata [vaikārikas taijasaś ca, tāmasaś ca yato bhavaḥ manasaś cendriyāṇāṁ ca, bhūtānāṁ mahatām api]

[The material ego springs up from the mahat-tattva, which evolved from the Lord's own energy. The material ego is endowed predominantly with active power of three kinds - good, passionate and ignorant. It is from these three types of material ego that the mind, the senses of perception, the organs of action, and the gross elements evolve.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.26.23-24]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't follow.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This is Kapiladeva, Kapila Muni.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In what canto?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Third canto. So, Prabhupāda was explaining that in the beginning there is clear consciousness, pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and then the first contamination sprang up, is coming from false ego, ahaṅkāras. And he says that we see also in actuality, in actual life that someone is acting in Kṛṣṇa consciousness and then suddenly their behaviour changes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Again, repeat it.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja:

mahat-tattvād vikurvāṇād, bhagavad-vīrya-sambhavāt kriyā-śaktir ahaṅkāras, tri-vidhaḥ samapadyata

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does Swāmī Mahārāja say?

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: What's Swāmī Mahārāja's translation?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's not the translation, it's his explanation. He said that in the beginning there is clear consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Clear consciousness.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness. How Kṛṣṇa consciousness deviates into māyā consciousness?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahat-tattvād, what is the first word?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahat-tattvād vikurvāṇād.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] The first development of prakṛti in the negative side is known as mahat-tattva. Prakṛti developed in the negative side first, that means its name is mahat-tattva. Then mahat-tattvād vikurvāṇād, when there is movement, first negative possession, extension towards negative world, and then vikurvāṇād means there is movement, clear, mahat-tattvād vikurvāṇād. Then?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhagavad-vīrya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhagavad-vīrya-sambhavāt. Mayādhyakṣeṇa prakṛtiḥ, sūyate sa-carācaram, and aham bīja-pradaḥ pitā, in Bhagavad-gītā.

[mayādhyakṣeṇa prakṛtiḥ, sūyate sa-carācaram hetunānena kaunteya, jagad viparivartate]

["O Kaunteya, My deluding potency, under My direction gives birth to this universe of moving and stationary beings. And for this reason, that is, since only a created object is subject to destruction, the universe is created again and again."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.10]

[sarva-yoniṣu kaunteya, mūrtayaḥ sambhavanti yāḥ tāsāṁ brahma mahad yonir, aham bīja-pradaḥ pitā]

["O Kaunteya, Brahman personified as mother nature is the progenitress of all the various bodies born within all species of life, headed by demigods and humans - and I (as the causal consciousness) am the seed-giving father."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 14.4]

"Prakṛti, I throw My semen, as if, in prakṛti, and then the movements and then mahat-tattva and then all these developments in the side, in the prakṛti."

So mahat-tattvād vikurvāṇād, this negative movement, bhagavad-vīrya-sambhavāt, and the cause there is bhagavad-vīrya, His potency, the potency of the Lord, sambhavāt. Then what is the...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Kriyā-śaktir ahaṅkāras.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kriyā-śaktir ahaṅkāras, then this material subjective characteristic is born of that. Material individual tendency to work in this land of exploitation is gradually born from such condition, passing through it. Bhagavad-vīrya-sambhavāt, prakṛtiḥ, negative first stage maha-tattva and from maha-tattva then this negative activity, that ahaṅkāra, and then it takes the characteristic of this material ego; that is selfish ego, individual ego. And they want to work here in different stages of Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Mahar, Janar, Tapar, Satya-loka. The ahaṅkāra of jīva soul is created, the ahaṅkāra of jīva soul, of the baddha jīva, created in this way. That is described, how the origin of this ego of exploitation, that process is described there. He is there, bhagavad-vīrya-sambhavāt. Mayādhyakṣeṇa prakṛtiḥ, sūyate sa-carācaram, and aham bīja-pradaḥ pitā, in Bhagavad-gītā, aham bīja-pradaḥ pitā. So from there the insinuation comes, then prakṛti is disturbed, the balance disturbed, equilibrium disturbed. And then in gradual process it takes up the shape of this material ego, material subjective existence that, 'I want to be master of the nature. I want to possess these things, those things. I want to enjoy.' The ego, the master, ahaṅkāra, that is born gradually from that. Equilibrium stage it comes to take in different individual shape of ahaṅkāra. That is meant here.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In the Vedas there is a statement, eko baho syam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, eko ham baho syam aham.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, it is saying eko, Kṛṣṇa is one and He expands Himself into many. So materially speaking that would seem to indicate some point of generation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Goloka, Vaikuṇṭha, His oneness means, just as raja, raja means that there is praja, there are so many officers, all these things. So Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa means He has got eternal, there is a system of service there, there are many already within one, an organic whole. And in the case of the material world, eko ham baho syama, aham means, “My jyoti,” there the meaning of aham is, “the jyoti is also Myself, the Brahma is Myself.” Baho syama, and there was a movement and they began to take from the equilibrium stage began to take many individual workings of subject, eko ham baho syama. In the prakṛta, in the material world it is in this way it can be explained, and in Goloka, in the eternal world it is already within the system, baho, baho and eko.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now I understand. Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Neho nanasti kinchana, nana is there and it is not nana because it is harmonised by one thing. Neho nanasti kinchana, here there is no many things, there is one thing, because the underlying unifying potency is there so it is not plural, plurality in unity. Though apparently it is many but really it is one, the many is the part of one. So nehō nanasti kinchana. Sarvam kalpitam brahma, “All that we see it is Brahma.” It means Sarva is there and Brahma is there. Śaṅkarācārya left the Sarva and accepted only Brahma, Śaṅkarācārya left nana and accepted only one. But Mahāprabhu told that everything what is told in Veda, that is to be adjusted. So eko ham baho syama, in Goloka the unit is there and it is of variegated nature, an organic whole. And in the material world, nehō nanasti, eko ham baho syama, that is the Brahmaloka, the balance, the equilibrium is disturbed and in this way the ahaṅkāra, many individual material ahaṅkāra is created, as it is said here, mentioned in Kapiladeva uvāca. One as Brahma, that is in equilibrium almost, then a push, bhagavad-vīrya, a push is there and the prakṛti began to move and so many individuals came out of Brahmaloka. Mayādhyakṣeṇa prakṛtiḥ, sūyate sa-carācaram, and aham bīja-pradaḥ pitā, in Bhagavad-gītā we find. How from one many is coming? From one many is coming. How? One in equilibrium and when it is disturbed the many is seen, it is differentiated character progressing, and different individual ahaṅkāra, ego, is created, infinite number, and then they filled up this, jaye dam barjati jagat, and that is entering into the material conception, it is current, making it current.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What happened, you know Vasudeva Datta he prayed to Mahāprabhu to, “Let all of them go free and I will take their karma.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There also, maybe here, the Hegelian theory of panentheism, and this Aurovinda Gosh, his system is also like that, that Absolute conditioned non conditioned and Absolute is realising through this process to a final goal; always moving. Finite is a necessary part of infinite, and infinite’s attempt is always to make the finite perfect. This process is going on eternally, Panentheism.

But Vasudeva Gosh what he says that, “All the souls can be released from here and all their sins put on my head, I go to eternal hell. So I can’t tolerate the suffering, I can’t stand to see the suffering of the jīva in this world. So my prayer to You, release all of them and all the sins may be put on my head and allow me to go to suffer on their behalf.” Vasudeva Datta.

Then Mahāprabhu answered, “Kṛṣṇa is not a bankrupt party. What you His devotee desires He can fulfil your purpose but He’s not bankrupt. Your security is not necessary here, and you are not required to work on their behalf. Without sacrificing you He can liberate them. He has got such capacity.”

koṭi-kāmadhenu-patira chāgi yaiche mare / ṣaḍ-aiśvarya-pati kṛṣṇera māyā kibā kare?

["If a person possessing millions of wish-fulfilling cows loses one she goat, he does not consider the loss. Kṛṣṇa owns all six opulences in full. If the entire material energy is destroyed, what does He lose?"]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 15.179]

Even if the whole māyic system is abolished: no harm of Kṛṣṇa in His līlā in Goloka. The whole negative side may be eliminated but with only positive, just as if one time the whole prison houses are abolished, a good country may not suffer. Then again by this statement of Vyāsadeva Mahāprabhu says that: punah sukha jiva mudya kori ved.

Then again there will come many culprits and the prison houses will be built again. If all the patients be cured, no hospital is necessary. Hospital necessary only because there is patient, but if all is wholesome and healthy no necessity of hospital. So hospitals can be closed if all patients cured. But gradually in time again a patient may come and the hospital may be required. And I like this.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: When Kṛṣṇa was here personally, it is said everyone was liberated. Is that true?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rāmcandra took everyone from Ayodhyā with Him, and that was also mentioned in the statement of Haridāsa Ṭhākura. Haridāsa Ṭhākura told: "Oh," in the case of Sanātana "You already promised Vasudeva and both the material and the soul kingdom have all been released because they have heard saṅkīrtana, Kṛṣṇa Nāma from Your mouth."

But again Mahāprabhu told that, "How this brahmāṇḍa will go on? New egos should be invited here to fill up. Material egos from Brahmaloaka should again be invited here to take their position. So some will pass away and some will again come to fill up.”

Devotee: Newcomers.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Newcomers.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But what about in the Western countries? Lord Caitanya Mahāprabhu He was here in India, and then in Europe they had, people were living, were they liberated also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We may think yes, maybe. If elephants and deer and tigers, they can have, they can catch the influence of the chanting of Mahāprabhu, then what to speak of the question of distance. The vibration is so fine, the vibration, that wave may touch every soul everywhere. Not only one brahmāṇḍa but many brahmāṇḍas may be purified through the ethereal, that most subtle plane of existence. The vibration may go to help anybody and everybody. Brahmāṇḍa not only human sect but so many insects, trees, everything, the finest vibration may reach everywhere like ether. It is not impossible.

Devotee: We were having some discussions in our Temple, in the Mandir. One camp is saying that the living entities he's coming from brahmajyoti. And others are saying that the living entity was originally with Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa conscious, engaged in his relationship with Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Both simultaneously true, both simultaneously true. That līlā, it is necessary in the līlā, in the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa that just as we have a play here, someone hides himself, hide and seek. There is a play of hide and seek. Do you know that?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So in the līlā of Kṛṣṇa it may be of that type, hide and seek. When hiding is necessary he comes here and again he goes there like a play, not earned by karma. That is one thing.

Devotee: That's a special case.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A special case.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That's a liberated soul.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Liberated souls can hide and seek, hide and seek. Like some līlā of hide and seek of that nature in Goloka one may come here, for hiding. And that is another thing, and another out of necessity, that is from Brahmaloḥa.

Devotee: They're saying also out of necessity that they're coming from a relationship with Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Innate relation with Kṛṣṇa, that is inevitable and that cannot be denied, that is innate. Innate relationship with Kṛṣṇa of everything can never be denied in any time.

Devotee: But how can it be innate in the spiritual world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How?

Devotee: Because I was thinking that in the material world our relationship with Kṛṣṇa is innate, like a seed. This is manifest, but when we were in the spiritual world this was manifest relationship.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of different stages, the relationship with Kṛṣṇa is maintained, is established everywhere because it is absolute one, but in different stages; in Brahmaloka stages, in prakṛti stages, in Vaikuṇṭha stages, different stages.

Devotee: Because we are thinking in terms of beginning and end sometimes it is not clear.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A stone is also matter, water is also matter, and air is also matter, but in different stages.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So in Brahmaloḥa the stage is dormant potential.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taṭasthā, the middle stage, you may take it.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And that rasa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prakṛti and Vaikuṇṭha, a pure conscious and material, in the middle, the buffer state is Brahmaloḥa, or Virajā.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So the relationship with Kṛṣṇa rasa in brahmajyoti it is in the potential or dormant stage?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, dormant stage, and undifferentiated character also. Because it is not plain, not clear that who is in which rasa, that is all dormant there. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Like seeds, Bhakti Caru Swāmī told me that you once said that, gave the example of seeds, like seed of a mango, seed of an apple, they are all looking like seeds, but until they sprout you cannot tell the fruit.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: May be similar, cannot be differentiated, but when it sprouts then we can differentiate them.

Devotee: But in the spiritual world this differentiation is there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, in the real spiritual plane the differentiation is already completed. Living in different rasa, śanta, dāsyā, sākhya, vātsalya, mādhurya, their final stage they have attained and from that position they're rendering their service. And here, non-differentiated, unknown who is to be recruited in which group, that is unknown here in the suppressed section.

...

Your zone is?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I'm trying to preach in America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: America; and in which zone?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Western part, California, and Colorado. Denver: and Hawaii islands.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hawaii islands. Japan first attacked America in Hawaii.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Yes. And also, Japan, we're just starting to print our Bhagavad-gīta and Śrī Īśopaniṣad in Japanese; first time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Japan is in whose jurisdiction?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Rāmeśvara Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Japan also?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not only Hawaii-dwīpa, Hawaii Island, but Japan also included?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: My main service to Śrīla Prabhupāda is to print his books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Printing books.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I have been assisting him for many years. He gave that as my life's work.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And in that work you done wonderful.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Very simple work. The wonder is that Prabhupāda wrote so many books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. And to publish them, it was shown in the ITV television or something like that how they are being printed, packed, and put on the truck, and they're running. That was shown. Of course I could not see but I heard. My eye sight is very short but they say that these things are being shown there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, this is under the direction of Rāmeśvara Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was the director there. And it was done very successfully. The book preaching of ISKCON that is a big thing. Our Guru Mahārāja also he liked and he gave the name bṛhat-mṛdaṅga. That is mṛdaṅga when it sounds it invites the people around, "Come to chant, come to hear, to listen to the chanting of the Divine Name." And books are also going from man to man, house to house, informing them, "These things are occurring, come and join." The sound of the mṛdaṅga and the sound of the books - the books are more efficient than that of mṛdaṅga, so bṛhat-mṛdaṅga. The invitation is more intense and more perfect than that of mṛdaṅga, by the books. It will only ask the people:

_____ [?]

One gentleman wrote an article in praise of our Guru Mahārāja that you sent, Prabhupāda, even a daily paper he founded, Nadiyā Prakāśa, a daily newspaper. Madan Mohan Madhava, the moderate leader of India told, “What is this, a daily religious paper?”

“But in this mundane world there are so many daily papers. We are told in America that not only a morning paper and evening paper, every hour there is being published news. And Vaikuṇṭha news is thousand times more than the news in this mundane world. And one daily paper you wonder, that daily paper, thousands of daily papers may be continued. So much news may come from Vaikuṇṭha. It may be over flooded this mundane world by Vaikuṇṭha news. That is infinite and this is finite. The ray from the infinite when comes to the finite world: what can it do?”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. So a spiritual weekly paper, that was the leading paper he had - Gauḍīya by name, and that gentleman wrote:

[?]

Generally, souls are sleeping, they’re under the influence of slumber of moha means ajñāna, ignorance, and to rouse them you send your weekly paper Gauḍīya from door to door.

[?] And that is the messenger of Vaikuṇṭha, of the infinite world. The Gauḍīya comes and pushes the door to be opened and to hear.

[?] In no time, awake, arise, no time. Come forward to go to the Absolute realm. Here you are sleeping in ignorance. What is this? Such a great prospect waiting for you!

[?]

Loudly it announces that, “Come and take the service of Kṛṣṇa, begin the service of Kṛṣṇa. That is its news - the Gauḍīya.”

Madan Mohan Madhava, the moderate leader, and Hindu Mahasava also in the beginning, he also told that, “Every village should have a centre for your activities.”

“But what do you say? I want to establish temple in every heart, in every man’s heart I want to establish a temple for the service of the Lord.” That was the answer of our Guru Mahārāja. “I want to build temple of the Lord in every heart.”

Who else are here, members of Governing Body, in Māyāpur?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now in Māyāpur? Kīrtanānanda’s coming here in five days. Jayatīrtha Mahārāja will come shortly, he’s here now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He comes from London.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhagavān Dāsa Goswāmī, he is here now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhagavān Dāsa, the South Europe preacher: and that Arabian gentleman?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Atreya Ṛṣi, tonight. He’s here now. We just heard that he’s here. He has arrived.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And what about Haṁsadūta Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He may come later. He's thinking maybe he doesn't want to come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: May not come? Then who else? Svarūpa Dāmodara, has he come?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He has come. Then there's Harikeśa, he has not come yet, tonight.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Expected tonight.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: The meeting is just the morning until two; then in the afternoons we have general discussions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti Caru Swāmī Mahārāja, has he come there?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not yet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That gentleman who came the other day, that Dayādhara, is he here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. He's with Bhakti Caru Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, in Calcutta.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Venkatta Raman or so, one gentleman?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Venkatta, that Sanskrit teacher? He's coming in about one week.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Yaśodānandan not to be traced?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's in America, in New York.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not Canada?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And that Pradyumna?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's in London.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And his son Anirudha and wife Arundhati? For a long time they're here.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In England.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: We were thinking of, I have proposed this year, that we would like to print the books written by Śrīla Bhakti Siddhānta Saraswatī and Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, special edition to give to the universities all over the world. We have facility to distribute to practically every...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you are to translate from Bengali into English.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: They have written...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, there are some English books. Brahma-saṁhitā...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahma-saṁhitā?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: English. The Bhāgavata.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahma-saṁhitā translated by whom?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That Gauḍīya Maṭh publication.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By whom it was translated?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: It says, “Commentary by Jīva Goswāmī, translated by...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s original English work is Life and Precepts of Mahāprabhu, and another, The Bhāgavata Speech.

[Its Philosophy, Its Ethics and Its Theology]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: These two booklets of his own writing. Prabhupāda has got, The Vedānta, Its Morphology and Ontology, then Relative Worlds, then...

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: Harmonist, chila [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Harmonist, Pratika chila [?], Śrī Kṛṣṇa Chaitanya, published, written by Professor Sanyal during Prabhupāda's time. And Rāya Rāmānanda, or something like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Rāya Rāmānanda. But the Brahma-saṁhitā, who translated that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who translated, I don't know, maybe by Tīrtha Mahārāja or Professor Sanyal. I don't remember.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Not Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That is not an original English work? That is not original?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not original.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: It says he is the translator.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhakti Siddhānta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prabhupāda did not translate Brahma-saṁhitā. Brahma-saṁhitā translated not by Swāmī Mahārāja?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: We should bring the Gauḍīya Maṭh edition because it says that Śrīla Bhakti Siddhānta translated it.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We do not know it. But if I see I can say, the style.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Prabhupāda [Śrīla A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja] said to us that he did also.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He said that he translated it or that you should publish it?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If I get it I can say whether it is Prabhupāda's [Bhakti Siddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura] English or not.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: We should get it because...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be by Professor Sanyal, it might have been.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: He said we can't change one comment because it's his Guru Mahārāja.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right, I know, but that's still not saying whether it's done by a disciple and approved by him. So we have to bring the book.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi. Gaura Haribol.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: We want to distribute these books to all the universities...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Good idea.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: ...in all foreign countries.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Good idea, very good idea.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: The Professors, they're not so familiar with the writings of Śrīla Bhakti Siddhānta and Śrīla Bhaktivinoda, so they're missing a treasure.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. That should be the right statement of the disciple of Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Śrīla Prabhupāda told us that, "If people simply take the books written by the great Ācāryas then at the very least they will get a next human birth."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Due to their ignorance people do not know, can't understand, so it is not possible for them to give any recognition to those books of so high level. It comes only, the movement is downwards. Only the devotees, by the dint of their devotion, they can take it outside. And of course there is a sanction, grand sanction of Mahāprabhu. "Whomever you meet, you talk of Kṛṣṇa."

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā [tāra ei deśa kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei thāñi pābe mora saṅga]

[“Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

“I’m delegating power, I’m empowering you. Whomever you meet, talk of Kṛṣṇa.”

The best friend of all the souls, the best friend. God is friendly, God is guardian, God is friendly, God is everything. The facsimile, supplementary; what is wanting in us, that is to be found in Him. Only by obtaining Him we can be complete. Otherwise we are incomplete. So help all. Only when he will get a little real touch they will come forward, like a hungry man, come forward.

na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, durāśayā ye bahir-artha-māninaḥ

[andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmnī baddhāḥ]

[Prahāda Mahārāja says: “Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or Guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold miseries.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31]

Prahāda Mahārāja says, na te viduḥ svārtha, those only are making much of the cover, who does not know that his inner satisfaction it depends on the very inner substance of things, not the outer coating. Outer coating cannot satisfy him. But he’s captured by the glamour of the external side, and does not desire to enter within the things. The valuable thing is covered by māyic layer, illusory layer. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, durāśayā ye bahir-artha- māninaḥ, making much of the external glamour, and don’t try to dive deep into the internal portion of what is seen on the surface. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You should ask the question...

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: This year, you may know that we experienced some disturbance about the position of our new initiating Gurus. So I had some questions, about the position of our Gurus, because Prabhupāda named me also as one of the devotees who would begin initiating. So I’ve felt a little disturbed that the position of the Gurus was raised above all of our God-brothers, because of too much worship. This is very disturbing to me, that every day our Gurus they’re receiving very opulent worship. We all have seats which are in every temple. And it seems to me that many of my God-brothers they are equal or even greater. They can give Prabhupāda's teachings just as well as anyone, but they're not named as Gurus, so there seems too much difference between them and the Gurus. So this has been a big disturbance to me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a very serious question. [About thirty seconds of Bengali (?) spoken]

Making much of their position of the Ācārya: that are misusing the position; according to him. But that is a very serious question, and on that point I have discussed, I have given my opinion many times. A system, in brief, a system should be created, or arranged, for the proper adjustment, proper adjustment. Of course it is necessary that Guru will be given a special position to the disciple. For the disciple it is necessary. Mad guru sri jagat guru. He's the supreme-most, at least in a particular way. In a particular way he's the best. Yei rasa, sei sarvottama.

[kintu yāñra yei rasa, sei sarvottama, taṭa-stha hañā vicāṛile, āche tara-tama]

["It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.83]

A relative position, from the relative standpoint the disciple will see his Guru to be the best. And there he will think that the Lord has delegated him to come to me and to deliver me from the clutches of māyā. Have some particular affinity there. And there are many Ācāryas, and what should be the behaviour, the conduct of the disciples of different Ācāryas? How? And what should be the behaviour of conduct towards the non Ācārya, God-brothers of the Ācārya? That should be evolved. If the direction is not given by Swāmī Mahārāja, there might be some sign, some hints, but if it is not found there, then we shall have to evolve some rules and regulations for proper adjustment, so that the Mission may not suffer, suffer from the indifference, or negligence, or abhorrence of the non Ācārya disciples of Swāmī Mahārāja.

As you say, there are many qualified disciples outside the Ācārya Board or GBC. It is not impossible, not impossible. So we should seek together and try to evolve that valuable persons that came to serve Swāmī Mahārāja with all their energy and sincerity, that they will go away, it is very regrettable. We should try to save the Mission from that great disaster.

I hear that so many stalwarts, they're going away, being indifferent and going underground, to the unknown quarter; or depressed because they do not see fair field. So these things should not be set aside, but it must be taken in and they should be discussed. Some salient points you should prepare it, a table: that these are the disadvantages, inconveniences, rather the disease entered into ISKCON, and how to treat them?

This is our common cause. We are all interested in ISKCON. We are members. We have given our life, dedicated our life for this Mission. We're interested and we don't like that our God-brothers will go astray, dissatisfied with the management. So try our best how we can evolve some rulings or some sort of laws, rules, which should guide us all, accommodate us all. At the same time it will push the cause of the Mission, of ISKCON. A dynamic as well as accommodating; comprehensive and dynamic Mission we want to have. We have a great field ahead. We must go to the length and breadth of this world with the banner of our Guru Mahārāja Prabhupāda, Swāmī Mahārāja, and combined effort is necessary for that. Nothing we like to loose. We collect all our energy, money, men, and we must go on with the banner of our Prabhupāda. For that unity and fairness in the field that is necessary which will strengthen the heart of all the members of ISKCON.

In this way you may put into the GBC's meeting that such an accommodating and dynamic programme we want to have, we like to have. And without doing that we won't allow you to dissolve your meeting. You come to such conclusion and give us such a programme otherwise we won't allow you to go away from this. But do it, care, provide, to feed all the members, how all can have food, proper food, everyone must have proper food to work on. Evolve such a programme and give us. If you are efficient enough, if you consider yourself to be efficient then give us this thing; that we can march on with the flag with our head erect.

We shall go to capture new and the old already going back. They're driven, they're being driven and we are going. The old, those important members that got grace of our Guru Mahārāja, they're being discouraged indifferent, and we're going to recruit new persons. Is it not a fact? [?]

But as a friend of your Guru Mahārāja I feel in my heart so I say this. And worldwide, grand common mission, that will thrive like anything. It will touch the heaven and cover the world from; and other planets also. And what is this that old persons they're going back? There may be one or few exceptions, but generally people came with a good and sincere heart and they're feeling discouragement. Some encouraging programme we want to have, so let us evolve. Not a formal meeting for two days, three days. Meeting to satisfy the real necessity of the day; that is a living committee we want, living meeting we want, and not a formal meeting. After one year a formal meeting and some resolution passed and everyone is gone to his own field and doing as he likes.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. [?] I am caught. I am caught in... What I say, but I say, my feeling, I love him, I love Mahāprabhu, I love my Guru Mahārāja, I love Mahāprabhu. And I want to see that the whole:

pr̥thivīte āche yata nagarādi-grama, sarvatra pracāra haibe mora nāma

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu is the pioneer of Śrī Kṛṣṇa saṅkīrtana. He said: "I have come to inaugurate the chanting of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa, and that Name will reach every nook and corner of the universe.”]

[Caitanya-Bhāgavata]

And that is going to be fulfilled. And wonderful progress, the step taken by Swāmī Mahārāja, that is wonderful. Rather astounding to me. So we are all we are optimistic, so...

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Preaching is going on bigger than when Prabhupāda was here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: More books are being sold now than ever before. We have more temples, more devotees.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But we hear from some quarters that some, to make money, some awkward things are being sold also.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Sometimes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes. Here or there. Is it true? I don't know.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Yes, sometimes to get money to print books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Print books and print books to tempt the people with some naked or such awkward pictures are being sold, only to make money.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: No, not such an awkward thing. Sometimes they sell cinema songs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I heard from somebody that is also being done. Swāmī Mahārāja, he only by speaking to the people he captured them. But now these fellows they have taken to this sort of occupation.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're selling awkward things, making money, and doing whatever they like.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I don't think that is accurate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. I wish that that may be false. I'll be happy if it is false.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: But there is some truth. They have sometimes sold record albums with cinema songs, radio songs, which are not Kṛṣṇa conscious, just like some business to get money. And the money is then used to print books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And money comes from what door?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Sometimes selling recording albums, phonographic albums.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Some cinema songs.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Radio music. Just like a business.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So through some other business you get money and you, by the money you try to serve your publication department. But if that sort of business draws the credit of the Mission down, just as we are told that one Yogadar from India...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yogānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...about forty years back, or more, he went to America, and he began to teach yoga system, especially to the ladies. And there were many scandalous stories about that. And America lost its faith in that man. It was; this hint was given by Rabindranath. In the paper I saw, forty or fifty years back. The Yogadar, one yogī, so many mudras he wanted to teach the ladies and the scandals came from there. And bad name for the Indian sādhus, he acquired, and came back. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Sometimes they sell candles, and sometimes they sell oil paintings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may not be scandalous, because it is very difficult, that we are going to preach the pastimes Kṛṣṇa, which is very similar to the lust, which is called lust in this area. Very similar, but the opposite, very similar to the licentious society, that Kṛṣṇa's līlā in Vṛndāvana, very similar to the licentious and debauch, but it is just the opposite. We are to prove that with all our strength, all the strength of our nath, that it is not same, it is just the opposite. How it is opposite, Sumeru and Kumeru, north pole and south pole, these two opposite poles, kāma anda tamah. It is the deepest darkness here, sensual pleasure. And to please the senses of Kṛṣṇa, that is the highest attainment of the jīva soul. A very difficult task. It is not so easy a thing to impress the people who are of impartial judgement, a very difficult task. So we must be cautious about that.

Devotee: He wants to put some question to the lotus feet of you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So you have got more questions.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I have another question. When Prabhupāda was here we had a certain standard, that we were his disciples and every day we would offer Guru pūjā to him and we would chant his name in the kīrtana. So he allowed us to do that. So now the suggestion has been made that this should also be adopted by the new Gurus. So my feeling is that the new Gurus they are not so great as Prabhupāda, so they do not have to adopt the same standard of daily Guru pūjā. That is my feeling. So this is a problem. What should we understand?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course if you are sincere such feeling is laudable, but at the same time the śāstra does not say what you say, strictly. Because those that will come, as new recruitment, their faith should be encouraged, their faith we must encourage to increase their faith. And if you limit there, the faith is already wanting, we cannot put faith in anything in the world, and again if you discourage them, we will try to collect maximum faith of the disciples towards Guru. And at the same time you are to look out that the Guru, he, the Ācārya, he also behaves well. It is of course a difficult task, not a mere business. But there should be life, but a living thing, a sincere living attempt there should be. That transaction requires: to draw maximum faith from the disciple, that Guru is almost perfect.

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guru]

[“One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

Not a small mantra for small Guru; lower type of mantra to worship lower Guru. There is not provision like this in the śāstra. The same mantram, the same outlook, according to śāstra we must try to have, and especially we say those young, new recruits, their faith should not be bruised, and beg. As much as possible they should be drawn out from the cave of their heart maximum respect towards Guru, and Vaiṣṇava as well, not only Guru. When they will come to know the real acquaintance of the plane of vaiṣṇavata they will not only revere Gurudeva, his own Ācārya, at the same time he will have reverence for other God-brothers, other Vaiṣṇavas also. And they will also, must have regard for them, their God-brothers.

“We are of a special cadre, not ordinary human beings that are, that have already taken this matter be all and end all of life. But we have got such an ambitious programme_____ we are going to the infinite blissfulness. We are proud of our status and of our life. And we shall see like so many gods that are moving within the ISKCON, they have got a special life. They’re not men of this ordinary world. Though they’re walking on the Earth but still they’re walking on some atmosphere. Really their soul is walking in another atmosphere, pure atmosphere, a divine atmosphere.” This sort of outlook the newcomers, the new members, must have within their heart; then it will be a living one.

One of our God-brothers he told, he was grhastha. At that time a good disciple he got, then he took sannyāsa, and told that, “This disciple has given me sannyāsa. I was grhastha and this young man he left his wife and has come to serve me whole time, and I am a grhastha. This impression this impressed me. This knowledge impressed me to take sannyāsa, to become sannyāsī. My disciple has given the daṇḍa to me, the sannyāsa-vesa. He’s always, being a young man he has come to serve Guru whole time, and still I am grhastha.” Though he was a good condition of Vaiṣṇavism, still he said like that.

So disciples will help the Guru to keep up his dignity. “That they regard me so much, how can I go down. How I can do this thing that thing, what in their consideration I’ll be in a degraded position.” So they help to keep up the Ācārya in his own temper. And other Vaiṣṇavas, his God-brothers, they will also help them to keep their high temper. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, so just so you know what are the details, so this means in ISKCON temples that every day the disciples they must offer āratī to the Guru.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I heard that but this seems too much to me. In our time I did not have any conception of such.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: You should repeat that. Prabhupāda allowed us to do that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: See, this is a point.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whenever the Guru comes from outside in the Maṭh all the disciples will come and flock there and have āratī and pūjā. This sort of fashion we did know previously.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: We did with Prabhupāda every day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only formal āratī and all these things will that encourage everything, the devotion from the heart?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: We wanted to do that for Prabhupāda. We wanted to give that āratī to Prabhupāda. He let us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If your Prabhupāda established that sort that whenever he comes in a new place in whatever day, suppose after a week he comes to a particular place. And then the āratī arrangement and the puṣpa-añjali, all these functions took place?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Every day.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your Prabhupāda?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: See, in all the temples...

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Disciples were very enthusiastic.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. What did your Prabhupāda do?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: He let us do it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He did it?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the point is, I want to say it like this; that Prabhupāda he showed one thing, we did something else, and he accepted what we did. For example, when he led kīrtana, when he would sing kīrtana he would sing śrī kṛṣṇa caitanya prabhu nityānanda, Pañca Tattva mahā-mantra, then he would sing Hare Kṛṣṇa mantra. He would not chant jaya prabhupāda. He would not chant jaya anything but śrī kṛṣṇa caitanya and Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Now, in nineteen seventy four, when we came to your Maṭh, our men came here, Bābājī Mahārāja was singing praṇamāmi sadā prabhupāda-padam [from Śrī Śrī Prabhupāda- padma-stavakaḥ], this song of yours, and at the end he started singing jaya prabhupāda, jaya prabhupāda, jaya prabhupāda. So our men they liked that. So we started doing that at all of our temples in every kīrtana, every single kīrtana.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Every day.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Every day. So then when Prabhupāda would come to the temple we would also sing that for him. Now, until nineteen seventy four, things were not established this way. So that was in nineteen seventy four. And our Prabhupāda he sang many times Śrī Gurv-aṣṭakam. He always taught us this song Gurv-aṣṭakam. Every day we sing at maṅgala-āratī and he sang it many times. Now, in nineteen seventy four, our men...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The question is, when you did show your best honour to your Prabhupāda, you all enjoyed...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and no setback in your heart.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: No, we liked it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But when you say another group of disciples he's showing so much honour to his own Guru, then you're jealous of that. Eh? Is it impartial judgement? Rather, you should think that he's giving his heartfelt honour to his Guru. He sees there the descent of the master in the heart of his Guru and he's trying to give his best honour to him. That will encourage you to give your best honour to your Guru.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That standard. In this way it will be taught in the Mission.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Here's a point.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This sort of toleration; at the same time encouragement. He's loving his Guru, he's honouring his Guru, that will excite me to honour my Guru. The Mission's laws and rules will be set in this way; then it will be helpful to all. And not only that, at the same time he will honour his God-brother, God-brother of Guru. They also deserve a sort of honour, and that should also be maintained if we stay within an association. All these things should be promoted. At the same time another, the spirit of toleration, that we are worshipper of Kṛṣṇa. He is the son of Yaśodā, and Yaśodā is whipping Him. Still, Kṛṣṇa is the highest entity. This sort of toleration spirit also should be maintained there. It will regularly be taught to the disciples; the question of sincere heart to heart behaviour, conduct.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, Mahārāja, one point. In Los Angeles, as an example, we have disciples of five or six Gurus. Now, every disciple will want that his Guru's name, if we're going to chant one name then every disciple will want that his Guru's name be chanted.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, in Madras, the Guru paramparā, here we begin from Guru, and then param Guru, pradapata Guru, in this way up to Kṛṣṇa; beginning from Guru go to the highest Lord, Kṛṣṇa. And in Madras they come down. First Kṛṣṇa and then gradually other Gurus and in the last they give the jaya of their own Guru. In this way they...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In which Maṭh of Madras?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Madras side, Rāmānuja sampradāya. They have accepted this sort of fashion, come from up to down, and when they last go, everyone gives jaya to his own Guru, so many disciples of so many different Gurus. In the beginning they're coming all chorus jaya, and then lastly when they give to their own Guru then they utter the name of their own Guru, and jaya, and finishes. The fashion is there, that.

And here also if in a body we are to do we start jaya, then perhaps not very loudly we shall begin from our Gurudeva, and then when come to Prabhupāda then it is a concerted, joined jaya. In this way that may go up.

Otherwise one should begin with his own Guru. It is in śāstra, he begins with his own Guru. He has got the spiritual birth from there. All his obligation concentrated there so he must take his name. But there are so many disciples of sections, they will speak little, not loudly, moderate way, and then from the next time he will join together to give the jaya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I understand. I'm talking now of kīrtana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And those that are not disciples of the present Gurus, they may keep silence, and when the, your Prabhupāda's jaya begins, he will join. It may be minimised in that way, harmonised, something.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But I am also talking, I understand that, that's jaya prema dhani, jaya oṃ viṣṇupāda. But in kīrtana everyone will want that his Guru's praṇāma mantra is sung, his Guru's name is sung. So the whole kīrtana becomes praṇāmas and names, and where is the śrī kṛṣṇa caitanya and Hare Kṛṣṇa? So I was suggesting that, just like if you chant Gurv-aṣṭakam everyone is thinking his Guru, vande guroḥ śrī-caraṇāravindam, so in the end of the song, whoever, whatever name you chant may not accommodate all. But if you chant jaya Gurudeva then everyone is thinking Gurudeva. And after that, because Prabhupāda you have told us he's śaktyāveśa avatāra, his special position, then after jaya Gurudeva we can chant jaya Prabhupāda. Then everyone's satisfied.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I shall go that side.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He wants to go to his other chair.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: These things will be taken in, I shall go...

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Tired?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Until I'm tired, tired or exhausted.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:...the sole area of the Ācāryas to guide their disciples. They should order their disciples, "You show honour in such a way to my God-brother." Then the disciple is bound to do that and there will be no harm for him. It is, the responsibility with the Ācārya, more than the disciples. They should be cautious and they should be moderate in their temperament of taking honour, accepting honour. They'll rather guide and regulate them, "That he's my God-brother, he should also be honoured. Otherwise only honour shown to me that is not real honour. My honour is not my honour. My honour goes to my Guru. And he's also favourite of my Guru. So with me you'll honour them also." That should come from the lips of the Ācārya direct to the disciple. Then the disciple can show such honour to them without affecting his own special honour to his Gurudeva. I'm clear?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I wanted to reduce, because I have disciples in Los Angeles, and I...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By honouring me you do not honour me. But if you love me, love my dog. So if you want to honour me you must honour my sentiment. My God-brothers are sitting here. If they're not honoured then I feel insulted. This sort of teaching should be given to the disciples at large, to all the disciples. Then they will come to some common level. Otherwise they'll fight with one another. "My Guru is big. I shall show first honour, or the highest honour, and I shall show highest honour to them." In this way the fraction will come.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I wanted to stop my disciples; they were giving me Guru pūjā every day. I told them to stop. Then the other GBC they ordered me to start again. They said my disciples will be discouraged and they should be allowed to do it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, there is truth to a certain extent there, that they should not be cruel to them. They should be allowed to give the flow of their honour, natural and repeated, a flow must come; spontaneous flow must come. That should be helped.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: So even I feel it is too much honour for me I should allow it for their sake?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you, yes, if you, as you are sober, so other Ācāryas are also of such temperament that there will be least hitch in the Mission.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Be what?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The crack will be minimised. Otherwise the crack will come; least hitch.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I have one more question. Sometimes the boys that we...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And my answers satisfy you?

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I'm accepting it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At least to certain extent. Then I'm satisfied. To accept in toto it is not possible. To certain extent if I'm able to serve you then I'm happy.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I take it that Prabhupāda is speaking to us through you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, that is your goodness.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Sometimes the boys that we give initiation to they sometimes have difficulty and they go away. And if they go away sometimes they commit many sinful activities. So the question is; is the Guru obliged to that fallen disciple? If he remains fallen for the remaining part of his life then he must take another birth. So where's the obligation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, this should be done, that freedom should be used partially, looking at others also. It is, of course, my affection will guide me to take up the fallen soul. But at the same time others may get indulgence to go astray. So we must be aware of the fact that indulgence in one case that may create difficulty in another case. A serious disease may be taken up in the hospital but it may affect the health of the others, more affected disease, so both sides should be considered and the conclusion should be taken.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Now, another aspect is, the śāstra says that the spiritual master will return to save his fallen disciple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, if not in this life in other lives.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Sometimes the disciple...the devotee may lose his faith in Kṛṣṇa and in the Guru, so then the spiritual master is still obliged in the next life to save him?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: That is always?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa, there is a continuance, the duty ultimately is in Kṛṣṇa, and, na me bhaktaḥ pranaśyati.

[kṣipram bhavati dharmātmā, śaśvac-chāntiṁ nigacchati kaunteya pratijānīhi, na me bhaktaḥ pranaśyati]

["He soon becomes righteous (dharmātmā) and attains lasting peace. O son of Kuntī, declare it boldly that My devotee never perishes."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.31]

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate [svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt]

["Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

Whatever little is done in this plane that is never lost. So Kṛṣṇa will take care of that. He may send some other Guru to him, or that very Guru. It is His will. But it is sure that once he has got admission he will not be neglected, na me bhaktaḥ pranaśyati.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Does that mean that the disciple is guaranteed another human birth, even if he has done sinful activities?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Even may not in the next birth, but after few births he will get the chance. Anyhow he won't be dismissed, he will get chance.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: If some ordinary person he gets some Kṛṣṇa prasādam, does that mean he will take human birth?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may not always be, after four or five births also he may have a human birth. Anyhow, wherever he may go, the connection will be there, in the universal mind. In that plane it is recorded and that won't be lost.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: If someone gives some lakṣmī donation for Deity sevā or for book printing...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is sukṛti. Ajñāta-sukṛti, then jñāta-sukṛti, then śraddhā, then sādhū-saṅga, then guru-karan, then bhajan, anartha-nivṛtti, ruci, āsakti, bhāva-bhakti, prema-bhakti, sneha, māna, praṇaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva, mahābhāva, in this way, by gradation. First ajñāta-sukṛti, unknown, the energy spent for the Kṛṣṇa consciousness unknowingly. That will be the first foundation. Next, somewhat knowingly contribution may come for Kṛṣṇa consciousness. Then that will raise me to the plane of śraddhā when on the surface I shall search for the Kṛṣṇa conscious people and mix with them and help them and have association of them. And then next I shall find a Guru in Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And then I shall continue my bhajan under his guidance. And then the anartha will disappear and I shall get proper attraction, real, pure attraction for Kṛṣṇa consciousness. And gradually I shall go up. These are the lowest stages to be traced in the śāstra, in this way.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Our movement sells all over the world millions of books. Now sometimes people don't know what these books are.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And those that are purchasing they get some sukṛti.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: That is ajñāta-sukṛti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That money goes to help Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: And they take the book into their house.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. They may not read, their predecessors, their posteriors also may read and be benefited. Anyhow, the energy, if it's spent for the books that will help him. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: In Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, it is written that if you keep the śāstra in your house it is like having the Deity of Nārāyaṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: So even if they don't know the value of the book it is some special benefit to have it in their house.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It will have its influence. Divine ray, the divine ray it will emit, if we have eye to see. The mind may feel that there must be something holy here, otherwise why my heart feels some holy ideas. It may be like that, in a certain stage of consciousness.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Maybe not in this life but in some future life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon the case of individuality.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: But it's never in vain.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Never in vain.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Our preaching goal is that every man, every human being, he will eat prasādam and take a book. Even if he doesn't know what he's eating, and he doesn't know what, we want to give prasādam and a book to every human being.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All good. Stealthily you are entering his heart, to establish a temple of Kṛṣṇa there.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: We have now started businesses in America for selling prasādam. And every year millions of people are eating the prasādam in America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, some sukṛti.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: They don't know it's from the Hare Kṛṣṇa Movement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As much as the living pipe will be pure, so much purity will be transmitted into those that will take prasādam. Prasādam from mahā-bhāgavat, prasādam from madhyama-bhāgavat, prasādam from kaniṣṭha-bhāgavat, but it must do some good to them.

But there's the question of degree. Question of degree will be there.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Even if it's offered to the Deity it could be kaniṣṭha-bhāgavat offering.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We can imagine the varieties [?]

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Is it all right to ask one more question?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Earlier today I was told that you were speaking about the original position of the jīva within the brahmajyoti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is a very intricate question, very troublesome, and very intricate and puzzling, because this is marginal. What is margin? Neither water nor land, a fictitious demarcation, line of demarcation is so subtle. So jīva soul, the brahmaloka, the jyoti māyāloka is very subtle, and to discriminate, to pass discriminating comments, that judgement there, that is also very difficult and also very difficult to understand also, and to speak verifying it is a thing.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: In the brahmajyoti can the jīva go directly to higher position or must he first come to the mahat-tattva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is a complicated question. Not simply it could be answered. Backgrounds there must be prepared and then it can be understood and spoken. It will take some time to discuss on this point.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Some other morning we can come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes. Yes. As long as I am here you are all free to come me; at liberty to come to me. And what small help I can do for you before my death I won't refuse.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa says in Bhagavad-gītā that even a small amount of devotional service can save one from the greatest danger.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt. [nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt]

[“Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

That is the poem.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: So this ajñāta-sukṛti, can this counteract all sinful activity? Some little donation or taking book...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes. That will just begin; help me to begin my life.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: But is that sufficient?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: However small but it should be taken as the admission.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But does that qualify for trāyate mahato bhayāt?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It will take time to save you from mahato bhayāt, it will take time.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: First the beginning.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: But my question is this; that suppose there was no ajñāta, then for the sinful activities that jīva will have to take so many births in degraded species of life it will be a very long time before he gets another human body, very long time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In some cases a very, very long time.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Most cases now, because in the West everything is so degraded. So will the ajñāta speed up the coming of the next human body?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see; there are opposing tendencies also, towards divinity that is aparādha, that is very troublesome, otherwise that Vaiṣṇava aparādha. Otherwise other crimes may very easily be removed. Other kinds of offences may be very easily removed. But something like Vaiṣṇava aparādha, Dhāma aparādha, these things which have direct concern with the divinity, that is a little difficult thing. Jagāi Mādhāi they were great sinners but within a moment everything vanished. But there the remark is that they never committed Vaiṣṇava aparādha, so it was very easy to deliver them.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: They struck Nityānanda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah yes, Nityānanda. Will you take some prasādam?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, we'll take.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Our faith is that if we sell someone a book, then very, this is our faith, that if we can give some jīva a book then very soon he will get another human birth. Because Kṛṣṇa says, "Whatever service you have done it's permanent." So he got the book in this life, so he should be able to also get a book in his next life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be. Because he has got a little touch of the tendency, "That I have got a book I must read and I must see what is contained in that." That sort of tendency may take him in human birth again.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: We are selling books with that faith that this will save people from their karma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Another standpoint, another way of looking, outlook, that our master he's preaching Kṛṣṇa consciousness and we are helping him in one way or other. I may not sell the book but I may cook. I may brush the floor. But my contribution goes to help my master who is doing the preaching of spreading Kṛṣṇa consciousness. I shall get a bit of that. Just as in a big mill, a big factory, one man, the jaridar he also gets benefit. When the factory is gainer in that year the jaridar will also be benefited. Whatever duty it comes from one, adjusted from one point, from the head to the bottom. So whatever you do, if you are of that consciousness, that I am doing the service of my Gurudeva, then under him whatever will be necessary, I'm supplying water, I'm cooking, I'm doing this, that, gardening, everything will combine and produce some result and we'll get the remuneration adjusted according to our sincerity and capacity.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: But my concern is how to help the jīva become free from all his karma, sinful reactions? So I have been preaching...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa karmārpanam.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja:...that we sell books, and that will help free the jīva from his sinful reactions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It will depend; your progress will depend as much you are doing the duty consciously to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, Guru or Kṛṣṇa, Vaiṣṇava, the degree, the intensity of your earnestness to satisfy them; that will calculate your progress, or improvement; the degree of hankering, the earnestness, the thirst.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: But for the non-devotees, who have so much sinful reaction, so if we sell them books...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow, the criterion is the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa or kāṛṣṇa. According to that the benefit should be distributed. The distribution will be according to the satisfaction in any way. Sometimes supplying a glass of water we can achieve a great gain in time of need. So it depends upon the intensity of the earnestness with which we are going to satisfy our Lord. And accordingly, according to the degree of His satisfaction I will get the benefit.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So our Prabhupāda, he told us that this, when he would hear that there was a massive distribution of literatures, that that was the most pleasing, that that would give him life, and that that would please very much his Guru Mahārāja, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With this idea if you do the thing there you'll have great justification and you may take it in your heart that Guru Mahārāja is being satisfied by my, this discharge of such duty.

You are to see me again, if not within the meeting time, then afterwards. If you find no resolve within the meeting week then after that you may see.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jaya. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja ki jaya.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A.C. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja ki jaya.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He wants to give you Bhaktisiddhānta's garland.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A garland, he's come here for the first time, he should be given a garland, to honour Swāmī Mahārāja. Already I had some information about you that you do not like to get more honour from the disciples, to exalt honour from the disciples. You are against that system.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: I like to distribute books. To me that is the real service. If my disciples...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But if you want to recruit so many new lives then you are to work in this way also.

Devotee: Mahārāja, Prabhupāda's māla [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't see. Please accept Rāmeśvara Mahārāja.

Rāmeśvara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Bhaktivedānta Swāmī

Mahārāja ki jaya. Rameśvara Mahārāja ki jaya. Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja ki jaya. Kavicandra Prabhu ki jaya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja ki jaya.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.
So take some prasādam. I shall go to bed now.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the other day you were explaining to me about this verse eko bahu syama, that you said first understand what is the eko, like raja so many associates.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The potency is eternal. Nitya dhāma is eternal. The question of bahu syama, that is only in the case of this mundane world.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Brahmaloka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmaloka. And there bahu, the system, Kṛṣṇa means the raja, a system, Kṛṣṇa has so many paraphernalia, without, take out the sakhās, the gopīs, and no Kṛṣṇa. So Kṛṣṇa means with His group, eternally in pastimes, niyanta kriyata carita [?]

A dynamic, not static, the static, the equilibrium, one, that is only in Brahmaloka, so that is to be applied only for this world, not for the eternal Vaikuṇṭha world. Eko ham bahu syama. There already He's bahu.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, so that is my point that...

So in your Guru Mahārāja's, Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura Prabhupāda, his Brahma-saṁhitā, he says that, "There are innumerable jīvas, as spiritual particles emanating from the oversoul in the form of pencils of rays of effulgence." And he says, "They have no relation with the mundane world when they come to know themselves to be the eternal servants of the Supreme Lord. Then they are incorporated into the realm of Vaikuṇṭha."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the innate acquaintance of the equilibrium. What he says that they're in such stage, by microscopic sight it may be seen their innate paricar is like this. When they come to know that they're servant of Kṛṣṇa then try to go that side.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: How can they come to know that in the brahmajyoti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the brahmajyoti, that is by two ways it is possible. Very meagre sukṛti and more tendency of mukti takes them there, and that meagre sukṛti may assert in course of time. And another, that sukṛti gathered from lower world, by sādhū-saṅga, that may assert.

And another things by the special grant by the powerful devotees.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Kṛpa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛpa. They can also enter into that domain and do some help. By these two ways they may come from that equilibrium stage into the cosmos.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Were you saying that the powerful devotees can enter the domain of the brahmajyoti or the mahat-tattva? To bring them out, they can go in brahmajyoti and bring them out?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon their capacity, it depends on.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well then that means that some of them can.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sarvajña, some of them can, from non-differentiated area they can also find differentiation by microscopic vision.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We're way upstairs, with you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I know. But I thought that I heard his voice. So I need him for a moment. But it does not matter. I want a medicine for my heart...

...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, now, you said in understanding the eka that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, another example I shall insert. When the demon is killed by Hari, he attains brahmaloka, with complete withdrawal and perfect rest in equilibrium stage. But ordinary power cannot detect him there and to take out. Special power, by some ordinance he may be taken out, in the case of Jagāi Mādhāi. In all the cases that is conditional. When Hiranyakaśipu was killed by Nṛsimhadeva he at once went to that brahmajyoti; general law, the one who is killed by Hari, he'll at once come to brahmajyoti. But, some by-law was there, he had to come down again as Rāvaṇa and Kumbhakarna, those Jaya Vijaya, went there, and after some time, from that equilibrium stage he had to come. So in no-man's-land, buffer state, there also some powerful agency can interfere, in the buffer state, no-man's-land; marginal.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So to go either way...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So again they retire to that, again Śiśupāla and Dantavakra, because there was conditions, three births, so they're going, entering there for some time, they're again coming. So ostentatiously it is equilibrium but to final vision there is, everything is differentiative character there maybe. Only we can harmonise different statements in this way. What is hazy to me, that is clear to another, higher sight. So something like that. Again, Jagāi Mādhāi we are told, that the same, Śiśupāla Dantavakra, Rāvaṇa Kumbhakarna, they again came to help Mahāprabhu's līlā, from the same brahmaloka.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jagāi Mādhāi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jagāi Mādhāi. So in this way, in ordinarily what is unapproachable is approachable by the experts.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So then, now jīva śakti is coming from brahmajyoti. As conditioned souls, nitya-baddha...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmajyoti is not independent in itself, an independent entity. It is the marginal position of the two potencies, in-carrying and out-carrying. That is said, the consciousness and unconsciousness, the meeting point. Just like dawn, just like evening, it is something, the meeting position of day and night, something like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Twilight.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Twilight; yes. So brahmajyoti means that, it is not an independent state, it depends on sun, depends on Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. So Kṛṣṇa, what I wanted to know was, considering the eko, Kṛṣṇa; that He has His associates, are there some jīvas who were never in the brahmaloka position?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see; the nature of too much discussion that may oppose the faith. Ultimately everything is adhokṣaja. Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa; that is adhokṣaja. We must have some respectable, to the, and it is approachable only through faith, śraddhā, not by intellectual reason or argument. Argument is necessary to help the intellectual people to certain extent. But if we want that everything must come within my fist it is a drawback for the devotee. So as much as possible we shall try to understand and to explain to others. But at the same time we maintain on the subconscious region that everything is backed by Kṛṣṇa's sweet will, and none can be measured.

mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, [jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitah]

["In an unmanifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.4]

"I am everywhere. I am nowhere. Everything within Me. Nothing is in Me. Find what is My position if you can through your intellect Arjuna."

So that warning we must always keep on our brain. Then we shall go to analyse, analyse, analyse. Ultimately we must think unknown and unknowable, and everything is in His hand. He's everywhere, He's nowhere. Everything in Him and nothing is in Him. That means it is acintya. Mahāprabhu says bhedābheda acintya, it is not within the fist of anyone else. It is the sweet will of Kṛṣṇa. That has been, we are warned, our brain has been warned in such way. We shall try to discuss but we may not too much, too much of intellectualism, that will hamper our faith, may disturb our faith. It may be basis; in the madhyama adbhikāra it is necessary. And so Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says madhyama adbhikāra is a dangerous one, and by intellectualism, God forbids, we may come to atheism also, from madhyama adbhikāra. A kaniṣṭha adbhikārī if he comes in contact with an uttama adbhikārī he can clearly pass away the space of madhyama adbhikāra. But madhyama adbhikāra is a dangerous zone. It is necessary also to consolidate our position.

siddhānta baliyā citte nā kara alasa, ihā haite kṛṣṇa lāge sudṛḍha mānasa

Consolidate our faith to certain extent. But at the same time we must know that it should pass to the faith, it should help the faith, it should strengthen the faith, śraddhā. Śraddhā can go and can approach infinite. Intellect can never approach infinite, only śraddhā. And how much śraddhā we can hope to have? A bit: a bit of śraddhā. Nothing is impossible in the infinite area. Our basis of experience; how much śraddhā we can send to fetch our object? So when we’re discussing things, only to understand the śrauta siddhānta. The positive things that are given to us, we may try our best to use our experience to know the wholesome character of it. But too much of this thing, that will disturb our faith. The possibility is there. Always we must keep it in the background of our discussion that His ways are unknown and unknowable. I cannot bring Him within our fist. It has got such characteristic. So intellect may not use that characteristic of Kṛṣṇa which śraddhā may have, the everything. Kṛṣṇa's jurisdiction is not encroached, should not be encroached. His sweet will is there. That may not be pushed, that may not be cornered, the Kṛṣṇa's sweet will. His independence may not be cornered, pushed to be in a corner. Not that way the intellect should be given indulgence. He's all in all. He can make and mar. He can – this will help bhakti, śraddhā, faith. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So honest inquiry, praśna.

[tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

[“You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśna is allowed, paripraśna. Praśna in some limited circle, only to help the faith. It means the conclusion must come to help the faith, that sort of, only to help corroborate the faith, the questions should be put. With that caution we shall try to know anything and everything, but we should know that we are limited. We are limited and we are going to tackle unlimited. This idea we must not forget in any stage of our discussion.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, Mahārāja, Bhagavān Goswāmī, he wanted me to ask you a question on behalf of the GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhagavān means the Ācārya of the southern Europe?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. So on behalf of the GBC, what they would like to know, “Sometimes men are coming to this movement, to the mission, and they’re taking Hari Nāma dīkṣā, mantra dīkṣā, and sannyāsa initiation also; sometimes they leave.” So when a brāhmaṇa initiated disciple he may come back, they want to know, “Should there be some time where he should be without the sacred thread and again take the mantra dīkṣā? Because we saw that in a case of one sannyāsī who left...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who goes away and then again comes back.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right. What should be the status when coming back? Devotee: Should they again be given the sacred thread and daṇḍa immediately or... Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There’s brāhmaṇas and there’s sannyāsīs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends upon the sincerity and the length of time etc, considered in different cases may be different. Suppose for a day or two in a particular position he suddenly did it, but at once he came to know and has come. And for the sake of the credit of the propaganda it may be hidden. But when a long time and more apathetic practices, then of course he should be detained for some time. Do you follow?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is favourable and unfavourable for the pracār, the propaganda work, it should be considered in the light of that. If very meagre that may be forgiven. May not be out in the public, may not be. Because there will be discredit in the institution, those that are coming and going, so that may be neglected, very meagre things. And who are with a long time and serious case, some sort of penances should be imposed there, and then they may be again purified and taken in.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, since your explanation about the jīva śakti in brahmaloka I have studied this and it has become I think clear to me, the explanation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very good.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And I found everything that you say I find also in my Guru Mahārāja's books. So I think you know his books better than I do.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is?

Devotee: He thinks that you know Prabhupāda's books better than he does.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, that you cannot see, I think that is a deception, because certainly you're seeing very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So he said...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a healthy sign. In that case you will be able to attend his voice through me, his advices through me, if you have that attitude. It will help you meet him through me. That sort of tendency is laudable.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So I found this one sentence in his translation and commentary on the Īśopaniṣad, in the verse [16] that ends yo 'sāv asau puruṣaḥ so 'ham asmi. So here he says that, “The all-pervading feature of the Lord - which exists in all circumstances...

[pūṣann ekarṣe yama sūrya prājāpatya, vyūha raśmīn samūha

tejo yat te rūpaṁ kalyāṇa-tamaṁ, tat te paśyāmi] yo 'sāv asau puruṣaḥ so 'ham asmi

[“O my Lord, O primeval philosopher, maintainer of the universe, O regulating principle, destination of the pure devotees, well-wisher of the progenitors of mankind, please remove the effulgence of Your transcendental rays so that I can see Your form of bliss. You are the eternal Supreme Personality of Godhead, like unto the sun, as am I.”] [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 16]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhakti Caru; this sentence.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: “This all-pervading feature of the Lord – which exists in all circumstances of waking and sleeping, and also in potential states and from which the jīva śakti (living force) is generated as both the conditioned and the liberated souls – is known as Brahman. [?]”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: source, jīva śakti source.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. And he says of the baddha jīvas, the conditioned jīvas, and the liberated jīvas. So you explained that the jīva in the brahmajyoti he can choose to go into the world of dedication or the world of exploitation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So then you explained how he’s coming into the world of exploitation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So we have two questions. One question is that you said he is – there is no individual consciousness in Brahmaloka, but then the individual consciousness begins to manifest.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After mahat-tattva. In general, consciousness, general ahaṅkāra, begins from brahmajyoti when it is transformed into mahat-tattva. And then after mahat-tattva the individual ahaṅkāra gradually springs up.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, in Bhagavad-gītā [7.27] Kṛṣṇa says, icchā-dvesa samutthena, dvandva-mohena bhārata. So this duality of desire and hatred, how can we hate Kṛṣṇa if we have no experience of Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not about Kṛṣṇa – everything, to anything, the hatred, the inviting and the dismissing temperament, that brings us to this world, to the world of exploitation.

icchā-dvesa samutthena, dvandva-mohena bhārata sarva-bhūtāni saṁmohaṁ, sarge yānti parantapa

[“O Arjuna, chastiser of the enemy, from the very beginning of the universal creation, all forms of life are overwhelmed by ignorance born of duality based on happiness and unhappiness, which has its origin in desire and abhorrence of sensual predilection.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 7.27]

That is the two principles in crude form awaken in the jīva. The hatred, the sympathy and apathy, sympathy and apathy, two sprouts in the beginning and then gradually they come down to mingle with the mundane world . Hare Kṛṣṇa. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes; in a crude form.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a crude form sympathy and apathy, just as when a sprout springs up with two leaves, first two leaves. Is it not? Sympathy and apathy, and that gradually helps us to dive deep into this mundane world. And then when retiring again from the world of exploitation...

*brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, na śocati na kāṅkṣati samaḥ sarveṣu
bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām*

[“The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54]

...pierce through Brahmaloḥka and goes towards Vaikuṇṭha. Brahma-bhūtaḥ, again they come to their former position of Brahman, and he already gathered some sort of tendency, sukṛti of the Vaikuṇṭha, so this time he does not stop there, but passes through that stage towards Vaikuṇṭha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, you said that the jīva śakti is coming, is being generated from brahmajyoti. Some are coming into the world of exploitation, some to the world of dedication. How does that begin?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because, that should be attributed to his innate tendency, or innate nature, which is endowed with free will, free choice. So,

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāni, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

[“Due to their tendency towards ignorance since immeasurable time, the living beings act, considering themselves the doers or inaugurators of action. The Supreme Lord does not generate their misconception of considering themselves doers, nor does He generate their actions or their attachment to the fruits of those actions.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 5.14]

To substantiate that line in Bhagavad-gītā, he's responsible for his entering into the land of exploitation; the responsibility is with the jīva. How? Whenever the first awakening of freedom, free will, from the non-specified position, all jīvas jumbled together, when the differentiative character is growing, only coming with free choice. And by free choice they're going this side or that side. Jīva otherwise the Lord will be responsible for their distressed condition. But, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ.

na kartṛtvaṁ na karmāni, lokasya sṛjati prabhuḥ (the Lord)

na karma-phala-saṁyogam, svabhāvas tu pravartate

His innate nature is responsible for that. So the first awakening, the awakening of the free will and the free choice, by chance or something like that. Free means they can go this side or that side, and as the result we see some came this side and some went that side. So free, because consciousness means endowed with freedom. Small, so vulnerable consciousness, freedom, anu, anu prita yukta, because it is very tiny, his free will also not perfect, imperfect. So some, their free choice, then some we see the result of their free choice when we reckon that some came this side, some going that side. It is unintelligible. And it should be, the responsibility with the free, and freedom is given to him.

One of the political leaders, Śyāmasundara Cakravartī, he asked Prabhupāda: “Why such freedom was granted by the Lord to the jīva, when he’s vulnerable?”

Prabhupāda told: “You are fighting for freedom. You are freedom fighters; you know the value of freedom. So if devoid of freedom, then that is matter, so that is nothing.”

Just as Gandhi told to the British authorities, “We want freedom to do right or wrong.” “You are not fit to have self-government. When you’ll be fit, we shall give it to you.” But lastly he told that, “We want to do wrong, to commit wrong, freedom.”

So freedom is not guaranteed with only right way. Freedom, the alternative is there, right and wrong. So freedom has got its intrinsic nature and valuation in that position, freedom. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

...question of all questions. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Śiva tattva, this Brahmaloaka, several questions which is very difficult to understand, bhedābheda.

...

Nitāi.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Rāmeśvara Mahārāja had a question that, then can the jīva go towards Goloka or only Vaikuṇṭha, when he chooses the land of dedication? Because in Bṛhat...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will depend upon his innate nature. Some are fated to Vaikuṇṭha, and some to Goloka, and also in different rasa. There is constitutional position. They will have their goal there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And what about Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Guru, it is told so, that Guru is not a fixed thing. It may take any shape. In the sākhya rasa, mādhurya rasa, vātsalya rasa, gradually with the awakening of the mentality of the disciple, his conception of Guru he will see that it is changing. Apparently, he roughly in his first sight the rough estimation about Guru, and when he develops, his internal position develops; accordingly he sees a change in his Guru. So Guru is,

ācāryam mām vijānīyān, [nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guru]

["One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.46]

A very extensive idea is given there, and also gradually the awakening of the soul's inner function will see that Kṛṣṇa is everywhere but He's taking a particular shape of the particular potency to help him gradually and He'll fix him somewhere else.

A star fixed, with John, when Christ was born the star moving, and then just over the sky where Christ was born the star does not move. Before that the star is moving.

So something like that, Guru will be fixed there, at that position. And so many conceptions of Guru, Guru, Guru's Guru, in this way there will be hierarchy, mañjarī, sakhī, in mādhurya rasa, in vātsalya rasa also.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In śanta rasa also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, śanta rasa group, there are groups, sands, then the creepers, then shrubs, then Yamunā, then Govardhana, of different types there. And they're all under the administration of Vṛnda Devī. The nature, even the birds, insects,

Yat kinca tina guna api kota kama [?] The lowest one, that is in the Kṛṣṇaloka. yat kinca tina guna ki kota mokama [?]

gosthe samasthe hita sadvanam mayam [?]

mukundam daitam lila nikulam phalam [?]

They have got all their contributions, special contributions to the pastimes of the Lord, respective contribution they have got, each, to support the pastimes, the līlā.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So then, in Bhagavad-gītā when Kṛṣṇa says, “That having once gone to My abode you never return here,” even though the jīva has his marginal position always, that independence, they never choose to exercise that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If he can catch that in-carrying current then he’ll have no apprehension of coming back. The current helps him, the Yogamāyā current, all inner current, centre-carrying current is passing around him and helping him, in-carrying current; so no possibility of coming back.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So like you said there’s the right to do wrong, there’s the freedom to do wrong, but then no-one is doing wrong.

Devotee: The internal potency, in the spiritual sky, everyone has the freedom also to do wrong but they do not do anything wrong. They do not mis utilise their freedom.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the possibility, perhaps that is so meagre that in actual position that does not matter. The possibility of the wrongness is there, but it is like shadow, or it is everything of this is represented but like a fixed material substance without any freedom. [?]

What is undesirable that is also to be found from there, but it is like a shadow, lifeless thing. So the māyā is also represented there, but in a shadowy position without active function, passively. It is present there in passive nature, not active. Just as a spiritual potency is passive here in this māyā, so this is represented there in a passive way.

Devotee: Māyā means mahā-māyā? Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahā-māyā? Devotee: Also presented spiritually.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As possibility, alternative background, in this way, and not any active part. The nature of līlā requires this.

Devotee: Mahārāja, Adridan Prabhu had a question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adridan Prabhu, for the first time he comes here?

Devotee: No, this is the second time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Second time.

...

Devotee: Mahārāja, you were saying that the living entity who does tapasya and attains the brahmajyoti and after attaining the brahmajyoti he's already realised the pains of the material world, so why does he make the choice to come back rather than go straight to Vaikuṇṭha from there?

Devotee: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's a verse, āruhya kṛcchreṇa.

Devotee: Āruhya kṛcchreṇa param̐ padaṁ tataḥ.

[ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ āruhya kṛcchreṇa param̐ padaṁ tataḥ, patanty adho 'nāḍṛta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ]

["O lotus-eyed Lord, although non-devotees who accept severe austerities and penances to achieve the highest position may think themselves liberated, their intelligence is impure. Although they may rise to the level of impersonal Brahman realisation, they fall down from their position of imagined superiority because they neglect to worship Your lotus feet."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Param̐ pada means, up to Brahmaloḥka.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tvayi asta-bhāvād, because his fate is doomed that he cannot accept the possibility of the existence of the land of dedication, so no other alternative. And that is not only a negative phase, that is a positive phase; that is crime. As soon as he thinks, I'm told by a Vaiṣṇava, wherever he attains that, 'I am the absolute, I hold the absolute position,' then he's a criminal and hurled down for that, from there. That occupies the position of the supreme, though it is not very clear. But the throne of the king, to be disloyal, that is a great crime. Approaches, in the egoism, in his egoism, 'I am the supreme most,' thereby immediately a criminal summons comes to him; "You have such audacity so you are not eligible for Brahmaloḥa the indifference, this is the land for indifference. Go down." It is corroborated from Mahāprabhu's talk with Rāmānanda, 'sthāvara-deha, deva-deha yaiche avasthiti.'

'mukti, bhukti vāñche yei, kāhān duḥhāra gati?' 'sthāvara-deha, deva-deha yaiche avasthiti'

[“And what is the destination of those who desire liberation and those who desire sense gratification?” Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu asked. Rāmānanda Rāya replied, “Those who attempt to merge into the existence of the Supreme Lord will have to accept a body like that of a tree. And those who are overly inclined toward sense gratification will attain the bodies of demigods.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.257]

It means, who wants enjoyment and works accordingly, they get deva-deha, the body of enjoyment in the subtle world. And mukti, who aspires after mukti, which means emancipation, given identification sāyujya-mukti, he has to go to the sthāvara, the body of Himalayas or something like that, sthāvara-deha. He wants susukti, oneness. But from the Vaiṣṇava law, according to Vaiṣṇava law this is a very great, conspiracy, and very bad tendency to occupy the throne of the Absolute. So the nature does not tolerate this idea, this despair, idea, so he's thrown down. Though samādhi, minimum consciousness he may have. He may be a hill, mountain, or a big tree, or something like that. He may not like to participate into any specified differentiated world. So go and sleep for long time.

When the serious crime is committed then we are put in a cell, disconnected by any persons, solitary cell, so punishment, solitary cell, go and sleep, disconnected with the living, moving world. That is the punishment for those that seek mukti and of that type that “I am so ham, I am He.” That is a crime, so ham. You are so little this is a camouflage, blaspheme. You see that you are so limited, so conditioned, and you say, so ham. Disloyalty: and a sort of punishment.

‘mukti, bhukti vāñche yei, kāhāñ duñhāra gati?’ ‘sthāvara-deha, deva-deha yaiche avasthiti’

That was the conclusion Rāmānanda answered to Mahāprabhu. The tendency for liberation; that is also of different kinds, so a particular kind is punished in such a way. Ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas, tvayi asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ. [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32] In this calculation there is error, aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ, his calculation is wrong. So he calculates that in this way I capture that country, my enemy, but somewhere some defect in the calculation, programme, so formally a crashing defeat he has to undergo. Something like that. Nitāi Caitanya. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So then is it true that at this moment souls may be coming from the brahmajyoti into this world?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is true. It is true. Always this may, it is always happening, continuing. Some passing away and some again entering here, like a river, water passing and water coming: current.

Devotee: So Mahārāja, at the kalpantu [?] when all the living entities are withdrawn, then where are they situated? Then they're in susukti...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: General slumber.

Devotee: General slumber. Now mahā-pralaya, after the mahā-pralaya, all the living entities are withdrawn from mahat-tattva, and they're in susukti...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only prakṛti and Brahman, and no differentiated character in prakṛti. All in germinal form and in prakṛti; it is resolved in prakṛti.

Devotee: Now those living entities, or jīvātmās, do they go back to brahmajyoti or...

Devotee: Mahā Viṣṇu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Within the area that is Virajā. The representative character of prakṛti is like water, it is Virajā, it is called Virajā – prakṛti. They're in Virajā. And just as the Buddhists, their nirvana is in Virajā. They do not recognise Brahman. The eternity of Brahman, eternity of consciousness they do not recognise, within their programme.

So their last reach is in Virajā, last stage, the primitive stage of prakṛti, Virajā, and then Brahmaloḥa, the jyoti. Prakṛti represented by water and consciousness represented by light, jyoti.

Devotee: Now, Mahārāja, māyā's coverings, the seven layers of covering of māyā, now what is the relationship between those coverings of māyā and Virajā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Virajā, they're all included in Virajā, but sub-division you may take it.

Devotee: Now, what are the seven coverings Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That I do not recall. You will convene that, but we find in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, you are passing through prakṛti, there are also seven seats, layers. We are to pass through Virajā. And Bhumi, these are all products of prakṛti.

Devotee: Now, Bhu Devī, the layer of Bhu Devī, the first layer, the deciding...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That may be kept there in subtle form.

Devotee: And she's worshipping Lord Viṣṇu as Varāhadeva. In next layer she's worshipping Kūrmadeva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Devotee: [?] Vāsudeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha_[]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aniruddha, Pradyumna, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Vāsudeva; maybe in that way.

Devotee: These layers of māyā is also a part of Virajā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Part of the?

Devotee: The coverings of māyā; the seven coverings of māyā is a part of Virajā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, part of Virajā.

Devotee: Now, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja was asking that, “Do not the living entities merge in the body of Mahā-Viṣṇu at the end of mahā-pralaya?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not merging, also merging, because they have got their anga-jyoti, and some may form according to that anga-jyoti the lustre of a particular stage of Viṣṇu. It is possible. Mahā-Viṣṇu and Sadāśiva, almost one and same; they are fated to stay there.

Devotee: So now we have to understand that Virajā is also a part of Mahā-Viṣṇu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Virajā, not part of Mahā-Viṣṇu.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahā-Viṣṇu is lying in Virajā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Kāraṇārṇava, He's there, Kāraṇārṇava, Mahā-Viṣṇu. And what do you say?

Devotee: Virajā is also a part of Mahā-Viṣṇu, that's what I said, but actually what I meant is that Virajā is coming out of Mahā-Viṣṇu, the sweat of Mahā-Viṣṇu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mahā-Viṣṇu. Of course if we push on to analyse more, then we may see like that. The Virajā prakṛti is inseparable, of jyoti, Viṣṇu, Mahā-Viṣṇu, of Sadāśiva, a part. A part of Him means inseparable connected, the śakti-śaktimān, the owner and the potency, Puruṣa prakṛti. We can think like that.

Devotee: Now this reminds me of another thing that you told us before Mahārāja, that once you were explaining the different living entity's relationship with Kṛṣṇa is due to his origin being some associate of Kṛṣṇa. Like some living entities, those who are in sākhya-rasa, they're the effulgence; they're coming from the bodily effulgence of Subal.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. And they will go there. That is also stated. Jyotika, Anga-jyotika, they are, it is mentioned, within the halo, within the group, within the halo. Some groups are personal, and some satellites, different satellites. Upagraha, graha upagraha; some centre and so many graha, and one graha may have upagraha. In this way they're serving their group, and also in their anga-jyoti there are also so many. It is also. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Bhagavān Dāsa Goswāmī, the Chairman of the GBC, he wanted that we ask you one question, on behalf of the GBC members.

That Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja, he has established one temple in his New Vṛndāvana. He has many temples there. He has one temple there; it is called Prabhupāda's Palace. Some people call it the Taj Mahal of the west. So in that temple there is a Prabhupāda Mūrti, only, no other Deity but there's the Prabhupāda Mūrti on the altar, a replica, duplicate, identical. Now recently they have begun to worship Prabhupāda in the aspect of a king, raja, like a king. So they're putting crowns on his head and some mukut, crowns, and some jewellery, jewels, mālās of jewels around his neck, and there's plans for him to be holding a sceptre, raja daṇḍa. So some devotees they like this, to worship Prabhupāda in that way. Other devotees are feeling some – differences.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anything written there?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don't understand, written?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any writing to guide, to understand this sort of raja daṇḍa, what does it mean?

Devotee: Any explanation?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don't know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don't know.

Devotee: Outside it says, "This is the Palace of His Divine Grace...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Oh, of the palace; yes. I thought he meant of Prabhupāda why he's wearing a crown or why he's holding a sceptre.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [About sixty five seconds of Bengali (?) spoken] No picture set in the walls there?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There are pictures on the ceilings. Not on the altar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: single statue?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Single statue.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: standing or...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sitting; like on vyāsāsana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vyāsāsana, with raja daṇḍa. Some sort of explanatory passages should be; that sort of script should be kept there to guide the people, “That he came to rule the religious world and established the kingdom of love in the religious world above all.” This sort of guiding script should be there. Otherwise I don’t see any harm. That he’s a king, in what plane, which plane?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

“To attract people in this royal form, style he presented. He came and ruled, established a centre here, and from here he ruled the world of religion, and established that divine love that is the highest. He’s the king of the Ācārya who established so spaciouly, broadly, widely, established an empire of the divine love.” So from that vision, “As an emperor he came to conquer, veni vidi vici, [“I came, I saw, I conquered” - Julius Caesar] he came to conquer America and established here the first centre, and from there the whole world was conquered.” This idea, like a king; “Like a king he conquered the world, and his first seat it began from America, and he gave a dignified position to the world of love divine.”

Devotee: That place is known as Nava-Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nava-Vṛndāvana. Nava-Vṛndāvana: from Nava-Vṛndāvana. Nava-Vṛndāvana. Hare Kṛṣṇa. His activity; that figure and activity, some steps of explanation should be given to help the public to understand his situation.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, what about in general, because, I’ll explain this, in every one of our temples we also have a vyāsāsana and a similar Mūrti of Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don’t think that it is complete, but the idea it started here, and it will be perhaps modified. The king does not exist by himself. He has his general he has got his Guru, his following. They also may be in the paraphernalia may be, established there to help that. But a singular figure, solitary figure has daṇḍa, raja means his company. We are always worshippers of the Lord with company. That is the fashion, the etiquette of the Gauḍīya saṁpradāya, but not ekala vasudeva. First ekala vasudeva in the beginning of theism, then comes Lakṣmī Nārāyaṇa, then gradually developing in rasa, Rāma, Sītā, Dvārakeśa, then Svayaṁ-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa. But ekala vasudeva in the first conception, primitive conception, the paraphernalia...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...that also should be added to that; in my opinion.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In some picture form.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In picture, anyhow. People at large should be guided in such a way that, “He came and he conquered. He conquered the jīva souls and converted them into the general Goloka life, that, with the help of this and that.” Some guiding writings should be there and also some helping agents. And also it is desirable that there should be the pictures, at least pictures of his Guru, Gurudeva, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Prabhupāda, etc. He’s not one, not single; in a group. But he’s holding the main figure. And the Guru’s must also be in some respectable position there. That is my opinion.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Pictures are there. In the Nath Mandir, there are big pictures of Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh! At least some sort of account should be put in black and white. “He’s so and so and so, and he was a king, his attitude like a king to conquer this world of – this gorgeous America, to take it towards the loving domain of Kṛṣṇa.” Some such guidance should be there to guide the people. “He’s so and so.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is asking, “Now, in all of our temples we have Prabhupāda’s deity, Prabhupāda’s life size mūrti. And now, what should be the general mood of worshipping Prabhupāda?”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The others they may also want to begin to put the crowns and the jewellery also. Or should this be exclusive?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is, as regards my opinion, I don’t like it in all the āśramas. In a particular case in America it may be shown like that. But there are other Ācāryas, and deviation from that line that will be crossing the lineage given by our revered predecessors. We should not cross that line. But in a particular case the account of his activity, that was depicted there, that may be allowed; but in every temple to represent him as a kingly person; that I don’t like. It should be in order of the Ācārya paramparā. That will be respectable. This is my opinion.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. So that means that this special case becomes like a memorial. It’s not the temple in the standard sense.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just like a memorial.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: With activities and explanations.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “And he came and conquered and transformed them into devotees from the military and vaiśya, from the business, the trading and military America, he established a religious kingdom here.” Something like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: One of the GBC’s question is that our Prabhupāda used to caution us not to change anything, and not to introduce anything.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Not to introduce anything new. Prabhupāda always wanted that we continue with the traditional path.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is there and he came to express them here. That will be the general idea of every, in the process of our worship, our temple, in the form of worship. But in a particular place, Nava-Vṛndāvana established by him, he’s represented as a king, Vṛndāvana founded by a king, with some explanation it may be retained, that form. Why in such a kingly form, royal form, he’s represented here? With some explanation of that it may be.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Once, some of his disciples, Prabhupāda’s disciples said to him when he was dressing, they were observing him dressing himself, his clothes; and one of his disciples said, “Śrīla Prabhupāda you look like a king.”

And he looked up and he said, “I’m much more than that.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Prabhupāda, when he was dressing him that...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No. Prabhupāda was putting on his clothes, putting on his dhoti and kurta, Prabhupāda himself was putting on his clothes, but he was very majestic in his way, so some of his disciples commented...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gorgeously wanted to dress him gorgeously?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No. The way Prabhupāda was dressing himself...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: His manner.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [About twenty seconds spoken in Bengali [?]]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [About fifteen seconds spoken in Bengali [?]]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja is saying that to dress him up like a king is like lowering his position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To come in a lower position.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja Yes. That is what some disciples will feel by this.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] In a Sanskrit epic, drama perhaps, we find that Candragupta has gone to visit Cāṇakya, his Guru. And there the Cāṇakya is sitting on an ordinary public mat. And just on his head there is [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Umbrella?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not umbrella [?] Where so many cow dung made fuels deposited there, on the head of Cāṇakya. And Candragupta with his crown and that diamond dress he fell flat on the feet of Cāṇakya. And the same time the _____ says, Aho pasya rajadi raja mantena vaibharam [?]

“Oh, you see what is the majesty, opulence of the minister of the emperor of India, he does not care for a farthing.” And he addresses Candragupta, ‘O vishala,’ not king. Vishala means Candragupta’s birth came from a maidservant, so he used to, that is in Sanskrit they're known as vishala, so he used to address as vishala Candragupta. So spirited man was Cāṇakya and indifferent, without caring for a farthing from the empire, but he had such intelligence and political brain that Candragupta had to go his feet. But the man is so poorly, living such a life of the poorest of the poor, but he was such dignity, mental dignity.

So Swāmī Mahārāja told, "I am more than that. That is, I'm the Guru of the king."

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And Prabhupāda used to give the example of Cāṇakya as the ideal brāhmaṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Without caring for the kṣatriya, independent of kṣatriya valour.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Although he was the Prime Minister of Candragupta but he used to live in a hut. And he used to survive, he never used to take any money...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And everything dependent on his intelligence, the whole thing. And Candragupta continued war against Alexander, and repulsed Alexander [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. And also it is a little different, no charm, no word of the devotion. What touch of devotion is there? And there will be another anomaly here, that in Vṛndāvana who is the king? The king in Vṛndāvana, kingly style is in Mathurā, aiśvarya pālaka, but Vṛndāvana is this this ordinary plain living, a place of plain living, simple living. There the gorgeous thing will be little improper from the standpoint of rasa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

In the talk of Svarūpa Dāmodara and Śrīvāsa in Purī you'll find Herā-pañcamī; the Svarūpa Dāmodara when giving impression to Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita.

Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita he praised about the opulent majesty of Lakṣmī Devī. "And what your gopīs, they're only this creepers and flowers from the jungle, what is their property, their majesty? And my Lakṣmī Devī she has got so much dignity. And your gopī has got no dignified acquaintances."

Then Svarūpa Dāmodara went on to speak. "The kalpa-taru, kāmadhenu, who are in possession of such, easily can produce any moment, but they hate."

And Swāmī Mahārāja told that, "I'm superior to that kingly garment. I'm more than that." So Vṛndāvana...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And you told us that he gave a hint in his poem on the Atlantic about the sākhya rasa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sākhya rasa; yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So whether this is some kind of ābhāsa?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Rasābhāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rasābhāsa.

I'm trying to find out means how I can support. My tendency is towards that. One thing is done there with so much earnestness, and how it can be defended. With that spirit I'm thinking. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Vṛndāvana. Nava-Vṛndāvana. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[About one minute conversation with Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja in Bengali
[?]]

Nava-Vṛndāvana was founded in Dvārakā, but there also the majestic colour was eliminated.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We also have, the temple where I'm residing in Los Angeles is called New-Dvārakā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja told me, "New Delhi, Newcastle, if that can be, why not New-Vṛndāvana? I have started New-Vṛndāvana."

Anyhow they have to come across such expressions and search after the meaning. What are they? Why they are here? So some clue.

[About two minutes fifteen seconds in Bengali [?]]

...and that sweet recollection we do not want to part with totally. That was the cause. And the queens also felt that in their heart that, “Kṛṣṇa is always absent in Dvārakā.” Real Kṛṣṇa, they could not meet. They felt like that. “He’s somewhere else, indifferent.” Dealing in every possible way with them, but they felt that, “This is all a mechanical thing.” Real Kṛṣṇa was in Vṛndāvana, He could not be accommodated in Dvārakā. That was the complaint, who wanted to mix with Kṛṣṇa most intimately, their remark is like this, “That we could not find real Kṛṣṇa, real man within Him, always an artificial person.” That was the Kṛṣṇa in Dvārakā.

So whether Swāmī Mahārāja will be in that royal dress in royal Swāmī Mahārāja, if he’s so, “These ignorant children, these innocent children, they’re dressing me like that. What can I do?” He will allow him. With something like that spirit he’ll accept.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, I think so.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course it will help in one way that he came and conquered America. This insinuation, this sort of encouraging and useful impression will be spread. A king, he worked here as a ruler, as if, converted, established his kingdom here in America. Not in the political sense but in the highest spiritual sense he established his kingdom here in America, and from here throughout the world. A partial representation of his conquering character, wonderful conquering character. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The mission is for preaching in the western countries, the mission, Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, the mission's for the English speaking countries.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. What about that?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yesterday when we were coming here in the car, Harikeśa Mahārāja he was trying to remember, once Prabhupāda told him about Tulasī Mahārāṇī, how Tulasī Devī and the pastimes between Tulasī Devī and Śālāgrāma-śilā. So I told him the story as far as I knew, that Jalandarāśura, in order to kill Jalandarāśura, Nārāyaṇa took his form, and then Tulasī Devī cursed Nārāyaṇa, “That You will become stone.” And Nārāyaṇa told then, “Ok.

You will become a tree, and without your leaf My worship will not be complete.” Now where is this found Mahārāja, this is mentioned in which Purāṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't know. Tulasī. You will try to find it in Viśva-Kośa or Sarva-kalpadruma, the place you may find in there, reference of Tulasī. I think it should be put there.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Now is it that Vṛndā Devī became Tulasī Mahārāṇī? Vṛndā and Tulasī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Similar.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Similar. Who was the wife of Jalandarāśura? Tulasī or...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tulasī.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Tulasī. Not Vṛndā. Vṛndā Devī to Vṛndāvana. Now this pastime, where did it take place? Did it take place in the spiritual sky or in this Bhumandala ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was in Bhauma, in the subtle Bhauma world.

Devotee: As in higher planetary system.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Deva and danava, where deva and āśura, both is accommodated. Bhauma and also they've got astral body and they live and move in that way [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Sometimes in gross body, sometimes in subtle body they can live [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, What's the difference between Tulasī Devī and Vṛndā Devī? You said they're similar, but that means they're not same.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tulasī, Vṛndā Devī is comprehensive, Tulasī a partial representation. Vṛndā Devī she leads, to help the līlā, she leads the whole Vṛndāvana; that is the trees, the season, the birds, the monkeys, all under her control. From the background she helps all these things to help the līlā of Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And who's Bhakti Devī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti Devī, the personality in devotion at large, Bhakti Devī. Bhakti Devī may be Yogamāyā in one sense, one aspect, covering the whole Goloka and Vaikuṇṭha. Yogamāyā, the in-carrying current towards the centre: that is Bhakti Devī. Dedication, bhakti means dedication, Bhakti Devī, Yogamāyā. And if we want to have, to conceive His highest personality then we shall have to go to Rādhārāṇī, combines all rasa and the highest degree of bhakti sevā, prema sevā, as emanating from Her, everything. Bhakti Devī.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It is said Mahārāja that Bhakti Devī has two sons, they're karma and jñāna.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is in the lower conception, the lower conception of Purāṇic stories, karma and jñāna. Bhaktim karmani karma yoga jñāna [?]

That is we find in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, in that case Bhakti Devī, the dedication is the first principle which covers and sustains the whole portion of creation; not only creation, existence. And karma, yoga, jñāna, these are in the outskirts in the opposite party. These, unconditioned and conditioned, and within conditioned there is karma, jñāna and yoga; they're within that area. And from śuddha bhakti the land of bhakti proper, and in the shadow, in the vyatireka, indirect, background, there is karma, yoga, jñāna. So they're dependent.

They're son of Bhakti Devī. In the broadest sense it may be thought they're dependent on, they may not have any absolute existence, only dependent but reckoned in the indirect, vyatireka, not in the substance proper, karma, yoga, jñāna. Bhaktim karmani karma yoga jñāna [?]

vāsudeve bhagavati bhakti-yogaḥ prayojitaḥ janayaty āśu vairāgyaṁ jñānaṁ ca yad ahaitukam

["If somehow with the help of the scriptures and His agents, the devotees or saints, we can develop our devotion, bhakti, then, the proper knowledge and proper apathy towards worldly substances will follow us."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.7]

That is in Vaikuṇṭha proper. But karma, yoga, jñāna, jñāna generally guides to mukti, yoga also like so, and karma the good sense to work for Kṛṣṇa, karma yoga. But that is not pure bhakti; that is in the opposite side; that is indirect conception in the conditioned area. Sarvaṁ karmākhilam pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate.

[śreyān dravyamayād yajñāḥ, jñāna-yajñāḥ parantapa sarvaṁ

karmākhilam pārtha, jñāne parisamāpyate]

[“O Arjuna, subduer of the enemy, of those various sacrifices, the sacrifice of knowledge as mentioned, brahmāgnāv apare [B-g, 4.25] is far superior to the sacrifice of various articles, indicated by brahmārpaṇam brahma haviḥ [B-g, 4.24], because all action ultimately culminates in knowledge.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.33]

Then,

tapasvibhyo ‘dhiko yogī, jñānibhyo ‘pi mato ‘dhikaḥ karmibhyaś cādhiko yogī, tasmād yogī bhavārjuna

[“The yogī who is a worshipper of the Supersoul is superior to persons engrossed in severe austerities such as the cāndrāyana, superior to the worshippers of Brahman, and superior to the fruitive workers. Know this certainly to be My conclusion. Therefore, O Arjuna, be a yogī.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.46] yoginām api sarveṣāṁ, mad-gatenāntarātmanā śraddhāvān bhajate yo māṁ, sa me yuktatamo mataḥ

[“Among all types of yogīs, the most elevated of all is the devotee who has full faith in the authoritative pure devotional scriptures, and who adores Me with all their heart by hearing and singing My divine glories, rendering all services unto Me. Certainly this is My opinion.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.47]

So crosses the area and then, bhajate, śraddhāvān bhajate.

*ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' tha bhajana-kriyā [tato' nārtha-nivṛttiḥ syāt tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyudañcati sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet
kramaḥ]*

[“In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify; then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

So this is outside the area of bhakti but they're dependent on bhakti otherwise if the positive side non existent then negative we cannot think of. In that way it is dependent on bhakti we may say so. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, Mahārāja, two times you have chastised me in a very sweet way, that too much intellect and too much analysis; that is a bar to śraddhā, and that is our access for understanding Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Of course, of course it is.

jñāne prayāsam udapāsyā namanta eva, jīvanti san-mukharitām bhavadīya-vārtām sthāne sthitāḥ śruti-gatām tanu-vān-manobhir, ye prāyaśo 'jīta jīto 'py asi tais tri-lokyām

[Lord Brahmā said to the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa]: [“Oh Lord, Oh Unconquerable One, those devotees who, completely giving up all attempts on the path of jñāna of attaining the non-differentiated platform known as Brahma by hearing the transcendental narratives of Your pastimes (kathā), which emanates from the lotus mouths of the mahā-bhāgavat sādhus and pass their lives by engaging their body, mind and words in pure devotion, easily conquer You (they easily get Your transcendental association), although You are the most difficult to attain in the three worlds.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.3]

So giving up our attempt to know Him, very hatefully, and our submission, our submissive faith in Him, that will give us the real help. Because, when we exercise our intellect to analyse Him, to know Him, His ways, this and that, we hinder the spontaneous flow. We engage ourselves to investigate as a subject into the transcendental and thereby our attention is to scrutinise, to know about Him, and by that time it cannot be ready to welcome the spontaneous flow that may come to me. Diverted in a wild goose chase, which is impossible. Which is unknowable, I go to know Him. Immeasurable, I go to measure Him. And through faith only He comes to make myself known, I'm absent there. I am with my subjective tendency, and associate myself with my subjective characteristic, which is only applicable, or meant for places below me, phenomenal, not transcendental. And phenomenal capacity I'm dragging towards transcendental.

And the way of having intimacy with the transcendental, only through submission to allow Him to come, His flow within me, and that flow will arouse me, awake me, and say, “Oh. I’m such and such.” His katita, His subjectivity may not be covered by my subjectivity. The subjective character of the object may not be a bar of the real subjective character to disclose Himself, to come down and disclose Himself. That is the śrauta-jñāna, “I am so and so, I am such and such.”

My attention is drawn towards scrutinising the character uselessly to try to know Him.

So Brahmā says, jānanta eva jānantu, “Those giant intellect, they may be, they may think that they can know anything. And I have known many things about the transcendental reality. They may make boast of that, those foolish persons. Let them boast, ‘I know, I know Him.’ But how can you know Him? His ways may always differ. Not a fixed thing like any object of this world. His has got no fixed characteristic, generally. He can show Him in any way as He likes. He’s always free. Infinite characteristic He has got.”

So to apply my tiny subjectivity, subjective character, to apply and to try to know, that will be futile, and that will be a hindrance to His coming down in my heart and reveal that, “I am such and such.”

jānanta eva jānantu, kiṁ bahūktyā na me prabho manaso vapoṣo vāco, vaibhavaṁ tava go-caraṇ

[“There are people who say, “I know everything about Kṛṣṇa.” Let them think that way. As far as I am concerned, I do not wish to speak very much about this matter. O my Lord, let me say this much: As far as Your opulences are concerned, they are all beyond the reach of my mind, body and words.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.38]

“In my empirical attempt I have seen that I could not know anything of You.”

Empirical means inductive process. Only deductive process, we await for the deductive process; that He will come to me. Deductive not ascending method. The knowledge may go from the lower part to the higher, and you won't be fulfilled. Only negative, you are negative power, you'll invite. All your energy should be engaged in concentrating you to invite. The faith in the character of invitation, hankering, earnestness, all negative characteristics a jīva should have and that will be fruitful, effective, and the attempt will be crowned with success. Manaso vapuṣo vāco vaibhavaṁ. Complete surrender. The conclusion is that can never be known; transcendental truth can never be known by any subjective attempt. That negative side is necessary, the quality of the negative side, that is invitation, earnestness.

“Cannot do without You. I am in want. I have no qualification. You are Patita-Pāvana, You are deliverer of the fallen. I am fallen.” So to develop the negative side; “I am the most fallen, fallen of the fallen, fallen I am.” So the appeal must go to Him, dānyam, that, “I am needy, I am needy, I am needy.”

“I have got intellect. I can understand You.” All these attempts will be futile when we shall go to apply erroneously on Him. It may be applied on the ordinary natural existence. So, śreyah sṛtiṁ bhaktim udasya te vibho, kliśyanti ye kevala-bodha-labdhave teṣāṁ asau kleśala eva śiṣyate, nānyad yathā sthūla-tuṣāvaghātīnām

[“My dear Lord, devotional service unto You is the only auspicious path. If one gives it up simply for speculative knowledge or the understanding that these living beings are spirit souls and the material world is false, he undergoes a great deal of trouble. He only gains troublesome and inauspicious activities. His endeavours are like beating a husk that is already devoid of rice. One's labour becomes fruitless."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.4] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.22]

The real path of our good is devotion, dedication, and leaving that way if anyone follows the path of knowing, kevala-bodha-labdhave, they want some knowledge about the Absolute, kleśāla eva śiṣyate, the result will be only labour. In the comparison, sthūla-tuṣāvaghātinām, where there is in the paddy, if there is husking but no rice is there, only the paddy husking, that tuṣā husking, the cover of the paddy if we husk then no substance comes from within. Sthūla-tuṣāvaghātinām. If we press the paddy which is not with its substance within then the labour will be its reward and no rice will come out. Sthūla-tuṣāvaghātinām. Our consequence, our fate will be just like that, if we want to have any definite knowledge about Him.

naiṣkarmyam apy acyuta-bhāva-varjitaṁ, na śobhate jñānam alaṁ nirañjanam kutaḥ punaḥ śaśvad abhadram īśvare, na cārpitaṁ karma yad apy akāraṇam

["Knowledge of self-realisation, even though free from all material affinity, does not look well if devoid of a conception of the Infallible (God). What, then, is the use of fruitive activities, which are naturally painful from the very beginning and transient by nature, if they are not utilised for the devotional service of the Lord?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.12]

That is another; that is in relation to karma they work. By dint of your karma do you think that you can control the Absolute mind? Never, even nirañjana niskalanka, the faultless knowledge cannot have any reach into the domain, what to speak of your karma, these material works in any form if you do it, it won't reach there. Naiṣkarmyam apy acyuta-bhāva-varjitaṁ. If it is not connected with acyuta-bhāva, the service of Acyuta, then the jñāna, na hi jñāna sarasi pavitra na vidyate [?]

That pure in its existence, the knowledge, that is unfit to get the intimacy of the Lord. What to speak of the karma. In this way in many places it has been told to us. "Don't try to make Him the object of your experience. That is impossible. Only crave for Him, crave. And showing, and realising fully that you are very mean and you are very meagre, small and insignificant, and the Lord should have pity on you due to your insignificance." So in this way, the way of approach to Him, this is the way, and not to make master over Him, "I can know. I can understand His ways." But that will be the main...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...in ancient times when used to go to trade with Fiji and they're constructed some Hindu temples. And they proposed him to take the charge of that concern, I heard from him.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: They proposed our Guru Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: When was that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your Guru Mahārāja he told me about Fiji.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Oh, he told you. Prabhupāda told him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Fiji people they wanted to hand over something there to him. What that is I forgot. Fiji is where, near America, West Indies?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: No, near Australia.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then it is not so. Then is there any centre in West Indies?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: There is. But I think Prabhupāda was talking to you about Fiji. He was talking about Fiji.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Fiji. Maybe.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We have the Deity there of Kṛṣṇa Kaliya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh yes. Fiji, the Kṛṣṇa Kaliya. Not Kaliya Damana, Kṛṣṇa. Yes, Fiji. I remember.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Any Indian?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Yes, Indian.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What part you belong to?

Devotee: Gujarat.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gujarat people are Kṛṣṇa bhakta by the grace of Vallavacari. Vallavacari's preaching was very wide in Gujarat. That Goswāmīns; I met in Bombay one Goswāmī. He had many disciples. There was the case of Nathadwara. Are you acquainted with that, the Nathadwara Mahanta, Nathadwara, near Chitor [?] or something like that? There was a case against the Goswāmī. He married one Muslim byjee [?] that Goswāmī, and there was a case. And I was at that time in charge of Bombay Maṭh. I met one gentleman who was his solicitor, the Goswāmī's solicitor. Er, what was his name? A man of position, he told all these things. His wife supported, that Bakhills [?], or barrister maybe, his wife supported the Guru. "The Guru is Bhagavān, he may take a Muslim lady, married. What harm is there?" And her husband was very much against. We took the part of the husband and the wife went away. She tried her best to support the Guru, Nathadwara.

[?]

And that was Śrīnathji, the Deity of Mādhavendra Purī. That was in Govardhana and then gradually went there. When for fear of Mohammedan invasion, they, Govindaji, Madan Mohan, they went to Jaipur state, and this Śrīnathji went Chitor [?], Nathadwara, when Aurangzeb wanted to demolish the tīrtha in Vṛndāvana.

[?]

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The people there they're very earnest to hand over the charge of the temple to him, and he expressed his desire to establish a centre there. This much I heard.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: This Deity of Śrīnathji, is there a Rādhārāṇī also? Is Rādhā also there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't remember. Govinda Mahārāja [?] Because the Vallabhi sampradāya they do not care much for Rādhārāṇī. According to them, what that Gokul Goswāmī wanted to impress on me, that Virajā, Yamunā, principal servitors according to their opinion, not Rādhārāṇī.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

[?]

They, of course generally they adore vātsalya rasam. They're upāsaka, worshipper in vātsalya rasam. But we are told that Vallabacari he took mantram from Gadādhara Paṇḍita in Purī, in mādhurya rasa, dīkṣā he got from Gadādhara Paṇḍita. But his followers do not admit that. And they maintain that Virajā rather belongs to the group of Chandravālī, the anti-group of Rādhārāṇī, Virajā. Virajā and Yamunā. The Gokul Goswāmī, one of the mahants of that sampradāya in Bombay, he stressed on this, "That by the grace of Yamunā gopīs are only getting the grace of Kṛṣṇa. Whenever after the rasa is broken, and only when they went to Yamunā, by the grace of Yamunā, then again they could come near Kṛṣṇa. That was his point, line of argument at that time. So I conjectured that they were followers of Yamunā or Virajā and nearing to Chandravālī group. But that should not be because there is a difference of opinion amongst them. Some accept that Vallabacari took initiation from Gadādhara Paṇḍita in Purī, but the majority do not recognise that. "No. We have got our own from Vallabacari."

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We have a number of questions to ask. Satsvarūpa Mahārāja has a number of very nice questions to ask you. He's over here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satsvarūpa Mahārāja, he's an important man in your group.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Very, very important.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He's giving the biography. Your Gurudeva has accepted him to express him to the world through the biography.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Yes. Prabhupāda said only he should write that biography.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And his style of writing is also very nice. I have gone through a portion, of course beforehand. The other day I got a copy. That Paramahansa's father, he told me that, "The biography is out and I found there your name," he told me.

And in what connection?

"That you announced that, "I believe he's śaktyāveśa avatāra." Yes I did.

"In that connection your name is mentioned in that biography."

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: In many other connections also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe. But that gentleman told. Nitāi.

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: I have one question about chanting, japa-mālā. Our Śrīla Prabhupāda has given us many duties to preach in the world. So sometimes when trying to concentrate on japa-mālā, instead of hearing the Holy Name I think of all these different duties I have to do.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Our Prabhupāda was also of that type. Kīrtana, chanting, preaching, kīrtana means preaching, not only loudly pronouncing, bahubhir militvā yat kīrtanam tad eva saṅkīrtanam.

And Mahāprabhu came with saṅkīrtanam. Yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtanam praye. Saṅkīrtana will form the principal part. Yajñaiḥ saṅkīrtana-prāyair, yajanti hi sumedhasaḥ, in Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam [11.5.32] we get about Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu came with saṅkīrtana. Saṅkīrtana means bahubhir militvā yat kīrtanam, sango śakti kalau yuge. This age of Kali, and the combined efforts will be fruitful; so saṅkīrtanam.

And Prabhupāda came to preach, and so there was the difference between those so called bhajana-siddha sahajiyā, they're only – once, about Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī, Prabhupāda's remark, "Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī is a good man, man of character, but his tendency generally towards Nāma-bhajana."

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Your God-brother?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bābājī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: God-brother, Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, yes. He was in Balihati. He did not like to do any other service but he's always very inclined to take Name in the mālikā.

_____ [?] I was in charge of Delhi Maṭh at that time. I had intimacy with Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī. I wrote to Prabhupāda, "If you permit I like to take Kṛṣṇadāsa Bābājī here in Delhi Maṭh."

Prabhupāda wrote; that letter is here, "If you can bring him there and make him help you in the work of preaching, then you'll be doing the friendly service, real friendly service to him. I don't recognise that in the jungle of Balihati only to count the beads of the Tulasī mālā that is kṛṣṇānusilan." Balihata jangali bati avasiya tulasi malika arkarsan kṛṣṇānusilan nahe [?]

That was his expression. "The sitting in the jungle of Balihati, only to draw the Tulasī mālikā; that is not kṛṣṇānusilanam, the cultivation about Kṛṣṇa, I don't recognise that."

There are so many things. So kīrtana means preaching, śravaṇam kīrtanam, that kīrtana is not uchay, ucharanam [?], but that is preaching regularly, and when it is preaching that must have to fight with the opposition party, wholly, opposition, it is a fight. Kīrtana means a fight. Divine vibration will be created and that will fight with the ordinary vibrations that are floating in this world, in the subtle, and also in the gross waves.

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: So because preaching is so important our Prabhupāda...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, I'm coming there, so Prabhupāda told that, “Tulasī, it may not fast.” The minimum advice was, “You must at least once do some service in the mālikā, upabāsa, the mālikā should not fast, that is. And as much as you will be able you preach.”

And once: one of the big mahant of Urupi Maṭh, Utaradi Maṭh, in Madras we had a talk with him. He also told that, “Sometimes I preach about Madhvācārya and this bhakti cult, and I do not get any time for sandhya, gayātrī, japa, all these things, book reading.”

We supported him. Our Guru Mahārāja is of such type. The Hari kathā is not of less importance than the sandhya mantra japam. It is rather a more living thing, more living.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Preaching is more living.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Preaching is more living. When we are preaching, we are talking, preaching, automatically the maximum control we must have from all our nerves. But otherwise, we may be going on counting, I may be absent minded. But when I’m talking about Kṛṣṇa to a person, to a body, or something like that, then I must be all-attentive, otherwise I may talk irrelevantly.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So true.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So automatically the whole attention will be concentrated when I shall talk about Kṛṣṇa. So preaching, and writing, that is, more accuracy is necessary than speaking, so writing also kīrtana, the cultivation more intensely thereby, so Kṛṣṇa kīrtana. Kīrtana means, I told the other day, in the Bar Library once that, “Gauḍīya Maṭha has declared totalitarian war against māyā, and all other existing conceptions of religion, and authority is Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and Mahāprabhu.” The divine love is the supreme-most summum bonum of life of every jīva. That is the summum bonum, the highest attainment. Beauty and love: that is controlling the whole thing, and not power. Not power but beauty and love, and that is Kṛṣṇa, that is Vṛndāvana at the highest position. The absolute conception, the conception of the absolute is that of Reality the Beautiful and love divine. And that should not be misconceived that lust is love. It is at the same time this difference should be clearly realised.

[ataeva kāma-preme bahuta antara] kāma — andha-tamaḥ, prema — nirmala bhāskara

[Therefore lust and love are quite different. Lust is like dense darkness, but love is like the bright sun.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.171]

The long space of dedication is there, the acme of dedication only there is love, the Braja Vṛndāvana love. And preaching is saṅkīrtana and preaching is the real service of Kṛṣṇa, and not counting beads. But because we have taken and it is ordered by Mahāprabhu and Gurudeva to chant the Name, counting the beads, I must do my duty to that mālikā.

“That mālikā may not fast.” That was the word of Prabhupāda, mālikā upabāsa nā

_____ [?]

But if I engage myself in preaching, that is I am feeding, Kṛṣṇa feeding everybody, still particularly because that job other things will be done. But there is no doubt, should not be any doubt that if I engage myself in the preaching work in the sevā kaga then I am not really obeying the orders of Mahāprabhu, “Take lākha Nāma.” That is provincial sayings, lākha

Nāma, as we're always engaged in the service of Vaiṣṇava.

tāte kṛṣṇa bhaje, kare gurura sevana / māyā-jāla chuṭe, pāya kṛṣṇera caraṇa

[By worshipping Kṛṣṇa and rendering service to the spiritual master, one is liberated from the illusory world of māyā, and attains the lotus feet of the Lord.]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.25]

Sevā, that is, the spirit of service is the all important factor; all important factor. We're not told that the gopīs they always count the Nāma, the Tulasī bead, but how they possess the highest position in the jurisdiction of the service of Kṛṣṇa. So Kṛṣṇa Nāma, Kṛṣṇa, He will help us greatly and most cheaply towards Vṛndāvana, Nāma. Its importance is there, that like a special train it carries us to the goal without stopping in any other station. We're only taking the Name without any formal petition, 'give me this, that, that.' No kāmana.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Express train.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Express train, or special train, only it will go to Vṛndāvana, non stop, the Name. This anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, all these aspirations are not there. "I want Kṛṣṇa. I do not know what is good, what is bad. I want Kṛṣṇa." Something like that.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: How many mālās did your Guru Mahārāja ask his initiated disciples to chant each day? Set number?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: General, at least four times, if in proper health, at least four times. Then generally, the general recommendation was at least twenty five thousand; that is sixteen beads.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sixteen rounds.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At least four times, minimum. And then when you have got no work you may do one lākh.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: So would he give dīkṣā for four times? If someone could only do four times, would he give someone Hari Nāma dīkṣā, your Guru Mahārāja? If someone was only doing four mālās a day, would your Guru Mahārāja give him Hari Nāma dīkṣā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hari Nāma dīkṣā?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: At the time of dīkṣā, he would ask sixteen, or how many?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No consideration, no consideration. Formally he must do something, counting; no rigid limitation. But what he wanted from us that intense engagement in the service, under the guidance of Vaiṣṇava. Hari sevā, vaiṣṇava anugatyē hari sevā: because the all important factor, what I was just going to say, the, sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ.

[ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ]

[Therefore, (because the name of Kṛṣṇa is identical with Kṛṣṇa Himself, and is beyond the realm of sense experience) the name, form, qualities, associates, and pastimes of Kṛṣṇa are beyond the realm of sense experience. When, however, a devotee engages the senses, beginning with the tongue, in the service of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee.] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Purva-vibhaga, 2.234]

Only by increasing the number we cannot achieve the goal. Sevonmukhe hi, by increasing the quality, not quantity. But what is the quality? Sevonmukhata. Sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ. There are so many sayings in the śāstra to encourage Hari Nāma in different ways, but Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī is giving a central thought there. He says, ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ. Our indriya, physical or mental, they're not eligible to come in touch with the aprākṛta. The Name is aprākṛta, Vaikuṇṭha, another plane. So ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi, nāma, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, nothing about Kṛṣṇa can be even touched by our indriyas, the senses, physical senses or mental senses. But, sevonmukhe hi jihvādau, but when we are sevonmukhe, we are in serving attitude, proper serving attitude, svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ, He comes down of His own accord. Then this tongue can pronounce Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise only the akṣa, that is the letter, the physical sound, mundane sound. The tongue, this hand, all these, our mundane things cannot come in touch, but intervening something is necessary to connect this body with the aprākṛta and that is sevon mukhata, our earnest desire to serve Him, to satisfy Him. That must come in connection.

The bulb won't light if the connection of the electricity is not there. So, and if electric connection is ready then if you push the switch then the bulb will be lit.

So the Name may come in the tongue, and in the ear, in the mind, in the writing, but the sevon mukhata, the connection we must have from Vaikuṇṭha to this mundane world. What is that? That is sevā, bhakti; a function of serving attitude. That can only connect this physical world with Vaikuṇṭha, Vṛndāvana.

ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ

He'll come out of His own accord. He'll come down, to your tongue. Then your tongue will be able to take the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Otherwise this is bogus firing.

_____ [?] The Name, nāmākṣara bahiraya batu nāma kabu naya.

[Merely the sound of the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa should never be thought of as the actual Name. This is explained in the Prema-vivarta of Jagadānanda Paṇḍita, a book which is full of the philosophical conclusions of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. It was published and edited by Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.]

Devotees: Misfire.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Misfire is when it loses its aim, is it not that? Without bullet, firing; firing without bullet – that is misfire, without bullet?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Oh, blank?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Blank, yes, blank sound.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Makes the sound but no bullet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The sound but no bullet. Just like that, the Kṛṣṇa, only the tongue depth Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Chanting without service is like firing a gun without any bullets. Just the sound, that's all.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hearing also, so Kṛṣṇa; that must be surcharged with serving temperament, that is, the tendency to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, otherwise that sound is bogus, only imitation. Ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ. It is not to be taken by indriya. Atindriya, transcendental, supra-mental, transcendental; so ordinary sound in the mundane world cannot be the Name of Kṛṣṇa. Or even the ear cannot hear the Name. If that mediator, that is the serving attitude is not there, then ear cannot, but earnestness to satisfy the Kṛṣṇa's will, in that temperament, that is mediate between Kṛṣṇa and the ear, through the mind. Then only Kṛṣṇa Nāma will enter this ear. So, ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi, so Kṛṣṇa nāma, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, everything is not physical, it is aprākṛta, only through sevonmukhata it can come down to this mundane world; everything.

Our Guru Mahārāja laid highest stress on this, the sevon mukhe. Without sevon mukhata everything will be bogus, all imitation. And people will say, "Oh, there is no Kṛṣṇa. These are hypocrites. They're only dancing and making noise. Not surcharged with that spirit of sevon mukhata."

Then coming in direct contact with Kṛṣṇa everything will be all right. So sevonmukhata, the sevon mukhata to practice how to attain sevon mukhata, the Vaiṣṇava sevā, Vaiṣṇava is doing service, and imbibe from him, do, practice how to attain the way, how to attain the serving attitude, serving attitude, sevon mukhata, bhakti, śraddhā, śraddhā, bhakti. And sādhū will come to the great help in such stage. Under the control, under the order of sādhū, you practice yourself to give yourself. Self abnegation is necessary. Self dedication is necessary. And the positive thing you will get from the sādhū. And try to, with self abnegation, try to dedicate yourself.

In the beginning, you see if we get pen and paper it will not be fruitful. But in the beginning some stone is given and on the earth we are to practice writing. So, in the beginning we must try to practice, how I can be put in the way of serving, how can I earn serving attitude, dedicating habit. Of course that is innate in me, that is my hope, it is my innate function, but this is covered, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna, these layers have covered it. It is my innate wealth. This is solace, consolation. And if I try, and the sādhū's, the Vaiṣṇavas will help me, and I must; just as, here is an expression, chidiya hadasa [?]

At least give some trash to anybody, and practice giving. One who is miserly, one says to him, "Give some ash to others and practice your hand to give, in the beginning."

So anyhow, that is high thing; we must practice sevon mukhata, to give ones own self to the connection of Kṛṣṇa. Don't be afraid that I'm not attaining the highest form of service, the Nāma bhajana. I'm asked to brush the mandira, and all these rough things what an ordinary man can do. Don't be afraid of that thing, that formal, but serving attitude is necessary to acquire.

In any way, self-giving, selflessness, and self-forgetfulness, as it is told, I am told by, the Socrates in the Christian theology, the Socrates was, his case was self-sacrifice, that of self-sacrifice. And Christ, His case was self-forgetfulness. The self-forgetfulness, self- sacrifice: self-forgetfulness, and to what purpose? The positive connection will be that under Vaiṣṇava. Under the order of Vaiṣṇava you go. He'll connect with the, he'll have connection that and under his direction you begin the – then through him you can get the connection of that plane. And your energy may go to that plane by his grace, his mediation; so sevon mukhe hi jihvādau. So our Guru Mahārāja he practically, as we saw, he laid ninety per cent stress in serving attitude, in preaching, whatever it may be.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Can we ask another question?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

...

Devotee: Women, they're good preachers as their brothers...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: ...therefore sometimes even a sannyāsī in ISKCON he will give council to women, sometimes even about problems such as their marriage. But while doing this service sometimes there remains in the devotee an impression of contact with the women. This is not desirable yet we cannot completely renounce their association.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: These are all practical questions. Theory and practice, these must combine. And carefully and well meaning characteristic will get the victorious glory.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

The general will be; the general recommendation may come in this way. We cannot avoid the association of women completely. In somehow or other if we come out, if we do not come out then also in our mind it is there. And how successfully to take out the thorn from within, that is the big problem. Not only outside but the enemy is within. And that is more dangerous. Then not only formally but materially, if actually, we can get rid of the women consciousness when I can realise that everything is meant for Kṛṣṇa. Nirbandha kṛṣṇa sambandhe. So renunciation is no solution. Still we do not dismiss this point of renunciation totally, especially for the beginners. But at heart we must think that renunciation is no solution.

yo mām paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca mayi paśyati tasyāhaṁ na praṇaśyāmi, sa ca me na praṇaśyati

[“For one who sees Me in everything and everything in Me, I do not remain unseen and he also is not unnoticed by Me: he never sways in his thought of Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.30]

Otherwise the women conception will draw me always towards that conception of enjoyment. The enjoyment; that is bhoga: that is exploitation. Our Guru Mahārāja has written, tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ sadā hariḥ

[“One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

Tṛṇād api sunīcena he explains, bhokta dharme sunicata mine [?] In the function of an enjoyer there cannot be found any sunīcatā, humility. That aggressing mood, before exploitation is aggressing. Sunīcatā, the humility is absent there. When one is aggressor he’s not humble, not modest. So the danger is within. We must be conscious of that. Not formally to show to the people that we are all sādhus, that won't do, that won't help us really. The solution we must face. And still, especially for the beginners, we shall be alert that no objectionable mixing. But we must try to change the relationship of exploitation. The trouble is there. The danger lies there.

So, you see, that is the case of Saubhari Ṛṣi in Bhāgavatam [9.6], he, in Yamunā, in some places, by his yoga power he dived deep and there he was going on with his yoga. Then he, the first, the fish, Garuḍa, he wanted to hunt that place and took fish, Garuḍa eating, Garuḍa ate fish from that place.

And the fish in a body approached Saubhari Ṛṣi, "That you are here and Garuḍa comes and eats us."

Then Saubhari he cursed, he threw a curse that, "If Garuḍa comes this side again he'll be killed, or he'll be doomed."

Then when Garuḍa came to know this he avoided. He showed sympathy against, Garuḍa was devotee, showed sympathy against the devotee, to the fish. Then a reaction came. He did good to the fish, and those fish they were more familiar and thankful to the Ṛṣi and they're coming and playing here and there. And perhaps the fish touching his penis created some excitement. Then whole yoga was lost. He came out of the water and went to the king, "Give me fifty princesses or a hundred princesses," as a reaction.

So by avoidance is no solution. This is Vaiṣṇavism. Everything, I must relate everything to the environment in the interest of Kṛṣṇa. That is real selflessness. So however dangerous the victory may be we must have to attain that. That should be our outlook, should be our aim. And to attain that aim that yukta-vairāgya we shall; not too much of anything. Not free mixing, neither non-mixing. Neither hate nor welcome. A middle path we are to accept in this point. Because when we must work in the society, then we can't divorce society completely; mix. If I cannot learn to see a girl as my sister, or daughter, or mother, in such way, only whatever I shall see a womanly character only I want to enjoy, that is really not progress. Whenever I shall come, at least when I shall see the combination of the beasts or birds that will also disturb me. So the solution is to see that everything is meant for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, and I am also a servitor, and I am not an enjoyer. And it is difficult; it is very, very difficult. But we are out to attain that result, to drive the enemy finally, to become the cent per cent servitor of Kṛṣṇa. Īśāvāsyam.

[“Everything animate or inanimate that is within the universe is controlled and owned by the Lord. One should therefore accept only those things necessary for himself, which are set aside as his quota, and one should not accept other things, knowing well to whom they belong.”] [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 1]

Everything is meant to obey His order, to satisfy Him. And then another reaction, wave of satisfaction will come in me, and that will be divine joy and ecstasy.

End of 81.03.07.A

81.03.07.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...we cannot conquer, we must solve the attack. The disease we can, by setting aside the memory of disease we cannot drive the disease. The disease should get recognition, and real treatment of the disease must be faced.

So Kṛṣṇa kīrtana, Kṛṣṇa must be between the two. Kṛṣṇa must be between the two; whenever I shall mix with anybody, only about the talk of Kṛṣṇa. Even it is said in the Ṛg Veda, the first mantra, om tad viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ sadā, paśyanti suraya divīva cakṣur ātataṁ

[tad viprāso vipanyavo jāgrvāṁśāḥ, samindhate viṣṇor yat paramaṁ padam]

[“As the sun and sunlight is continuous over the skies as light-giver to us (for that sunlight is the universal form of the Lord) similarly, the Divine Lotus Feet of the Lord Śrī Viṣṇu is always spread widely (like a canopy) over our head.”] [Ṛg Veda, 1.22.20]

This is the Ṛg mantra, the first Ṛg mantra. Whenever you approach to do any duty you must think of your identification and their environment, “Who are you?” You are going to take up some work, some duty, you must think, “Who are you?” You will think this, that the eye of Viṣṇu; eye like a sun is over your head, the viṣṇo paramaṁ padaṁ, His holy leg is on your head, and that is like an eye, just like a sun on your head. So under guardian’s great vigilant eye you are doing this thing, so you cannot do any wrong. The guardian’s eye is the watching eye. His searching eye is overhead. With this idea we take, do all the duty.

So Kṛṣṇa must come between, if I talk to anyone, if I associate, and we have any relation anywhere, bring Kṛṣṇa. In Kṛṣṇa’s cause I am doing. In this way I can get rid of the danger of anyābhilāṣa, karma, and jñāna, yoga, etc, and we can take bath in the rasa of Kṛṣṇa.

So avoidance is no solution, and making too much of anything that is also not Kṛṣṇa. That is enjoying in the name of religious, in the name of religion, in the name of Kṛṣṇa I’m going to enjoy. That is very dangerous and very objectionable. That is not only artificial but that is deception, self deception; and to deceive others also.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Dishonest.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So according to ones own capacity, generally we should take caution against that private meeting, in a...

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: In a lonely place.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, in a lonely place, lone meeting, a solitary meeting, that should be avoided, by all. But when we are many, then we may mix with them; general case. General recommendation may go in this way. That solitary meeting should be prohibited, sometimes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Sometimes if they have to ask us a question then we can have our secretary or another brahmacārī with us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, sometimes a lady disciple she may have to talk to her Guru, some private anartha or these things, she may want some private visit to tell something to Guru sincerely. But the Gurudeva, according to his capacity, madhyama adhikārī Guru, according to his own capacity he will arrange that. And whenever it will be possible, he will, one or two ladies also can accompany him, at least in the light he may meet, others may not hear, but others may see their talk. He's talking, she's talking to Gurudeva that, "This is my difficulty." He may not like that others may know, so Guru may advise, and other people may see but cannot hear. This sort of private meeting may be arranged.

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: Very satisfying answer. May I ask one more question?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yeah, yeah. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: Lord Caitanya has said that we should have no desire for liberation but want to serve birth after birth. But my question is, is there any conflict between this desire to serve birth after birth and the desire to go to Kṛṣṇa's abode and not return?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: He said that Lord Caitanya said...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the..

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī:

[na dhanam na janam na sundarīm, kavitām vā jagad-īśa kāmaye] mama janmani janmanīśvare, bhavatād bhaktir ahaitukī tvayi

["O Lord, I have no desires to accumulate wealth, followers, beautiful women, or salvation. My only prayer is for Your causeless devotional service, birth after birth."]

[Śikṣāṣṭakam, 4]

"Birth after birth I come. I don't mind to take birth again." But at the same time the devotee is praying to be with Kṛṣṇa again. So is there some conflict? That come birth after birth, he doesn't mind to come birth after birth...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only Kṛṣṇa karma; other desires should be eliminated, and only Kṛṣṇa karma should be retained.

Devotees: What is Kṛṣṇa karma?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa karma means the service of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa karma, the desire for Kṛṣṇa: desire not to enjoy, not any other thing but desire to serve Kṛṣṇa. That all should be eliminated, only the desire to serve Kṛṣṇa, that is to be maintained.

And here Mahāprabhu says that, janmani janmani, He says that, “In the beginning I may not expect that only desire will abolish all My janma. I must, according to My karma.”

Nija karma guna desi gesi janma pi [?] “I maybe, may have to go here and thither in many according to my previous karma, but I want to serve Kṛṣṇa.” That is, this lakha, this end may not forsake me in any time, wherever I may be.

kīṭa janma hau yathā tuwā dāsa, [bahir-mukha brahma-janme nāhi āś]

[“Let me take birth as a worm, as Your servant. I would forsake a birth as Brahmā the creator, if that birth was devoid of Your service, O Kṛṣṇa.”]

[From Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura’s Mānasa Deha Geḥa, Śaraṇāgati]

Kṛṣṇa connection only to be desired; we shall desire only one thing, and that is, non desire means sāyujya-mukti, that is samādhī. Without having any desire that maybe samādhī. Only service of Kṛṣṇa will be there, service of Kṛṣṇa, will be there. And if I do not get physically then union in separation, but Kṛṣṇa consciousness, hankering for Kṛṣṇa, must be present, otherwise it will be the result of renunciation, that samādhī, like sound sleep. Kṛṣṇa consciousness: that is the earnestness to serve Kṛṣṇa. That one thing can never be eliminated. We must want that, that only one desire. That is no desire. When all desires of exploitation and renunciation vanishes, then that inner function awakens. That is our inner function, inner tendency, that cannot be eliminated.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: I have a question.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Clear?

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: Well, what if a devotee asks us, “Should I desire to go to Kṛṣṇaloka?” Then should we reply, “No, just the service of Kṛṣṇa.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Wherever, at least if I’m not eligible to go to Kṛṣṇa, at least Kṛṣṇa’s connection, His devotee’s connection I must have in any form or other. I can’t leave that. Any, the least connection of Kṛṣṇa, I must pray for, otherwise I’m lost, some connection of Kṛṣṇa; at least His devotee. Kita janma hau; I may have, according to my karma the birth of an insect, a worm, but my prayer is that I may be in connection of a devotee of Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Even if we don’t go to Goloka, as an insect life, then its o.k.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Association of Kṛṣṇa, then I’m gone, I’m dead; if disconnected and no connection with Kṛṣṇa then I’m gone. So a connection I should always desire of the highest good.

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: Is the desire to go to Goloka tinged with some liberation, or tinged with the idea of salvation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is to desire that sālokya, sārūpya, sāyujya, these are, though for serving facility it is wanted, still it is a lower bhakti. The highest is, “Wherever You are pleased to put me I’m satisfied with that.” That is the highest. But conditional devotion must keep on your side, that is some condition, conditional. That is of a little lower order. Sārūpya, sālokya, sāmīpya, sārṣṭi, some sort of desire, means self pushing, pushing the self towards Him, selfishness. But wherever, what, full, “I am under Your full control. Whatever You like to do, if You are satisfied, if You like to throw down to the hell, yes, do that. I’m ready. By Your order I can do anything, make or mar.”

mārobi rākhobi yo icchā tohārā, [nitya-dāsa prati tuwā adhikārā]

[“Slay me or protect me as You wish, for You are the master of Your eternal servant.”] [From Śaraṇāgati, The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 13]

“You have every right over me.” Such quality devotion, dedication, is necessary.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Not even to desire to go back to Kṛṣṇaloka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “If You are satisfied by removing me, yes, I...”
But thereby he gets the highest plane of connection. Actually, such kinds of devotee, they’re of the first rank, the suicidal army, suicidal squad.

Satsvarūpa Mahārāja: Why are they called that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They’re up to any sacrifice for the country, so the highest confidence they should enjoy of the countrymen.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Suicide squad. Some of the kamikazes in Japan they even give their life, so that’s the highest honour.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Highest sacrifice, prepared for the highest service of the country, so they get the highest honour, and highest respect, as well as order. Sacrificing to Kṛṣṇa rather we live, otherwise we die. As much as we can sacrifice for Kṛṣṇa we are so much highly revered; characteristic we acquire. In fact it is this.

Devotee: Just like Hanumān.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eh?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: He said, “Like Hanumān.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hanumān's in the middle. You see Sanātana Goswāmī, a gradation; he first goes to Prayāga, a brāhmaṇa, zamīndār, he has come there and spending much money, giving to the poor, to the brāhmaṇas, to the sādhus, all these things, feeding public. And lastly he's chanting the Name of, Hari Nāma saṅkīrtana.

Then Nārada came to him, "You are very fortunate brāhmaṇa. You have done so magnanimous works, feeding brāhmaṇas, feeding poor, everything, the sādhu, and giving so many things to others. Very high ideal I find in you."

"What do you say? You just go to the king perhaps of Purī. Here, he has arranged in such a way that mahā-prasādam is being distributed to so many every day. Thousands and thousands of people are being benefited thereby. And so much grand upāsanā is going on in the temple; all these things."

Then Nārada went to there, and he praised the Mahārājah. "Your life is very successful. You are so big being a king you are doing so many things and especially the prasāda distribution to the people in such a magnitude is impossible. Nowhere we find it." He praised.

"Oh! What do you say sādhu? You just go to Indra. You'll see how fortunate he is. What fortune I have got?"

The Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, have you not gone through?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: No, we have not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then he came to Indra and began to praise him; sing in his praise. “Indra, you are very fortunate. Upendra, Bhagavān Viṣṇu has come as your younger brother. In your area so many worshipping festivals are going on, this, that.”

“Oh! What do you speak? I’m attacked by the demons and my wife is also sometimes disturbed. And what is – what fortune you find in me? Brahmā is really fortunate. He’s the master of this whole brahmāṇḍa. He has come direct from Viṣṇu, and Viṣṇu sent a Veda through him.” All these things: in praise of Brahmā.

Then he went to Brahmā, and again began to talk in his praise. Then Brahmā told, “What do you speak? You don’t know of Mahādeva, Śiva? I am so very busy in the worldly concerns. Every time complaints are coming from the brahmāṇḍa I have to solve that, and no time to worship my master, Kṛṣṇa. Only of course He gave Veda to me for the good of the people, but I myself do not know the real purport there, what to speak. Mahādeva, He’s indifferent to the worldly life, and He has given Himself exclusively to Viṣṇu, to Nārāyaṇa. And there also in the śruti there are so many hymns in the praise of Mahādeva.”

Then he went to Mahādeva and he began to chant many things from Rudra śruti and to eulogise Śiva. And Śiva was, “What do you say Nārada? I thought that you had some real knowledge. But what have you come to say to me? What am I? I’m nothing. I’m opposing Viṣṇu in many times. He has put me in such duty that sometimes in supporting my disciples I go to fight against Him I get. So I have nothing of the real devotion in me. Of course, I like Prahlāda. He has got śuddha bhakti. He does not want anything, then it will be trading.

[nānyathā te 'khila-guro, ghaṭeta karuṇātmanaḥ yas ta āśiṣa āśāste,] na sa bhrtyaḥ sa vai vaṇik

[Prahāda Mahārāja states: “Otherwise, O my Lord, O supreme instructor of the entire world, You are so kind to Your devotee that You could not induce him to do something unbeneficial for him. On the other hand, one who desires some material benefit in exchange for devotional service cannot be Your pure devotee. Indeed, he is no better than a merchant who wants profit in exchange for service.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.10.4]

“And even in such repression also he maintained his devotion, devotional character. I appreciate, admire him.”

Then Nārada went to Prahlāda. Prahlāda says, “Oh Gurudeva, you have come to praise me. What is this that you have begun, to talk so many things in my praise? I am your small disciple. You should not be so much apathetic to me, cruel to me. What devotion I have got? Of course, I, by your grace, sometimes I want Him but I am not, I have not got the facility, the chance of serving Him direct. Hanumān, he’s really fortunate I see because he’s engaged so much.”

Karma miśrā, jñāna miśrā bhakti, up to Mahādeva. Then śuddha bhakti from Prahlāda then śuddha bhakti, śanta bhakti, śanta rasa in Prahlāda: submission, but exclusive submission but not active service. Active service began dāsyā rasa from Hanumān, in a clear way.

So Prahlāda he showed Hanumān. And Nārada Devaṛṣi went to Hanumān. “Rāma, Rāma, Rāma, Rāma.”

Hanumān leapt up and embraced Nārada. And both began to shed tears and “Rāma, Rāma.” “Who is making me hear this, my favourite name Rāma, Rāma?” In this way: for some time.

Then Nārada began to praise Hanumān. And Hanumān told, “Devaṛṣi, what do you say? Of course there was a time when I got the facility, the chance of serving my master Rāmacandra. But Prabhu has gone, leaving me here. I am here in this Kalaluvan. I only live to suffer the pangs of His separation. But how happy are the Pāṇḍavas? Recently my Lord Rāmacandra has come here as Kṛṣṇa, and how friendly He is to the Pāṇḍavas. Sometimes I think that. And when I think that, their fortune, I feel much encouragement.” In this way he went.

Then Nārada went to the Pāṇḍavas, and he began to, “You are all so fortunate that Kṛṣṇa is so friendly to you, always as if He’s in your service. Whenever you’re in danger, only, no sooner He’s present before you and diminishes all the troubles.” In this way Devaṛṣi went on.

Then Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja told, “What do you say Devaṛṣi? My one sentiment is this, that seeing the example of the Pāṇḍavas, us; none will come forward to worship Kṛṣṇa. None will come forward for Kṛṣṇa bhajana. They’ll say, ‘Oh! The Pāṇḍavas were very closely connected and their whole life they’re in trouble.’ So people will think that Kṛṣṇa bhajana means life long trouble. None will come this side. That comes now and then in our mind.”

Then Nārada told, “What do you say? Just the opposite; if any adverse circumstance comes to Pāṇḍavas that means it is the dhautā, dhautā means messenger; that is really the messenger to speak to you that Kṛṣṇa is coming. Pāṇḍavas before, the danger of Pāṇḍava is just the messenger to say, to express, that Kṛṣṇa’s coming. Your danger means that, Kṛṣṇa is coming, and everything is removed.”

So Pāṇḍava Yudhiṣṭhira told, “Yes, we know Kṛṣṇa He favours us. We’re not qualified though. But the Yadavas, how they are fortunate, Kṛṣṇa is always in their midst, and they’re under His guidance, direct connection. They’re very happy.” In this way began to praise the Yadavas.

Then Nārada went to the Yadavas. Yadavas said, “Yes, of course we have some sort of fortune. We have come in connection with Kṛṣṇa. But we this, we that, and we also suffer, and sometimes stolen and this, that. But Uddhava, he’s, amongst us he’s the real devotee and favourite of Kṛṣṇa. We admit that.”

Then went to Uddhava. Then Uddhava says to Nārada, “Devaṛṣi, have you not gone through Bhāgavatam? Did you not find my śloka, my prayer there?”

āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām, gulma-latauṣadhīnām

vṛndāvane kim api

[yā dustyajaṁ svajanam ārya-pathaṁ ca hitvā, bhejur mukunda-padavīm śrutibhir vimṛgyām]

[“The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61]

“That is my sincere, that was my sincere prayer, and what am I when in comparison with those.”

In this way it is established.

Once I was in Madras, there is, have you gone through Madras?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The mambalam [?] the new town has grown on the side. And there, Śaṅkarite brāhmaṇa came and he chanted Bhāgavatam, orally, whole thing in his memory, and explained. And some of our friends wanted us to see him. We went to see him. Then after some silence then I asked him, ‘Who is the greatest devotee, according to you?’

He told, “That Catuḥsana.” He told.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Catuḥsana. The Four Kumāras.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sanaka, Sananda, Sanātana, and Sanat Kumāra.

I kept silence.

He wanted to know, “According to you, what is your opinion?” I told, ‘The Catuḥsana is the lowest.’

“Then who will be the highest?”

I told this śloka, to Uddhava of Kṛṣṇa. Na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir. What to speak of Catuḥsana, ātmayonir, Brahmā. Na saṅkaraḥ na ca saṅkarṣaṇo na śrīr naivātmā ca yathā bhavān.

[“Neither Brahmā nor Śīva are as dear to Me as you; My elder brother Saṅkarṣaṇa is not as dear to Me as you, nor even Lakṣmī Devī. Even My own Self is not as dear to Me as you.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.15]

This is in Bhāgavatam. He knows it better. This is just from the mouth of Kṛṣṇa, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān. In the gradation of the list of the bhaktas, His priya, Uddhava is the highest. Na tathā me priyatama ātmayonir.

“Brahmā, Mahādeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Śrī, not only Myself. You are more than Myself, more favourite, more beloved than My own self Uddhava.” This is His saying. And that Uddhava says, āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām, vṛndāvane kim api gulma-latauṣadhīnām

*yā dustyajam svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā, bhejur mukunda-padavīm
śrutibhir vimṛgyām*

Then, the gopīs, they are the highest, hold the highest position. And did not utter any more; logically proved, through Bhāgavatam.

Then, you go and take something. It is ready there. What's the time?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: It's about nine thirty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nine thirty. After taking food also you may come, if you like, another one hour. I may be at your disposal.

Devotees: Jaya. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Only once I went there, Purbanda [?] Dvārakā and Purbanda [?] that Kirti [?] Mandir, the Gandhi's mūrti and Purbanda [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Udharma [?]

There's one thing I may say in this connection, that Gaura Kiśora Bābājī Mahārāja, Prabhupāda's Gurudeva, he was told by a gentleman that, "One Sambhu Bannerjee, disciple of Bhaktivinoda, he has married. He was a bachelor, now he has married."

And Bābājī Mahārāja told, remarked, "That does not matter, he may have married. But ask him to decorate the lady, and serve him [her], as if serving the gopī, for the service of Kṛṣṇa. He may take this, such attitude, it does not matter."

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Decorate the lady? Decorate his wife and serve her as if she's a gopī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Serve her, as thinking that she's a gopī. She's meant only to serve Kṛṣṇa. And he will help her too, for the service of Kṛṣṇa. In this attitude she must see.

So in connection of the previous question, how we should mingle with the women, that we must not deviate, that everyone is a servant of Kṛṣṇa. That temperament we should always maintain. Nothing, none is meant for me. Everything is meant for Kṛṣṇa. I shall mix, and we shall help each other, with that spirit, that universal spirit may not be absent in us, in all our doings. We should try to maintain this universal current that everyone is meant to...

na te viduḥ svārtha-gatiṁ hi viṣṇuṁ, [durāśayā ye bahir-artha-māninaḥ andhā yathāndhair upanīyamānās, te 'pīśa-tantryām uru-dāmnī baddhāḥ]

[Prahlaḍa Mahārāja says: "Persons who are strongly entrapped by the consciousness of enjoying material life, and who have therefore accepted as their leader or Guru a similar blind man attached to external sense objects, cannot understand that the goal of life is to return home, back to Godhead, and engage in the service of Lord Viṣṇu. As blind men guided by another blind man miss the right path and fall into a ditch, materially attached men led by another materially attached man are bound by the ropes of fruitive labour, which are made of very strong cords, and they continue again and again in materialistic life, suffering the threefold miseries.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.31]

...that the end of everyone is to be connected in the service of Kṛṣṇa, and we must help each other. With this spirit we shall mix with anyone and everyone. Everything we come in connection with we must do our duty in this spirit that how I can help him to serve Kṛṣṇa. In this wide and broad and deep plane we are to work, we are to live and move.

yo mām paśyati sarvatra, sarvaṁ ca mayi paśyati tasyāhaṁ na prapaśyāmi, sa ca me na prapaśyati

[“For one who sees Me in everything and everything in Me, I do not remain unseen and he also is not unnoticed by Me: he never sways in his thought of Me.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.30]

The furthest corner we must see the connection of Kṛṣṇa. And as much as possible I shall try to promote, to help it for the service of Kṛṣṇa. And thereby I shall get more grace from Kṛṣṇa, yo mām paśyati, or in Bhāgavatam, sarva bhūteṣu yaḥ paśyed, bhagavad bhāvam ātmanah bhūtāni bhagavaty ātmany, eṣa bhāgavatottamaḥ

["A person advanced in devotional service sees within everything the soul of souls, the Supreme Personality of Godhead, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Consequently they always see Kṛṣṇa everywhere and in everything. One who is situated on the topmost platform of devotional service is known as an uttama-bhāgavata."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45]

Everywhere I shall try to find its connection with Kṛṣṇa, and in pursuance of that, following in that connection, how I should deal with him, the secondary. The secondary connection, my connection with everything; first his connection with Kṛṣṇa, then I shall calculate what my connection should be with him, with it, secondary.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We finished the prasāda very quickly. In expectation of seeing you again we couldn't...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes. Seeing but hearing.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We ate so quickly today.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The microphone, this is how we also hear you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In my last days Prabhupāda is giving me chance of talking about Him. I was told by many of my friends, God-brothers, that I can preach well to the educated society, especially. But I was not of that temperament, the preaching temperament. So they have this complaint against me.

My Prabhupāda also wanted me to go to the west for preaching. But I denied, showing that I'm not fit, for two causes. One, just as you find, that I cannot understand the pronunciation, the intonation, of the westerners. That is a defect in me. And so, and another, that I have not the temperament of mixing intimately with them. So, if you order I must go, but I don't think that I'll be successful in preaching there.

Then another God-brother, Professor Sanyal, the author of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, he afterwards told me, "Do you know why Prabhupāda wanted you to go there?"

"Why?" I asked.

"Because: you won't be converted by them."

I told, "Of course, yes. I can never be converted by anybody. My firm confidence I have got. What I have learned from Prabhupāda about Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa, none in the world can convert me in its faith. This much faith I foster in my heart. And so Prabhupāda wanted.

Bon Mahārāja went and he came half converted, leaving his daṇḍa, and giving up his śikhā, perhaps many things, imitating dress, imitating from there he came back. And he came first: I was in charge of Bombay Maṭha at that time. I went to receive him from the ship. And Herr Schulze [aka Sadānanda Dāsa] and one Baron, two German gentlemen came with him, with red dress.

Then Swāmī Mahārāja was present there. He was doing business at the time. And in the round table we took our seats.

I asked Bon Mahārāja about the preaching results.

And in course of his statements he told, “Oh! They ask so many questions that cannot be answered.”

I challenged, mildly, told, “What are the questions that cannot be answered? I want to hear from you.”

Swāmī Mahārāja, I am here, Bon Mahārāja that side, Schulze here, Swāmī Mahārāja here, and Prabhupāda is here. And he used to put questions and I used to answer his questions. Then he was silenced.

Swāmī Mahārāja spoke aloud, “Here, Europe is defeated by Asia.” That was his loud expression. “Europe is defeated by Asia.”

What he told to Svarūpa Dāmodara, “Though you have come to beg here, come for begging, can’t you give something to them?”

That was, he told me himself.

I asked him, “Can’t you give something to them?” “What can I give to them?”

“Yes, materially they can help you. They’re in a position to give you. But spiritually they’re poor. And you can help them in spiritual matters.”

In that way Svarūpa Dāmodara was attracted. Hare Kṛṣṇa. What prasāda you take...

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We took puris...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...I also take a bit of it because my faith is, Mahāprabhu grants prasādam for you. So earnest you are in your bhajana, come far away, in the land of Mahāprabhu, surely He's arranging prasādam for you. And I like to take a bit. And my Mahāprabhu had some connection with America. Of course, from the beginning, intuitively I had some sympathy with the Germans. For America a mixed nation: from many countries.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Plenty of Germans in America also, German Americans.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: German, oh, a portion, German American, French American, this way. And mostly English, is it not British, main population?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: It's a big mixture now. Nowadays everything is there, Africans, Jews...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is a mockery. That Eisenhower he was a German, and he was the general to crush Germany. His fate was like that.

Anyhow, my Mahāprabhu has connection with America.

When I came here I wanted to establish Mahāprabhu's Vighraha. The carpenter who generally prepares Vighraha for us, I asked him to give a figure, a Mahāprabhu Mūrti to me, and I asked him, ‘How much you want for that, for your labour?’ I knew that he already supplied a Vighraha and took thirty rupees.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Thirty rupees?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Thirty: and he told, “Thirty, forty; whatever you like.”

I proposed to him, ‘I shall pay one hundred and one, and you engage all your merits and you collect and you try to make my Prabhu as beautiful as you can. That is my request to you.’

Then he told me, “Yes, I shall do that, but then I must have some time.”

At that time during the war period, it was in nineteen forty five, the war finished almost, and American firms are working in Calcutta; in the vicinity of Calcutta [?] And he was engaged in his service there, in that firm. He told that, “I am in service there. I shall take the necessary wood there and there in my leisure time I shall do the service. And then I shall get ample time to my heart’s content, I shall do service in such a way that Mahāprabhu comes as beautiful as possible.”

Then Mahāprabhu was actually, got a figure; took figure there. And then when He came here from Calcutta side, I went to, he informed me, I went to the station, and from there I took Mahāprabhu. So Mahāprabhu, in His prakata service, He had some connection with American firm. I can't but...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...Whoever it may be, we leave our, abandon our flesh connection, and we come to establish new connection with those that come under the banner of Mahāprabhu. They're our own. And in the physical sense, they're our own, and that is left. The culture is everything. The inner man is his culture, his culture, his faith rather. So according to faith we are gathered together.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, today is the disappearance day of Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī, Rasikānanda, Gaur deva Goswāmī, and that of Mādhava Mahārāja our God-brother.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Today, yes, that's right, one year ago.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Mādhava Mahārāja disappeared two years ago, this day. And Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī, the veśa Guru of...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhaktivi...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To certain extent, but Gaura Kiśora Bābājī's Guru was Bhāgavat Bābājī. His veśa Guru was Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What does veśa mean?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Veśa means he took initiation from the Goswāmīns, and went to Vṛndāvana and took sannyāsa, the so-called bābājī sannyāsa. Gaura Kiśora Bābājī took from Bhāgavat dāsa. And Bhāgavat dāsa was the veśa śiṣya, that bābājī śiṣya of Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, he came in connection with Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī. Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī had one favourite disciple in Amjarduray [?] in the Burdwan District. Sometimes there he used to stay. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura had connection there. And we are told that he got, took veśa, from Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Did Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī tell something to Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura about preaching in the west?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't remember. Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī. I can't remember. He was very, very old. One hundred and twenty five years we are told. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura recommended Prabhupāda to take Hari Nāma from Gaura Kiśora Bābājī. And through his recommendation he came to him and got Hari Nāma. Gaura Kiśora Bābājī did not make many disciples.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: How many?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe three, four, five, like that, maybe. Some say Prabhupāda is his only disciple, but in Rādhā-kuṇḍa I saw a gentleman who also claimed that, “I am a disciple of Gaura Kiśora Bābājī. I lived there, I served him.” Nandavin Kṛṣṇa, he told. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: In the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam there is the narration which you repeated to us, there is the story of Chitraketu. So Parvatī, she cursed Chitraketu and for this she was chastised a little bit by Śiva. Chitraketu however he did not mind...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Unaffected, went away.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Śiva said, “Just see the nature of Chitraketu, how exalted.” So Chitraketu Mahārāja was unaffected but his wives, he had many wives, naturally they must have been very much affected because after all he was their full shelter, and now he was to be sentenced to a very unfortunate birth, in their eyes. So how were they able to avoid committing offences, how the wives of Chitraketu were able to avoid committing offences against Parvatī? They might have become angry that, “Why Parvatī has unfairly cursed our husband?” If they had that mentality then they might have been guilty of some offence since Parvatī is such an exalted personality. So my question is on behalf of the wives of Chitraketu. “What should their mentality have been?” Because Chitraketu is like their Guru and their Guru has been cursed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, what was the result?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Well, the result is that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any conclusion is given there, no?

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: It doesn't mention very much I think about the wives, to my remembrance. No. The wives are not mentioned. What happened to them is not mentioned, therefore I'm asking you, what could have been their fate now that their Guru pati has been cursed. How did they react to this?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One is worldly position, another is spiritual position. When coming in clash then worldly connection will have to be defeated. If their affinity is, reverence to Chitraketu is in the worldly plane, then that cannot contest the spiritual position. That Guru, the Chitraketu was Guru of those wives, but that mostly in the worldly sense, not in the spiritual plane. So that won't be cared for them. Parvatī has got some position in the spiritual world, and that they may not have. If they may not have that strength in the spiritual plane, there is chance of them being defeated. This prakata sambhanda, the worldly reverence, respect, but in the spiritual plane that will be more true, more lasting, and durability there. Anything coming in clash will have to be broken. That is the general opinion should be; decision. The material consciousness when it comes in connection with the spiritual consciousness, the material consciousness must be defeated, must be broken if there is any clash.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The wives of Kāliya, they must have had some spiritual vision.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because they were appreciating that Kṛṣṇa had blessed their husband with His lotus feet, even though He was smashing him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They came to approach Kṛṣṇa in a serving mood it is told. They got the chance of approaching Kṛṣṇa in a favourable mood. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: In the Bhāgavata there is the story of Durvāsā Muni and Ambarīṣa Mahārāja. So can you elaborate on the nature of Ambarīṣa Mahārāja, how he was able to remain so tolerant and in the face of such difficulty. That even he felt it to be his own offence although he was completely free from such offence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Something, due to his kṣatriya nature, and also sense of varṇāśrama duty, religious duty, atiti. “Durvāsā is my atiti, so it is my duty to satisfy him. I did wrong. I did wrong.” He was already in a critical position and put the question to the assembly of his brāhmaṇa advisers.

Then the brāhmaṇa advisers advised him that, “You take only a drop of water that can be contained in the kuśa grass.”

He took it. So he was satisfied that from the direction of his own conscience he was clear that he was not killed. But as regard social customs he thought he is guilty. He’s put into the crisis by the supreme will so he may have to suffer though partially. But he was a devotee and though not of high order but his stability was unquestionable. And also the nature, the habit of the kṣatriya feeling has some contribution there. The kṣatriyas are careless of their body. They do not care for death, as in the case of Karṇa and Paraśurāma.

Do you know the story of Karṇa and Paraśurāma? Karṇa, the friend of Duryodhana, and he, you may know that he was the son of Kuntī before marriage. So he was left in the current of the Ganges in a pot, and one suta, a charioteer, he took him and he was childless, he gave this child to his wife and he was nourished there, Karṇa.

Though he came from a kṣatriya school but he knew that he was suta putra not kṣatriya. But he went to Paraśurāma, the intrinsic temperament was to get training for a kṣatriya, and he went to Paraśurāma to be taught. But Paraśurāma’s custom was that only brāhmaṇa and kṣatriya, without kṣatriya he won’t teach anyone less. Karṇa gave his acquaintance as a brāhmaṇa and Paraśurāma trained him, taught him the lessons of the weapon throwing, all these things.

Then, one day Paraśurāma is sleeping on the thigh of Karṇa. And Indra, who was always against Karṇa, he had partiality towards Arjuna his son, some say that Indra in the form of a worm, he came to bite Karṇa and blood flowed. And when that blood that flowed touched the body of Paraśurāma he woke up, and told, “What is this?”

Then he was perplexed, “Oh, it is some worm coming out of the earth and has bitten me and the flow of blood.”

“But so much flow of your blood and you don’t interfere me, don’t ask me to awake. What is this? This much patience a brāhmaṇa may not have. You must be a kṣatriya. Only kṣatriyas may have such tolerance, patience. Brāhmaṇas can never have. So say you are not brāhmaṇa.”

Then he had to confess. “Oh, then, I am a suta-putra.” Something like that he told.

Then he threw a curse that, “You have deceived me. Whatever you have learned from me won’t come to your help when you’ll really be in danger.”

So that kṣatriya, they have some natural patience, they don’t be afraid dying of any physical tolerance. So Ambarīṣa, that kṣatriya habit helped him. “I won’t shirk. I face the danger, whatever may come on my head.” And also, he was a devotee, pure devotee, but of lower order, not very higher order. We know it from Sanātana. “Ambarīṣa used to do the service in his hand, and temple,” all these things, told that “Ambarīṣa is a general devotee. Above them there is Prahlāda.” In this way the gradation went on.

But Ambarīṣa - and that was, the argument taken in by Nārāyaṇa in Vaikuṇṭha. “You are a brāhmaṇa, Durvāsā took all this in his favour, two points - I’m a brāhmaṇa, I’m a tyāgi, sannyāsī. And Ambarīṣa he’s a gr̥hastha, householder, and he’s kṣatriya. And you are showing partiality to him and you are Brāhmaṇyadeva, we learn from the scripture you are Brāhmaṇyadeva. You must give some prejudice towards our side, to the brāhmaṇas. But we don’t see you doing the justice.”

Then Nārāyaṇa also put in His turn. “Oh, you are a brāhmaṇa, you are a sannyāsī, but when you went to burn Ambarīṣa he did not fly away, but what about you? You are making so much of your body consciousness that when Sudarśana came to attack you then you are fleeing the three worlds. And you say that you are more closer towards your brāhmaṇa and kṣatriya but what you say in the consequence Ambarīṣa honoured My vrata, Ekādaśī. To honour Ekādaśī means to honour Me. He did it. And you also did it. In the Yamunā you found that the time is passing away. You also took some water to keep up the vrata, took pāraṇa. And you were displeased with him because he observed My vrata. You are his atiti. He did not take any real food but only taking a drop of water he showed respect to Me. The Ekādaśī vrata is My vrata and you also observed it. And where is his fault? He gave respect to Me and you were angry with him. And also that was sanctioned by so many brāhmaṇas of your race, and he's a culprit? So you'll have to go to Ambarīṣa and the decision cannot be taken in My court."

He went to Brahmā, he went to Mahādeva, all sent to Viṣṇu, and Viṣṇu, Nārāyaṇa also said like that, "You will have to go to that same Ambarīṣa, you have committed offence there."

"You are making me so, insulting me, it is rather insulting to go to him."
"No, no. You go there. You will find the magnanimity there."

Then Durvāsā had no other alternative but to come to Ambarīṣa. And Ambarīṣa standing still like a criminal, something like that offending person he is standing there. "I have done so wrong that the brāhmaṇa is displeased with me. And what is this? Sudarśana came and drove the brāhmaṇa to what direction I don't know. But all these troubles due to my connection, so I am a criminal." Like a criminal he was waiting there and as soon as Durvāsā came and no sooner he has asked any forgiveness, Ambarīṣa was ready beforehand. And he gave praise to Sudarśana cakra, "If I have done anything good in my life in the service of the Nārāyaṇa, Oh Sudarśana, You release this brāhmaṇa. Don't trouble him. This is my request, this is my prayer to You. At the cost of all the merits in my life I pray to You, You please release this brāhmaṇa from troubling him."

Then Sudarśana stopped. Then Durvāsā went to praise: aho ananta-dāsānām:

[aho ananta-dāsānām, mahattvaṁ dṛṣṭam adya me kṛtāgasō 'pi yad rājan, mangalāni samīhase]

["I have seen the greatness of the servitors of the Anantadeva, Śrī Nārāyaṇa. You are so magnanimous that although I am an offender you have prayed for me. You hold an unparalleled position in the whole universe.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.5.14]

“Wherever he is moving, Oh, what to speak of the servants of the Ananta of Nārāyaṇa. They’re so magnanimous yet we brāhmaṇas we are fond of austerity and collecting some subtle mystic power and to trouble the ordinary people at large. This is our qualification. But these whoever he be who has got connection with Nārāyaṇa, they’re so generous, so magnanimous. No purity can be compared with bhakti, devotion of Nārāyaṇa.” In this way he began to preach.

But again, Durvāsā had to come against Pāṇḍava, here, there, everywhere, that Durvāsā is taken in for cursing. He’s a man of cursing, a brāhmaṇa, who is reputed for, notable for his cursing. Everyone was to be afraid of Durvāsā for his cursing.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Why is he like that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He comes in the shadow of Rudra, Mahādeva, Vayankara, Mahādeva, Śiva. He’s born in partiality from the potency of Śiva, Rudra, Vamsa, destruction, some fated connection with destruction, Dibyara. In Sukhadara also we see his case.

In Draupadī’s, but to a devotee of Kṛṣṇa whatever unfavourable, ultimately they come to prove the dignity of the devotees. Draupadī, only a negligent portion of sak, that was in the pot, and Kṛṣṇa came, urgently. “Give some food Draupadī, I am very hungry.”

And yes, flow from the eyes of Draupadī. “What You say, only for food that we are in danger. Your Pāṇḍava, Your sakhī Draupadī, all will be turned into ashes just now, only for want of food. And You ask to eat something from me. Nothing left. I have by some arrangement of the unfavourable. Today we are in such danger that I have taken my food and everything finished as it was ordained by the sun.”

But before Draupadī takes her food, the food in the pot won’t be finished. But after Draupadī has taken nothing will remain. And that was the case there.

That is...vilolar lankar ?, oxymoron or something like the opposite mixing.

“That we for food that, I am hankering, I am craving Your presence and You want food. What is this? You know everything and still You want food. No food, no, You please see. If You search, nothing remains.”

“Something may remain. You search your pot.”

Then Draupadī searched and found a speck, a negligent portion of a sak, vegetable, leek. “Oh give Me that, give Me that.” And He took it.

Yasmin tuṣṭe jagat tuṣṭam priṇite priṇito jagat [By satisfying Kṛṣṇa, the whole universe becomes satisfied, for one who is dear to Kṛṣṇa is dear to the whole universe.]

“I am satisfied.” And in such a plane He’s standing He expressed His satisfaction, all were fed, especially the Durvāsā with all his disciples.

So they went away, fled away, especially in fear of Bhīma. “That if we go, if we cannot take any food, the Bhīma will not leave us, but punish us, so go away, go away.”

So Durvāsā’s curse to the Pāṇḍavas has taken the Pāṇḍavas to a pristine glory, glorious position.

So in the case of bhakta it is so. Dangers come but only to enhance their beauty, to glorify them, whatever. This is the very nature of the devotion to Kṛṣṇa in that way. None can, nothing can predominate over it. But what humility they show, that is natural. But opposition cannot come in touch with them from other side. So Vaiṣṇava aparādha in that plane we may not commit any anomaly. That is to be very carefully detected and we must be very careful about that, that who are my well-wisher, I may not do any wrong towards them.

Yataḥ karti jnatam katum saha te tad vidam [?]

The Vaiṣṇava's are your guardian, your well wishers, so be careful not to do any wrong towards them. Otherwise to the ordinary persons, ordinary plane, you may not be very particular, they won't harm you. But be alert that in your plane, the important plane which you are able to come in, from that plane obstructions may not come to you to trouble you. Be careful about your own plane, because they're your well wisher and if you do any wrong to them that will be very bad. And that will bring in turn big disaster. Be careful about Vaiṣṇava aparādha.

And Vaiṣṇava aparādha is only - the Vaiṣṇava's; that is another thing, Vaiṣṇava aparādha. All other misdeeds may get relief from the grace of the Lord but not offences to the Vaiṣṇava. That is a peculiar thing. All the deeds may be forgiven by the Lord but in the case of His own He does not take the law in His own hand, He gives it to him who is offended to decide. That is a peculiar position of the Supreme.

Vṛndāvana dāsa Ṭhākura says, "The thorn enters in a particular way in your body and only through that it can go out, not through other parts."

So the Vaiṣṇava's they consist the body of the Lord, as if as it is. So if anything wrong is done to a particular place of His body, there should be given some medicine, some nursing, and not in other parts. In this way - Vaiṣṇava aparādha. The Vaiṣṇava can only forgive what wrong is done to him or her, not even the Lord cares to do that. That is a peculiarity in Him.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura

Hari. So we may be saved from offences against a Vaiṣṇava. Nitāi Caitanya.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: Hare Kṛṣṇa. We will return now to Māyāpur Dhāma now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: And come again, tomorrow.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tomorrow. Of course, some of you are coming, either you or he, some coming every day. And I pray to the Lord keep me fit to meet you.

Tamal Kṛṣṇa Swāmī: We are also praying like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Devotee: I have one question Mahārāja. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Who is he?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This is Nava Yauvana Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Comes from?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's from San Francisco, with Atreya Rsi Prabhu. He's working with him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Atreya Rsi came here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, with Svarūpa Dāmodara. Nava Yauvana Prabhu, his interest is in Ayurveda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ayurveda. And Prabhupāda, your?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And how long is he in connection with this ISKCON?

...

Question? Come closer.

Nava Yauvana Prabhu [?]: Kṛṣṇa says in the third chapter [3.37] of Bhagavad-gītā, kāma eṣa krodha eṣa, that lust and lust alone is the enemy. And then a few śloka's later He says that by regulating the senses one can conquer his enemy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And by way of regulation He asks us to have an acquaintance with the nature of soul, then all these will be turned into ashes.

indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ param manaḥ manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ

[“The learned proclaim that the senses are superior to inert objects, the mind is superior to the senses, and the faculty of resolute intelligence is superior to the mind. And he who is superior to the intelligence is the soul himself.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.42]

evaṁ buddheḥ param buddhvā, saṁstabhyātmānam ātmanā jahi śatruṁ mahā-bāho, kāma-rūpaṁ durāsadam

[O mighty Arjuna! Knowing the soul to be thus perfectly distinct from the intelligence, steady the mind with resolute intelligence and destroy the indomitable enemy, lust.]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 3.43]

Who is not easily accessible, we cannot trace where he lives, but suddenly comes and after looting, disappears. Durāsadam. But the way to conquer them is to analyse what is the senses, what is the position of our senses. Then what is the position of the internal king of the senses, the mind. And then, what is intrinsically the acquaintance of the faculty of judgement, the buddhi, reason. Then, with the help of the reason to try to find out the background of the reason, of the judgement, of the decisive faculty, the background - what is that? That is only a pencil of ray and its nature is diabolically opposite to the world of experience. In Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam there is an example that in the moonlit night the cloud has covered the moon. And the cloud is seen by the light of the moon but the cloud has covered the moon.

na rarājoḍupaś channah, sva-jyotsnā-rājīṭair ghanaiḥ ahaṁ-matyā bhāsitayā, sva-bhāsā puruṣo yathā

[“During the rainy season the moon was prevented from appearing directly by the covering of the clouds, which were themselves illumined by the moon’s rays. Similarly, the living being in material existence is prevented from appearing directly by the covering of the false ego, which is itself illumined by the consciousness of the pure soul.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.20.19]

The example is drawn from Upaniṣad. So, the ahaṅkāra, the mind, the senses, sense consciousness, the mind and the intelligence, all combined forming a system has covered ātmā, the moon. But they are seen and it is possible for them to act only because there is light, because of the ātmā, the moon. So, by the help of the reason we shall try to catch what is above that and we shall be able to see that it is ātmā. We may come in direct connection with ātmā, and conception also, however hazy it may be. Then the whole thing of the material aspiration will turn into trash and you will be able easily to conquer all the charms of this world. The Lord says here. Only anyhow you try to have the superior conception of your ātmā. You are so and so. And these base things have come to entrap you. How dignified position you are in there, that you are, raso 'py asya, param dṛṣṭvā nivartate:

[viṣayā vinivartante, nirāhārasya dehinaḥ rasa-varjaṁ raso 'py asya, paramṁ drṣtvā nivartate]

["Although the person of gross corporeal consciousness may avoid sense objects by external renunciation, his eagerness for sense enjoyment remains within. However, inner attachment to sense objects is spontaneously denounced by the person of properly adjusted intelligence, due to his having had a glimpse of the all-attractive beauty of the Supreme Truth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.59]

Their charm will be vanished when you come in contact slightly with the dignified position of your own soul. And what to speak of the Supersoul, Paramātmā, and not to speak anything of Nārāyaṇa and Kṛṣṇa! So much ecstatic enjoyment is that side, only when come, it is within you, though it is far away at our present conception, but still it is with us, the jīvātmā. And try to concentrate even for a second there and we'll find how dignified position, and whose are these thieves, the reason, the mind, the senses, all are thieves and dacoits taking you where? In the land of misery, by some intricate conspiracy. That will seem to you.

indriyāṇi parāṇy āhur, indriyebhyaḥ paramṁ manaḥ

[manasas tu parā buddhir, buddher yaḥ paratas tu saḥ]

["The learned proclaim that the senses are superior to inert objects, the mind is superior to the senses, and the faculty of resolute intelligence is superior to the mind. And he who is superior to the intelligence is the soul himself."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.42]

Our senses they're superior in comparison with all the things we experience around. Without senses nothing is of any importance to us. Suppose this touch, the eye and then the vision, the ear, devoid of all then no conception of anything external, the world is nothing to us.

Again the central figure of the senses is mind. He is calling me, "Oh, I was unmindful. I did not hear." The sense is here but because I was unmindful I did not hear him. I did not see, un- mindfully. So mind is in the centre. And mind is saṅkalpa vikalpa, the two functions of mind, "I want this, I don't want this. I want this, I do not want that." This is mainly the acquaintance of the mind.

Then buddhi, from mind we are to go up to buddhi, reason. What is that? nischiankar [?] "Oh, mind wants that but it will have such reaction, don't go that side." The buddhi, the intelligence will, the faculty of judgement will give me precaution, "Don't go, don't hear what the mind says, don't obey." That is intelligence.

Then, if we go up, surpassing intelligence, and search after what is the backing of intelligence, the function of intelligence is making possible, what is that background, then we'll be able to see, "Oh, this is myself proper. And all outside extension in the material world, they are material coating. I may leave them and with the ātmā I can go up somewhere else. This atmosphere is not at all necessary to me, it is harmful, it is a coating, a garment which is thrust on me to come in connection with this bad environment.

We are leaving this here, and my soul proper with that realisation I can go to a higher direction, towards Paramātmā, by going up. This is coming down and that is going up. Going up from ātmā to Paramātmā and His environment, and passing Brahmaloḥa I am to go to Śivaloḥa and Vaikuṇṭha. Then when in Goloka, then I am in complete, my return journey is complete there, so to say.

Svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti - the domain of love and beauty and extreme dedication. That is innate and that is very easy at the same time.

And this is all laborious and artificial. Whatever we are doing here, we are in connection with, whatever function and activity is all artificial. And we shall find there that is only natural in our innate conception. Svarūpe sabāra haya, golokete sthiti. The beauty, or love, similar, our intrinsic hankering for that, that is svarūpe. We may know or may not know but our innate hankering to come to beauty and not force. Some of us may think that force is a greater attraction, but if our analysis is perfect then we shall come to know that power is not the final resort of our hankering. Its final thirst is for beauty and for love. And that is found in the land of the highest dedication. We must pay for that, dedication. Dedication means paying. We pay and pay, and go up and up, and we shall reach the land of spontaneous dedication and love and beauty. That is Kṛṣṇaloka. That is Goloka. Goloka means a full sphere, a solid circle, not only circle in the plane, but a solid like a ball, Goloka. Goloka means ball. That is four right angles, solid four right angles, right angled figure, in a circle. That is Goloka; a globe. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Mahārāja Devotee: ...but māyā is presenting a trap in the form of offering relationship which is not pure, which is not loving.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, māyā, that is my own karma. That also emanated from me with my cooperation. With my helping she has taken me so far. We won't forget that first my consent took me to this illusory world. None else is responsible for that but my tiny freedom, free will of curiosity took me here, of colonising spirit. That colonising, that māyā proposed for a good colony here to me and I was entrapped. 'Oh. I shall offer so many enjoyment, enjoyment, I came to enjoy and colonise in this new land, and I am captivated in the colony.' My prospect was wrong, my conjecture, my free plan was wrong design. I am captured.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Is that like getting married?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Getting married?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: May be something like that, married. That is of course a major presentation is there. But there are many who even does not like to marry, the renunciation, the mukti vādi. But they're also not of normal position, does not want to marry, but they want dissolution in the Brahmaloḥa there, that is eternal sleep. No marry question there, but apathy towards the cooperation with the loving principle, the loving nature. No cooperative will there in the slumber, but not marrying.

But rather, the marrying in the opposite. To be married with Kṛṣṇa, and marry means to serve, not only enjoying tendency, but in any combination, in any rasa, with the spirit of service. The service, the dedication, that is the criterion to take us up. Hatvāpi sa imāṁ lokān na hanti na nibadhyate.

[yasya nāhaṅkṛto bhāvo, buddhir yasya na lipyate hatvāpi sa imāṁ lokān, na hanti na nibadhyate]

[“He who is free from egotism (arising from aversion to the Absolute), and whose intelligence is not implicated (in worldly activities) even if he kills every living being in the whole world, he does not kill at all, and neither does he suffer a murderer's consequences.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.17]

The cooperation, otherwise we can destroy so many worlds, so many globes, I may not be caught as a criminal. The inner participation is as an instrument of Their universal will I do I have no responsibility for that, whether it is good or bad.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In the end of Prabhupāda’s Bhagavad-gītā As It Is, in the very last sentence he says, “When you attain Kṛṣṇa consciousness then the jīva attains his normal condition in the pleasure giving potency.” So I’ve always understood pleasure giving potency was hlādinī śakti. So does the jīva in pure Kṛṣṇa consciousness have some connection there?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm? So jīva?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The jīva in pure śuddha bhakti, is there some connection with hlādinī śakti?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The spirit of dedication can only take us there, bhakti. Bhakti, prema bhakti.

bhaktyāham ekayā grāhyaḥ [śraddhayātmā priyaḥ satām bhaktiḥ punāti man-niṣṭhā śvapākān api sambhavāt]

[“I, who am dear to the sādhus, can be reached only by devotion born of unalloyed faith. Even a dog-flesh-eating outcaste who dedicates himself to exclusive devotion for Me is delivered from the influence of the wretched circumstances of his birth.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.21]

We can only go there through bhakti, not by karma, jñāna, yoga, anything of the type. Bhakti can give there, bhakti means dedication, sevā, the tendency of service can only lead us. The higher company, the company of a higher entity than myself if I want, only through service I can connect with him. I cannot enjoy him. Is it not? Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If I want any higher connection I can only connect with him in the way of service. I cannot, if I want enjoyment that must be of lower status. I shall have to compel it according to my sweet will then I shall have to enjoy. But higher company, which is superior to me in intrinsic position, if at all I want his company, only through service. That is by satisfying him I can go to him. My connection with him depends on his will, not that of mine. So only if we can, if we like to go up, only we can do that through the connection of service, not of enjoyment, nor of renunciation or indifference. Do you follow the scientific basis of the service?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any connection with the higher entity is possible only when I want his satisfaction. He won't care to satisfy me. It is my earnestness to meet him. He's in higher position. But if he's satisfied he may call in, then I can enter, otherwise not. So without serving spirit, no progress on the upper realm is possible at all. Only practice of shadow exercise, taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, but without the spirit of serving attitude it will be only labour in the mundane world, mundane sound.

ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ

[“Therefore, the name, form, qualities, associates, and pastimes of Kṛṣṇa are beyond the realm of sense experience. When, however, a devotee engages the senses, beginning with the tongue, in the service of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa reveals Himself to the purified senses of that devotee.”]
[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Purva-vibhaga, 2.234]

Kṛṣṇa Nāma, rūpa, guṇa, līlā, kṛṣṇa-nāmādi, Name and the sound, then the colour, the picture. Then the rūpa and guṇa, His quality, qualification. And the līlā, His pastimes. All aprākṛta, of higher type. And, sevonmukhe, when we are in serving attitude He comes down. He comes down within our heart and then from there to tongue, there to eye, there to feeling, touch. In this way we can have His experience.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But doesn't it say, sevonmukhe hi jihvādau, beginning with tongue.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jihvādau, jīva, jihvādau, in jīva, the sound in jīva, and the picture in eye, in this way. Svayam eva, of His own accord, sphuraty, He reveals, He comes down. The subtle energy comes to fulfil, to connect with gross and He subdues the gross and the Name dances in the tongue. But the electric connection is there, then only, otherwise it is all imitation. And crores of lives we may imitate without any fruit. Nāmākṣara bahiraya batu nāma kabu naya.

yadi karibe kṛṣṇa-nāma sādhu-saṅga kara [bhukti-mukti-siddhi-vāñchā dūre parihara]

[“If you are going to chant the Holy Name, keep the association of the pure devotee and totally abandon all your desires for enjoyment, liberation, yogīc perfections or miracles.”]

[From Jagadānanda's Prema-vivarta]

Only with the help of the sādhus, the devotees, we may imbibe, but something like electric connection. That may connect with the higher place. And if He pleases to come down to connect with this body then this body can work, can show bhakti. Otherwise all imitation. The imitation won't take us there. So sādhū-saṅga, the dynamo is necessary to move the fan, to light the light bulb, that is sevonmukhatā, serving spirit, that is bhakti. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Christians, they want to relate to God in an enjoying mood. In other words they see God as order supplier.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes, “Oh Lord, give me my bread.” These are lower habits. That may be trap also to capture the ordinary people, ‘that you will get bread, come here.’ And then they may educate about His higher qualification. It may also be possible. To entrap them such offer may be added, ‘Oh Lord give me my bread.’ But that is not everything, there are other advices also. So we must do justice to the Bible also. And where we differ in the spiritual conception we shall fight there, not only in all places, not in every...

A good faith, by His sacrificing spirit Christ has drawn from the material world, “There is God, there is something like God. Come to Him. Try to come to Him.” Then what is the conception of the God, then we shall come to differ. He says that, ‘Father-hood.’ We shall say the, Son-hood and this consort-hood, not only father-hood. Not only always in the transcendental hazy world but we can have as concrete as in His own plane. In this way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: One purport in that chapter, third chapter of Bhagavad-gītā, Prabhupāda says that by recognising the urgency of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, in that way one can regulate the senses. By understanding, or feeling the urgency of Kṛṣṇa consciousness one can begin to regulate his senses. So I’m wondering how to increase that feeling of urgency for Kṛṣṇa consciousness?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That sādhū śāstra kṛpā. The scripture is there, and the living scripture is sādhū. Only by keeping his company through serving spirit we can imbibe power from him, and my consciousness may be raised up. Confidence must be increased. Śraddhā, faith, must be increased. How? Where there is faith, higher faith, I am to imbibe from there.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nītāi Caitanya. They're all hearing, they're hearing all, they have no questions? You are representing them all? Eh?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They may also have some questions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They may have.

Devotee: Yes, I have one question Mahārāja. The karma, when a devotee falls away, so many devotees, not so many but a lot, fall away and um, I don't understand how the karma for a fallen devotee works. Prabhupāda writes in the fifth canto that it is different than an ordinary materialist.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometimes some men they're leaving the mission of Kṛṣṇa consciousness movement. They fall away. So Prabhupāda explained that that is different than an ordinary karmī, someone who is a materialist. That what happens to him, that's different than what happens to a devotee.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Again repeat it.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Like Nārada Muni says, tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ caraṇāmbujam harer.

On that subject...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ caraṇāmbujam harer, bhajann apakvo 'tha patet tato yadi yatra kva vābhadram abhūd amuṣya kiṁ, ko vārtha āpto 'bhajatām sva-dharmataḥ

[“One who has forsaken his material occupations to engage in the devotional service of the Lord may sometimes fall down while in an immature stage, yet there is no danger of his being unsuccessful. On the other hand, a non devotee, though fully engaged in occupational duties, does not gain anything.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.17]

Generally we are, a course of duty has been attached to us, to leave to him but very slowly, and have indirect connection with the Lord. Mostly what is the mood of our inner nature we are engaged in that, recommended to engage us in that duty. But only having a very little and remote connection with God. But there, what's the consequence? That sva-dharmaṁ, means varṇāśrama dharma. That is dharma, artha, kāma. Dharma, artha, kāma. Kāma means sense pleasure. Artha means to make money, that is to make the sense pleasure permanent. The money, if I spend the money I can attain, I can purchase sense pleasure of the tongue, of the touch, of the ear. I can go to the music. I can go to the conception of it. So money means which can purchase sense pleasure. And then dharma, duty, that is to distribute sense pleasure to others. All material to others. What is the result? That I'm keeping it in the bank, in the time of necessity I shall draw the money, something like that. I am given to this and that, but I am keeping it in the nature, and after my death as reaction that will come to me again. In this body or beyond this body my ego will have them returned as reaction, whatever I'm giving to others. But in terms of sense pleasure, all, dharma, artha, kāma, whole thing concerned with sense pleasure. And then the opposite is mokṣa, renunciation, to dismiss all sense pleasure in different forms, in giving to others, or in preserving, or in experiencing, the sense pleasure.

Then, here Devaṛṣi Nārada says to Vyāsa that, "What have you taught so long to the world, that is making much of the sense pleasure. Either in direct sense pleasure or to reserve it in form of money, or distributing sense pleasure to others in the environment, dharma, artha, kāma. And mokṣa, and you're speaking something to get out of it, but not of any positive gain. Withdrawal from sense pleasure does not mean eternal bliss, but there is eternal bliss. And you have deceived the whole humanity from the throne of the great Ācārya. You have done downright wrong."

In this way Nārada chastises Vyāsadeva. Then Vyāsadeva came to senses, what to do.

Tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ caraṇāmbujam harer, bhajann apakvo 'tha. "You are very much particular, they must improve in a gradual process, otherwise if they march quickly there's possibility of falling down, keeping the enemy behind. But if he falls at all what does it harm? And what is the good in this running in the vicious circle, going up down, up down, like a wheel. A portion of wheel is going up and next moment it is coming down, and next moment going up. It is eternally coming up and down, up and down. What is the utility of going up when you have only to come down in the next moment?"

So if for trying to come out of this vicious circle he takes ambitious step, and in consideration of the improvement in the illusory he holds come contemptible position, it does not matter. What little he has earned that is the real thing and that will help him really. And this imitating and false imaginary going up and down for eternal time, it has got no value at all. So one who has given up his householder life, takes to sannyāsa, but he could not keep that life of continuous Kṛṣṇa bhakti and Guru bhakti, Guru sevā, bhakta sevā, falls down, again comes to take wife and house, only the time between for few days what he did that is nirguṇa. That is not to be compared with any loss and gain of this world. What he'd acquired for five days or one year that is another thing quite different from the gain of this mundane world. That is nirguṇa and that will remain permanent.

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

[“Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

A little bit of that higher quality thing will help him greatly in the journey of his eternal life. But these things going up and down eternally, this has no value at all. Going up no value, again coming down, going up means next moment coming down. This sort of up and down has got no value. But in their consideration a man who took sannyāsa he could not keep, then again he became married and the society rejected him. “Oh, he’s a vāntāsi, he’s fallen, he went to fulfil his ambition but he could not keep the purity of life. He has fallen down, so he should be abhorred.” But that has no meaning in this case. What he has done to take the risk, and if you cannot do, whatever small you can do, you do in the right way, that:

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

The service of this quality can save you from a great dreadful future, so, tyaktvā sva-dharmaṁ caraṇāmbujam harer meaning that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, now, Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja, he had to see hell.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja. Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's a great devotee.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He had to see hell. So...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes what is taught counting Yudhiṣṭhira or Arjuna that should not be taken defect in their life.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes to teach others it is like a drama.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So in that example what is taught we shall take that. Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja, that truth, this, Kṛṣṇa is above truth, above law. Previously, just a few minutes ago I told that, that Kṛṣṇa is above law. His sweet will is above law. The law is given by Him to suit a particular stage of our life, and we must apply it to Kṛṣṇa. When Kṛṣṇa's direct order asks us to do something, the śaraṇāgata bhakta devotee will do that without giving any importance to the law which is also given by Him for the lower section. So to speak what is truth, what is truth, that is to be analysed, that is to be understood first. Kṛṣṇa's word is the highest truth. Truth, everything means to satisfy Kṛṣṇa, not other things. His satisfaction, what lives to the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, the Absolute Authority, that is truth. And all other truths have been evolved to take us to the stage where we can do cent per cent for the, always for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa. Truth. That much value should be given to the law. Do you follow? Am I clear?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To you, but not to them, to all? Eh?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: To everyone.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very good.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, in the same way, we have to satisfy Guru and his orders.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So if we become disobedient to the orders and the vows that we have accepted in the service of Guru, what is our fate?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But we must understand the Guru properly, what he says. If we understand Guru by saying such he wants this thing from me, and I must do that. But if I think that by saying this he wanted to mean so much, I shall do that. I must be sincere to understand the direction of my Guru. Do you feel?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don't understand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Guru ordered a particular thing. One thinks that he, by this order, he wants this thing. Another in his heart thinks no, he meant this. The difference in the understanding of the meaning, then, what to do? But sincere of course, not artificial, sincerely. Suppose he says, 'fetch some water from the pond.' I went there then, 'this is not all right. There is another good water is here.' So water, one takes that bad water, knowing bad water he took it. The Guru ordered.

Another thinks, he wanted it for drinking, but this drinking water, man passing by it will be better. I shall take that. In this way it may differ.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. But what if he says at the time of dīkṣā he says, “You do not take any intoxication, māda.” And then the disciple he becomes overwhelmed by material connection and he takes intoxication.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Then, intoxication, to judge it in very subtle way, I shall say, there are many planes. One may feel in the, who can carry out the order in the different, higher planes also, the leaving of intoxication that is an external qualification. That is not very important. You see, because if there be men who do not recognise Kṛṣṇa but free of intoxication, we won't care for him. At the same time, a man who has got some habit of intoxication and he has got some faith in Kṛṣṇa, we shall admire him. Devotee has got real faith in Kṛṣṇa but this bad habit, that will go, that will vanish in no time. But free from intoxication, but an atheist may be free from intoxication, we shall avoid him totally. But this man we shall think to be better.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So how do we distinguish the prākṛta-sahajiyā? They're taking intoxication, mixing illicit, asat-strī-saṅgi, we don't want to associate with them, do we?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So, if I've got the inner eye we can see. The Vaṁṣī Dāsa Bābājī, he was a bona fide devotee, recognised by our Prabhupāda. But to deceive others, deceive the crowd, he used to smoke sometimes, and sometimes he used to throw the external skin of the fish.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Scales, fish scales.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Outside his āśrama, the people may not come. To avoid the crowd he used to sometimes do these things. So, we shall have to know more intimately, what is this. Whether it is his imitation to keep us aloof from the ordinary mob, or his attraction is for the food of that intoxication. So that we shall have to...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So if it is clear...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...but generally we shall try to have both external and internal, both lives pure. Internal and external, both pure, that will be good for us. We shall always seek such company. But we shall at the same time we may think that there are men who, whose intoxication is of no value, but little superfluous position, but he has got high realisation, mind, realised mind, and so it is possible, may be. But generally we Gauḍīya Maṭha people we shall always, the external and internal purity we try to keep up.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There was this poet, Gosh, the Bengali poet, and he made some stories about Kali-yuga in the time of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bengali poet, Gosha. Oh, Girish Gosh, the dramatist, the renowned dramatist. He made one drama about Caitanyadeva, and wanted Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura to open that drama. But Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura hatefully dismissed him. “No. I’m not going in connection of this...” Also one vesya, prostitute, he was selected to play the part of Caitanyadeva, that one Vinodini by name, one prostitute he was to go on with the part, that is, he will play in the form of Caitanya. And he wanted Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura to open, because it is drama and he's showing over the life of Caitanyadeva. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, "This imitation, awkward imitation I don't want to come in touch."

Then Rāma Kṛṣṇa Paramahaṁsa, he went to see that drama and appreciated that lady very much. So much so that in the next day he went to see that Vinodini, that prostitute. "Oh, you did the play very impressively."

And she was very ashamed. "No, no, no."

"One can arouse devotion in the heart of so many by shedding tears, all these things, when playing for Caitanyadeva. She's not an ordinary person." In this way Rāma Kṛṣṇa eulogised him.

But we are not a party to that. We don't recognise that. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura hatefully avoided this sort of imitation Kṛṣṇa.

wont help our real progress. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare

Śruti-smṛti-purāṇādi-, pañcarātra-vidhiṁ. With our neglecting the advices of śruti, that is Veda, smṛti, so many scriptures that come out of other smṛti. Smṛtis are the scriptures compiled by the Ṛṣis on the basis of the Vedas to apply our daily life, śruti-smṛti. Purāṇādi, so many stories of good persons have been related in some historical way, that is Purāṇa. Śruti-smṛti-purāṇādi-, pañcarātra, there is another scripture coming from the Śiva, Śiva followers, as pañcarātra. Nārada-pañcarātra is there, sattvic, rajasic, tamasic, pañcarātra. They have come with some recommendation for our higher life. If we neglect them and create ourselves a new path and show any extreme devotion, that is only an utpāt, a disturbance, a great disturbance to the world, that should be thought and dismissed. That is the purport of the verse.

Extreme, and new type devotion towards the Supreme, which is not sanctioned by the previous Ācāryas, that should be summarily rejected by one who wants his real good. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Since the time of Mahāprabhu and Ṣaḍ

Goswāmīs, how is it that this deterioration took place so quickly, in such a short time?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally we shall think that good things are very rare. The scarcity in this mundane world, there should be scarcity of the good thing, that will be normal. That will be normal, that in the mundane world there should be scarcity, rarely to be found. High things, higher substances are rare, not so cheap here of course in this mundane world, and it is cheap in its own domain. So kala dharma, kala dharma.

Kalo pasam [?]

That was inaugurated in a particular, the first part of Kali by Mahāprabhu. And we shall try to guide ourselves according to the direction intrinsic acquaintances with the place, not any imitation or show. That we wont try to deceive ourselves, self deception should always be eliminated. Then of course we may hope good future. Self deception should be avoided.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: he's Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja?

Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yourself. I am told that you are a little indifferent to the worldly affairs. This reminds me of the speaker of Bhāgavatam, Śukadeva Goswāmī. His qualification was his,

One who gives full attention and respect to hearing Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam achieves unflinching faith in the Supreme Lord, the giver of salvation."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9-10]

Śukadeva is addressing the assembly of the best intellectual giants of the time, authorities of different departments in the śāstric knowledge; authorities.

Kavaṣa, Kumbhayoni, Dvaipāyana and the great personality Nārada.]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.19.9-10]

All these were present in the assembly of Parīkṣit Mahārāja. And dying, Parīkṣit Mahārāja is sure to die after seven days, so the assembly is of a very grave nature. And all the stalwarts they have come to console Parīkṣit Mahārāja. The great exponent of the all sects of religious schools, helper, and he has been cursed by the brāhmaṇas whose culture and to cultivate he supported best, and the curse has come from that quarter. So at heart they're very much aggrieved and came to give consolation to the Mahārāja, Parīkṣit, who was noted for his religious temperament. And he's cursed to death. So the stalwarts of the religious world all assembled there.

And Parīkṣit Mahārāja submissively put the question. "Sure death after seven days, within seven days, how can I utilise my time? You are so many authorities, by the grace of the Lord fortunately have assembled here. I'm at your disposal. Help me that after death, after this sure death, I may attain blissful life."

Then, they're, according to their stages of realisation they're advising. Some say yoga, some recommend tapasya, some dānam, in this way.

But Parīkṣit Mahārāja again, very humbly told, presented that, "You of course give some unanimous verdict so that it will be easy for me to follow your advice."

Then they were consulting and discussing within them, but differences are going on in their opinion.

At that time Śukadeva Goswāmī appeared. A young man of sixteen, without any dress, quite naked, but a good figure, beautiful, and stout and strong. Like half mad he's entering the assembly. And some boys were behind then and they're throwing dust and this and that, like just as to a madman.

The whole assembly stood up with respect. The boys disappeared. And they all conjectured that, “This must be that Śuka, about whom we’ve heard but we’ve not the chance of seeing him. Perhaps that boy has come?”

So all stood in respect, and then they could recognise. Vyāsadeva was there; then he was welcomed, and unanimously he was put into the chair of the speaker.

Then all the gentlemen, the leaders of the religious India at the time, they unanimously told that, “We are all very eager to hear from him, this boy, this young youth. Mahārāja, you are greatly fortunate, and your fortune has attracted him. And let us all hear you put questions to him, and let us all hear submissively. We have got a very good chance. We want to hear him. We are waiting for long, what’s his realisation we want to know. Because in his eyes even there’s no distinction of a man and woman; the women do not care to cover themselves. The women never see anything in his eyes that they feel necessity of covering themselves. Such is his vision, which is not fixed in any worldly plane. No charm of any worldly things has he got in his heart, his eyes, his everything, is meant for some transcendental thing. So what is his realisation we are very eager to know. Put questions to him.”

So Śukadeva Goswāmī also he gave his own acquaintance, or expressed his position, “What am I?” Pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye. I was regularly trained in transcendental knowledge. I’m established there. But, uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā grhīta-cetā, but my attention has been forcibly snatched towards some higher cosmos, above the transcendental impersonal conception.”

Generally transcendental is known to the philosophers of this world to be impersonal. It is something like zero, infinite and zero is of the same characteristic. So where we cannot have any entrance as a subject for investigation, the subject has got its stand far below, and we have some conjecture of some hazy thing, the jīva soul. So only cloudy, like a sky, infinite, blue, something, so the spiritual sky is also seen like an infinite blue sky, that is Brahman. It is non-differentiated, non-specified, infinite space, which we cannot have any experience of, practical experience. Nirguṇa - that is the summation of all negation. The positive experience is confined only to this world, to us. This ear experience, this eye experience, this touch experience, sum total of these experiences and something drawn from that in the mental world; that is our property here. That is saguṇa. And all these experiences fail to have any conjecture of that background. So it is nirguṇa, summation of all the experiences are absent there. The positive knowledge of our experience is absent completely there. So that is nirguṇa we are told.

Pariniṣṭhito 'pi nairguṇye, "I am well established there." Puri, sampurna rupena.

"Perfectly, I'm established there, in connection, always in connection of what you call negation of all these positive things we experience in this world.

Uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā grhīta-cetā rājarṣe. But Oh prince, this is my real stage what I give vent here to. Uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā. Something extraordinary, higher, wave, current, has carried me to some other world. And that cannot be a part of this world of experience. Uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā, uttamaḥ _____ no nescience is to be traced here, no nescience, no darkness, no ignorance; that I'm sure. That is all light, all knowledge; that sphere, all below. That is rather the foundation is all pure consciousness. Nothing of the mundane to be traced here, Uttamaḥ Beyond the boundary of all conceptions of ignorance:

misconception. Uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā śloka means carita, conduct. A flow of life is to be traced there which cannot be compared with anything of this mundane jurisdiction, a higher conception of life, rather, the highest conception of life, śloka.

Gṛhīta-cetā rājarṣe. I'm captured totally by the charm of that sort of life, that sort of pastimes; that sort of flow of nectarine activity, I have come in connection with. Gṛhīta-cetā rājarṣe. Forcibly carried my mind, my understanding has been forcibly carried and engaged there. I can't come away, come down from that charm, the land of that charming land.

Ākhyānaṁ yad adhītavān. Then, I had to come to my father. Before this he tried his best to take me to that direction, somewhat, but I didn't care. Then again I shall have to come to my father, that Vedavyāsa, and to be a regular student I had to study about the ways and nature of that higher entity.

Gṛhīta-cetā rājarṣe, ākhyānaṁ yad adhītavān, tad ahaṁ te 'bhīdhāsyāmi, mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān. You are a great personality, having, you deserve to have the highest prospect of life. You're suitable to that. Mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān. The highest end, you are fortunate enough to receive that sort of highest attainment. Tad ahaṁ te 'bhīdhāsyāmi. I shall just try to give you the news, my experience about that transcendental līlā of the Reality the Beautiful of divine love, mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān."

With this introduction he began to deliver his lecture. He's continuing for seven days. Seven days different questions, answers, and Kṛṣṇa līlā was established. And all the religious authorities of the time, they all very submissively gave their ears to the teachings of Śuka Goswāmī, that is Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. Kṛṣṇa līlā, it is meant for whom? The līlā is transcendental. Though it has got much similarity with the lustful movements of this world, but it is just the opposite.

ātmendriya-prīti-vāñchā - tāre bali 'kāma' / kṛṣṇendriya-prīti-icchā dhare 'prema' nāma

[“The desire to gratify one's own senses is known as kāma (lust), but the desire to please the senses of Lord Kṛṣṇa is prema (love).”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.165]

ataeva kāma-preme bahuta antara / kāma – andhatamaḥ, prema – nirmala bhāskara

[“There is a gulf of difference between lust and love; lust is dense darkness, love is the brightest sun.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 4.171]

The soul in bondage, their aspiration, mostly, men for the women, and women for the men: because they find there the most of the food of the senses. The major portion of our senses is to be found there, so natural attraction is there. The whole prakṛti, even in the trees, even in the beasts, even human beings, everywhere we find. But this is a perverted reflection, and just opposite. Kṛṣṇendriya-prīti-icchā. Just as suveru and kumeru; South Pole and North Pole: just opposite. One is desperately searching after sense pleasure, and another the opposite. The highest dedication one can command for the satisfaction for the centre. Provincialism, selfishness, extended selfishness, but in the infinite extended selfishness has got no value. So I am self-interested, or I may be interested for the family members, or village members, or society, or the country, or at least the whole globe, or whole solar system, but that is only an infinitely small part. Small part; in comparison with the infinite existence it has got no value. So what is the conception of the whole? We must dedicate everything, even an atom in our energy should go to the centre, and no less than. And what sort of centre? In Bhagavad-gītā

we find, Kṛṣṇa says to Arjuna, athavā bahunaitena, kim jñātena tavārjjuna viṣṭabhyāham idaṁ kṛtsnam ekāṁśena sthito jagat

["But Arjuna, what is the need of your understanding this elaborate knowledge of My almighty grandeur? By My fractional expansion as the Supreme Soul of material nature, Mahā-Viṣṇu (Kāraṇārṇavaśāyī Viṣṇu), I remain supporting this entire universe of moving and stationary beings."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 10.42]

"What more I shall go to enumerate Arjuna to you? I am here, I am there. This is in Me.

Everything is Me. Know in a nutshell whatever you can conceive is in My one part."

The conception of Infinite; we read in Māyā's Essay, "Everywhere there is centre, nowhere circumference." Infinite: something towards that. So whatever, the smallest energy I can command, it must be directed to the centre, who is representing the whole infinite, rather, so many infinities in His one part; towards that. Then how to connect with that farthest conceived reality? It can come only down, śrauta-panthā; never by empirical method, but deductive method. He can come; we cannot go. We can only submissively accept that way; that is by our free will, and free will must be guided by sukṛti, ajñāta-sukṛti, jñāta-sukṛti. Then it comes to the level of śraddhā that is faith proper. Kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya.

['śraddhā' - sabde - viśvāsa kahe sudṛḍha niścaya kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya]

["By rendering transcendental loving service to Kṛṣṇa, all subsidiary activities are automatically performed. Śraddhā means viśvāsa, faith, sudṛḍha, very firm and strong, unflinching faith. Faith in sādhū, śāstra, Guru, faith in Kṛṣṇa. This is faith. If someone develops Kṛṣṇa bhakti, all their activities are finished, kṛṣṇe bhakti kaile sarva-karma kṛta haya. Nothing is left out if you have faith.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.62]

If I serve the centre everything is served, and perfectly. Otherwise if I serve anything, that is like an understanding between two dacoits or two thieves. Not more than that. Misguided, they combine; make treaty, something like that. So the centre of welfare of the whole that is to be detected, otherwise our energy will be lost. How is it possible? Is it possible at all? Some men, unknown and unknowable, just as in mathematics this is to the *n*th term to enter infinite, recurring, goes to the infinite, *n*th term, so unknown and unknowable.

I told several times before; I was questioned by an Ārya Samaji leader, “That if finite can know Infinite He’s no Infinite.”

And I could tell, by the grace of my Guru Mahārāja, That if Infinite cannot make Himself known to finite then He’s no Infinite.

So in that direction the connection may come, from the direction of the Infinite. And we’re to catch that. And His agents only can help us to catch the thread. And this is in a nutshell what’s the matter.

I was told that our Kīrtanānanda Swāmī is not much interested in the, even in the administration of the ISKCON. He’s indifferent, to this, the worldly transaction between ISKCON and the world. Not very earnest to that, but he goes on in his own way. And still he’s one of the strongest supporters of the ISKCON. But he has come here today. He’s the President of the ISKCON I’m told; is it not? He has come to see me because I have got some friendly connection with his great Guru Mahārāja. Now, I’m also told that serious sittings are going on to discuss the important affairs of the internal management of ISKCON. But I don't understand how he has made his time to come here, in the midst of such grave engagement, serious engagement. Still, he has come. And I would like to hear something from him. I am told that perhaps by his earnestness Nava-Vṛndāvana has been created there. Is it?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And like prince, like a king, he has represented his Gurudeva there, I was told, and very valuable. Of course, it is sincere common sense that everything that will be considered of high value must be given to the feet of Gurudeva, of the God, and Gurudeva. It is because so long our mind is captured by the charm of this beauty of this world that all should be dedicated to the God, and to the Guru. And thereby we can get relief; we can get release from the charm of those bright things in this world. Everything what is considered to be good must be devoted.

yat karoṣi yad aśnāsi, yaj juhoṣi dadāsi yat yat tapasyasi kaunteya, tat kuruṣva mad arpaṇam

["O son of Kuntī, whatever you do, whatever you eat, whatever you offer in sacrifice, whatever you offer in charity, and whatever austere vows you may keep - do everything as an offering unto Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.27]

Karmārpaṇa, varṇāśrama dharma; the next higher, kṛṣṇa-karmārpaṇa, but varṇāśrama dharma, that is, dedicates everything to Kṛṣṇa, but indirectly. Then in the Rāmānanda Rāya dialogue: Eho bāhya āge kaha āra. [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.59] "This is also superficial. Go deeper.”

Then Rāmānanda Rāya told, Kṛṣṇa-karmārpaṇa-sarva-sādhya-sāra. “We must be fully conscious that all the activities of varṇāśrama have got direct connection with Kṛṣṇa, not indirect.”

ite tat karma phalum sri krsnaya samapita astu [?] That is indirect way to see the nose in this way. But direct, everything is meant to satisfy Kṛṣṇa. With that consciousness we march to discharge any sort of duty in this world, with Kṛṣṇa consciousness at heart; kṛṣṇa-karmārpaṇa. So everything what is considered to be charming, and what is considered to be beautiful and good, must be devoted to the service. Then only we can get out of the charm of those things, the utilisation of the present environment, for the service of the Lord. And then we can cross successfully this world and go up towards a more conscious area, spiritual area, soul area. Bhūr, Bhuvaḥ, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satyam.

I asked Swāmī Mahārāja to construct a temple where the whole Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava philosophy will be demonstrated. I had a mind to construct such temple here but that was too much for me in my purse. I could not do it. Then when I was told that he will build a temple there I humbly put my desire. “I wanted to do so, according to Bṛhad-Bhāgavatāmṛtam of Sanātana Goswāmī the whole structure of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava philosophy will be represented there in the Mandīr.” Bhūr, Bhuvaḥ, Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Satya, in a spiral way, in this way. Then, tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana' ['kṛṣṇa-caraṇa'-kalpavṛkṣe kare ārohana]

To show by demonstration that such is the structural position of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava theology. And from there Kṛṣṇa has come down in this prapañca, in this world, very kindly to give us the clue, how we can enter, how we can be lifted up there, in the highest place. And in a scientific way that should be dealt with. One who will come to have the darśana of the temple, he will go back with an idea of the whole structure of all the religious conceptions ever come into the world; and the development in a scientific basis.

What is Bhūrloka, the land of experience of the five senses? Bhuvahloka, without this body, the mental experience world, and there is also classification. Svaḥ, Mahā, Jana, Tapa, Bhuvahloka, Pitriloka somewhat, Pretaloka, and Devaloka, Savaloka, and Mahāloka, above Devaloka, Brghu, prakṛti rsi dhama, then Satya, Tapa, in this way. There is Brahmā in the Satyaloka, Catuḥsana, Satyaloka. Then Virajā, the highest position what the Buddhist's wants to attain, prikiti lay. And above that Brahmalya, that of Śaṅkara, ends there, finishes. Then Śivaloka, bhakta Śiva. Vaikuṇṭha, the land discovered by Rāmānuja, given to the world, Vaikuṇṭha. And Paravyoma. And there are so many Vaikuṇṭhas for so many types of the different phases in līlā of Nārāyaṇa, in the centre. Then above, Ayodhyā, Rāmacandra, vātsalya rasa, first beginning, then Dvārakā, Bahuvalav, then Kṛṣṇa, Mathurā, and again in Mathurā sphere there is Vṛndāvana, Govardhana, Rādhā-kuṇḍa. How, from what standpoint it is being higher and higher conception? This is to be depicted.

And he accepted this plan and asked his followers to go on constructing such a temple.

But I'm too old. He could not see. And perhaps I may not see.

But anyhow, your combination is greatly encouraging, and what you are doing is a very big thing, beyond our expectation. We could not think even so much success as was attained by my revered God-brother Swāmī Mahārāja. So much so that I cannot think him but śaktyāveśa avatāra, some higher power came and inspired him and worked for him. Otherwise as a tremendous action in the plane of such high degree of theology can never be expected to happen. So some super, higher, divine force, power, worked in him; no doubt: no doubt.

Wealth of the, from the so high, from the highest plane was taken in and distributed so lavishly in the world. That is a supernatural activity, supernatural power. Gaura Haribol. And you are all, you all represent him, before me. So I am so happy, and think me fortunate, that I'm surrounded.

As Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura told, that, "In the near future the Europeans, the white men, will also join these black men here under the common banner of Śrī Lord Caitanya and go on with Kṛṣṇa kīrtana."

And Prabhupāda our Guru Mahārāja began and half done, or done in such a great magnitude by Swāmī Mahārāja, which is unthinkable by us. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Dayal. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol.

Kīrtanānanda Mahārāja: I've just come here to hear. I've not come to talk. I'm just very grateful to you for reminding me of Prabhupāda, and enlightening me further about His Divine Grace.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He wants to be reminded of your Prabhupāda?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He said you reminded him of Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I am reminding him about his Prabhupāda. His Prabhupāda, perhaps [nineteen] forty four, when he was in business, whenever he had some money in his hand, Back to Godhead.

Devotees: [Group laughter]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: An issue of Back to Godhead came to us; and every now and then, "Oh! Let us go and attack Jawaharlal [Nehru] and Gandhi. What are they doing? Why not they're doing, if really they want to do good to the people why do they not take the line of Mahāprabhu, of Gauḍīya Maṭh? They're wild goose chasing, and getting so much name and fame. Let us go and attack."

And he wrote letters now and then, some replying some no reply. But he used to go on pushing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And he had to fight with his worldly life also; not only property, but also the characteristic of his family, not very favourable.

Yasyaham anuga nami hari kseta tad dhana sa nahi [?]

To attract him wholesale towards His own, He, Kṛṣṇa, arranges in such a way that the environment may not be favourable for this worldly life. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Original thinking also he had in the business life. He created from oil some medicine for injection. He told me that, “I went to some doctor, ‘Please canvas my degardine [?]’ or something like that. ‘It can be injected for, in the case of cod liver and other oily medicines are used for purpose, a cough, so it can be in case.’

The doctor said, ‘Oil can never be injected.’

‘Yes, I know that oil cannot be injected. But you see the milk can be injected but ghee cannot be injected, but ghee comes from milk. So the oil cannot be injected but oil has got its fundamental position and from there it may be prepared so it can be injected and it will give the result of cod liver oil.’ Something like that. So that was his original conception to give oil into the plane of injection. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Chemist. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And when he was an agent of Kartick Boshe, PC Raya, that company, Bengal Chemicals, he came in connection with Prabhupāda, his Gurudeva, really. Before that only a cursory view with his friend he saw Prabhupāda in Calcutta once only for an hour or so. But actually he came to connection with his Guru from Allahabad.

And just before that, this Tapasvi Mahārāja at present in Chaitanya Maṭh, then he was the Maṭh commander of that Allahabad Maṭh. And I went there for a visit, for some devotional activity, and he took me to Swāmī Mahārāja, Abhaya Caraṇāravinda. Then I arranged for Bhāgavata-pāṭ, in one evening. And also our prasādam was also taken there, it was so arranged.

His father was living, Gaur Mohan, he was very happy to see us. And that was the connection day, permanent connection to Gauḍīya Maṭh, from that time.

And perhaps in [nineteen] thirty three or so [21st of November, 1932] when the foundation stone was laid by Sir [William] Malcolm Haley, the Governor of [United Provinces] Allahabad, of the Rūpa Gauḍīya Maṭh lecture hall, that year he [Abhaya Caraṇāravinda] took initiation. Guru Mahārāja coming back to Allahabad from Vṛndāvana after Vṛndāvana parikramā finished, at that time he took initiation and came in closer connection.

Then he went to Bombay, left the service life, and independently took the business life, and in Bombay. There also I was in his connection. Then left Bombay, came to Calcutta, and there was also next door neighbour, his sublease we were with four rooms, first floor. And ground floor his laboratory. So closer connection I had with him than any other God-brothers, and discussions also about Bhagavad-gītā and the Gauḍīya Maṭh principles, Mahāprabhu, all these things.

And lastly he took the, he wrote a letter from Allahabad to me, “I’m disgusted with human society.” On a postcard.

But that is missing. I’m searching but I don’t have that postcard.

“I’m disgusted with human, rather the birds and the beasts they seem to be very friendly to me, but the human society.”

Then he took sannyāsa and devoted him completely, totally, to that Bhāgavata translation. And gradually the Prabhupāda’s inspiration came and he went to your land.

Prabhupāda sent his men to London, to England, but he wrote in Gauḍīya, “That Mārcinaloka, the American land has not yet been tried.” He wrote it in the weekly journal Gauḍīya I remember, “That Mārcinaloka, the land that is American land is not yet attempted for Mahāprabhu’s service.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. And Prabhupāda expressed his heartfelt desire that Māyāpur, the land of Mahāprabhu, must be ornamented with gold and diamond.

Once, one of his old disciples, when he engaged himself in digging Gaura kuṇḍa, he...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:...acquired some land for the Gaura kuṇḍa, he made arrangement or some exchange in another land next to it, where Nitāi kuṇḍa is now, just on the east side.

Then Prabhupāda told him that, “I asked you to purchase the land, not to interchange, because that land what you are offering for interchange that is also necessary for my future purpose.” In this way some hot discussion came, meeting was a little hot. And Prabhupāda told, some very transcendental sentiment came in him, and he told, “The land of Mahāprabhu. This is the temple, all, all ornamental, transcendental, and decoration with gold, diamond, etc, super consciously higher materials. I shall discover the whole of the Dhāma and express it, make it before the eye of the persons. And even so much, that why should I get money? If I can have a brick of the temple I can sell it. I can by selling one of the bricks of the temple I shall get immense money, crores of rupees. And with the help of that I shall restore the whole Dhāma and I shall show to the people that what sort of aiśvāryam.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Opulence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “Opulence and majestic view the land, the Gaura Dhāma, has got.” Feelingly he’s told so much. I can’t understand that why he’ll sell one of the bricks. “I shall sell a brick if necessary and I shall get crores of rupees and from that I shall construct and do all these things.” He hoped, madly he expressed such desire. “I want to; with golden colour I want to express the land of Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya Deva. What was He? Rādhā-Govinda-milita-tanu. The lustrous expression of the land of love and beauty, and who was so magnanimous He came to distribute Himself to the people at large. That highly valuable thing: that was arranged to give to the people at large. So magnanimous, so kind; and that must be brought into the consciousness of the people that they may have such prosperous prospect, and they can attain that. And that is being distributed from here.” He’s feeling transcendental feeling. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

[“I now see You appearing like a golden doll, and Your entire body appears covered by a golden lustre.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.268-269]

Then Mahāprabhu had to divulge, to speak out His own svarūpa.

Rādhābhāva, mahābhāva, rasa-rāja, mahābhāva-dui eka rūpa. [Madhya-līlā, 8.282]

Rasa-rāja, the king of all ecstasy, and mahābhāva, the greatest hankering for the rasa, by dedication, rather, the greatest dedication personified to draw that rasa. Both combined, rasa-rāja, mahābhāva. Mahābhāva, mahākula, the greatest possible hunger, hunger to devour the rasa, to taste the rasa, and infinite source of rasa, ecstasy, anāndam, beauty, is there. Both combined; the positive and the negative, the tasteful and the taster in highest degree are represented in one, Mahāprabhu. And sva-bhajana vibhajana, then turns the thing in this way that He’s searching Himself. He’s very eager to taste His own sweetness and beauty. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. The outer part is Rādhārāṇī searching, and the inner part the rasa-rāja whom He’s searching, sva-bhajana vibhajana. Jīva Goswāmī says. And that He likes to distribute around, towards four sides. He’s drawing and distributing, milking the cow and distributing the milk, sva-bhajana-vibhajana-prayojanavatārī. This is the necessity of His incarnation. This was the prayojana, the necessity of His own.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you mentioned how our Guru Mahārāja he dedicated himself to the Bhāgavat translation. So sometimes it is said that the Ācārya should make a literary contribution. Sometimes Prabhupāda told us that in regards to the Goswāmī literature that we were not qualified to hear such confidential talks. And that maybe in a few generations of bhaktas, of children, and their children Kṛṣṇa conscious, their children Kṛṣṇa conscious, that we might have some qualified devotees who could read such literatures, or translate them. So a question comes that the Ācāryas in our society, what will be, what their view should be on literary contribution? Because our Guru Mahārāja he also made some sixty volumes of books.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Then you also amongst you who are qualified they may go on translating them and taking them to the public in different languages. That also he has arranged. But we don't think that the higher literature, for the higher souls, highly realised souls; that may not be propagated in a very broader way. That is meant only for the selected few who can go up to mark, up to that mark and can have entrance to discuss and to think and to work according to that high direction. For the general recruitment: that śraddhā for Mahāprabhu and śraddhā for Kṛṣṇa consciousness. The mādhurya rasa especially and parakīya, these two planes may be misunderstood by the general people. So it is beyond our conception that we can live with God as wife or mistress. Wife may be possible to somewhat we can accommodate, but mistress of God that is impossible. The conception of Godhead and the conception of His mistress at the same time, it is impossible to conceive for the ordinary intellect. So that should not be brought in very largely to the people. It should be kept for the selected few only. That in the stage of Uddhava, āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām vṛndāvane kim api gulmalatauṣadhīnām

*yā dustyajam svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā bhejur mukunda-padavīm
śrutibhir vimṛgyām*

["The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61]

The mādhurya rasa, the wholesale dedication, to the all-capturing attitude of the Supreme Beauty, then when that is also to be increased in intensity, the parakīya has to come in. That is very, the meeting should be very rare, then only it will be more intensified, the milan, and says the background.

Uddhava told, svajanam ārya-pathaṁ ca, whom we consider to be our own kith and kin, our own intimate friend, at the cost of the, for the sacrifice of their relationship, that is one. Another ārya-patha, and those ways that are recommended by the stalwarts, the leaders of the religious society, that also should be given up. So much risk, who will come forward to prove such risk, the bad name and even the least help we can expect from our nears and dears, all eliminating, taking the fullest risk to cast towards something who is an autocrat, but beautiful. So such degree of sacrifice was considered to be the highest even to Uddhava, the greatest of the devotees whom Kṛṣṇa Himself in His own words describes that, "You are dearer than My life. What to speak of Lakṣmī, Baladeva, Śiva and Brahmā. You are dearer than My own body Uddhava." And that Uddhava says in that high way about the Vraja gopīs.

So that is not to be dragged in to the ordinary intellect or religious feeling; should not be. But that will be śrutibhir vimṛgyām. The Vedas are only showing that that is in this direction, but cannot express, the śruti. The highest works of revelation, they also only from a distance shows with finger. "The Kṛṣṇa līlā, the highest līlā, is on this side. We can't express that." This is the attitude of the very revealed scriptures of the highest order, where we should not venture to take the whole thing in this mundane world. We keep it on our head.

pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge [mattala hari-jana viṣaya range]

["The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."] [Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura]

The very tenor of the preaching of our Guru Mahārāja was this. He used to worship the path, the way of rāga, that highest love. He did not try to bring them down here. Always keep up on your head the rāgapāṭha, the way of love to attain Him, the divine love. And you tread all possible stages of land with pūjā, with respectable attitude to saying about the Supreme. And always keep this highest form of love affairs that is the rāga, divine love, on your head. Otherwise if you think you have got that you are gone, you are doomed. It is not so cheap. It is not so cheap. Don't try to make it very cheap. It is very difficult.

He once told, there was one scholar, a Doctor, I forget his name, in the Dacca University. He used to teach the Sanskrit literature to the post graduate students. And one lady, one girl, was a student of that M.A. class, post graduate class, and that gentleman, that Doctor, he was a good scholar, renowned scholar, he used to teach the books written by Rūpa Goswāmī, rāga-mārga, Ujjvala-nīlamanī, etc. And Prabhupāda put objection from here. “What does he think? This is not for the school students. The highest religious preachers they cannot hope to have entrance in that domain. And what are they making, taking it in that way?”

Then it so happened that that gentleman had to marry that girl. Then from such stage he came.

Then one day our Guru Mahārāja was saying in that connection that, “These fellows do not want to understand the dignified position what Rūpa Goswāmī has told. It is above all religious sentiments.” So much so he came with some example.

sri rupa manjari sakhi patita pures [?]

bimba dhare kartam anagata patrika vaya [?]

This comes from [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu about Rūpa Goswāmī.

That father and son, Guru and the disciple, they will sit together and they will discuss these high points. And that is of what level? The śiṣya, the disciple, Raghunātha dāsa Goswāmī, his attitude was to see Rūpa Goswāmī as his Guru, in rāga-mārga. But his statement about his Guru, in this śloka, what is this? Sri rupa manjari sakhi [?]

She friend, you, Rūpa Mañjarī, that child, that is girl, who helps the Rādhā Govinda līlā, that mañjarī, so Rūpa Mañjarī is the leader, and her assistant girl, Dāsa Goswāmī, he’s Rati Mañjarī.

“I see that there is some, on Your lip there is some mark, so how has it come? The suka pakhi, the parrot, taking it as a bimba phal, some red fruit, some scratch created by the parrot’s beak; otherwise it may be possible that your husband is not here. It might have been possible that if he’s here then he may create this scratch. But he’s not here and you are not loose character. You are famous for your chastity; then why this mark in your lips?”

bimba dhari katham anargata bati gaya [?] “Your bata, your husband has not come here. So why this?”

simata suka pungu bena [?] “Is it created by the parrot?”

In this way, in a figurative way, putting to his Guru, Rūpa, who is considered to be his Guru, and he’s talking about him in such a way. So in what plane the śiṣya and Guru can talk of this? He’s showing, his aim is towards Kṛṣṇa. “That you have got the favour of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa has kissed you.” That is the viewpoint. And she puts the question in such a way. And to whom: to his Guru. So it should be, our mind should be kept in such a stage, in such a sphere, that this rasa can be used. The śiṣya, the disciple is talking to his Gurudeva about Kṛṣṇa’s līlā in such a way. So in such a level one should go. The father and son, the Guru and śiṣya, they can talk easily and happily and without any miss-feeling they may talk. From that sphere it should be handled. It is not in this mundane sphere, that Rūpa Goswāmī’s Ujjvala-nīlamanī, or these things to be taken down.

Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. With grandeur he tread this world, and always showing up, that, “My Guru and rāgapāṭha is above my head, far. And I’m a servant of them, and I’m doing the spade work. No man’s work,” he used to say, often, “No man’s work. Spade work, the ground work, I’m doing. I’m doing the ground work. That one day that rasa may be taken here, prepare the ground.”

So our service will be of that characteristic, always keeping it high and invisible, in the transcendental world. The acme, the zenith, of realisation we shall only allude; show finger, that this side. It is unapproachable, but still it is, and it is the be all and end all of all of us. The highest fate is being decided there, the highest attainment. Yet it is transcendental. It is whimsical. Not that it is under our whim. It is autocrat. It is despot. But still it is, and it is the highest. This should be our attitude when we shall move and live in all the length and breadth of the world. Only we shall try to prove it from this side, that side, and not any direct. It is impossible. It is adhokṣaja. Adhokṣajam indriyaṁ jñānaṁ yena. By very nature it is such that it will keep everything under Him, adhokṣaja. Avāṇ-manaso gocaraḥ. It is transcendental, but it is, that should be our trend. This is such and such, so and so. It cannot be described. Only He can describe Himself.

Sanātana Goswāmī says that, “I am a fellow of the mundane world, and I am writing about the affairs of the harem of Kṛṣṇa. The Satyabhāmā, the Rukmiṇī, their nature is such and such. What audacity I have got? I have entered and I am dealing and describing about the nature of the consorts of Kṛṣṇa. Who am I, a man in the street? But it is not that I write it. Someone is forcibly making me write. I am only holding the pen.”

So in this way it can come down only; we cannot go up and fetch the thing and show it here. When that, He likes, He comes anywhere and expresses Himself. This characteristic we must not forget any moment; that it is His will, through His sweet will He can come. But we may break our head but we can't venture to approach that land. Always His coming down is our connection. We can hanker and hanker and hanker. Śraddhā, faith, faith, and then He will have grace and He may come down, then we can have some experience whatsoever. This relationship we must not forget any time, that it is His sweet will. But at the same time we are to, we must be told, that in my case it is so, but not in the case of my Gurudeva, neither is it the case of other higher Vaiṣṇava.

There are also His statements; the statement of the Lord is there. "I am under the clutches of My devotee. What they make Me do I cannot deny." His sayings are also there.

“See the peculiar, mark the peculiar position of Myself. Everything is in Me. I am everywhere. Nothing is in Me. I am nowhere. Paśya me, just mark the peculiarity. I’m not a madman that I’m contradicting My own statement. This is My peculiar position. If you can understand, understand this, I am such and such.”

“This is My peculiar position. I am everywhere, still, none can see Me.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. In my young days I was with some feeling wanted to see God; with some, this indifference to the world came. One of my learned brothers, he, to discourage my, that sort of temperament he’s saying that, “If there be any God where is He? He’s to manage this great world. There are so many stars whose light has not yet reached this land, and the speed of light is so many miles in a second - the capacity of going, light year. So great this universe and if there be any God then He has no time to care for this small world.”

But I told that, ‘Can you say, show a part, that God is absent here?’ My answer was to him, ‘Is there any part where God is not? Everywhere He is. So He may be far, He may be near, the nearest. So everywhere He is. If we have got eye to see then we can see He’s everywhere.’

Tad dūre tad v antike [Śrī Īśopaniṣad, 5]. He's far, far away, He's nearest of the near. So still transcendental, adhokṣaja – it is His will. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

*yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de rādhāra mahimā,

[Vāsudeva Datta]

“If Gaura did not come to walk on this earth then who will inform us, make us know the nature of the highest position of the divine love, and especially about Rādhārāṇī, Whose sacrifice knows no bounds for the service of Kṛṣṇa?”

I have got another thing I may tell you. I think that I'm able from Gāyatrī to take out the meaning of Rādhā Govinda līlā. Śrutibhir vimṛgyām [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61] Veda-mātā Gāyatrī, the mother of all the revealed truth has been told is within this formula of Gāyatrī, brahma-gāyatrī. If we have, if we can see the deeper meaning there, we see that there is Rādhā-dāsyam. It wants to teach us the service of Rādhārāṇī. That is kīrtana, gānat trāyate, by singing we can get liberation, and liberation to the utmost that means svaṛūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ, to Goloka, our identification of the function to get back the function in Goloka, in the highest, innermost corner of our heart. And kīrtana, and varṁsī dhani that sets us right and puts us in the proper service, so gānat trāyate. Trān means liberation, complete liberation means to come in the position where I can get the opportunity of rendering my best service to Kṛṣṇa, to Rādhikā. So liberation in its fullest sense means that, svaṛūpena vyavaṣṭhiḥ, and by Gāyatrī, by chanting, this formula, we can hope to have such realisation, realised position, that is found in Gāyatrī.

I have also written a verse about the meaning of Gāyatrī, such meaning of Gāyatrī. Bhargo, bhargo means the land of dedication, svarūpa-śakti, nemita jagat. Devasya, Kṛṣṇa līlā mayī purusesya sundara and līlā mayī, deva. Deva means līlā mayī and deva means sundara, beautiful as well as līlā mayī, Who is playing, His is playful and beauty and playful habit. And bhargo, bhargo means the whole territory of dedicating service. And that is the extension of Rādhārāṇī, Her other half, the negative half; Positive and negative. So Gāyatrī points out that sort of goal, end, to each and every one of us. That is Veda-mātā. That is in a nutshell the whole contents, the whole truth of the Veda. “Go to the beautiful. Go to the love.” And that is the desired end. The be-all and end-all of all, everyone, we can’t deny, none can deny. We may not have it but still we can’t deny it. It is of such position.

Nitāi Caitanya Dayal. Nitāi came to give Gaurāṅga, and Gaurāṅga came to give Rādhā-dāsyam, Rādhā Govinda. And our Gurudeva came to give Them all to the world. And your Prabhupāda gave it to the world at large, beyond India, the whole world. So we bow down to those great personalities here.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:...it is general. It is desirable that an Ācārya... my opinion, and another thing...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, can you say that again because I wasn't recording? Can you say it again? Repeat, "It is desirable..."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is desirable [?] It is desirable that in such a great mission the Ācārya will be a sannyāsī.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, another question is that it is said that the Guru is above discipline, disciplinary action.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But this is applicable in relation to the disciples. In the zone of disciples, Guru's position is unchallengeable. But the Ācāryas among themselves, with their friends of equal position, they can discuss and may evolve some laws, by-laws, for their movements.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Especially when it is in a particular mission. And when there is a combination of many Ācāryas to meet in one place, some laws and by-laws should be there. And that should be dealt by, within the presence, almost the same plane, and especially not amongst the disciples. That sort of discussion should take place privately, amicably and within the persons of same plane of understanding and so. Because when we live in an association some laws and by-laws are necessary for conduct.

Devotee: We are seeing that sometimes there is not so much secrecy and sometimes things become publicly known. So it is very...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course it is known, it maybe known, but still our aim will be that towards secret, amicable settlement amongst the equals. There should be some sitting, some consultation, but it is desirable that consultation will be friendly, discussion will be friendly, and with the object of adjustment. And above head there will be the direction of Gurudeva and the scriptures, and other Vaiṣṇavas, mahājanas, over the head, Guru, mahājana, and śāstra. And the friends, they must discuss how they will live and move in their ways, because there are many and they are within an organisation. I think that it is to evolve some rules and laws and by-laws, should be evolved suiting their harmonious relationship. But these things as much as possible should be kept away from the disciple section.

Who is here? And what will be sign of a new Ācārya? [?]

Who can understand the meaning of the scripture and who can help others to accept those advices of the scripture. And who himself respectfully accepts those advices in his own life, he's an Ācārya, general. The general qualification of an Ācārya will be this - he will be able to understand the meaning of the scripture, and he will be able to preach it to others. And he has got the ability to accept them, accept those advises by the people, and who himself has regard and lives accordingly. These three phases, qualifications, we should desire to see in Ācārya, we should expect to see in Ācārya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: At what point should someone expect to begin to give dīkṣā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, the main thing is he has understood the thing and he's accepting sincerely. To live a life according to that upadeśa, that is advice, that principle. Who has understood the principle of the mission and who has accepted it, and who will be able, who can be expected to live accordingly. Three things must be there.

Devotee: Is this a personal decision or something that is coming down?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then the connection, he's a bona fide student, he should get admission. Dīkṣā means admission. Dīkṣā means recognition. Recognition should be given to a qualified person. And what are the qualities? That he sincerely comes to, he has understood our principle, and sincerely he has come to accept this creed. We shall help him, by recognition. And then he will have the same, and he will grow.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That's for the śiṣya. But what moves a man to give dīkṣā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dīkṣā; that is the qualification of Guru, Ācārya, that the one who has got sincere realisation, śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ:

[tasmād guruṁ prapadyeta, jijñāsuḥ śreyasḥ uttamam

śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, brahmaṇy upaśamāśrayam]

["Therefore any person who seriously desires real happiness must seek a bona fide spiritual master and take shelter of him by initiation. The qualification of the bona fide Guru is that he has realised the conclusions of the scriptures by deliberation and is able to convince others of those conclusions. Such great personalities, who have taken shelter of the Supreme Godhead, leaving aside all material considerations, should be understood to be bona fide spiritual masters."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.21]

Who has got real, sincere, realisation about the transcendental truth, and also who can prove it to the public with the help of the scriptures, that truth, śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ. Who has got practical experience and also theoretical knowledge about the scripture. Śabde pare ca niṣṇātaṁ, then, śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham, in Upaniṣad:

[tad vijñānārthaṁ sa gurum evābhigacchet, samit paniḥ śrotriyaṁ brahma niṣṭham] ["One who wants scientific knowledge about the Supreme Truth must approach a bona fide Guru and offer him everything required for sacrifice. The Guru must be fixed in the truth, having heard it from a genuine source."] [Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad, 1.2.12]

And in Gītā: jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ:

[tad viddhi praṇipātena, paripraśnena sevayā upadekṣyanti te jñānaṁ, jñāninas tattva darśinaḥ]

["You will be able to attain all this knowledge by satisfying the enlightened spiritual master with prostrate obeisances, relevant enquiry, and sincere service. Great souls who are most expert in scriptural knowledge and endowed with direct realisation of the Supreme Absolute Truth will teach you that divine knowledge."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.34]

Jñānī and tattva darśī. If he gets inspiration from above that you can distribute it to others then he will come up to take the position of Ācārya. And he must have this qualification - that he's established in that faith and he can prove the superior characteristic of his faith from the scripture to others. With the help of śāstra he will be able to prove to the public that this is higher life. And he himself believes that and is established in that form of life.

Devotee: A devotee, he is generally thinking that he has no qualification himself. He does not desire himself this position. So is it wrong to want to give dīkṣā? Should a man think: "Well..."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Vaiṣṇava characteristic is that he's connected with Infinite. Knowing has no limit. So as far as he will make progress he will find himself helpless and he will find that he knows nothing. But still he will be confident, like Newton, "That I am more learned than all of you, because you say that I have finished learning. And I think that I am only touching the ocean of learning only in one part. So I am more learned than you all." In this way he will think that I know nothing, because who is to be known, He is of such Infinite character. So this is more true than what they say. So I can request them to take my conception. In this way he may take the line of preaching the transcendental truth.

Devotee: He may desire.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Do you follow?

They say, "There's no God."

But I feel the existence of God. I feel that I am helpless, I am dependent, and the Absolute is there.

But they say, "No Absolute. We are absolute."

So these are all foolish. Though I know that I am very meagre, still, I hold greater position than these fools who say, "I am God." So, I am in a position to help them. "Don't be so proud as to think yourself God. God is great. God is great, great, great - in this way." Then, that will be his position, his attitude, and he can go to preach. "The God is Infinite and we are finite. You are not God." In this way, where he finds any inspiration in him, "What you feel that is true and that will help you and that will help all," then he will extend that knowledge to all, "That be helped. Come to realise the truth and help yourselves." With this spirit he will do, but in a congregation, in an assembly, in a mission, that personal will has got no, has got some value, but not full value, because in a friendly circle, "You do this duty. This is a common duty. And you do it better. I may not do." In this way. But if anyone feels in his heart that he cannot do, carry out the order of my Guru well, I can do it well more." Some sincere feeling, then he will try to be in that position, to acquire that position of Ācārya and will go on in the service of his Gurudeva.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, another question is, sometimes, there are many Gurus, initiating Gurus, and their disciples may be being trained or under the care of other God-brothers.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But there should be common guiding rules. The God-brothers should try to help them in such a way that they may not loose their reverence to the Gurudeva. That may be promoted, the reverence to Gurudeva, that should be promoted and in this way the God-brothers will have sense of responsibility there. And also that there are so many disciples of so many Ācāryas are mixing together and their faith may not be disturbed, "That your Guru is of lower order. My Guru is of higher order." These things should not be indulged there. So laws and by-laws, something will be there. And if it is found that anyone is boisterous and not caring for these rules then he should be chastised. And there should also be some punishment for him, warning, and punishment, so that there may not be chaos in the mission. If we want to go together we must have some rules of conduct so that we may live together and we can live well, helping each other. We are dedicating units, so not disturbing elements. Of course we shall, we are, we must be given to understand that we are all dedicating units. We must not come to fight with each other. Submissively and modestly there is the law of Mahāprabhu, the great:

*tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ*

[“One who knows himself to be more insignificant than a blade of grass, who is as forbearing as a tree, and who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself, is qualified to sing the glories of Lord Hari constantly.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

These things must be repeatedly preached, tṛṇād api sunīc, I must not be so rigid that I may not accommodate others. Taror api sahiṣṇunā, if still some aggression towards me I shall try to tolerate. And amāni, I never seek any fame from the environment, and still I shall be always ready to give honour to all. With this attitude we should march on our way. This maxim should be given very broader circulation, and that to become Vaiṣṇava, to become, we must have some discipline and discipline of this type. And it comes from no more personality than Mahāprabhu Himself. So we must have all, more or less according to our capacity, undergo, give respect to these rulings of Mahāprabhu. In a congregational movement especially it is required, tṛṇād api sunīcena.

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his Śikṣāṣṭakam translation says:

- 9) śrī-kṛṣṇa-kīrtane jadi mānasa tohār, parama jatane tāhi labho adhikar
 - 10) tṛṇādhika hīna, dīna, akiñcana char, āpane mānobi sadā chāṛi' ahañkāra
 - 11) br̥ka-sama khamā-guṇa korobi sādhan, pratihimsā tyaji' anye korobi pālan
 - 12) jīban-nirbāhe āne udbega nā dibe, para-upakāre nija-sukha pāsaribe
 - 13) hoile-o sarba-guṇe guṇī mahāśoy, pratiṣṭhāśā chāṛi koro amānī hṛdoy
 - 14) kṛṣṇa-adhiṣṭhān sarba-jībe jāni' sadā, korobi sammān sabe ādare sarbadā
 - 15) dainya, doyā, anye māna, pratiṣṭhā-barjan, cāri guṇe guṇī hoi', koroha kīrtan
 - 16) bhaktivinod kadi', bale prabhu-pāy, heno adhikār kabe dibe he āmāy
- 8) If your mind is always absorbed with great care in chanting the glories of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, then, in that process of Kṛṣṇa kīrtana you will gain mastery over the mind.
 - 9) You should give up all false pride and always consider yourself as worthless, destitute, lower and more humble than a blade of grass.
 - 10) You should practice forgiveness like that of a tree, and giving up violence toward other living beings you should protect and maintain them.

- 11) In the course of your life, you should never give anxiety to others, but rather do good to them and forget about your own happiness.
- 12) When one has thus become a great and pious soul, because of possessing all good qualities, one should abandon all desires for fame and honour and make one's heart humble.
- 13) Always knowing that Lord Kṛṣṇa resides within all living creatures, one should, with great respect, show honour to all living beings at all times.
- 14) Humility, mercifulness, respect towards others, and the renunciation of desires for fame and honour — one becomes virtuous by possessing these four qualities. In such a state you should sing the glories of the Supreme Lord.
- 15) Weeping, Bhaktivinoda submits his prayer at the lotus feet of the Lord: "O Lord, when will You give me possession of such qualities as these?"

Saṅkīrtana means bahubhir militvā yat kīrtanam. Many combined, a joined, chorus kīrtana. That means it presupposes all these qualifications in the members. Who are they? Dainya, he will be humble. Humility must be in him, humble, dainya, doyā. And he will be sympathetic to others, doyā. Anye māna, especially he will honour others. And pratiṣṭhā-barjan, he won't care for his own name and fame. These four qualifications we must have if in a combined many we are to go on with saṅkīrtana.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, every disciple has his own temperament.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, the Guru, he has one temperament. His disciple is under the care of a God-brother who has another temperament. So the Guru may become a little disturbed that the disciple is developing the temperament of the other.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, yes, there are difficulties, I don't deny, that it is very smooth and very easy. But still if we successfully want to go on with the movement in a combined way then some sort of check there should be. All cannot be let loose. There should be some check. And to check there should be some common laws and by-laws. And there may be some teachers engaged also who will look about the conduct of the disciples in general, some inspector. In every camp he will go and he will hear such complaints and give soberly advises to them. If such department is opened it won't be bad, because in a variegated nature there may be so many complaints. Some impartial judges should make a circular movement, and they will hear about such cases and they will help to minimise and compromise and pacify and to maintain the peace of the movement - internal peace. To maintain internal peace some well conducted character, officer may be engaged, a Vaiṣṇava of course. It should not be useless, I think. It will help the movement of the mission smoothly to go on.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So there's another question that also, you mentioned before there may be addition and elimination. So at what point is one to be eliminated?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eliminated, the general, main point will be when he loses his faith in Guru and sādhū and śāstra. Gurus and religious society and in the scripture, if so, God forbids, if such things happen, he should be eliminated, summarily, who has lost the faith, he should be eliminated. Then how can he be maintained, to what purpose? He has lost his faith. The capital is the faith, really, the faith in Guru, the faith in Vaiṣṇava, faith in scripture, Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa, all these things. If the faith is gone the man is gone. He can no longer be taken in the group.

Devotee: How is it demonstrated when someone will lose faith in his Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lose character?

Devotees: How is it demonstrated - that one has lost his faith in his Guru?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, who has got faith, by his movements, by his ways and his activities it may be detected by those that have faith. Suppose he has clearly revolted against Guru, he's preaching against Guru, he's preaching against scripture. "What I say that is everything." "Oh, you are moving in a novel way." "Yes, I have got inspiration from the upper, beyond the Guru. I do not like, I am not compelled to imitate the practices of my Guru." In this way, if he leaves his Guru and Mahāprabhu and others then he will be considered that 'you do not have faith in the creed so you should go out and do according to your own creed, your own faith.'

guror apy avaliptasya, kāryākāryam ajānataḥ utpatha-prathipannasya, parityāgo vidhīyate

["A Guru who is addicted to sensual pleasure and polluted by vice, who is ignorant and who has no power to discriminate between right and wrong, or who is not on the path of śuddha-bhakti must be abandoned."] [Munḍaka Upaniṣad, 179.25]

We find in the sayings of Bhīṣma, one of the twelve mahājanas in the Vaiṣṇava School.

Guror apy avaliptasya, if he is seen clearly in a fallen stage, very sensual, and preaching politics or sociology, or this thing that thing, and sometimes giving blame to the spiritual agents, in this way, if it is explicit then he should be eliminated, rejected.

Devotee: It has to be some very grave thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very grave and very gross. But it is impossible to maintain, when to maintain him that is to give slap to the Guru and Vaiṣṇava, then we can retain them.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometimes, our personal feelings about our own temperament may be so great...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That should be, the others will come and minimise and, temporary excitement about feelings may have a clash between the two and after some time that will be minimised and they will be friendly again. That should be tolerated to certain extent and that should be managed that if that is a standing then they should be given, different priests may not be allowed to work together, a little separation. In this way it may be managed. Exiting temperament, that is no disqualification. But we must try to manage in combined, and maybe managed to be a little distant between the two who have not worked together, in different planes, the feeling may be changed, or something like that. But if he has sincere earnestness to preach and qualification of that sort for the propaganda of his Guru, Guru's dictum, then he should not be eliminated. Some eccentricities may be tolerated, if the main thing is there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To err is human but to forgive is divine. A difference amongst many and that is most natural. But the adjustment is divine and admissible, that should be the ideal. If we want to work together, the God-brothers who have come from different quarters with different temperaments, from different countries, different ways, so we'll have to give some provision, toleration, there should be room for toleration. Otherwise so many of different countries, different nations, different societies, different faiths, they have come to work together. So differences there may be there, it is not a miracle. So we must be prepared to work together with differences. But differences of minor nature should not be cared much. The main thing we shall give importance and there we shall try to meet because they have got that common ground when they have come to one person with a particular temperament. They've all come, they're all charmed and they're all sympathetic and they're all attracted for the temperament and for the creed, for the preaching what Swāmī Mahārāja gave. So there must be some common ground. And there must be some differences. So, if we want to work in a mission, we shall have toleration and also unification, and what I said, some superintendent may have a circular tour to examine what are the petty troubles amongst the different zones. And that man will be of impartial and of tolerant nature, and have some good faith in the cause of the mission. That should be allowed to make tour, two or three or four or five, to keep up the peace, the internal peace and order, liquidity. That will be a good thing.

Devotee: Hare Kṛṣṇa. I was thinking today, this morning, how Mahāprabhu, He's very desirous that this movement expands, and therefore He actually wants many Gurus to come forward.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. In Mahāprabhu's time also, many Gurus worked on His behalf. Advaita Prabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu: then others also, Gadādhara Paṇḍita, Narahari Sarakara Ṭhākura.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Paramānanda Purī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Paramānanda Purī, we don't find any disciple of Him, that in future. Gadādhara Paṇḍita, Advaita Prabhu, Nityānanda Prabhu, and Sarakara family, and many others, they are disciples, main disciples. And then again, Śrīnivāsa Ācārya, Narottama Ṭhākura. Narottama Ṭhākura's Gurudeva, he did not accept any disciples but at last anyhow accepted only Narottama. And Narottama Ṭhākura in his turn in the whole nearest world he over flooded the whole of Manipur. That came under the banner of Narottama Ṭhākura.

Devotee: He had many disciples in Manipur?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The Manipur, extensively Manipur accepted Narottama Ṭhākura very ardently and extensively. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: So we should be thinking, in the GBC that somehow or other it is good that we expand the number of Gurus, it's a good thing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Expansion, not very lavishly, but must have some provision for extension. And the fit persons should be accepted to show the dynamic character of the mission and then there will be hope, or prospect. And the people may wait and may not leave the mission, 'that we have got no prospect, no hope here, so let us go and seek our fortune elsewhere.' So, some openness there should be, the bona fide person may be accepted, even after the departure of Guru Mahārāja. Because we shall have to, if we want to continue, then after when we are old sufficiently we are giving it to our disciple section. So why we cannot on principal we cannot extend it to our brothers? And already we are many. The number may be increased so many of the qualified God-brothers they will have some hope, they will stick, they will render service, they will be kept in. We must get chance of to my heart's content to give it to the world. That is not to hanker for the chance - that is not always pratiṣṭhā. That I want position, not that. The sincere necessity within the heart also may be there, the feeling of necessity that, "I must do something of higher service towards my Guru. I can do." So that sort of feeling must be encouraged. Such broad basis there must be in the mission. This is my opinion.

Devotee: Our Śrīla Prabhupāda said, "As the need arises."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, the need arises; the numbers of soldiers should be increased. Now they are doing. The military expenses are increasing day by day, every year, increasing military expense to fight with the opposition. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So need of spiritual soldiers are not only not wanted but we want it, from village to village, everyone, every place should be hunted and approached. "Take the Name of Kṛṣṇa and come under the flag of Mahāprabhu, and Swāmī Mahārāja said let's go to every village, every man approach. This is life, it shows life, the vitality of the mission."

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You said something very interesting in August, that you talked about, you always say something interesting, but in August you said, Narottama parivad, and you said, "We are rather inclined to think ourselves as Bhaktivinoda parivad."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, we do it.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, I thought this was very interesting because your Guru Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You say, "We are all Bhaktivedānta parivad."

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We will say that, but your Guru Mahārāja he instilled in you this feeling that we are Bhaktivinoda parivad. So we have thought that in our mission that the mood should be instilled in all the disciples, we are Bhaktivedānta parivad. That's correct?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not making much. It is quite fit, proper. He was such a big personage that we will say that, "We are Bhaktivedānta parivad." It will be befitting, according to me, my understanding.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Thank you very much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Take some prasādam.

Devotees: Yes. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Caru Swāmī has not come yet?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, not returned.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's gone to Calcutta. And Haṁsadūta he's not coming. It is definite?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, it appears so.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He won't come I'm told. He does not like to come.

Devotee: Maybe he will come at the end, we're hoping.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Maybe. But all have come except him?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotee: We are hoping that he will come.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We told him that we're speaking to you and there is so much wonderful taste of Kṛṣṇa consciousness. So we're appealing to him in that way to come. Because Haṁsadūta Mahārāja he loves very much to hear from you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But Jayatīrtha has come?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Bhagavān dāsa also come. All else, all others come. What do you think, how do you think about that atmosphere; no admission of any Ācārya is possible?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Perhaps, not immediately.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not immediately.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They want to extend...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They accept the niti, the law they may accept. Some other thing hereafter they take up the thing practically.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. There is just one case...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But one case is Bhāvānanda, he has been given recognition after Prabhupāda, is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Bhāvānanda? No.

Devotee: He was made GBC afterwards.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After the departure of Prabhupāda?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is a precedent there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There is one case Mahārāja where there is a, you know Satsvarūpa Mahārāja, he is giving dīkṣā in the zone of Adikeśava Swāmī. So there are many people in the zone of Adikeśava Swāmī who would like to take dīkṣā from him. And Satsvarūpa Mahārāja he is not inclined to make more disciples there. He was feeling, "They are all developing the temperament of Adikeśava Swāmī..."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...and I would like that my disciples develop my temperament." So now, in this case, the GBC, or the Ācārya board, they may be a little perplexed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Then God willing we hope there may be peace and everything may be adjusted, we pray to Him. Such a big organisation; of course these difficulties also maybe of big nature, but still we shall have to hope, cannot but, we can hope. We hope that God gives peace and proper direction to the management, to the administration. Let such a big thing go on in the name of Mahāprabhu and help the world at large.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now you take prasādam.

Devotee: Now we don't want to take prasādam. By talking to you, hearing you, we have no desire to take prasādam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why?

Devotee: Because it is fulfilling us enough, it is filling us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. This is one side. That is another side.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha, ha.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and his zone is?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's originally from Germany, and his zone is in South America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: South America, where?

Devotee: Columbia and Ecuador.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he is?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Keśava Bhāratī Mahārāja. He's American and he's preaching in France, in Europe; oh, in Italy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Italy; I'm told that is under Bhagavān Dāsa, the South Europe.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. He's a GBC. Bhagavān Dāsa is GBC of South Europe, and Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, both; and he is?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sannyāsī preaching in Italy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Preaching there in Italy, Italy and Germany.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And Gopīpurāṇadana Dāsa, I wanted to bring him to meet you. He is translating Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, translating Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. Took up the thread of Pradyumna, Pradyumna began, is it not? And he has left. Pradyumna, he wanted to begin the work of Bhāgavatam translation but he has left it, and you are engaged less. Yes, translate Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Who else have come there, newly, in Māyāpur?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In two days I think some devotees are coming from America and South America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Canada?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And Canada also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Subāl Vilāsa, the manager of Tamal Kṛṣṇa, he is in Canada. He gave a letter to me, "And I shall also go very soon."

Devotee: Yes, he's in Chicago now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was in Chicago but his business was in Toronto and perhaps he is there. Or, in the letter, he may again go back to America.

Hare Kṛṣṇa Hare Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare, Hare Rāma Hare Rāma. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, do you want to mention this idea that he would look at some of this work?

Devotee: So we've done a little of [?] We have almost enough for one volume, we have five chapters finished. So is it possible that maybe you can look at what we've done and make some judgements whether it is good enough?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He wants to say that they have translated five chapters of this eleventh canto. And if they could bring some of this to you and you could hear it and make some, give your comments, opinion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Opinion. If anywhere you have got any doubts you may refer to me and I can try to make it understood.

Devotee: Not just on technical things, the problem is whether...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some points, if you've got any doubt you make a list of them and come to me and I shall try to explain that. Have you got a list?

Devotee: No. My papers are in Calcutta but I can bring on Friday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, conveniently you can do.

Devotee: But just generally the doubt is whether we're not very spiritually qualified, technically we may be able...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's saying that there's one general doubt about the qualification of the translator.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If I can hear, the general, how you have caught the plane from which the translation should be made, I shall try to examine that from your writings, to find out what angle of vision you are looking at, then... Hare Kṛṣṇa. The angle of vision: that is the main point.

Devotee: I know it is not very high. We're just trying to copy, take from the commentaries...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When you are selected of course, it is their responsibility and they must have imparted some inspiration in you. They have selected you for the service. So your Prabhupāda must have grace for you that you may do the work successfully.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

It is not our merit that we can deal with adhokṣaja realm. But His gracious inspiration, that only can help us to deal about Him. It is unknown and unknowable. That characteristic is always there. Still, by faith, by devotion, a devotee can perhaps live and move in that plane, the plane of grace. It is not a matter of right that they can stay. That is the primary acquaintance of that plane. But of course that has got a sort of right, the right in the affection and the grace also. Devotees, they find a sort of right. Not for him but for the others, Guru, Vaiṣṇava. Mayi te teṣu cāpy aham, in Bhagavad-gītā:

[samo 'haṁ sarva-bhūteṣu, na me dveṣyo 'sti na priyaḥ ye bhajanti tu mām bhaktyā, mayi te teṣu cāpy aham]

["I am equally disposed to all souls, therefore no one is My enemy or My friend. Yet, for those who render devotional service unto Me with love, as they are bound by affection for Me, I am similarly bound by the tie of affection for them."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9.29]

His relation to other things is, He may be there, may not be. But that is not in the case of His devotees. In their case, mayi te teṣu cāpy aham, "They're in Me, I am in them." That is the exception; svarūpa-śakti. He cannot do away with svarūpa-śakti - that is His own. Without svarūpa-śakti His existence cannot be conceived. So taṭasthā-śakti and apara-śakti, they may be eliminated if necessary but svarūpa-śakti is in His constant company, so mayi te teṣu cāpy aham.

mayā tatam idaṁ sarvaṁ, jagad avyakta-mūrtinā mat-sthāni sarva-bhūtāni, na cāhaṁ teṣv avasthitaḥ

["In an unmanifest manner, I pervade this entire universe, and everything conceivable is situated within Me - and yet, I am not situated within that total entity."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 9. 4]

All these statements are about the taṭasthā loka and this mundane world, but not about svarūpa-śakti and the devotees.

sādhavo hṛdayaṁ mahyam, sādhūnām hṛdayaṁ tv aham mad-anyat te na jānanti, nāhaṁ tebhyo manāg api

[The pure devotee is always within the core of My heart, and I am always in the heart of the pure devotee. My devotees do not know anything else but Me, and I do not know anyone else but them.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.68]

"They do not know anything but Me. And I am also in My turn do not know anything but them." That is the relationship with the devotee and the Lord. The Lord of love cannot frustrate any devotee. He says: "Uddhava, you are more favourable to Me than Myself." That is the position of the devotee to Him, near Him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno:

[ahaṁ bhakta-parārdhīno, hy asvatantra iva dvija sādhubhir grasta-hṛdayo, bhaktair bhakta-jana-priyaḥ]

["I am the slave of My devotees; I have no freedom apart from their will.

Because they are completely pure and devoted to Me, My heart is controlled by them, and I reside always in their hearts. I am dependent not only on My devotees, but even on the servants of My devotees. Even the servants of My devotees are dear to Me." [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.63]

He says to Durvāsā: "What do you think? You are neglecting Ambarīṣa. But it is not negligible, by necessity. I am always with him. He is always with Me. And you Durvāsā, you are a tyāgī, yogī, brāhmaṇa, and houseless. And he maintains a kingdom, an empire. But still, he's more favourite. You will have to go to him for forgiveness. I can't do it. That case, if I take the case in My own hand for judgement it will be insulting to him. I honour, My devotees should be given such honour as others should give to Me. Rather, more honour should be given to My devotees then I will automatically be honoured." Ha, ha, ha. "Automatically, if My Name is honoured, respected, then I'm automatically respected before. But if you give respect to Me and neglect My devotees I am not satisfied. Your respect is not so much intense. It is vague. It is deceptive character. But if you honour, if you love Me, love My dog. There they do not know anything but Myself." Katham tāṁs tyaktum utsahe:

[ye dārāgāra-putrāpta-prāṇān vittam imaṁ param hitvā mām śaraṇaṁ yātāḥ, katham tāṁs tyaktum utsahe]

["Since pure devotees give up their homes, wives, children, relatives, riches and even their lives simply to serve Me, without any desire for material improvement in this life or in the next, how can I give up such devotees at any time?"] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.65]

"How can I leave that, abandon them? They do not know anything but Myself and I also in My turn do the same thing.”

ye yathā mām prapadyante, tāmś tathaiva bhajāmy aham [mama vartmānuvartante, manuṣyāḥ pārtha sarvaśaḥ]

["As a person takes refuge in Me, I accordingly respond to him. Being the ultimate goal of all philosophies and doctrines, I am the object to be attained by all. Certainly, O Pārtha, all men follow My various paths."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.11]

"In any way you approach Me I shall respond similarly. This is My general conduct. But a special case also; sometimes I deceive people. Bhakti, they want bhakti, but I give them mukti. I don't give them bhakti." Muktim dadāti karhicit sma na bhakti-yogam.

[rājan patir gurur alaṁ bhavatām yadūnām, daivam priyaḥ kula-patiḥ kva ca kiṅkaro vaḥ astv evam aṅga bhagavān bhajatām mukundo, muktim dadāti karhicit sma na bhakti-yogam]

["Śukadeva Gosvāmī continued: My dear King, the Supreme Person, Mukunda, is actually the maintainer of all the members of the Pāṇḍava and Yadu dynasties. He is your spiritual master, worshippable Deity, friend, and the director of your activities. To say nothing of this, He sometimes serves your family as a messenger or servant. This means He worked just as ordinary servants do. Those engaged in getting the Lord's favour attain liberation from the Lord very easily, but He does not very easily give the opportunity to render direct service unto Him."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.6.18]

“Anyhow he wants bhakti from Me. To give bhakti means to give My own self. But when I find that he's not fit, not so sincere, though anyhow he has come to beg devotion, to aspire after devotion, devotion means to sell Myself for that. But when I can't rely then I say, Oh, you take mukti and go away. At the same time there are other cases, sincere devotees, but do not know how or what to pray.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: I have a question in this regard. It's said that the Lord wants that His devotee is glorified. He likes that. So I have a question - when we worship Kṛṣṇa we worship Him very opulently. We put crowns on Kṛṣṇa, we put jewellery, the best cloths, the best food, the best temple, all the best for Kṛṣṇa. Now my question is whether if somebody is Vaiṣṇava Ācārya representing Kṛṣṇa in preaching His message, and is he in a good position, if he takes a lot of opulence for himself also, since he's the devotee of Kṛṣṇa, if he represents himself also in a very opulent environment personally, whether this is a very good representation towards the public, to those who don't know Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Has he finished? What does he say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, he's saying that we...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the name of Kṛṣṇa we collect so much money and resources for personal satisfaction?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. No. He's saying that we will give to Kṛṣṇa, we will offer to Kṛṣṇa crowns, mukuts, jewels, so many nice clothes. So also, Kṛṣṇa's representative, the Guru, we will offer him so many nice things, the disciples they may offer. But how much should he accept, because at some point the public may be disturbed? So how does the Vaiṣṇava Ācārya decide what is the limit of such opulent offerings from his followers?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ:

[ānukūlyasya saṅkalpaḥ, prātikūlya-vivarjjanam rakṣiṣyatīti viśvāso, *gopīrtve varaṇaṁ tathā. ātma-nikṣepa kārpaṇye, śaḍ-vidhā śaraṇāgatih

evaṁ paryyāyataś cāsminn, ekaikādhyāya-saṅgrahaḥ]*

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.100 - quoted from Vaiṣṇava Tantra]

What will help him to render the maximum service of Kṛṣṇa; that should be accepted, by Ācārya, or a Vaiṣṇava, anyone according to their own respective position; whatever will be necessary. He must be sincere. And a Vaiṣṇava and Ācārya - here, Ācārya means superior Vaiṣṇava - generally we may take it. But everyone won't want anything. To want anything for himself, for his sense pleasure, that is non-Vaiṣṇava life, Vaiṣṇava thought. He accepts everything for the service of Kṛṣṇa. Even this body, this mind, that is also dedicated for the service of Kṛṣṇa. And whatever I accept from others for the service of Kṛṣṇa, and because I shall have to render service, so for winter I want some warm cloth. Because I must render my quota of service to Kṛṣṇa I want food, I want water, only to maintain this body and do the service.

And service may be of different kinds - ordinary service and dignified service. The position of the Ācārya, sometimes of the preacher, they may have, require some position, otherwise ordinary people won't care to hear them. So a platform is necessary. At the same time it should not be so much as to raise jealousy in the people that they will say, "Oh, this man is only a worshipper of resources and money and jewels." This; such sort of misunderstanding should not be given to be indulged in the people. So carefully we are to handle. And when it is necessary we must have a grand garment, and when necessary then naked I may approach. Śukadeva, the naked young man, he could address the whole religious intelligentsia of India at the time.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A naked, sixteen year-old boy. So, according to the circumstances we have to adjust. Dignity may be necessary but too much of everything is bad. Hare Kṛṣṇa. May bring reaction to the public, that, "We can't gather a morsel to keep our body and soul together. And this man is lavishly expending money like water, throwing money in the water." At the same time we are to teach the people that if we learn to give everything to the Lord, then our want will vanish. Give it to the Lord. Whatever energy you have got, try to give it towards the centre, whatever it may be.

Sītā Devī when in forest life, she offered Dasaratha, her father-in-law, [?], the kingdom of Badukar [?], sand. Sand, instead of rice she offered sand. Bhāva-grāhī- janārdanaḥ. Not the things outside but the sentiment of the heart; that goes to Kṛṣṇa, not the external things. If you have you must offer, but if you don't have, with a small thing...

Duryodhana wanted to feed Kṛṣṇa with very rich dishes. Kṛṣṇa refused and went to the abode of Vidura. And Vidura by begging he took some kool [?] Kool means a part of rice which is generally eliminated from food - that is the negligent part of rice that is set aside. And that was cooked for himself and he offered to Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa took it refusing the rich dishes of Duryodhana.

And Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī refused his father's money, which he sent for his food purpose. And what the cows could not eat, he took that and washed it with immense water. And the inner substance that was left, that was not rotten, with some salt he took it.

Mahāprabhu went there and one day He took and remarked, "So sweet prasādam I have never taken."

Then what is prasādam? The will of Kṛṣṇa.

Another day He told to Sārvabhauma Paṇḍita, "You see these are the wonderful prasādam, how wonderful the taste. We all know the general, physical taste of these things. But why such wonderful taste has come here?"

Gaura Hari bol!

Devotee: I am personally quite disturbed in my spiritual understanding because when I joined the movement I saw Śrīla Prabhupāda preaching just the same way you are preaching right now. And he has specifically ordered all his disciples to dedicate at least fifty per cent of all our energy into the book distribution so people can read about Kṛṣṇa. And nowadays, after Śrīla Prabhupāda has disappeared I am seeing that so much energy is dedicated towards the glorification of the new Gurus. And the message of Prabhupāda, the book distribution, is in some places stopped altogether. And people say, 'We cannot worship Prabhupāda in this way because there's no money.' But on the other side they're using money in such big amounts for things which Prabhupāda never did, like very fashionable motor cars, and so many other things.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, I follow.

Devotee: Mahārāja, [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gadādhara temple, Gaura-Gadādhara temple, of this Champahatta. Previously his predecessors they are the simise [?] of the temple, and they gave it to our Guru Mahārāja. And he's a disciple of Prabhupāda, my God-brother, he's in charge at present in the service of Chappahadi [?]

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From his young days, from his youth, he's serving our Guru Mahārāja. Though he's in white dress but still from the age of sixteen or so he's engaged in the service of Guru Mahārāja and at present he's in charge of Champampat [?] Maṭh.

Devotees: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is something personal. My Guru Mahārāja wanted me to improve my dress, twice. First he told once, "Improve your dress."

It is my nature to live plainly.

Again he told me, "Improve your dress. Otherwise the people at large they may not give importance to your words, your preaching."

But still, ha, ha, I was, ha, ha, my habit is like that, plain living. At the same time he also chastised many for their vilasita [?], of their luxury. But he wanted me to be otherwise.

So we see differences of temperament in different devotees. But if the spirit of dedication is pure then it may not affect much. But still, we must accommodate ourselves, adjust ourselves with the environment so that the work began by our Guru Mahārāja may not be hampered. That should be the aim, that the work of the mission may not be hampered, that should be the object, everywhere. So if it is necessary, when it is necessary to show grandeur to the public, to attract, to bend down their head, it may be accepted. But when it will arouse only jealousy in the public heart it should be avoided. We must try to draw their attention in whatever way will help us. Generally yukta-vairāgya; the middle path: that is good.

So your trouble, of course I follow. A sort of dignity must be maintained, but that does not matter, as you say, that no money in the case of propaganda, but there is money to show in competition the dignity of the Ācārya. But do the Ācāryas follow the same policy, same principle, in the case of all the Ācāryas, or some try to compete with each other?

Devotee: There's competition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Competition?

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: Imitation. Imitation of our Prabhupāda, because...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prabhupāda was a man of simple style, simple life.

Devotee: But we offered him the best that we could. So now there's the same idea that they should imitate Śrīla Prabhupāda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Imitation, sometimes if necessary they may show themselves in higher opulence than Prabhupāda. It does not matter. Just as your Prabhupāda, he came in such a position, in such a circle, that he could show more rich position than his Guru. But everything, to the inch, to the atom, it was meant to establish the glory of his Guru. If it's in that spirit no harm. And whether it is necessary or not, whether for personal dignity or to raise the dignity of the whole mission, that is the point. And how it should be managed in what items, what percentage of money should be used, these are to be considered of course. And if the GBC is there and all the members of GBC are not Ācāryas, and outside GBC there is also so many stalwarts, well-wishers of the mission. They must have some opinion in that.

Devotee: They're all disturbed. There's many, many devotees disturbed by the same thing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I told to him previously that collect some opinion of the big personages of the mission and then you make a programme, you will prepare, and put it to the GBC that, 'These are the general complaints against Ācāryas and against GBC. You please consider. You are our representatives so we put it to you. Guru Mahārāja has left confidence and trust in you, so you consider properly and do the needful. Otherwise so many of us will be under painful necessity to go on in our own way according to our spiritual conscience. We have got some conscience which took us to that great Guru. We cannot disbelieve that conscience within us. That inner voice we cannot ignore. The inner voice, the conscience that took me to my Guru, I can't ignore the sincere urge of that conscience. I shall have to retire from you all. And we, so many, want to combine ourselves and that may go against you.' I told to you at that time...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and you made so many copies and distributed.

"What can I do? The conscience is within and we cannot disbelieve our conscience. We must be thankful to our conscience that took me to my illustrious Gurudeva. Some understanding I can demand at least. And there are so many of such stages. You may be superior elder brother but that does not matter. You should help us understand your position; otherwise we cannot follow you blindly. And not only one or two, there are so many and they're not all less qualified. They have got some status. So give some importance to our common voice."

In this way, mildly, with humility you approach them for some consideration. And if it is not possible because, for this, that Pradyumna, that gentleman in the beginning he made a list of eighteen points and showed it to me. "These are general complaints against the present government, GBC, these are the," he showed. But none, many sympathetic internally, but externally none ventured to support him perhaps. And gradually so many important hands that I am acquainted with they went far away one by one. That I see, I feel, I am sorry for that. They are all sincere souls who came to render their service for ISKCON but this sort of management, the present form of management was not very palatable and they had to go far and far from this present working centre. And many discouraged still maintaining and some disconnected already. And they're good souls, I'm personally known to them, some of them at least.

Devotee: Some eighty to ninety percent of our Śrīla Prabhupāda's disciples have now disconnected.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eighty or ninety disconnected?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. That's in Prabhupāda's lifetime, and after, combined.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who has disconnected in the lifetime of Prabhupāda, we are not to consider them. But after the departure of Prabhupāda, there also so many may be disconnected because they could not observe, accept the principles and observe the regulations. That is also not to be counted. But who wanted to be within the mission and wanted to serve their utmost for their whole life, if their heart is disturbed, that is to be reckoned and considered and reconsidered why they felt discouraged, they're still feeling discouragement? They should be helped.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They may have something to say in their favour, "That our position, the public naturally thinks that these present Ācāryas, their importance and their value is not so great as that of the founder." So, they will minimise, they will try to look at us with some lower mentality. So they may not think like that so we are to show the dignity of the position of the Ācārya, but they are not of lower standard - to attract their disciples." Otherwise, newcomers, new coming disciples, they will have a defeatist mentality, "That our grand Gurudeva was a supernatural figure, but these fellows they are not up to that standard." So, ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān:

[ācāryaṁ māṁ vijānīyān, nāvamanyeta karhicit na martya-buddhyāsūyeta, sarva-deva-mayo guruḥ]

["One should know the Ācārya as Myself and never disrespect him in any way. One should not envy him, thinking him an ordinary man, for he is the representative of all the demigods."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.17.27]

The Ācārya should be seen not inferior, but the delegated power of Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Entity. To maintain that dignity, reluctantly we are to show this grandeur of the position. And as much as I can gather, I must accept that facility as it is given to me.

There is Bhagavān Dāsa, he's in opulence. Men and money, perhaps he has got the maximum. And he will try to show that, "I get the major portion of favour and grace of my Gurudeva."

In this way the competition is coming, but give and take. He has got the facility perhaps of the zone. Together it is collecting more money and more men. But at the same time he should be sympathetic to the other Ācārya God-brothers, that their position, that will be magnanimous tendency and practice. The other God-brothers may not be shown, may not be viewed of less importance. This is give and take. The affection they show, it will be happy if we work together, then we must have sympathy for each other; in a family... Who is he?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This is Kavicandra Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kavicandra Prabhu, from where?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's coming from America, he's going to Japan.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the other two?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Katvanga Dasa, from Germany.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He came here previously?

Devotee: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And this gentleman? Devotee: Bṛhat śloka Dāsa from New Vṛndāvana. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You live in Vṛndāvana? Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: New, Nava Vṛndāvana. Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Nava Vṛndāvana. Devotee: As a pūjāri.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A favourite place of Swāmī Mahārāja, Nava Vṛndāvana. “There’s New Delhi, Newcastle, why not New Vṛndāvana? So every advantage I must take up from the world and utilise it for the service of Kṛṣṇa.”

That was his grand outlook. Everything should be converted to help the Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and nothing should be left to plead for māyā, the misunderstood aspect of the world. Misunderstood is suicidal thing, misunderstanding, that means a suicide. Misunderstanding always commits suicide. That is not desirable, should not be desirable by anyone; wild goose chasing; that should not be given indulgence under any circumstances. Always try to crush it, and establish Kṛṣṇa consciousness of any type, however small degree it may be. It is truth, satyaṁ param dhīmahi [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.1]

“My friends, all come, let us go on with the cultivation of the real truth. Otherwise frustration will be disappointment, if you don’t search after truth that is disappointment will be our be all and end all. We don’t want it, it is sure. So come all under this banner.”

And Mahāprabhu says, “Not only cure yourself from the disease of misunderstanding, but oh, come for you, the highest blissful life awaiting. Come with Me. I shall take you there; that Vṛndāvana. Vṛndāvana, go there. Apparently it is giving everything, but really to get everything; dedication, service, ostentatiously it seems to give, but really to have higher thing in return, that is sevā. That is service. That is dedication. So dedicate yourself for the whole truth and you will find the backing of the whole truth in you. And what point there can be any nothing?”

So, na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati]

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

There may be so many disturbances externally and internally, and patiently you must deal with them, and ask my conscience and my self. Whatever the sincere answer we get from them I must go on with that. Caitya Guru; when mahanta Guru is there then we shall work under his direction. And when he's absent we shall try to understand how far we can obey them, thinking that they're appointed to lead the mission, so no, suddenly I shall do something against them. But if it is impossible to adjust with them I shall have no other alternative but to be sincere to my own conscience, spiritual conscience. I shall try, I shall crave for higher guidance. But if I can't get such direction which is, which can corroborate with my inner voice then I'm to take another course. Cannot but be; I can't be insincere to my own self. Sincerity should be maintained at any cost. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatiṁ tāta gacchati. The Lord will help me. God helps those that help themselves. He will help me if I am sincerely in search after Him. Even there may be some misunderstanding but that will be cleared easily. From my position I am to think. A boy may not be expected to perform the service of an experienced man.

Milton says, "Doth God exact day labour light denied?" In his sonnet, Milton, "Doth God exact day labour light denied?" He was blind in his last days and at that time he's praying to the Lord. "I feel some inner urge to produce some literature. But for that I am to write I must have my sight. But you have taken away my eyes. I am stark blind. How can I produce literature?" But anyhow he did; the Paradise Lost when he wrote he was stark blind. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then Paradise Regained also was written by him, but that is not very famous.

Gaura Haribol. He was a Puritan. The Catholic, then Protestant, and Protestant again two divisions, Presbyterian and Puritan; and Puritans again sub-divided, and one class was Independent.

When in I.A. class we are to study Milton's Sonnet. The Stopford Brooke's, Milton, one Mr Stopford Brooke he wrote about Milton. Raleigh's Shakespeare, Raleigh wrote about Shakespeare, criticism, commentary; and Stopford Brooke, the famous commentator of Milton.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

But Milton's theistic temperament cannot be supported. Cannot be supported; his idea of theism, we could not support it, even from childhood. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

He was an Independent man. Rather, Wordsworth was a favourite to me among English poets, Wordsworth. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Hari.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, I was wondering, I was reading the Caitanya-caritāmṛta and Mahāprabhu's travels to South India, so when He returned to Purī in the evening He was telling to His associates and followers of His travels.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. The Sārvabhauma, "I went to the south and found many Vaiṣṇavas, but not one equal to you, of your type." That means, "What degree of theism that I'm preaching that is never to be found anywhere." Indirectly He's saying to Sārvabhauma this. "Only Rāmānanda gave Me great pleasure. Except that of Rāmānanda, all I found, they're Vaiṣṇavas, so-called, of lower type. I could not find a Vaiṣṇava of your type." Sārvabhauma's type, and Sārvabhauma means the other day he was an atheist and was converted by Mahāprabhu and got some Vaiṣṇavism by His grace. So He's praising Himself, in other words, indirectly. "I cannot but, this type of devotion to Kṛṣṇa is not found anywhere, only except Rāmānanda Rāya. He could respond. I'm satisfied with his representation."

Hare Kṛṣṇa Hare Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare. Hare Rāma Hare Rāma Rāma Rāma Hare Hare.

The loving Kṛṣṇa, the conception of Kṛṣṇa to be the highest, Vrajendranandan to be the highest: as He showed to the father of Gopāl Bhaṭṭa, Venkata Bhaṭṭa Prabhu.

“Why? Yes, Venkata Bhaṭṭa, your Lord whom you worship, that is of a grand style. His grandeur is so great, magnanimous, as your present Ācāryas are. But My Lord whom I worship is only a cowboy, wanders in through the forest, on the back of the cowherds, a cowherd.”

“No, no. Why do you think in that way? He's also Nārāyaṇa, or comes from Nārāyaṇa and Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa and Kṛṣṇa one and the same thing. Why do you think yourself unfortunate in that way because You have attraction for Kṛṣṇa and not for Lakṣmī Nārāyaṇa?”

“But Bhaṭṭa, I have got a doubt in My mind.” “What is that?”

“The Lakṣmī Devī: how she did aspire after rasa, a part of pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, a cowboy? What is this? She's in opulence, in so much grandeur she is, but still she had some aspiration for the rasa pastimes of that cowboy. What does it mean? That that sort of ecstasy is wanting in Nārāyaṇa? And what harm is there? Lakṣmī, she wanted to have taste of different types of pastimes of her husband, Kṛṣṇa and Nārāyaṇa are one and the same. So she had some aspiration in her heart for the participation in the rasa līlā of Kṛṣṇa. That is not to be blamed I think.”

“Yes, if You say so, I may take up. But something more I find there.”
“What is that?”

“She did not get any admission into that rasa, disqualified, and she again began a life of penance to purify herself so that she may have entrance into that plane. So Lakṣmī Devī's disqualified, what is this? And she began her penances for long, long time, but still she's not given any admission. What is this?”

Bhaṭṭa was perplexed. “Yes, that is to be thought. I can't follow. Yes, I do not enter into the depth of this pastime so much.”

...

Then, Bhaṭṭa was a little perplexed, “Yes, it is puzzling. Lakṣmī Devī's declared disqualified and she had to make penances and still it's not heard that she had got admission. It is perplexing trouble.”

Then Mahāprabhu told, “It does not end there.” “What more?”

“The more we see that the Daṇḍakaranya Ṛṣis, analysed in the śruti, they get entrance, the ordinary soul, they get entrance, and Lakṣmī Devī is not allowed to enter.”

Then Bhaṭṭa’s perplexion, he was completely puzzled. “I don’t understand; that in this, so many puzzling matters, I could not understand, I am rather puzzled. I cannot differentiate what is right and wrong. And You know all these subtle affairs. You are not an ordinary man I think. This is only tricks that You are playing with me to make me understand that Kṛṣṇa’s position is superior to that of Nārāyaṇa. That Lakṣmī Devī who has every command over Nārāyaṇa camp, she is turned down and not accepted to enter. And the others are entering, getting entrance, the śruti, so many śrutis, and the Daṇḍakaranya Ṛṣis that wanted Rāmacandra to enjoy. This is of course a serious thing. Please educate me. I am Your disciple. Take me as Your disciple and be clear to me.”

Then Mahāprabhu came to make him understand that.

[Venkata Bhaṭṭa continued, “According to transcendental realisation, there is no difference between the forms of Nārāyaṇa and Kṛṣṇa. Yet in Kṛṣṇa there is a special transcendental attraction due to the conjugal mellow, and consequently He surpasses Nārāyaṇa. This is the conclusion of transcendental mellows.""]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 9.117]

Both are one and the same, but when, as the rasa, the ecstasy is concerned, Kṛṣṇa embodies more rasa and higher quality. Both, though both of Them are one and the same, and when Kṛṣṇa becomes Nārāyaṇa He comes under constitutional position. And when Nārāyaṇa, He's Kṛṣṇa, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. He's an extravagant in dealing with rasa, anyone and everyone to quench His thirst He's throwing rasas, all sides.

Devotee: This morning we were discussing about Vidura. I was wondering, what is his relationship with Lord Kṛṣṇa? Is it sākhya rasa [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vidura is shown in dāsyā rasa, mainly, and with a bit of sākhya, in connection with the Pāṇḍavas; mainly dāsyā rasa: and also śānta, dāsyā, and a little bit of sākhya, in connection with the Pāṇḍavas, a little confidence there. And for dāsyā he's hankering, but not engaged in continuous service, so śānta.

Kulaśekhara Āḷvār. Alalanatha, Ala means Āḷvār, and Āḷvār means parṣada bhakta, eternal devotees who are surrounding the Lord, Nārāyaṇa, parṣada. Āḷvārs in Tamil it is Āḷvār. And this Mukunda-mālā-stotram in Sanskrit he has composed very beautiful verses, and this verse is one of them. Kṛṣṇa! tvadīya pada-paṅkaja-pañjarāntam adyaiva me viśatu. “No time. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Ahaitukī bhakti, these are, these prove ahaitukī bhakti, causeless devotion. 'I want service of Kṛṣṇa, not to serve any purpose to be traced within me.' It is quite natural. Everything else is unnatural. Only to serve Kṛṣṇa, that is the innate nature of my soul: or myself. Anything else all unnatural, and they're all like garments.

anyābhilāṣitā-śūnyam, jñāna-karmādy-anāvṛtam [ānukūlyena-kṛṣṇānu-śīlanam bhaktir uttamā]

["One should render transcendental loving service to the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa favourably and without desire for material profit or gain through fruitive activities or philosophical speculation. That is called pure devotional service."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.11] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.21.11, purport] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19-167]

They're all covers. 'I want this and that,' anyābhilāṣ, unscientific whims. And karma is regulated in some scientific attempts to enjoy; regulated by the scripture, but it is enjoyment, mostly. And the jñāna, to become a rebel; that, 'I can't enjoy, that is the demon of reaction is there, I can't enjoy. I'm not happy. Give up everything, everything. Give up everything.' That equates to zero; just as we are in our sound sleep. 'Don't awake. If you awake, the company of a second thing will pollute.' A hateful temperament it encourages for the jñānīs. 'Whenever you come in contact of a second thing you're lost, so withdraw; complete withdrawal.' The cynic; 'There cannot be anything in this world whose company will improve you, whose company will at least not allow you to degrade, to go down, no.' Completely pessimistic, no optimism there.

But the Vaiṣṇava, they're optimistic. 'We're misled, misguided; anyhow we have come to enjoy. And we're in the trap. Enjoyment is not healthy, not wholesome. But there is a normal life, happy life, blissful life, and that is a life of dedication; just the opposite. And renunciation is no solution, that is And constitutional dedication, dedication regulated, that is in Vaikuṇṭha, in Nārāyaṇa and in the domain of Kṛṣṇa, no limit of dedication. It is spontaneous. It is unlimited. There is competition of dedication. And it is irresistible. The innate function of continuous and irresistible dedication, that is discovered, then it is irresistible and it is spontaneous and there is competition in dedication. And that is the acquaintance of the highest function of jīva. There, the jīva in its highest position, giving, giving, giving, to the centre. All the flow of his energy going towards the centre, and there it is coming in reaction to adjust others according to their deservation. It is coming from the centre, the distribution, reaction. But this is, every unit is only sending energy towards the centre, the current towards the centre, dedication. And from the centre it is coming out again to bless the whole universe according to their deservation, the capacity and position. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Caitanya Dayal. Mahāprabhu came with this idea of Kṛṣṇa consciousness here about four hundred and ninety five, or six years ago; ninety five years ago. Gaura Sundara. Gaura Sundara. With this message, the Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī combined, They came jointly to give admission, chance, to every soul, into Their harem, into Their private room of service; gave it to all, one and all, offered it to one and all. “Their highest innate desire to be satisfied; to grant, so that they may come to their highest attainment, the innermost nectar of the pastimes of Both of Us, they can be able to taste Us.” That sort of [?]

anarpita-carīm [cirāt karuṇayāvatīrṇaḥ kalau samarpayitum unnatojjvala-rasām sva-bhakti-śriyam hariḥ puraṭa-sundara-dyuti-kadamba-sandīpitaḥ sadā hṛdaya-kandare sphuratu vaḥ śacī-nandanah]

["May that Lord, who is known as the son of Śrīmatī Śacīdevī be transcendently situated in the innermost chambers of your heart. Resplendent with the radiance of molten gold, He has appeared in this age of Kali by His causeless mercy to bestow what no incarnation ever offered before: the most sublime and radiant spiritual knowledge of the mellow taste of His service."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.4]

Which has never been offered to the world here before, anarpita-carīm cirāt karuṇayāvatīrṇaḥ kalau; that is the speciality of the magnanimity of all the Avatāras, Mahāprabhu. Both jointly came to give entrance into the innermost līlā, pastimes.

But dedication is the first thing. We must not forget. Imitation will ruin our future. We must be cautious very, very much. It is very similar to the lust, very similar, but that is a danger. That is a danger. We must avoid that. So the bhakti, sevā, this Hari Nāma, this kathā, the līlā, but everywhere the common factor is serving attitude, sevonmukhe hi jihvādau.

[ataḥ śrī-kṛṣṇa-nāmādi na bhaved grāhyam indriyaiḥ sevonmukhe hi jihvādau svayam eva sphuraty adaḥ]

[Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Purva-vibhaga, 2.234]

Otherwise all blank, misfire, blank fire. We must be very cautious in this matter, that there must be the spirit of dedication underlying. Otherwise mere form won't help me; it will rather take me down. Dedication, dedication, dedication; no worldly interest or any interest in my experience I shall find there. But dedication not to a prostitute, not to a shop of wine; we must be cautious of that, the dedication to the purity, to the highest. Like Ramakrishna Mission, and others, this Nobel Prize lady, in India, Calcutta, Mother Teresa; all misguided, they're helping the flesh and blood, by helping the flesh and blood. There is no dearth of flesh and blood, flesh and blood. It is the enjoying mood of the subtle body. They're all waiting, standing, to enter into flesh and blood.

When I was in charge of Madras Maṭh one pleader came, "Oh. You don't do the service of the patients, like Ramakrishna Mission. Suppose you have come to preach to everybody, but if one dies then you miss him, you can't help him. So we must help the body and soul together, and then you'll preach, give Name."

I told to him that, suppose there is a famine. I have got some food. I am distributing that. And people around me, so many, and if one flies, runs away from the place, then stopping the distribution of the food should I run after him, to fetch him, to catch him, so that I may give some food to him, and the others are waiting?

"No, no, no. And we also see like that."

So many flesh and blood always on my, in a throng, in a crowd, and I cannot find time to distribute Hari Nāma. Why should I run, leaving this giving up Hari Nāma I should run after a person? And he's dead. And where he's going? And I shall follow him? And a loss of time is it not?

"Yes, what you say."

So something like that. The bodily existence is undesirable. Still it will continue according to my karma. So varsansi [?] this is only a garment, a fleshy garment. But we must deal with the inner person, the inner man, the inner soul. We must put some injection there.

When in Madras, then one education minister was some Redi [?]. We wanted to preach in his jurisdiction, and we went to him for a letter of recommendation. "We shall go to your district to preach there about Mahāprabhu."

Then he told me, "Oh. First you learn Tamil then you'll go there. Otherwise they're all Tamil speaking people; you do not know Tamil. Bengali, Sanskrit or English, that won't help them: first thing."

I told him, suppose I'm going by the side of a tank, and I see that a man is drowning, then I shall go to learn Tamil and then...? Or anyhow, by gesture, posture, I shall try to make them understand that he's drowning? So we see such cases around us. Anyhow we shall try to find a mediator, the language translator, with his help we shall speak what we have got to speak to them, we shall transmit. So there are so many common errors.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Then another gentleman, when our Guru Mahārāja went there, he wanted a procession and went to the leader of the Boy Scouts. "We are making arrangements of so many things, band party, this kīrtana party, and other things. We want that your boy scouts will also join with us."

"No, no, no. We are engaged in social work only; not religious." "But we are also doing social work."

"No. You are doing religious work."

"I suppose human species; there are cow species, dog species; so many species. You are helping the dogs, keeping them dogs you like to help them. But if it is possible the dogs can be converted into human beings, if such programme is possible, the dogs will no longer be a member of the dog society, they'll be transformed into a member of the human society, then that sort of service you won't accept? Why not? So our case is such. We are also doing some service to the society, but we don't like that they will be under limitation. They will be taken to some higher form of life. Perhaps you believe you have faith in God. So if our programme in the social service is formed in that way you have no objection."

"No, no. Then it will be better." "Yes. We shall go."

Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

So while preaching we had to answer many positions, and to answer many questions, and do our work. By the grace of our Gurudeva, none, I remember, whether of ancient type, philosopher, or modern type scientist, could defeat us. Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī, our Gurudeva, the master of the decision of the Bhakti School, the judge, the supreme judge, who knows all the laws and ways of the Bhakti School.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Caitanya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And our Kīrtanānanda Swāmī came yesterday, did not speak anything, he did not come out, only came in disguise and fled away, ha, ha, but did not speak a word. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. He's in a position of the President. He should be much sober and less talking. His commitment means high degree, highest degree; the value of his opinion and his speech, it should be sober and less.

“Give thy ears to all but none by tongue.” Do you know the King Lear? His father is teaching the son, in Shakespeare's King Lear. “Give thy ear to all, you will hear everything, but none by tongue, don't speak a word to anybody. Don't ever commit. By word, speaking, you commit, there is commitment. But hear everything, but don't speak anything, give your opinion on anything. Don't commit my son.”

Badrinārāyaṇa Prabhu is in Calcutta?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Caru Swāmī; not yet come?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not yet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Sarvabhāvana is he free from fever, or don't you know?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Very sick.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very sick?

Devotee: Chicken Pox.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Chicken Pox. Oh, that does not matter; and then others? Hare Kṛṣṇa Hare Kṛṣṇa. Rāmeśvara Mahārāja is here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Svarūpa Dāmodara is also here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And important sittings are being continued, at intervals.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Today the full, the GBC meetings, full body: that has begun today. Before that it was partial, so sometimes they could come here, like, now it is full meetings for three days.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Full meetings, all the members must be present?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Confidentiality in a closed room?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And sitting after sitting until the conclusion is reached? Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Then Mahārāja, there are many devotees who also feel that whatever conclusions the GBC Body comes to that we should accept, whether we...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, no conclusion...

Devotee: ...give the harmony we need to push forward Kṛṣṇa consciousness.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see; united we stand. From long time I'm hearing complaints against him. But my general opinion, wait and see. Don't make yourself the first revolt, rebel. If there is – whatever happens that is God's will, through God's will, but if a reaction is sure to come we can't avoid, or we may not be the party to that. But anyhow I must stand by my own spiritual consciousness, spiritual conscience, cannot but do so. So we shall try in that way. I don't want to disturb others. I don't know how far I am fallible and infallible, but still, what I think to be the best, I cannot but do that. I cannot be a hypocrite for all the life. I can wait for some time, but the whole life I cannot go against my own consciousness and that is spiritual. That should be the position. We must save our self. But we may not be party because I'm not above faults, not above ignorance, in perfect knowledge. So it will be sober to wait and see what leads to what.

And in the mean time there are persons who are of my temperament. I can mix with them, and humbly we may try, "That these are our complaints, and if good and well that should be removed because that is not my individual case but the case of many well meaning disciples of Guru Mahārāja, God-brothers. So you should consider these points and do the necessary and save us. We don't think that we are insincerely, to fulfil some other evil purpose...

End of 81.03.12.A

81.03.12.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...that our thinking is the highest, of highest type. But anyhow you are all, you are going to help other people at large, but we are already in your fold. Don't neglect us. Don't neglect us. Or deal properly with us. We are already in the fold, and you are going at large to collect men, and you should do so. And we are also eager to help you in that matter but we have got this sort of weakness in our mind. Please, you stalwarts, you are given the confidence of guiding the ISKCON, the responsibility put on your head by Guru Mahārāja, so do justice to his disciples. That is your God-brothers. Don't neglect this. We are well-meaning, not any mala fide object we have got."

In this way you should move to them to draw their sympathy and have justice; not only for one but for many. Being disregarded and uncared for they're going far, far away. That is not desirable. They should be given a chance and they should be utilised in services from their respective position. It will be laudable.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, since I came here in August there's been a lot more open communication with the GBC and the devotees. I think things have improved very much since that time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very good, very good, hopeful, that is hopeful. And you will try to point out those points to those that are feeling discouragement; that the things are improving. So wait, and in the near future with more energy we'll be able to do the service of our Guru Mahārāja in a combination. So wait and see.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because one thing we see is that once our Guru Mahārāja Prabhupāda he wrote in the Bhāgavatam, in one purport, he said, "Anyone who thinks that he can practice Kṛṣṇa consciousness outside of our society," he means in the western countries, especially, he said, "He's living in a great hallucination."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who's living in hallucination?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: The person who thinks that he can be Kṛṣṇa conscious, separately. He thinks, 'I will go away from the mission, the Kṛṣṇa consciousness movement, and I'll be Kṛṣṇa conscious separately.'

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In other words, who will think of leaving the ISKCON, this organisation, he'll be in fool's paradise, is it?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “So always be under the guidance of the committee whom I appoint for the welfare of the whole institution.” So generally then try to follow, but if it is impossible for anyone, they have no other alternative but to follow his own conscience.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. But we see, my point is that we see...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wait and see, whether...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What you’re saying is true...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes when one is climbing the mountain, or hill, sometimes going up and sometimes a little down; again going up and a little down. In this way action reaction things go up, so maybe a little setback and then again they may – the committee, the combined opinion may come in favour of the God-brothers.

But in the living organisation, the newcomers, that element cannot be neglected. We have got something to do in our own mind, but those newcomers they should be given facility in outer practices. We can go on mentally. We have got some sort of experience within. But the newcomers, the external practice is indispensable to teach them. But they should be under the guidance of the Guru and the friends of the Guru.

Yesterday as I recommended, some inspector should move to set right the conduct of the newcomers to their Guru, Guru God-brothers, and as well as the core disciples of different Ācāryas. And a sort of by-law should be evolved and that should be taught in the big mission. It is a complex thing; many nationalities, many different ages, different nationalities, different previous religious colours, with so much variegatedness. So it is very possible that they will differ from one another. It cannot be neglected, this, and we should try to put them, set them properly in their conduct. There should be a department for that.

What's the time? I feel fatigued.

...

...knowledge may be encouraged, under this bhakti. Karma mukham eka bhakti yoga jñāna [?]

Jñāna, yoga and bhakti, they may contribute something when they're guided mainly by bhakti, by devotion, by the spirit of service, by the impulse of service. Under them, some sort of jñāna, yoga and karma, they may help us. And, vāsudeve bhagavati bhakti-yogaḥ prayojitaḥ janayaty āśu vairāgyaṁ jñānañ ca yad ahaitukam

["If somehow with the help of the scriptures and His agents, the devotees or saints, we can develop our devotion, bhakti, then, the proper knowledge and proper apathy towards worldly substances will follow us."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.7]

And a spontaneous knowledge will come in its full purity only when He comes down to your heart and shows to you that, “I am such and such.” Then only, knowledge about Him is possible, when He wills, He wills, He likes to make Himself known to you, that knowledge is real knowledge. Otherwise your conjecture of so many lives, meeting in the same plain, that is all misconception.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, there’s one point in our philosophy...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

siddhānta baliyā citte nā kara alasa, ihā haite kṛṣṇa lāge sudṛḍha mānasa

["A sincere student should not neglect the discussion of such conclusions (regarding the Absolute Truth in the revealed scriptures), considering them controversial, for such discussions strengthen the mind. Thus one's mind becomes attached to Śrī Kṛṣṇa."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 2.117]

Just as, suppose, to attain God it is not, to do His work this English language may be necessary, may not be necessary. But it is necessary when I’m going to teach an English man, whose language is English; then I shall have to learn English to deal with him. So when one is a Bengali literate man, nyāya, tarka, if I want to talk with him, to convince him, to convert him, then some knowledge of logic and nyāya I must learn to talk with him. Otherwise it is not necessary. So also when a man is proud of his knowledge, then to stop him, to convert him, to keep him down, to make him submit to attend to my words, I require some sort of knowledge. So knowledge may be used in the service of the Lord, under certain conditions.

And siddhānta baliyā citte nā kara alasa, Kavirāja Goswāmī says, and Mahāprabhu says, “Don’t sit idle and think that to be illiterate, to be foolish, that is the only condition to get His grace.”

Knowledge must come to serve me, to help me, for the adjustment of my position in a secure way. To meet the negative tendencies that may spring up in me, to stop them, that sort of knowledge is necessary to a certain extent. But real thing may not come through knowledge. It is only through submission and waiting and to show sincerely to Him I am really qualified because I am the most insignificant, I am the bona fide person for Your grace, because I am the most wanting person. In this way, that will be dainyam, ātma-nivedanam. Only through śaraṇāgati we can expect to have Him. And śaraṇāgati, dainyam, first thing is humility, and sincere humility. Purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha. Jagāi mādhai haite.

[jagāi mādhai haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha, purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha mora nāma śune yei tāra puṇya kṣaya, mora nāma laya yei tāra pāpa haya]

[Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī says: "I am worse than a worm in stool. When Jagāi and Mādhai came in the relativity of Mahāprabhu they were considered to be the worst sinners, but I am worse than them. My sins are so dirty no one can even dream such things. I am such a great sinner that whoever will hear about me, dirt and sin will enter him through his coming in contact with my name. Sin will enter one who once hears my name, and his good qualities will vanish. I am a person of the worst type, but the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu possesses such a high degree of disinfection that He has given me so many things: He has taken me to Vṛndāvana and has given the relationship of Rūpa, Raghunātha and Govinda. There is no qualification in me but all is the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu. It is shameful to speak about one's own life but still I do this. Why? If I do not do so then I shall be ungrateful to the grace and magnanimity of Nityānanda Prabhu. So fallen am I but Nityānanda Prabhu has given me all these things: Vṛndāvana, Rūpa, Sanātana, Govinda, Mahāprabhu, Raghunātha Dāsa and so much else. It is all the gift of Nityānanda Prabhu. It is His unconditional gift to this one with no qualifications, and therefore I have mentioned: 'Yes I have such things.' If I do not say so then I shall be an offender to Nityānanda Prabhu's grace, so I am compelled to confess that I am so sinful and fallen but by His grace I have received these things."]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādī-līlā, 5.205-6] But,

*ṭṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

The sincere helplessness, the realisation of one's helplessness, the ṭṛṇād api sunīc, dainyam, ātma-nivedanam, and necessarily I cannot stand myself, I'm not such an entity that I can stand independently on my leg. I must seek some shelter, by whose grace I can live only. So ātma-nivedanam will naturally come from – the tendency of ātma-nivedanam will naturally come from within, because I cannot stand independently. I'm so insignificant. So I want some shelter, ātma-nivedanam. Then, goptṛtve varaṇa, when I get some assurance I must ardently and sincerely accept Him as my guardian, goptṛtve varaṇa.

And I must first have such intrinsic tendency that He will protect me. I am not shelter-less, nor helpless. He's my guardian. He cannot but save me, help me. So I foster such idea. I maintain such idea.

And to accept what is favourable to the life of a devotee, and to forsake, to abandon what is anti, unfavourable to the life of a devotee, to abandon that. That should be the characteristic of a real devotee. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Finite wants Infinite, so the quest will be very strange, must be, not an ordinary thing. Finite wants to have Infinite. Necessarily works only through submission, only through fervent prayer, only to show that, 'I'm helpless. Without you I can't go on, I can't do, I can't do.' So that will attract His kindness, His pity, and then my object may be fulfilled. No other way, no other way. Just to present before Him in a naked way that, 'I am such and I'm the most needy.' The fervent appeal that, 'I'm the most needy so I have come to seek Your help. Without that I cannot be saved. I cannot live at all.' Such sincere craving: that is the real qualification of a devotee in any form or other. He may be a good scholar but this tendency must be, must have the upper hand. He may have many qualifications in the worldly sense, but still, if the leading feeling is such, then he'll get grace. Not that all that are graced by the devotion of the Supreme Lord they're poor in all respects in comparison with the worldly men. They're highly talented, highly resourced, full men. They also get the grace of the Lord. But still, at their heart they're very humble, and they think themselves nothing, akiñcana.

Akincanasya bhagavad bhagavan dantasya param padam [?]

'I have nothing to boast. I have nothing. If I analyse myself I see that I have nothing. I'm the most needy.' I'm the most needy: that must be the leading feeling of the devotee, whatever qualification he may have. He may be a Brahmā, he may be Śiva, any position he may hold, but still, to attract the attention and the grace of the Lord, that needy characteristic there must be predominating, otherwise cannot attract Him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, as a necessity for preaching, Rāmeśvara Swāmī he wanted me to put one question to you. That the Bhaktivedānta Book Trust they're publishing one book called Reincarnation, and he says that the western rational mind, that we need to describe to the western rational mind how the soul is being transferred from one body to the next, how the soul is entering into the semen of the father?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Into the?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Entering into the semen.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Semen, from someone, oh. These are to satisfy the curiosity of the scientists, yes?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But when śraddhā springs from sukṛti he may not care to come in all the details. If you go to analyse then no end; approximate knowledge will help you sufficiently to take the path of devotion and dedication, and go to analyse the scientific characteristics no end, no end. It does not come through that. Through that way the knowledge of the Absolute never comes. It comes from an independent way that is sukṛti. It comes from the nirguṇa, the nirguṇa only; the nirguṇa approaches the nirguṇa and takes him to the nirguṇa. This guṇa, satya, raja, tama guṇa māyī, misunderstanding in any stage cannot lead to even satya guṇa. In its highest position it is satya guṇa. Satya guṇa also cannot lead us to nirguṇa. So it is said, ahaitukī apratihatā.

sa vai puṁsāṁ paro dharmo, yato bhaktir adhokṣaje [ahaituky apratihatā, yayātmā suprasīdati]

["The supreme occupation (dharma) for all humanity is that by which men can attain to loving devotional service unto the transcendental Lord. Such devotional service must be unmotivated and uninterrupted to completely satisfy the self."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.6]

And what is that? How it originates? Ahaitukī apratihatā. It is causeless, meaning its cause cannot be traced in this mundane, in the world of guṇa māyī, this māyic misconceived world. It is beyond. Sukṛti, that's coming from the agent of the Lord, bhakta, and that when accumulated sufficiently, then only, truth can disperse ignorance. Not a part of ignorance can dispel ignorance – truth. So nirguṇa can save us and take us to nirguṇa, from all shades of saguna, māyā, misunderstanding, misconception. You see, so when the Lord says, *api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāk [sādhur eva sa

mantavyaḥ, samyag vyavasito hi saḥ]*

["If even a person of extremely abominable practices, abandoning all non-devotional pursuits of exploitation and renunciation engages in My exclusive and uninterrupted devotional service, he is venerable as a true saint because he has embraced the revolutionary plane of life."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30]

"Sudurācāro, in consideration of this māyic, this misconceived standard of morality, api cet sudurācāro, most disqualified he may be considered from the standpoint of the purity of this world. But bhajate mām ananya-bhāk, but his exclusive tendency can be found towards Me, a spontaneous flow towards Me, avoiding any other direction. Sādhur eva sa mantavyaḥ, he should be considered as sādhu because nirguṇa, that flow, that is to be considered. Other things, now it is here, it will vanish next moment. The satya guṇa takes to the highest position of Brahmā, the next moment the wheel will come here. The concocted good or bad, that is only moving in a circle. It is now holding the highest position, only next moment he's coming back, he's coming down."

ābrahma-bhuvanāl lokāḥ, punar āvartino 'rjuna [mām upetya tu kaunteya, punar janma na vidyate]

["O Arjuna, from the planet of Lord Brahmā downwards, the residents of all planets are naturally subjected to repeated birth and death. But, O Kaunteya, upon reaching Me, there is no rebirth."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.16]

So any development in the misconceived area is no development. But in the consideration of nirguṇa, a little improvement, that is of infinite value. That won't leave you. That won't be destroyed. Api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāk, sādhur eva.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [ahaṁ tvāṁ sarvapāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

All these advices make us to have a faith; that my consideration cannot be taken into comparison with any worldly good or bad.

'dvaite bhadṛābhadrā-jñāna, saba-'manodharma' / 'ei bhāla, ei manda',-ei saba 'bhrama'

["In the material world, conceptions of good and bad are all mental concoctions. Therefore, saying, 'This is good, this is bad,' is a mistake."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

The good in a dream - in a dream, a good dream a bad dream both false. Do you follow? So, in this illusory conceived world, good or bad has got no value. And to save anyone from this charm of this enchantment, or this glamour, that help must come from nirguṇa, from the Vaiṣṇava, from the scripture of the nirguṇa; that is Bhāgavatam, Gītā, all these things, which springs from nirguṇa adhikār. We must be all attentive towards that, that nirguṇa can help us, snatch away our soul in bondage in the saguṇa. The nirguṇa agents will come and snatch away the soul from the bondage of misconception. And no saguṇa agent can do it successfully. He's captive himself. So the help must come from nirguṇa. And from here the emptiness of guṇa, that in spite of so much possession of power here I am most insignificant because this thing has got no value at all. Such aggrievement of heart makes him fit for nirguṇa, when he comes to know this is all futile. The possession, sapna samsthita [?] I possess in a dream, so it has got no value. So when he earnestly prays for the help from the nirguṇa world, from the proper cent per cent truthful world, then that comes to their help. And no saguṇa is qualified to help any saguṇa. That will be in his own way.

Deception for deception, chari chari mastata bhai [?], deception for deception. One blackmailer is exchanging his things with another blackmailer. Two thieves are exchanging things. None is the real owner, so blackmailing.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Again perhaps tomorrow some friends will come. I feel exhausted.

So Charu Swāmī won't be here tomorrow morning? You'll have to go to Calcutta?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: If I'm here Mahārāja I will possibly come but I might have to go to Calcutta tomorrow morning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Prabhu, he's here, constant. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Vaiṣṇavānām yathā śambhuḥ name is a name of Mahādeva, Śiva. And Śrīmad-Bhāgavata [12.13.16] has given recognition to Śiva as one of the principal devotees of Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And also Keśava Bhāratī Mahārāja has come, from south Europe. He was here yesterday; from south Europe, Italy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: South Europe, Italy.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What's your name Prabhu?

Devotee: Nagaraja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nagaraja Prabhu. That is a non name to me I think, Nagaraja. Did he come here previously?

Nagaraja Prabhu: A couple of days ago.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Nagaraja, paramahansa, four stages of the sannyāsī, the first portion, kuṭīcaka, bahudaka, kuṭīcaka means when one is within a cottage. Does not like to get out of the cottage, and always being in the cottage he goes on with his meditation, thinking, Kṛṣṇa Nāma, kuṭīcaka. And bahudaka, when he comes out to preach, goes anywhere and everywhere, and takes daka means water, hudaka means water. Bahudaka means various kinds of water he takes, he drinks, and moves here and there always. In the length and breadth of the world he may move and go on with preaching about his own Lord of the heart. Then hansa, hansa means one who is eligible to take the important things from ordinary. In the śāstra there are many kinds of advices suiting to different natures of people. And the haṁsa, just as the duck [swan] can take out the milk from water, so he is able to take the gist, the important thing, leaving aside the ordinary, unnecessary thing; that is haṁsa. And paramahaṁsa, who is expert in such work, he's always in sāragrāhī, essential things. He's always within essential things and non essential things cannot come near him, paramahaṁsa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, this praṇamāmi sadā prabhupāda-padam, when did you write that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just after the departure of Prabhupāda. When Prabhupāda was living only one poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was written by me and Prabhupāda appreciated very much the argument there. In Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's poem I wrote, *lokānām hita-kāmyayā bhagavato bhakti-pracāras tvayā granthānām racanaiḥ satām abhimatair nana vidhair darśitaḥ ācāryaiḥ kṛta-pūrvam [Desiring to benefit the people in general, you preached the Bhāgavata principles of devotion. Like the great spiritual geniuses Rāmānuja, Mādhva, Nimbarka, and Viṣṇuswāmī, you composed different scriptures which reveal the divine philosophical vision of the previous Ācāryas and great devotees. But, O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, O Gurudeva, more than that, you are a vast ocean of divine love, and your magnanimity knows no bounds.]

[Śrīmad-Bhaktivinoda-viraha-daśakam, 6]

A comparative study of development in the theistic conception, that was represented, and Prabhupāda liked it very much, appreciated.

["The effulgent, non-differentiated aspect of divinity known as Brahman is composed of infinite particles of individual consciousness, and has been considered by the Upaniṣads and by Vedic scholars to be the halo of the Absolute. The localised plenary portion of Godhead known as Paramātmā is sought after by the great yogīs practising extreme penances. Nārāyaṇa Himself, the predominating Lord of the Vaikuṇṭha planets, whose lotus feet are worshipped and served by His unexcelled bee like devotees, is only a partial representation of the original Personality of Godhead. The original or full-fledged aspect of divinity is Kṛṣṇa. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you have not come to distribute Brahman or Paramātmā or even Nārāyaṇa bhakti, but Svayaṁ Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, the original conception of the Absolute, who is all-ecstasy. It is you, O Gurudeva, who can gently place me in His hands, and you have come to give Him to the public." [Śrīmad-Bhaktivinoda-viraha-daśakam, 7]

Brahman conception of the Reality, then Paramātmā conception, and Nārāyaṇa conception; Brahman conception by the jñānīs, Śaṅkarites, Paramātmā conception by the yogīs, and ordinary bhakta they have got Lakṣmī Nārāyaṇa conception. But surpassing that you give up the higher conception of Kṛṣṇa consciousness; and Kṛṣṇa is so and so, such and such. That was shown in those hymns. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Both poetry and philosophy combined. There are many books in the world which have got poetry character. But there are many that have got philosophical, ontological character. And ontology and poetry combined, such books are very rare in the world, both poetry and ontology. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam contains both in its superior quality, both kavyam, that's poetry, beautiful poetry there; and also the ontological representation is also of the highest type. And in Caitanya-caritāmṛta both poetic and ontological side we find in its high degree.

Those who spread this message of Godhead are certainly doing the greatest relief work for human society and are the most magnanimous welfare workers."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.31.9]

We are talking, talking and talking, but about mortality. Just as it is written in Bhāgavatam [2.3.20], dādurikeva sūta, the frog also makes noise, and what is the result? That serpent gets the clue that there is the frog and the serpent comes and devours him. So all our talking is of that nature. We are only, mis chattering [?] that is all mortal. Theism, the subject of our talking, speaking, is all mortal and we are being mortalised. By all our efforts we are only helping us to be fodder of the god of death. Mortal, by every movement, we are, the matter is mortal, and we are, being soul, we are only cultivating about chewing all things that are mortal. And identification is growing in its condition and dragging us to the mortality, and we are being prey of mortality.

Kṛṣṇa consciousness is just the opposite. To speak about Kṛṣṇa, try to see Kṛṣṇa, try to move in Kṛṣṇa in all affairs, and not only will you be above this mortal area, but you will be able to enter into some positive world, of Kṛṣṇa, the Reality the Beautiful. Reality, the harmony, beauty and harmony and love, all similar and almost same: divine. Divine means dedication, at the bottom, the foundation is dedication, not of exploitation, in the midst of which we are plodding.

Exploitation, exploiting one another here, we live; our very life is possible only when we devour our neighbours. So nasty form of life we have got at present that without creating disturbance into the environment we cannot live. Without food we cannot live, go on, and food means so many lives to be killed. So living in this plane, that is a nuisance thing, very nasty. Without disturbing the environment we cannot maintain ourselves; a very nasty thing.

So we all must promise to leave this land where we are living at present. And we shall try to enter into another land where we can give, we can help others, where our living may not create any disturbance to the environment; such land, a land of dedication. Here, everyone, every unit is an exploiting agent, cannot but be. But there, everyone is a dedicating unit. And its acme is in Goloka, in Vṛndāvana, the zenith of dedication, dedicating tendency. It is spontaneous and it is irresistible rather, irresistible, ahaitukī and apratihatā. Spontaneous, that is causeless, no cause, naturally. It was, it is, and it will be. And spontaneous, and apratihatā, nothing can make or mar. It is of such nature. And that is the position of our innate nature, really.

And the agents of that land come here to recruit us to that holy land. And the duty fell on the head of Swāmī Mahārāja to go to you all in the wide world, to carry this news to you. And you are attracted by his words, and so many of you have gathered. Our joy knows no bounds to see you here. The land of Mahāprabhu, where from it began, the flow; though it is eternal, but in this mundane world, such flow in its brightest colour came, began from Māyāpur. So with what thankfulness, and what contribution from our heart we shall try to see that land, the birthplace of such flow. Not only to save us, but to crown us with the highest success of life eternal. Not a particular life. This is not only for human beings, a handful of animals, but it is meant for all, even beasts and trees, stones. It is so light, and so fine, that it can pierce through the four walls of stone, and can enter like x-ray, everywhere. Any movement, the wave that is created in Kṛṣṇa consciousness: that will pierce through everything. No hindrance, apratihatā, it can go to help. There may be difference in degrees of intensity, but it is sure that it is passing to the – it comes from Infinite, and it is working also in the plane of Infinite. No limitation it cares for; it does not recognise any limitation at all. It is Vaikuṇṭha. Kuṇṭha means calculation, limit. The talk of the unlimited, in its characteristic, it is also so, none can limit it, check it, hinder it, oppose it; apratihatā. It may not be felt; it may not be measured, by the knowledge of our senses. But it is there and it is progressing.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.
Any new figures have come?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. More and more are coming every day now. Later on today I think some more devotees will be coming from America, South America, and perhaps Canada...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, many of the devotees here right now, they're presidents of different temples in ISKCON around the world. So after the GBC meetings there's also a temple president's meeting, in which the GBC resolutions they will be presented to the temple presidents as a body. So one thing that will be presented is that the decision concerning the extension of Ācārya-ship: so it has been decided that it will not be extended.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It won't be extended?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, and some of the reasons...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is decided in the GBC.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: First the Ācārya board then the GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then the GBC, the decision is final?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. They're saying indefinitely. That means for no specified period of time, because...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because it is not the proper time for further extension?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No necessity.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right. But they were thinking, many of them were thinking when they went into the Ācārya board meeting to extend, but taking the last year into consideration, because there were some difficulties on the level of Ācārya, they were thinking that now is not the proper – there is not the right atmosphere in our society for extension. And that those who were to be considered as candidates for Ācārya that there was some political motive there, or political dealing, with some political concern; so they wanted to make it free from such political concerns. So they have thought to not extend at this point.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So that decision has already been taken, the important decision. Yesterday such a resolution was taken, only yesterday?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And unanimous, that verdict was unanimous?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Finally. It's actually, it may be like half and half in terms of how people feel, but the verdict is unanimous.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Someone may be willing to forego their personal feelings for the sake of being unified as a body.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Let us wait and see the result, the consequence. Anyhow, unity is desired; unity and progress, what is desirable.

...

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Conservative, Liberal, Labour; so many parties: in India there are many parties in the political world, but in England, Conservative and Liberal, and then came the Labour party. Three parties we find there. And in America the Democrat and the Republic, two parties. But the people outside they say there's very little difference between the Republic and Democrat. They look like almost the same. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

There is a famous saying about the definition of democracy by Abraham Lincoln: "Government of the people, by the people, for the people."

I used to, when I was in charge of Madras Maṭh, daily class I used to advertise in the paper for the daily class. Government of the people, it is true, of the people. And government for the people, it is also tenable. But by the people is untenable. The mass is ignorant. So vox populi is not vox dei. Where is this mentioned? [16th century: from Latin, literally 'the people's voice.']

Vox populi is not vox dei. The voice of the people is not the voice of God. It is a general saying, "the voice of the people is the voice of God." These are all unguided, mistaken people. What value may be there in their voice? They're all fallen, not up to standard of thinking. They're being the fodder of death, their movement, so how can they take us to our desired goal?

asato mā sad gamayo tāmaso mā, jyoti gamayo mṛtyor mā amṛta gamayo

["I am mortal, make me eternal. I am ignorant, filled with nescience, take me to science, knowledge. And I am threatened with misery, guide me towards bliss."]

[Bṛhad Āraṇyaka Upaniṣad, 1st Adhyaya, 3rd Brāhmaṇa, 23rd mantra]

That is the innate and principle of life: to save ones own self, to become immortal, and to become, out of ignorance, and to become happy. Our very existence is being threatened every second here where we live. And it is also threatening to cover our knowledge. And it is always offering, threatening to swallow us with misery. The misery is threatening to swallow us every second. These are our standing enemies. We must fight with them in a scientific way, how to get out of these three born enemies of us, who are always threatening, our very existence, our very knowledge, and our very sense of happiness, feeling. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So the God conception has come in this world. The ideal, above, in the transcendental realm, even superseding our imagination, how to be happy. The area of happiness is the area of God. Satan may not enter there, may not have his influence over Him. So Godly life, that again, what is the conception of God proper. There is also possibility of comparative study from this side, and that is our conjecture from here. But in reality there is such position and such place. And they're not idle, God is not sitting idle. He's also sending His messiah, messenger to this world to recruit, from different positions to different stages of theism. And there is also gradation.

In the political dominion status a sort of independence, then different conceptions of political emancipation; so also the general emancipation has various conceptions. And according to our hankering and demand of our sincere soul we come to similar class.

There is a possibility of comparison, taṭasthā, both relative and absolute consideration. Everywhere: both kinds of knowledge, relative and absolute. The absolute holds the supreme position, but relative is there and must be there.

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Then, any question?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You don't have any questions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No question?

bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ kṣīyante cāśya karmāṇi, mayi drṣṭe 'khilātmani

["The knot in the heart is pierced, all misgivings are cut to pieces and the chain of fruitive actions is terminated when I am seen as the Supreme Personality of Godhead."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.20.30]

All the questions disappear when we get the solution proper. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. Which is almost impossible, unthinkable, such solution we get from Bhāgavatam. Such a stage is possible. What is that? Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. All the ties are unloosed, in the heart. The heart is full of different ties. I tie myself with this idea, this idea, that idea, thousands of ideas I am tying with that. I want. I want. I like it. I like it. I like it. All the ties are unloosed at once. Such knowledge may descend in us. At once, all the ties all unnecessary, so many ties are all unnecessary. Unloose it, unloose it. They're rather enemy. Let them, we thought that they're friend and wanted to tie me with him. Unloose, unloose, unloose. They're not friends, all enemies. Bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś. All the ties of the heart are broken off.

Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. This is in the stage of activity, karma, bhidyate hṛdaya-granthiś, and in the layer of knowledge, chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. There are so many doubts, doubts after doubts. All doubts cleared. Just as the mist disappears, so all doubts cleared.

I thought how it is possible, in the beginning. It is impossible. In the beginning I thought that there the sayings of Bhāgavatam, when Gauḍīya Maṭh came to say this, something like this, "That this is the truth and nothing can be, no other conception of truth may be absolute. This is the absolute". Then how it is possible? But in my childhood I had some knowledge of Bhāgavatam. This śloka came to my mind. Yes, Bhāgavata says there is such stage. It is possible. Chidyante sarva-saṁśayāḥ. Free from all doubts, there may be such a stage that we're free from all doubt. Then also Upaniṣad came:

yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam bhavati

["By knowing Him, everything is known, by getting Him, everything is gained."] tad viddhi jñāsyas tad eva brahman [?] Enquiry is good: but enquire like a proper man, in a proper scientific way. That enquiry, search, search for a particular thing which equates to search after everything. Come to search that thing which will solve all your problems. Searching after this, searching after A, searching after B, searching after C, dismiss all these mad ideas. Search for one thing which will satisfy everything. It is possible. tad viddhi jnasasya [?]

Yasmin vijñāte sarvam evam vijñātam bhavati. If we know that point everything is known. Yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam. If you get that thing everything is got. Is it possible? Yes, it is possible. And when we come to such faith, then there is real faith. It is śraddhā. It is known as śraddhā, in Sanskrit language. And perhaps it may be, the similar word in similar meaning as faith, in English, śraddhā. It is possible. There is the central truth. If I know that, everything is known. If I get that, everything is got. Yasmin prāpte sarvam idam prāptam - tad viddhi jnasasya [?]

If you want to be a student you study such a thing of absolute characteristic, of the grand characteristic; not partial, but search for the whole, the conception of the whole. That is, it takes us to such understanding, the one ruling the plurality. One unity, the oneness of the whole, and from one point the whole of our conception is being controlled and ruled; that idea. The one in whole and the one is the master of the whole. And if I be acquainted with that one the whole is under me.

Our Guru Mahārāja, in Bombay, in answering some question he told, “That suppose a lady, a girl, is very poor, but if she’s married to a prince, the prince has everything, and through her matrimonial relation she can have command over the kingdom of her husband.”

This is something like that. Kṛṣṇa is the paramount power and we have got some intimate relationship with Him then everything comes within our jurisdiction through Him, through His love, and my love towards Him. Through that affection everything may come within my adhikāra, within my power, or something like that. So in this way we can know. We can know, we can have, everything. And also, we may not think that to have everything means under us. That means exploitation. It is not that. That is the tendency is to serve. In that world exploitation is unknown. I will get chance of serving so many, with so many assistants also.

Our Guru Mahārāja used to say, “The whole duty which I find in this mission, I should do it. It is mine, but I can’t do. So Kṛṣṇa has sent so many assistants to me. But the responsibility is mine.”

So this sort of spirit must arise in the heart of every servitor. “The whole thing, it is my duty, I should do the whole. It is the service of my Lord, my loving Lord, and the whole responsibility is that of mine. But because it is not possible, so Kṛṣṇa has sent so many helping hands to me.” In this way everyone will try to accommodate the service of everything. Just as at present in our crude form of mentality we want master-ship over everything. In the land of exploitation, generally, our innate nature will be to be masters of all infinite, that everything will obey me. The whole world will obey me. But just the opposite; I shall serve the whole world. That is, the opposite is in our innate nature, to serve all. And such a world is there.

And Kṛṣṇa is the leader there. Rather, He’s the predominating – if such representation is possible, and the predominated aspect, half, is Rādhārāṇī. Predominating and predominated, but both of dedicating stuff. But formally one is predominating half and another is predominated half.

Proton or neutron or something like that; what is said? In the centre of the electron, electron is just like a solar system, and there, all atoms are moving, electrons are moving in atom, and in the middle the both combined, the neutron and proton perhaps, one negative and one positive.

But the half, moiety, our Prabhupāda used to use this word. Predominating Moiety and Predominated Moiety; two halves. Formally, predominating, aggressor, Kṛṣṇa, and to be aggressed, Rādhikā, in its highest form possible, dedication. So Rādhārāṇī's lookout is, "All the services of Kṛṣṇa is Mine alone. I take so many only to help Me."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. And Gurudeva according to the stages of the devotees are seen in various planes to play his part. And ultimately enters into Rādhārāṇī, and Her group, and in taṭasthā-vicāra, amnaya vetirek.

These services are planned to – the anti party is necessary, the opposition party is necessary to enhance the degree of services. It is performed by Yogamāyā. Different groups, competition of services. We are to hear, and vague impression we may receive in our young, lit, the photographic plane, according to its capacity are deep or vague, so the picture may have some impression within our heart according to the awakening. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: I have a question. If one devotee is desiring or hankering after the responsibility of taking on disciples, does that mean he's unqualified to be a Guru, a spiritual master?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: His question is that if someone is hankering after the responsibility of accepting disciples, does this mean that – is that to be interpreted as a disqualification?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It depends, it is laudable, but it depends upon the purity of purpose, sincerity. Do you follow?

Devotee: How will that be understood?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is, at his risk he can do. There's the śāstra, the sādhū, then the right. His ultimate decision with his conscience. If he's sincere he's all right. But if other elements are mixed in that desire, the bhukti, mukti, pratiṣṭhā, mainly pratiṣṭhā, name and fame, then he will have to take the risk and reap the result accordingly. Otherwise, on the whole, it is a good thing. But at the same time it may be tested in that way, if he thinks there are superior Ācāryas and if he weighs the good of the disciple he may carry him to that Ācārya. But if he finds there is none to help him, and I can help him to certain extent, sincerely, then he should go at once to help him. Otherwise he'll be a criminal. One man is drowning and I can rescue him, I must come forward. But there is possibility that in going to rescue him I may also drown. Then he'll bring another gentleman, "Oh. Stronger man, help him, he's drowning." So the purity of our purpose, that is the highest response with which we are to judge it.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Sundara. Gaura Haribol.

A patient is suffering, and I know something of treatment, I shall come forward to help him. But a better doctor is available, then I shall try to help him in that way. Otherwise I shall go with my sincere desire to help him. It's something like that. I have got – I had a disease, I got medicine from my Guru Mahārāja, and I think that I'm improving, my health is improving, I'm getting out of the disease. That medicine I may recommend in the case of another similar patient. But there also, it is mentioned in Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, when one rushes to take the responsibility of deliverance, and when there is another, higher man, to deal with the case, he'll be criminal.

Anyadhikari ācārya, bhatta mani, nimbadhikari [?]

A better doctor is available, but for my trade, for my selfish purpose, I run to, rush to take the patient in my care; that will be criminal. But none to help, then whatever little knowledge I have got I must utilise that for his betterment. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati.

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If purities purpose is there, that is invincible. None can defeat him, or make any harm of him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Sincerity. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: Mahārāja, the situation may also arise where a group of senior devotees, some of whom may be qualified themselves to take on this responsibility, may desire that some other specific personalities be chosen to be able to deliver the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A jīva soul's personal opinion, I think this decision is unhappy and injudicious. The decision of the GBC is unhappy and injudicious, it seems to me. And the consequence will be that many independent Ācāryas will spring up, will stand up, as a result of this bigoted policy. This is my personal opinion. And I wanted to save the ISKCON from such reaction. But they should be accommodating and expanding. They should expand themselves. They're doing it in a particular way, that making disciples, the expansion. From outside the ISKCON, with some little knowledge we have got in my life, with all sincerity I wanted to help the ISKCON that the organisation with its prestige they can go on for some time, safely. But the Divine Will we must work in its own way.

In Hegelian language, the thesis, antithesis, synthesis. Whenever anything happens some opposite happenings occur. And then again greater synthesis is the outcome in future. So we must submit to the inevitable. We shall have to submit to the inevitable. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Sometimes what we do not do, willingly, voluntarily, we are forced to do that, with some punishment. Not always, let us see what way the Divine Will goes, Divine, the sweet will of Kṛṣṇa; what way He passes. Let us wait and see. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

I am – my heart aches to hear that many important persons have already become indifferent and many vanished. That gentleman whose reaction is very deplorable, I was known to him, that Pradyumna. First he came with eighteen points complaining against the present GBC and the Ācārya board. "I represent the general body of the non Ācārya, non GBC members. They're moving in this way and there are eighteen points of objection from us against them."

I saw that many of them were not objectionable, but I asked him, wait and see. Many of my friends I advised only wait and see. Don't do anything hurriedly. Hurriedly you'll have to repent. Especially when your Guru Mahārāja Prabhupāda – so many sincere and good friends whom I cannot mention but with little difficulty in my mind, with some pain in my mind. According to me they're all sincere devotees came. But they could not have any room within the fold of ISKCON and disappeared. And some of them are prey to reaction, prey to reaction I'm told.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: United we stand, divided we fall. That is providence. What I can do? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So accommodating nature would have been better according to me. But what – the Kṛṣṇa's will, we must submit to that, submit to that. And thereby we won't be losers, we won't be losers. His will, His will goes this side. It may be pleasing to me. In this way we shall try.

tat te 'nukampāṁ susamīkṣamāṇo, bhuñjāna evātma-kṛtāṁ vipākam hṛd-vāg-vapurbhir vidhadhan namas te, jīveta yo mukti-pade sa dāya bhāḥ

[Lord Brahmā said: "One who, in the hope of achieving Your grace, goes on enduring the inauspicious fruit of his own karma, and passes his days practising devotion unto You in every thought, word, and deed - such a person is heir to the land of freedom: he attains to the plane of positive immortality."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]

And also the last Śikṣāṣṭaka śloka of Mahāprabhu, *āśliṣya vā pāda-ratāṁ pinaṣṭu mām, adarśanān marma-hatāṁ karotu vā yathā tathā vā vidadhātu lampaṭo, mat-prāna-nāthas tu sa

["Kṛṣṇa may embrace me in love or trample me under His feet. He may break my heart by hiding Himself from me. Let that debauchee do whatever He likes, but He will always be the only Lord of my life."]
[Śikṣāṣṭakam, 8]

His sweet will may move this side, that side, in my favour, against me, still, I must submit to that supreme absolute will. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Let us hope that their decision may help the ISKCON, by the will of Kṛṣṇa, it may not bring any disaster in the organisation.

Let us hope and pray. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare. ISKCON is a newborn child, a newborn child. There may be many child enemies, so we shall pray to the Lord that the child may grow to be a strong young man, and do the desired service of its founder, Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja. Gaura Haribol. With these good wishes we shall pray to him. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare.

*[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate] na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid,

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

With a great campaign, the highest campaign the world has ever seen. The expansion of the creed of love of the Absolute in the religious sky. So its expansion, its happy movement is to be wished and prayed for by all. Mahāprabhu's grace may reach to every corner of the unknown corner of the world, and so many souls may receive that nectar.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Devotee: ...that the Vaiṣṇava philosophy would indicate that any senior, sober, disciple of Śrīla Prabhupāda should be able to accept disciples, rather than just by some appointment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What does he say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's saying there's a feeling among many devotees that among the senior disciples of Prabhupāda that they should be allowed to accept disciples.

Devotee: And it shouldn't be based on appointment.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And it should not be based on appointment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They may think from their standpoint, 'If we allow one, the two will come, then many will come, everyone will say that I must have otherwise I will revolt.' From their standpoint if I am to think, so they may think like that, in this way. 'If one opening then many opening we'll have to endure. With recognition of two or three this year, then next year many will flock together, 'we want', and then the threatening will come. So we must stand rigid. We have got a good position now that our Prabhupāda has recommended this and there is no explicit saying from him that extend yourself gradually. So we are in strong foundation at present. But if we come down to take any other advantageous position then we may loose our position for all. And now there is eleven, then there will be a hundred, and we cannot be able to quench the thirst of the ambitious persons. So we are in durga, in a fort, that Prabhupāda has sanctioned only these eleven. We must not get out of the fort. That will be dangerous for us.' That may be their position at present, they think, 'This is political.' And according to me this is also political stand; stand in a firm position within the fort, given by Prabhupāda. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They're thinking that later more can be added, but right now in our society...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. They'll be put in fire, when one is going to die, then he'll think, 'I must have nomination from my disciples, in my place.' There they'll come before the test. When one is departing, at that time his spontaneous desire will come to find his successor from amongst his disciples. And the real fight will begin at that time. He won't like to give nomination to God-brothers, but perhaps one of his disciples, to keep his name eternal. And there the real test will come at that time. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Suppose if one of the eleven severs his connection with them, then what will they do? To keep up the number full, eleven, they will take in another new person, or not? Then ten will be the number. The eleven as spoken by Swāmī Mahārāja that will lose its character, so eleven must be, so one God-brother should be taken in, or ten will work?

There will be difficulties, so independent action will be necessary, but if not now, a little later it may be. But only the difficulty is that so many sincere souls they're going away from the organisation. And they cannot keep their position while single and they're going down. That is our sorrow. Otherwise it does not matter whether eleven Ācāryas or one Ācārya. It does not matter. But those that have come under the banner of Swāmī Mahārāja, if they lose their purity of life, then that is to be mournful. Only this much, this is what is aching me. I knew some of them personally. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

And I advised them all, wait and see. Don't go to take any adverse steps. Wait submissively. And maybe, just as too much grandeur, and in competition to show the position of every Ācārya that he commands more men and more money. This is undesirable. Rather, if the competition would have been otherwise, one is helping another in his gorgeousness, according to the qualification, that would have been a more happier thing, more happy thing.

But after all, His will, will go on. And that is our solace. Our consolation will be that. It may not suit or please me, my heart, but I cannot expect, I should not expect, that everything, all events will satisfy me, they're only to satisfy me. No. His will should be satisfied at any cost and every cost. So patiently we shall have to take what happens, practically. We won't allow ourselves to be perturbed much as to do something which will go against this decision. Though not with full heart, still, we shall try to accommodate with it. That attitude should be better according to me. But when God wishing it will be – it may take another way any time.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Our solace will be, His will may not be challenged or may not be opposed. Let us try to be happy with the decision. And He will see. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. We should not allow ourselves to be identified with the disturbing element. It may go against the organisation built up by Swāmī Mahārāja. So toleration: that will be laudable, according to me. Wait and see.

There is a saying: suhasya sigram aso misra kalo harmam [?] When Rāvaṇa was killed, informally, and his life, still he was living but he was sure to die very soon, at that time Rāmacandra sent Lakṣmaṇa: “Go approach Rāvaṇa and ask him some advice about rāja-nīti, political conduct.” He had long experience, cuda-yuga, fourteen yugas. So Lakṣmaṇa went to Rāvaṇa and asked advice how to conduct the kingdom, “What policy should we accept?”

Rāvaṇa told one thing: suhasya sigram aso misra kala haranam [?] “What is good we should do it immediately, and what is bad we should take time, we should take time after time.” kala haranam [?]

And he also gave example from his life. “When Śurpanākha, my sister, came and reported to me that her nose and ears had been cut by Lakṣmaṇa, knowing fully well that to enter into war with Rāmacandra that is not an easy task. That is bad. Still I hurriedly took up and I am going to be finished. I am almost finished for that. But I had a good plan also in my mind, that this salty sea must be replaced by the milky sea. Ksiyo sarga [?] We are around with the sea of salt, but there is a sea of milk. I must change. I could do it, but, kala haranam [?] Yes, I shall do, I shall do. In this way I lingered and I could not do that good thing. Because it was a good thing on the whole and I did not take it immediately so I could not do it. And this bad thing immediately I took up and I am dying now.”

So suha [?] things which are good, primavesi [?] from the primaves [?] view, what is good we must do immediately, and what is undesirable we shall wait for that to take any action against it. Wait and wait. Then perhaps if my plan is good it will come out naturally. After a little time it may come naturally.

What's the time now?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's nine thirty five.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nine thirty five?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And today you came here, you reached here what time?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: At eight o'clock.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Eight o clock.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So one hour and a half engagement with you; and sometime before you with these friends.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. So I think we'll take your leave now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. You may take leave now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sevā Vṛnda ki jaya. Sevā Vṛnda ki jaya. Sevā Vṛnda ki jaya. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. What does he say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He says, “By your mercy we can become free from this political consciousness and become Kṛṣṇa conscious.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That we want from our heart, whole of my heart, that I want you all to be happy with Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and also you can spread it. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I was thinking, your name is Bhakti Rakṣaka, so we have the bhakti-latā-bīja must be protected from Vaiṣṇava aparādha and Nāma aparādha and by your kind advices you’re protecting us from these serious offences.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Let God decide in our favour, what you say, we may be saved from Vaiṣṇava aparādha and other aparādha. That is the highest interest of us all. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

[About thirty five seconds with Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja and Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja in Bengali conversation]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the devotees they also want to give some dhan.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What are they? Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. What is your point?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So can we ask you some questions about paintings for Brahma-saṁhitā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Do it.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometimes we would ask questions, the artists would put questions to Prabhupāda on the details, and he would think that, he would describe this sometimes as teasing, that these questions would tease him, because sometimes they may be a little intricate. So we hope not to be too intellectual about it, but if we can ask the questions simply or clearly and you could give some advice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Let me hear then I can say.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: [To another devotee] This is my own list, you have yours.

Devotee: The first painting that we want to do is in the first verse and the second verse there is description of Gokula Vṛndāvana as thousand petal lotus with Kṛṣṇa in the centre. And in the twenty sixth verse there is description of Lord Brahmā's meditation on the thousand petal lotus of Goloka Vṛndāvana with Kṛṣṇa and Rādhārāṇī and the gopīs. So we want to do one painting of the Goloka Vṛndāvana planet with Rādhā Kṛṣṇa surrounded by the gopīs. So...

Devotee: Do you have the exact questions written down, did you write them down?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I just have these little extra comments that Rāmeśvara Mahārāja made.

Devotee: So it is described that Rādhā Kṛṣṇa are seated on a divine throne, and the whorl of the lotus flower where They are seated is described as a hexagonal figure. So we were wondering, what is the meaning that it's a hexagonal figure, the whorl of the lotus?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am sorry that we are not to enter into the discussion of such higher and subtle position of the līlā of Rādhā Kṛṣṇa. That is not to be brought into public. And that is the distinction of Gauḍīya Maṭh and the sahajiyā section. They're trying to imitate all these things. But we are not, we have no faith in imitation. It will come in individual case and it will awaken in an irresistible way when the programme of the sādhana stage is finished, it will come automatically, spontaneously. We are believers in that. Not to know the form already, and then we'll reach there, that is not the policy accepted by Guru Mahārāja Prabhupāda.

pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge, [mattala hari-jana viṣaya range]

["The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."] [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura also said, "Stick to the rulings of the class you are fit for, then you'll see automatically."

yathā yathā gaura padāravinde, vindeta bhaktim kṛta puṇya rāśiḥ tathā tathot sarpati hr̥dy akasmāt, rādhā padāmbhoja sudhāmbhu-rāśiḥ

[Prabodhānanda Saraswatī Ṭhākura says: "As much as we devote ourselves to the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, we will automatically achieve the nectarine service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī in Vṛndāvana. An investment in Navadvīpa Dhāma will automatically take one to Vṛndāvana. How one will be carried there will be unknown to him. But those who have good fortune invest everything in the service of Gaurāṅga. If they do that, they will find that everything has automatically been offered to the divine feet of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She will accept them in Her confidential service and give them engagement, saying: "Oh, you have a good recommendation from Navadvīpa; I immediately appoint you to this service."]

[Caitanya-Candrāmṛta, 88]

Strictly stick to Gaura līlā, Mahāprabhu, and you will find automatically within your heart that the rādhā-rasa-sudhānidhi is flowing. Don't attempt directly to have it.

Vaiṣṇava, heta mālī sece nitya śravaṇa-kīrttanādi jala [?]

[mālī hañā kare sei bīja āropaṇa, śravaṇa-kīrttana-jale karaye secana]

["When a person receives the seed of devotional service, he should take care of it by becoming a gardener and sowing the seed in his heart. If he waters the seed gradually by the process of śravaṇa and kīrtana, the seed will begin to sprout."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.152]

[tāhāṇ vistārita hañā phale prema-phala, ihāṇ mālī sece nitya śravaṇādi jala]

["The creeper greatly expands in the Goloka Vṛndāvana planet, and there it produces the fruit of love for Kṛṣṇa. Although remaining in the material world; the gardener regularly sprinkles the creeper with the water of hearing and chanting."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.155]

It will come automatically, spontaneously. Not intellectually you are to approach that. That will give you a bad prejudice. Not only that, a harmful prejudice and you will have to have more energy to do away with that layer of misunderstanding. So our Prabhupāda did not allow these things. Do your duty in your plane, what you deserve, and that will come naturally. That is his instruction all through, not only temporarily, but all through. Don't go to be a disbeliever and very eager to see the final result. Don't do like that, for then you will get māyā instead of Yogamāyā. He knows it fully well, She knows it fully well, when you are to be taken in to the confidential area, and that cannot be acquired by any other thing but His sweet will - the flow of Her sweet will, or His sweet will. Try to have the natural thing, not any thing of imitation or any reflection. Reflection and shadow, these two kinds of misconceptions may come there. Reflection is more dangerous. In Hari Nāma also it has been stated like that. Reflection and shadow, both are misleading. And we are to cross that. In our way that sort of temptation may come, but we must not think that everything will come within the fist of our intellect.

acintyāḥ khalu ye bhāvā na tāṁs tarkeṇa yojayet [prakṛtibhyaḥ param yacca tad-acintyasya lakṣam]

Which is inconceivable, don't take it under the jurisdiction of reason. When it will be extended to you, you'll be astounded only to find a peep into that. Na tāmś tarkeṇa yojayet. Don't try to drag that into the zone of reason. This is autocratic in its nature. It may come in one shape to you; it may go in another shape to another gentleman. It is so expansive and so free in its nature. It is infinite. Rather the Infinite is the base of those pastimes. And always prepare yourself, hanker, but don't make it an object of experience.

When Mahāprabhu also talked about that as if in a trance; as if in a trance He's giving description of His wonderful experience of Kṛṣṇa līlā. Several times we found that sort of deep līlā, the higher līlā of Kṛṣṇa, to be related by Mahāprabhu Himself. Govardhana līlā, and the Jāla-keli when He jumped unconsciously into the ocean and for few hours carried by the taraṅga, waves of the sea, He was carried to Chakra tīrtha from Sagrada. The Jāla-keli of Kṛṣṇa He has described how it is.

And also in Caṭaka-parvata, no end to His līlā, when His body was transformed like that of a – pumpkin, then also He described the līlā. But the nature of that description, not any book produced thing, it cannot be taken into black and white; it's such thing.

So we received caution, often, that don't try, it will come automatically. Go on with the programme that is given by śāstra and Guru. And it will be; if you have such a possibility of fortune then it will come to you. Not a matter of experience and it can be given to this and that – not to be tackled in such a way.

Yathā yathā gaura padāravinde. Engage your full attention in Gaura līlā and that will come automatically within you. From indirect way it will come to you, from higher domain. When He will be pleased it will come down, for some time to give you experience and you will simply be astonished –

“What is this?” Then again when gone, it is drawn, you will have nothing to lament. A living thing - try to come to get, to hope. We cannot make it the object of our, such higher thing. An ordinary man’s conduct with his intimate friends, that is very hard to get. And the secret līlā of the Supreme Lord, how we can dare to enter into: and especially publicly. That is not possible. Externally we can try to have, to give some description of the outer possibilities, and not actual thing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So they can do something general.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: We won’t venture to enter. In general...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Like lotus flower.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Lotus flower representing the idea of beauty, softness, all these things, lotus flower, and in different petals representing different platforms of rasam. In this way, such way we can take it, beauty, softness. No mundane ideas should be drawn there; only a distant similarity. But categorical difference there should be; there will be always.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Even we were not allowed by our master to read the books where they’re described – Govinda-līlāmṛtam, and even Stava-Kusumañjalī, even Ujjvala-Nīlamanī – he did not allow us to study and discuss it. Rather, he would have been feeling very much disturbed if he heard that someone is interfering with those higher līlās in those books. He did not like it.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, one question I had on that subject...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Duṣṭa-phala karibe arjjana. [Kalyāṇa Kalpataru, Upadeśa 18] Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is giving warning that you'll get only a bad result if you venture to cross the line; a bad effect will come to you, aparādha. From the lower position, as anartha, the steps are shown. Śraddhā, sādhū-saṅga, śravana, kīrtana, then anartha-nivṛtti, undesirable things will vanish altogether, anartha-nivṛtti. Then ruci, then āsakti, then bhāva-bhakti, the sprout of real devotion; then prema-bhakti, and sneha, māna, praṇaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva, mahābhāva. By such steps we are to approach there. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Once Prabhupāda remarked – how you will take it I don't know. One gentleman, of course he was a senior; he wanted to discuss these things with Prabhupāda, and he laid much stress to that. And ultimately he left the association of Prabhupāda and lived a secluded life. But previously he did much service to the mission; that gentleman.

Prabhupāda remarked, "Oh. His true life, he's married with Kṛṣṇa and she has got a child." Something, such remark Prabhupāda made. He was a man, but taking him as a gopī he wanted to culture about the life of the gopīs and to intimate connection of Kṛṣṇa and gopī in this way he wanted to culture intensely and Prabhupāda remarked in that way. "Oh. He has turned into a lady, a gopī, and after coming in contact with Kṛṣṇa she produced a child."

Gaura Haribol.

And another time, the Guru Mahārāja of Prabhupāda, Gaura Kīśora Bābājī, he was in a hut near the Ganges. Another disciple of Prabhupāda, Kṛṣṇa Caitanya or something, he imitated, leaving Prabhupāda, he imitated Prabhupāda's Gurudeva, Gaura Kīśora Bābājī, and constructed a tiny hut nearby and imitated his bhajan, Hari Nāma, and the alocana, the discussion of Narottama Ṭhākura, all these things, and observed strict vairāgyam in his physical life.

Gaura Kīśora Bābājī remarked one day, "That only by entering the room of labour..."

When a lady gives birth to the child she's in a room, is it not? In a special room, here that is called atudhar [?] atu means rogi [?] [?] "So if a lady enters into the room of that labour and shows, imitates some pain of giving birth to a child; then child won't come by imitation of the sound. There are many things before, many important previous events there must be, then the child will come. Only imitation won't give birth to a child." That was his remark to that gentleman.

So śuddha-sattva, you must come in connection with what is known as śuddha-sattva. First viśuddha-sattva, nirguṇa world, śuddha-sattva means nirguṇa; sattva-guṇa and viśuddha-sattva – coming in connection with that nirguṇa; then only you may try to approach the subtle happenings or events there. So not to satisfy curiosity – where fools rush in angels fear to tread, fools rush in where angels fear to tread. So in this spirit we must approach the whole thing. At the same time we may not be, by God's grace, disbelievers. 'So give me, I shall judge the whole thing to the details; then I shall accept what you say.' There are many things below. The charm and reasonable-ness of that is enough to convince a person to come this side, and they should be left high above our head. So very cautiously we are to handle all this līlā, especially mādhurya-līlā. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Yes, the other day I was thinking, when I'd joined the mission for about a year, Prabhupāda arranged for one full month Kārtika-māss to preach in Vṛndāvana, and asked the Mahārāja, Bharati Mahārāja at that time, to “Explain the seventh canto, the story of Prahāda, not of Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, or Yaśodā, or anything of Vṛndāvana. But preach śuddha-bhakti of Prahāda first. They’re all rife in business as sahajiyā. Just try to make them understand that enter into the domain of bhakti. What about Kṛṣṇa līlā, that is far, far above.”

So in Vṛndāvana they rather wondered, ‘What is this? In Vṛndāvana they’re explaining Bhāgavata leaving the tenth canto, only seventh canto, Prahāda līlā, the lower portion of bhakti.”

That was wonderful and strange. Again I found later on when Prabhupāda himself he gave lecture between Rādhā-kuṇḍa and Śyāma-kuṇḍa. There is a boundary line. Have you gone there – Vṛndāvana?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhā-kuṇḍa and Śyāma-kuṇḍa and there is a boundary, and there Prabhupāda used to explain for a few days, and Upadeśāmṛta of Rūpa Goswāmī, that was read by him and explained. Not about Rādhārāṇī, not about Kṛṣṇa, that Upadeśāmṛta, the basis. His attention was always towards the basis and the fruit will come of itself. Pour water into the root, pour water into the root, and fruit will come of itself. So he himself he explained sitting in the middle of both Rādhā-kuṇḍa and Śyāma-kuṇḍa and he explained not only Bhāgavatam but Upadeśāmṛta. Upadeśāmṛta you know?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That substance of Mahāprabhu and the language of Rūpa Goswāmī. What are they?

vāco vegam manasaḥ krodha-vegam, jihvā-vegam udaroprastha-vegam [etān vegān yo viṣaheta dhīraḥ, sarvām apīmāṁ pṛthivīm sa śiṣyāt]

["A sober person who can control the urge to speak, the mind's demands, the actions of anger and the urges of the tongue, belly and genitals is qualified to make disciples all over the world."] [Upadeśāmṛta, 1]

All these things:

kṛṣṇeti yasya giri taṁ manasādriyeta, dīkṣāsti cet praṇatibhiś ca bhajantam īśam śuśrūṣayā [bhajana-vijñam ananyam anya-, nindādiśūnya-hṛdam īpsita-saṅga-labdhyā]

["One should mentally honour the devotee who chants the Holy Name of Lord Kṛṣṇa, one should offer humble obeisances to the devotee who has undergone spiritual initiation (dīkṣā) and is engaged in worshipping the Deity, and one should associate with and faithfully serve that pure devotee who is advanced in undeviated devotional service and whose heart is completely devoid of the propensity to criticise others."] [Upadeśāmṛta, 5]

All these; in this way; and last is:

kṛṣṇasyochchaiḥ praṇaya-vasatiḥ preyasībhyo 'pi rādhā- kuṇḍaṁ cāsyā munibhir abhitas tādṛg eva vyadhāyi yat preṣṭhair apy alam asulabhaṁ kiṁ punar bhakti-bhājāṁ tat premedaṁ sakṛd api saraḥ snātur āviṣkaroti

["Of the many objects of favoured delight and of all the loveable damsels of Vrajabhūmi, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī is certainly the most treasured object of Kṛṣṇa's love. And, in every respect, Her divine kuṇḍa is described by great sages as similarly dear to Him. Undoubtedly Rādhā-kuṇḍa is very rarely attained even by the great devotees; therefore it is even more difficult for ordinary devotees to attain. If one simply bathes once within those holy waters; one's pure love of Kṛṣṇa is fully aroused."]
[Upadeśāmṛta, 11]

This is the last śloka in Upadeśāmṛta. That was explained by Prabhupāda. Not even anything of Govinda-līlāmṛtam, or Viśvanātha Chakravartī's Śrī Kṛṣṇa-Bhāvanāmṛta - these things were left. So our training was in that line, pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. That is always on our head, that the prospect of our life's future, life after life. It cannot be finished. We shall rather foster the hope, the pure hope that we shall, may be taken in one day in that camp, with this idea. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, sometimes in the Caitanya-caritāmṛta Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī he's making reference to Govinda-līlāmṛtam, Ujjvala-Nīlamanī, these other confidential selected works. How are we to take that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: These three chapters were generally – we were not allowed to enter into of Caitanya-caritāmṛta, the catuḍas, adi- catudas, and madhyam-līlā of Rāmānanda Rāya – to certain extent where the līlā portion of Rādhā Govinda is mentioned then we had no entrance into that līlā. Adi-catuda or something like Svarūpa Dāmodara and – of course when parayana is going on we read, go on reading, making parayana. But not to enter into details of discussion about that thing; three chapters...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What do you mean by parayana?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parayana means from the beginning to chant the whole book; finish the whole book. That is parayana.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Continuous reading.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then we went on reading, but without giving any particular attention to the līlā of the highest order of Rādhā Govinda. That was barred. Don't try to come into details there. That will come automatically when the time will be. Don't make it a discussion of the public. Don't take it in the public eye.

So much so, Prabhupāda once while in Vṛndāvana, he had got a bala bandhu, a friend of his childhood, one attorney there. And he came to see him, so he went to give a return visit, Prabhupāda, to his boyhood friend. Then he saw – this Paramahansa Mahārāja was with him at that time, now Paramahansa Mahārāja is at Calcutta, Mahānanda Brahmācārī previously, he was with Prabhupāda. And he went to give the return visit, and when he's told 'he's upstairs' and he went there and saw the Pran Gopāl Goswāmī he's explaining Bhāgavatam, rasa līlā uday. Prabhupāda just bowed down his head and he came away, immediately came away.

Then his friend came, leaving that rasa līlā uday there going on, explanation. His friend also came down. “Yes, the rasa līlā is going on in the explanation. And you did not take your seat at all and you just bowed down your head and coming down. What is the matter?”

“Our Guru’s order is such, that if you attend rasa līlā explanation you will commence offence; that will be offence to attend rasa līlā. So I can’t stand there, even for a second. I had to come back. This is my Guru’s order, so aparādha.”

So for us, such a strict behaviour he has shown. And we also do that, especially myself. So many other places: the jhulana līlā, the rasa līlā, they show by dolls. I never do that. What’s true to my understanding of my Gurudeva’s will or his words I don’t make any show of jhulana or rasa līlā of the type. I find in my heart that this was not desirable by Prabhupāda. But in so many Maṭhs I see at present, I hear also that they’re doing that. But I strictly abstain from that sort of showing, the jhulana līlā or rasa līlā; that is too high for us, I considered. I must be true to my hearing of the words of my Gurudeva if I want my realisation and not my position. The position or some sort of popularity to attract people by such show and to make money or to make a favourable field for preaching, they may do like that. But I don’t do. I don’t want popularity. Nor any position of a higher Ācārya. I am a student, still I am a student, I consider myself to be a student, a faithful student. What I heard from my Gurudeva I try my best to stick there, to keep my position there as I heard from him. I don’t want to mutilate that in any way to suit my purpose. I try not to do that. So – of course, for big propaganda they may take different ways as they think they’re now free. But I’m not a member to do so, to go on in such a way. I try because – ha ha...

When Prabhupāda offered me to go to the west and I told simply that “I don’t consider myself fit to go there to the west, I won’t be able to show success there for such defects.” Two defects I showed.

The some of the sannyāsīns they showed much reverence to me, “What is this? So many persons there to take and you lose this chance, you don’t, you neglect to take advantage of such a position that you’ll be a world preacher. You have no hankering for that?”

I told, “Yes Mahārāja, I have no hankering for such position. My only humble ambition is that I may be reckoned as a sincere devotee of Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva. No other ambition I have in my mind, to become a world preacher and so on.”

So in my nature I’m such and such, I want truth, and I hope, I crave for the mercy of the Vaiṣṇavas, and you all, that I may not have that ambition, but to be the humblest, most humble servant of the Lord, I may not be misguided. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

I may engage myself in the lower form of service. Tad dāsa-dāsa-dāsānām dāsatvaṁ dehi me prabho. My faith may be so firm, and may be of such quality, that the least offer of His service, of divine service, may satisfy me. I may not be ambitious to run high, to get the chance there in the higher officer class, with my lowest connection with the divinity I may go on satisfied with my life. Gaura Haribol.

Pāda-dhūlī – Mahāprabhu says, “Just consider myself as a dust at the feet of You, Kṛṣṇa.” What is that śloka?

ayi nanda-tanuja kiṅkaram, patitaṁ mām viṣame bhavāmbudhau kṛpayā tava pāda-paṅkaja-sthita-dhūlī-saḍṛśaṁ vicintaya

[“O son of Nanda Mahārāja, I am Your eternal servant, yet because of my own karma, I have fallen into this terrible ocean of birth and death. Accept this fallen soul and consider me a particle of dust at Your holy lotus feet."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 5]

“Consider me to be one of the dusts that is in Your feet.” That may be our guidance. That is too much. Our faith should come to such a great – in quality – that we may be satisfied to become a dust in His feet. Then, by His sweet will it may happen, anything. But our humble aim should be to have the least connection of the divinity real. Not a concocted Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. Very sweet, the rāgapāṭha is on the head, the rāgapāṭha, we are servants of the rāgapāṭha. We are in viddhi mārga, under śāstric rule. We must live and move under śāstric rule and always keep the rāgapāṭha on our head.

Once Prabhupāda, while in Rādhā-kuṇḍa, one panda, he in his talk made aside remark that, “We are brāhmaṇas in Braja. We can bless [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī.”

And Prabhupāda was perturbed by such haughty remark. “Dāsa Goswāmī is the highest Ācārya in our Gauḍīya camp. And that fellow he says that he’s able to bless Dāsa Goswāmī. And I’m to hear that?” He left taking food, he won’t take food. And he remarked, “If I was an ordinary bābājī I wouldn’t care and would leave the place. But I’m running with the motor car here, like an Ācārya. I have got the responsibility, moving here in the pose of an Ācārya that I shall protect the sampradāya. I shall brush the dust, the undesirability from the sampradāya. In a motor car I am running on the Vṛndāvana. How can I tolerate such remark against my Guru?” He left food. “No. I won’t – if no praticar – arrangement for any relief or something like that – is made by me I won’t take any food. I can’t take any food.”

And Prabhupāda’s fasting so we’re all fasting. Then one influential person when he heard the news he came and he anyhow managed to take that brāhmaṇa and he begged pardon. “Excuse me. I’m an ordinary man, a fallen fellow. I do not know the greatness of Dāsa Goswāmī. He came in a caste of a śūdra family and I'm in a brāhmaṇa family. With general inclination I made such remark. But now I find that I committed mistake. Please forgive me.”

Then of course it was minimised and Prabhupāda took food and we also took food.

Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. Gaurava bāṅge. Always his posing was like that of a protector, or not only protector, but a servant protector of the sampradāya. He himself remarked, he said, “Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura had taken a pose that ‘I am a jarudar, the jarudar means who rubs away the dirt. The Nityānanda Prabhu’s Nāma-hatta, and I am a jarudar. One with a broomstick in his hand he brushes the dirt, clears – he’s jarudar, sweeper...”

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...[Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura] told that, “I’m the sweeper in the Nāma-hatta of Nityānanda Prabhu.”

And Prabhupāda told that, “I’m one of the sticks in the broomstick in the hands of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is jarudar, the broomstick in his hand. I’m one of the sticks.”

And if he's sincere, if this remark is sincere, if we take it sincerely, and not imitation or not any false assumption, if his sincere liking is for that then we are to measure, this is the unit with which we must construct our body and then we shall hope to enter, venture to hope to enter into Vaikuṇṭha, in Goloka, in the camp of the Vraja vāsīs. So:

*tṛṇād api sunīcena, [taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ]*

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

This is not a figurative word, not ornamental thing, but this is real, substantial. If we think like that, in what level should I come, should we take ourselves to be qualified to enter into the domain of the Lord, in Goloka? Not least ambition; cent per cent dedicative agent. Meanest of the mean, with this idea; this is the qualification to enter into that domain, what is required of us. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, because in cent per cent humility there cannot be any trace of enjoying spirit. No aggression is possible. The meanest of the mean, that is to eliminate fully the aggressing nature. Aggressing nature cannot be present there only. Enjoyer must be aggressor. The aggression is a property of this world, of exploitation. And dedication of this quality is necessary for the entrance of that domain. This is reality; otherwise all concoction, all imagination. If this is imagination then that is also imagination. If this is concrete reality then to them Goloka is reality. In that plane they will come in contact with Goloka, in such subtle and fundamental plane they will come in contact with that thing really. Otherwise this is all in fool's paradise, to live in fool's paradise. Gaura Haribol. If we have faith in this then that is real to us, otherwise we'll be given the ambition to live in fool's paradise. Nitāi Caitanya Dayal. Nitāi Caitanya. Gaura Haribol. I think I did something to give vent to the feeling of my Gurudeva today; his position, to clear his position, I did something today. Gaura Haribol.

pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge, [mattala hari-jana viṣaya range]

["The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."] [Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura]

This is enough, tad dāsa-dāsa-dāsānām dāsatvaṁ dehi me prabho. This is not a figurative thing. This is not mere poetry. Mahāprabhu says:

nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśya na śūdro nāhaṁ varṇī na ca gr̥ha-patir no vana-stho yatir vā kintu prodyan-nikhila-paramānanda-pūrṇāmṛtābdher gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ

["I am not a priest, a king, a merchant, or a labourer (brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra); nor am I a student, a householder, a retired householder, or a mendicant (brahmacārī, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsī). I identify myself only as the servant of the servant of the servant of the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of the gopīs, who is the personification of the fully expanded (eternally self-revealing) nectarean ocean that brims with the totality of Divine Ecstasy."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80]

This is not ornamental thing only, this is reality. This is reality. To become ostentatiously mean is really to become eligible for the higher service. So selflessness, so self-abnegation is necessary for a unit here of the lower order to enter into that domain, so self-abnegation is necessary; then we can come into that plane. There is a plane undercurrent, undercurrent plane, and if we really want to contact with that, we shall have to be such finest of the fine, in our [mood] and no demand. In this negative way we are to transform ourselves; then we can have touch of that plane where we can come. The least exploiting speck of the ambitious life won't take us there. This is another thing, pratiṣṭhā. Pratiṣṭhā means that is self establishment; or what is that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Aggrandisement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Aggrandisement, no, pratiṣṭhā, the hard stability, to be stable, to be immortal, to be invincible. Not self giving but self establishing tendency, pratiṣṭhā; 'I must stay. I must live.' If necessary I must die for the interest of Kṛṣṇa.

mārobi rākhobi yo icchā tohārā, [nitya-dāsa prati tuwā adhikārā]

["Slay me or protect me as You wish, for You are the master of Your eternal servant."] [The Songs Of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p 13]

A suicidal soldier: "For the cause of the country if necessary I must die. I must efface myself, I may be effaced. If it is necessary my very existence may be effaced if it is necessary for the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa." Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. My very existence may be effaced if it is necessary. Such temperament, such selflessness of such degree is necessary to find out that plane; so subtleness. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya Dayal. Mahāprabhu. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Let us be blessed by the, by Prabhupāda Saraswatī Ṭhākura. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Tridaṇḍī Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja kī jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gandhi told once, that gentleman, “Gandhi kī jaya. Mahatma Gandhi kī jaya.” Then they’re singing glory to a particular form. If I go away from that position, they’ll go, “Down with Gandhi, down with Gandhi.” So it does not concern me,” he says. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So that jaya goes to somewhere else. All glory to Guru and Gaurāṅga.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All glory to Guru and Gaurāṅga.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śrīpāda Bhaktivedānta Swāmī Mahārāja kī jaya.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sevā Vṛnda kī jaya.

Devotees: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. You are helping me to take out from my inner heart so many beautiful and so many valuable things. It is through your help that these old memories are again becoming fresh to me. I'm forced to take out those things from the inner nature of my previous life which I got from my Gurudeva, the wealth – again I show, I got the chance of seeing that treasury. I was given the opportunity, by this recapitulation what I heard from the divine feet of Gurudeva.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. What's the time?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We should go now. It's nine thirty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nine thirty. But are you dissatisfied?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, no. I'm always satisfied.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By this connection the valuable thing; and this is what is our education what I got from the divine feet. I just sincerely put it to you all. It is such.

He told me, “We must not go and live in Rādhā-kuṇḍa.” Our, one day in the, near Lalitā-kuṇḍa, the Śvānanda-sukhada-kuṇḍa is there and there the first story, and he told, “A second story is necessary, but I won't be able to live there.”

I told that, If you don't live in the first floor, then who will live there? What is the necessity of further construction?

“No. You don't know. Better persons will live there, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Gaura Kīśora Bābājī Mahārāja, they will live there. And we'll live in the ground floor and we serve them, and we come and live on ground.”

Again he told, “I shall live in Govardhana. Rādhā-kuṇḍa is the highest place, the place of our Guru Mahārāja, our Gurudeva. They will live here in closer connection with līlā. And we are not fit to live there. We shall live Govardhana, a little far away, because we shall have to come and serve our Gurudeva, so we must be, but we must not live in closer connection with them. We are not fit.”

Pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge, the whole tenor of his life was such, pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava. “That is high, high, and from below we are to honour that. To establish in the whole world this sort of posing that that is too high.”

One day in Allahabad, perhaps that very year Swāmī Mahārāja was initiated, in Malaka, in a park when he was speaking he told, “I’m out to give miydarn.”

Miydarn means to wrestle, a challenge to wrestle. Wrestling, what is it? Miydarn, that in a meadow, two fighters. Just as that one who became Mohammedan from Christian?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mohammed Ali.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mohammed Ali. What is that, the wrestling?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Boxing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Boxing. “I’m ready to fight with any person, for the, to show that the highest position is occupied by my Gurudeva, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, Mahāprabhu. Let anyone come to fight with me to decide. I’m ready.” That he told. “I’m ready to give miydarn to anybody and everybody. Let him come and fight with me. I want to establish the throne in the highest place, of my Gurudeva.”

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Pūjāla rāgapaṭha gaurava bāṅge. Nitāi Caitanya. Then: this garland?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jaya. Hare Kṛṣṇa. That stick – bring that stick.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja and Bhakti Caru Swāmī in conversation until 01:45]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja] He came at a quarter to twelve.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Direct? From where?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I'm coming from – I started in Los Angeles. And then I went to visit Haṁsadūta Mahārāja in San Fransisco. Then from there I went to see Jayatīrtha Mahārāja in London. And then from there I went to Delhi and I got the raja dhani express, and then I came to Calcutta to see Bhakti Caru Mahārāja. And now I've come here to see you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Actually my purpose was to come here and see you, but I've seen so many on the way.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's saying that his actual objective was to see your lotus feet...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But on the way he met so many people.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So many, they're all well?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja met Rāmeśvara Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. He met him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But he was not very favourable to him?
Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Tomorrow morning, no, today, morning, Vidagdha Brahmācārī, he came here. He went to Calcutta. You did not see him?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. I didn't see him.

Devotee: [Twenty seconds of Bengali {?}]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His visa is expiring so he had to go to somewhere and then come again. First he told he may go to Nepal. Today he told he's going to Malaysia. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is doing well there?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. I spoke to him at length, and especially about Your Divine Grace, and we had a very mutually enlivening discussion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But I think it will be a delicate situation with him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And, he's in delicate situation there?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. And I think the other Ācāryas and GBC they should deal with him in a very magnanimous way, to not disturb this delicate condition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. I hope they will adjust the situation, favourably manage. What about his disciples – of Jayatīrtha Mahārāja – are they favourable or some difficulty there: with his previous disciples, any difficulty, in England?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: On some levels there may be. The ones who are first initiated Prabhupāda, second initiated Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, there may be some doubt.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hesitating mood?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. And some of the God-brothers were disturbed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is their opinion? When they've once left sannyāsa āśrama then he should not be regarded as formerly? This is their mentality?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. One point they were, that I heard them say, that they did not want to hear that this is some kind of līlā. And generally when such a thing occurs there comes doubt about turning over newcomers to such a person.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If he's accepted sannyāsa and leaving that and again accepting?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's making trifle.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Like whim.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course there is such example amongst our previous God-brothers during the time of Prabhupāda, sannyāsa was taken up and again – or sannyāsa was given to him and he, afterwards as an Ācārya he got recognition in the society. The Parvat Mahārāja was in Udala. First he was Purī Mahārāja, and then for some reason or other the sannyāsa was taken off. Again, he was given by Prabhupāda himself. The name was changed. He was Parvat. Previously Purī Mahārāja, became Parvat Mahārāja. And of course he preached. And after the departure of Prabhupāda he was accepted as an Ācārya by other devotees of Prabhupāda. Sannyāsa has got formal value, but to a Vaiṣṇava the valuation is according to the degree of devotion, not in accordance with the dress, the garment, external. It is a formal thing; still it has got some value in the society, ordinary society, outside.

Anyhow, Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, is he firm in his position, or he's also wavering, hesitating? What did you find?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, I find that he still wants to internally pursue some realisations about Rādhā Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And externally?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Externally, no.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Externally, what does he want to do?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He wants to continue to work on in the society as best as possible, but he has some internal inclinations and he feels that the society in general is too discouraging in that regard. He feels that the society is discouraging too much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, what to do?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, he intends to go on to the best of his ability in his – go on working in his service.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As a sannyāsī?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Did you meet his former wife, or son?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What will be the percentage of his followers there who are hesitating, in hesitating mood?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I can't say.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Can't say. The general estimation: half, no, more than that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's difficult for me to say. I was only there for two days.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what is the attitude of the administration, ISKCON, to discourage him? What is the attitude of the ISKCON administration?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well their attitude...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Against him or to reinstate him in his former position?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They want to reinstate him in his former position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Really want?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, they want to give the benefit of the doubt. And they have made some objection to his attributing some credit to yourself.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That sort of weakness is also on the part of ISKCON because they wrote a letter to me to interfere with this case; a long letter by the instruction of Bhāvānanda Mahārāja and written by Jayapataka Mahārāja, requesting me to advise and to help in this matter.

And I did so. And fortunately I could convince him, both of them, even his wife also, that once he has taken the position of a general with such high rank, he should not come back. It will be a bad name to ISKCON as well as Swāmī Mahārāja. So anyhow they agreed, and I replied to the letter of Jayapataka Mahārāja to my best understanding. I tried my best according to my best understanding to reinstate in his former position. And now it is your duty to adjust him with your institution. Something like that. And they also came, Bhāvānanda and Jayapataka, and Caru Swāmī knows, he might have heard. What is Haṁsadūta Mahārāja's opinion?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, he thinks it was a very glorious act by Your Divine Grace to save Jayatīrtha Mahārāja. And he feels quite differently than the other Gurus and Ācāryas. They are afraid that by devotees hearing of Your Divine Grace's wonderful activities and your preaching that many people will be attracted to you. So this has created a fear in them. Whereas Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, he told me that he feels that if he did not pass on Your Divine Grace's instructions to his disciples in the forms of these tapes that I've recorded, that it would be the greatest cheating, that he'd be holding back from them the greatest benefit. And he does not feel threatened.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [about fifty seconds spoken in Bengali [?]]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A relative consideration or absolute consideration. Sva dharme nidhanam śreyah, para-dharmo bhayāvahah.

[śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt] sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

That is one stage.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ, a śloka in Bhagavad-gītā. And the absolute consideration, sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

This is absolute, "Give up everything. Come to Me direct." That is revolutionary way. And this is relative, "Stick to your own clan. Don't leave them." The national conception, nation consciousness and God consciousness: society consciousness and God consciousness. God consciousness is absolute, and society consciousness if that hinders the development of God consciousness that should be left away.

gurur na sa syāt sva jano na sa syāt, pitā na sa syāj jananī na sā syāt daivaṁ na tat syān na patiś ca sa syān, na mocayed yaḥ samupeta mṛtyum

[R̥ṣabhadeva says: "Even a spiritual master, relative, parent, husband, or demigod who cannot save us from repeated birth and death should be abandoned at once."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.5.18]

What to speak of ordinary things, even Guru, the spiritual guide, in the case of Bali Mahārāja. Then sva jano, in the case of Vibhiṣana, the sva jano, the own relative. Then pitā na sa syāj, in the case of Prahlaḍa, father. Then in the case of Bharata: mother. In the case of, daivaṁ na tat syān, in the case Kṛṣṇa, he left off other gods, demigods. And in the case of the yajña patnis, they left their husbands in order to, their endeavour to reach the Absolute Personality.

The society we need only to help us. But if our affinity to the society it keeps us down, then that should be given up, and we must march on. Every time I mention these two things - the absolute consideration and the relative consideration, when they come into clash, the relative must be given up, and the absolute should be taken. So if my inner voice, my spiritual conscience does not, cannot decide that this sort of company will really help me, then I shall be under painful necessity to give them up, and to run away towards my destination, which my spiritual conscience will guide to that direction. Otherwise it will be hypocrisy and it will check our real progress. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati]

["O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

If we're sincere in our attempt, none in the world can check me, or deceive me. Only we ourselves can deceive us, none else. We must be true to our own self and true to the Supreme Lord. We must be sincere. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, my spiritual conscience has directed me to your lotus feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Caru Swāmī Mahārāja

_____ [?] Unfortunate and injudicious

_____ [?] I'm not wholly one with ISKCON.

I have got some independent consideration.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ISKCON as well as Prabhupāda.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mainly Prabhupāda. So that although you were very good friends and you were friendly even before Prabhupāda took initiation and after, and even after...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And I considered him as śaktyāveśa, but still there are some points of difference.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So I was wondering Mahārāja, what is the difference?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Points of difference may be, as far as I can guess, he had attraction for the sākhya-rasa, but mine is towards mādhurya-rasa – one thing. Then, this is the main thing; then he came to me for consultation several times. I gave him the idea of building, the plan of building the temple here according to Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛtam. He accepted. Then when he was very seriously ill in America he gave a letter to me, “What to do? Should I die working here, or I shall go back to India?” I plainly told him, No. You die working there. He asked my, searched my opinion, and what I told he accepted. Then, he consulted with me some other points also, about the preaching, how it should be done. But of course he dismissed other God-brothers but he did not make any unfavourable remark about me. I was open to him always with my views.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I have...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja found two very valuable things. One is the letter that Prabhupāda wrote to Jaya Govinda, who came at first with Acyutānanda Mahārāja. There Prabhupāda has directly written to him that how you are the most reliable...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Competent.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: ...competent and most reliable person to take care of Prabhupāda's disciples; and Prabhupāda's disciples can come to you for instructions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jaya Govinda or Rāmānuja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There were three of them, Jaya Govinda, Acyutānanda, Rāmānuja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, there were three?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jaya Govinda, maybe he didn't come. But this is a letter that Prabhupāda wrote Jaya Govinda, he wrote a similar letter to Acyutānanda, because there was some difficulty with Bon Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. And that fellow was Jaya Govinda...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...who took sannyāsa from Bon Mahārāja.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, no. That is Ṛṣikeśa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Ṛṣikeśa. Then, Jaya Govinda, what did he do?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We don't know what he did.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He came here?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, he didn't come.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He didn't come; but a letter was given to him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right, because he was in Vṛndāvana with Acyutānanda Mahārāja. And in that letter Prabhupāda says that, "If you're going to accept śikṣā Guru you must go to one who is actually practising spiritual life and one who is competent to act as such." And then he says that yourself, "You are the most competent of all of his God-brothers." And then he says, "I accept him as my śikṣā Guru; what to speak of the benefit that you will get from his association."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In his lecture in Māyāpur he plainly told it, perhaps that has been taped...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, he's found a tape also, Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There he told, after the lecture was delivered by Govinda Mahārāja, my disciple – Govinda Mahārāja told in his lecture that, "He looks at me like a child, like his child, and he looks at my Guru Mahārāja as śikṣā Guru." And after that when he delivered his finishing lecture he accepted totally, "That what Govinda Mahārāja has told it is true. I look at him as my child. And I look at his Guru, Śrīdhara Mahārāja, as my śikṣā Guru." And he gave "Jaya Oṃ Viṣṇupāda" in my name; beginning with "Oṃ Viṣṇupāda" which is generally done only to Guru. Of course I could not take it very happily but still he told it.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, since I'm a disciple of his, how can I accept any other conception or opinion?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But I always wanted to, as I told you all, that wait and see. And there is the constitution, the ISKCON, the body, so we should not neglect it if it becomes weak, then there will be a loss to the whole ISKCON, whole mission, and division, all these. So try if we can, if ISKCON can accommodate you all and a little generously: that I wanted. But if it is not possible in particular cases: then what to do?

We have already done that. We tried our best to follow the combined attempt after Prabhupāda. But when that was not possible, gradually we had to come out in different paths and to go on with our own way, because we could not neglect our conscience.

At the same time, it is found, it is written in Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, and common sense will also say so, that when a man of superior realisation is there, the inferior must not stand in the way of his preaching. They should rather help them. Strictly if we follow this spiritual law – and this is common sense also, because higher seed should be distributed to all and everyone available should have the chance of getting that higher instruction. Instruction means realisation, like homeopathic globule, externally we cannot recognise what potency is there. So mantram and Nāma, externally, physically, it cannot be detected what is that. Only the man who gives it, his realisation is the potency with the sound. So when higher potency in the Name or in the mantram, whatever, is available, really, then everyone should try to utilise himself in that way. That is common sense and the śāstra is also there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, Mahārāja, you are that personality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So still we shall: No vidya vedam yam eva jnanam karma sanginam [?] The others will also be allowed to go on in their way.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. They can go on.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In their way, different stages, different strata, there should be, but still the gradation is there. And we find that Narottama Ṭhākura and his Guru was Lokanātha Goswāmī, he's also a parśada of Mahāprabhu, contemporary. But Narottama Ṭhākura says: Kavi lokanatha more hati ya duriya rupa manjari sampadi samarpan [?] Something like that. "When my Guru Lokanātha he will take me by the hand and he will offer me to Śrī Rūpa, Guru, Mañjarī?" So taṭasthā-vicāra, the absolute consideration is there, and especially our Guru paramparā.

mahāprabhu śrī-caitanya, rādhā-kṛṣṇa nahe anya [rūpānuga janera jīvana viśwambhara priyaṅkara śrī-swarūpa dāmodara, śrī-goswāmī rūpa-sanātana]

["Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanya is non different from Śrī Śrī Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa and is the very life of those Vaiṣṇavas who follow Śrī Rūpa Goswāmī. Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī, Rūpa Goswāmī, and Sanātana Goswāmī were the givers of great happiness to Viśvambhara (Śrī Caitanya)."]
[Songs of the Vaiṣṇava Ācāryas, p 90-2]

Mahāprabhu, Svarūpa Dāmodara, Rūpa, Sanātana, and then Narottama, and then Viśvanātha [Cakravartī Ṭhākura], then Bāladeva [Vidyābhūṣaṇa], Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, mostly they have no body connection at all, but only the connection in the line of a spiritual flow, of the same order and intensity and height. The śikṣā Guru paramparā is śikṣā Guru not dīkṣā Guru; that is only a physical current. Physically they had no connection. But only through the flow of the spiritual knowledge, that has come from here and there, there, then degree of future knowledge, spiritual knowledge; that is to be accepted. And they're all mādhurya rasa.

When I was initiated, Prabhupāda, at the time of initiation, he told something about Hari kathā, that is the pastimes of God. Then, I was a newcomer. When I came out, Vasudeva Prabhu, he was conversant with siddhānta, with spiritual knowledge, śāstric knowledge, he asked me, "What did Prabhupāda say after your dīkṣā initiation?"

I told that such and such things were told by him just after dīkṣā. He told, "You are a very fortunate one."

Because Prabhupāda told me at the time of dīkṣā about Rādhārāṇī's group: so mādhurya rasa pasanga.

And also when Prabhupāda was passing away he took me from my bed and asked me to chant a kīrtana, śrī-rūpa-mañjarī-pada. The rūpānuga-sampradāya, just to the very point, where we should stick: if we take our stand in that point that is the centre of the whole Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava knowledge, or education, or spiritual wealth – rūpānuga bhajana.

Even the sakhī, in mādhurya rasa the sakhī they cannot enter were Rādhā Govinda are united privately. But the mañjarī; that is their age is a little down, lower, so they're allowed there. They could be allowed. Younger section, younger batch is allowed. And that is the highest rasa when it is produced in Their private union the mañjarī they can have some taste, not even the sakhīs. So the highest point of our attainment, our aspiration, is there, rūpānuga. Rūpa Mañjarī, she's the leader of all the mañjarīs, and there the highest quality of the union rasa to be found, so rūpānuga-sampradāya.

We had the fortune. And Prabhupāda was very much pleased with one of my Sanskrit poems about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. So much so that he told to his disciples, other disciples, that, “Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has himself made him to write this poem.”

And in another place he told that, “After me there will be a man who will be able to deliver my understanding, or teachings.”

That is, anyhow, came to my fortune. And when, in the beginning also, just before dīkṣā also he told, yad yad ācarati śreṣṭhas, tad tad evetaro janaḥ sa yat pramāṇam kurute, lokaś tad anuvartate

[“Whatever action is performed by a great man, the general masses imitate and follow. And whatever standards the great personality sets by exemplary acts, the whole world pursues as the right conclusion.”]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 3.21]

Because I came from a high brāhmaṇa family, and a scholarly family in Sanskrit, so he took me like that. “If a man of your position comes to preach about Mahāprabhu then it will be easy for the ordinary public to accept the teachings of Mahāprabhu.”

But I looked at him, with his attitude, it appeared to me that how eager he is to preach the doctrine of Mahāprabhu that a small thing he’s appreciating so much for his help. Really, that was the thought in me at that time; that even a straw he’s taking and considering it’s of great help to him. This is the high degree of earnestness in him to preach about Mahāprabhu. That was my conception at the time, and not that I came from a big family, or educated, or this and that. My heart at that time – only his eagerness, earnestness, has got no limit to preach about the doctrine of Mahāprabhu. So whatever little he thinks he gets for his help he considers it to be a very big thing. Anyhow, I had some reputation during the time of Prabhupāda that I could understand his things and I could give delivery to them, better, generally. Gaura Haribol.

Swāmī Mahārāja he also knew all these things. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

The long and short is this. I do not want to disturb the ISKCON Movement but I cannot deny myself. That is the position of mine. And I don't like any disturbance may be created in the Mission of Swāmī Mahārāja by me. Because I was not very eager to preach in my whole life of a preacher: so that was not a very big tendency in me to preach. I don't like to come in hitch with such a big world-wide movement. I don't like to be a party to stand against. It is my good will. But still I cannot deny myself, that what I understand to be the best, I, if necessary I must say that, vaguely. That is my position: whatever it may be. But I don't like to create any disturbance, not to give propaganda of any other God-brother, what to speak of Swāmī Mahārāja who has shown such a wonderful propagating capacity in the world. I don't relish that thing. But still, the difficulty is that I cannot deny myself. What I am, what I know, I should say that, cannot be untrue to myself. That is the position at present.

So some adjustment would have been better, but, such as, I tried my best to reinstate Jayatīrtha Mahārāja to his old role of a sannyāsī to save the good name of ISKCON. And I also for that sent him to Katwa, where Mahāprabhu Himself took sannyāsa, for his inspiration and impression that he can be firm in his future life. That is one thing. And another thing that...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...from the form. I also asked him; give a letter to the sannyāsa Guru, Kīrtanānanda, 'That I am again coming back to the role you've given to me. Please accept.' But Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is a very frank man, not very diplomatic, so what he felt sincerely in himself he gave vent to that, and that created the trouble.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I wanted to avoid that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But already, I spoke to him, and he said that he'll – he won't pursue that any more, just privately he'll have some appreciation but not publicly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: publicly inwardly, privately, he may have some appreciation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of mine?

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And publicly he's connected ISKCON – and that is what I wanted, and there will be a smooth activity with the ISKCON in harmony I thought it. But things are going otherwise. Vidagdha Mādhava this morning he told that Rāmeśvara Mahārāja has ousted you from his zone, in an insulting way. Is it true?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He used the words, “Kicked him off.” I could not detect. Nimāi told me, “Vidagdha Mādhava told Rāmeśvara Mahārāja kicked him out.” I could not understand why it is so.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Because the situation is such that Rāmeśvara Mahārāja’s position itself has become very...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Position?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, he and I had a meeting in which we agreed that I would come and speak to you for your advice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Advice on which?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In my personal case, how I should continue. Then the day after I left he called for a meeting of all of his God-brothers. And he wanted to explain to them what his feelings about you were.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is his feeling about me? What is that? Any respect or hate?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, he says that he’s respectful, but he believes that there are some...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's creating some disturbance.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That's one thing that sometimes you create a disturbance; and there's some differences between you and Prabhupāda...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...and we should be very careful of that. See, many devotees in Los Angeles are discontent with the activities of the Ācāryas and GBC. So by hearing your instructions they became more satisfied and wanted to give them the benefit of the doubt. But then in different ways they began to speak against you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And some of the leaders began to speak against you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So they will ask people not to come to me. I'm not going anywhere to do anything against them. I'm sitting here. But people are coming and according to my conscience what I have to say to them I'm saying. I'm not an aggressor.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So then, this disturbed many of the devotees who are appreciating your instructions, because...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Is it going against Swāmī Mahārāja what I...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not according to them. See, there's a difference of opinion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what I said, and you all taped, but was there anything which is going against the preaching of Swāmī Mahārāja? I don't think like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No one thinks that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It's only just them. And actually many of the God-brothers started to see things from a different perspective after...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Last time also I told them, they wanted me, what they will do, I shall give ditto to that. Then I told them, "Do you think that I'm under your committee?"

"No, no, no, no. That type we cannot do."

The day before yesterday also the same thing; they said, "We had a meeting and in our meeting we accepted the principle that the Ācārya numbers may be increased. But we did not receive any inspiration this year for extension. But this was not told to you, so we are told that you remarked that our decision is injudicious and unfortunate.”

“Yes, yes, I did remark in such way, because I want to clear my position to you now, that I’m not one wholly with ISKCON, and even not wholly one with Swāmī Mahārāja. I have got my special consideration and inclination and thinking. And with other God-brothers also I differ in many ways. So everyone has got his special characteristic and I also have such. So what you think to be śrauta-panthā, your meeting, unanimous verdict, what you think that is the right thing coming down, I’m not bound to pronounce the same thing that it is infallible. The meaning is like that.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. But see, there are many devotees who feel that what you say...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “According to my consideration your combined decision was a faulty one.” Then, I did not say so clearly but that was my real opinion. “Because you have come to a common, unanimous resolution, so everyone will have to give ditto to that? I’m not a party like that. I have got my independent opinion and independent realisation and suggestions. I’m a separate person; even separate in many ways from your Guru Mahārāja, what to speak of your combination. That is my point.” Some special consideration everyone may have got his own...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Now, one of the accusations of Rāmeśvara Mahārāja against Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is that he’s saying that Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is trying to remove Prabhupāda from ISKCON and put you as the Ācārya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I, you got my letter? I replied, I don’t want to create any party there in competition with ISKCON. Only those who are led astray, disappointed, dejected, if any help to them from my side will be beneficial, I'm ready for that only. Is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Right. Though I did not suggest that you be the Ācārya for ISKCON. He's making propaganda like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So why should I not do that minimum thing? That those who came under the banner of Swāmī Mahārāja and dejected they're going away, and we should see to them indifferently? I don't like that they will go away. Some help to them, and that is also in connection with ISKCON and not independently. But if ISKCON wants to cut off the connection, then what can I do? I may try as it will be arranged by the Supreme Lord.

Who will come for help I shall try to do whatever is possible for me, a poor man sitting in a place, not moving hither and thither and moving the world. I'm sitting in one place, and you all come and put questions, I go on answering, and you tape and you preach, and now the difficulty.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Because, you told me not to proceed in the mood of competition but relief.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, relief work, quite so, I ordered relief work.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right, but it got to the point of where they're saying that my relief work is competition.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What to do? You all combine and settle.

[Bengali (?) conversation with Bhakti Caru Swāmī for about one and three quarter minutes]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja is telling that Jayatīrtha Mahārāja thought that Rāmeśvara Mahārāja is your good friend, but he's been disappointed.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Mahārāja, I also do not want to create any disturbance in ISKCON, but also, I cannot deny yourself.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. What about Dayādhara Gaurāṅga, what's he doing there?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's with Haṁsadūta Mahārāja and he's...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No difficulty?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, not that I know of.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Going on smoothly in work?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

[Bengali (?) conversation with Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja for about three minutes]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, he wants to try and contact Pradyumna, because of your desire to see him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, I wanted to see him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Also, Yaśodānandan Mahārāja he's going to California next month, and the devotees are saying that he's going to begin giving dīkṣā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yaśodānandan.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. But will they give any recognition to him?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. But he will start independently?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What was the previous name of Yaśodānandan?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Always Yaśodānandan. Before sannyāsa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yaśodānandan, same name.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no, his previous name?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Oh, really, Yolander (?)

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, no. Nimāi? [?]

Nimāi: some Bill?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some Bill? In Ānanda Bāzzār Patrikā one gentleman wrote about Yaśodānandan, and with some previous name as some Bill. He met him in Ayodhyā and Benares also and he was very much impressed with his company.

Yaśodānandan, I liked him very much. He came once to me, and his practices and his sentiments and his ways I appreciated much, that Yaśodānandan. I can't forget him.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Five hundred dollars.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Five hundred dollars.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [About thirty seconds in Bengali [?]] The whole work is going to cost about ten thousand dollars, and once they start the work, you know like they have to have certain...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What about that lady who gave a letter, sent a letter to me, through one gentleman, one Mr Astana. Where is she?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, she's in Los Angeles right now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the zone of Rāmeśvara Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. She was formally in Haṁsadūta Mahārāja's zone, and she was inclined to take dīkṣā from Haṁsadūta Mahārāja. But then the GBC they removed him and that created a big disturbance for her. And she began to have doubts near-about everyone; of Ācāryas. So sometimes she was interested that I should give her dīkṣā. But I'm not doing that, I'm not inclined to do that. And so she knew that I had some attachment for you, so she was interested to take dīkṣā from you. But first I advised her to hear your tapes. Because up to that point, sometimes she was wanting one Ācārya for Guru, sometimes another, sometimes another, sometimes another. So to make sure this was serious, I told her for, to continue listening to your instructions for six months.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Adopt firm faith. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

The other day I told that I'm not one with ISKCON, and not even one with Swāmī Mahārāja. That does not mean that I am bigger than Swāmī Mahārāja. Swāmī Mahārāja is a very big man of world renown. And I am an insignificant person. None knows me. And you all have got some touch with me, that also in connection of Swāmī Mahārāja. He's like a sun and I may be compared with a glow worm. In a corner I'm sitting. And what boldness and pushing character and huge capacity he conquered the whole of the world. So much so that I cannot but see that divine potency came down to work on his behalf. So tremendous and wonderful service he has shown to his Guru Mahārāja and to the world. He spread nectar, distributed nectar like water. And what we are doing, in a corner taking a seat? And because he had some affection with me so you all come to me.

And still, everyone has got his special thinking and consideration, as you amongst your God-brothers also have, we also amongst our God-brothers we are also so. No two things are exactly equal and identical. All have got some special characteristic.

And I do not like to come in a fighting field with the followers of Swāmī Mahārāja. I've no such capacity and no such energy, and still now old. When I was young a remark came from my Guru Mahārāja that, "You are an ease lover." His remark was to me. "That means you have capacity to render service but you are not pushing, not forward. You like to waste your energy in idleness." Something like that. His words were, "You are an ease lover."

When he offered me to go to the west, and I told that I don't think myself fit to preach in the west, for two reasons. One, I can't follow their intonation, this pronunciation. And second, I'm not fit to mix with their society and their ways and behaviours. So you will send me at the expense of huge money and I shall not be able to produce the desired result. Of course if you command I must go. But this is my humble submission to you.

Then he left me and sent [Bhakti Sāraṅga] Goswāmī Mahārāja to the west.

And Professor Babu one day, Niśikānta Sānyāl, the writer of the Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya book, and editor of Harmonist at the time, he told, "Do you know why Prabhupāda wanted to send you to the west?"

I told, no I don't know.

“You won't be converted there. The others that are going every time are a victim to their conversion instead of converting them.”

I told, yes, it is sure, none can convert me. In this world none can take me and snatch me away from the divine feet of Guru and Gaurāṅga. I'm sure there. I can challenge.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, after I left Los Angeles, well before I left, I had a meeting with Rāmeśvara Swāmī and we both agreed that I could take some advice from you on what I would do. So after I left he called for a meeting of his God-brothers, and at that meeting some of these God-brothers began to express their doubts to him about his spiritual qualifications.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Whose?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Rāmeśvara Swāmī. Because previously you mentioned about upabāsa and not making the mālā fast; but in his case it has been fasting for many years. So they said that, “This is one reason why we have some doubt or lack of enthusiasm to preach on your behalf.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I heard it from my Guru Mahārāja that the mālā must not be allowed to fast. [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Some uneasiness there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: There are some other things also which they feel uneasy about. So anyway they expressed their feelings to him openly. And he became very enraged, and he said the proof of his sādhana is his enthusiasm for preaching Kṛṣṇa consciousness, organising Ratha-yātrā festival, publishing books, and he attacked his God-brothers very strongly. So he made it known to them that they could just begin to leave Los Angeles if they were not prepared to help him there spreading Kṛṣṇa consciousness; that better they go somewhere else.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the number of the God-brothers there? And what is the number of his own disciples, in Los Angeles?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, the total number of God-brothers I believe is seventy, seven zero.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Seven zero, God-brothers number. And his disciples; thousands?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No; disciples, in equal number. Los Angeles has a large concentration of God-brothers in the movement. More and more in our ISKCON society around the world...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Was it under Haṁsadūta Mahārāja formerly?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Always under Rāmeśvara Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Before him, Jayatīrtha, before Rāmeśvara Swāmī. But for the last, Rāmeśvara Swāmī has been there for eleven years, but not always as GBC. He was GBC since nineteen seventy six.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now, what is the issue?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, it's that generally in our society that there's a question about the position of the God-brothers, that perhaps they're envious of the Gurus...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The God-brothers are in residence of that place, or they come from other provinces? What are they?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In Los Angeles they're residing there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Their home is there?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, but they have come originally from other places.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Originally come, and there they're posted in some service?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're posted by Swāmī Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Or Rāmeśvara Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All?

Devotee: Or! Not all, or.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All the God-brothers...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not all, either by Swāmī Mahārāja or Rāmeśvara.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the percentage? Swāmī Mahārāja took some there and Rāmeśvara Mahārāja also.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I would say mainly Rāmeśvara Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mainly, majority.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now he says that you must vacate your position and I shall bring new faces there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, in certain cases, yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is the affair to look after by the GBC.

What can you do there? As you were in the manager or president, you were the president at that place? Administration was with you? But now you are removed from your position there?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, he has asked that I not return, that I should not return to Los Angeles, and I should not return to America.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's not the authority to say so, what GBC wants you to do.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, he's GBC, local GBC. Generally there's a GBC rule that you require three GBC's to remove a president. But I'm tired of fighting. I don't want to fight any more. If he wants me to go I'll go.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But if others want you to remain there, the majority of the GBC, if they want you to remain there to go on with your service, but you don't think that they will come in your favour, the other GBC?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Some may, some may not.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow you do not like to give any fight in this matter?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And the GBC they think that I'm a trouble maker.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then? Perhaps you have friendship with Haṁsadūta Mahārāja who is the next door neighbour?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You can join with him and help him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Jaya.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What's Caru Mahārāja's suggestion?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja. Actually Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja wants to stay here now.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, temporarily he may stay here.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You see, Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, I spoke to him, like you're saying, maybe he should be my GBC. And his advice to me was, if he was my GBC, his advice is that I should come and stay here with you and record your discussions because many devotees have requested me to put them in a written form; to put the discussions in a written form.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What discussions?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The tapes. So Mahārāja is saying that that is already done.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But they want me to put all of them; and Haṁsadūta Mahārāja would like me to do that also.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Just this morning Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja was telling that after he left Rāmeśvara Mahārāja's zone, he went to Haṁsadūta Mahārāja and he felt that Haṁsadūta Mahārāja is his GBC now. And then Haṁsadūta Mahārāja told him to come here, and tape, ask questions to you and tape the answers, and put them in writing, and keep them for the future generations.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That should be his life long duty? Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And what is your opinion?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Well, as a matter of fact I discussed with Haṁsadūta Mahārāja about that, and when I was there Haṁsadūta Mahārāja liked the idea very much. And then I rang up Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja and I persuaded him to come back with me to India. But at that time Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja felt that he should stay there for a little longer, and then gradually...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When is Haṁsadūta Mahārāja expected here?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In about two months. So actually this we already discussed before, and my point was, actually both of us, Haṁsadūta Mahārāja and I agreed, or rather realised, that somebody should ask you the questions in English so that you give the answers in English also. That becomes more preferable.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But I do not feel myself fit always to hear in English and also to speak in English.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, but you understand Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja's intonations.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For that drawback...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: You understand Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja's English and Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja also understands your English; so that solves all the problems.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course practising; not all but somewhat. Now and then, I'm a fellow who got the remark from Guru Mahārāja as, "Ease lover." So any constant duty to take up it is difficulty constitutionally for me. Now and then I...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Whenever it's possible.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It's not that there's going to be any pressure on you. Like whenever you want to speak you speak. And Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja will ask you questions and will tape them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course sometimes now and then, when I'm in the mood.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, right. Actually Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja used to tell me when I was in Los Angeles that he would very much like to stay in Navadvīpa at your lotus feet. And he wanted to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, for the time, temporary stay here.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. This would be for two or three months.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is of course good, but to take it as permanent duty, that to take tapes from me and to preach, to supply it to the preachers, of course the idea is good. If Mohamed does not go to mountain, mountain coming to Mohamed. I did not go to the west, but in my last days Prabhupāda is wresting something what he deposited with me, to take it for the west. I can't deny. As much as I can do I shall do. But Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja then he wants to retire from the practical field?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Not exactly; only for the time being.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For the time being.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, because knowing Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, I know that he's such a big preacher that he cannot become a bhajanānandī.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: See, Mahārāja, I'm accused of being a trouble maker. When I'm mixing with my God-brothers, the GBC they feel that I'm...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally they're afraid of you?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I create disturbance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And dissidence against the policies of the GBC, so I thought maybe for a brief time I should remain here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. For the time being you may stay here, as you like. But what I understand in you, that you should visit those that are dejected, disappointed, and to have relief work with them.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Rescue them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To rescue them, to help rescue, to organise them so that they should not leave the movement of Swāmī Mahārāja or Mahāprabhu or our Guru Mahārāja. This Divine Movement may not be lost, to keep up the standard. These, my words, may be used to enliven them and to keep them within the fold. You may visit here and there, and the leading persons like Yaśodānanda and others, whether Pradyumna, who are some stalwarts of Swāmī Mahārāja. They're going away, hither thither, like a ship without a rudder, being scattered in different directions; to connect with them and to encourage them in their service to Guru, Gaurāṅga, Swāmī Mahārāja, our Guru Mahārāja, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. And come now and then here and take the necessary directions. So mainly theoretical and practical, both sides, to collect some things and to distribute to the patients. To collect medicine, that is not enough.

I've also done so, using my life from Guru Mahārāja, I am rather devoted to that, a selfish idea. I tried to collect most, but not to push them outside. That was my nature, to improve myself. Even now when I chant different ślokas of Bhāgavatam, Caitanya-caritāmṛta, all these things, I try to catch new light from there; and I do, new light, new adjustment, new harmony, in the line of Guru Mahārāja and Mahāprabhu. I want to enrich myself. That is the tenor of my life, rather than to help others. This is the main tendency in my life.

But there are others also, what little they know they want to distribute to others. That is also a useful nature, whatever little, they want to distribute to others.

Caru Swāmī what is your nature, to collect or to distribute?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I'm totally unqualified Mahārāja. I'm no good for anything.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, you want to increase your qualification? You're very busy with that? Have qualification for distribution, or what qualification you're in need of? Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: My qualification is sense gratification [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, why you are here? Do you think that we're of the same nature? Birds of the same feather flock together. Ha, ha, ha. Now you're defeated. Ha, ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Also, Rāmeśvara Swāmī criticised me that I spend too much time with the śāstra, and do not engage in enough practical service.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, they're of that temperament, they're very eager to help others, even risking their own self. But if they're in the real plane it is well and good. We should appreciate self-forgetfulness. He's forgetful of his own improvement. He's busy with what he's got from his Gurudeva to give to others. That is a good qualification. But really, where he's standing, in what plane he's standing, that is the all-important thing. He's very eager to distribute, but distributing what? Is it the standard what his Guru Mahārāja kept? If he's there of course it is admirable. He's eager to distribute the nectar what he collected from Guru Mahārāja to others is a laudable thing. We appreciate that.

yāre dekha, tāre kaha 'kṛṣṇa'-upadeśa, āmāra ājñāya guru hañā tāra ei deśa [kabhu nā vādhibe tomāra viṣaya-taraṅga, punarapi ei ṭhāñi pābe mora saṅga]

["Instruct whoever you meet in the science of Kṛṣṇa. Teach them the instructions of Kṛṣṇa in Bhagavad-gītā, and the teachings about Kṛṣṇa in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In this way, on My order, become a Guru and liberate everyone in the land. If you follow this instruction, the waves of materialism within this world will not affect you. Indeed, if you follow My order, you will soon attain My association."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 7.128-9]

But generally, that is not a cluster of external formalities; the real spirit, to have, bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, anyatra. These three things we must have within us. Our serving attitude should increase, we must have some conception of other about the real truth, and we must be simultaneously indifferent to the worldly things. These three points are the criterion of whether one is in the plane of devotion or not. A proper conception of the Absolute we must have, and our indifference to the worldly things must remain there, and our earnestness for the service must be present within us.

bhaktiḥ pareśānubhavo viraktir, anyatra caiṣa trika eka-kālaḥ prapadyamānasya yathāśnataḥ syus, tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo 'nughāsam

["As with every mouthful an eater feels the threefold effects of his satisfaction, his stomach being filled, and his hunger being dispelled, in the same way when a surrendered soul serves the Lord he realises devotion of three natures simultaneously: devotion in love, the personal appearance of the Lord who is the abode of love, and detachment from all other things."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.42]

Just as a hungry man when he's taking food the three things simultaneously occur there. The hunger is removed, uneasiness, and also by every morsel he gets strength, and his uneasiness removed, and hunger also removed, and he finds strength; three things. Tuṣṭiḥ puṣṭiḥ kṣudapāyo. Satisfaction, strength, and no hunger, hunger lessened.

So it's laudable he's energetic to preach the advices of Mahāprabhu. What more can be expected from any man, that he's an agent of Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda Prabhu? Well and good. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, there are some devotees they feel that we have wandered away from the things that were introduced by our Guru Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That depends on their understanding the real thing.

Prakāśānanda abused Śrī Caitanyadeva. “That You have taken sannyāsa in our sampradāya. Why do You not read Vedānta? We are told that You chant, dance, and take prasādam without observing vairāgyam, that indifference to the food. What is this? We can’t follow.”

So, according to their conception, Vedānta, the discussion on Vedānta, this Brahman, Paramātmā, all these things, that is the standard of religious life. So it depends upon the proper conception of what is theism, what is reality; the Brahman conception, the Paramātmā conception, the Bhāgavata conception, and Kṛṣṇa conception. Brahmeti paramātmēti, bhagavān iti śabdyate

[vadanti tat tattva-vidas, tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam brahmeti paramātmēti, bhagavān iti śabdyate]

[“Learned transcendentalists who know the Absolute Truth call this non dual substance Brahman, Paramātmā or Bhagavān.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11]

Some, they’re satisfied with the Brahman’s conception, they think, “This is enough that we are out of the worldly, like the exploiting agents. We are; we have worked liberation from the hands of exploiting agents. That is enough.”

Some of them think, the yogīs, that, “We can hear the inner voice. That is enough.”

But the devotional school they want some service by dedication, crossing the plane of exploitation, as well as renunciation or indifference; the active dedication and service. And in the beginning with the help of scripture, and also excitement, that awe, grandeur, all these things, power, that is in Nārāyaṇa. And when they can understand that love is the real essence of life; without that we can't, we should not exist. Love is such a precious innate wealth that the very life we should deny if we do not have that most precious inner wealth as love to Kṛṣṇa, to the Absolute. And He's love consumer, the Absolute, He's beauty, He's beauty consumer. Affection, beauty, love, harmony: that is the highest thing to ever come to the conception of this world.

In the last scripture of Vyāsadeva He gave it through Bhāgavatam to the world. “The very gist, the highest goal of life is here, to have connection with Kṛṣṇa conception of the Absolute.”

Now, who has come to realise things in such a plane, then to them, even the servitors in Vaikuṇṭha, that is the servitors of Nārāyaṇa, they seem to be of very lower status.

Dās Goswāmī, Raghunātha Dās Goswāmī, who is called to be the Ācārya, the distributor of prajayana-tattva, what is the summon-bonum of life, the highest attainment is prajayana, is prema, and he's the authority in that department. He says:

Selidi parola hadi paravyomi divi pheli [?]

“If I have got much affinity towards the scriptural service then I should be thrown down to Paravyoma. I won't be allowed to take my position in the land of freedom where spontaneous love is the queen, and who is regulating the whole thing. The Queen of love, She will throw me down in Vaikuṇṭha, “Go there, do your duty according to scripture, according to calculation, according to the new excitement created by grandeur, awe, reverence, all these things, go there. Here only the simple, the plain, the spontaneous service, hearty service of the Lord reigns here, and we are in the midst of that plain thing. And we do not care for any other thing, but only for the object of our love. That is our guide; that is our śāstra; that is our everything. We do not know anything more and we do not want to know anything more.”

So the gradation is there, and of course one, what he has got, he can only give to others, what he knows himself he can give to others. In that sense we have nothing to say. Our eagerness to help others that is well and good, but at the same time we must not neglect to detect the quality of things that we are eager to distribute.

Suppose we are distributing some medicine, but if some medicine of higher quality has been invented then what should we do? If we neglect to distribute that sort of medicine then we'll be responsible for that: so something like that.

strī-putrādi-kathaṁ jahur viṣayaṇaḥ śāstra-pravādaṁ budhā yogīndrā vijahur marun niyamaka-kleśaṁ tapas tāpasāḥ jñānābhyāsa-vidhiṁ jahuś ca yatayaś caitanyacandre param āviṣkurvati bhakti-yogapadavīm naivānya āsīd rasaḥ

["Something most wonderful and miraculous has happened because the Divine full moon Śrī Caitanyacandra has graciously illuminated the sky of everyone's heart, imbuing them with ambrosial transcendental love.

Being deeply attracted by that, the materialists have given up talking about their wives, children and mundane affairs. The paṇḍits have given up arguing the scriptural conclusions, the yogīs have given up the difficulty of controlling the breath, the ascetics have given up their austerity, and the impersonalist renunciates have given up their pursuit of impersonal philosophy. Now there is only one exclusive and super excellent taste, the nectar of pure devotional service, compared to which, nothing else is attractive any more."] [Caitanya-Candrāmṛta, 113]

When Mahāprabhu came with His ecstatic love to give to the people that Divine Love of Kṛṣṇa, all other preachers of different camps they lost their taste in their own business; all were for the time being they had to stop their engagement and to look at the manners of Mahāprabhu. "What has He taken here to give us?"

In Macbeth, "The wine of the spirit of life is drawn." When Duncan was murdered by Macbeth, Shakespeare writes, "The spirit of life is drawn. He was such a good man, innocent, and very affectionate to his subjects. And he was murdered? Then what is the necessity of living in this world? To live here has got no value. Such a good man he can be murdered?"

So the general negligence to the life of this world came at that instance. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

So I'm a peace loving man. Don't try to take, to drag me into the battlefield. I'm of a ministerial habit. I'm rather a minister than a king. That was told to me by Mādhava Mahārāja, "That you can give us good advices but you cannot work as a king." My God-brother Mādhava Mahārāja told me. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. "You have got foresight. You can give good advice. But you cannot take up anything at your hands direct and to go on with the programme." Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja is also not in a fighting mood. He's also...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

The followers of Swāmī Mahārāja who have got affection for me, you combine yourselves and do whatever you think good. I'm ready to help you theoretically.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: To us it seems that the most important thing is to get the association of your lotus feet.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. What is there? Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. If you think so you may extort from me. Just as Dās Goswāmī says, "I was blind, I was unwilling, but Sanātana Goswāmī was so kind with me that he tried his utmost and forced me to drink the nectar."

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Vairāgya yug?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

vairāgya-yug bhakti-rasam prayatnair, apāyayam mām anabhipsum andham

[*kṛpāmbudhir yaḥ para-duḥkha-dukhī, sanātanaṁ taṁ prabhum

[“I surrender unto Śrī Sanātana Goswāmī, the Ācārya of sambandha-jñāna. He is an ocean of mercy and is always unhappy to see the sufferings of others. Although I was blind, in the darkness of ignorance, he gave me the light of transcendental knowledge. He taught me the real meaning of detachment and made me drink the highest nectarine rasa of divine love.”] [Ragunātha Dāsa Goswāmī’s, Vilāpa-kuṣumāñjali 6]

“Not only blind but also unwilling, and I was forced to take as if the medicine...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So I am unwilling and you come and force, exact from me if you find anything good. What is very akin to your master’s gift, if you find that what you have already got from your spiritual master, similar things are to be found here, then of course you may come and try to snatch it and distribute to the world. You have got that right.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: We are situated in Dās Goswāmī's position, and you are situated in Sanātana Goswāmī's position.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: You are forcing us to relish the nectar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But you are active. I am passive here. I'm reluctant...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That is deception.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...and you are coming to me. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: We're active like monkeys.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Goswāmī: A monkey is also active.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Whatever you are giving us is spiritual, so the activity cannot be perceived in the material plane, but in the spiritual plane the activity is going on Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. They say like that, even my senior God-brothers they're of the opinion, when they listen to me they say it's as if they're listening to Guru Mahārāja. Some sort of peculiarity is in my chanting, my statement; the nature of my delivery about the spiritual thing. I think perhaps I always talk from above the plane of knowledge, jñāna. Bhakti transcending jñāna: that is knowledge, sphere of knowledge, of consciousness. That is my tenor, that never on this side, on the side of this exploitation. Exploitation, renunciation, and dedication; I'm always awake that I must be on the land of dedication, crossing renunciation; a positive. Renunciation is negative. This is the negative side, it is abscissa, and then the positive side, the land of dedication, the plane of dedication. It must be of that characteristic. Perhaps that is the tenor of my speech about the Absolute. So they say that, 'as if we are hearing from Prabhupāda.' And when Prabhupāda was also present, then also many senior sannyāsīns after hearing Prabhupāda's lecture they took me to their room and asked me, "What has Prabhupāda said? Just repeat it." And I did as much as I could, and they appreciated. It is Prabhupāda's grace, Mahāprabhu's grace: something like that.

But Prabhupāda was mortified, or sorry that 'ease lover' with the remark 'ease lover.'

He asked the editor of Nadiyā Prakāśa at the time was Śramaṇa Mahārāja, who is Ācārya in Māyāpur now: I sent an article for Nadiyā Prakāśa from Bombay about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. And Prabhupāda told him, "If you can print such articles in your paper, the standard of your paper will be higher.” That remark also Prabhupāda made about my article.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And he also told you that, about you he said that, ‘he’s leaving his spokesman behind,’ in you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He left the word to Goswāmī Mahārāja. “I’m satisfied that my words will be, my advices will be here after,” after going through my poem about Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura.

yad dhāmnah khalu dhāma caiva nigame brahmeti sanjñāyāte yasyāṁśāsya kalaiva duḥkha nikarair yogeśvarair mṛgyate vaikunṭhe paramukta-bhṛṅga-caraṇo nārāyaṇo yaḥ svayam tasyāṁśī bhagavān svayaṁ rasa-vapuḥ kṛṣṇo bhavān tat-pradāḥ

["The effulgent, non differentiated aspect of divinity known as Brahman is composed of infinite particles of individual consciousness, and has been considered by the Upaniṣads and by Vedic scholars to be the halo of the Absolute. The localised plenary portion of Godhead known as Paramātmā is sought after by the great yogīs practising extreme penances. Nārāyaṇa Himself, the predominating Lord of the Vaikunṭha planets, whose lotus feet are worshipped and served by His unexcelled bee like devotees, is only a partial representation of the original Personality of Godhead. The original or full-fledged aspect of divinity is Kṛṣṇa. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you have not come to distribute Brahman or Paramātmā or even Nārāyaṇa bhakti, but Svayam-Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa, the original conception of the Absolute, who is all-ecstasy. It is you, O Gurudeva, who can gently place me in His hands, and you have come to give Him to the public."] [Śrīmad-Bhaktivinoda-viraha-daśakam, verse 7]

Prabhupāda took that, 'he would not sell my things in a black market very cheaply. He knows the standard, after crossing Brahman, Paramātmā, Nārāyaṇa, then Kṛṣṇa.' 'Virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi' 'paravyoma' pāya, tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana' 'kṛṣṇa- caraṇa'-kalpavṛkṣe.

[upajiyā bāḍe latā 'brahmāṇḍa' bhedi' yāya / 'virajā,' 'brahmaloka,' bhedi' 'paravyoma' pāya tabe yāya tad upari 'goloka-vṛndāvana' / 'kṛṣṇa- caraṇa'-kalpavṛkṣe kare ārohana]

["The creeper of devotion is born, and grows to pierce the wall of the universe. It crosses the Virajā River and the Brahman plane, and reaches to the Vaikuṇṭha plane. Then it grows further up to Goloka Vṛndāvana, finally reaching to embrace the wish-yielding tree of Kṛṣṇa's Lotus Feet."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.153-4]

And then there is the Goloka, then mādhurya-rasa, and then Rādhā-dāsyā, the highest end of the whole Gaudīya sampradāya, the Rādhā-dāsyā. That was represented in the last stanza.

śrī-gaurānumataṁ svarūpa-viditaṁ [rūpāgrajenāḍṛtaṁ rūpādyaiḥ pariveśitaṁ raghu-gaṇair-āsvāditaṁ sevitam jīvādyair abhirakṣitaṁ śuka-śiva-brahmādi sammānitaṁ śrī-rādhā-pada-sevanāmṛtam aho tad dātum īśo bhavān]

["What was sanctioned by Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu by His descent was intimately known only to Śrī Svarūpa Dāmodara Goswāmī. It was adored by Sanātana Goswāmī and served by Rūpa Goswāmī and his followers.

Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī tasted that wonderful thing fully and enhanced it with his own realisation. And Jīva Goswāmī supported and protected it by quoting the scriptures from different places. The taste of that divine truth is aspired for by Brahmā, Śiva, and Uddhava, who respect it as the supreme goal of life. What is this wonderful truth? Śrī-rādhā-pada-sevanā: that the highest nectar of our life is the service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. This is most wonderful. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, you are our master. It is within your power to allow them to bestow their grace upon us. You are in a position to bestow the highest gift ever known to the world upon us all. It is at your disposal. O Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, please be kind to us and grant us your mercy."]

[Śrīmad-Bhaktivinoda-viraha-daśakam, verse 9]

And was very beautifully, and the adjustment was very nice, śrī-gaurānumataṁ svarūpa-viditaṁ rūpāgrajenāḍṛtaṁ, these are the qualifications of Rādhā-dāsyā, sanctioned by Gaurāṅga. And appreciated by, and that is thoroughly known by Svarūpa Dāmodara, and appreciated by Sanātana Goswāmī. And it was distributed by Rūpa Goswāmī and Raghunātham. Raghunātha tasted it and again developed it. And Jīva Goswāmī came to protect it from others that it may not be mixed with other alloyed things. So protection from the scriptures and reason was given by Jīva Goswāmī, and Baladeva, others, jīvādyair. And that was prayed [for] by Uddhava, and Brahmā, Śiva, and others. That was, they showed their respect from far away, the Rādhā-dāsyā. And you, Ṭhākura Bhaktivinoda, you can, aho, what to speak, what wonder, that you can distribute that very thing to all. You are so great. The Rāmānuja, Madhvācārya, they're Ācāryas of the Bhakti School, Devotional School, but their strata, their plane, is lower. And what you have given that is the highest and its acquaintance is like this.

So step by step the development was shown there. Though it is kavya, poem, but still, as in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam; both, the tattva and kavya, poetry as well as argument, this ontology, poetry and ontology mixed together. So Bhāgavat, Śrīmad-Bhāgavat is of that type, both poetry as well as ontology.

And in my style also, poetry as well as ontology is mixed, not only poetry, but ontology is there, and poetry is also there. That is the characteristic of my Sanskrit verses. And Premadhāma-deva-stotram it is also both the ontological aspect as well as the life of Mahāprabhu has been given there it is found.

In Caitanya-caritāmṛta, in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, also, they deal with this, both poetry as well as ontology, the presentation combined.

So Prabhupāda was very much satisfied with my writings.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In one of your writings you have mentioned the spiritual identity of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Saraswatī Ṭhākura, and Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja. [Asks another devotee] “Do you know that poem I’m talking about?”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mm:

paricāraka-sahitam]

["O Dayita dāsa, preoccupied with intimate service alongside the Lord's closest servitors, you are residing on the banks of the Saraswatī River, seated inside a simple grass hut in the beautiful garden known as Svānanda-sukhada-kuñja. Always standing just before Śrīmatī Lalitā Devī within a group of Mañjarī servitors (as Nayana-maṇī Mañjarī) you are deeply absorbed in devotion's inward current. In the gardens of Vraja you are intimately disposed to Śrīmatī Kamala Mañjarī (Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura), the closest object of your affection, and your singing of the divine qualities found in Guṇa Mañjarī (Śrīla Gaurakiśora) weaves a tent inviting Lord Hari to reside there. On your auspicious appearance day I offer my obeisances unto the tips of your lotus feet in the association of your dear most servitors. O Gurudeva, you are the favourite object of King Vṛṣabhānu's daughter, Śrīmatī Rādhikā."]

[Śrī-Dayita-dāsa-praṇati-pañcakam, verse 4, from Śrī Kīrtana Mañjuṣā, p 33-4]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Vraja-kānana-bahu-mānana-kamala-priya-nayanam. Kamala means Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, Kamala Mañjarī, bahu-mānana-kamala, and very favourite to Kamala Mañjarī. That is Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. And who is always trying to enchant the good qualities of Guṇa Mañjarī [Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja] and thereby he's constructing as if a room where Hari can live, Kṛṣṇa can live tent. So guṇa means thread, thread means guṇa, and also guṇa means quality, so with the guṇa of Guṇa Mañjarī, by the chanting the qualities of Guṇa Mañjarī, his Gurudeva, with that guṇa he's preparing a tent where he's asking Kṛṣṇa to live there; that within the fist of Guṇa Mañjarī his Gurudeva. That is mentioned there. And also in sujanārbuda [first word of the first verse of Śrī Śrī Prabhupāda-padma-stavakaḥ] I have mentioned:

vipulī-kṛta-vaibhava-gaura-bhuvam, bhuvaneṣu vikīrtita gaura-dayam dayanīya-[gaṇārpita-gaura-padam, praṇamāmi sadā prabhupāda-padam]

[O Śrīla Prabhupāda, you have widely spread the glories of Śrī Gaurāṅga's holy abode, Śrī Māyāpura Dhāma, and you have openly declared the nature of Śrī Gaurāṅga's mercy throughout the universe. Your graceful personality has planted the lotus of Śrī Gaura's holy feet in the hearts of your deserving servitors. I eternally offer my respects unto that wonderful effulgence that emanates from the radiant lotus toe-tips of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura Prabhupāda.] [Śrī Śrī Prabhupāda-padma-stavakaḥ, 5]

Then,

cira-gaura-janāśraya-viśva-guruṁ, [guru-gaurakiśoraka-dāśya-param paramāḍṛta-bhaktivinoda-padaṁ, praṇamāmi sadā prabhupāda-padam]

[O Śrīla Prabhupāda, as the universal spiritual master and guide, you are the eternal refuge for Śrī Gaurāṅga's devotees. You are always dedicated to serving your spiritual master Śrīla Gaura Kiśora, and you are a careful servant to the lotus feet of Śrīla Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. I eternally offer my respects to that charming effulgence that shines from the radiant lotus toe-tips of Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura Prabhupāda.]

[Śrī Śrī Prabhupāda-padma-stavakaḥ, 6]

Though You are eternal master, the general of the Gauḍīya camp, cira-gaura-janāśraya-viśva-guruṁ, and the universal Ācārya, guru-gaurakiśoraka-dāśya-param, still, we see in you the serving mood about your Gurudeva, Gaura Kiśora. Being so big, still you hold the mood of serving your Guru, dāśya-param. And paramāḍṛta-bhaktivinoda-padaṁ, and great reverence for the holy connection of Śrī Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura we observe in you there also; and in some other places also. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Taṭasthā-vicāra; and relatively he was more connected with Gaura Kiśora, relative consideration: but from absolute consideration he had more attraction for Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, than that for Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That's from the absolute.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The absolute consideration. These are very subtle things, very subtle things.

Sanātana Goswāmī he says in Bṛhat-bhāgavatāmṛta when he's writing about the Queens of Dvārakā, "Rukmiṇī is such and such, Satyabhāmā is such and such; these are such." Then he says at the time, "A man, a fellow like me, a fellow of the street like me, now he has sat down to deal with so many higher ideals. How much audacity I have got, that what I am, like a worm or insect, and I go to judge the position of Satyabhāmā, Rukmiṇī and others, who have so much loving affection and gives to Kṛṣṇa, all these things. But this is not mine. Someone I feel, someone has got hold of my hand and pen and is forcing me to write all these things. It is not mine. What audacity I may have that I'm going to give a comparative study of the affectionate service of the great divine Queens of Kṛṣṇa. Who am I? But someone is forcing my hand to write all these things. In this way it is possible."

[Kṛṣṇadāsa] Kavirāja Goswāmī also says,

ei grantha lekhāya more 'madana-mohana' / āmāra likhana yena [śukera paṭhana]

["Actually, Śrī Caitanya-caritamṛta is not my writing but the dictation of Śrī Madana-mohana. My writing is like the repetition of a parrot."] [Caitanya-caritamṛta, Ādi-līlā, 8.78]

It is cent per cent true. This is not a hyperbolic expression. They're forced to write from above. There is such potency and it is possible that connection with them. These are very higher things. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, considering that I'm just a mleccha from the western countries, what audacity I must have to even think I can understand something about Sanātana Goswāmī or these great spiritual personalities. So sometimes I wonder.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: what audacity?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I was saying like he's saying, that Sanātana Goswāmī is saying that Satyabhāmā...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: _____ Sanātana Goswāmī _____ what audacity; that I'm a man from the street and I'm writing about...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Going to deal their...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Comparing between the Queens of Kṛṣṇa in Dvārakā. So in the same mood Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja also is feeling that after all I'm a mleccha and what an audacity that I'm trying to understand Sanātana Goswāmī and Rūpa Goswāmī and all these elevated personal associates of Caitanya Mahāprabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. So perhaps that plenary force is acting within you. Ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Of course: yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas.

[nāyam ātmā pravacanena labhyo, na medhayā na bahunā śrutena] yam evaiṣa vṛnute tena labhyas, [tasyaiṣa ātmā vivṛnute tanūṁ svām]

[“One cannot understand the substance of the Paramātmā, the Super-soul residing within everyone's heart, by means of expertise in logic, intelligence or learning. When the living entity begs the Lord for His mercy, being desirous of His transcendental loving service, then the Supreme Lord reveals His self-manifest form directly before him.”]
[Katha-Upaniṣad, 1.2.23]

We’re all discussing all these things; is it a very easy thing for others to talk in such matters, leaving – there are so many things for our enjoyment in the world of exploitation, leaving all these...

When I came to Prabhupāda first, in Calcutta, there the Upaniṣad was being explained there, Urupi Paṇḍita, there was one Paṇḍita from Urupi, from Mādhva School, he was explaining, Prabhupāda was also one of the audience, and myself, and Kalna Purī Mahārāja, and one or two more. At that time I thought, “What is this? The Calcutta is a town of mundane business, full of so much noise, with mundane business and activities. And that ancient tapovan what was cultivated in ancient India in the tapovan we are told, and that in the busy city of Calcutta, that thing is being dealt with. That high order that was cultivated in the ancient tapovan of India amongst the ṛṣis, and that thing is again being repeated here in this busy city of Calcutta of mundane business.” That thing made me wonder. So whenever and wherever the kathā, that is the chanting of the qualities; that is well and that is good.

No yatra, vaikuntha kathā suda paka [?] However outwardly purer the atmosphere may appear, but if there is no talk about Hari, that must be rejected like anything. The talk of Hari, that is the criterion of the highest plane, Hari kathā, sudapara, the nectar of nirguṇa, that Kṛṣṇa. Because the surrender is at the extreme point there, the absolute autocrat, and love begins there, love begins.

As in the Hindu system of marriage, one wife sacrificed, and then there is a possibility of appearance of love. Otherwise a mutual contract, as in the marriage of the Christians and the Mohammedans; a contract, equal partnership. No room of love there. The sacrifice must be in one part, then the question of love and affection appears.

The highest sacrifice of the highest degree only exacted in Goloka, in Vṛndāvana, so the question of love can come there only. No sacrifice, no affection, no love; according to the degree of sacrifice, dedication. Dedication is the foundation of love, of the structure of love. Without dedication no love can stand over. The highest, the greatest autocrat, and the highest dedicating agent: Rādhārāṇī, mahābhāva svarūpini. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Rādhikā, why Rādhā-dāsyam? We are wanted to dedicate and dedicating highest ideal is Rādhārāṇī, in all respects, mādhurya rasa, and parakīya, endangering all His achievement. She is approaching to be fodder of the greatest consumer, autocrat, Kṛṣṇa. The dedication in its zenith is there only. And Her company in any way, a slight company, or Her connection, will purify us. Our adherence should go that side. That should be considered the highest wealth. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol. And Mahāprabhu came only to prove, to show, to prove to the world the highest dignity of Rādhārāṇī.

yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de [rādhāra mahimā, prema-rasa-sīmā jagate jānāta ke madhura vṛndā vipina mādhurī praveśa cāturī sāra baraja yuvatī bhāvera bhakati śakati hoita kāra]

[“What great insurmountable, unsurpassable loss would we have faced in our life, if Śrī Gaurāṅga had not appeared before us on this earth? How could we bear our unfulfilled, empty life without Him? Who in this world would have described the super excellent transcendental glory of Śrī Rādhikā, Who is the last limit of divine love and devotion for the Supreme Lord Kṛṣṇa? Without His grace, who would be able to know the super excellent devotional path that gives entrance into the transcendental realm of the ambrosial ecstasy of Vṛndāvana? Who would be able to attain the mood and taste of the topmost devotional ecstasy of the young damsels of Vraja?”] [Vāsudeva Ghosa] Those that are closely connected with Rādhārāṇī it is their statement. “Our heart’s nectar has been taken out here by Mahāprabhu, our greatest admirer, our canvasser.” Vāsudeva Ghosa, one of the sakhīs; “What we possess in our bosom is so valuable and Gaurāṅga has come to establish in the market that our heart’s wealth is of the highest type of wealth. If He did not come to express this to the world then how could we live? Our life would have been impossible if the greatness of our Mistress had not been shown, placed in such high standard. Then how could we bear our life?”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You said once that for someone to change their rasa that that’s very rare.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very rarely, but it's possible.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So when Mahāprabhu came and,

anarpita-carīm cirāt karuṇayāvatīrṇaḥ kalau [samarpayitum unnatojjvala-rasām sva-bhakti-śriyam hariḥ puraṭa-sundara-dyuti-kadamba-sandīpitaḥ sadā hṛdaya-kandare sphuratu vaḥ śacī-nandanah]

[“May that Lord, who is known as the son of Śrīmatī Śacīdevī, be transcendently situated in the innermost chambers of your heart. Resplendent with the radiance of molten gold, He has appeared in this age of Kali by His causeless mercy to bestow what no incarnation ever offered before: the most sublime and radiant spiritual knowledge of the mellow taste of His service.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.4]

With this mādhurya rasa, was He giving opportunity for jīvas to be promoted to mādhurya rasa - because He's distributing those sentiments?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He came mainly to distribute mādhurya rasa. And automatically other rasa are there because they're living on mādhurya rasa. They're all dependent on mādhurya rasa. Mādhurya rasa is the mukhya rasa and ādi rasa. In both these important ways mādhurya rasa has been described. It is the first original rasa and it is the combination of all the rasa, the mādhurya rasa, independent rasa. All others are like satellites, vātsalya, sākhya, they're only depending on this transaction, vilāsa.

So Mahāprabhu came to give the original, the principal thing, and all others automatically got their justice. And so His sampradāya is known as rūpānuga. Rūpa Goswāmī is exclusively in mādhurya rasa. Our sampradāya is known as rūpānuga. That exclusively we are, we profess that we are in mādhurya rasa. Then there may be some vatikrama, exceptional cases, but mainly the rūpānuga. The Mahāprabhu came and rūpānuga, all this means that all are, grahak, purchasers, seekers of mādhurya rasa, mainly. There may be several exceptional cases, but the general tenor is this, mādhurya rasa, rūpānuga, because it is rūpānuga. Our Ācārya Guru paramparā is mādhurya rasa. Vātsalya rasa eliminated, even Nityānanda Prabhu. Nityānanda Prabhu is not in the list of Guru paramparā. The Svarūpa Dāmodara, Rūpa, Sanātana, Raghunātha, all in mādhurya rasa. Ācārya, more or less, mādhurya rasa.

So mainly our sampradāya is that of mādhurya rasa, taking towards Rādhā-dāsyā, generally, but Rādhā-dāsyā presupposes other rasa. The mādhurya rasa presupposes all other rasa. There must be vātsalya rasa, must be sākhya rasa. Kṛṣṇa means such a group, not Kṛṣṇa alone, He must have His paraphernalia, mother, father, others, all these things. But mādhurya rasa, though it is covered in disguise, but it is the main current is there and all other rasas are subsidiary, are helping His līlā with mādhurya rasa. They also cannot be eliminated. They also must be there. But they're living on mādhurya rasa. The principal thing is mādhurya rasa, and to help the transaction of mādhurya rasa all other rasas are necessary, to do their quota, to contribute their quota.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So śānta rasa of Goloka must be different than śānta rasa of Vaikuṇṭha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes of course different.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So they're helping to promote mādhurya rasa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, they're also helping. Just as Rādhārāṇī says in Kurukṣetra, "Though He's that Kṛṣṇa, I'm that Rādhā, but My mind is always running towards Vṛndāvana."

The anukul parivesh, the favourable environment, the Yamunā, the trees, the sand, all these, the birds, the moira, all helping, they have got their particular contribution to the līlā, in different times. They're all helping; otherwise Vṛndāvana līlā is not possible. So everything has got its special serving value.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, our Guru Mahārāja, he introduced the Ratha-yātrā of Jagannātha in the western countries.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So I was thinking that eleven years ago I first saw that. Naturally I had practically no idea of the spiritual significance, but by somehow coming in contact, like Rūpa Goswāmī says, kleśa-ghnī śubhadā mokṣa-, [laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā sāndrānanda-viśeṣātmā, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā]

[“Uttamā-bhakti, the purest devotion, is the vanquisher of all sin and ignorance, and the bestower of all auspiciousness; liberation is belittled in the presence of such devotion, which is very rarely attained, the embodiment of the deepest ecstasy, and the attractor of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrvva, 1.17]

Śubhadā, it is so auspicious that it seems that after some time you are drawn into some understanding of such things. As our Guru Mahārāja gave Caitanya-caritāmṛta...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is all that sukṛti. Anyhow having some connection with the transcendental nirguṇa, transcendental wave. You all have some connection with transcendental wave previously, and wherever you are it has kept you, it has taken you, floating above very near to such thought, of the Vṛndāvana plane, coming near to the Vṛndāvana. The underground activity of previous lives was there. And that has taken you floating just near were Swāmī Mahārāja began his preaching. That nearness to the capacity of acceptance of his words, that sort of merit was already within you, and in variegated nature, and that has taken you to appreciate. Otherwise it is not possible; nirguṇa, connection with nirguṇa. Gaura Sundara. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, I was reading Śrīmad-Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta and I was wondering one thing. Both the Madhvi vipra and Gopa Kumāra, in the beginning they didn’t have any knowledge about Vṛndāvana or...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the beginning?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: They did not have any understanding of the spiritual nature, but still they were interested and that's how they were approaching the spiritual world. When I was reading that I was wondering whether this knowledge about the spiritual nature that beforehand if we have the knowledge whether it will stand as an obstruction?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see; they had some previous connection with things, acquaintances with things of nirguṇa world, of the hazy world. Otherwise how when they're connected in their gradual improvement in a place and after experience of some time it does not have any charm? Then the occasion comes from the higher. One agent comes in their connection and he's taken to that place. And again after living, passing some time in that plane he feels unsatisfied. Then some connection from upper agent comes there and he goes there. What does it mean? That the background is such that though they're going gradually externally, but some backing, some healthy backing is there that wherever he's led he's not satisfied. Then again...In this way in the highest position only they could get their fulfilment; that sukṛti in the background that was there.

*ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' [tha bhajana-kriyā tato' nartha-nivṛttiḥ
syāt tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyudañcati*

sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet kramaḥ]

["In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

From there it has begun, but how śraddhā is produced? Sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate puṁbhiḥ sukr̥taiḥ pūrvva-saṅcitaiḥ.

[bhaktis tu bhagavad-bhaktasaṅgena parijāyate

sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate puṁbhiḥ sukr̥taiḥ pūrvva-saṅcitaiḥ]

[“Actually we can recognise a sādhū by sukṛti. Apparently we can know him from the śāstras, the scriptures, because the śāstra helps us to know who is a sādhū, and the sādhū gives us the interpretation of the śāstra. So sādhū and śāstra are interdependent, but the sādhū holds the more important position and the śāstra has the secondary position. The living śāstra is the sādhū, but to know who is Guru, who is sādhū, we are to consult the descriptions given about them in the scriptures. The symptoms of the sādhū, both of the Guru as well as the disciple, have been written in the Bhāgavatam, in the Gītā and in the Upaniṣads.”]

[Bṛhan-Nāradya Purāṇa]

That we meet a proper sādhū it is not a chance coincidence but it is the result of the previous sukṛti. What is sukṛti? Our connection with the plane of service, dedication, and not of this land of exploitation or renunciation: that is called sukṛti.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So in the same way it is our causeless good fortune that we have got your connection and association.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Swāmī Mahārāja, and now he's departed and you have come here, and he also told about that in some way or other. Anyhow we're connected and this talk is going on. Talk is going on; the praise of Rādhārāṇī which proves the highest attainment. Anyhow we're as in such a way that we have got the advantage of, we're forced to talk about Rādhārāṇī and Her greatness and all these things. There may be so many engagements, but anyhow by Their grace we are engaged in the topic of the highest order to our realisation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Prema-rasa-sīmā, rādhāra mahimā, jageta jānāta ke? Dedication, dedication, bhakti means dedicate, para-bhakti. Mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām.

[brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, na śocati na kāṅkṣati samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām]

["The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54]

"Brahma-bhūtaḥ, attained a spiritual position fully placed on spiritual plane, brahma-bhūtaḥ, that has crossed the mundane and has got his identification with Your conscious unit. And prasannātmā, a sort of self satisfaction is there. Na śocati na kāṅkṣati, in reference with the mundane loss and gain; indifferent. Samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu, considering the worldly persons they're neutral, not contributing any mundane help to any other person, samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu. And they're all equal in soul consideration. In conscious consideration they're all unit of soul, samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu. Mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām, then he's in a position to go to the, to My real affectionate love quarter, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām. He gets My higher devotional service. They're eligible, from this position they're really eligible to search, or to advance towards the land of My dedication, of My devotional service, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām."

The bhakti is always above the land of renunciation. We must take it for granted always that it is cinmayi, never mundane, bhakti. Dedication to the country, dedication to the society, to the nation, to the family, this is all extended selfishness.

For a few years I joined the Gandhi Movement of non-cooperation, and then came to Gauḍīya Maṭh, then I had to fight with the same people, people of same nature. And my weapon was 'extended selfishness.' That was a very helpful weapon, the extended selfishness, to identify with the country. To identify with the body, bodily comforts, then extend it to the family, to the village, to the clan, then to the country. But there's clash between the greater units. Hindustan, Pakistan, then Europe, Russia, they fight with one another. The clash is inevitable, only extended selfishness. The lover, the patron, philanthropist, all extended selfishness.

Nothing less than identification with the Infinite can get us proper relief. And no number of finite can make infinite. So from the beginning the plane of infinite should be taken up. 'I shall begin from here by extending the area of our activity we shall reach one day to the infinite,' that is not possible, because no number of finite can make infinite. So from the beginning that comes from higher to lower, śrauta-panthā, the method of descent, of deduction, deductive method, and we are to submit to that. And He's trying to give Himself, to reveal Himself. We must connect with Him. We must sell our head there. That is the only way, śrauta-panthā And that depends upon ajñāta-sukṛti, jñāta-sukṛti, then śraddhā, that if I do my duty towards that Wonderful One my duty is done to the whole, and more than that.

“Whatever you can conceive that is in My one part; I’m such.”

So begin there, not any part. No part can be any important part in Him; always transcending, transcending. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So Mahārāja, in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta again, you were saying that when Gopa Kumāra was going through the eight layers of prakṛti, outer layers of māyā, in the causal layers of māyā, then he was getting rid of his physical concept. Like the earth, water, fire, air, ether; and then ahaṅkāra, maḥat-tattva too, and then ultimately prakṛti. So in that layer only he got rid of his false ego, or the mundane concept of his identity. And then from there he started to develop [?] So does that mean that unless and until we go through those veils of māyā and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sometimes unconsciously we pass over that. By the help of sādhū-saṅga and saṅkīrtana, all these things, his progress is such; unconsciously he’ll pass those very subtle different stages of māyā.

Just as śatapatra vedhaḥ nyāya, the hundred lotus petals that are pierced by a needle, it takes no time, and unconsciously only within a very short time the whole is penetrated. But if we finely analyse we find a hundred. So something like that; unconsciously we may pass through, different stages.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You quoted that verse, once you quoted that verse of Prabhodānanda Sarasvatī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If we walk our progress is very slow, but horse riding quick, and aeroplane in no time we pass so many provinces. Something like that.

What do you say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: You quoted a verse once...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Dev Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...Ṭhākura, yathā yathā gaura padāravinde, vindeta bhaktim kṛta puṇya rāśiḥ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: *bhaktiṁ kṛta puṇya rāśiḥ, tathā tathot sarpati

*[yathā yathā gaura padāravinde, vindeta bhaktiṁ kṛta puṇya rāśiḥ tathā
tathot sarpati hṛdy akasmāt, rādhā padāmbhoja sudhāmbhu-rāśiḥ]*

[Prabodhānanda Saraswatī Ṭhākura says: “As much as we devote ourselves to the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, we will automatically achieve the nectarine service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī in Vṛndāvana. An investment in Navadvīpa Dhāma will automatically take one to Vṛndāvana. How one will be carried there will be unknown to him. But those who have good fortune invest everything in the service of Gaurāṅga. If they do that, they will find that everything has automatically been offered to the divine feet of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She will accept them in Her confidential service and give them engagement, saying: ‘Oh, you have a good recommendation from Navadvīpa; I immediately appoint you to this service.’”]

[Caitanya-Candramṛta, 88]

If we put the coin somewhere the ticket comes from another position; something like that. If we put our energy to Mahāprabhu we find that I have got ticket to Vṛndāvana. Mahāprabhu is nothing but combination of rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitam [possessing the colour of molten gold like that of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī.] And ostentatiously He’s an Ācārya, but who is that Ācārya? If we come in closer contact, real contact with Him, we shall find out who is the Ācārya.

There is one śloka of Narahari Sarakara Ṭhākura. He says, he’s more addicted towards Braja līlā than Gaura līlā, he says, “I don’t admit Your sannyāsa.” Addressing Mahāprabhu, “I don’t admit You as a sannyāsī.”

gopinam kucha kum kumino nijitam kim vasa [?]

“Where have you got this saffron colour of your cloth?”

He says, “It comes in connection from the kum kum of the gopīs. It is remarkably present there. And You feel to be a sannyāsī. I don’t admit that. So our approach is like that. You are in disguise. You are that lampat [?]”

What is the English?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The common English would be womaniser.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Woman hunter.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Debauchee.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “And You are a notorious debauch of Vraja and now You have taken the garb of a sannyāsī.”

Ha, ha, ha, something like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Talking too much in this mean mouth. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Jaya Nitāi. Jaya Nitāi.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Prabhupāda used to give the example of stepping into a lift. If we try to climb a hundred story building then it’s very strenuous. But if we get into the lift then we just shoot up.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, yes; sādhū-saṅga.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: There is a very high building in New York called...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Empire State Building.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, that World Trade Centre; it's one hundred and forty stories. And there's a lift that goes straight up to the ninetieth, or hundredth story in one shot, it doesn't stop anywhere. And it takes only a few seconds.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Mahāprabhu took like in a lift to Rādhā-dāsyam, to the highest quarter, lift smoothly. So many things without our notice passed, by step by step, āroha-panthā. That is very shortly depicted in Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛtam.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, when we hear you, then all these troubles outside and involvement in the struggles seem to be such a waste of time. Isn't it, like fighting on trivialities just to... When we hear from your lotus mouth, then we notice that all this involvement in the material platform...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Are being cleared.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: ...is such a useless waste of time.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And are cleared.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. Then there's no taste left to be involved in it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And that was perhaps in the case of Jayatīrtha Mahārāja and his wife. The wife's weeping and in the midst of that she was ready for the sacrifice. And sometimes when encouraging words she was smiling. And again weeping and smiling. A good lady: of good heart. "You are my daughter; you're daughter to Swāmī Mahārāja, my niece, like daughter to me. If any trouble you may come here." Ha, ha, ha. Anyhow she was...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: She asked me to send some of your nectar from your lotus mouth.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[Two minutes spoken in Bengali [?]]

Day of departure of Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu, so you must come then the day after tomorrow; this is for Rūpa Goswāmī. Where is that Pramāṇa Swāmī?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mexico, Venezuela [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: they want already appointed. He gave hope that he will spend and remain, medium. Some of them they're of an indifferent mood to Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, in England?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, Jayatīrtha Mahārāja.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is in an unfavourable situation right now because...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's in uncertain position now?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Devotees there might have had some... But I think that is only temporary.

[About fifty seconds spoken in Bengali (?) with Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But the reaction came in some other form. Anyhow, He's willing, Kṛṣṇa's will, wish, sweet will of Kṛṣṇa. Mayā santuṣṭa-manasaḥ sarvāḥ sukha-mayā diśaḥ.

[akiñcanasya dāntasya, śāntasya sama-cetasaḥ mayā santuṣṭa-manasaḥ sarvāḥ sukha-mayā diśaḥ]

["One who does not desire anything within this world, who has achieved peace by controlling his senses, whose consciousness is equal in all conditions and whose mind is completely satisfied in Me finds only happiness wherever he goes."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.13]

If we can live in that plane, all the waves that will come to us cannot but be favourable; every wave carrying favourable news. Only to find out the plane of our stand, what is necessary really for us, to that plane. To find out that plane where to take our stand properly. Then the harmony, the plane of the highest harmony, when all discord has been eliminated; properly adjusted. Proper adjustment has no complaint, no complaint – or complaint only self-centred.

Rādhārāṇī says, more durdaiva vilas tarkena dosa nai [?]

By this great viraha, separation, She says: She's taking this vision, angle of vision, that, "Nothing to complain about from outside, from His side; it is only something within Me is showing like a magic what is undesirable, amora durdaiva vilas. [?] That was so near, so loving to Me, and now He's cruel; how is it possible? It is only evolving from Me no doubt."

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ, svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet [ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati

[“Just as a serpent naturally moves in a crooked way, in a zigzag way, the nature of love is naturally crooked. It is not straight. So the concerned parties quarrel, sometimes with cause and sometimes without cause, and separation comes. Separation is necessary for the transcendental pastimes of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa.”] [Ujjvala-nīlamanī]

Intact original thinking welcomed. Just as the serpent does not go straight, but his natural progress is crooked. So the wave of the Divine Love, the wave of love also goes in a crooked way. Ato hetor ahetoś ca, yūnor māna udañcati. So the abhimāna, the different sentiments arise from the hearts of both the parties without cause, sometimes no cause, that sentiment, but because of that crookedness it is natural, it must come.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Loving anger?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Loving, anger? It is emotion or sentiment. Bhāva-dyuti, what would be the English synonym, bhāva and dyuti, bhāva-dyuti-suvalitam?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Emotion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhāva means emotion? Rādhārāṇī is represented only by Her emotion?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Effulgence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Effulgence is a kānti, and bhāva means...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sentiment.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mood. But Rādhārāṇī may have different moods in different times so She Herself is not...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Loving – the mood of Her loving.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitam.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suvalitam naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam. What is that? Heart and halo: or nature and lustre. Bhāva means She Herself, Her existence, both bhāva and dyuti. Her very nature, and the dyuti, the out-coming lustre, the relative wave out-coming from Her nature. Nature or heart; what will be the most appropriate thing? Bhāva-dyuti-suvalitam. The mood may be a flickering thing, in different time different moods. But bhāva means Her real existence, Her nature. And halo, heart and halo, heart and nature may be used as synonymous, no?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: What about Her being?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Being.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Very existence.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Very existence. Satya. And what is out-coming, the fruiting, the foam. So ordinary people who are not connected with this sort of Gauḍīya ontology, it will be difficult for them to translate properly. “That won’t appeal to us, their translation.” That is the difficulty. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. All right, then I shall let you go now. Take something.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: The radiance of Her being.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, radiance, being and radiance.

[About thirty seconds of Bengali [?]]

“My friends, what is the acquaintance of your Guru, any writing or any life?

Nothing, and you say, ‘My Guru is a big fellow.’ What is this?” Ha, ha, ha, ha.

...

Garbhodakaśāyī, Kṣīrodakaśāyī, and one, the smaller, is a jīva daṇḍa, representing the jīva, the soul, who is taking that daṇḍa, accepting. So we should consider we should give divine respect to the daṇḍa. Is this the first time you come here, no?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: First time?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. I saw you speak once.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You saw me?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Once you spoke, that was during our festival.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where, at Māyāpur?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. Our Guru Mahārāja was there and you were speaking something. Only that time I had your darśana Prabhu. But Venkatta and myself were anxious to come to meet you for a long time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I'm known to him, though I can't see now clearly, only vague. Having conception for the faces is not sufficient to recognise you.

Who is in charge of the Vṛndāvana Gurukula now?

Devotees: Dhanudara.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A disciple of Swāmī Mahārāja, or a new Ācārya?

Venkatta: [Bharati Mahārāja] Swāmī Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dhanudara. I did not hear his name, or did not see him. You have collected Hindi?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. My Guru Mahārāja ordered me to learn Hindi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Putting Gītā in Hindi language, a gṛhastha, what is his name? Do you know? He came to see me.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Rajiva Gupta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rajiva Gupta, maybe.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: But he's from Delhi. He has done our Gītā into Hindi. His name is Rajiva Gupta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rajiva Gupta, he came here.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, yes. We met him just before coming here. He's a good friend of mine also. We told him we were coming to see you. He said, "I wish I can come."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's also your God-brother, Rajiva Gupta?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He did not receive initiation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No, not even one, Hari Nāma?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He did not receive Hari Nāma. But he considers that he received. He considers that, although he did not receive. He's very nice.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Vṛndāvana, have you come in connection with Oudh Bihārī [Lal] Kapoor?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Dr. Kapoor?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Professor Kapoor?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, yes, Oh yes, I know him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You know?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is he now?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's there still, he's in Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vṛndāvana?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was a man of Allahabad, and he was Professor to Agra College. He wrote; he got Doctorate writing on the philosophy of Śrī Caitanya Deva. And Professor [Nisikanta] Sanyal was one of the examiners. Professor Sanyal, the writer of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya in English. He was professor of history, good scholar, professor of Ravenshaw College, and head examiner of Patna University: Professor Sanyal. He was one of the examiners of Kapoor ji's doctorate.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I had great fortune I could stay in Vṛndāvana for about three or four years. At the beginning of that temple my Guru Mahārāja had made me a manager there, so I stayed there three or four years.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For long time you were there.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. I was very fortunate.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You were initiated what year?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: First initiation was nineteen seventy one, Hari Nāma initiation.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: In London, in seventy one. In seventy two I got sannyāsa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You come from England?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: New Zealand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: New Zealand.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: New Zealand, near Australia.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, New Zealand.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Below.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Newly discovered island. And France is trying atom bomb there, near New Zealand.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is it? Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. The whole world is fodder of atom bomb. At present the threatening of neutron bomb.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes, I heard about it also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is the difference between atom bomb and neutron bomb?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Neutron bomb will not blow the building. The neutron bomb will kill the people but it will not break the buildings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. That is something like death ray, only kills the life and not the structure. That is neutron bomb. The man will be killed, the house, building, everything will be there. The bed will be there, the box will be there, everything there. Only life gone and the body began to be rotten. Neutron bomb. Then who will be victorious he will come and enjoy all those things. He'll have to remove the dead bodies, and to fill up with his own men. Ha, ha, ha.

Action, reaction, the plane of exploitation. This is a suicidal civilisation. The whole civilisation is rotten to its bottom, exploitation. Exploiting the nature for the apparent good of the human society, but its incurring loan from the nature, and it must be paid back to the farthing, with interest. Because they do not believe this so they won't be able to have any French leave. They will have to clear the debt. The nature is there, and with the computer calculation. So this civilisation is no civilisation: anti civilisation. The whole thing is a rotten one, a camouflage, a treachery, treachery to the soul world, to the living world. The whole civilisation is treachery, suicidal treachery.

Plain living, high thinking, to make the best of a bad bargain: that should be the policy. Anyhow, we have already come here, we are to utilise our time and energy in such a way that with least exploitation we can get out of this world, least exploitation. And of course another real solution has been given in Bhagavad-gītā.

yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, loka 'yaṁ karma-bandhanaḥ [tad-artham karma kaunteya, mukta-saṅgaḥ samācara] [“Selfless duty performed as an offering to the Supreme Lord is called yajñā, or sacrifice. O Arjuna, all action performed for any other purpose is the cause of bondage in this world of repeated birth and death.

Therefore, remaining unattached to the fruits of action, perform all your duties in the spirit of such sacrifice. Such action is the means of entering the path of devotion, and with the awakening of true perception of the Lord, it will enable you to attain to pure, unalloyed devotion, free from all material qualities (nirguṇa-bhakti).”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9]

The karma that is your energising here, that will surely bind you down with the environment. But only if you tackle it in some other particular way then you may be relieved of that; yajñārthāt, if you do it in the spirit of yajñā. Yajñā means sacrifice. What sort of sacrifice? Not sacrifice for the country, or for your own, for society, not that.

“For nothing less than the Infinite that is Myself.”

Viṣṇu, yajño vai viṣṇu. Yajñeśvara is Hari Who is the Absolute owner of everything. Only connect Him and there is proper connection, not only imaginary connection. Real connection you must have with Him then whatever you do it won't bind you down with any result whatsoever. Even so, hatvāpi sa imāṁ lokān, na hanti na nibadhyate.

[yasya nāhaṅkṛto bhāvo, buddhir yasya na lipyate hatvāpi sa imāṁ lokān, na hanti na nibadhyate]

[He who is free from egotism (arising from aversion to the Absolute), and whose intelligence is not implicated (in worldly activities) even if he kills every living being in the whole world, he does not kill at all, and neither does he suffer a murderer's consequences.]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.17]

There is a plane if we stand here and we can destroy the so many planets, brahmāṇḍas, we remain unaffected. Na hanti na nibadhyate, he does not kill and he has got no reaction to suffer. Because a pure agent he's doing of the Absolute, pure agent of the Absolute he's doing.

When one has got his personal, or selfish ideas, thoughts, exhaustively, then if he works, where does it get his inspiration? If coming from the centre, and centre inspires him to activity, and he does. So whatever he does as cent per cent agent of the Absolute centre, so he will not have to undergo any result of his action, whatever nature it may be of. So, yajñārthāt karmaṇo 'nyatra, loko 'yaṁ karma-bandhanaḥ tad-artham karma kaunteya, mukta-saṅgaḥ samācara [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.9]

“You do, do it for Me.”

karmaṇy evādhikāras te, mā phaleṣu kadācana

[mā karma-phala-hetur bhūr, mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi]

[“I shall now describe niṣkāma karma-yoga, the path of selfless action. You have a right to perform your natural prescribed duties, but you are not entitled to any fruits of that action. You should neither act with desire to enjoy the fruits of your work, nor, as a result, should you be attached to neglecting your duties.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.47]

“You are created to work only, and you are not created to enjoy its fruit. Your constitutional position is such that you will work. You are potency. Your duty is to assert, to exercise your power. But the result is with Me.”

aham hi sarva-yajñānām, bhoktā ca prabhuḥ eva ca [na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

[“-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

“So don’t look at the result of any activity, only do everything as imposed on you, duty, with the sense of duty go on doing. And beware, you must not sit idle. That is your greatest enemy. Mā te saṅgo 'stv akarmaṇi. But I’m afraid that you may have some apathy to activity; then you are doomed. You have gone to the world of annihilation as renunciation, inconclusive and destruction, mā te saṅgo. You should work and for Me, that is your position and Mine. And don’t be afraid of that. Why? I am your friend. I am your guardian. I am your well-wisher. Everything is in My control. I am the enjoyer of everything. But you are My own, you are My friend, so you must not apprehend for your future prospect, in any way. It won’t be hampered. Rather it will be improved when it is in My... so no apprehension. Go on, work on My behalf and thereby you’ll be best benefited. If you adopt that policy you’ll be best benefited. In other words you’ll adapt intelligently utilise Me for your good. That is the best sort of intellect.”

Śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā, this is the extraordinary power of devotion, that devotion can, kṣetra-hari prema bhajana, devotion can force the Supreme Lord as a loving friend. Devotion can convert the Autocrat into a loving friend of everyone if he takes the path of devotion. The devotion has got so wonderful power. Śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā, kṣetra-hari prema bhajana. It can make Hari, the Absolute Good prema bhajana, to be very loving and affectionate to you, it can convert Hari through your – it can take and force Him to favour you, to make friendship with you, and to work in your favour. This is the capacity of devotion, svarūpa-śakti, prema. The highest stage of devotion: that is prema. The prema is so powerful, extraordinary power in Her hand that She can force the Autocrat to work on behalf of those of His beloved, the servant’s servitors. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Prema dhana, this is the natural fortune we have got, but if we march on to get master-ship over the world, the reaction demon will come and will break my neck, and drink the blood there. Ha, ha. And bhakti, she can give infinite at your hand, within your fist. Gaura Haribol.

Kṣetra-hari prema bhajana, Rūpa Goswāmī’s śloka from Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu.

kleśa-ghnī śubhadā mokṣa-, laghutā-kṛt sudurllabhā sāndrānandaviśeṣātmā, śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā

[“Uttamā-bhakti, the purest devotion, is the vanquisher of all sin and ignorance, and the bestower of all auspiciousness; liberation is belittled in the presence of such devotion, which is very rarely attained, the embodiment of the deepest ecstasy, and the attractor of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Himself.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrvva, 1.17]

The highest benefit that we get from bhakti is that she can draw, attract Kṛṣṇa, the Autocrat’s sweet will, and attract Him for our benefit. Śrī-kṛṣṇākarṣiṇī ca sā. That is her highest gift to us, bhakti; Rūpa Goswāmī says in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, The Science of Devotion.

In Bihar, you generally preach in Bihar?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Myself?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Or U.P., the whole of the Hindi knowing country?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Most of the Hindi speaking area I've been.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then what is your zone?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I've been to Rajasthan. First I was in Vṛndāvana; that includes Rajasthan, U.P., M.P., also Bihar. Now I've been also to Maharasthra. Like that. Nilācala I did not go yet. Punjarb I did not go. But I've been in India for eight years, but I could not spend much time in Navadvīpa. But now I'm very fortunate, very lucky, I can come here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course. Navadvīpa is considered by the high order devotees to be the highest place of theism of absolute love. Both Śrī Rādhikā and Govinda combined, and They're about to put Their dearest thing to the public. With this idea both the parties They have got Their the best wealth and They have come to distribute that for the public.

“Come this way. You will get the highest thing, what We taste Ourselves. And the same dish you can have. Oh people, you can have the taste of the same dish that We relish, the prema, prema of the highest order, prema and love, taste, raso vai saḥ.”

The Upaniṣads say, the rasa, or ānandam, or sundaram; that is controlling really the whole creation or non-creation. Everyone wants rasam, none can say, from the atheist to the highest order of theist, everyone wants rasa. But what is rasa proper? A man taking wine, he's also for rasa. A guṇḍā, a rowdy, he's also working for rasa. One is attacking another animal for rasa, satisfaction. But what is that rasa in its real form, its real status? Rasa, that scientific gradation takes us to mādhurya rasa. Śanta, dāsya, sākhyā, vātsalya, mādhurya. And does not stop there, and even approaches from mādhurya rasa to parakīya mādhurya, what is found only in Vṛndāvana. Parakīya, to make it very rare and risky. Parakīya is more intense than ordinary mādhurya rasa due to its peculiar position. It is very risky and rare, and at the cost of any other prospect of life, the name, fame, of the society, the affection of the near and dear; we risk anything and everything for particular rasa and that is parakīya. Of course it is in mādhurya plane but more intense and more tasteful.

And that peculiar thing has been given by Mahāprabhu Śrī Caitanyadeva to be the best attainment of our life, best attainment. That is very peculiar. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and other Purāṇas have given already some clue, but openly to us declared and more broadly by Mahāprabhu and His followers to be the highest. And the difficulty that crossing the moral rules; if we consider really the charge is on our side, not on the side of the Lord, because everything absolutely belongs to Him, and not to us. Some say this is a funny thing. We consider the parakīya that is a very filthy one, filthy thing. But if we can analyse its real characteristic then we'll be found that we are culprits. We go to claim that, 'This is mine. Kṛṣṇa is aggressing to take it, to snatch it from me.' But He's the real owner. He's stealing the...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any question?

Bharati Mahārāja: Mahārāja, Rūpa Goswāmī, he was the Ācārya of sambandha-jñāna or abhidheya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ācārya of abhidheya. Sambandha is Sanātana and prajojana is Raghunātha Dāsa and abhidheya is Rūpa Goswāmī, who is Ācārya. How to attain, how we can reach to the highest goal, the means to the end: that was mainly given by Rūpa Goswāmī. And what is the end; that was rather given by Dāsa Goswāmī, Raghunātha Dāsa. And what is the position, place and position and purpose of our life and our relation with the environment: that is given mainly by Sanātana Goswāmī. Sambandha, abhidheya, prajojana.

And Jīva Goswāmī has given us a protection from the public and from the scholar's side, to create some adjustment, how the scripture step by step takes us there. "What my Guru Rūpa Goswāmī has pronounced to be the highest thing, how the śāstra comes to prove that." To the scholarly people Jīva Goswāmī has given so many explanations. Śāstra and reason supplied to support this Gauḍīya siddhānta by Jīva Goswāmī: and Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa afterwards, Vedānta Ācārya, the author of Govinda-bhāṣya on Vedānta, Brahma-sūtra.

And parakīya rasa has been mostly dealt with by Rūpa Goswāmī. And Sanātana Goswāmī both viddhi – that is the scriptural law abiding devotion, as well as a tinge of anurāga – free love; that is given by Sanātana Goswāmī. And purely the free love as the way to attain the Absolute in its highest position; that has been shown and proved by Rūpa Goswāmī.

[“The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?”]

[Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

Rasa. In Christianity we are given father-hood of Godhead, but here we are given not only son-hood of Godhead but His fullness, consort-hood of Godhead. We are to realise that, because parents are also servants, a particular kind of servant in filial service, filial affection. That is really a service we can't ignore and we have no necessity to ignore. And the Lord must be in the centre, not in the circumference. “He's the Creator, He's the Father, He's above all. He's in the verge.” No. He's in the centre. He's always in the centre.

And our central thought is really in what is called here lust. Our centre of all our being is love and affection, not knowledge, neither energy. So, He must have His central position in the domain of love. From there He will control everything. The controlling office of the whole must be in the domain of love, not in power, neither in knowledge. We are to realise that. If we can realise that then we'll understand what the Gauḍīya Maṭh, what Mahāprabhu, what Bhāgavatam has given us, what sort of wealth given to us.

If we understand this jñāna karma, the energy and knowledge, they're of lower importance. They're rather a cover of real life, not a part of real life, this faculty of knowledge and energy that is rather a cover. And love is our real life, and these two they will be subservient to love and beauty. This is the situation of the world in reality. We are to understand that, then we'll understand what is devotion, what is bhakti. Otherwise we'll become sahajiyā – that is imitationist, we shall go on with a fashion, wearing this tilaka, the garb, and all these things. But if at heart we can really realise what is the position of real love. And this faculty of knowing things that is luxury, a fashion, which is impossible. The finite can never measure the Infinite, it is sheer folly, jñāna. And karma is an enemy, it is, any karma is digging your grave. The energy by which you want to thrive here, that is digging your grave, if it's not connected with the Absolute. And jñāna means a ludicrous thing. You finite, you want to get the Infinite in the fist; a ludicrous attempt. Only the method of love, through which the Infinite will be inclined to come to you by śaraṇāgati, and that is the only realistic attempt of our development. And all else is absurd and injurious; a madman's gesticulation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bharati Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the situation when there is pracāra without ācāra? What is that categorised as?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ācāra is necessary for the preacher only to help them to come to sympathise us according to their adhikāra; that is their position. To advanced persons ācāra may not be necessary. But to the juniors ācāra is necessary to show some external behaviour to attract them. That is necessary, only for the attraction of the public ācāra is necessary; for pracāra ācāra is necessary. Otherwise they will think that, 'They're all – according to their own whims they move, they have not got any secured or any controlled life. There may not be real truth, good,' so they will misunderstand.

Īśvarāṇām vachāḥ satyaṁ, tathāivacharitaṁ kvachit teṣāṁ yat svavacho yuktaṁ buddhimāṁs tat samācharet

[“The instructions of the great personages are always true, but their conduct and their practices may not always be useful to the beginners. So the sober person will accept those practices that are backed by his words, understanding that in his higher stage he may do something which may not be useful to those of a lower stage. He has such spiritual power that what may be seen as a defect in the beginner, cannot harm him in any way. Therefore the fair minded beginners will accept those practices which are in consonance with his instructions, as being useful to their progress.”] [Srimad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.31]

Īśvarāṇām vachāḥ satyaṁ, the leaders of the higher order, what they say that is true, vachāḥ satyaṁ. Tathāivacharitaṁ kvachit, but their conduct is not always the same, tathāivacharitaṁ kvachit, sometimes. Always try to follow what they do, their advice, but don't try to imitate their conduct, ācāra, always, charitaṁ kvachit, there sometimes according to their own advice. Teṣāṁ yat svavacho, the ācāra, the conduct which is one and the same as their advice, buddhimāṁs tat samācharet, an intelligent man will accept them only.

So ācāra, when he has realised the higher state he may not be very ardent to follow the conduct of the lower stage. But when he'll come to advise me, he will say what is necessary in my position. But he himself may not accept the same thing as his own conduct. He's above that. He's above that. He's finished that class, study of that class, and he's reading in a higher class. And when a student of that class comes he gives study of his level.

So Īśvarāṇām vachāḥ satyaṁ, their advice, because he knows that he's giving advice to a particular section, he will always give in a proper line, advice, vachāḥ satyaṁ. Tathāivacharitaṁ kvachit, but their own practice is not always with their advice. That they themselves may go to higher position, no necessity of that sort of practice, tathaivacharitaṁ kvachit.

Teṣāṁ yat svavacho, of the conduct which is corroborated by his advice.
Buddhimāṁs tat samācharet, an intelligent man will accept them, buddhimāṁs tat samācharet.

...be very eager to publish, circulate this book. So no translation of the local scholars is coming up to mark. If you please do it it will be better...
Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...and previously to start your English medium school here yourself?

Bharati Mahārāja: Yes. That was back in March. I was trying to find some way to stay here at that time, and so that was the only service I could think of offering. You had told me that the Gurukula was upa-sākha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha.

Bharati Mahārāja: So I dismissed the idea. So now I have one person from England, he has replaced me in Vṛndāvana. He has taken my place in the Gurukula. So now I have time to devote to the translation. And a few of the Ācāryas they're interested in the Caitanya-Bhagavāt, and other such works to be published. So Akṣayānanda Mahārāja and myself were talking to Bhakti Caru Mahārāja and his.....that there were some rooms next to your Maṭh here, which I think Acyutānanda Mahārāja used previously. There were rooms...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rooms?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, where our Guru Mahārāja was staying in this house nearby.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh yes, that house.

Bharati Mahārāja: So he said to inquire as to whether those rooms maybe still available or maybe they're being rented out to some other grhasthas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Caru Swāmī Mahārāja already proposed that we can preserve that house for our necessity whenever it will come. So we shall take that house...

Bharati Mahārāja: So Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī his Jīvani we have also completed in English.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja's Jīvani, Life.

Devotee: Yes.

Devotee: Paramahansa Gaura Kiśora.

Bharati Mahārāja: So with your blessings we would like to undergo this here in Navadvīpa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, these are very happy and fortunate undertakings.

Bharati Mahārāja: Actually the last four or five days we have been travelling.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From where, from Vṛndāvana, via?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Bombay.

Bharati Mahārāja: Bombay.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: From Vṛndāvana to Bombay.

Bharati Mahārāja: Then to Delhi. Then we went to Mathurā to see Nārāyaṇa Mahārāja. Then we went to Vṛndāvana. Then we went back to Delhi. Then we came here. Our minds have become a little disturbed. We could only think of your shelter. And then Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja read this letter to us last night which Śrīla Prabhupāda had written in nineteen sixty nine. So this reaffirmed in our minds that we should undergo this. But first we can do nothing without your blessings.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Yes. Swāmī Mahārāja had much affection for me. And he also told me that I have taken these gentlemen here and it will be your business to look after them. He told me also several times.

I see that my Guru Mahārāja wanted me to go to the west, but I could not go at that time somehow or other. But he's so merciful that he's taken you all to me here. He won't let me go off from his command. What he said, what he wanted to get from me, he must get it done by me, my Guru Mahārāja.

Yes, I'm living, old man, and gradually feeling that I am withdrawn from the other world. Memory and other capacities are vanishing day by day. But still as much as possible it shall be my very life to cultivate about these things, or to imbibe from our Guru Mahārāja and thought to be things of the highest type, to distribute it to the other fortunate and proper souls. That must be a fortune itself.

I asked Jayatīrtha Mahārāja to send Pradyumna's son to me if he can find him there, because it is that Pradyumna Swāmī, perhaps is a Swāmī or white clad?

Devotees: No, gṛhastha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gṛhastha, Pradyumna Dāsa Adhikārī, he gave me a paper where eighteen points of complaint against the GBC. He brought me a paper with eighteen points, "That these are our complaints against the present management." According to that, and he told that, "This is not only mine alone, but this is the complaint of many of us. And as we look up to you as well-wisher of our institution, I have come to you that please try to keep us within the fold, and ask them to be a little liberal and to accommodate all of us." By proper consideration to these eighteen points he gave to me.

And accordingly I wrote a letter to Tamal Kṛṣṇa to his zone in America.

But Tamal Kṛṣṇa replied that, “No. Works are going on very well, progressing with greater progression. And those that are complaining against their number is very few.”

Perhaps the letter may be with me.

“So I can’t go now, leaving the field. When I shall go to Navadvīpa during Mahāprabhu’s Birth Ceremony I shall meet you and explain the things, what are there.”

He came but he did not meet me at that time.

Then things went worse. Then I found a position – that very Tamal Kṛṣṇa and Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, and some other gentleman, they’re receiving some check from the controlling agency. Then they came here. And anyhow I asked the authority and they also came to me and I effected a compromise.

“The question of faith not of harsh administration, so if any difficulty arises you internally manage it, and don’t give it any publication, and don’t want them to stand as culprit just at the door of your court of justice. Then the whole thing will bring some reaction to the whole institution. Today this man is unfit, another will be tomorrow unfit, though the recognition of your Divine Master will have no value to the eye of the public, so minimise this private compromise.” And that was effected somehow. Tamal Kṛṣṇa, Haṁsadūta ...

Devotees: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja perhaps was not present at that time? Was he here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, but he was the third person to be dealt with by the GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jayatīrtha Mahārāja has also visited me later on. The complaint against him was that he's showing so many emotions and disturbing people; all these things. "That is it real śakti bhāva, all these things?"

No, can never be. This is rather the shadow, misguiding things that come in our mind.

Then Jayatīrtha Mahārāja listened to that. And at that time these gentlemen forced the role of sannyāsī on him. And he of course accepted. But he could not keep it.

When that question again came to me I told I can't say anything before I meet Jayatīrtha Mahārāja himself personally. Then I was told Jayatīrtha Mahārāja has come to Purī on pilgrimage.

And Jayapataka Mahārāja gave a long letter to me, 'that such are the conditions at present.'

Then I told that as a third man I shall approach the thing without any bias or prejudice from any party. So I want to get him here as an independent person, not on your behalf.

And that was done. Caru Swāmī brought him here. I wanted his wife also. She also came with her boy. Then I tried my best to convince them, once you have taken the position of sannyāsa – of course that is the highest and real position of the preacher – you should not go back.

kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya, / yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya.

[“Whether a person is a brāhmaṇa, a sannyāsī, or a śūdra, if he knows the science of Kṛṣṇa, he is to be accepted as Guru.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.127]

It is written in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, and your Guru Mahārāja, though you as a householder, still he gave you, empowered you to go on to make disciples, go on preaching in that way as an Ācārya position. But that was all right. But once when you have accepted the position of a sannyāsī, now if you go back it will be detrimental to the cause of the ISKCON. And that will bring a slap in the name of your great Guru Mahārāja. So you must come back as soon as possible without much advertisement.

And he told that, “He had some hesitation but he was forced to a certain extent to take sannyāsa.” But he had in mind that Guru Mahārāja gave him a particular position, and also the Ācārya-ship of a particular zone, “And now I have taken sannyāsa whether it will be helpful for me or not. So this hesitation made me weak and I again connected with my former wife.”

But anyhow I think whenever once accepted, right or wrong, you must not go back: to keep up the purity of the name of your great Guru Mahārāja, and also of the institution. Before it goes to wide publicity you accept that sannyāsa. You give a letter to your sannyāsa Guru Kīrtanānanda, “That I have again decided, I’m convinced by Śrīdhara Mahārāja, and I’m again taking the robe, as I think you will sanction it. In anticipation of your sanction I’m taking sannyāsa.” To keep impression I asked him to go just to Katwa, the place of sannyāsa of Mahāprabhu Himself, and there you take the sannyāsa, it will add to the gravity. It will be easy for you to keep up the sannyāsa. You will get inspiration and force from there, because Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa from here. You surround and you bow down there and accept the robe again. And you get some letter to your sannyāsa Guru to keep up the formality. It was done. Caru Swāmī and some others from this Maṭh accompanied him, and took sannyāsa satisfied.

And here, of course beforehand, I convinced his wife also. What is best, you consider. You are sacrificing for Kṛṣṇa, for your Guru. You have come out to sacrifice everything for Kṛṣṇa and that to get Him in return. You have come out for that?

“Oh yes.”

Before marriage you joined Swāmī Mahārāja’s Movement. “Yes.”

You want Kṛṣṇa and if you sacrifice the best thing then He must look after you. In this way she was convinced and through weeping and also smiling, with both contradictory emotions she gave consent.

The boy cried aloud, “My father is becoming sannyāsī again.”

No, no, he’s a general. The fight is going on with Kṛṣṇa consciousness and māyā and he’s a soldier. He has come as a general to fight. And when you’re grown up you will also be a soldier and perhaps a general also, to fight with māyā. We’re all soldiers of Kṛṣṇa to fight with māyā. We’re all out of home. No place of showing any weakness or affection against that. Anyhow the boy was encouraged. Mother also encouraged the boy. I gave her a garland for on the neck of the boy who was very much young. Anyhow, such things happened in such a way.

I gave a reply to the letter of Jayapataka Mahārāja. He wrote that under the instruction of Bhāvānanda Mahārāja I am writing to you. I told that I tried my best, and what I have done to my best understanding he has accepted sannyāsa again. And now the next thing depends on you to adjust with your administration; in this way.

But I am told that the lady went straight to London, and Jayatīrtha Mahārāja went to Hawaii, and from there to America perhaps, and told Rāmeśvara with my name...

Caru Swāmī Rāmeśvara Mahārāja is an intimate friend of Jayatīrtha Mahārāja. But I heard that Rāmeśvara Mahārāja, and again Jayapataka and Bhāvānanda came to me, “Jayatīrtha Mahārāja is preaching that, ‘I have taken sannyāsa from Śrīdhara Mahārāja. I don’t care much for this administration,’ and he told it to Rāmeśvara Mahārāja. And Rāmeśvara Mahārāja is giving vent to this feeling of him that, ‘he has taken.’

But no, of course materially he might have taken sannyāsa from me, because through my inspiration he was induced to take sannyāsa again. But formerly I asked him to get the permission of Kīrtanānanda, his former Gurudeva. So you do not make much of these material things, you try to give a colour of the formal things and try to hush up for the good name of the institution. Don’t make much of the formalities. If necessary I shall also request him, that don’t preach that I am your sannyāsa Guru. I helped you, but at the same time I told you repeatedly that you take permission from your previous sannyāsa Guru. So for the good of the good name of the institution you admit that. And this is the position now.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, before I left Los Angeles, Rāmeśvara Swāmī he gave me some questions that he wanted me to ask you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, one of the questions, he wanted to know that in your Maṭh who would be the next Ācārya? One of your younger God-brothers, or one of your own disciples?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Generally I think one of my disciples. That is the general case. But in special case the position may be taken by any God-brother. But in the general case the disciple. That is the order. But if such proper disciple not found in particular case then I or anyone may take either God-brother or disciple of any other God-brother, he may put in the chair. It's the quality we give real importance.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: How would they know to take that position? You would tell them, or they would have some realisation, or...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Your disciple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is up to me. And if possible before my passing away I shall give the name that he may do the work of an Ācārya after me, it may be.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Did Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura designate anyone as Ācārya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ācārya from whom?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta, before his leaving this world, does he, did he designate anyone as Ācārya?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Before, oh, no. His last words are there. He told, “Form a governing body and go on with propaganda.”

Then he asked one of his disciples whom we thought to be next to him in siddhānta, in the theological knowledge. And he asked, “Is he here?”

“Yes, he’s here; Vasudeva.”

He asked him, “That Rūpa, Raghunātha, the words and advices of Rūpa, Raghunātha may be continued. You are to look after.”

That was told in our presence to that gentleman who was – there were two main, one publication that is Harmonist and Gauḍīya, and the editors were Nisi Kanta Sanyal and Sundarānanda Vidyavinoda. And he was at the back of them, this Vasudeva Prabhu. And he was requested to see that the words of Rūpa, Raghunātha, their advices may not be stopped, “You are to look after that.”

Then he told, taking the name of Bharati Mahārāja, “The Bharati Mahārāja may look after the mission, look after this mission.”

But we did not take it that he’s an Ācārya, but that he may not create a parallel institution. We thought like that.

Then he told, “I am indebted to Professor Sanyal, Bhakti Sudarka Prabhu.”

Then he told, “Form a governing body, but Kuñja Bābu will manage as long as he lives.” That was one sentence in his last words. “Form a governing body, but Kuñja Bābu will manage,” latterly [Bhakti Vilās] Tīrtha Mahārāja, “manage as long as he lives.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Did that mean separately from the governing body?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He means that intelligence excels that of all; this was about him, he should be respected. We took it from this that Kuñja Bābu was managing during Prabhupāda’s lifetime, he was really managing the whole institution, so he should be respected. But he was a gr̥hastha and we were sannyāsīns. He had some drawback. He was educating his brother, educating his son. And he was building, he was a very poor man, and he was still in the service of the postal department, he’s building pukka house in his native place. So many complaints against him we heard. But he told that, “He should manage as long as he lives, and he should be respected.”

As he did not select anyone as his follower Ācārya, so there were differences of opinions amongst us. And there were many ambitious sannyāsīns, they were very eager to go on as Ācārya themselves. And this Kuñja Bābu management they’re in one party. Then a clash began, generally two parties, one accepting Vasudeva Prabhu as Ācārya, I was along with them. And another, those that wanted to be Ācārya themselves, and with Kuñja Bābu. There were three trustees, Kuñja Bābu, Paramānanda, and Vasudeva Prabhu, whom we wanted to make Ācārya. One trustee one side and two trustees another side. So there was a case in the high court, so we read the will, so many things happened. But afterwards we found some defect in Vasudeva Prabhu and we could not accept them any longer, and many of us came out. And after some days...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Raksaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...was requested to effect a compromise between the two contesting parties, and I did so successfully. The management was divided into two. Kuñja Bābu was pressing with Caitanya Maṭh as head, and another party had Bagh Bazaar as head. So many Maṭh's were, the sevā was divided, and things are going on. Now also some trouble.

In his last words Prabhupāda also told, “Love and rupture. There may come anything, but it must be for Kṛṣṇa. It does not matter whether it is love or rupture, but that must be for Kṛṣṇa.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So he knew, perhaps he knew.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. So when we went to the court the lawyers also sometimes told, “Being religious persons you have come to the court.”

I remember I told that pleader, that we are not sādhū of that order who by fear of māyā runs to the mountain and enters a particular cave and go on with meditation. But our Guru Mahārāja was a type, has created a type of sādhū who will fight with māyā. Wherever there’s the strong centre of māyā we shall attack and we must destroy that centre of māyā. That is our tact, totalitarian war we have begun with the illusory energy that has captivated so many souls. So we are not afraid of any law court or anything; everywhere that principle. There are so many political shades; they’re also fighting with each other, but you don’t see anything wrong there. But we also, we’re very realistic in our thought. We say not sādhū of that theoretical type. So many of my brothers they’re suffering with this misunderstanding and we must help them. And whatever trouble will come on our head we must take it. We do not care for any, whether it is quarrel, or it is any peace, or anything else even. Whatever is necessary to take on our head, for the service of Kṛṣṇa, for the service of Guru, to spread the real truth we must do, whatever may come. And according to our karma the environment is coming to us but we must not be a coward to fly away from the battle. If I’m sincere nothing can deceive me in the world. Na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati.

[pārtha naiveha nāmutra, vināśas tasya vidyate na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim tāta gacchati]

[“O Arjuna, son of Kuntī, the unsuccessful yogī does not suffer ruination either in this life or the next. He is not deprived of the pleasures of the heavenly planetary systems in this universe, nor is he denied the chance to personally see the Supersoul in the divine realm. This is so, O dear one, because a person who performs virtuous actions never becomes ill-fated.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 6.40]

Self help, if I really want to help me, none can deceive me. Only I can deceive myself, and none else. So if I’m sincere that I’m doing, I may be wrong, but still I must shake off the influence of that error if I’m sincere. Saroye gaura sikha bujare [?] Simplicity is never defeated. Whatever is coming we must fly away from that position and go on with all sincerity.

You see, when the Mohamedans attacked this Māyāpur, your Caitanya Chandrodaya Maṭh, so many people in the public, they with a loud voice created, “Oh. They are Vaiṣṇava? They have come from foreign lands to follow the advices of Śrī Caitanya Deva.”

*trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / [amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ]*

[“One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa.”] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

“What are they doing instead? They’re firing on the people at large, all these things.”

No. What they have done they have rightly done it. Why tr̥ṇād api sunīcena? Tr̥ṇād api sunīcena to whom? You are all madmen. Tr̥ṇād api sunīcena that must be to a standard society, to the Vaiṣṇava. All the general public, they are, we consider them to be mad, and so that tr̥ṇād api, the standard is not according to their choice. The standard is according to the normal persons, that is the Vaiṣṇavas. You are all abnormal thinkers. What do you know about the real standard, what is sunīc and what is sahiṣṇunā? To become sunīc, to become humble, to Guru, Vaiṣṇava, I cannot but oppose who is coming to attack my Gurudeva, my revered Deity. You are coming to attack and to damage my Guru, my Vaiṣṇava, my Deity, and I shall be tr̥ṇād api sunīcena to you or to my Deity? So that may be imitation of the sahajiyā, imitationist, tr̥ṇād api sunīcena. But tr̥ṇād api sunīcena is really that we must be humble, modest, to the fact, to the truth, and do accordingly. So it may lead to fight.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Some of our devotees feel that in a similar way we're in a similar situation as Gauḍīya Maṭh previously. And due to the activities and behaviour of Ācāryas they don't feel that they can preach to the public on their behalf.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You have come to fight as a soldier, to save your country, or whatever, your people, or your own honour. War, your environment does not depend on your whim. It will be; it will appear like anything. You are to face that. Whatever complex may be the war field, the battle field, as a soldier you are to approach them. Otherwise you have no real faith in your own cause. There is so much fight amongst us but we have not left the real field, preaching the creed of Mahāprabhu, in spite of all the differences.

When I came here first, leaving the main association of Prabhupāda, one gentleman, one engineer, he put a question to me.

“You call yourselves Vaiṣṇava, but you are quarrelling with each other, with your own persons whom you say are God-brothers, you are quarrelling with them. And a man was killed also when the local gundwallah they attacked your party, anyhow, one was killed. And you are murderer.”

In this way he attacked me.

I told him in the beginning that that is not murder. What is murder? What is himsā? And what is non himsā? Do you know it?

“Yes, we know.”

And have you gone through Bhagavad-gītā? One may kill the whole universe and he does not do anything. Hatvāpi sa imāṁ lokān na hanti na nibadhyate.

[yasya nāhaṅkṛto bhāvo, buddhir yasya na lipyate hatvāpi sa imāṁ lokān na hanti na nibadhyate]

[“He who is free from egotism (arising from aversion to the Absolute), and whose intelligence is not implicated (in worldly activities) even if he kills every living being in the whole world, he does not kill at all, and neither does he suffer a murderer's consequences.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.17]

Can you understand this position? One can kill, destroy the whole universe, still he does not do anything. Do you know? How is it possible? And then don't pronounce high words that we are committing himsā and all these things.

And then, you see, you are worshipping the Deity Kali, and how is her posture? She's killing so many persons, and a garland of their heads on her neck, and you worship that Deity.

Or you worship Śiva, Mahādeva, and He's the destroyer of the world at the time of doom.

Then you may go to Rāmacandra. He also conducted war and killed so many. You may go to Lord Kṛṣṇa. He has also murdered many.

Then who is not a murderer, will you tell me?

Then Nārāyaṇa He also comes as incarnation and kills so many.

Then what is killing, what is not killing, you are to understand that. When I put so many examples, the Kali, the Śiva, the Rāma, the Kṛṣṇa, all killers, and we are worshipping one of Them. And then, you are worshipping a killer, and you're abusing me that I have killed. Then please try to understand what is killing and what is not killing. Then that man was silenced.

So there may be disturbances, rather, we may say it should be, disturbance must come, because my most beloved Guru has withdrawn from amongst us. And should we like to live peacefully? Such a great curse, as it may be felt, is thrown on my head. And should I like to live peacefully? In its retinue disturbance must come, and we are to undergo them, but we must remain sincere and we must face the difficulty in a proper way. That has come to train me to go on in the right direction. What I have received from him I understood in a rough estimation. Now the things have come in such an order that I'm to scrutinise me in my every position within me to analyse, ātma-samika, self analysis has begun. What I have got from him, I'm under trial. In what way have I received it, properly or only showily? The time has come to purify me, whether I'm a real student, a real disciple, or only in face, only in confession, I'm his disciple? What is the position of a real disciple? Should I leave the society then what is the depth of my creed? In what attitude have I accepted his teachings? How deep rooted is it in me? The fire is there, come to test me, that whether I can stand – my acceptance is real or it is a sham, imitation; this fire will prove that. So we must not be afraid of any adverse circumstances. Sukhinaḥ kṣatriyāḥ pārtha, labhante yuddham īdṛśam.

[yadṛccchayā copapannaṁ, svarga-dvāram apāvṛtam sukhinaḥ kṣatriyāḥ pārtha, labhante yuddham īdṛśam]

["O Pārtha, such a battle, present of its own accord like the open gates of heaven, can be gained only by the most fortunate warriors."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.32]

Kṛṣṇa says in Gītā, "The battle that you have faced, a happy kṣatriya he hankers after this."

So a bad workman quarrels with his tools. Stools. The karma, my karma has now come to face me, to surround me, and I can't avoid that. It is the result of my own karma. It comes from within me, and I must not quarrel, I do the proper dealing with that. We are to scrutinise what we thought we understood more accurately and find out within me, where am I? What is my real need? And how much my hankering is for the real thing? All these things will be expressed, has come into publicity now. So this is a real field of sādhana. My sādhana, my advancement needs all these difficulties. Otherwise we may not know what is progress, what is non progress. We can go on blindly, and we can patch up everything, and we can give it to others, and we may turn to be hypocrites. So to purify our own selves it is necessary.

And God has no error. He's commanding the environment. It is not my responsibility. The responsibility of the environment is not on me. My responsibility is only with me, and the environment is at the hands of the Lord. He has not done any wrong to me. If I'm sincere then I have to adjust myself with this environment and to put my real faith before Him. By my stand in any circumstances in the battle my patriotism will be examined, be put to test, whether I'm a real soldier or not. Anything may come, but I'm to face them, I'm not to forget my Lord, my Guru, my Gaurāṅga, Rādhā-Govinda, under any circumstances. Under any unfavourable circumstances I must stand with my head erect. 'Yes, I'm a servant of that clan, that sampradāya. Everyone may leave me. I shall stand single.' With this attitude we must go on, whatever may be the circumstances.

Then the recognition may come in my favour, "That yes, under such trying circumstances, he's there." They may be pleased with us. How much selfish, or that anartha, in what person, which is necessary to be eliminated, this mental, this karmana vasana, this karma, jñāna, anyābhilāṣa, how much it's mixed with the real faith? That must come out and that must be eliminated in different ways. So na hi kalyāṇa-kṛt kaścid, durgatim, if we want real good within us, none can hinder me. With this spirit we must move.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. What is what, we'll be able to understand, what is what.

Even Christ, He told, "One of you will help me to be caught." Judas was amongst the ten. "So amongst ten followers there is one who will in this night he will help to hand me over to the enemies." Even it may be possible. "Even the Peter, that you will also deny Me thrice before the cock crows."

"No, no, no. I can't neither."

No pride of a devotee the Lord tolerates: surrender, complete surrender.
“No. I’m Your firm servant.”

That ego also must not stand. The Peter, who is the leader, he was also exposed. So a devotee is only a tool in the hands of the Lord.

There is one story, a Nawab, he has advertised to recruit the sycophants. Sycophants you know? Previously in the court of the kings, some sycophants, whatever the Nawab will say he will give ditto to that, flatterer. He advertised, “I want some flatterers.” So many applications came. Then he had an interview, and he asked, putting questions to them. “You’ll be able to do your duty do you think properly?”

Then he says, “Yes, I shall do. I shall be able to do the duty.”

Then in this way he’s putting questions to different persons. And then to one man, “I think you won’t be able to do.”

All say the same, “No sir, I shall be able to do.”

Only one told, that when Nawab says, “You’ll be able to discharge the duty of a flatterer?”

“Yes, I shall do my lord.”

“I believe you won’t be able.” “I also believe like that.”

“No, no, no. You’ll be able. You’re the fittest.” “Yes, I’m the fittest.”

“No, no, I doubt.” “Yes, I also doubt.”

And those that told, “I will be able,” continuously, “No, I’ll be the fittest,” they were all dispersed, rejected.

So our soul must have such flexibility in the service of the Lord. No ego whatsoever, of course in the external sense. Then when we have our permanent ego within the soul entering that domain, that position is a separate thing. But of this material ego, that must be dissolved cent per cent. And that may have different type, different colour, but when put into the fire it will be burned into ashes.

Only when Arjuna, when Droṇācārya was the weapon master, āstra Guru, of the Pāṇḍavas, then one day while testing the progress of the disciples he put one show, one artificial bird on the top of a tree, and said to his disciples, asked his disciple to put an arrow into the eye of that artificial bird. One by one he's asking his disciples to come for the aim. Yudhiṣṭhira came.

"Fix yourself to hit that bird." "Yes."

"Are you ready?" "Yes."

"What do you see?" "I see the bird."

"Nothing else?" "Yes, I see the tree." "Nothing else?" "Yes, I see all."

"Go away."

Then another disciple: "Hit the bird. The eye of the bird should be marked by your arrow, fix and make your aim. What do you see?"

"The bird." "Nothing else?" "Yes the tree also." "Oh, go away."

Then Arjuna was taken in. "Prepare yourself."

"Yes my lord I have done." "Do you see the bird?" "Yes I see."

"The tree?" "No."

“The whole of the bird?” “No.”

“What do you see?” “Only the head.”

“The whole of the head?” “No.”

“What do you see?” “Only the eye.”

“You can see nothing?” “I can see nothing.”

“Yes my boy; put up the arrow.”

So we shall have that sort of aim in our life idea. Do or die. Whatever the circumstances may come to frighten me I won't be frightened. If my own, they seem to be enemy, does not matter. My own is only He. He cannot tolerate that any other will be a partner of Him. He's the Absolute. He's the Absolute owner of mine. He does not tolerate any partnership there.

In this way what – I'm what my spiritual conscience took me, or what I must follow that what I understand, my aspiration. Friends may be converted into foes, and foes may be converted into friends. But I must stick to my ideal. By His will, friends may turn into foes, and foes may turn into friends. But in my progress, some elimination and some new acceptance, it must be. If there is progress real, then some sort of elimination and some sort of newcomers. It must be. It can't be avoided, if I'm progressing. If I'm of a progressive nature then there must be elimination and must be new beginning, new friends. It can't be stopped, in our realisation.

When we begin our education in the school, or class, so many, all may not pass, they fall back. And we are to make new classmates. And again go up, new classmates, new classmates, and old classmates may fall back. It is quite natural. But it does not mean that we are envious of them. We're sympathetic; we shall try our best to help them. But still, it may happen that I can't help. But this is the nature and this cannot but be the nature.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya Dayal.

Is this to discourage you? That our friend may not remain friend all along, is it discouraging?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: This gives us life. We're getting new life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This is the truth in life and we cannot but face that.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: You're giving us life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But at the same time we must not be non sympathetic. Always we must be sympathetic to our friends, our environment. But we cannot ignore the fact that His, Lord's dispensation we can't avoid. We must take it on our head. His dispensation is above all. With this we are to march on: what to do.

And we cannot – a bad workman blames his tools. We cannot put blame on the circumstances or any one of us; in this way no complaint. It has come out of the development. It is necessary, it is necessary development, unfoldment, it has come, and we do accordingly, adjust accordingly, according to the new development we are to adjust. But we must be friendly to all, not animosity to anyone. That should be our attitude, sympathetic, that of sympathetic, not of apathetic.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari.

The creed of love, so no apathy has any room. Sympathy for all, and sometimes sympathy, love, produces cruelty. When our guardian comes to control, to rebuke us, that is also a product of love, and not of jealousy or anything else. When parents, our mother, our well-wisher comes to chastise us that is the outcome of affection, not always of himsā.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Is there any mistake that one can make that can't be rectified in this life?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, yes. If you say that in different planes of life mistakes are committed. In karma-kāṇḍa the prāyaścitta is there. This was put by Parīkṣit Mahārāja to Śukadeva and he's answering, in that Ajāmila's case. Then that Ajāmila's question came here, incident. Prāyaścitta, that he has injured a person, suppose he has killed a cow, and some penances are there. That is he should feed other cows, or feed some brāhmaṇas, this and that, to create some good reaction which may meet that bad reaction and minimise it. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Some bad wave has been created, then again to create some good wave so that this wave may...

Bharati Mahārāja: Equalise.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...embrace that and finish it. That is karma-kāṇḍa, prāyaścitta. Then a question was raised against it. Once I had done something wrong. I made something, some antidote; I'd taken some poison and then again some medicine. But the tendency to commit that offence again is not removed, so this penance is ultimately nothing. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prāyaścittam atho 'pārthaṁ, manye kuñjara-śaucavat. [kvacin nivarttate 'bhadraṁ, kvacic carati tat punaḥ prāyaścittam atho 'pārthaṁ, manye kuñjara-śaucavat]

[“Sometimes a person refrains from sin, but in time he again commits the same kind of sin. Therefore, I consider atonement (in the line of karma-kāṇḍa, or in the calculation of worldly deeds) to be as futile as an elephants bath. (The elephant is habituated to immediately rolling about in the dust after taking a dip in the river).”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.1.10]

An elephant is given a good bath, his body is purified. Then whenever, as soon as he comes out of the tank he's taking dust and throwing over his body, kuñjara-śaucavat, the bathing of the elephants like that. Done something wrong, made some penance, that is removed, and again committing the same thing, again committing the same thing. So this sort of penance has got no meaning, prāyaścittam atho 'pārthaṁ, manye kuñjara-śaucavat.

Then Śukadeva Goswāmī told, “This is karma-kāṇḍa prāyaścitta, and there is jñāna-kāṇḍa prāyaścitta. What is that? Tyāgena satya-śaucābhyāṁ, yamena niyamena vā, aghaṁ mahad api, veṇu-gulmam ivānalaḥ.

[tapasā brahmacaryyeṇa, śamena ca damena ca tyāgena satya-śaucābhyāṁ, yamena niyamena vā deha-vāg-buddhijaṁ dhīrā, dharmmajñāḥ śraddhayānvitāḥ kṣipanty aghaṁ mahad api, veṇu-gulmam ivānalaḥ]

[“Austerity or one-pointed attention, exclusive celibacy, subjugation of the internal and external senses, charity, truthful speech, cleanliness, sensual discipline (yama) headed by non violence, mental regulation (niyama) headed by regular utterance or concentration on mantras

- by the strength of such practices, faithful liberationists (jñānīs) who know the mysteries of religion drive away even the most grievous sins committed in thought, word, or deed, as bamboo clusters are destroyed by fire.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.1.13-14]

This is compared to hāsthī-snāna, the bathing of the elephant, useless, futile; this karma prāyaścitta. Then jñāna prāyaścitta: by penances, by repentance, by taking the vow, and all these mental adjustments, readjustments, so that the tendency within to do the same mischief may be removed. And the example was given as a veṇu-gulma, the cluster of bamboos. The veṇu-gulmam ivānalaḥ, when in a bamboo cluster, if we put fire into that the whole shrubs are cleared. It is like that jñāna prāyaścitta. But Parīkṣit Mahārāja thought that again when the rainy season will come those – now it is all cleared, all put to ashes, but again it will come up because the root is under the earth. Then Śukadeva Goswāmī came with a third class of prāyaścittam reaction.

kecit kevalayā bhaktyā, vāsudeva-parāyaṇāḥ aghaṁ dhunvanti kārtsnyena, nīhāram iva bhāskaraḥ

[“Only a rare person who has adopted complete, unalloyed devotional service to Kṛṣṇa can uproot the weeds of sinful actions with no possibility that they will revive. He can do this simply by discharging devotional service, just as the sun can immediately dissipate fog by its rays.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 6.1.15]

There is another section, very rarely to be found, they do, clear all the reactions, results of their misdeeds only by taking refuge of Vāsudeva, nīhāram iva bhāskaraḥ. And the example he gave, when the sun rises, all the drops of dew vanish, just like that. When Vāsudeva, the God consciousness, the consciousness of Vāsudeva arises in our mind, all sinful tendencies are automatically removed, and never to return again. As long as the sun is there no drop of dew can come. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So your question is, how to clear off our misdeeds, our past misdeeds, how to? Was that your question? If I have done something wrong, now how to make them removed, is that your question?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well I was thinking more specifically that on the devotional path – like before, you were saying that we have to go ahead according to our sincerity. But we may make mistake, we may be right, we may be wrong. So what I was saying, if you're wrong...

[Bharati Mahārāja and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja talk in Bengali for about thirty five seconds]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When I'm going, I'm making progress, I may commit some mistakes, but how in my future life I can avoid those mistakes – is it?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or I can do anything which can remove, which can purify me from the wrongs of those mistakes, is it, no?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Or at least to proceed correctly. On the basis of your sincerity you went on and you made some mistakes. Now you want to get back on the right...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, that is a very broad question, and that question, whether it will help you or not I don't know. The finite is going to meet the Infinite, and commitment of error it is its nature. So the real thing is this. As much as he'll be able to make progress really, he'll think that he's committing more and more offences. You see, purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha, jagāi mādhai haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha.

[jagāi mādhai haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha, purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha mora nāma śune yei tāra puṇya kṣaya, mora nāma laya yei tāra pāpa haya]

[Kṛṣṇadāsa Kavirāja Goswāmī says: “I am worse than a worm in stool. When Jagāi and Mādhai came in the relativity of Mahāprabhu they were considered to be the worst sinners, but I am worse than them. My sins are so dirty no one can even dream such things. I am such a great sinner that whoever will hear about me, dirt and sin will enter him through his coming in contact with my name. Sin will enter one who once hears my name, and his good qualities will vanish.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādī-līlā, 5.205-6]

“Whatever, I can't do it well. I'm not up to standard.” You see, this is the very nature of the negative thing, to attain that, that is our progress, that stage, to be always careful. “To do everything, I can't do anything. I must have offended. This is not perfect.” The progress will be in that line. And that is the nature of the negative substance, always faulty, aparādha. “I'm unfit.”

Rādhārāṇī Herself says, “I'm unfit to do any service to Kṛṣṇa. It is His grace that He accepts it, but I'm unfit.”

That is the very nature, but that must be sincere, not imitation. Imitation is our enemy.

In Purī I met an experienced headmaster, one Paraśurāma Patanaya, touching with Brahmo religion, Rabindranatha etc. He came to us, myself, Bon Mahārāja, and Mādhava Mahārāja, and others. “Can you get God? Is it possible that one can get, one can see God?”

Yes, it is possible. So we are out to find out God, to see Him. Our own dress: that is the evidence.

“Yes, I want to see God. How? What qualification is necessary to see God? Say to me.

I’m ready to do that, whatever is necessary.”

We told śaraṇāgati. I told the śaraṇāgati, that is, by that qualification we can see You, we can get Godhead.

“Yes, I’m śaraṇāgata. You take the test. There’s the ocean, and if you ask me to jump into the ocean I’ll do that. But if you give me God I’m ready for that. Whatever you say I shall do that. I’m śaraṇāgata.”

It was I that told him, what you say that’s just the opposite to śaraṇāgati. One who’s approaching to śaraṇāgati he will feel from his heart, core of his heart, that I can’t become śaraṇāgata, I can’t become. And you say, “I’m ready,” that is just the opposite.

So this is so, a very hard nut to break. Progress means to feel that I’m nothing. I’m nothing. He’s all in all. My Guru is so great, Vaiṣṇavas are so great, but I am the most unfortunate, most tiny person. I’ve no qualification. We are told that that is the sign of progress towards that land. But there is one thing, ācārya-abhimāna, this is all negative, real, but a negative posing. But when any attack will come to my Guru, to the Lord, furiously...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...from somewhere else, such abhimāna, such ego will appear. But ordinary, that is the negative; that is ācārya-abhimāna. In my Guru Mahārāja's, in Prabhupāda's words, that is pralāpa. Pralāpa means delirium. This is like a delirious position. But a healthy position is that I have nothing, I am none. But some delirium will spring up when such opposition will come.

Mahāprabhu says He's unknowing also: "Sanātana, I feel that Kṛṣṇa is passing through Me to grace you. What I say, this is My pralāpa. I'm talking, expressing delirium. It is not known to Me. But at the same time I can feel from the inner-most of My heart that Kṛṣṇa is going to grace you through Me, through My advice, My words. So much I can feel, but I'm speaking in a delirium. I don't understand all these things."

Our Guru Mahārāja also told once, "This is my pralāpita vakra. When I think that 'I'm in a position, I can do this, that, I am something', that is a concocted position, not a real one. Really, the Guru, 'I am servant of all my disciples.' That is the attitude of Guru, they're servants. 'You say a flower is being offered to the feet of the Lord, just as the flower we take on the head. So many living souls they have been offered by the process of dīkṣā to the Lord, and they're all my Guru, my respected things. I can't take them as holding a lower position.’ This is the real angle of vision of the Ācārya. ‘What I have offered to the Lord, to Kṛṣṇa, they’re things of my respect and worship.’

But, ācārya-abhimāna, ‘No, I am their master. I shall teach them.’ This is a sham ego, this is. What the Guru says, chastises his disciples, controls, all normal, ācārya-abhimāna, a posing given by the Lord for the time being, ‘Be a master and control them, whip them, or abuse them.’ This is a posing, this is temporary, put to a devotee to take the position of an Ācārya. But in his real position, in his intrinsic position he says that, ‘I am most insignificant, meanest of the mean.’ But when the Lord wishes to get some service of the Ācārya then He inspires him for the time being with that sort of ego, ‘And you control them. You are big and they are low and you must look after them, their welfare.’ That sort of ego has been given to a particular devotee and then he becomes Ācārya. That is a foreign thing, ācārya-abhimāna is a foreign thing. That is not innate. But that sort when that is got by inspiration so he does not commit anything wrong there, because it comes from the Lord direct. So hatvāpi sa imāḥ lokān na hanti na nibadhyate:

[yasya nāhaṅkṛto bhāvo, buddhir yasya na lipyate hatvāpi sa imāḥ lokān na hanti na nibadhyate]

[He who is free from egotism (arising from aversion to the Absolute), and whose intelligence is not implicated (in worldly activities) even if he kills every living being in the whole world, he does not kill at all, and neither does he suffer a murderer’s consequences.]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.17]

If he kills the whole universe he does not kill anything. So all this abusing, controlling, chastising, he's not the recipient. It is the Lord's special will has done this; these are the things.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi Caitanya.

[Bharati Mahārāja and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja speak in Bengali for about one minute]

Bharati Mahārāja: Mahārāja, maybe you can speak English because Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja he's recording.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, English. Some fifty years back perhaps when Prabhupāda had a tour through Vṛndāvana, coming back he stroked his forehead by the palm. "I could not see a real Vaiṣṇava in Vṛndāvana Dhāma. It is my misfortune." In this way he pressed his palm on the forehead. That is the sign of disappointment, despair.

Again when, [nineteen] thirty-three, he continued the Braja-maṇḍala parikramā, at that time in his weekly paper he wrote that, "No real Vaiṣṇava in Vṛndāvana. And who is supposed to be the leader of all those sahajiyās in Vṛndāvana, he may be considered to be a kaniṣṭha-adhikārī." That Ramakrishna Dāsa Bābājī, who was at that time considered by them to be Siddha Bābājī Mahārāja. And Prabhupāda told that he's only kaniṣṭha-adhikārī, a lowest division Vaiṣṇava. He was a brāhmaṇa, he had austerity, a spotless character, well-read in the Vaiṣṇava śāstra, but he was considered by Prabhupāda only the third class devotee, that Ramakrishna Dāsa Bābājī. Who was considered at the time in the whole of Braja-maṇḍala to be siddha-mahātmā.

Once I, coming from Bombay via Vṛndāvana, stopped in Vṛndāvana for some time, for a few days. That was in the summer, Nṛsimha-caturdasi day. I went to visit that Ramakrishna Dāsa Bābājī, that the whole Braja-maṇḍala thinks him to be siddha bābājī and our Guru Mahārāja considers him of the third order. I went to trace the difference, what is he? Two or three days continuously I went in the afternoon to his quarters. Before him, two or three disciples perhaps, reading Bhagavāt, and he's giving advice, explanations, now and then. I am looking at him and also thinking of my Guru Mahārāja, Prabhupāda. I thought that he's a man.

In the meantime I heard one of his disciples told there was another bābājī of reputation, Pran Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī. Then one told that, "Pran Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī was saying that I have completed my fiftieth, some years in Vṛndāvana."

Then that is deriding his position and that, Ramakrishna Dāsa Bābājī could not tolerate, perhaps. He remarked, "Oh, he came here when he was fifty-five. Before that he was a gr̥hastha. And now his age maybe such and such, and have lived here a long time. But I came here when I was fifteen years of age and I am staying here so long."

I found as if he could not tolerate the fame of the other bābājī.

Bharati Mahārāja: What was the other bābājī's name?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pran Kṛṣṇa Dāsa Bābājī. They've all gone now.

Then I sometimes put my attention on him and to think of my Guru

Mahārāja. "What is he and who is he?" I came with conclusion that this gentleman is trying hard to attain a particular thing. With much great austerity and abstention, strictly following the scriptural rules, the practices as Rūpa and Sanātana inaugurated. He's trying hard to go on in that way. And when I looked at our Guru Mahārāja I came to the conclusion he is a resident of that land and come down here to give something to the world. That was my conclusion. And from here in an ascending method he's trying his best to go up. And he has come down to fulfil some order, that was his own thing he has come to give to the world. And this gentleman is trying his utmost to achieve, finish, a previously chalked out path, trying to get the thing.

He did not recognise this thread ceremony to anyone and everyone which was inaugurated by Guru Mahārāja. Guru Mahārāja wanted to create Vaiṣṇava, daiva-varnāśrama, thereby to help both the parties. The society at large they should not think that a true Vaiṣṇava is below brāhmaṇa standard. And those that will come to be Vaiṣṇava they must think that they're crossing the stage of brāhmaṇaism and then going to be Vaiṣṇava. This gulf of the middle stage: that was supplied by Guru Mahārāja. A Vaiṣṇava is always above brāhmaṇa. So, the sahajiyā, they have to think that they're above brāhmaṇa, such abhimāna, such impression they must have. A Vaiṣṇava is not below brāhmaṇa. And the society will also begin to think the Vaiṣṇava is always above brāhmaṇa. Viṣṇu-jñāna is always above brahma-jñāna. Brahma is the last position of this world, and Viṣṇu, His place is not below Brahma, sattva-guṇa, but nirguṇa, guṇātīta, consider themselves above Brahmaloḥa and above brāhmaṇa. These things our Guru Mahārāja wanted to preach, both amongst the Vaiṣṇavas as well as the public.

brāhmaṇānām sahasrebhyaḥ satra-yājī viśiṣyate satra-yāji-sahasrebhyaḥ sarvva-vedānta-pāragah sarvva-vedānta-vit-koṭi yā viṣṇubhakto viśiṣyate vaiṣṇavānām sahasrebhyaḥ ekāntyeko viśiṣyate

["Among many thousands of brāhmaṇas, a yajñika brāhmaṇa is best. Among thousands of yajñika brāhmaṇas, one who fully knows Vedānta is best. Among millions of knowers of Vedānta, one who is a devotee of Viṣṇu is best. And among thousands of devotees of Viṣṇu, one who is an unalloyed Vaiṣṇava is best."] [Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, 10.117] & [Bhakti-Sandarbha, 117]

But those sahajiyā bābājīs they could not tolerate this idea, so they're hypocrites. They do not understand what is real Vaiṣṇava. That Ramakrishna Dāsa Bābājī who was considered to be the siddha-mahātmā, siddha-bābājī in the whole of Braja-maṇḍala, he ridiculed this idea. jenow deta hai sa koi [?]

He remarked about our Guru Mahārāja, jenow deta hai sa koi. He was born from raga putana. He came from raga putana brāhmaṇa family. He could not tolerate this idea that one who has come to enter into Vaiṣṇavism, whatever caste he may come out. "Before having Vaiṣṇava dīkṣā he must have that brāhmaṇa." So he could not tolerate that he was, to anyone he's conferring sacred thread and misusing the use of sacred thread, that was his complaint. So he could not understand the real purpose of what Vaiṣṇavism is.

But they were giving this kaupīna to anybody and everybody. Kaupīna: that is a higher emblem. That was given by Mahāprabhu to Sanātana Goswāmī and that is continued so far downward, kaupīna.

Then one of us put a question to a bona fide follower of that Ramakrishna Dāsa Bābājī, "Whether sacred thread is superior or kaupīna is superior? Kaupīna is compulsory to a bābājī, so whether kaupīna ceremony is superior or sacred thread ceremony?"

Then, he could not but express that kaupīna is higher.

"Then, when our Guru Mahārāja gives sacred thread to persons, you complain against, you raise complaint. But you are giving that kaupīna which is higher, you consider, to anyone and everyone. What is this?"

And they can't say anything.

"We consider that kaupīna giving, kaupīna ceremony is higher, and sacred thread ceremony is lower. So first sacred thread ceremony, then after that the kaupīna ceremony will come. That is the sign of the fifth rank. The sacred thread are the fourth rank - catuh-tarsana _____ sannyāsa. But anyhow brāhmaṇas the catuh-varna, and the fifth, higher varna, paramahamṣa. That is paramahamṣa means that kaupīna."

So, he could not tolerate that the real Vaiṣṇava is above a real brāhmaṇa.

Vaiṣṇava viṣṇu-jñāna, Viṣṇu means there is service. Brahma means withdrawal from this world, brahma-jñāna; one who has withdrawn from the charm of this mundane world and who is engaged in consideration of Brahma. But who is engaged in the service of Viṣṇu, who is above Brahma, his position is higher.

Sarvva-vedānta-vit-koṭi yā viṣṇubhaktō viśiṣyate [Hari-Bhakti-Vilāsa, 10.117] A vedānta-vit may be considered to be a brāhmaṇa but Vaiṣṇava is superior.

In the whole of Vraja-maṇḍala such conception was absent, and Prabhupāda could not recognise them as Vaiṣṇava proper. This is the conception of Gauḍīya School, the speciality. They have imitated the dress of a Vaiṣṇava paramahamṣa as Rūpa and Sanātana etc, imitated, but they do not realise the real purpose of the principle of Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇava.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

So, the form does not give us Vaiṣṇavism but the real material which is necessary, we must have to acquire that. What is Vaiṣṇavism proper we are to understand and we are to acquire it. And we must have this audacity that these brāhmaṇas as created by Prabhupāda, they consider themselves to be servants of the real Vaiṣṇava. That is fourth āśrama, and that is fifth, paramahansa. Vaiṣṇava means always paramahansa.

I told one of his bona fide followers of Ramakrishna Dāsa Bābājī, who was considered to be the siddha-mahātmā, "That we consider ourselves as sannyāsīns, brāhmaṇas, ourselves to be the servants of the real Vaiṣṇava, or the real bābājī."

He was very much pleased.

Then I told, "At the same time we don't consider you to be the fifth class bābājī." Then, "Oh, this is atheism."

Again, "No, this is theism proper."

So that is the position of the bābājī class and the Gauḍīya Maṭh claim. The Vaiṣṇava is always above brāhmaṇa. And they are afraid of the brāhmaṇas, the goswāmīns, the gr̥hastha goswāmīns, the brāhmaṇas, general brāhmaṇas. Because we find in the writings of [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu:

gurau goṣṭhe goṣṭhālayiṣu sujane bhūsuragane [svamantre śrī-nāmni vraja-nava-yuva-dvandva-śaraṇe sadā dambhaṁ hitvā kuru ratim apūrvām atitarā

maye svāntarbhṛtāś caṭubhir abhiyāce dhṛta-padaḥ]

["O mind - my brother! I fall at your feet and implore you: 'Give up all pride and always taste ecstatic love while remembering the divine guide, the holy abode of Vṛndāvana, the cowherds and milkmaids of Vraja, the loving devotees of the Supreme Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the gods on earth or pure brāhmaṇas, the Gāyatrī mantra, the holy Names of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and the divine youthful couple of Vraja, Śrī Śrī Rādhā-Govindasundara."]

[Śrī Śrī Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, 3.23]

"I offer my obeisances to all these, bhūsuragane means brāhmaṇa and sujane means Vaiṣṇava." Dāsa Goswāmī offers his obeisances to all. But from the position of a paramahansa he says: yat kinca tena guna mukti gatam kam gosthi samastam gitam [?]

"I want to confer my obeisance to all, even the insects, the birds, the beasts, shrubs, everything in this world."

So in that spirit he offered his obeisance to the bhūsuragane, the brāhmaṇas. That does not mean that bhūsurā, ordinary brāhmaṇa is superior to Dāsa Goswāmī, to a Vaiṣṇava proper. The Vaiṣṇava is always nirguṇa, and brāhmaṇa is just in the verge of the saguṇa and the nirguṇa world. This is his location. But the substantial difference between the Gauḍīya Maṭh and the Bābājī class. They're fictitious, their conception of Vaiṣṇavism is a fictitious one, not nirguṇa proper, because they're afraid of locating the position of a Vaiṣṇava, they're afraid to put it above brāhmaṇism. That is their weakness, and there is the difference, so we do not have any respect for them. That is a hypocritical, imaginative bhajana, not real.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So after Gaura Kiśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, practically there may not be any proper bābājīs.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Proper bābājīs, and there was one Varṇśī Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja, how, by the dint of their previous life they were real Vaiṣṇava.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So your Guru Mahārāja, in the beginning he was chanting for some time three lākhs daily...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Three lākhs. And sometimes we are told in one month he finished crores, hundred lākhs in a month, he did so in his life previous to his preaching inspiration. First he had reluctance to come into the public life, that preaching life. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura wanted to entrust him with Yoga-Piṭha Mandeer service, but he hesitated, our Guru Mahārāja.

Then Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura gave him impression, "Then what do you know, want? Do you feel the responsibility of the service of Mahāprabhu that is a burden? Then do you like to be a nirviśeṣa-vādī? That you want this mukti of their conception, you consider the service to be a disturbing thing, and go on with your bhajana?"

Then that put our Guru Mahārāja in a hesitating mood, and then he was thinking what to do, how to begin the life of preaching, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura wanted him to do so. At that time, suddenly carried by the wind, a part of the book of Caitanya-caritāmṛta, a leaf, came to him. And he found there Mahāprabhu is asking Sanātana Goswāmī, "Please do these four-fold services for the society." Lupta-tīrtha-uddhāra, [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.80] sadacar govardhana [?] Then?

Bharati Maharaja: Bhakti śāstra pracār, vighraha pūjā, pratistha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then Guru Mahārāja took it that this is the will of the Divine. "I shall have to take up these services." And he was thinking to begin such life.

At that time Gaura Kīśora Dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja passed away. And then Kuñja Bābu, later on [Śrīpād Bhakti Vilās] Tīrtha Mahārāja, he met him. And he could recognise that he will be able to help him a great deal. Guru Mahārāja's nature was that of a philosopher, not a mixing temperament with the public. But Kuñja Bābu supplied that. He could mix with the public and anyhow he could bring persons to Prabhupāda and Prabhupāda could speak about śāstra. So this combination gradually grew this Gauḍīya Mission. The material help of Kuñja Bābu and the spiritual, the father and mother of the Mission, the core founders of the Gauḍīya Maṭh, the practical material side service that was done by Kuñja Bābu, and the spiritual service.

Prabhupāda wanted one, once he told in Benares, I heard it direct from his lips. "I want only good audience. And Kuñja Bābu has done that best of the lot." In other words, "Amongst all my disciples Kuñja Bābu has served me best by taking near me a good audience. I only want a good audience, proper audience, I want nothing else in this world. And in that direction Kuñja Bābu has helped me greatly." I heard with my own ears in Benares, from his mouth.

That is the difference between the sahajiyās and the Gauḍīya Vaiṣṇavas, that Vaiṣṇavism is nirguṇa and Brahmanism is in the last plane of saguṇa world. Brahma is the verge of saguṇa, and the basis of nirguṇa, and the nirguṇa, from Brahma the nirguṇa world begins. That is the world of service, the world of dedication. And Brahma is:

*brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā, na śocati na kāṅkṣati samaḥ sarveṣu
bhūteṣu, mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām*

["The spotlessly pure-hearted and self-satisfied soul who has attained to his conscious divine nature neither grieves nor craves for anything. Seeing all beings equally (in the conception of My supreme energy), he gradually achieves supreme devotion (prema-bhakti) unto Me."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54]

That is positive, Vaiṣṇava dharma is positive, and Brahman means withdrawal from the negative side, that is Brahmanism. Positive participation to the highest acme, that is Vaiṣṇavism. That Nārāyaṇa parsanaya [?] and Kṛṣṇa parsanaya [?] two-fold. The lower half Nārāyaṇa parsanaya, and the higher half Kṛṣṇa parsanaya. In Vraja the highest conception of service. The gap is filled up by Gauḍīya Maṭh.

Bharati Maharaja: Mahārāja, there was one story in the Sarasvatī-jayaśrī of some persons in Navadvīpa, smārta-brāhmaṇas, and they were trying to show defects in the Gauḍīya sampradāya by stating that the Gaura mantra was not bona fide. So Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura came with the Caitanya-Upaniṣad and defeated those persons. Do you know about that story?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caitanya-Upaniṣad?

Bharati Maharaja: Yes. Caitanya-Upaniṣad he used to show that the Gaura mantra is coming from the Vedas, the Atharva-Veda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That maybe, that is not a very known incident, not broadly known. But Caitanya-Upaniṣad, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura found it out from Atharva-Veda, a part of Atharva-Veda as Caitanya-Upaniṣad and it was published, that Caitanya-Upaniṣad. Have you seen it?

Bharati Maharaja: Yes. I have a copy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Caitanya-Upaniṣad, a part of Atharva-Veda. But that has not wide recognition amongst the public. And we find, in Bhakti-Ratnākara when Narottama Ṭhākura installed Śrī Vighraha sevā of Mahāprabhu in his own house in Kheturi, then he invited all the stalwarts of the then Vaiṣṇava sampradāya. And Śrīnivāsa Ācārya he was given the leading part, and he installed Gaura Mūrti and he worshipped Them.

And then he was asked that, "In what mantram you have worshipped this Gaura Mūrti here?"

He told that, "I have worshipped in Kṛṣṇa mantra inauguration, the bija-mantra, Kṛṣṇa bija-mantra I have worshipped," to his friend circle.

These are things which we understand with a little boldness, the value of mantram.

Once I was challenged by a friend of our own school, "That the names of the sannyāsīns and others are not found in previous śāstra."

I answered to them, "That what we find created by the present authentic Ācāryas, mantram, that created, that is given to us by the authentic Ācārya, that has got not less value than those that were previously seen by the Ṛṣis."

My point of argument was such that if we consider Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and the teachings of Mahāprabhu to be the full-fledged theism, and in Veda, Upaniṣad, we find the conception of the Absolute in a very crude form, undeveloped form, and the Ṛṣis are not creator, they're seer. Mantram is nityam, eternal. They pass through their mind so with the spiritual eye they could see, they are seer only, onlookers. "The mantram is passing through me." Just as Mahāprabhu told when teaching Sanātana, drusta [?] not srusta [?]. The Ṛṣis are not srusta mantram but drusta. Drusta means it is eternal, it is from the eternal world, it is coming down here and they're the first onlookers. So it comes from them, Ṛṣis.

And the undeveloped stage of theism those Ṛṣis they are seer and they are supposed to be the creator, and now also in the case of full-fledged theism who can really understand the higher dignity of this full-fledged theism? What mantram comes from them is not of less importance. These persons are more than Ṛṣis. Am I clear?

Bharati Maharaja: The Ṛṣis are drusta [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suppose something has come from Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, or Prabhupāda, or some such respected Vaiṣṇava Ācārya, they have got inspiration of giving that sort of thing to the world for the propaganda. So it has got its value. Not only it is not unreal but a greater value. Because (ordinary she?) they're appreciator of crude conception of theism, that is conception of Brahma, Paramātmā. And Bhagavān and Kṛṣṇa, the highest form of development of theism, and who can conceive Him, recognise Him, understand that that is the highest conception of theism, so any mantram or anything like that, if inspiration is coming through there, that is more valuable. That has got more authenticity. Otherwise what are they? They are worshippers, they are preachers, they are appreciators, they have devoted them to the highest cause, they have got no foundation, no particular position in the plane that he can feel things of the highest order within their heart and give it out to the public.

So any bona fide devotee of Mahāprabhu, if he thinks in his heart that, "This sort of thing, this sort of mantram, and other things that are necessary for Gaura līlā," and he has expressed that, then that is more valuable than ordinary śāstra, Veda, Upaniṣad, etc.,. That is my conviction. Otherwise we can't say that this is full-fledged theism, this is highest form of theism, and those that can appreciate this highest form of theism their position is nothing? Their position is not serious? So our conviction in the highest form of theism, that is to be doubted if we could not give such position to the espouser of the highest form of theism, if we shrink to give that sort of respectable position to the present Ācārya.

Sanātana Goswāmī he says that, "When writing this Bṛhat-Bhāgavatāmṛta, someone is forcing me to write this. It is not I who is writing. I have no audacity, such audacity that I can enter into the harem of Kṛṣṇa and I can compare - Rukmiṇī's such, Satyabhāma is such and such. What audacity have I got to deal with them? But someone is forcing me to write."

Kavirāja Goswāmī says this, ekam sada kayam maya madan mohan [?]

"It is true, cent per cent true." So the present Ācāryas they're not of less position than the former Ṛṣis, but they have got greater position. And they have to give to the public to deal with higher conceptions of theism. So they're Ācāryas of higher order, the present, though modern, we may think them to be modern, but at the same time if we think what Mahāprabhu gave, what Bhāgavatam has given, that is the developed condition of theism, than given by Upaniṣad, Veda, in the previous limited age. If we really realise this then we must give the position of the propounders, the Ācāryas of the full-fledged theism to that importance. Otherwise we are all hypocrites...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

[Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja and Bhakti Caru Swāmī talk in Bengali and English for about six minutes but almost inaudible by a loud kīrtana downstairs]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Of course, everything should be used according to the necessity of the service, not for personal account. He has chastised many for such superfluous luxury. Ha, ha, ha, at the same time he asked me twice to improve my dress, ha, ha. First told it, but I'm habituated to a very simple life. Second time again he told me, and with some reason. "That if you do not improve your dress, then to whom you will speak, they will consider yourself to be a bogus, non important person.” In Bengali he told,

[About fifty five seconds spoken in Bengali]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. In Bombay, he was so much enraged that he expressed that, “I did not like to come to this way of preaching, but I was rather forced to accept this path. And now I have to suffer for all these things.” Sometimes in excitement he told like that.

And some other time also he told, “The whole thing, it is my duty to discharge all the services, but they have come to help me. They’re my Gurudeva.” In this way.

Rādhārāṇī wants to do all the services of Kṛṣṇa. She’s not satisfied by discharging, and She says that, “I’m unfit, so I want help of so many. But the whole responsibility is on My shoulders.”

In Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, there was a śloka, I don’t remember that śloka now. The purport is that a servitor, he says that, “Kṛṣṇa, I’m Your servant, and it is my right to serve You in all ways and I don’t allow any Vaiṣṇava to come between and to take up Your service. Even if Baladeva, or even Lakṣmī Devī Herself comes to take Your service, I won’t allow Them. I shall do it direct.”

This Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, when that edition was prepared by Rāma Gopāla Bābū, my God-brother, M.A. B.A., well read man, he told that,

“What is this? A Vaiṣṇava, he should be very modest. Only under the direction of the Vaiṣṇava I shall serve you Kṛṣṇa. I cannot render any direct service to You. That should be the attitude. But why this opposite attitude that I won’t allow even Baladeva, Mahā Lakṣmī to serve You, it is my duty.”

Then I read this śloka and found out the angle of vision, I told him, here the angle of vision is a little different. He wants to say that, “They should also be served along with You. They’re sevā-tattva not sevāka. Yourself, Baladeva, Lakṣmī Devī, and Vaiṣṇava, They are not servants. They are Your favourite, Your devotee. Only serving it is my duty that I shall serve. I shall ask Them, ‘No, You are not servants. You are masters here. You all sit down here. Myself alone are Your servant and I shall serve you all. You all take your seat peacefully.’ With this spirit he’s saying this śloka.

So a real servant he thinks that all other servants that are the higher, superior Vaiṣṇava, they should also be served along with the Lord. His paraphernalia also should be served. And the whole burden, the responsibility of service is with me. That should be the - of the higher devotee. Not only I shall serve the Lord, but with His paraphernalia, the whole group, I alone am serving. So we should think like that.

So Prabhupāda told like that, “The whole duty, it is mine only, but I can’t do, I’m unfit.

So these my Gurudeva’s they have come to help me in this way also.”
One amnayaki [?] another vetivek [?]

The Vaiṣṇava in his natural temperament he will see that the whole responsibility of the whole service will be with him, and the disciples are also Gurudeva. They're vaibhāva, they're extension, extended self of his Guru, so they're also reckoned as Gurudeva. This is amnayaki [?] the direct conception is like that. But the indirect conception, pralāpita vakra, when a special inspiration of an Ācārya spirit is present in him, at that time he wants to chastise the disciple. "Here I am pralāpita vakra." It is mentioned in Prabhupāda's letter also.

And Mahāprabhu Himself says in Sanātana śikṣā, "What I'm saying to you Sanātana, this is all, I can't, I don't know their meaning, and I'm only a mediator, I'm in delirium. What I say to you it is delirium to Me. I can't understand what I say; like delirium, something. From the depth of My heart I conceive this much, that Kṛṣṇa is very much gracious to you, and many higher things are passing through Me to you. You are being benefited by those things, but they're passing through Me but I can't feel them."

Abuses his disciple or any sort of punishment, then he's not in, he's in mood, which is particularly supplied by the Lord by His special will, pralāpita vakra. And when normal they say that, "They're all my Gurudeva. They have come to help me. I am unfit, so they have come to help me. Kṛṣṇa has sent them. My Gurudeva has sent them. They're all the extended self of my Gurudeva. Gurudeva has sent them to help me in my service to Kṛṣṇa. So I must have respect for them."

So Prabhupāda used to address Prabhu, all, a Mahārāja, Aprakṛta Prabhu, Prabhu, Prabhu, almost all, he used Prabhu to the disciple. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [Speaks for about fifteen seconds in Bengali]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. There is gradation, in the devotional school also, everywhere the gradation is there.

In this occasion I remember one thing. When Prabhupāda began his early life of a preacher he had a disciple named Vaiṣṇava Charan, came from the neighbourhood, ordinary class, labour's class. He was given Hari Nāma, and taking Hari Nāma, Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa. And at the same time one gentleman came to visit Prabhupāda, and Prabhupāda was talking with him about Mahāprabhu and Hari kathā. And that person, that Vaiṣṇava Charan, Vaiṣṇava dāsa, he was at the top of his voice he was chanting Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Then Prabhupāda asked him, "Don't disturb me, don't shout. I'm distributing and serving Hari kathā to this gentleman."

Then he answered, replied, "You are shouting. I'm going on with Hari Nāma." He was, "Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa," loudly, and he told Prabhupāda, "You are shouting. I'm taking the Name of Kṛṣṇa, I don't shout. What you are speaking that is not Nāma, Name, and ordinary words you are pronouncing, so you are shouting."

[Speaks for about fifty five seconds in Bengali]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [Speaks for about fifteen seconds but inaudible]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Their shouting will give inspiration to me for writing. It will be source of inspiration..."

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: No, they're [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “And they’re my Prabhu’s children, and they’re shouting, they’re rejoicing, so that will give me impetus rather, the source of inspiration for writing. It won’t disturb me but rather it will give impetus to me for my service, for my duty.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That’s a very nice way to look at it. [Speaks forty five seconds in Bengali]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. When Mahāprabhu... [about one minute and twenty five seconds spoken in Bengali] Internally that is all nectarean. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Which is not to be found in this world, this ordinary, the production of this nature. Transcendental, unknown and unknowable, inconceivable; but still that is and that is the real substance.

On the contrary, the wakefulness of materialistic persons addicted to sense enjoyment is night for the self-realised person who is completely indifferent to such pursuits. The realised souls, indifferent to the mundane, are ever joyful in the divine ecstatic plane, while the general mass is infatuated by fleeting mundane fancies devoid of spiritual joy."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.69]

Some awakened there, and some ordinary people awakened here: in the sense experienced world, and God sense experienced world.
Transcendental: that is infinitely more powerful and blissful. Gaura Haribol. Rasa-varjaṁ raso 'py asya, param dṛṣṭvā nivartate.

[Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54]

To get out of the duality of this world, daṇḍa, good or bad? Bad and good, both is erroneous, māyā, both false; the conception of good also false, the conception of bad also false.

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.176]

There, just the opposite that is real. False things, bad things, cannot have eternal existence that must have such durability. And an ordinary thing cannot claim that sort of attribute. Ajo nityaḥ śāśvato 'yaṁ.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

[Bhakti Caru Swāmī and Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja talk in Bengali (?) for about two minutes and thirty five seconds – with Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja quoting *śloka*s at the end]

Śaraṇāgati, the last reach of knowledge, if healthy, must come to śaraṇāgati, cannot but come to śaraṇāgati, knowledge proper. Otherwise, śreyāḥ sṛtiṁ bhaktim udasya te vibho, kliśyanti ye kevala-bodha-labdhaye teṣāṁ asau kleśala eva śiṣyate, nānyad yathā sthūla-tuṣāvaghātīnām

["My dear Lord, devotional service unto You is the only auspicious path. If one gives it up simply for speculative knowledge or the understanding that these living beings are spirit souls and the material world is false, he undergoes a great deal of trouble. He only gains troublesome and inauspicious activities. His endeavours are like beating a husk that is already devoid of rice. One's labour becomes fruitless."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.4] & [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.22]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kevala-jñāna, *kevala-bodha-labdha*ye, any attempt, the knowledge for knowledge, no, śreyaḥ sṛtiṁ bhakti, it must come to the feet, take us to the feet of the devotion.

Rūpa Goswāmī he says jñāna means generally leads to mukti, and karma means to bhukti; enjoyment and renunciation. But Rūpa Goswāmī Prabhu says where those two she ghosts are sitting, the divine lady of bhakti, she does not like to come to take her seat there with those two she ghosts, piśācī. Gaura Haribol.

["Slashing and smashing the illusion of the whole mundane plane, Dealing the deathblow to the scholars' manic search for liberation's throne; Relaxing calculation, for the realm of Pure Devotion in Love of Śrī Rādhā's Lord Supreme: O Abode of Divine Love - Divine Message of Śrī-Bhakti-Siddhānta, May you dance and play and sing your song within my heart forever."] [Śrī Caitanya Saraswatī]

Straight, clear, nikhila-bhuvana-māyā-chinna-vichinna, cutting asunder into pieces, nikhila-bhuvana-māyā, the pleasure of misconceptions of the misconceived world, and vibudha-bahula-mṛgyā, and so many scholars who put their heads together to find out different remedies from the bondage of this mortal charm, but that is nothing but illusion. It has been proved, yes, has thrown a death knell to all the speculations of different kinds of liberation, emancipation.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, what is the root, what is the meaning of this mṛgyā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mṛgyā means anusandriya, searching, vibudha-bahula-mṛgyā.

Śrutibhir vimṛgyām, in Bhāgavatam.

āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām vṛndāvane kim api gulma-latauśadhīnām

yā dustyajam svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā bhejur mukunda-padavīm śrutibhir vimṛgyām

["The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61]

Mṛgyā, anusandriya: searchable. Different scholars they're trying their utmost to find out a path to get out of the entanglement of this world. But bhaktisiddhānta-vāṇī has thrown atom bomb to that. The atom bomb has been the finishing touch, final.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Totally devastated.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Śīthilīta-vidhi-rāgārādhyā-rādheśa-dhānī. And to worship the devotion which is guided, directed by the rules and regulations according to scriptures: that has been discouraged. And the spontaneous love which is shown in the service of Śrī Rādhikā, and Her beloved, rādheśa-dhānī, the abode of that thing is his, his words are the abode of that thing, vāṇī. Śīthilīta-vidhi-rāgārādhya-rādheśa-dhānī. The Lord, Rādhikā, are being worshipped with pure loving line or so, and this is, his words are abode of only that truth. Rādheśa-dhānī, dhānī means Rādhā, the abode of rādheśa. And that aradhana, and that is also, Śīthilīta-vidhi-rāgārādhana, this service through love, anurāga. And that service of Rādhā Govinda. And that is the whole purport of all his sayings, statements. And this is bhaktisiddhānta-vāṇī. Vilasatu hr̥di nityaṁ, and always let that play in my heart, that tendency, vilasatu hr̥di nityaṁ bhaktisiddhānta-vāṇī.

Gaura Haribol. Covering the whole siddhānta, these three lines.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: When did you compose this Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Long ago. Perhaps some thirty years back or so. At least twenty five years.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If you go to Bombay you may try to meet that gentleman, Asthana, that Ami Asthana. He's known to our Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja and more intimately with this Venkatta Rāma Prabhu [Bharati Mahārāja], who is intimately connected with him. Before coming here he used to visit ISKCON, their Bombay Maṭh. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

[About thirty seconds spoken in Bengali]

Mahāprabhu met there Pandharpur. Mahāprabhu met Śrī Raṅga Purī and got the information that Viśvarūpa, Mahāprabhu's elder brother, the place of His departure there, Pandharpur; that is Śaṅkarāraṇya. [Vitchal and?] Śaṅkarāraṇya the same, one and the same.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Bhadrīdharan Prabhu is asking, whether Tukārāma is a pure devotee?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I do not know all the abhaṅgs. Tukārāma's songs are known as abhaṅgs, is it not? I've not gone through all of them. But I'm told that Tukārāma was the disciple of Mahārāṣṭa brāhmaṇa, one who was very closely connected, rather disciple to Mahāprabhu. He met in Benares. It is mentioned in Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Mahārāṣṭa brāhmaṇa, who took Mahāprabhu to the assembly of Prakāśānanda, that Mahārāṣṭa brāhmaṇa, in his house, in some place of Sald [?]. And that Mahārāṣṭa brāhmaṇa was the preceptor of Tukārāma. Satrendranath Ṭhākura, the second eldest brother of Rabindranatha, he made some discuss about Tukārāma, and he has put this question. It is mentioned in Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Life and Precept of Mahāprabhu that Tukārāma was the disciple of a Mahārāṣṭa brāhmaṇa, and he, Tukārāma, used to tell about Caitanya-caritāmṛta. Perhaps that brāhmaṇa's name was Raghava Caitanya, Mahārāṣṭa brāhmaṇa. And he was preceptor of Tukārāma. So Tukārāma must have some pure devotion in his heart. But if any deviation from the purity I can't say without examining his particular songs. The criterion of pure devotion is this, that he must have real honour and affinity towards the devotee.

[ye me bhakta-janāḥ partha, ne me bhaktaś ca te janāḥ] mad

bhaktānām ca ye bhaktās, te me bhaktatamā mataḥ

["Those who worship Me directly are not real devotees; real devotees are those who are devoted to My devotees."] [Ādi-Purāṇa]

Within his jurisdiction of his devotion: not only Godhead alone, but Godhead with His paraphernalia. The Lord is not alone. The Lord is always with svarūpa śakti, His group of servitors. When that is present in any song or any statement, there the śuddha bhakti will be, otherwise that will be contaminated by māyāvādā. 'We respect Kṛṣṇa, but His paraphernalia not nitya, and not pūjā, not to be honoured, and eliminating them we can worship, satisfy Kṛṣṇa alone.' This idea is anti bhakti. So to test pure devotion we should put that criterion, whether Kṛṣṇa alone, Kṛṣṇa means, raja means with all His paraphernalia. Raja is not alone in any time. So Kṛṣṇa means with all the groups of His servants of different types. That Kṛṣṇa is real Kṛṣṇa. Only Kṛṣṇa alone that is Kṛṣṇa concoction, imagination, is not realistic. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is of lower order.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Lower order. I was saying that there's a saying that, "By hook or by crook you should fix your mind on Kṛṣṇa." And Mahārāja is saying that's of lower order.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Kṛṣṇa means with His paraphernalia.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Associates. Mahārāja, in Jaiva Dharma...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Just as father means the son, the wife, the group. So Kṛṣṇa, the relative term, Kṛṣṇa is attracting, attracting whom? The paraphernalia, the friends of the attraction, the servitors, they must be there with Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is never alone.

What is the question?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, why are the Deities of the Goswāmīs are just Kṛṣṇa?

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Dev Goswāmī Mahārāja

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's reminded about the GBC resolution that one should get the permission of the GBC to come to you.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: So remind him.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Some other senior devotees in the temple...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: [About one minute and twenty five seconds spoken with Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your will is the important thing, and not the hired money.

There is a brāhmaṇa who's mentioned in Jīva Goswāmī's book, quoted, a brāhmaṇa, a Jain, perhaps one brāhmaṇa he used to mentally... devata, Nārāyaṇa also, but mentally. So many things he mentally did, Lord. One day when he was going to offer this paramāṇna [sweet rice] suddenly a thought came in his mind that it's too hot to offer. Then mentally also, he put his finger into that imagined paramāṇna, whether it is too hot or tolerable. But he found the paramāṇna actually there, he's in meditation, there was a blister in the finger, the paramāṇna was so hot. But all imagination, but between imagination and the thing imagined, there is a relation, and imagination becomes too strong that it can produce things. All subjective, the will, our desire, that is the primary thing. What do you say?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: One day, once something happened in GBC, they imposed some restriction on Haṁsadūta Mahārāja. So Haṁsadūta Mahārāja's comment was that, "If somebody comes and tells me that Kṛṣṇa has come here, He's in that street corner, so do I have to wait for the GBC's instruct order, or should I just run to Kṛṣṇa?"

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: GBC exists to promote devotion.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Right. Not to restrict it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not to destroy, or to hinder, or to oppose it.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: You said a very wonderful thing during the GBC, when some of the GBC came last October, you pointed out that the laws should be there to enhance the devotion, not to curb devotion, not to restrict or check the devotion.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To promote, not to destroy.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Right. In the material platform the laws are there to restrict, but in the spiritual platform the laws are there to enhance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The law will stand as a servant, to help, not as a master.

_____ says, sedu te pramadi hade paravyoma pade phili [?]

“I’ll be thrown down in the world of law, by the will of law I’ll be thrown down there, from the country of free love.”

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Does Paravyoma here mean Vaikuṇṭha Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Vaikuṇṭha Nārāyaṇaloka, Goloka, just lower portion of Paravyoma, and higher portion is Goloka and the lower portion of Paravyoma is Vaikuṇṭha Nārāyaṇaloka sedu te pramadi hade paravyoma pade phili nahi jai vas vraja puri [?]

Vraja is spontaneous free love, no law, no necessity of any law. Law is serving from far away the vrajavāsīs. They’ve got their own law that is quite right. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Dev Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Rādhāramaṇa, Gopāl Bhatta Goswāmī’s Deity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No Rādhikā there? No Rādhārāṇī on the side of Kṛṣṇa?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What have you seen, Caru Mahārāja?

I saw, in Karoli alone, and Rādhārāṇī in another room, and when the devotees want to see Them combined they are to pay something and then Rādhārāṇī is taken to Madhanmohan. They're living separately, in Karoli; that is a fashion there. Other places only Govinda, and They're alone. I did not see like that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I remember in Vṛndāvana, Govindaji's temple there's both Rādhārāṇī and Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In Jaipur.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's saying that he heard that They have been brought in later; Rādhārāṇī was brought in later on.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where, in Jaipur, or in all these temples?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Jaipur. Yeah, all these temples.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jaipur may have some particular case. When I visited Jaipur, I found the priest had made his tilaka in this way, this flat way. I asked him, he's a Bengali brāhmaṇa, they worship; the priests are all recruited from Bengal because the saivaite is from Bengal. I asked him, "What is this, that you have taken this saiva tilaka?"

He was perplexed and avoided me. I could understand, did understand then, that they're under control of the king who is influenced by the smārta, so they're compelled to do in that way. The smārta conception of Kṛṣṇa, they give recognition to Kṛṣṇa, but not to the bhakta, the devotees. 'They're all māyā.' That is, Kṛṣṇa alone, they want to worship. And they think the gopīs, Yaśodā, Nanda, Vasudeva, all, they're all jīva, devotee, but not Kṛṣṇa's constant companion. Nitya līlā they do not recognise.

The Kṛṣṇa means the eternal Kṛṣṇa, and the devotees are also eternally connected with Him. This is Vaiṣṇava conviction. And the smārta conviction is, 'the Kṛṣṇa represents Brahma, and He's advaya, alone. And He descended here and made connection with the human beings. He may be of higher order, but they're not eternal friends to Him.' This is the consideration of the smārta or māyāvādā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, this reminds me that when Śrīla Sanātana Goswāmī got Madanmohanji, when Madanmohanji came to Sanātana Goswāmī He did not come with Rādhārāṇī, He was just alone. When he found...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Madanmohan was being worshipped in Amili [?] but only Madanmohan, and no Rādhārāṇī. Then Rādhārāṇī was brought after...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Manifested.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Manifested later on.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But Mahārāja, another thing is that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That might have been under the influence of the smārta, so they might have done like that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In Jaiva Dharma, Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura is telling that a pure devotee does not worship the Deities in the temple, he worships manosek radha govinda siva karune

_____ [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

arcāyām eva haraye, pūjām yaḥ śraddhayehate

na tad-bhakteṣu cānyeṣu, sa bhaktaḥ prākṛtaḥ smṛtaḥ

["A devotee who faithfully worships the Deity, but does not properly respect the Vaiṣṇavas or the people in general is called a materialistic devotee, and is considered to be in the lowest position of devotional service."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.47]

That the kaniṣṭha adbhikārī, the devotee of the lowest order, they... But their manasa pūjā, their bhāva pūjā...

Nearer approach to Govinda... proper. Not only their help in the physical plane is not necessary for them.

When I came to Gauḍīya Maṭh first I found only Mahāprabhu's Śrī Mūrti there. I asked that, "This Śrī Mūrti, is it out of dāru or śilā or earth?"

They were very much enraged with me and told, "Don't look like that. It is sākṣād mahāprabhu, Mahāprabhu Himself. You must try to look like that. And don't take this material connection with your visit, in this way."

Then I put the question, that if He's sākṣād mahāprabhu, Mahāprabhu Himself, then why a junior devotee amongst you worships Him? Why not the highest amongst you, your Gurudeva, he's not with Him? That was my question. If Mahāprabhu Himself is present here then the highest amongst you... he must... but he's in the upstairs and your sākṣād mahāprabhu is on the outdoor room. What is the matter?

Then the answer came. "He's also with Mahāprabhu. In his heart he's always in the company of Mahāprabhu, and that Mahāprabhu is within his heart. It is clearly shown there. And that sort of Mahāprabhu is of higher order than this Mahāprabhu."

Then also I told, it may be like that.

Then of course we are encouraged to see this Mahāprabhu, this Arcā Mūrti, ignoring our eye experience, to try, of course it is good. But the bhāva pūjā within the heart, that shows madhyama adbhikārī. A higher realised soul; the sannyāsīns are generally expected, with prasādam also, the ordinary people when it will take to the temple and offer to the Deity then take out that prasādam then it is prasādam. But the sannyāsīns, without connection of the temple they offer mentally to the Lord and take that prasādam. And the mahā-bhāgavata, he neither has connection with the temple, nor in mental offering, but whatever comes to him he says that, “My Lord is sending to me today this for my food. This is prasādam.” No necessity of any formality. But this is mental formality with the middle class, and the gross formality is to be observed from the third class. But otherwise they may not have real, deep conception about the divinity. That’s how they should begin life.

Just as when a boy begins to write he wants some big pen, and sometimes on the ground he’s requested to write down the letters, and when grown up then some rough paper and with bamboo or some other pen; and when higher, then of course with the pen and fine paper.

And to begin with because our attention is addicted and is always engaged in gross things, so the Lord has come – if He wants to come to us He has to come in that gross plane, in His arcā, paravyuha, vaibhava, antaryāmī and arcā. And most graciously He comes to our gross level to take us up from that plane to the subtle, and more subtle. That is the process to help us. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That reminds me Mahārāja, in the beginning when I was with Prabhupāda, one day I told Prabhupāda, “Whenever I go to Calcutta I feel very much tempted to eat sweets from the shops.”

Then Prabhupāda said, “Well, it’s all Kṛṣṇa, I mean eat, there’s no harm, eat, it’s Kṛṣṇa prasāda.”

But I said, “But Prabhupāda, I go to the shops and eat sweets.”

Then Prabhupāda said, “Well after all, everything is Kṛṣṇa prasāda. Everything has been given by Kṛṣṇa.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow to connect ourselves with that divine connection, anyhow to be near to that connection. Kṛṣṇa smṛti, that is to be roused within us any way or other. Wherever I'm posted I must begin from there.

*loke vyavāyāmiṣa-madya-sevā, nityā hi jantor na hi tatra codanā
vyavasthitis teṣu vivāha-yajña, -surā-grahair āsu nivṛttir iṣṭā*

[“Everyone is naturally inclined to have sex, eat meat, and drink wine. There is no need for the scripture to encourage these things. The scriptures do, however, give concessions to people who are determined to do these things. The scriptures therefore grant a license to enjoy sex by allowing sexual intercourse with one’s lawfully wedded wife at the proper time of the month. They grant a license to eat meat to those who perform a certain kind of sacrifice, and a license to drink wine to those who perform the Sautramani sacrifice. The purpose of granting these licenses for sense gratification is only to restrict these activities and encourage people to give them up altogether. The real intention of the Vedic injunctions regarding sex, meat-eating, and wine-drinking is to make one abstain from these activities.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.11]

In the lowest class when there is affinity to many filthy things, even the śāstra and mantra and sādhū come to that lower level to lift them up gradually.

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam [karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

[“Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine.”]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

By instalments they’re to give advices to us, gradually, with gradual development. To our lowest level, by the will of Kṛṣṇa, the sādhū and śāstra have to come to take up. “Oh. Manu-saṁhitā says take this fish, this meat. Don’t take that fish, that meat, because if you do that you will get many diseases that will come and attack and disturb you.” So they also come to restrict him to take him in the way of restriction in a gradual process. Then Manu-saṁhitā says, pravṛttir eṣā bhūtānām, nivṛttis tu mahā-phalā.

[na māṁsa-bhakṣaṇe doṣo, na madye na ca maithune pravṛttir eṣā bhūtānām, nivṛttis tu mahā-phalā]

[“It may be considered that meat-eating, intoxication, and sex indulgence are natural propensities of the conditioned souls, and therefore such persons should not be condemned for these activities. But unless one gives up such sinful activities, there is no possibility of achieving the actual perfection of life.”] [Manu-saṁhitā]

“But all I have given provision here for your food, this is when you cannot shake yourself and which is impossible for you to check your, to think of being independent of these allurements. But don’t think that this is as pure as the renunciation of these mundane foods. Nivṛttis tu mahā-phalā, if you can give them up you will have a great achievement is waiting for you if you can check, control yourself from the greed of all these foodstuffs. Nivṛttis tu mahā-phalā. Then again you'll come that nivṛtti, mere renunciation has got no value at all. You must connect with the highest divinity otherwise it won't fetch any real value to you, this tyāga. This prasāda you must take. In this gradual process they're arranging for our good."

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, this reminds me of another incident. In Vṛndāvana I used to cook for Prabhupāda, and Prabhupāda wanted me to get some vegetables. And one of the vegetables was the bitter melon, korola [?] And he asked me to get Balan sak [?], korola, kumru [?], begoon [?] and munda [?]. Then I went to the market and got, I bought...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Purchased.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But then when I came back I told Prabhupāda that I got all the vegetables.

Then Prabhupāda asked me, "Tell me what have you got."

And so I started telling him one by one after the other, I got the spinach, I got the radish, I got the pumpkin, I got eggplant. And then I remembered that I forgot to bring a korola, I forgot to bring the bitter melon. And those days Prabhupāda was not feeling very well. And I knew that if I told Prabhupāda that I forgot to bring the korola he'd be very angry. So I...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Suppressed.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: ...I lied to him. I told him, and I got the korola. And I thought that I'll just send somebody to the market and get some korola.

And then Prabhupāda told me, "Ok. You bring all the vegetables."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "You give me?"

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. "Bring them here so I'll show you how to cut them."

Then I immediately ran out. And there was a boy who used to work in the guest house, so I told him that, "You immediately take the cycle and immediately go to the market." Well first of all I went to the kitchen and looked around for if they had any korola, if they had any bitter melon.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In their stock.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes, in their stock, but they all said there was no korola. And then I sent this boy to the market on the cycle and told him that immediately you get it. So in the meantime I was waiting outside the gate for this boy to come back. And at last he comes back and tells me that there's no korola in the market. At that time I was totally, and then I felt that now I'm finished. Now I have to go and tell Prabhupāda that I've lied to him. And now he'll be extremely angry with me and he'll chastise me and then he'll feel very bad. And anyhow I felt totally surrendered and then I started praying to Kṛṣṇa, “Kṛṣṇa, You are the only hope for me.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Come to my relief.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: I kept on praying, “I don’t mind if Prabhupāda chastises me or whatever he does with me I don’t care. But I’m very much concerned about his health, and if he gets angry then it will be...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Excitement will cause, damage his health.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. And thinking that I felt very, I became totally numb.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perplexed.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Yes. And then I started walking back towards the kitchen, and then I saw that right on the veranda on the way back to the kitchen there’s one bitter melon lying on the floor. And I just pounced on it, picked it up and ran, and then I took all the vegetables. And I just kept on praising Kṛṣṇa that, “Kṛṣṇa, You’re so merciful.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A miracle.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: And I still don’t know Mahārāja how, what to think of this. And then I went to Prabhupāda, and by that time it was quite late, Prabhupāda was already having his massage. So I went and told Prabhupāda, “I brought the vegetables.” And so Prabhupāda said to cut this like that, and I started cutting according to his instruction. And then at last I picked up the bitter melon and I asked Prabhupāda how I should cut the bitter melon. And Prabhupāda looked at me with a smile and said, “Yes, bitter melon.” And the way he said it I knew Prabhupāda knew what happened.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “But I had to manage it on your behalf.”

And to keep up your prestige, just as Arjuna to Hanumān, “They say, we are told, that in Treta-yuga you are to construct a bridge to go to Laṅkā. And with the help of trees and stones and so many awkward things, there was not good such a good archer who could construct a bridge only with the arrows.”

Then Hanumān replied, “Oh. You can’t conceive the matter. If these stones were so heavy, the bridge constructed by your arrows, that cannot stand, that will go down.”

Then Arjuna told, “It is impossible. If I construct a bridge with my arrows, none can break it down; no pressure.”

“Then let us go and see.”

Then Arjuna constructed with arrows a bridge. And Hanumān he took so many stones with him, even tied to his the hairs on his body. And he’s going, and with the pressure the bridge is going down, but not finally broken. In this way he passed. Then Hanumān, anyhow, some sort of, the bridge was somewhat damaged but it could not be broken completely. Then Hanumān was a little defeated.

Then Kṛṣṇa, coming to Arjuna, He says, “What have you done? I feel much pain on My head.”

“What’s the matter?”

“When Hanumān was passing with his weight your arrow bridge is going down. Wherever it’s going down I’m putting My head there. And wherever Hanumān puts his foot I put My head there, below. So anyhow he passed. Arjuna of course he promised that, ‘If my bridge is a failure then I won’t live, I shall die.’ So to save you I had to take so much trouble.” Then Arjuna, what he will say? Nonplussed, or something like that. “But for your earnestness and your repentance and all these things, I had to secure anyhow this cover for you, to keep up your prestige.”

In Yoga śāstra it is mentioned that astheya, when one can practice the subtle, check the subtle form of greediness, perfectly has checked, then he comes in a stage whatever he wants, that thing automatically comes to him. Just as when one does not speak any falsehood, any lie, then whenever he speaks anything that cannot but be true, bhak-siddham. Whatever he speaks that comes to be true, siddha bhak. Then astheya, when no greed, it has been practised within, then whenever he wants anything that will come to him automatically; this is the nature, natural arrangement of prakṛti. So prakṛti what we see to be a rigid, inert and dead thing, it is not so actually. It is all conscious, and conscious and reasonable hand behind it, so all these are possible. One who does not speak lie, whatever he speaks that comes to happen. One who does not want anything, if he wants anything that must come here, astheya. The yogī willing something.

Paramānanda Prabhu, Prabhupāda’s personal assistant and the most senior disciple, a boy disciple, he was travelling in a train with Prabhupāda, Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura, towards Haridwar. Then Paramānanda Prabhu felt hungry and he asked Prabhupāda, “I’m hungry, I want some halava.”

Then Prabhupāda told that, “Perhaps that may not be available here.

Yes, in the next station let us try, if we can get that, we shall purchase.”

Then there was a yogī in that carriage with Prabhupāda, talking about devotional things and yoga. “Oh. What does he say, that boy?”

Prabhupāda told that, “He wants some halava, he’s hungry.”

“Oh. Yes, is it?” Then he put his hand outside the carriage, through the window and took – “Take this, it is halava. You take it.”

So this siddhi, this may be arranged. And the devotees, they do not want this, but still they wait to serve the devotees, such siddhi. Muktiḥ svayaṁ mukulitānjali sevate ‘smān, dharmārtha-kāma-gatayaḥ samaya-pratīkṣāḥ.

[bhaktis tvayi sthīratarā bhagavan yadi syād daivena na phalati divya-kiśora-mūrttiḥ muktiḥ svayaṁ mukulitānjali sevate ‘smān dharmārtha-kāma-gatayaḥ samaya-pratīkṣāḥ]

[“O Supreme Lord, if our devotion (bhakti) for You were more steadfast, Your adolescent form would naturally arise (appear) within our hearts. Oh Devotion, you are of such a magnanimous nature, if there is any way that we can have your least favour, then mukti (salvation or liberation) will wait to serve us with open arms. What to speak of mukti, even dharma (ritualistic virtue), artha (affluence), and kāma (material enjoyment) will be waiting far, far away for whenever their calling bell is sounding. Then, they will rush to our feet saying: ‘What do you want?’ Then there would not be the slightest necessity to pray for the triple pursuits of religiosity, gain, and sensual desire (dharma, artha, kāma), and their negation in the form of liberation, because mukti will personally attend us as a concomitant subsidiary fruit of devotion in the form of deliverance from ignorance, her hands cupped in prayer (like a preordained maidservant); and the fruits of bhukti (transitory pleasure culminating in attainment of heaven) will eagerly await their orders, from us, should any necessity arise for them in the service of Your lotus feet.”] [Kṛṣṇa-karnāmṛta, 107]

They’re always waiting whenever a devotee wants to get the chance to serve them. Devotees very rarely they may take such course, on account of Kṛṣṇa’s service. ‘That these newcomers have come to serve Kṛṣṇa. He will be discouraged. He’ll be unsuccessful in his attempt.” So Kṛṣṇa’s managing to help a junior devotee.

Then all right, I want to take leave of you now. It’s too late. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This one is from Bhakta Prīya Dāsī. She’s one of Prabhupāda’s disciples in Los Angeles.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Bhakta Prīya Dāsī [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja, what's her identity?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: She distributes Śrīla Prabhupāda's books and she also collects donations for the temple.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Prabhupāda śiṣya [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That lady who wrote a letter for initiation?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. This is her friend. This is Prabhupāda's disciple.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, Prabhupāda's disciple.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?]

“Dear Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Please accept my most humble obeisances at your glorious lotus feet. I have been listening to the tapes of some of your conversations with our Śrīla Prabhupāda’s disciples and I find great enlivenment in Kṛṣṇa consciousness by hearing the transcendental exchanges between yourself and the devotees. By the purity of your instructions I become very much inspired to continue in the service of our Guru Mahārāja, with tolerance and perseverance. So I beg that you kindly accept this offering as an expression of gratitude for your concern and eagerness to help us in this mission. Thank you very much. Your servant: Bhakta Prīya Dāsī.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then a suitable reply [?]

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Also, there’s another letter. This is from a boy who had first initiation from Prabhupāda.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?] “Dear Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja, Please accept my obeisances. All glories to Śrī Guru and Gaurāṅga. Please let me introduce myself. My initiated name is Dayal Dāsa Adhikārī. I received Hari Nāma dīkṣā from Śrīla Bhaktivedānta Swāmī in nineteen seventy seven after hearing about him and reading his books since nineteen seventy two. Now I’m twenty five years old and have a wife and two children. Daily I chant the prescribed number of rounds and visit the temple of Śrī Śrī Rukmiṇī Dvārakādiśa. Accordingly, I associate with His Holiness Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Swāmī who is known to you. And from him I have heard of your exalted qualities. I have also gotten from him many tape recordings of conversations with you, and I have developed strong faith in your words, just like my Gurudeva Śrīla Prabhupāda.

So I have an important question which I do not trust in any other hand but your own. One day in January nineteen eighty one, I found in a garbage heap, of all places, an original copy of the Gāyatrī mantra that was given by my Gurudeva. So I asked my wife who received the mantra initiation from Prabhupāda, before she had met me, how to chant it, and in this way I began to chant. However, I was not initiated with this mantra. Nor have I ever worn a brāhmaṇa thread. I have understood from your Divine Grace on a tape recording, the purpose of Gāyatrī and the importance of the Hari Nāma. What is my position now with Gāyatrī? Please instruct me in this matter, because I'm in doubt. Should I go on chanting the mantra? Perhaps by your mercy I could receive the mantra in the proper way. But whatever you say I will accept that.

I'm reluctant to inform you that I, as of yet, am not a very successful dollars and cents man, being new at household life and would have to borrow money to come to India although that is what I want to do. I'm saying this only because of my responsible position as a family man. Please instruct me.

Your insignificant servant, Dayal Dāsa Adhikārī.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Kāma Gāyatrī, not this Brahmā Gāyatrī? There is Brahmā Gāyatrī, Brahmā Gāyatrī is another thing; that is meant for the brāhmaṇas only. And Prabhupāda [Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura] used to give that only to the male persons.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: I don't know what kind of Gāyatrī a woman gets.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ordinary Gāyatrī, Brahmā Gāyatrī and...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: It's all the same thing, seven...

Akṣayānanda Swāmī: Similar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That's Kāma Gāyatrī.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?]

Akṣayānanda Swāmī: Brahmā Gāyatrī, Guru Gāyatrī, Gaura Gāyatrī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Guru Gāyatrī, Gaura Gāyatrī, and Kāma

Gāyatrī— three, three Gāyatrīs.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Not for the ladies necessary, Brahmā Gāyatrī.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja is saying that usually the lady doesn't get the Brahmā Gāyatrī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Brahmā Gāyatrī is only given to the male persons. Only sacred thread ceremony: that is Brahmā Gāyatrī. Kṛṣṇa Gāyatrī – what Swāmī Mahārāja introduced I don't know, but Brahmā Gāyatrī only on the ceremony of sacred thread it is there.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He never gave sacred thread to the ladies.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Prabhupāda first told me that the Gāyatrī, the brāhmaṇa initiation is only for, it's more or less like a formality. And Prabhupāda actually pointed out that – actually I was there and Prabhupāda was talking to some other person, that other person was asking Prabhupāda, “Why you are giving brāhmaṇa initiation to the yavanas and mlechas?”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Non brāhmaṇas.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: So Prabhupāda said, “I’m giving them brāhmaṇa initiation; I’m giving them the brāhmaṇa thread so that rascals like you do not commit an offence thinking that they’re anything less than a brāhmaṇa.” [Group laughter] And Prabhupāda pointed out that, “Their position is much higher than a brāhmaṇa.”

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, than brāhmaṇa. To show to the society, to adjust them in such position, this secret thing has been taken out, that they’re already brāhmaṇas then they’re Vaiṣṇava. They cross the threshold of brāhmaṇism; then they can reach the Vaiṣṇava stage. So the competition is only with the male. The women they generally do not get sacred thread, so no brāhmaṇa Gāyatrī or thread is necessary for them.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: So Mahārāja, he wanted to know, first of all what is his position...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And what sort of Gāyatrī, that I want to know first. Is it Brahmā Gāyatrī or Kāma Gāyatrī?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He found a paper with all the mantras.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Brahmā Gāyatrī, Guru Gāyatrī, Gaura Gāyatrī, and Kāma Gāyatrī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa Gāyatrī is of two kinds. Kṛṣṇa mantra, Kāma Gāyatrī, and for arcana purpose another set, Kṛṣṇa Gāyatrī and Kṛṣṇa mantram.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He found what Prabhupāda would give to his disciples, he found that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Arcana conite [?]

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?] Mahārāja is saying that if he's willing to take second initiation from his Divine Grace then there's no objection.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No objection. But I am afraid of the disturbance that may be created.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He doesn't live in the temple.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: He doesn't stay in the temple Mahārāja, he lives outside.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, then no trouble.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: With him there's no disturbance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So how should that be done?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: You're the contact.

Akṣayānanda Swāmī: Just tell him that Guru Mahārāja has no objection.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But does he want him to come, should he come here?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Say it in English.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Oh yes. Prabhupāda used to give the Gāyatrī mantra many times in a tape. In a tape, the disciple used to hear the mantra in a tape and used to receive the upavīta from a representative of Prabhupāda, usually the GBC.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The ṛtvik system, representative, ṛtvik system.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: So Adridan Prabhu is suggesting that maybe you can also make a tape so that many willing disciples can get the initiation of the Gāyatrī mantra from you that way from all over the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That I may think out. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I shall appeal to Guru Mahārāja and if I get inspiration in that way, if it be necessary, necessity of the time, then I may come to that conclusion hereafter. I can't say now.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Then, you are to start by nine o'clock or what?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja, around nine, nine thirty.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Or eleven? All right.

In Marga Kavya [?] Marg [?] was a Vaiṣṇava kavi, his epic is known as Sisupal Avagni [?] Bāladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa has quoted one of his verses on his commentary on Vedānta, to clear the position of Brahmā and Nārāyaṇa in this sense.

chayistha syam nitya baditam pura tatas [?]

When Kṛṣṇa, Balarāma and Uddhava met in a conference, at that time Devarṣi Nārada was seen coming through the sky. First They saw a mass of light is approaching towards them. Then gradually could recognise that there is a figure within the mass light. Then a male figure, and lastly the Devarṣi Nārada has come.

So in the first hazy conception of the spiritual realm only a mass of light something Brahman, then Brahmapura, the figure, the Vasudeva, then Lakṣmī Nārāyaṇa; in this way the deeper and deeper vision will express that there are so many things there. And in that mark there is one śloka, vanapti kala pita ei pi yogya tanum [?]

He's praising about sādhū-saṅga, the association with the devotees, sādhū.

The first line I fail to remember. Anyhow, the meaning is that when we come in contact of a saint, sādhū, it tells our – merit, or what is this – for three stages of our life. As a result of our past good activity I'm able to meet a saint, and when I'm discussing with him at the present that will also produce the good result, and it will help me in future also. So past, present and future, three stages of time is concerned with our association with the saints, and, sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām.

[ata ātyantikam kṣemam, prcchāmo bhavato 'naghāḥ saṁsāre 'smin kṣaṇārdho 'pi, sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām]

[O sinless ones! We therefore inquire from you about that which is supremely auspicious for all living beings, for in this world association with saints – even for a half a moment – is the most valuable treasure in human society.] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.30]

And with the transaction what we get in their connection, that is the most valuable thing, and that is the fulfilment of life to its highest degree. Sat-saṅgaḥ śevadhir nṛṇām.

And another place in Rāmānuja sampradāya it is mentioned, in one dark night, three Ālvārs by chance met in a place. They did not know each other but they heard of their name. Then they began to talk in the dark night and then gradually they came to understand that they are those three renowned saints of that time anyhow met together.

Then one questioned, “We are three here, but do you feel the presence of a fourth one?” Another answered, “Yes. The fourth one is here.”

Fourth one means the Lord Himself. They’re talking about Him and by that He’s also present there, the fourth one. Three are talking and talking about the fourth so the fourth must necessarily be present there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Once I asked...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And kīrtana, Mahāprabhu, Mahāprabhu recommended kīrtana, bahubhir militvā yat kīrtanam tad eva saṅkīrtanam. When many we meet to talk about the Lord: that is saṅkīrtana. And that was recommended especially in the Kali-yuga. Others are more or less powerless. What’s the reason? In kīrtana, saṅkīrtana, generally the influence of the environment comes to disturb us, to disturb our attention for kīrtana. But when we’re all engaged in saṅkīrtana we try our best to collect all our attention and energy to apply in the case. We are rather compelled to collect and maximum energy to attend. Especially when one is telling or another putting questions the depth of the cultivation is appreciable and cannot but be intense. It commands the maximum energy from all, the hearers and the speaker, saṅkīrtana.

nāhaṁ vasāmi vaikunṭhe, yogināṁ hṛdayeṣu vā mad bhaktāḥ yatra gāyanti, tatra tiṣṭhāmi nārada

[The Lord Himself says: "O, Nārada, wherever My devotees sing My praises I cannot but be present there."] [Within the purports of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 4.2.41 & 4.30.35]

That intense presence of Him, not only Vaikuṇṭha, in the consideration of eternity and infinite, vaikuṇṭhe, yoginām hṛdayeṣu vā, "When in ascending method one is attempting to reach Me, to catch Me, these are less productive, yoginām hṛdayeṣu vā. Mad bhaktāḥ yatra gāyanti, "But where more than one they're in the attempt to bring Me down, to make the object of their talk, I'm attracted more there, that place, mad bhaktāḥ yatra gāyanti. Surrendering themselves, there the layer of surrender, that brings Me down, attracts Me down more than anything, surrender, śaraṇāgati. Everything they have offered. They're empty, and I go to fill up the empty pot, cannot but. They have made them empty for Myself and I cannot but be thankful to go and fill up their emptied heart."

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. What do you say?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: It just reminded me once I asked Prabhupāda, actually I told Prabhupāda that I wished to be with him when he first went to America and he was all alone, struggling so hard. And then Prabhupāda told me, "I was never alone." He said, "Kṛṣṇa was always with him."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is very clear when I read his...

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Biography.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Journey, yes, journey to America I was sure that Kṛṣṇa came to his help, and Baladeva, Nityānanda came to his help. He could not have stayed but to have Them. So empty handed, empty hearted, only with the Name of Kṛṣṇa, the adventurous journey he undertook. Certainly, surely, Kṛṣṇa was on his head, in his heart, Guru, Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja, yesterday while we were coming here, Adri asked a question. He was asking that Prabhupāda is nitya-siddha, which means Prabhupāda came down from the spiritual sky. Then why, at times Prabhupāda spoke about his previous life, that he was a very pious doctor in his previous life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pious doctor, in his previous life.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Pious doctor.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He said one astrologer told him that.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Oh, I see. He said that Prabhupāda said that one astrologer told him that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Told like that, because his natural knowledge was chemistry?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: In that life he committed one sin and that's why he had to come here.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: To get some medicine for someone he killed a snake, to get some venom to administer.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And for that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well he said for that he had to take birth again.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: As a doctor?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, as Prabhupāda, in this life.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: This life? No, no. That must be pushed in the background. His brightest duty awaiting him to spread this doctrine of love, begin. He's a doctor not only of this physical, to remove and cure physical disease but the disease wholesale. Hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa.

[vikrīḍitaṁ vraja-vadhūbhir idaṁ ca viṣṇoḥ, śraddhānvito 'nuśṛṇuyād atha varṇayed yaḥ bhaktiṁ parām bhagavati pratilabhya kāmaṁ, hṛd-rogam āśv apahinoty acireṇa dhīraḥ]

["One who hears with firm faith the supramundane amorous affairs of Lord Kṛṣṇa and the gopīs, as described by a pure devotee of the Lord, soon becomes freed from mundane lust and achieves divine love of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39]

He came to remove the heart disease of so many in the world. That was his; that is the purpose.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa sent him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: If Prabhupāda is nitya-siddha so how come...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And one important point I want to clear in this occasion. That for the devotees when it is necessary that they should come to discharge some divine duties, the life of any time that is merely a plea. Just as C.I.D, he may take any garment, any shape, any duty, but his main object is to watch, something like that. When they come to this world of mundane surface, they come with variegated plea, by the will of Kṛṣṇa. But that matters little; not important thing. Reality is there and this is only a sham dress for the time being. It does not matter.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Even if he came as a doctor...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see the Pāṇḍavas and other parśada of Kṛṣṇa in different type, someone begging, someone's enraged, someone's killing, so many things, but this is somewhat worldly. And all to show to the people that these things have got no value. This is all māyā, satya-guṇa, raja-guṇa, tama-guṇa, all māyā. A sacred life according to the standard of this world: that is satya-guṇa. That is also false. And the Ratnaka Dasu's life, that is tama-guṇa in the very beginning, that is also false. When the light comes, darkness of any density may disappear in a moment. So this matters little in the case of the nirguṇa, the bhagavan māyā dhaya, Yogamāyā. Whenever Yogamāyā wants, Mahāmāyā retires. In the jail law, as I say, in the prison there is a particular law for the jailers, for the culprits. But whenever one officer of higher sphere, anyone comes to visit the prison house, wherever he goes the prison law retires: the Yogamāyā, prakṛtiṁ svām adhiṣṭhāya, sambhavāmy ātma-māyayā.

[ajo 'pi sann avyayātmā, bhūtānām īśvaro 'pi san prakṛtiṁ svām adhiṣṭhāya, sambhavāmy ātma-māyayā]

["Although My eternal form is transcendental to birth and death, and I am the controller of all beings, I appear within the world in My original form, by My own sweet will, extending My internal potency of yoga-māyā."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.6]

Ātma-māyayā – Kṛṣṇa says, prakṛtiṁ svām adhiṣṭhāya, by controlling, not by fighting even. Wherever this higher law goes the lower law retires, forced to retire, and no exertion, no fight is even necessary for that to remove. So when that nirguṇa has control:

*api cet sudurācāro, bhajate mām ananya-bhāḥ sādhuḥ eva sa
mantavyaḥ, samyag vyavasito hi saḥ*

["If even a person of extremely abominable practices, abandoning all non devotional pursuits of exploitation and renunciation engages in My exclusive and uninterrupted devotional service, he is venerable as a true saint because he has embraced the revolutionary plane of life."]
[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.30]

What he's doing that is perfectly right, cent per cent. You may see some black things in the life of a sādhū, but if he's real sādhū, if he's nirguṇa position, then what you see that is only concoction, that has got no value – cent per cent he's doing right. So this māyā is a negative space. It has got no value when any positive thing comes back to it. So taking this form of Ratnaka Dasu's case, the Jagāi and Mādhāi's case, the next moment previously he was a great demon and the next moment after then he's a great sage. This is His will, divine will. The final phenomenal conception has got no position before divine will. Infinite divine will in one place and this self condemned misconception is in the other side of the battle. What can māyā do to Kṛṣṇa and His person? So in any form, in any way they may come. The śāstra asks us not to look at those backgrounds.

kibā vipra, kibā nyāsī, śūdra kene naya, yei kṛṣṇa-tattva vettā sei guru haya.

["Whether a person is a brāhmaṇa, a sannyāsī, or a śūdra, if he knows the science of Kṛṣṇa, he is to be accepted as Guru."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.127]

Kṛṣṇa consciousness is absolute. It does not depend. Still because we have got some weakness here, so if we find Guru in a high family and his figure is a beautiful one, janma, aiśvarya, and he has neglected opulence, like Buddhadeva, kicked out the kingdom, janma aiśvarya, śruta, and he was a great scholar, this may help us, to the disciples that has got such negative value, all these things.

[janmaiśvarya-śruta-śrībhir, edhamāna-madaḥ pumān naivārhaty abhidhātuṃ vai, tvām akiñcana-gocaram]

[Queen Kuntī Devī prays: “O Kṛṣṇa! Those who are intoxicated by false ego on account of their good birth with respectable parents, great opulence and wealth, great learning and high education, and personal bodily beauty, cannot cry out: “Govinda!” or “Kṛṣṇa!” with sincere feeling. Only those who have no charm for anything material within this world can chant Your Holy Name in purity.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.8.26]

Otherwise Kṛṣṇa bhakti, the devotion of the Supreme Lord, divinity does not care for any such grandeur of this false world. Am I clear?

Devotees: Yes Mahārāja.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Right at that time the answer that came to my mind was, yes, Prabhupāda came in his previous, I mean before he came as a doctor, but we don't know if maybe in another kalpa that Kṛṣṇa sent him. Then he went back and again he came this time. It's not that he came...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You see, we are told when circumambulating Braja Mandal, in Varsana there was a camp and Prabhupāda was delivering lectures. We were all sitting around hearing. He told at that time, "Up to my Gurudeva the Guru paramparā is coming down, and up to my Gurudeva we must not look at them as sādhana siddha, nitya siddha. Gurudeva is never sādhana siddha." Because, sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair, Gurudeva and ordinary Vaiṣṇavas' position is different. In Ekādaśī Gurudeva is given ana prasādam, that bhogam, not other Vaisnavas. So to the disciple, Kṛṣṇa, Baladeva, Rādhārāṇī... His own necessity is represented there.

Just as the affection for the child in the mother reaches the highest position: and not the grandmother and others.

So by the special arrangement of the Lord the maximum well wisher of a disciple is found in Guru and that is not..., that is maximum purest and by order of Kṛṣṇa he will have to present there, work on His behalf. So Guru should never be seen as sādhana siddha, up to, from the line, from the beginning Guru must not be seen as sādhana siddha. He's nitya siddha. Otherwise it will, bhoga, will disregard. Because we are asked to see Guru as Kṛṣṇa Himself or His representation, His double, delegation is there. We are to see that. We must come in that connection. Then only our bhajan, our sādhana: then that will have real impetus. We're nearest to perfection. With this idea my progress will be more and more increased and intense. Something tampered, the truth which has reached to me there is some dirt there; some certain percent of dirt is there? No. The truth is just at the door, graciously to take me in, to take me up. That is, the śāstra asks us to see things in that way. And what the śāstra says that is not false. That is true. We cannot come up to mark. That is our defect.

sākṣād-dharitvena samasta-śāstrair, uktas tathā bhāvyata eva sadbhiḥ kintu prabhor yaḥ priya eva tasya, vande guroḥ śrī-caraṇāravindam

["In the revealed scriptures it is declared that the spiritual master should be worshipped like the Supreme Personality of Godhead, and this injunction is obeyed by pure devotees of the Lord. The spiritual master is the most confidential servant of the Lord. Thus let us offer our respectful obeisances unto the lotus feet of our spiritual master."] [Śrī Śrī Gurv-aṣṭaka, 7]

To the Vaiṣṇava, mukunda-preṣṭha, because they know that the Kṛṣṇa śakti of the highest type, the function of Guru is there: not Kṛṣṇa Himself, so mukunda-preṣṭha. The most favourite of the Lord has come as Guru to me. I am just adjacent to the highest purifying dynamo, so I cannot but be purified. Ha, ha, ha, ha. This sort of idea must come within us to help our progress really.

Devotee: Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: By the will of the God, it is transferred.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is a complicated case. You see, [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī had his first dīkṣā from Yadhunandana Ācārya, a gṛhastha, when he was gṛhastha himself, first. Then he used to, he came to exemplify the, according to the change of the śiṣya, Lord He takes different kinds of form to help him in different classes. Then he went to Mahāprabhu. Then Mahāprabhu handed him over to Svarūpa Dāmodara. We may say that ordinary śikṣā Guru we may take Yadhunandana, the vartma-pradarśaka, the beginner, the canvasser, something like rtvik, representative. Not Guru proper but his representative came as Yadhunandana and helped him, helped him in a right way, otherwise he could not be attracted by the charming personality of Mahāprabhu. He approached Mahāprabhu. And Mahāprabhu we may take as Rādhārāṇī, in the garb of Rādhārāṇī, Kṛṣṇa in the garb of Rādhārāṇī. He was there, charmed. And Rādhārāṇī placed him to Svarūpa Dāmodara, Lalitā, Lalitā Devī, handed over to Lalitā Devī. Then, but we trace that Dāsa Goswāmī's tendency is always towards Mahāprabhu. Though Mahāprabhu deputed Svarūpa Dāmodara, again he approached Mahāprabhu and told that, "I can't understand why You have taken me, snatched me here from my family..."

End of 81.08.14.A

81.08.14.B

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Give definite direction to me."

Then Mahāprabhu He told something in a nutshell. "Do this and don't do this." And He told, "What I do not know Svarūpa Dāmodara knows it for certain, elaborately. So I have rightly deputed him to train you on My behalf.” So again He put the hand of Dāsa Goswāmī into the hand of Svarūpa Dāmodara.

Then of course he went on with his bhajan in a very stern manner. Sixteen years after that, after the disappearance of Mahāprabhu he left. “Anyhow I’d like to have a view of Vṛndāvana and then I will rather try to finish my life. No more prospect to be seen in my future life.” But when he came to Vṛndāvana he found Mahāprabhu there in Rūpa and Sanātana. And all his plans disappeared. He found that Mahāprabhu is there, and especially he was attracted to Śrī Rūpa. The internal connection of the sympathetic cord he found with Rūpa.

Thereby we are taught that passing through so many ups and downs in the life of a sādhaka he at last comes to Śrī Rūpa and there he thinks that he has reached the station, desired station. What is this rūpānuga sampradāya? Mahāprabhu named this rūpānuga sampradāya. First disciple of Mahāprabhu is Rūpa Goswāmī. Though Rūpa Goswāmī took formal initiation from Sanātana Goswāmī, but Mahāprabhu met Rūpa first and second Sanātana. So Rūpa Sanātana, not Sanātana Rūpa.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Who was originally elder Mahārāja out of the two brothers?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sanātana. But Rūpa Sanātana because first recognition of Mahāprabhu with Rūpa received and then next Sanātana, so Rūpa Sanātana.

Now what is the real meaning of the rūpānuga sampradāya? You are to hear it, mark it very attentively. The mādhurya rasa is the total rasa, and the most intense of all rasa, all accommodating. Twenty four hours engagement of service with Kṛṣṇa is only possible in mādhurya rasa. And there is possibility of reaction: that is leisure, that ālasyam, that tiredness in all other rasas, even in vātsalya rasa. Sometimes the mother may think, father may think, “I am too much tired, I shall do the arrangement of feeding a little after.” Ālasyam. But in mādhurya rasa, there is no ālasyam, no reaction.

Then, now the difference between Rūpa the mañjarī and Lalitā the sakhī, these are of course things of the very higher order. We should not have audacity to enter into these subtle points. Still what we understand only when that question has come to me about Raghunātha Dāsa and by divine arrangement I am going to say.

When Rādhā Govinda is lonely in union, the sakhīs of the higher order does not approach that place, but the mañjarīs can go. The junior sevākas they can go to perform any service necessary there because due to their lesser age, they are allowed. And the higher friends of Rādhārāṇī they keep some respectable distance. So when Rādhā-Govinda are alone in union, there the highest quality of rasa is to be found in Their līlā, and that is approachable to the juniors. That is to the mañjarīs, not to the sakhīs. So, the highest attainment is to be located in Rūpa, the leader of that group, that junior group who has got the special advantage of the special service in that stage, so, rūpānuga. Wherever we are we shall have to accept that that is the acme of our fulfilment; that point. And through Dāsa Goswāmī – that not only through formal Guru, then, kavi sri caitanya navi koi vrindaya kotavi pay na vaisnava padachaya [?]

First we may be attracted by the highest peak of the Himalayas. Then when approaching, we see so many other beautiful peaks. So we are attracted by Kṛṣṇa in general, then from Kṛṣṇa, we come to a proper Vaiṣṇava, proper location according my necessity of my innate nature. In this way, from Mahāprabhu then to Svarūpa Dāmodara, and with permission of Lalitā he comes to Rūpa, and the point of Rūpa, that is the place of our highest attainment. And that has been shown in the līlā of Dāsa Goswāmī Prabhu.

Sri rupa manjari sakhi pratita pariva sen pumsa pravasya pranam hite [?]

These are the *śloka*s written by him, and he has been accepted as the Ācārya of prajoyana tattva. The Ācārya of prajoyana, what is our highest necessity, that is in his hand, in Dāsa Goswāmī, the prajoyana Ācārya. But the whole thing must be approached with the mood of divinity, where there is the land, the plane of dedication. And nothing of enjoyment, spirit of enjoyment, pleasure: must not enter, then that will keep us down in this plane of mundane relativity. The divinity to the extreme, it reaches there, the zenith is there, Śrī Rūpa Mañjarī. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Cāru Swami: Mahārāja, who are the Ācāryas of sambandha and abhideya-tattva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sambandha Ācārya we are told is Sanātana Goswāmī. He has given us a graphic description of the environment, who am I? He put this question to Mahāprabhu.

'ke āmi,' 'kene āmāya jāre tāpa-traya', ihā nāhi jāni -- 'kemanē hita haya' 'sādhya'-'sādhana'-tattva puchite nā jāni, kṛpā kari' saba tattva kaha ta' āpani"

[“Who am I? Why do the threefold miseries always give me trouble? If I do not know this, how can I be benefited?”] [“Actually I do not know how to inquire about the goal of life and the process for obtaining it. Being merciful upon me, please explain all these truths.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.102-103]

Mahāprabhu gradually gave him the description of everything in details, what is what? Who are you? Jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa' [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108] In a nutshell, in one word, the slave to Kṛṣṇa: the slavery.

When this European style people they accused Gauḍīya Maṭh, “They’re preachers of slavery.” So when [Herr] Schulze [aka Sadānanda Dāsa] came to Dacca University a lecture was arranged, and Prabhupāda selected the subject, “Gauḍīya Maṭh stands for the dignity of the human race.” Not for slavery. It is not a very easy thing to get the service of God in the form of Kṛṣṇa. So, jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa'. Nitya-dāsa means, “born slave, born servant.” That is slave. That was like clarion call. In a high voice that was declared first, jīvera 'svarūpa' haya, with such pride, and magnanimous pride, jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa'. Such a dignified position the jīva soul has got. But now in the garb of a master he is the slave of māyā, ajñāna, ignorance. But his real position, innate position, he has got inseparable in the position of such a great order. The Kṛṣṇa has got His Autocratic power over them. So fortunate they are. So fortunate, so close connection with Kṛṣṇa the jīva has got in an innate stage.

jīvera 'svarūpa' haya-kṛṣṇera 'nitya-dāsa', kṛṣṇera 'tatasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa' [kṛṣṇa bhuli sei jīva anādi-bahirmukha, ataeva māyā tāre deya saṁsāra dukha]

[“The constitutional nature of the jīva soul is that of an eternal servant of Kṛṣṇa; the jīva soul is a manifestation of divinity which is one with Kṛṣṇa and different from Him. The jīva souls are the marginal potency of the Lord. Though in reality they are servants of Kṛṣṇa, from time immemorial, they have been engaged in misconception, as exploiting agents.”]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 20.108 & 117]

But at present it is not found. It is in his prospect he is such, but in his present position he comes from the line of demarcation, the marginal potency, and so his entrance into māyā has been possible at all. Otherwise, it would not have happened. Kṛṣṇera 'taṭasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa', adaptability of both sides is within him, 'taṭasthā-śakti' bhedābheda-prakāśa', something common and something different, everywhere of course. In this way, Mahāprabhu began.

And Sanātana Goswāmī asked, put question after question and got answers and he gave about the conception about the environment, and the position of the jīva, Bhagavān, who is who. That is sambandha.

And Rūpa Goswāmī generally deals with the abhidheya, the means to the end. How to attain our desired position? That is abhidheya. Abidha means abidhan, dictionary – abidha abidhan, the natural meaning of the word. What comes naturally from the Veda, from the śrauta words; what flows naturally. Veda means what do you want to do? What do you want us to do? That is abidheya: abidha, abidheya. What is their natural implication of the śruti that has been extended to us by Kṛṣṇa? Abidheya, that is He wants that, “Do this, and come to Me.” That is abidheya, so abidheya Ācārya, the means to the end, sādhana. Rūpa Goswāmī has elaborately given, described about the way, “By step by step in this way you come.”

*ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' tha bhajana-kriyā tato' nartha-nivṛttiḥ
syāt tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ premābhyudañcati sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet
kramaḥ*

[“In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness.”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

Gradual process to enter into our long missing link: prema, sneha, mana, pranaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva, mahābhāva. This has been graphically described by Rūpa Goswāmī in details. “This is the way, and in this plane, do this, and then next step, next step, this way, this way, you can come to the highest.” That has been given by Rūpa, the means to the end, how to come to the desired goal.

And prajohana-tattva – the Dāsa Goswāmī, he’s prajohana, because he has clearly and boldly asserted that our necessity is not so much with Kṛṣṇa, as with His highest servitor. Because generally we come from taṭasthā-śakti, we have got a limited prospect, and limited prospect to its highest degree takes us to the highest servitor, eternal servitor in mādhurya rasa to Rādhārāṇī. That is the general show, and in other rasas to the highest operator of that service.

So in Rādhārāṇī, he declared boldly, “Kṛṣṇa, I do not want You if I do not find Rādhārāṇī there. I want rather Rādhārāṇī. Two phases of meaning there. I cannot really give You the supply of the highest type of service. So, what is the necessity of going in the front rank? I was wandering in the street the other day, and I have got such audacity that will come nearest and venture to render service to You? There are permanent servitors there, how high and of what a high quality service there? I must admit that. If I am really liberated and really I am graced, then I must understand my real position. I must not cross the original and higher servitors. That will be a fault in me, and that will be suicidal. That will defeat its own object. So, my highest goal will be to help the real and eternal servitor who is taking that great charge of serving You in a high way. That is the thing. And also our necessity, we are the serving group, so the serving master, that is our group, our leader naturally, so I must accommodate with the serving leader. That is, I am not hankering after direct service of You but the serving leader, I must try to earn the confidence of her or of him who is the leader. Then I am seeking, searching Your proper service, and not otherwise, it would be self seeking in some form or other.”

So he boldly declared that Rādhā dāsyam, Rādhā kiṅkarā is the highest end, should be our summum bonum of us, Rādhā dāsyam. There is Rādhā dāsyā, or Yaśodā dāsyā in vātsalya rasa, or Nanda dāsyā, the leader of every camp, the highest leader; that should be more concern real, the point of attention should be there. That he told, and then gradually came to Rūpa, the leader of the juniors. That he depicted there. And this has been clearly, bakārināpi _____ explained in Dāsa Goswāmī's śloka – āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit. When Prabhupāda used to explain this stanza, this śloka, his figure was transformed into like a phantom.

āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit, kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila sāmprataṁ hi tvaṁ cet kṛpaṁ mayi vidhāsyasi naiva kiṁ me, prānair vrajema ca varoru bakārināpi?

["O Varoru my beautiful, most magnanimous Goddess, my heart is flooded with an ocean of nectarean hopes. I have somehow been passing time until now eagerly longing for Your grace, which is an ocean of ever cherished nectar. If still You do not bestow Your mercy on me then of what use to me are my life, the land of Vraja, or even Śrī Kṛṣṇa who without You, is simply a mighty hero, the destroyer of demoniac forces like Baka."]

Dāsa Goswāmī's appeal to Rādhārāṇī, "Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ. From long time I am cherishing the hope, this sweetest hope, amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ, my āśā is compared with the ocean and that ocean of nectar. From far away I am fostering such a hope, of nectarine ocean, kathañcit kālo mayātigamitaḥ kila, that I shall come to serve You, I shall get the privilege of serving You. Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit kālo mayātigamitaḥ. Anyhow, I am dragging myself with this great infinite and sweetest hope, that I shall get the chance of serving You, of Your service of Your divine feet. Āśābharair-amṛta-sindhu-mayaiḥ kathañcit kālo mayātigamitaḥ. But now I think I have come in the last verge of my hope. No longer I can contain myself. No longer I can live, I can breathe any more. To the last minute or last circumference of my hope, I have reached, my master. Kila sāmprataṁ hi tvam cet kṛpam mayi vidhāsyasi naiva kiṁ me. If You won't be satisfied with me and accept me, then I no longer can stand, or sustain my life. Anyhow, I have dragged to the last moment of my life. Prānair vrajema ca varoru. I have come to the final conclusion that of what use is this Vraja? What is the use of my life if I cannot reach this my sweetest goal of my dream, then what is the use of my life further, dragging, dragging, dragging on life? Prānair vrajema ca. What shall I do with this great Vraja Dhāma of such a renowned acquaintance? Vrajema ca varoru. Oh beautiful footed, bakārināpi. And even what should I do with Kṛṣṇa? I don't want Them.

The whole concentration – You will serve Kṛṣṇa, You have got that capacity, it is natural, and if I serve You, I utilise myself to serve You so that that service through You may pass to Kṛṣṇa, that will be the highest attainment of my fortune."

He declared it, Dāsa Goswāmī. And still now, that is the highest point of our achievement for the whole Gauḍīya Sampradāya. He is the proyojana Ācārya, Dāsa Goswāmī. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol. And by the grace of you all, by the necessity, Prabhupāda is drawing things. Gaura Haribol. And I cannot but remember that he wanted me to go to the West.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: To tell everyone about Dāsa Goswāmī. He wanted you to perhaps deliver this conception that you are carrying for the benefit of the people of the world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ke bolchen?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: To spread this knowledge about the Goswāmīs, Prabhupāda wanted you to go to the West, to give them the knowledge.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow, and the credit is to Swāmī Mahārāja. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: And Prabhupāda wanted to bring everybody here to you.

Akṣayānanda Swāmī: Your speaking is going to the West. We know sādhū by how he speaks.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is by the grace of Swāmī Mahārāja it is going. Kalidāsa says in Raghu-vamsa, [?]

Kalidāsa says when he is approaching to describe about the Raghu vamsa, that, “I am a man of small literary experience and that great Raghu vamsa, so many stalwarts have sprung there, and I am going to describe about them with my least wealth of poetry?” He says that, and many *śloka*s are devoted for that purpose. There is one,

Or, I may think like that, that previous renowned kavis like Valmiki and Vyāsa, they have given a description of Raghu vamsa and they have made my, the path of my entering into that secret description easy. How? Mono vajra somuthenesutresye vostune. In a manī-mālā, the manī [jewel] is a hard thing, and the sutre, the thread cannot enter, pierce it, but vajra, means that iron needle, it has already made a hole through it, and now the thread is going, passing easily through it.

So, Swāmī Mahārāja was like a vajra, the hard thing has been, he has prepared a hole and like a thread, I am passing through that.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was so simple. He was so great and so simple at the same time. Anyhow, Mahāprabhu has done, or Gurudeva has done through him a tremendous inconceivable thing.

Bon Mahārāja who could not tolerate all these things because he was first in charge to go to the West and he could not get the desired success, but the other day, when coming from Māyāpur, Bon Mahārāja told, "Acintya." He did not want to give recognition, but from his mouth, the word came out, "What he has done, this is acintya, it is inconceivable. So, it is divine."

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "It is inconceivable what he has done, what Nityānanda Prabhu, our Prabhupāda, Baladeva; has done through him, that is inconceivable."

He himself told here, that a merchant of Bombay told him, "So many stalwarts approached, went to America, this Yogananda, Vivekananda, so many, Rabindranatha, but you have put ink into their mouth." He himself told me [laughs].

[?]

And ink, black as well as with burning pain. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. [?]

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Bhadri Daran Prabhu whether one can have two rasas in the spiritual world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is not seen generally. Transformation is possible. In the first stage it may not be detected finally. You see, this is a great problem to us, and also a great guidance to us. Anyhow, we have come to a group which is explicitly the group of mādhurya rasa. The Guru paramparā you say, the mantram you see, not of vātsalya rasa, but to mādhurya rasa. All the mantram leading to mādhurya rasa. Mādhurya rasa is all accommodating rasa, and that was mainly given by Mahāprabhu and Śrī Rūpa, so Rūpānuga sampradāya, and the mantram what we get, is all rasa combined, that is and to help that rasa, the service of that rasa, other paraphernalia has been created. Ādi rasa and mukha rasa, two paricaya, denominations of rasa, they are identical. Ādi rasa means most original rasa is mādhurya rasa, and mukhya rasa, the principle rasa is mādhurya rasa. And the [origin] of all rasa is found there. And our Guru paramparā all in mādhurya rasa, and the mantrams that are given to us are all mādhurya rasa, so that is the real rasa.

[“May that Lord, who is known as the son of Śrīmatī Śacīdevī, be transcendently situated in the innermost chambers of your heart. Resplendent with the radiance of molten gold, He has appeared in this age of Kali by His causeless mercy to bestow what no incarnation ever offered before: the most sublime and radiant spiritual knowledge of the mellow taste of His service.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.4]

What was not given previously Mahāprabhu come to give it, that Rādhā Govinda milita tanu, They Both come to jointly give the type of Their divine love for the public. If you have such qualification, you can come up to this, the highest quarter. That was the necessity of the coming of Śrī Gaurāṅga here to distribute that. Gaura Hari. All others are subservient, helping the service of that rasa of Kṛṣṇa. So, in our childhood, when not sufficiently developed, we may be here and there, but ultimately, we shall mostly we are to go there.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: The different individuals will have their respective rasas, but the original mood, the objective, is to enhance the mādhurya rasa, support the mādhurya rasa. Say somebody is in sākhya rasa, but he is in Mahāprabhu's movement, he is trying all the time...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, there is also an instance, not only that, but greater than that.

Mahāprabhu tried to convert Murārī Gupta, but He could not, then He left. "Very strongly your innate function is towards Rāmacandra." But still, Murārī Gupta had some respect for this.

Then also, Sanātana Goswāmī he tried his best to take the father of Jīva Goswāmī, Anupama, he was a devotee of Rāmacandra, to take him in to Kṛṣṇa līlā, but they also failed. So there are: the trial that has got some value, even by Mahāprabhu and Sanātana.

That is not a chance coincidence or a flickering, false attempt. So it is possible, and at the same time there is such strong nature that cannot be converted. That faith, that thing, is in the jīva. The both sides have been pleaded here.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja, it has been clear now, in a way that Prabhupāda was in sākhya rasa. So that means that...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: At least temporarily he has showed like that. What he has expressed there in that journey, here it is almost clear that he liked that sort of līlā best. But it may be that he might have suppressed purposely. It also cannot be denied, maybe. That is one thing. [?]

There may be such possibility. He has said that Rādhārāṇī was his Gurudeva. His Gurudeva was Rādhārāṇī. But he himself posing like that that mādhurya rasa should not be distributed in the first instalment. That may be in his view.

And another, that is one, another point I miss, there is another point I am going to say. One thing, I miss that point what I wanted to say. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Sorry Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And because that pracāra was helped mostly by Nityānanda, Baladeva; so influenced by Their tendency, mood, he might have for the time being may have that posing. And another thing... [?]

Bharati Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you previously said that Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah! Another sign that he showed affinity towards sākhya rasa is, in Vṛndāvana, he has installed Baladeva, Kṛṣṇa Balarāma, and Nitāi Gaura: a type of sākhya rasa preference. But that also may be with the previous idea: that generally, by, “Influenced by Nityānanda, Nityānanda and Baladeva has helped me to preach the līlā of Kṛṣṇa in such a broad way,” so in gratitude he might have placed that Vighraha.

But our Guru Mahārāja did not place, then Pañca-tattva in other places, otherwise the pure mādhurya rasa, Mahāprabhu, Rādhā-Govinda. Everywhere he installed Mahāprabhu, both combined and Rādhā-Govinda separately. Naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam.

rādhā kṛṣṇa-praṇaya-vikṛtir hlādinī śaktir asmād ekātmānāv api bhuvi purā deha-bhedam gatau tau caitanyaḥkhyam prakāṣam adhunā tad-dvayam caikyam āptam rādhā-bhāva-dyuti-suvalitam naumi kṛṣṇa svarūpam

[“I worship Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu, who is Kṛṣṇa Himself, enriched with the emotions and radiance of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. As the Predominating and Predominated Moieties, Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa are eternally one, with separate individual identities. Now They have again united as Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya. This inconceivable transformation of the Lord’s internal pleasure giving potency has arisen from the loving affairs of Rādhā and Kṛṣṇa.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.5]

But Guru Mahārāja, though preached exclusively this mādhurya rasa, Bhaktisiddhānta Sarasvatī Ṭhākura, but with great precaution. What is not that thing he perhaps used ninety per cent of his energy to preach that this is not mādhurya rasa, the negative side.

To clear away the negative side, he had to spare in his words, "gallons of blood" to be spared to teach that this is not that rasa. Neti neti, this is not that thing, this is not that thing. And whatever he did, that pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. His whole life in a nutshell is expressed in this, his own expression, "The pūjāla rāgapāṭha, the my sampradāya, the very nature of my sampradāya is this."

pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge, mattala hari-jana viṣaya range

["The path of divine love is worshipping to us and should be held overhead as our highest aspiration."]

Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge. The whole tenor of his preaching expedition, the pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge, the rāgapāṭha is above, on our head. That is the goal. We are to go there. But before that you have got charm for many things, the grandeur. You try to learn that what is at present charming to you, utilise that for the service of that great domain of love. The majesty, the awe, the wealth, the reverence, everything what is grand to you, what attracts you most, all these, put into the service of that Lord of love and beauty. The absolute is beauty and love, harmony, autocrat, and everything should be sacrificed for Him. Learn this! Whatever you come in connection with sacrifice into the fire to establish that the Lord of love. For His little satisfaction, all this grandeur may be put into the fire. Learn this. Don't try to attempt to get that thing in your hand, within your fist. This was the whole tenor of his preaching.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the bābājī, that is to be revered. Don't go to take up the kaupīna and imitate Rūpa and Sanātana. Then I shall give a blow. Become a sannyāsī, varṇāśrama. And they're above your head. You try to think like that. Prepare yourself in that way. Then one day you'll easily reach the desired end. Don't keep these enemies behind, they will draw you back. Put all them for the service." That was his nature. Pūjāla rāgapāṭha gaurava bāṅge.

And his desire, earnest desire was, "All the wealth in the world must be taken into Māyāpur. The Māyāpur will be decorated with gold and jewels of the world. Mahāprabhu, was so magnanimous He has done so much for this world that all the highest things in the world must come in gratitude and they will be left under His feet. Everything charming must be snatched and must be put into the feet of Mahāprabhu. Such great giver, none in the world, in the history of the world has given, has shown such magnanimity, mahā-vadānyāya avatāra. None thought so much for the jīva, for the welfare of the jīva, and none has come with such news of higher prospect of the jīva, has come to give the highest nectar to the jīva. The greatest of all the givers and donors and of things of highest quality: Mahāprabhu. The whole world, all the scholars, all saints, they must come to worship the feet of Mahāprabhu. He has done so much for this fallen world of māyā, of ignorance. All our attention must come to the feet of Mahāprabhu." That was his heart's desire and tendency.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja, [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Mādhurya rasa main, the principal thing, and surrounding that other rasas they're not, cannot be excluded. They're necessary to foster this mādhurya rasa. Mādhurya rasa also wants that other rasas must be there. Otherwise mādhurya rasa cannot stay alone. So gradually they will be arranged in so many camps – it will be, but it will be mainly in the middle. Just as Grand Trunk Road and so many roads, this way that way, subsidiary. The mādhurya rasa is the main thing, mukhya rasa, ādī rasa, the samaha of all rasa.

But in absolute consideration it has been described, the vātsalya rasa is present there, sākhya rasa is present there, and dāsyā rasa is present there, and śanta rasa also is present there, and not only present: of course, very – too much audacity – in taṭasthā-vicāra, absolute consideration we are to think, the mother serving the dish to the son, and the wife serving the dish to the husband. What will please most? We are told that the mādhurya rasa, the vātsalya in mādhurya rasa, that will be more pleasing. So the śanta rasa niṣṭha, the servant is doing, is giving a service to the master, and that same service when given by the wife that will be more sweet. In this way, all rasa not only in the physical, in the measurable sense, but in qualitative difference, it is highest in taṭasthā-vicāra, not neglecting, disrespecting other rasa.

But formally, Rādhārāṇī every day when She gets up Her first duty is to go and to touch Her forehead on the feet of Yaśodā. Her first duty when She awakes from, Her first duty, we find from Gopāl-Tāpanī by Jīva Goswāmī, first duty, anyhow She runs and anyhow She touches Her forehead to the feet of Yaśodā. Then She begins other work. This formal respect is such. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, also, Rūpa Goswāmī in Bhakti- rasāmṛta-sindhu describes the priya-narma, like Subala.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They're in sākhya rasa, there is a particular group. There is difference in every personal character. Then Subala, and Madhumaṅgala, mostly Subala is the friend who has got direct connection with mādhurya rasa. So much so that bhāva – mahā bhāva is only reserved in mādhurya rasa, no other rasa. But Subala sometimes attains that bhāva daśa, bhāva – mahā bhāva. Mahā bhāva is only for Rādhārāṇī. And bhāva in sākhya rasa only reserved for Subala, because that friend has connection with mādhurya rasa. He can attain up to bhāva stage it has been described there in bhāva portion, in Caritāmṛta we find that, Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Na. And I've already said that mādhurya rasa presupposes all other rasa. It is dependent, all correlated. Everything is gold but still if we are to differentiate there is the possibility, room of differentiation sufficiently. Still, the peculiar thing is this, that Yaśodā won't admit that mādhurya rasa is better than her. She won't admit. Yei rasa, sei sarvottama.

[kintu yāñra yei rasa, sei sarvottama / taṭa-stha haṣā vicārile, āche tara-tama]

["It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love."] [Caitanya, caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.83]

She won't admit. "What? I can chastise. I can rule them, whatever I like. I am all in all. Who is she?" Yei rasa, sei. Subala won't like...

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: But can sākhya rasa say that same thing?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Every rasa, every rasa, he's the supreme in his own position and dignity. "I don't want that." That is the peculiar nature of Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Actually Mahārāja, in saṅkīrtana movement, in Mahāprabhu's pastimes all the associates of Mahāprabhu, those who are in sākhya rasa, they're with Nityānanda Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They have more attraction, that Dvādaśa Gopāl, they like more Nityānanda Prabhu as their leader. "Mahāprabhu is too stern, too strong. Nityānanda Prabhu is very magnanimous. We like Him very much. He's our leader. And the connection with Mahāprabhu, Śrī Nityānanda Prabhu will see how to arrange, how to adjust with Him. We want Nityānanda Prabhu." That will be their temperament.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

heno nitāi vine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi

[From Narottama dāsa Ṭhākura's Manaḥ-śikṣā, verse 1]

So the benevolence of Nityānanda Prabhu in the primary stage it is highly necessary. The entrance, eliminating Nityānanda Prabhu, if anyone wants to enter into mādhurya rasa that is mere dream, imagination, heno nitāi vine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi. Don't run like a madman towards Rādhā Kṛṣṇa, kāṛṣṇa, ignoring Nityānanda Prabhu, then everything will be bogus. Baladeva: the very basis.

nitāiyer korunā habe, braje rādhā-kṛṣṇa pābe

[From Narottama dāsa Ṭhākura's Manaḥ-śikṣā, verse 3]

The primary sanction must come from Baladeva and Nityānanda. He holds the key to enter into Braja. First have entrance and then go according to your innate necessity. But mainly the key of the whole is in the hand of Baladeva and Yogamāyā. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

They are all correlated. Who are we to discuss about Them? Only through the śāstric representation we come to try to enter, to touch a drop. Mahāprabhu Himself says, tomāya cākhāite tāra kahi eka 'bindu'. When He teaches Rūpa Goswāmī Mahāprabhu Himself says, "Only one drop I am, an ocean." Pārāpāra-śūnya gabhīra bhakti-rasa-sindhu. "Endless ocean of bhakti rasa. Only a single drop of that I am trying to give it to you."

[pārāpāra-śūnya gabhīra bhakti-rasa-sindhu / tomāya cākhāite tāra kahi eka 'bindu'] ["The ocean of the transcendental mellows of devotional service is so big that no one can estimate its length and breadth. However, just to help you taste it, I am describing but one drop."]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 19.137]

Then in another place: “Eka-bindu jagat dubāya.” [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 15.19] “This one drop is sufficient to cover, to inundate the whole of the world.”

Then that is infinite. Infinite taken from infinite, infinite remains: or add infinite, that same infinite. Infinite is such. Just as zero, zero minus zero is zero, zero plus zero is zero, zero into zero is zero. So infinite, infinite into infinite is infinite, plus infinite is infinite, minus infinite is infinite – all infinite.

So Kṛṣṇa says, “Whatever you can [conceive] that is in My one part.”

And infinite Anantadeva is His bed, and He’s lying on infinite. So what can we speak about? Who are we? Eka-bindu jagat dubāya. Who are we? Na prema-gandho.

[na prema-gandho 'sti darāpi me harau, krandāmi saubhāgya-bharaṁ prakāśitum vaṁśī-vilāsy-ānana-lokanaṁ vinā, vibharmmi yat prāṇa-pataṅgakān vṛthā]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: “My dear friends, I have not the slightest tinge of love of Godhead within My heart. When you see Me crying in separation, I am just falsely exhibiting a demonstration of My great fortune. Indeed, not seeing the beautiful face of Kṛṣṇa playing His flute, I continue to live My life like an insect, without purpose.”] [Caitanya-

caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45]

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: The only thing we can feel Mahārāja is that we must have done something very good in the past because we are receiving the mercy from your lotus feet. We are hearing all these transcendental pastimes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It maybe it is like mockery. If the Lord is wishing everything is mukam karoti vācālaṁ.

[mukam karoti vācālaṁ panghum langhāyate girīm yat kṛpā tam ahaṁ vande śrī gurun dīna-tāranam]

["I offer my respectful obeisances unto Mādhava, Who is the Personification of transcendental bliss. By His mercy, a blind man can see the stars in the sky, a lame man can cross mountains, and a dumb man can speak eloquent words of poetry."]

[Śrīdhara Svāmī's Bhavārtha Dipikā, maṅgala stotram, 1]

If He wants to speak through me He can do it. I can't, I can't. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

According to the śrauta, the calf can draw milk from the ovum, so according to śrauta.

Mahāprabhu says when Sanātana Goswāmī asked Him that, “I heard that You gave eighteen different kinds of explanations of the ātmārāma śloka of Bhāgavatam. I had a mind to hear that from Your lips, divine lips.”

“Oh. You want that? But what I told to Sārvabhauma, it was by the influence of Sārvabhauma that those meanings, explanations, different, came. Generally I have no different explanations in My mind, in a general time. But only with the attraction of Sārvabhauma so many meanings came out. Let Me attend, try, what meaning I may find within for you.” Then began and then sixty one or two types of explanation came from ātmārāma śloka.

Then Sanātana Goswāmī told, “What You have done this is impossible: only possible for You. You are Veda mayi Mūrti. You are that person whom the whole Veda wants to make known. So You can do anything and everything.”

Mahāprabhu told in return, “Why Sanātana you are praising Me so much unnecessarily? I am a man of tiny capacity. But don’t you think that Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is Kṛṣṇa Himself? Every letter in Bhāgavatam is Kṛṣṇa. Every letter can be explained in infinite ways because it is Kṛṣṇa. So what of these sixty one or two types of vision about the particular śloka, it is infinite. It is Kṛṣṇa Himself, the Bhāgavatam.”

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Such are the ways we have come to.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, isn’t this why Kṛṣṇa consciousness is so nice even from the beginning, that even if you’re given a drop of the infinite, that's also infinite, isn't it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Infinite you find, yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So even in the beginning.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Beginning, middle, end, all nectar, according to the stage of devotees.

And we are told that one man could not sleep, but some gentleman requested him, “Go and seek to hear Bhāgavatam, then you may get sleep.” He went to do that and he actually – sleep came. Because he could not enter into it, it was not – it was like a burden to him, he cannot come, but drowsiness that came to relieve him.

And Swāmī Mahārāja also told, “In America, one gentleman he tried his best, he used all sorts of medicines and other practices, but could not sleep. Then one gentleman told him to go to the Hare Kṛṣṇa Movement, you may get sleep. That man came and he got sleep.” Then he helped in many ways, your institution, I heard from him.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: In Punjab, Mahārāja, once I heard one man speaking, he was giving pravacaṇ but at the same time he was giving many stories also. So he was telling that when Vibhiṣana, when Kumbhakarna died, then Nidra Devī went to Lord Rāmacandra and told that, “Vibhiṣana was – Kumbhakarṇa was my only...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. “Where is my shelter?”

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: “And where’s my shelter now that You’ve killed him?”

So Rāmacandra blessed her by saying that, “Wherever the Bhāgavata-pāṭ is going on you can...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. _____ So Bhāgavata is so precious and so not available easily – Bhāgavatam. Because Kṛṣṇa is all in all, we are nowhere, no position. The Bhāgavatam means that. Kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam.

[ete cāmśa-kalāḥ puṁsaḥ, kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam indrāri-vyākulaṁ lokam, mṛdayanti yuge yuge]

[“All the above-mentioned incarnations are either plenary portions or portions of the plenary portions of the Lord, but Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the original Personality of Godhead. All of them appear on planets whenever there is a disturbance created by the atheists. The Lord incarnates to protect the theists.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.28]

Everything belongs to Him, He’s the autocrat. It is very hard to digest this principle.

Everything belongs to Him. Even Rabindranatha, par vaikunthe tade [?] “Then nothing left for us to enjoy?”

That in some poem of Rabindranatha perhaps it is, par vaikunthe tade [?] “Nothing left for the jīva, for us?” He could not tolerate. Everything for him.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

I pointed out to one gentleman that: [?]

He admits caran, he admits dhula, but he does not admit other limbs and other colour, or life, or anything, then he'll become converted into Vaiṣṇavism. So he only admits caran and dhula. This is not only half, admitting a part, and not the whole. He has not the courage to accept the whole, but only caran and dhuli. And other things, the heart, the hand, the head, where do they go – of the Lord? Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Caitanya. Anuraga anu raya ca [?]

Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: ...Mahārāja went to Bombay.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When, yesterday?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Around, two days ago.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two days ago. And he's to come back?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He should be back on Saturday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Saturday, all right. And Sarvabhavana Prabhu is here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. He's in Calcutta. He said that he wanted to come to see Your Divine Grace on Wednesday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wednesday. Wednesday evening or?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Sometime Wednesday.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wednesday. Wednesday means day after tomorrow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: You are doing well?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Me?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your health is quite fit now?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: My physical health, but my mental health is quite disturbed.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Disturbed?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Meeting, after meeting whom?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, I called America, and there I found out that Rāmeśvara Swāmī was saying some things which have caused me a lot of grief.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, has caused me some grief. He does not want you in his zone?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That's part of it.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And then, more? He, Rāmeśvara Swāmī is passing his unfavourable remark against Jayatīrtha Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I think that's in the past. Now he's passing unfavourable remarks about me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He's against you?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To what effect? If he does not like you, then what can he do? What harm he can do to you?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, really, no harm. If I'm sincere about cultivating Kṛṣṇa consciousness then no harm can be done.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. You won't care for any harm of the mundane world. But the present social status, any harm he can do – in ISKCON?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, yes, he can do a lot.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He can ask the committee to expel you from ISKCON? Can he?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. He could do that, but...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The committee can do that. He can't do it alone.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, but there's other things that he can do.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He may recommend to the committee that, "He has done such and such mischief so he should be expelled from the ISKCON." At most he may try to do like that. Then what will happen, God knows, Kṛṣṇa knows. Any fresh news from Haṁsadūta Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No. Jayatīrtha Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No news from him either.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No news. Then Tamal Kṛṣṇa?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's in Los Angeles right now with Rāmeśvara Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he's supporting Rāmeśvara Swāmī?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I haven't heard anything first hand.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then, let us see what happens. Hare Kṛṣṇa.
Gaura Hari.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But, I've been accused of trying to destroy my Guru Mahārāja's movement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: According to you, how in way they are moving that is not exactly in the line of Guru Mahārāja, you think like that?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a very gorgeous way, they're moving, living and moving in a very gorgeous way.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not just gorgeous.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: See, our Guru Mahārāja was very accommodating. The same people that he was able to accommodate, it appears that they're not able to accommodate. And sometimes I don't even expect them to be able to accommodate everyone: because our Guru Mahārāja was a special person.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ultimately the will of the Lord will act. So we need not be afraid of any situation whatsoever.

Devotee: [?]

[śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt] sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyah, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

And this is relative consideration. And the absolute consideration:

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

Wherever I shall get intense Kṛṣṇa consciousness I must keep company there. And because I may not go down so I shall try to maintain my position with the present association of good thinking. Gaurasundar. Gaurasundar.

You are to take something now? Any sugar water or anything else?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. Your words are very soothing to me. After my journey your words are the most soothing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where is Bhāvānanda Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's in Vṛndāvana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, he's in Vṛndāvana, and will be there up to Swāmī Mahārāja's Janmotsav.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, and then he's coming here for that, to Māyāpur.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And you won't go to join Janmotsav in Vṛndāvana?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I don't know. I was thinking maybe to go.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. And you are in India, then of course it will be good if you can join Janmotsav ceremony.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In Vṛndāvana or Māyāpur?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Janmotsav generally takes place in Māyāpur, is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, we have...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Virahotsav there, in Vṛndāvana.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Oh, I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Janmotsav perhaps will take place with grandeur in Māyāpur, nearer to Calcutta, his birthplace.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, I see.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And the place of his departure is Vṛndāvana, so in Vṛndāvana Maṭha his Virahotsav will be observed with grandeur. Gaura Hari. So Bhāvānanda Mahārāja will come soon before Janmotsav?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He will come. On Janmāṣṭamī he will be in Vṛndāvana. The next morning he will fly from Delhi to Calcutta to here, to Māyāpur.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: On that very day, Janmotsav, here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Jayapataka Mahārāja, he'll stay here?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's in Gohati, and he's coming to Calcutta tomorrow, and he'll be in Māyāpur also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, before, you suggested that I perhaps should work with Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, as GBC. But if I – Bhāvānanda Mahārāja is the chairman – I have some feelings that if I tell him that I will work with Haṁsadūta Mahārāja that he'll be very disturbed by that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then what is his opinion?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He thinks that I should travel with him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: With Bhāvānanda Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. And maybe like go all over the world, Australia, this place that place.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now, what he's doing, your secretary, Svarūpa Dāmodara Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He may be in Bombay.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Now?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. I'm guessing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Cāru Swāmī Mahārāja he's also going to – went to Bombay.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, for some meeting there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Adidaran Prabhu is at Calcutta now?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Oh yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Soshimenon [?] do you know him? No? One Soshimenon, one officer in the Switch [?] Electric Board, you don't know him.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, I do not know him.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Subarga Prabhu is at Calcutta?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And another Indonesian gentleman some Brajendra Kumar.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He's in Calcutta.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, pretty much wherever I would be sent, wherever the GBC might want me to go, because my opinions are controversial they will take it as some disturbance of the devotees there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Consult with Cāru Swāmī Mahārāja. What is his opinion? What does Cāru Swāmī Mahārāja say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well, we have our feelings privately that we don't think things can go on the way they are very much longer. We are known to be persons who have connected themselves with your Divine Grace and we're not willing to abandon that connection. We do not want to abandon that connection. We will not abandon your association regardless of what the GBC say.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who, yourselves?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Myself and Bhakti Cāru Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And Sarvabavana?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And Sarvabavana.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then what about Venkata Raman? He's also of that type.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. And I guess Haṁsadūta Mahārāja also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Haṁsadūta Mahārāja, and perhaps Jayatīrtha Mahārāja?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: See Mahārāja, Jayatīrtha Mahārāja, they could deal with him in such a way by social pressure to make him abandon. I don't think he will but they try like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, they may try.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: See, I have a letter from our Guru Mahārāja saying that you are his śikṣā Guru, that he accepts you as such.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Several times he expressed like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, so many times.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So many times, and exactly he did behave with me like that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Right. I've listened...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He was my junior, he was junior to me. And generally I was the cause to take him to the Maṭha from Allahabad and many – much of his time he spent with me at Calcutta when I had a centre there, just by the side his, just, his laboratory was ground floor and first floor, four rooms we hired; and there with the very close connection.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So the point is Mahārāja that since I have his instructions and letters and tape recordings, and even I prayed to him very earnestly and sincerely to know and he appeared to me in a dream, as I wrote you in the letter. So how can I think any other way? I can't change that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And whatever it means to continue your association I'm prepared for that, whether it means with the Society or without the Society.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] You go and take rest.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I can't eat and I can't rest. I cannot eat and I cannot rest. My mind is reeling.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why? So pray to the Lord. Pray to the Lord, "Give peace to my mind."

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, today on the way to see your Divine Grace, on the inspiration of what you said the other day I was reading the first chapter of Bhagavad-gītā and the second chapter of Bhagavad-gītā. And never before did these chapters, especially first chapter, mean so much to me. But when I was reading it today I was deriving a great inspiration from that, because I feel like that. Just like there's this verse:

gurūn ahatvā hi mahānubhāvān, [śreyo bhoktuṁ bhaikṣyam apīha loke hatvārtha-kāmāṁs tu gurūn ihaiva, bhuñjīya bhogān rudhira-pradigdhān]

[It is better to live in this world by begging, without taking the lives of our great, noble elders and teachers. Otherwise, by killing them we shall only live in this world to enjoy their wealth and properties tainted with their blood.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.5]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So I'm thinking my Godbrothers they're superior to me, they're Gurus, so I don't want to fight with them. But it almost seems inevitable. For me to act in any other way is sheer hypocrisy.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right, take rest now.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And take something. Then again we shall meet tomorrow. I shall go to take rest.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: All right. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] Requires high pronunciation, high voice. Nitāi, Nitāi, Nitāi.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I was thinking Mahārāja that even here in Navadvīpa Dhāma these sounds of māyā. So we are living, Akṣayānanda Mahārāja, Venkatta, we're staying downstairs on our level and having to hear this māyāic sound. And then I was thinking that you're in elevated position of Kṛṣṇa consciousness but you have to hear these sounds also.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

Amnaya vitilay karvyang yasya sarvatra sarvada [?] Padyamna brahma puliya caitanya dhuli [?] Taru dhani caitanya dhuli pusti kari [?] Amnaya itarata [?]

Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in his Bhajana-lālasā he says, even today if we find any person, any brāhmaṇa of demonic temperament, we are to take it as sustainer of the līlā of Mahāprabhu. Not direct but indirect way, direct and indirect, everything contributing to the cause of the Absolute by direct or indirect.

Just as opposition party in the parliament. Opposition party leader, he also gets some pay from the government. Has got recognition, the opposition has also got recognition.

This is the way of His līlā, but it is līlā when autocracy is maintained in the centre. By His līlā it has been so arranged. We are to harmonise in that way. The autocracy is there, but His līlā is there and the nature of His līlā at present is of this form, we are to take it. So opposition is not against autocracy because that is His decision – līlā. Līlā means above all reasoning – spiritual... [?]

Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi. Līlā – only subjecting and objecting: so līlā.

Darwin's theory also chance coincidently evolving in a way. How, none knows. Stone producing, fossil producing everything in a wonderful way; how it will move it is not known to anybody, evolution.

But ours is subjective evolution, not objective. Evolution from the side of the subject, from the conscious world, and above that, that is beauty, harmony, love. That is evolving Itself or Himself in this way, or Herself in this particular way. Not from finite to infinite but from infinite to finite. The movement of the waves are not from finite towards infinite, but from infinite, infinite is the data, and from infinite waves are coming towards the finite world. They say finite will produce infinite. But we say infinite has produced finite: necessary for its activity, relationship. Āmnāya, that is the positive and negative, both here and there. Svarūpa-śakti, śakti is negative, śaktimān positive, asserting. Predominating Moiety and Predominated Moiety. Predominating half and Predominated half, in the words of our Guru Mahārāja. The combination – Nimāi [?]

Mahāprabhu is the combination of Predominating and Predominated Moiety.

Bharati Mahārāja: Mahārāja, once you were explaining how Kṛṣṇa's pastimes in the material world defeat the pastimes in the spiritual world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha. Yes. Gokula is the source of Goloka. Gokula is in prapañca but that is original, and Goloka is its production, a peculiar thing. And my assimilation was there in this way, that aprākṛta, prākṛta-vat, very lively to mundane, that is Kṛṣṇa līlā. And in this mundane area it can be played best, Gokula. Goloka is Gokula's vaibhava. It has been written, I am told but I've not seen in writing anywhere but I'm told from long time that it has been mentioned by Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura and perhaps Brahma-saṁhitā or something that Goloka is Gokula's vaibhava, the extension of Gokula, Goloka. Goloka is, which we think to be in the original position, and Gokula its extension in this prapañca. But it is a very peculiar thing. Nitya līlā is there and here is also nitya līlā. Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa nitya līlā koiliya prakāśa.

But suppressed, anyhow it is extension in prapañca here. That prapañca, the extension is better than the original. It comes like that. How it is possible? But that is its extension it has been told. So it can be thought out in this way.

The original conception of the drama is in town, but when that drama wants to show the village play, when that is taken to the village it becomes very beautiful, very nice, perfect, village paraphernalia. So the mundane is not very skilfully shown there with the elements of infinite. In the finite world, the play of the finite things have been shown to its perfection: something like that. Otherwise how to harmonise Gokula? Goloka, it is so beautiful.

In [Edmund] Burke, we studied, we read, perhaps, it was mentioned perhaps in Burke's Speech of Conciliation. For example it was mentioned there – generally the custom is that the lord is upadi – what is upadi? Title, the title lord that is conferred on a person and his successor they become lord. The Burke quoted one instance, the grandson was so qualified that he was conferred the title of lord. And so his father and grandfather they automatically became lord. Just like that. Ha, ha, ha.

The production is so important here that this is thought to be the – excelling the original play in the Goloka, Gokula, due to its real mundane position. It may be like that, Gokula. Gokula is the origin of Goloka. Gokula, that means Vṛndāvana here, that is the origin and the Goloka is its extension. Is it inconsistent? Inconsistent. But by the will of Kṛṣṇa everything is possible. That of wonderful strides: His every activity is wonderful: nothing to say. By His special will it may be. Gokula, Goloka. I'm not finding it in writing in any place, but I heard, first from Vasudeva Prabhu and then from one or two gentlemen, that this has been mentioned, Goloka, Gokula. Perhaps the origin is Brahma-saṁhitā. Have you got it anywhere?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I've read in Brahma-saṁhitā and there Śrīla Bhaktisiddhānta says that generally it is thought that Gokula is the original, I mean Goloka is the original and Gokula is the extension.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Then he says but there are some who say that Gokula is the original and Goloka is the extension. He makes a reference like that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. You have got it?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: How to harmonise? Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa nitya līlā koiliya prakāśa. And Gokula, not only in this brahmāṇḍa but there are many brahmāṇḍas where there is Gokula, and all may be the photo of the original. But here we are told that Gokula is the original and its reflection goes to the scrutiny, to the...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Satellite.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Satellite, man made satellites, reflection going to that and from there it goes to any place. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Origin, origin, that may be, that may be, by another example.

Just as Yaśodā says, “He’s not God. He’s my son. He’s my son. I don’t like that anyone will say that ‘He’s not my son, He’s God Himself. I don’t want to hear that.’”

Something like that. The thought may come from that. Sweet, sweet home: there’s no place like home. So as we are in this Gokula we are or Vṛndāvana, this jñāna sunya bhakti, the blind faith, blind form of devotion, according to their – “No, this must be the original. We don’t care to know about Gokula, where it is.” This may be the outcome of jñāna sunya bhakti, jñāna sunya bhakti. “We do not know where is what, what is where, but this must be the highest place.” That is the firm faith in a stage of jñāna sunya bhakti. “We do not care to know about taṭa-stha, right, the relative is so.”

[kintu yānra] yei rasa, sei sarvottama / taṭa-stha hañā vicāmile, āche tara-tama

[“It is true that whatever relationship a particular devotee has with the Lord is the best for him; still, when we study all the different methods from a neutral position, we can understand that there are higher and lower degrees of love.”] [Caitanya, caritāmṛta, Madhya- līlā, 8.83]

Sarvottama, the vātsalya rasa, “No, no, mādhurya rasa, I don’t care for it. How can it be better than myself? I don’t admit it.” In this relative position also it can be asserted like that with firmness. “This must be the highest position where we are. We do not care to go, enter into calculation and controversy. We assert that this is the original, and if there be anything that must have to be extension.” It may be assertion from that jñāna sunya bhakti, that blind love, may come even from that, and that must have some value.

Bharati Mahārāja: So there’s a spiritual relativity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Spiritual?

Bharati Mahārāja: Relativity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Relativity, yes, relativity.

Bharati Mahārāja: Spiritual relativity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But that is un-flickering firmness to take ones position in his particular duty. “It’s my duty.”

Like Casabianca [1826. Felicia Hemans. The boy stood on the burning deck.]

That blind discharging necessary temperament of duty. He says, “Everything, I don’t know any general or so, but my patriotic feeling inspires me to think that it is my duty to oppose the enemy.” Something like that. “Though I’m a soldier but if a general calls me back I won’t budge an inch. I must fight to my death. I’m a soldier. If a general says to come back I won’t observe.” With such firmness just as one soldier may do his quota of his duty towards the mother land. It may be something like that.

“My firm faith where we are, where is my child Kṛṣṇa, I find that must be the highest place. I won’t, in the whole of the universe I don’t admit that there should be any higher place than this. If there be they must be servant of this place, subordinate to this place.” This sort of assertion in blind love, prema, may be. So that value it may fetch – the expression.

Bharati Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in Gokula, we see in the pastimes like Kāṁsa and Pūtanā, but in Goloka Vṛndāvana we sometimes read that they’re in the same form as there but in citra and vicitra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bharati Mahārāja: So that means they’re inanimate, they’re not moving?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There they get the second hand existence. The positive side is holding principal position and opposition very inactive there, we are told, yes.

Bharati Mahārāja: Like statues?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It is there, what is, in some passive form. We are told the opposition is not very powerful there in the original place. And here it is shown more active and powerful, play.

Bharati Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the difference between parīkar and pāriṣada ?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parīkar and?

Bharati Mahārāja: Pāriṣada.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Parīkar may be of a greater circumference, it may be, parīkar. Pāriṣada who are closely connected parīkar. Parīkar, pāriṣada. Generally the force of the word as we find in use in this way: pāriṣada closer and parīkar more extensive.

Bharati Mahārāja: Persisting?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: More extensive, not even – parīkar.

Bharati Mahārāja: Mahārāja, the other morning you were discussing about Nidra Devī but you didn't finish. We stopped because of time shortage.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Why? What?

Bharati Mahārāja: What her actual function is in the spiritual world.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nidra Devī. There is a conception of rest, a type of rest. Nidra Devī.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Is she a śakhi or gopī? Did she take the form of a sakhī or gopī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nidra Devī, she may be in the group of Yogamāyā. She is to help, Nidra Devī is to help the līlā. And that is in charge there to manage suitably. To control the paraphernalia is the duty of Yogamāyā, and Bāladeva. Bāladeva and Yogamāyā, Devī then must be under Yogamāyā. And Yogamāyā has got different functions to create favourable circumstances for the līlā of Rādhā Govinda and others, so one of her functions will be this nidra, the rest, a form of rest, a very intense form of rest, Nidra Devī. That is just like separation, separation when awake, and another form of separation like nidra, rest. And that may be like a reflecting glass, sometimes while sleeping there is also dream, and in dream also union and separation, just as a reflection, like that, a reflection of rest.

81.08.18.B

Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There is dream also in sleep and there also a sort of līlā, play, pastimes, in nidra. That may be compared with reflection in other restful condition.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, we see that different Ācāryas in their tikas they give different conceptions of śuddha-sattva.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Some, maybe that was, I'm not sure, maybe Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa, that śuddha-sattva takes on the form of sandhinī-śakti, transformation of śuddha-sattva is sandhinī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sandhinī, and then?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes. And sandhinī has two functions.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: One is existential potency and the other is the vaicitra, or the variegatedness. But then we see again that Śrīdhara Swāmī he says that śuddha-sattva is Vāsudeva realisation. How do we judge?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So generally whatever realisation that Śrīdhara Swāmī has said, that is the general conception. And more particular we shall find in Baladeva [Vidyābhūṣaṇa]. Śrīdhara Swāmī is a follower of śuddha-advaiti. Rāmānuja viśiṣṭādvaiti. Madhvācārya śuddha-dvaiti, and Nimbarka dvaitādvaita, and Mahāprabhu acintya-bhedābheda. But śuddha-sattva is the general conception, he simply says Vāsudeva. Vāsudeva conception is just after Brahman conception, Paramātmā conception, Vāsudeva, then, more developed than Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa. In Vāsudeva conception there is no śakti, no potency clear. But greater attention will disclose that there is potency, Lakṣmī Devī before Nārāyaṇa. The śuddha-sattva generally begins after Brahmāloka. Uncontaminated, the consciousness uncontaminated with material conception, that is śuddha-sattva. From there begins really the nirguṇa, that is the conception nirguṇa, śuddha-sattva and nirguṇa, synonymous. Positive thing and consciousness, not misconceived world finishes there. Then we enter śuddha-sattva, we get the glimpse of the reality. Then that is pure consciousness, pure understanding. But the beginning is Vāsudeva, Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa, in this way. And that is all extension of Baladeva.

Baladeva is the aṁśī and they're all vilāsa, śuddha-sattva. And now, what was the point?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: I was wondering how this can be adjusted, how you adjust these two different opinions?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not two different, one Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa says that?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: He says the śuddha-sattva transforms into sandhinī potency.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And master is Baladeva.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Baladeva's potency is śuddha-sattva, and he says that is Vāsudeva. And Vāsudeva is the extension of Baladeva. Though Vāsudeva is Kṛṣṇa when only consciousness is concerned, because Kṛṣṇa cannot be eliminated from anywhere, from anything else, in the beginning, when we come to that land, that plane, it is Vāsudeva. Vāsudeva, but when Vāsudeva, a part of Vāsudeva, a particular function of Vāsudeva is to be traced, then it is seen as Baladeva, it is not direct from Vāsudeva proper, but it is His second Baladeva, it is His extension. We separate Vāsudeva from Baladeva, when? Then Vāsudeva is īcha śakti pradhan, and Baladeva is the serving, fulfilling the īcha śakti, the will of Kṛṣṇa. That is taken as Baladeva. Am I clear?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then the Vāsudeva what we see in the beginning after crossing Brahmaloḥa, the Vāsudeva conception, that is really extension of Baladeva. And Baladeva should be differentiated from Kṛṣṇa in the upper stage, that: īcha śakti pradhan. The master of willing is Kṛṣṇa, He, and Baladeva is the first supplier of His will. He's only facsimile, a next conception.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Śrīdhara Swāmī also says that śuddha-sattva, which is Vāsudeva realisation, instead of saying sandhinī he uses the word cit-śakti, which is the same as sandhinī but he uses cit-śakti as the synonym.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only roughly when we,

bahūnāṁ janmanām ante, jñānavān māṁ prapadyate vāsudevaḥ sarvam iti, sa mahātmā sudurlabhaḥ

[“After many, many births and deaths, one who is actually in knowledge surrenders unto Me, knowing Me to be the cause of all causes and all that is. Such a great soul is very rare.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 7.19]

The first hazy, personal conception, first we have some impersonal conception of the whole conscious element. Then, when more attentive we are to find that it is personal. The first conception of personality in the ocean of consciousness, that is Vāsudeva conception. Then when more and more we are attentive to look at that thing, then so many differentiation comes in our vision, ideal.

So many, the Naraki, Nārāyaṇa, then His Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna and Aniruddha, according to the difference of the functions so many representations of, or delegations, or agents are found, gradual development. But from the chaos we are moving towards the cosmos, in this way, the gradual development. So Baladeva in the higher position in intense cosmos, and hazy, the first beginning we see Vāsudeva, as a whole, endowed with personality, not an inert conscious substance like Brahman. That is Vāsudeva. And Vāsudeva is to be seen in differentiated character, then also we shall see many things there. First Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa and His paraphernalia - Vāsudeva, Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna, Aniruddha. Vāsudeva in a particular form is there. Then Saṅkarṣaṇa, Pradyumna, Aniruddha. And then again chaviś Mūrti in Vaikuṇṭha, that is found in Paravyoma, and then crossing that we are to enter into Ayodiyā, Dvārakā conception, Mathurā, and then Vṛndāvana. Deeper and deeper conception will divulge all this realisation.

Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Gaura Hari bol! Acintya bhedābheda.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the svarūpa-śakti, is that the hlādinī śakti, is that coming from the hlādinī śakti or when does the svarūpa-śakti...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svarūpa-śakti, the sat-cit-ānanda, sattva-sandhinī, ciram-sat-pradhana, Vāsudeva, but everyone is conscious there, common, and the hlādinī Rādhārāṇī. Sat-cit-ānanda, ānanda is the central integer. Most original and complete thing is ānandam. So hlādinī should be the main thing in the svarūpa-śakti, ānandam. But each one of them is more or less present in another, but principal, ānandam is principal but that presupposes also consciousness as well as existence, and generally existence then consciousness and then ānandam, rasa mula, that fulfilment of bliss.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: And svarūpa-śakti refers to bhakti-śakti or what?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svarūpa-śakti extended up to Vaikuṇṭha and just above even Śivaloka, bhakta Śivaloka, Sadāśiva, he's also included in the boundary of svarūpa-śakti. Just after Brahmaloaka the activity of svarūpa-śakti begins and it ends to Vṛndāvana, Rādhā-kuṇḍa, more intense, fine; valuable, in this way the gradual development. That is the original and it is the vaibhava, extension coming, rather becoming of lower intensity, lower valuation. In this way it ends in Brahmaloaka.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In Jaiva Dharma Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says that the jīva-śakti is part of the svarūpa-śakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jīva-śakti is part of the svarūpa-śakti. Jīva-śakti is the marginal. Part of the svarūpa-śakti may be... māyā-śakti is almost non-existing thing, but svarūpa-śakti is what is really existent, and māyā only a negative misconception of svarūpa-śakti. So to be a substantial position that must be connected with svarūpa-śakti, a part of svarūpa-śakti, infinitesimal. Just as sun and its ray. So svarūpa-śakti is the sun. Jīva Goswāmī has said in Tattva-sandarbhā, by the example of sun, suja tat mandala tat vaikatta jiva pariksa rupena catuhvyuha advaiya jnana avidyate [?]

Advaiya jñāna, one undivided whole, may be first seen in classification as suja tat mandala [?], and then kirana [?], and tat pariksite maya [?], this world, and kiran [?] is jīva. That is some original, smallest facsimile of the original thing, but it has got its real position. So we may consider the svarūpa-śakti which is really existing. Svarūpa-śakti is really the suja tat mandala [?] Then the ray emanating from svarūpa-śakti, that is jīva, and that may be considered as a part of that suja mandala. Just as the dust of the earth, the dust is not the earth, and still, the dust is the smallest part of the earth, in this way. The dust is nothing but the earth. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, each energy has a different function, so sat...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But we must remember acintya bhedābheda, different but not completely separated, some sort of dependence on the higher. A part of the higher and also harmonising the other lower, a relative position, everywhere there is relative position, producing something and product of something, so both sides of the relationship. And that is governed by law and which comes from the sweet will of the Autocrat, in this way, acintya bhedābheda.

Nothing we can fix in its own position, that Einstein's theory, always changing. It may change by the influence by the will of the Autocrat, so acintya bhedābheda. We can't see a thing that this is such. Something in dilution in its future must be added to that. Just as Einstein says at present, take the photo of a thing, and one year after take the photo, it will be different, not exactly the same thing. So this sort of merging must be kept in our mind, they are ever changing.

So there also, vilāsa is there, and the Supreme Will is there, His control is always there. So we cannot fix anything. We must work under a living master so it may change any moment. With this idea in our hand then we shall go to describe the characteristic of anything else. Not fixed thing like māyā. Māyā is also flickering. So we are to deal with a higher thing as He will give us, send us the conception, the revelation. It may change. It is not a limited object that we must keep under our subjective control. We must not go to think it like that. Still, a sort of idea about the paraphernalia what we want to go in, some idea we may have. But at the same time we'll think that He can change His position if He likes like a magician. He's showing something to one and something to others, simultaneously. That sort of freedom is with Him, with svarūpa-śakti. The svarūpa-śakti, that world has reserved the right of showing herself differently to different enquirers. This must be taken in hand before we venture to approach to know about her. Her freedom more than us, we cannot be investigator, she may not allow us to be investigator of His harem, or His internal affairs. With this caution we must try to move there. A delicate thing, it is her sweet will. She may help me to know or may not, may close the door, not to be known. So our intellectual investigation, and to give a particular form, and to broadcast that to the public; all may be falsified.

“I am not such. You have described Me as such and such but I'm not such thing, a new thing.”

Reserved; the right, that freedom. So intellectual investigation about all these things, the audacious investigation, attempt that we are to get about the thing, that is not very happy. By Their grace, if we have that primary conception that her position is such and such, very modestly and keeping her prestige, we shall go to enter into her rule, into her formation and anything and everything. Otherwise it will be something, a facsimile, you will be deceived, you'll be shown a false second. That characteristic must always be maintained in our lives, that “She's free, she's subtle.”

bhukti-mukti-sprhā yāvat, piśācī hṛdi varttate tāvad bhakti-sukhasyātra, katham abhyudayo bhavet

[“How can the joy of holy devotion appear in the heart as long as it is haunted by the ghosts of desire for exploitation and renunciation?”] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Pūrvva, 2.22]

Where there is the aspiration of salvation or exploitation, she feels shy to come to that place to be discussed. So very touching, and thereby we should know, touching, her prestige, her sentiment, also to be considered.

Once, Prabhupāda in his office room, he was enquired about the beauty of Rādhārāṇī. Any, from particular quarter, "The Lakṣmī Devī is very beautiful and Rādhārāṇī is less than that." In somehow or other such question came to him. And he could not tolerate that. He wanted to describe the beauty of Rādhārāṇī. But as he was in the position of an Ācārya he can't say to the public the physical beauty of Rādhārāṇī, he can't say, so there was a clash between the two. He will try to establish the superiority of the beauty of Rādhārāṇī in one current, and another attitude, that it won't be expressed to the public, he can't do that. Two forces clashed, and he lost his consciousness and fell from the chair.

So to deal with those things which are very subtle and very honourable sentiments, that is not an atom in a dead body we analyse with so much study. It should not be treated like that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. With due respect, honour, love, service, we should approach to know about the very secret, very mystic, higher sentiments. With due respect and serving attitude we should try to approach. Automatically or spontaneously it may come with revelation in my heart in any time it may come. If we do our duty and wait for the time when it will come out of its own accord we are to know, "I am such and such. Do this do that." Think like that nature. Not in the laboratory we should take all these things and show to the public the benefit of that, not like that.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.
Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Gaura Haribol.
Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: One practical question, nothing theoretical. I think that I know that I will remain here with you in your temple but I feel that there will be some pressure coming from our Maṭha, about me staying here. But still I am determined to remain. So what is the attitude that should be taken?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Then I think it is better to consult among yourselves. There is Charu Swāmī and others here and they have got knowledge of the ISKCON and also something about me. So you consult among yourselves what will be the better.

I am a poor man with my own position. Then that big affair of propaganda what contribution may come from me? I am with my own, however small, independent Maṭha, with my own thoughts and ideas and aspirations, I am here.

But my good will was that who came to join Swāmī Mahārāja, if some of them are discouraged by the present behaviour of the ISKCON, they should be helped as far as possible to be reinstated in their spiritual consciousness under the flag of Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa. A good will, there is a good will from me and to translate that into action I have got no such power, I'm an old man. And what program you should take you should consult among you. I of course told previously that if the present administration be very orthodox, very determined in their, very self-sufficient you think, so you meet the other stalwarts that are outside the committee and find a way.

“What should we do? We are others, we are also interested in Swāmī Mahārāja, but we can't keep our interest in this present administration.

Then what should be our duty? We should combine and try to live outside ISKCON under the banner of Swāmī Mahārāja. We want to live outside the present administration which we cannot accommodate.”

That path may be taken. This I may recognise. Meet one another, especially the leading and qualified persons, and then you consult with them and come to some conclusion.

“Because the administration does not care for us, so should we go astray, or we must live under the banner of Swāmī Mahārāja, according to our capacity and thinking?”

I thought you must not go astray. You that have got love for Swāmī Mahārāja and Mahāprabhu and Kṛṣṇa but you can't place some active confidence in the present administration, you meet and you combine yourself and go on with some activity. Of course you won't try to come in collision with them as much as you can but that is inevitable. Sometimes after you are compelled to do that also, that is the nature. But in the beginning you try to work as peacefully as possible without giving the least hindrance to them.

In this way you meet one another and think that, “We also want to live and improve our life according to the light which has, which we have received from Swāmī Mahārāja about Mahāprabhu, Kṛṣṇa, etc. We cannot commit suicide. We must be true to our own conscience and own faith that has attracted us to such a great thing, which he realised. And we should have to discharge our duties to my friends who are more or less suffering with the same disease with us.”

That may be, but you are to consult. I am an old man and I am not ambitious enough, but what little I have got I am at your disposal. This is my way of thinking.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, Mahārāja, I was thinking, when I return to America to meet with these devotees who are outside. But one problem I anticipate is that amongst those that are outside there's also so many differences of opinion. So...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Everyone has their different way of thinking, but common maximum should be taken, and if in that case my interference may help you, I am ready to do that.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Aha, very good.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And at present, in the practical field, what I see, if you find there are some who won't take any initiation from the ISKCON eleven, and they have some regard for me, you may ask the ISKCON people, "You are eleven. At least give recognition to Śrīdhara Mahārāja to be one of you, at least you can grant this much. Though he's separately existing, he's independently existing, but you may give some moral sanction to him that he may be one of you. So from anyone's zone if anyone is desirous of getting his help then you don't take it as the action of your enemy. If there is some saying in his favour from your own Gurudeva, so at least you can accept him of the status at least one of you. This much you do in your spirit of toleration so there may not be a big crack between the two. But practically it is such that there are so many who come to this creed but unfortunately they cannot have any faith, cannot have any regard for one of you, but he has got faith in him. Then at least you can do this. If you don't do that then we shall have to find our own way."

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, they may be afraid that you will put them out of business.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I am beginning a business?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No. If they allowed people to take dīkṣā from you then no-one would want to take dīkṣā from them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Wherever you are going there are so many, kala jani diya vilaja patra hiya [?]

The world is a very big thing, so many corners are there. It may not be so. Of course there may be such apprehension, that once let loose, the gate opened, they generally may have, especially the thoughtful persons, they may have attraction.

“Why such a special arrangement is made? But you will have to give a pledge that very temperate we should be in our dealing. Only that will be we won't canvass for him, for Śrīdhara Mahārāja, then only what will be unavoidable I shall only take them to him. We shall take them, then only to him, in the case of unavoidable case. And generally we won't canvass in his favour.” Something like that is possible.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I've suggested...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Anyhow if you consult amongst yourselves. You know the position there, here, everything. I do not know all these things in details, but in general...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I just want to stay with you. I only want to stay with you. I want to stay here. If possible, if you will allow me, as far as you will allow me then I would like to stay here. What they may do I do not know. For some time if you allow me.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Then you are to consult amongst you.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I will not disturb them.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Consult with Caru Swāmī Mahārāja. He's conversant with the position here and also there, and from long time he is here. Some of you may stay here, some may work there, and how, what is your present number, all these things should be considered and that should be done. And if you who are to stay here, I am of opinion that you must have to go on in your own way. Your habits of taking prasādam etc., is different from the habits of the Indians. So you must have your own place where five, six or ten, you can live there in your own way, freely. That is, another centre, subordinate, in connection with this.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Like this house where you let our Guru Mahārāja stay there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: This house, where Bhakti Caru...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Maybe there, or even in a greater form if you gather more friends in your company, then another place, or any place in Madhyadvīpa. No centre has yet been established just on the other side of the Ganges. Some land, and you may have your own place there, and you can go on accordingly, your physical habits, so that you can facilitate your service, the capacity of your service more and more. And of course any moment you will come and go. I may not, or my presence also, if possible I also may go sometimes. It may be run in this way, of course if more of you are interested in this thought, this kind of thinking. Now of course what he says, you may stay here, three, four may stay here temporarily. But if you, if it grows then you will have to have a proper place that suits you, your habit, and your nature, and your food, and other things should be done in such a way because your body is not to starve but to serve. It will be utilised in service. That is the creed and not by starvation to try to reach the desired end. But full-fledged service, not only showing through penance our own affinity for the God. But we march like a total war with all our sentiments, feelings, kāya-mano-vākya, thought, word and deed, we shall march to Kṛṣṇa, full-fledged. Not the mind or the conscience or anything debilitating the body and other things, no, the wholesale march towards Kṛṣṇa.

So when Swāmī Mahārāja asked me, “I’m very unwell. What do you say? Prabhupāda is not here. I want your advice. I have got some respect for you. Whether I should die working here or I shall return back to India?”

I told, seeing and examining the things I am of this opinion that Prabhupāda has given you that land for your activities in this old age. So I think you should work there, you should die there working. And then your body will be taken here. That will be a greater propaganda for the Gauḍīya Maṭha. And he accepted that.

So wholesale march, 'die to live,' Hegel's words, 'die to live.' To have a proper life we shall have to die, and nothing left, with everything we shall serve and die. "To die in harness." There is an expression, proverb.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: "To die in the saddle."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To die in harness, that is to die in fighting, die in harness. Not a flying man, to die in harness. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa.

When Caru Swāmī comes here, Sarvabhavan, and you all put your heads together and think out what should be the future course of your activity and service.

I may give some suggestion according to my experience and my consideration and my...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

I'm eighty six, only two months left till I'm eighty six to be filled. How long I may stay is uncertain. If necessary then Prabhupāda may keep for more time. So he knows what to do.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

I do not know why I am living. So many of the intimate friends they departed. I am living. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Just as in our Guru Mahārāja's old age, Kṛṣṇa gave him so much opportunity for preaching, so I think also...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he did wonders, inconceivable wonders, inconceivably wonderful. What in ten years of his last time, was devoted to produce a miracle, simply a miracle. Not only ordinary things, there may be many receivers, many persons to purchase, to take it, sell and to purchase, may be customers of things of very lower order. But things of the higher order, the purchaser's their number will be very few.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja [ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

[“Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair.”] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

Purchasers of this principle; of this type of surrender to the Lord, is very rarely to be found in the world. And anyhow he has found you all, large numbers, so many, from the unexpected quarter.

And Prabhupāda of course mentioned before his departure, “We have made attempts in England in Europe, but Mārkinē Molark is left aside.” In Gauḍīya it is left in his article, The Mārkinē Moluk, this was his expression, “Mārkinē Moluk has not been approached yet. We have hope for Mārkinē Moluk.”

And Swāmī Mahārāja did that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And his approach was a different one, with simplicity, with unassumed ordinary line, approach, to the masses. He simply began this kīrtana and chanting Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, Hare Kṛṣṇa. And the travellers in the square they thought him to be one of the hippies and surrounded him. Acyutānanda was one of them. And then when they surrounded and began to talk in a ridiculous way he handed over the books to them.

Acyutānanda said that, “After seeing Gītā and Bhāgavat we were wonder struck, astounded. Oh, this hippy is not a hippy of ordinary type.” Acyutānanda told that his father was fond of Gītā, Acyutānanda’s father, but that was of Śaṅkara School. “But that could not satisfy me, but when I got this Gītā, of personal God, it touched me, my conscience and I feel it.” Hare Kṛṣṇa. He was a graduate of the music college, or something like that, Acyutānanda, who came here first.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! Nitāi Caitanya. So, you have not taken anything, as yet?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, we have taken.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taken something? You?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes.

Devotees: Everyone. Yes. We have taken.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi Caitanya. After Jayatīrtha Mahārāja has left, no trace about him, no news from him?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Not since I was in England. I met with him personally.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh. Why?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Well in India you don't get news so much.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Takes a long time.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: There was one gentleman, Pramāṇa Swāmī...

Devotees: Yes. Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...the self-made Ācārya.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he has got his hold and so many disciples, he also came here.

Devotees: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And he also expressed much satisfaction hearing from me.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yes. There's another self-made Ācārya also in Behar.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who is he?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Rādhā-Govinda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhā-Govinda; a sannyāsī?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He's a Godbrother, I don't think he's a sannyāsī, no.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But he got twofold dīkṣā from Swāmī Mahārāja?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Yeah. Rādhā-Govinda.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rādhā-Govinda. And another in Punjab, but he has gone.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: He has gone.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And there is another in South America, Viraha Prakash Swāmī. He works with Pramāṇa Swāmī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Oh, with Pramāṇa Swāmī.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: They have divided the country of Venezuela in half.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Amongst themselves.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The zone has been divided amongst them.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. And Yaśodānanda Swāmī, his previous name was some Bill?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No, I don't think so.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But in Ānanda Bazaar it was mentioned one Yaśodānanda name one, and then Mr Bill, Mr Bill.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: He has a French name. He is a French-Canadian. So his name is Yolander.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: But what we find the philosopher Mill, there is an empirical philosopher whose name was Mill, from England perhaps, the atheistic philosopher, Mill, a noted philosopher, Mill, of the atheistic school, no-God school.

...

So what is necessary for your proper diet you must...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Everything is being arranged.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I think curd, potato and bread; that will suit you most and [peepa powder?] You are generally accustomed to that sort of diet.

...

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, yesterday, Govinda Mahārāja and I were speaking and we were talking about our Guru Mahārāja as śaktyāveśa-avatāra.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And so he mentioned that you had said previously about Baladeva, Nityānanda Prabhu, āveśa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is the Guru-tattva, generally Guru-tattva is Baladeva and Nityānanda, in general. So for propaganda work They're in the highest office for propagation, generally. So I took it that, especially Nityānanda Prabhu had some special recognition from the section from which Swāmī Mahārāja has come, special grace for that particular section, Nityānanda. It is mentioned in the scripture we find. And pajar gauranga...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What section?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That Suvar Navanik [?] They're the most favourite section of Nityānanda Prabhu, it is mentioned in the śāstra, Caitanya-Bhāgavat. So I thought that Nityānanda Prabhu's in charge of preaching about Mahāprabhu's glory. And so I took it that Nityānanda Prabhu must have some special delegation in him in his last days, which helped him to inundate in such an inconceivable magnitude in the whole of the world. But that does not mean that he was nothing before such delegated power came in him, that he was nothing.

That delegation may come in a proper place. Just as in other śaktyāveśa-avatāras the śakti accepts a particular place, and he'll not, anything and everything, an ordinary thing, must be proper to receive that. That is one thing. Another, to preach, that when that delegation consideration has come, so without delegation he has no value his own, that is some wilful propaganda, and that will defeat its own object. What is that thing? Does it mean that one where the delegation will come he should be some empty or some bad thing? This supposition is mischievous and that will, of those that will take out of my statement of delegation, they will be mischief for their own people...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...by falsely propagating in this way, that that was his purpose. It will be very difficult to arouse faith in man, and this sort of statement will diminish the faith, will prepare the field for the atheists. So this is suicidal propagating that line. And sākhya-rasa is also not to be neglected. [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī, who is thought to be the highest, to hold the highest position of mādhurya-rasa, prajohana Ācārya, he himself says:

*sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam / dāsyāya te mama raso
'stu raso 'stu satyam*

[Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, the greatest exponent of the faith of servitude to Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, Rādhā-dāsyam, wrote: "I won't allow myself to become fascinated by the proposal of the higher level service as a friend, sākhya. Rather, I shall tend always to do the lower service, dāsyā, the service of the servant. I shall not consider myself to be a high-class servitor and I shall always tend to go towards the lower class of service. But He may forcibly take me to a higher service – "No, you are no longer to serve there; now you must serve in this higher category." But I consider that I am not fit for that confidential service, my Lord. You may engage the higher servitors in Your confidential group, while I may serve in the lower level."] [Vilāpa-kusamāñjali, 16]

What does it mean? Fools rush in where angels fear to tread. Is it an intellectual field, that we can pass resolution, we can pass remark in any way we like in our fashion? Dāsa Goswāmī, who is supposed to be posted in the highest position of the prajohana-tattva, the Ācārya of the prayojana, in mādhurya-rasa Rādhā-dāsyā. He says that dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu, and sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu. “I’m trying to put, to show my reverence to the sākhya, and I want, I crave that my real earnestness may go for the dāsyā-rasa.” Is it a thing to play?”

Rādhārāṇī Herself She wants that, “My attention is always to serve, but because Kṛṣṇa wishes to enjoy Me He enjoys, but My mark, My ideal is always to serve Him.”

So service is [?] the śanta-rasa, the...

[“Those sages who, being merged in the bliss of the spirit soul, are totally free from the binding knot of mental images - they too engage in the unmotivated service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the performer of marvellous deeds. This is but one of the qualities of the Supreme Lord Hari, who charms the entire world.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10]

These are examples of śanta-rasa. This is very rarely to be found. We must go to that plane and then we should deal with things. So dāsyā just the opposite. The mādhurya-rasa, even Rādhārāṇī Herself She says that, “Always My tendency is to serve Kṛṣṇa, towards dāsyā-rasa, dāsyā-rasa.” Then, what of dāsyā, then sākhya, sākhya-rasa is only a very small thing? What is this?

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu [nityam / dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu raso 'stu satyam]

“From a distance I want to show my respect to sākhya-rasa, and dāsyā-rasa I really want.” That should be the tendency of a real devotee. And to disregard all these things, as they seem to play like a ball, play ball, all these things.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, as Govinda Mahārāja and I were discussing, he gave this one example of Vashu.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [speaks Bengali (?) for about fifty seconds]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In Mahāprabhu also we find, sometimes, Mahāprabhu Himself, there was such āveśa, sometimes by the influence of Baladeva, “Give Me wine, give Me wine,” in Caitanya-Bhāgavat we find that Mahāprabhu sometimes He showed different inspired stage. When He was captured by the feeling of Baladeva, then He says, “Give Me wine, give Me wine, give Me wine.” They gave some Ganges water. “You take it.” Sometimes even He was inspired with the feeling of Pradyumna.

sekha pran jaya nityananda prabhu kari bap krsna rakhi ven pran [?]

eve pran tri bole jata balaram [?]

Mahāprabhu inspired by the feeling of Pradyumna is uttering like a madman. “I can’t stand. I can’t take rest from dancing mood. Some inspired power is making Me dance like a madman, I have gone, I can’t take rest.” In this way He says. bap krsna rakhi ven pran [?]

“By the inspiration of Kṛṣṇa anyhow I was saved. But when inspiration has come from Balarāma, now I am gone, I can’t contain Myself but dancing, but I feel too tired.”

That was His that sort of feeling of maybe Baladeva, yata balarāma. He’s; yata means elder brother or father, so Pradyumna’s yata is Balarāma. So Mahāprabhu is attacked by that feeling of Pradyumna, abhimāna, and He says, yata balarāma, is almost killing me. So inspiration may come in different times for different purpose. Even Mahāprabhu Himself has shown that so many inspirations of different types coming to Him and going away. These are the transcendental laws, or will of the Lord, in other words. So śaktyāveśa, it is not a thing for the play of the child, for the children, childish play, that śaktyāveśa. Very belittled and very much mortified that the remark śaktyāveśa that is being used in such a mean way, śaktyāveśa, a childish thing. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And dāsyā-rasa, sākhya-rasa, having all these very cheap, and we can decree and dismiss, anything at our sweet will. A poor conception of the real reality: that can make us audacious to pass such remark. Hare Kṛṣṇa. The love of power, the love of power is making mad to take any path or the other. But that will be suicidal, that will dig its own grave.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is clear that our sampradāya, rūpānuga sampradāya, and that sampradāya, that mantram, the mantram, all show that it is wedded to mādhurya-rasa, the ādi-mantra, and the selection was coming to Prabhupāda, rūpānuga. The Guru paramparā, all rūpānuga, mādhurya-rasa. But for the propaganda work some temporary delegation for the time being to be, to inundate the whole country, that came in my mind. They may not care for that, they may not care. It is my consideration, I gave it out. If anyone may think in that way they may do, however it is. I am not forcing it towards the unwilling batch. It is my special estimation that something might have happened, like that.

When I came to take my shelter here I thought that I am going to take my permanent shelter in Navadvīpa Dhāma, but Navadvīpa Dhāmeśvara is Nityānanda Prabhu. So I must go to Him first. Not the place of Mahāprabhu, I went to Ekācākrā first, to seek His permission, that, “I like to pass the last days of my life in Navadvīpa Dhāma. Please, You give permission, otherwise my attempt will be futile.” So I went to Him and invoked for His permission, and as if with His permission I came and settled here. Dhāmeśvara is He. Though my aspiration is innately towards mādhurya-rasa, but still I went to Nityānanda Prabhu to give me admission here, that the rest of my life I may pass.

heno nitāi vine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi

[From Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura's Manah-śikṣā, 1]

By the grace of Nityānanda we shall get the grace of Mahāprabhu. And by the grace of Mahāprabhu we can enter into mādhurya-rasa and Rādhārāṇī, all these things. That is our way chalked out by our spiritual masters. And we have got great regard for that. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: And sometimes I've heard it said that if you similarly, if you want to get the mercy of Nityānanda Prabhu you should approach the Jagāi and Mādhāi.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. That the deliverance of Jagāi and Mādhāi, that is also who have no acāra, no vicāra, neither real conception of divinity, nor any holy practices, pure practices. And that was all delivered in a great number. And there it attracts us to think of the presence of Nityānanda Prabhu. Nityānanda Prabhu's presence, why? There were so many who had no such pure acāra and vicāra, they were taken direct to the higher position. So the potency, the great mercy of Nityānanda is to be located there. So what I have said that is also corroborated, as you say, is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He himself told me, Swāmī Mahārāja, that, "I have taken them from a country where no question of any food restriction, or the consideration of purity or impurity of food, nothing of the kind, and also that of sex. So from that we have come then to you all. So much I have done and you must give attention to them properly. You must not be unmindful to them.” Because he told me that I can’t deny, not only once but several times he repeated this to me, “I have done so much and you must be sympathetic to them. They are recruited from such lands. They have no consideration of all these things.” So this is from Nityānanda, this shows that Nityānanda’s presence in him. Anyhow, it was suggested in my mind, they may take or not take, it doesn’t matter, what to do? Hare Kṛṣṇa. I am innocent and sincere in my remark in that way as I have conjectured, I could conjecture.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, sometimes our Guru Mahārāja used to chant the verse, śrī caitanya mano'bhīṣṭaṁ, stāpithaṁ yena bhūtale svayaṁ rūpa kadā mahyaṁ, dadāti sva-pandāntikaṁ

[Narottama dāsa Ṭhākura said: “O when will Śrīla Rūpa Goswāmī, who has firmly established in this world, the pure devotional teachings and principles of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu and thus fulfilled His cherished desires, ever bless me with eternal shelter of his lotus feet?”]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So, can you explain what that verse means?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Śrī caitanya mano'bhīṣṭaṁ, stāpithaṁ yena bhūtale, the real purport of Śrī Caitanyadeva was established by whom, in this earth? He's my Gurudeva. Śrī caitanya mano'bhīṣṭaṁ, what Śrī Caitanyadeva wanted to do in this earth, mano'bhīṣṭaṁ, he reminded to do in this earth, caitanya mano'bhīṣṭaṁ. Stāpithaṁ yena bhūtale, and that was propagated in this world. What Śrī Caitanya willed, and that was translated into action in this world by whom? That is Gurudeva, mano stāpithaṁ yena. Svayaṁ-rūpa, this is in the line of mādhurya-rasa. Svayaṁ-rūpa, Rūpa Goswāmī, svayaṁ-rūpa. Śrī caitanya mano'bhīṣṭaṁ, stāpithaṁ yena bhūtale / svayaṁ rūpa kadā mahyaṁ, dadāti sva-pandāntikaṁ. “When,” about that Rūpa Goswāmī, “will take me, will attract me near his feet?” That is the literal meaning. “What Caitanyadeva wanted to do, that has been done by Rūpa Goswāmī. And when that day, fortunate day will come when he will attract me near his feet, Rūpa Goswāmī?” The svayaṁ rūpa, that does not mean svayaṁ rūpa Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa. The propagation is not His business.

[About fifty five seconds of Bengali (?) conversation]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Who composed that verse?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Who composed? As far as I remember by Narottama Ṭhākura.

Govinda Mahārāja says that the reading is not svayaṁ rūpa, Rūpa himself, svayaṁ rūpa means Rūpa himself, but svayaṁ rūpa, this rūpa, that rūpa, that is sva-ayaṁ rūpa, that rūpa. Śrī caitanya mano'bhīṣṭaṁ, stāpithaṁ yena bhūtale, that rūpa who has installed here the, what are desired by Śrī Caitanyadeva, when such rūpa will take me near his feet, draw me to take my position near his feet. That is the verse.

[About one and a half minutes of Bengali (?) conversation]

[“May that Lord, who is known as the son of Śrīmatī Śacīdevī be transcendently situated in the innermost chambers of your heart. Resplendent with the radiance of molten gold, He has appeared in this age of Kali by His causeless mercy to bestow what no incarnation ever offered before: the most sublime and radiant spiritual knowledge of the mellow taste of His service.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.4]

Nityānanda’s duty is to take ordinary persons to Gaurāṅga. And Gaurāṅga came to take them to Braja līlā. Yathā yathā gaura: Nityānanda Prabhu preached about Gaurāṅga. “You could not reach so high, you just come to Gaurāṅga. That will be the easy thing.” Anyhow He tried His best to take persons to the feet of Gaurāṅga. And then you will get it.

*yathā yathā gaura padāravinde, vindeta bhaktim kṛta puṇya rāśiḥ tathā

[Prabodhānanda Saraswatī Ṭhākura says: “As much as we devote ourselves to the lotus feet of Śrī Gaurāṅga, we will automatically achieve the nectarine service of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī in Vṛndāvana. An investment in Navadvīpa Dhāma will automatically take one to Vṛndāvana. How one will be carried there will be unknown to him. But those who have good fortune invest everything in the service of Gaurāṅga. If they do that, they will find that everything has automatically been offered to the divine feet of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She will accept them in Her confidential service and give them engagement, saying: “Oh, you have a good recommendation from Navadvīpa; I immediately appoint you to this service.”]

[Caitanya-Candrāmṛta, 88]

“Automatically you’ll be led to Rādhārāṇī.” Prabodhānanda says. Mahāprabhu asked Nityānanda Prabhu, “Go and preach about Kṛṣṇa in Gauda-deśa, Bengal.” But Nityānanda Prabhu came and He began to preach about Śrī Caitanyadeva, not Kṛṣṇa direct, short cut. “Anyhow come to Gaurāṅga and the rest Gaurāṅga will see for you.”

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, in Caitanya-Bhāgavat it says that when Lord Caitanya sent Him, there were twelve persons with Him, twelve pracāras.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Dvādaśa pracāra, with Nityānanda Prabhu.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dvādaśa Gopāla, they were assistants, there Dvādaśa Gopāla in Braja. Nityānanda as Baladeva and other śakhyarasa group in Vṛndāvana, they came here and they're known as Dvādaśa Gopāla, twelve intimate friends of Nityānanda or Baladeva. With their help Nityānanda began to preach here.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, where is that verse dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: It may be Vilāpa-kusamāñjali [16] perhaps of Śrīla Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī. This verse is made by Raghunātha Dāsa.

sakhyāya te mama namo 'stu namo 'stu nityam / dāsyāya te mama raso 'stu raso 'stu satyam

“I am not up to mark of serving the Lord in the confidential way of śakhya. That is higher. That is too much for me. My aspiration is anyhow to get a position amongst the servants of the Lord. I pray that my real, my sincere tendency be towards the service of a servant, and never to such a higher degree as to render confidential service to the Lord. I have no such audacity.” So śakhya-rasa he says, “Who is he?” Who is considered to be the Ācārya of the highest mādhurya-rasa, the prayojana Ācārya. That’s Raghunātha Dāsa Goswāmī, he says that, “I pray that I may not have any audacity to come into the confidential service of Kṛṣṇa. But I pray that my sincere flow may go to the ordinary servant group, that I pray, raso 'stu satyam, that my attraction really may go to there in the lowest rank.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. And Mahārāja, Uddhava, this, āsā mahō caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām. So he’s praying, gulma, to be like a creeper, or...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He aspires after a birth of a creeper or shrub in Vṛndāvana so that automatically the feet-dust of the gopīs may come over them.

āsā maho caraṇa-renu-juṣām aham syām vṛndāvane kim api gulma-latauṣadhīnām

yā dustyajam svajanam ārya-patham ca hitvā bhejur mukunda-padavīm śrutibhir vimṛgyām

[“The gopīs of Vṛndāvana have given up the association of their husbands, sons and other family members, who are very difficult to renounce, and they have sacrificed even their religious principles to take shelter of the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, which are sought after by even the Vedas. O grant me the fortune to be born as a blade of grass in Vṛndāvana, so that I may take the dust of those great souls upon my head.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.47.61]

Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya. Nitāi.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī

Mahārāja

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ.

nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir nāpi vaiśya na śūdro nāhaṁ varṇī na ca gr̥ha-patir no vana-stho yatir vā kintu prodyan-nikhila-paramānanda-pūrṇāmṛtābdher gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ

[“I am not a priest, a king, a merchant, or a labourer (brāhmaṇa, kṣatriya, vaiśya, śūdra); nor am I a student, a householder, a retired householder, or a mendicant (brahmacārī, gr̥hastha, vānaprastha, sannyāsī). I identify myself only as the servant of the servant of the servant of the lotus feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the Lord of the gopīs, who is the personification of the fully expanded (eternally self-revealing) nectarean ocean that brims with the totality of Divine Ecstasy.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 13.80]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What is the explanation of that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Explanation? He says, “I am neither a brāhmaṇa, nāhaṁ vipro na ca nara-patir.” Varṇāśrama, He’s discarding varṇāśrama varṇāśrama dharma, leaving, abandoning, leaving away the varṇāśrama dharma going up. “I am neither a brāhmaṇa, nor a kṣatriya, nor a vaiśya, nor a śūdra. My identification is not with any of them. Then I’m neither brahmacārī, nor gr̥hastha, nor vānaprastha, nor sannyāsī. Varna and āśrama, four varna and four āśrama, I am none of them. But what is my real identification? I am a person who has got the highest sincere aspiration for the servant of the servant of the servant. That position, of whom, prodyan-nikhila-paramānanda-pūrṇāmṛtābdher, that conscious ecstatic embodiment who can command the whole of the universe, whole infinite, that absolute ecstatic joy embodiment, prodyan-nikhila-paramānanda-pūrṇāmṛtābdher. That sort of, who is He? The gopī-bharttuḥ: the master of the gopīs, the paramā of the gopīs, lover of the gopīs. Pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsānudāsaḥ, I am the servant of the servant of the servant."

I told once that this is like a telescopic system in Vaikuṇṭha. A telescopic, mainly, generally a spectacle, it comes between the seer and the seen, the spectacles. Generally it may be thought that it will hamper the sight, but it improves. So in telescope so many glasses are placed. Apparently it may be thought that so many glasses must disturb the real sight, but no, that helps that. They help them. So as many glass, so far we can see. So, master, master, master, master, guardian, guardian, guardian, they take something and from them, some distance, they give some assistance, the many guardians will help me from far off, very fine thing, they will help me to bring in my sight. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, gopī-bharttuḥ pada-kamalayor dāsa-dāsā, then dāsa, his servant, his servant, his servant, his servant I want. He says that this is the real clue to take advantage of the telescopic system. So much, the kṛpā, the grace of the first, second, third, fourth, so many Gurus, the kṛpā, that will come from so many Gurus that will help me. So don't go up but try to go down, then you'll be benefited much. That is the direction. In the Rāmānuja section also there is a, vrtya vrtya tavichar ca

vrtya vrtya ca vrtya para lokanatha [?]

The real devotees who know the real clue, they don't want to go up. They really realise that to go down, to become the servant as much as I can go down I will get greater benefit. This is a peculiar thing in Vaikuṇṭha. In the land of exploitation we want to be master, but the land of service, mainly the land of service, so we must not be afraid of the service. The serving, that is the real nectarine, serving, service of real quality, total quality. Here, service are all relative things of exploitation, partial exploitation in different ways. But there, the land of pure service, and service is the capital. So, like a contractor, as many business's he can capture he may make more money, more gain. So as many masters we shall be able to gather, we might be so rich, and so much gainer we will be, as many masters we shall have. And here the opposite, as many servants I shall get, I will be able to do many works through them. But there, the opposite, as many masters I shall get I shall derive benefit from so many directions. My income will come from so many directions. Service life is like the opposite thing to be understood, to be felt, the service. From the feeling of exploitation we cannot have a real conception of what service is. Service is life giving. That is beneficial. That is not a burden. That is real health, that is sustainer, service. So, their competition that I shall become servant of the servant of the servant, in this way, this is not insane, this is not show, neither this is a fashion of polite modesty. It is the reality. That by serving we thrive, and receiving service we go down. So Vaiṣṇavas generally do not allow anyone to serve them, but they're eager to serve, but not to give their service to others. That is the very nature. The gain is there.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svayaṁ rūpa, svayaṁ - this, that rūpa.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svayaṁ rūpa means Rūpa Goswāmī himself. Svayaṁ manasa ayam, svayaṁ rūpa [?] Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi. Nitāi.

Swāmī Mahārāja, when he's just coming down from the plane and going away, so many newspaper reporters surrounded him and put many questions, and one of them I remember. "You are selling, your mission is maintained by the output of the sale of your books," or something like that. "How you get the money to maintain your mission?"

He simply told, "Yes."

"And you sell the body and live on that, sell the books and live on that."

"I am giving you books and you are giving money to me. In this way I go on." Ha, ha, ha, ha. He did not come to the point of selling. That brahma-vidya is taken into market for sale. He avoided that. "I am giving you books and you are giving money."

In this way it is going on, so simple things, the simple thing is this. What I say sincerely, as I think, as I have heard from Guru Mahārāja and accordingly collected from the books, and if you have any attraction for that, you will love me. What I say, if that attracts anybody then he will be affectionate to me. Easy thing, no other complication should be taken here. What I say, if you think it, it is the desired thing what Swāmī Mahārāja told, these sayings are also of similar nature. What he says, this is also of similar nature. The words that attracted us towards him, the meaning contained in his words which attracted us, we find the same thing here. So this is our place of attraction. A simple thing, whoever will take, will appreciate, the subject is not of mine, my Gurudeva's. And he will say it is from his Gurudeva, in this way, Gaurāṅga.

We came to Gauḍīya Maṭha, why? Attracted by the charm and the realistic spiritual substance of the subject matter and as it was dealt by our Guru Mahārāja attracted us, no other things, attracted by the spirit of his advice, we joined the mission. And as long as he lived that was, of course, we also read scriptures also, but the standpoint we get from him, and in that light we tried to understand, and we did understand. This is our impression. That he gave us the key to the scriptural safe, the key to the almirah where spiritual books are, Guru Mahārāja gave us, supplied the key. So with that standpoint, that angle of vision, we've gone through other scriptures also. And we are satisfied, we are attracted more and more, and now we are doing that thing. Scripture is there and different interpretations are also there, from Śaṅkara, Rāmānuja, this, that, many. But the angle of vision that was given in the line of Mahāprabhu by our Guru Mahārāja, that attracted us really. And we are his servants. And we are his servants, or servants of the servant, etc.

That is, nothing else, I am there, and it is their words, Vaikuṇṭha śabda, the Nāma, Name, Name means sound representation of the Lord. Through sound, the sound is the medium, and śravaṇa-kīrtana, the medium of sound. What news comes to my heart, that has captured me, that has taken me, and in consonance with that I shall move. Anyone who will come to help in that way, in that journey, he's my friend, and who hinders, he's no longer so. The main thing is the response of my heart to the sound aspect of the Lord, the artha.

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

I sometimes tell that when Aurovinda he absconded, Aurovinda, he was the founder of the Revolutionary School of India in the beginning. And one Mr Norton, there was a case, Aurovinda is not found, then Norton was pleading in the high court. "Where is Mr Aurovinda?" He told in a newspaper when he found any article, "Here is Mr Aurovinda." He told. "Here is Mr Ghosh. This writing cannot but be of him."

So sound, that style of the sound, the meaning, that can locate us where we are, what are our interests, the artha, for which we are out - the charming representation of the Lord through sound. Gaura Haribol. The friend and foe, so many, the father, mother, son, so many kinsmen, they become enemy to a religious man. And who are unknown, he may be friend. That is the acceptance and elimination, progress means this, that acceptance and elimination, that is goti, progress means that. Elimination of the environment, then only when finally settled, then fixed circle there. The Guru, they all come to help me, and by, as an order supplier I may work there. And I shall think if I am utilised in the post of order supplier I have attained my destination, I have come to such a position here.

Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Gaura Hari. Nitāi. Nitāi. Nitāi Caitanya.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, our sukṛti determines our inner interest.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sukṛti is of two kinds, first ajñāta-sukṛti then jñāta-sukṛti, and sukṛti makes us float on the surface and helps us to recognise the proper thing. That is it comes from nirguṇa and it helps us to make us understand what is nirguṇa, unconsciously draws us towards that, first unconsciously then consciously draws us towards nirguṇa. Saguṇa means the local provinciality. Nirguṇa means of infinite consideration. The finest and most fundamental plane is nirguṇa and I want to be a member of that plane. The wave I shall receive and I shall respond, that is in nirguṇa, to live and move in the nirguṇa plane, to receive the instruction and to do accordingly in the nirguṇa plane, giving up all local prejudice. Kṛṣṇa varṁśī, that sound will make us cry, make us dance, make us sleep, everything. The intimation of that plane, wave of that plane, then I am nirguṇa. I have no selfish suffering or enjoying; all enjoying, all enjoying, plane, the joyous plane, nirguṇa, and no responsibility of my own. Purely, wholly, harmonised, or adjusted with the universal will, that is Kṛṣṇaloka. Without caring for laws and rules even, nothing but Kṛṣṇa's satisfaction, just to obey the direction of that wave, no consideration of anything else. That is nirguṇa.

Guṇa means disease, sattya, raja, tama, bhava-roga. This is a diseased part of the world, this brahmāṇḍa, that is, disease generally may be classified as sprung up from exploitation or renunciation. Exploitation and renunciation, then service, constitutional according to law, and then automatic, actuated by the motive of love, that is nirguṇa, the highest plane of Braja. Uddhava aspires after that, and there also the highest quarter is that of the gopīs. So much sacrifice, so much intensely that none could catch or accept the nirguṇa will of Kṛṣṇa.

In Rāmānanda Rāya, the last step by step approaching towards the highest, the last, "I do not know anything, only actuated by the motive. By the attraction I am guided. I do not know right and wrong, nothing of the kind."

Just as Swāmī Mahārāj told, "We are giving books, they are giving money. Kṛṣṇa demand coming, I am supplying. I do not know anything else. I do not want also to know anything else. His demand, my supply, I am only conscious of this fact, nothing else. I don't care for anything else. His varṁśī milan, I am madly running; these two things, I am not conscious of myself or the paraphernalia, favourable or unfavourable. The call - I am running, I don't know anything else."

The absolute position is such, the autocratic rule in its highest conception. The autonomy is such intense, such intense autonomy and autocracy. That is desirable or advaita, advaita-advaya in its highest conception will be like that, and vilāsa-advaya, a dynamic advaita, advaita not static equilibrium, but moving, dynamic advaita. Advaita and dynamic, that is like this. Call, 'yes, that is advaita.' No difference between the caller and the supplier, minimum demand, that is advaita, advaya-jñāna, dynamic. And the real plane of satisfaction, joy, ecstasy, whatever you may say, is there. That is the depot, the absolute depot of ānandam, sañtoṣa, satisfaction, relief, whatever it may be called. The depot, ānandam, of beauty, beauty behaves in its own land in such a way, the law of beauty is such, it does not care for anything else. Capturing, capturing, that is the only capacity, attribute of beauty, and the captured are mad. Whatever is wanted, it does that, autonomy, advaya-jñāna in its highest position, highest degree.

...may not be known to anyone only conjecture. Śrauti Mahārāja may know that. I am not sure but he has got some extended study of all these Purāṇas, beyond them, So he may know that.

Vedaiś ca sarvair aham eva vedyo [Bhagavad-gītā, 15.15], that line. Veda mata Gāyatrī must lead to Kṛṣṇa. With this basis, this foundation, I have tried to evolve the meaning of Brahma Gāyatrī to Kṛṣṇa conception [?] Rādhā-dāsyā, that is the object of Gāyatrī, Rādhā-kiṅkarā.

Devotee: There's something in the Tattva-sandarbha, Ādi-Purāṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam [?]

artho 'yaṁ brahma sūtrānām, bhāratārtha-vinirṇayaḥ gāyatrī bhāṣya rūpo 'sau, vedārthaḥ paribrimhitaḥ

["Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam represents the real purport of Vedānta-sūtra. And although it is very difficult to draw out the real purpose of the one hundred thousand verse epic Mahābhārata, the great history of the world, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has come to give its real meaning. The mother of all Vedic knowledge is the Gāyatrī mantra. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam gives the gist of Gāyatrī in a very full-fledged way. And the supplementary truths of the Vedas are also found within Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam."] [Garuḍa Purāṇa]

Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is Gāyatrī bhāṣya, so what Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has given as the conception of our highest duty that must be within that thing.

Artho 'yaṁ brahma sūtrānām'. About Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam this has been related, artho 'yaṁ brahma sūtrānām', the meaning of Vedānta-sūtra. Bhāratārtha-vinirṇayaḥ, and the real meaning of Mahābhārata has been drawn to be such, the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. Gāyatrī bhāṣya rūpo 'sau, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is the elaborate explanation of Gāyatrī, so Gāyatrī has to come to the line of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. In Garuda Purāṇa it is mentioned. Vedārthaḥ paribrimhitah, and all the meanings from the Veda have been given here in full-fledged form in Bhāgavatam. So:

nigama-kalpa-taror galitaṁ phalaṁ, [śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava-saṁyutam pibata bhāgavataṁ rasam ālayaṁ, muhur aho rasikā bhuvi bhāvukāḥ]

["O expert and thoughtful men, relish Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the mature fruit of the desire tree of Vedic literatures. It emanated from the lips of Śrī Śukadeva Gosvāmī. Therefore this fruit has become even more tasteful, although its nectarean juice was already relishable for all, including liberated souls."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.3]

The full-fledged form of theism in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is drawn from the Vedas. So in the line of Bhāgavata the Gāyatrī must come. And the highest gift of Bhāgavatam is Rādhā-dāsyā, gopī-dāsyā, and that must have to come from Gāyatrī. So in that way it has been evolved. In Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, you have got, and just on the cover you will find that in śloka.

Ours is satyam, śivam, sundaram, truth and goodness and beauty, progressing. Beauty is the original, then the outcome, the goodness is there, all goodness is beauty, harmony. In English terms ānandam means harmony. Satyam that is the conception of truth, truth developed into śivam, into maṅgalam, that is auspicious, good, and then sundaram, charming. Kṛṣṇa. There is no objection for any eating, but learn how to eat, that is prasāda-sevā. Otherwise you'll be in bondage, you'll be caught in the net. Learn how to eat, yajña-viśeṣa, if offered to Kṛṣṇa take the prasādam, the process of eating. Otherwise you will be caught in the net if you devour anything. It is not a place of anarchy that anyone will devour anyone. It is not a place of anarchy. The stern rules of the environment always watching over you. And you cannot do but eating, jīvo jīvasya jīvanam [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.13.47], one jīva, one animal must devour another animal for the upkeep of his body. It is unavoidable, to eat is unavoidable, for living. But learn how to eat. So not to eat, that is not the conclusion, the necessity is how to eat, learn it. How to live, because living is painful so do away with the life, no, learn how to live, that is necessary, that is the constructive way. That is Vaiṣṇava thinking.

And Buddhist and Māyāvādī thinking, "Do away with the life, existence, because life is painful and also leading to the pain, continuous pain. So do away with the life."

But Vaiṣṇava Ācārya's say, "No, life is happy, only learn how to live. Everything is all right. You set yourself accordingly." This is specially the direction of Bhagavad-gītā, yogaḥ karmasu kauśalam. Just learn what is the kauśala, kauśala means the art of solution, kauśala, the skilfulness, the art of skilfulness, the art of handling wisely, wise handling, kauśala.

Yogaḥ, learn yoga, the secret mystery of life, then you will thrive.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only one? Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Devotee: To begin with.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What is that?

Devotee: In the transcendental world, especially in Goloka, the language spoken is Urbhasi [?] and in one section or the other section, in Mahāprabhu's section. So where is Sanskrit Mahārāja, to be found?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sanskrit is also there in both places. In Navadvīpa so many Sanskrit scholars, Mahāprabhu Himself Sanskrit scholar, and in Vṛndāvana also Garga Muni and others, and in Mathurā they're all Sanskrit scholars.

Devotee: But Kṛṣṇa cannot understand Sanskrit – in the sense of that in His particular gopa līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gopa līlā, He might have heard partially, but then He studied from Sandīpanī and others. But that is in Mathurā līlā. In Vṛndāvana līlā mainly but some communication with Sanskrit paṇḍits also there.

Śrīla Govinda Mahārāja: [?]

...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. We may think aprākṛta, that is broader, wider, so when Vṛndāvana, that is the broadest, the widest, we think, so everything must come within, the Sanskrit will come within vraja-bhuli. The grandeur is within the plainness of Vṛndāvana. In every respect that should be the origin. So Sanskrit is the product, we may think in that way.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: This is a real revolutionary concept Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. It cannot but be. That must be the origin. Just as we have our Vedic culture here, and tradition, and the present European paṇḍits, the scholars, they say, “No. First the origin of civilisation from Misha, or Babylon, or here, there,” the empirical scholars they’re of particular opinion. But our opinion, we do not accede by that. So also, when we once accept that aprākṛta is the origin of everything, so whatever is there it may be so plain, the grandeur of Vaikuṇṭha, that is there within.

In Svarūpa Dāmodara and Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita’s talk, in Herā-Pañcamī day there, Caitanya-caritāmṛta, [Madhya-līlā, 14.214-229], Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita is speaking in favour of Vaikuṇṭha; the so many grandeur, so many things. Svarūpa Dāmodara says, “Don’t, you are Nārada temperament Śrīvāsa. You appreciate more about Vaikuṇṭha, and majesty, grandeur there. But don’t you know, can’t you remember that Vṛndāvana, they do not like this ratnam, but it is there and suppressed. Where it is, the poor they adore much the gold and the jewels, but those who have got enough jewels and gold, they like the flower and the leaf, all these natural, simple things. So that is suppressed there. Kalpa-vṛkṣa, then cintāmaṇi, all these things, anything can produce anything there, the original place.”

So once we admit that to be the original position, by deduction everything will come. Whatever gorgeous or dignified, everything must come from there. What is there, that is the acme. By mathematics, by logic, we are think, regulate our thoughts in that way. What do you say?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: I was just wondering, is that Śrīvāsa of Pañca Tattva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, Śrīvāsa of Pañca Tattva.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So how is he – he's in Pañca Tattva with Mahāprabhu and he has so much appreciation for Vaiṣṇava?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That means, he's Nārada, and then you can say he's pleading for others to understand. He's pleading from the opposition party to make it known to the public. You may take it in that way. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Ultimately So unanimously and quite spontaneously you came to one title, that, The Nectar of Surrender.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nectar of Surrender or Surrendered? Nectar in the life of the surrendered people, Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, Prapanna-jīvan-āmṛta, those that have come to take refuge, this will be like nectar to them. That was my conception previously. It will be nectar to whom? Those that have surrendered, it will be nectar to them. Otherwise, ordinary people may not...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It will be poison to them. Give up this, give up that.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. It will be nectar in the lives of who have surrendered. There the real adhikārī, there, it is meant for them.

Jīva Goswāmī has written in his book savatopita [?], “Those that have got faith in such, in Veda, in Bhāgavatam, they’re to read this book. Otherwise, I put a curse, so those that have no faith in this they must not come to read my book.” Jīva Goswāmī has written in such a way. “You won’t come, you unbeliever, you won’t come to touch my book,” in this way. “You are unbelievers, it is not meant for you – sealed. Only who has got faith in such and such things, it is only for them. You are discarded, you ordinary public discarded, savatopita [?], you must not touch my book. You will understand it otherwise.”

This is also a custom. At least if one comes, ventures to read, with some caution he’ll come. The curiosity will be more – “Why he says so?” Adhikārī- nirmnay, who will come to read the Veda with adhikāra, adhikāra, if we have got no – attained the standard, then it will misunderstand, mutilate, all these things.

parokṣa-vādo vedo 'yaṁ, bālānām anuśāsanam [karma-mokṣāya karmāṇi, vidhatte hy agadaṁ yathā]

["Childish and foolish people are attached to materialistic, fruitive activities, although the actual goal of life is to become free from such activities. Therefore, the Vedic injunctions indirectly lead one to the path of ultimate liberation by first prescribing fruitive religious activities, just as a father promises his child candy so that the child will take his medicine."]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.44]

Śaṅkarācārya also says, just before athāto brahma-jijñāsā, “What is the meaning of this athā?” Śaṅkarācārya says.

Rāmānuja also says athāto brahma-jijñāsā. Athā, “What is the meaning of athā? Athā means anantaram, after this; after which, one has attained this śama, dama, titikṣā; all these. One who has controlled his senses, and his mental speculations, śama, dama, who has got a very tolerant and persevering spirit, titikṣā, and something, they will come to study this book.”

In Uttara-mīmāṃsā of Vedānta Vedavyāsa has written, “Athāto brahma-jijñāsā. Athā means anantaram, after this; after which, after he has acquired such particular qualities, particular grade, then he will come to study this. Not for ordinary people, they will misunderstand, misinterpret, mutilate, and trouble will be created in the society. So for social benefit I say that only such persons will come and they will have proper clear understanding and then they will preach that to the public in inspired particular instalments and they’ll be benefited, the public, so athāto.”

Rāmānuja says, “No. Athā does not mean that. Athā means after finishing the Pūrvva-mīmāṃsā of Vyāsadeva, of Jaiminī, Pūrvva-mīmāṃsā and Uttara-mīmāṃsā, after one has finished the course of Pūrvva-mīmāṃsā, that is niskarma varṇāśrama dharma, then he will come to understand the study of this Uttara-mīmāṃsā. Then it will be beneficial to him. He has finished successfully the karma adhikāra, and then he will come to enter into the jñāna adhikāra.” That is what Rāmānuja says.

And Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa says, “Whoever he may be, this, whether karmī or jñānī, whoever he may be, athā means he must have sat-saṅga, sādhū-saṅga. From everywhere he has got the proper association of a proper sādhū, he's entitled to study this book, qualified to study this book, he will understand the real meaning."

In this way, so everywhere there's consideration for adhikāra, yogyatā.

Devotees: Fitness, ability, aptitude, qualification.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Qualification, the standard of qualification he must acquire and then he will come to tackle this plane. And he will have healthy association.

...

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Our Guru Mahārāja used to say, "Athāto, now that we have come to the human form of life, after coming to the human form of life."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only human form of life is not sufficient. Sat-saṅga, sādhū-saṅga, sad-guru caraṇāśraya, sādhū-saṅga. Sādhū-saṅga, anyone, one who has got the grace of a sādhū, ya'o paḍa bhāgavata vaiṣṇavera sthane.

["yāha, bhāgavata paḍa vaiṣṇavera sthāne / ekānta āśraya kara

caitanya-carane]

[“If you want to understand Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam,” he said, “you must approach a self-realized Vaiṣṇava and hear from him. You can do this when you have completely taken shelter of the lotus feet of Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 5.131]

Even a brāhmaṇa is not qualified to read, to enter into Bhāgavatam. Mahāprabhu says, “Go to a Vaiṣṇava and then you will get the real standpoint of Bhāgavatam from him, how to approach Bhāgavatam.”

Here was one Devānanda Paṇḍita, a brāhmaṇa of noted scholarship, he used to, udarpana, he was a professor of Bhāgavatam, and many used to come to hear from him Bhāgavatam. Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita he was an expert in the explanation of Bhāgavatam here in Kuliya. The [Bhakti Prajñāna] Keśava Mahārāja’s Maṭh is named after them, Devānanda Gauḍīya Maṭh. Devānanda, he was a scholar of Bhāgavatam, but he had the standpoint from the Śāṅkara School.

So Mahāprabhu, suddenly, one day, “Oh, here that Devānanda Paṇḍita, he...

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He gives lectures.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: “He teaches Bhāgavatam to the students, so many students, but he himself does not know the real purport. He’s spreading poison in the name of Bhāgavatam. I shall go and tear up his books.” One day suddenly inspired with such spirit Mahāprabhu ran.

And Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, and others perhaps, stopped Him. “No, no, that won’t be well in You, anyhow.”

Then one day Mahāprabhu met Devānanda Paṇḍita and told, “You teach Bhāgavatam to the students, but do you know it, what is there in Bhāgavatam? What nectar is there, you yourself do not know.”

So in a very base, ridiculous way Mahāprabhu told, Prabhu kahe pari purna [?] “One who has fed full belly, when he goes to the latrine – while passing stool he gets some relief. But you do not get that sort of pleasure also. That sort of pleasure also you do not get. What nectar, what taste, is there, and you mean fellow with mean mind you approach the Bhāgavatam and you teach in such a filthy way. What do you know about Bhāgavatam?”

Then, some other time, Vakeśvara Paṇḍita, Mahāprabhu’s intimate devotee, he came and stayed – ah, what I wanted to say - Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita came one day to hear Bhāgavatam from Devānanda’s tol, school. Then Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita when hearing Bhāgavatam, he’s pronouncing the śloka, Śrīvāsa is understanding in his own way, and so many feelings coming, sometimes tears, sometimes shivering.

And Devānanda Paṇḍita asked his students, “Oh. That man has come to disturb us with all these lower sentiments, take him up, take him out.”

So his students took Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita from there and left him outside. And that enraged Mahāprabhu.

And anyhow, that Vakeśvara Paṇḍita he came to his house, who was the first disciple of Mahāprabhu. And he was the first successor in Rādhā Kantha Maṭha Purī, Vakeśvara Paṇḍita. After Mahāprabhu’s departure Vakeśvara was in charge of that place where Mahāprabhu lived twenty four [twelve] years. Gambhīrā, Kāśī Miśra’s Maṭha, Rādhā Kantha Maṭha. And that Vakeśvara Paṇḍita came here previously, and he had a private talk and Devānanda was converted.

“Yes. I did not know that such meaning may be in Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. We were influenced by Śaṅkarācārya, the Brahman is all-in-all, and these are all saguṇa, māyā.”

So when Mahāprabhu, after five years of sannyāsa, He came again to visit this Navadvīpa Dhāma, this Kuliya, Vakeśvara Paṇḍita, [Devānanda Paṇḍita] fell on His feet, “I committed great offences.”

Devotees: Devānanda Paṇḍita.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Devānanda Paṇḍita. And Mahāprabhu, “Yes, you committed offences so much, not about Me as you have committed to Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita. Go and beg forgiveness from him. You will be absolved from your offences.” Mahāprabhu told him.

kuliya-grāmete āsi' śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya / hena nāhi, yā 're prabhu nā karilā dhanya

["At Koladvīpa - the Govardhana Hill of Vṛndāvana, concealed in Śrī Navadvīpa Dhāma - the Most Generous Absolute expressed Himself in His maximum generosity. Without considering any crime, He absolved whoever He found. He accepted them all."]

[Caitanya-Bhāgavat: Antya, 3.541]

The Cāpāla Gopāl and many others that gave so many bad remarks about Śrī Caitanyadeva's Movement, they all came, "I could not understand Your outstanding personality and superiority, so I, we did much wrong against You unknowingly, unconsciously. Please forgive us."

"Oh, no, no, no, you've no offence, I say go away."

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. So adhikāra, Bhāgavatam also, and sat-saṅga, even a brāhmaṇa may not have a proper position to understand and to teach scripture. Only sādhū-saṅga, a good teacher, a good teacher is necessary to understand the śāstra.

Mahāprabhu asked Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa also, he was living in Benares, son of Tapanā Miśra. Tapanā Miśra was a devotee and scholar also. When Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa went to visit Mahāprabhu in Purī He told, "Don't marry, serve your parents, they're Vaiṣṇavas, and when they pass away you will go to Vṛndāvana and live with Rūpa and Sanātana. In the meantime you read Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam from a Vaiṣṇava teacher. Ya'o paḍa bhāgavata vaiṣṇavera sthane [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 5.131] Get the real standpoint, how to approach, what is the theme, what is its end, all these things. They will be able to give you real direction in your study."

So Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa comes to say that, "He may be anyone, but he comes to a proper Guru, guide, then he's got the capacity to enter into the meaning of the book, of the scripture."

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: Then it's said,

eka bhāgavata baḍa - bhāgavata-śāstra / āra bhāgavata - bhakta bhakti-rasa-pātra

So what is bhakti-rasa-pātra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Two Bhāgavatas, bhakti rasa pātra means the sādhū, one who is living the life of a Bhāgavata, bhakti-rasa-pātra, pertaining to Bhagavān. The book and the man, living scripture is Bhāgavata, Vaisnava is Bhāgavata. Bhāgavatu bhakta bhāgavata. So Bhāgavata is person and Bhāgavata is scripture, both.

eka bhāgavata baḍa - bhāgavata-śāstra, āra bhāgavata - bhakta bhakti-rasa-pātra.

[One of the bhāgavatas is the great scripture Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, and the other is the pure devotee absorbed in the mellows of loving devotion.]
[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 1.99]

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: What is the meaning of bhakti-rasa-pātra?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti-rasa-pātra – a person who is filled up, a pot filled up with rasam, raso vai saḥ, ānandam, pātra. Pātra means person as well pātra means pot, two meanings of the word pātra. Pātra means the pot, glass, container; and he's also container, pātra vectī. Deśa-kāla-pātra, the space, time, and person, deśa-kāla-pātra, three factors of the world. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nītāi Caitanya.

Devotee: Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam, āmṛtam, prapanna-jīvane āmṛtam, prapanna-jīvane āmṛta svarūpam, those that have surrendered this is nectar in their life. The nectarine in the surrendered life, nectarine in the souls surrendered, surrendered souls nectarine; it will sustain them like āmṛtam.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: To those that have surrendered.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To those that are surrendered, it is nectar to them. And they will live eating this. This is their food. If they go on doing it their life will be sustained as the food like āmṛtam to them.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what inspired you to compose Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When I came out to live alone, leaving away the association of the disciples of Prabhupāda I came to live alone I felt some sort of helplessness within me. And then I found that śaraṇāgati that is the indispensable necessity in the life of a devotee. I have left, or anyhow I am excluded from the company of Prabhupāda's association, I am helpless, but śaraṇāgati may come to my relief. So especially I came to think that what is śaraṇāgati? Śaraṇāgati will be the basis. And Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura's Śaraṇāgati impressed me most, when I came to its connection.

ṣaḍ aṅga śaraṇāgati haibe yāñhāra / tāñhāra prarthanā śune śrī nanda-kumāra

[“The youthful son of Nanda Mahārāja, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, hears the prayers of anyone who takes refuge in Him by this six-fold practice.”] [The Songs of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura, p1]

“If I want Nanda-kumāra then I must have this six-fold śaraṇāgati.” And I wanted to culture that. So I heard as much as, in that time, after coming from Maṭha, in my Maṭha life, I recollected them, as well as consulting with Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, Śaraṇāgati, Jīva Goswāmī Prabhu’s Bhakti Sandarbha Śaraṇāgati, and Rāmānuja sampradāya Śaraṇāgati. And then I tried to collect them and to put them in a particular way as I thought best, and then began to write this book, that this may help others who will come in such position as mine. That was the reason. This question I was never asked so far. You have asked today. And I say what led me to compose this book.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: New questions mean the possibility of new nectar Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha, ha. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Nicari sapna bangal [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I heard of Rabi [Rabindranath] Tagore's noted poetry but I have not gone through that.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It's more a nationalistic feeling...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The orthodox, he blamed the orthodox system.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nijari sapna bangal [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Rabindranatha Tagore, he had command of the language [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: he could describe beautifully anything he touched; kavi. But Kalidās is also a notably, renowned kavi, but he's not Ācārya, his life was a filthy one we're told. So Rabi Tagore he may be a poet, but what is given to us that is not acceptable.

Professor Sanyal, our Nisikanta Sanyal, the writer of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, a very blind follower of our Guru Mahārāja, and very strong, he was first follower of Rabi Tagore. Then when he came to this School, in his diary he noted, "One who does not sincerely believe in a particular creed and he goes to write, eulogise that thought, he's a hypocrite." So, and he rejected Rabi Tagore from there. Hypocrite, kapaṭā, deceit, he's a deceit, banchak, deceiving agent is he who does not, who has no faith really in that creed but he's writing many things in its favour. So we must be very careful about them. He does not believe what he says, he does not believe it in itself. The man and his word is different. We must not believe such man. We should be rather very much careful when we shall meet him. What he says he does not believe that. He's a hypocrite; double dealing. That was found in his diary.

Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. [?] One Doctor came for treatment when I was a patient. "You have come, you have passed so many days in your red cloth, what have you got?" He wanted.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He's asking you?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hmm.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He had the audacity to ask you.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: "Have you got anything? You are passing so many days with red cloth."

Yes. I have, I may think that I have got so much as to say with boldness that what is written by your Rabindranath Tagore, all false.

[Group laughter] [?] The highest position in the culture of the present day, everything wrong and filthy, so much I have studied.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He must have been quite shocked. [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One of my friends in previous life he came to see me, “What have you got? Have you seen God?” In this way: straight question.

No, I have not yet seen, as you may think, to be seen.

“Then what have you got? So many days you have passed?”

I also told him that, your Vivekānanda and Ramakrishna, they’ve got nothing, and what they’ve said is all false. This I have understood.

Then he was very much depressed and went away.

That their sight, what they say, “That this is God, I have seen God,” all these things are false, and nothing. That is saguṇa; that is māyā. That is not seeing.

Once, an important thing, while Calcutta Maṭha was in a hired house, Ulṭā Dāṅgā, at that time, in the beginning of the Maṭha, we came, perhaps that year or one year ago I’d come, joined the Mission, the day of appearance of Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura was observed with some festival, and some pandal was to be erected on the street, and there meetings were going on. One respectable zamīndār was taken by one of our, that Goswāmī Mahārāja, one of our God-brothers, was invited and he came to hear. And he asked Prabhupāda, our Guru Mahārāja, “I have got a very private talk with you.”

Then it was in a dark night when it was arranged, two chairs were given a little far off, and Prabhupāda went there and that gentleman also, sat closely. Anyhow, I managed to take position little far in the dark night. That Prabhupāda may not be left alone, that was also my thought in the mind, and also, ‘what does he say?’ a curiosity.

Then that man taking his head possibly nearest distance to Prabhupāda’s ear; “Have you seen God?”

Then Prabhupāda’s answer was, “What is the good of saying that I have seen or I have not seen? As long as you do not know how to see, what is called, 'to see the Lord', you do not know, you cannot get any benefit by my mere statement that, 'I have seen or I have not seen.' You are blind to both the things, to both. First thing you should learn how to see God. You must get that sort of eye to see the God. Without that my statement, any man may say, 'I have seen.' Then, what of that to you? You may be deceived. 'I have not seen your God what you have concocted within you as God.' That may also misguide you."

So Prabhupāda's trying to see.

And he's repeatedly, "Have you seen, have you seen?" in this way.

And Prabhupāda is always sticking to his own point, "That will be of no good to you. You should know what is God and how to see, what is His sight; all these you must study yourself. Otherwise you'll be deceived by any man and every man by the mere statement that has got no value." In this way.

And our Mādhava Mahārāja, he was Hayagrīva Brahmācārī first, and then Mādhava Mahārāja, and his cousin-brother Nārāyaṇa Mukherjee, both of them first went to visit Katwa to see Mahāprabhu's Mūrti, and from there he came to see Māyāpur and went to see Prabhupāda.

Prabhupāda seeing two young men of fair complexion, he asked them, "Who are you?

Where did you go?"

They told, "We went to see Katwa, to have darśana of Mahāprabhu's Vighraha there." I heard from Mādhava Mahārāja.

Then Prabhupāda stressed, "Have you seen, could you see Mahāprabhu?"

"Ordinarily we have seen. But the way he was putting his question and pressing, 'Have you had darśana?' That raised some questions within us. Then he means something else, the real sight. Then yes, we have seen that as ordinary men are seeing. That is not seeing proper. If we want to see Him then we must have to get such eye and go to Guru.”

om ajñāna-timirāndhasya jñānāñjana-śalākayā [cakṣur unmilitam yena, tasmai śrī-gurave namaḥ]

["I was blind in the darkness of ignorance but my Spiritual Master applied the ointment of proper spiritual knowledge and thus opened my eyes. Unto him I offer my respectful obeisances."]

“All these things he came in with, teaching. And then at that time we went away, but again we came with the proper seeing, how to see Him properly.”

And then Hayagrīva Prabhu, he was Herambo Banerjee, once, as he told, he was working in a private European company, and suddenly by reading the book of Śaṅkarācārya he had some intense indifference to the worldly life and ran to Haridwar and went far up into the hills and stayed three days and nights there under a tree, and ate some bael fruits. Then he told to me, “I heard a sound. Go away, you will get sad-guru, the real Guru you will get, you go now.” Then I came back, and generally I have come here.” Consequently he told, this Mādhava Mahārāja. Herambo Banerjee, Ganeśa, and then Hayagrīva Brahmācārī.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. So how to see, the eye is necessary, the eye, divya darśana. Divyaṁ dadāmi te cakṣuḥ, paśya me yogam aiśvaram.

[na tu mām śakyase draṣṭum, anenaiva sva-cakṣuṣā divyaṁ dadāmi te cakṣuḥ, paśya me yogam aiśvaram]

["By these present eyes of yours you will not be able to see Me. Therefore I give you supernatural eyes by which you can see My almighty, mystic power."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.8]

That is another consideration. Arjuna had higher eye, but divya darśana to Arjuna had to come lower, in the lower strata then to have that sort of darśana. That is not the highest darśana. Divivya Kṛṣṇa, that is the highest darśana, and vaṁśīdhari more higher, more higher. So divya darśana, the darśana, the seeing of a lower type what Arjuna had to undergo, another darśana; though it is said there, sudurdarśam idaṁ, then that is in another side.

sudurdarśam idaṁ rūpaṁ, drṣṭavān asi yan mama devā apy asya rūpasya, nityaṁ darśana-kāñkṣiṇaḥ

["Oh Arjuna, the chance to see Me as you are now seeing Me before you is very, very rarely attained. Even the gods constantly aspire for a glimpse of this human-like form of truth, consciousness and beauty."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.52]

Drṣṭavān asi, present tense. When Arjuna could not tolerate that divya darśana he told, "I can't bear. You come to that in my level as I had experience of Your darśana."

Then He became catur-bhuja first and then deva-bhuja.

dr̥ṣṭvedaṁ mānuṣaṁ rūpaṁ, tava saumyaṁ janārdana idānīm asmi saṁvṛttaḥ, sa-cetāḥ prakṛtiṁ gataḥ

["O Janārdana, my heart is fulfilled upon seeing Your charming form of human features.

My fear is dispelled, and my inner peace has returned."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.51]

"Now I have come to my normal position, sa-cetāḥ, saṁvṛttaḥ, sa-cetāḥ prakṛtiṁ gataḥ."

Then Bhagavān told, sudurdaśaṁ idaṁ rūpaṁ, dr̥ṣṭavān asi yaṁ mama.
"Generally we may think that divya-rūpa that is very rarely to be found."

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

[śrī bhagavān uvāca]

[sudurdarśam idaṁ rūpaṁ, dṛṣṭavān asi yan mama] devā apy asya rūpasya, nityaṁ darśana-kāṅkṣiṇaḥ

[The Supreme Lord said: O Arjuna, the chance to see Me as you are now seeing Me before you, is very, very rarely attained. Even the gods constantly aspire for a glimpse of this human like form of truth, consciousness, and beauty.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 11.52]

But interpreters say, “No, that divya rūpa that is applied to that divya rūpa, because dṛṣṭavān asi, asi means present tense, not dṛṣṭavān, that is past tense. Dṛṣṭavān asi, that is, “What at present you see Me, that is two handed figure.” Devā apy asya rūpasya, nityaṁ darśana-kāṅkṣiṇaḥ. They can’t, they generally say that catur-buja. And that divya rūpa, the whole thing within Me, that is a troublesome rūpa of Me. So that is not natural: naturally some unnatural. That is like to play the part of a magician. Everything is in Me. You see this, this, this, this.” That is not aprākṛta. That is full of majesty of different types mixed together. So dṛṣṭavān asi, aprākṛta rūpa, divya rūpa. That is:

kṛṣṇera yateka khelā, sarvottama nara-līlā, nara-vapu tāhāra svarūpa
[gope-veśa, veṇu-kara nava kiśora, nata-vara, nara līlāra haya anurūpa]

[“Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa has many pastimes, of which His pastimes as a human being are the best. His form as a human being is the Supreme Transcendental Form. In this form, He is a cowherd boy. He carries a flute in His hand, and His youth is new. He is also an expert dancer. All this is just suitable for His pastimes as a human being.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 21.101]

Of all His pastimes, that is very near to human, human life, human type; that is the highest. Rather, the human life has been created after His highest form of playful life. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: It has been created after, I mean...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Model is there and the human society has been created after that model. The original, highest form is there. Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Hari.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: God made man after His own image. The Christians say.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. God made man after His own image. Hare Kṛṣṇa. And the Vṛndāvana līlā, ha, ha, most ordinary, most human, more than that even, like a debauch, guṇḍā. Stealing, lying, doing anything and everything, in a sweet way. Without that the servitors of those rasa they can't stay. Perhaps if He did not steal and did not make such boisterousness or so Yaśodā will die? Audata, roguery - impertinence? That was though externally Yaśodā is enraged, but otherwise if that impertinence is not there Yaśodā could not live. Such is her constitution. She's made of that stuff. There is a pleasure in toleration of the impertinence of the child. That is in vātsalya rasa, an important part of vātsalya rasa is there. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

...

Nimāi is absent? [?] Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, I was reading yesterday in the Paramātmā Sandarbha, descriptions in the Paramātmā Sandarbha, of how the living entity sees in the dream, dreaming state, in svapna he also sees. So what is that medium? What is the medium by which one sees in a dream? What kind of eye is that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The medium, is everything, the subtle body within, the subtle, the mental body, the mental system within, sūkṣma-deha. There is not only see, that eye, the ear, everything is there, the touch, everything is there. In our subtle body everything is there, what we find in the flesh and blood, it is there, everything. It is more akin than this external body. It is more perfect than this external body, the mental system. Everyone has got that system.

There is world, there is government, and Yāmarāja is the judge. A government is there. Without this physical body the mental body can live and move. And there is a region where there are different stages of mental body, living independently of this physical, the good and bad, of course within the area of sattya, rāja, tama, in this brahmāṇḍa, the mental body what we say ourselves.

And Rāmānuja says that our dream is not a false thing. There also we live many lives. In dream we feel pain and pleasure and thereby many of our karma is finished. Just as by this physical life by suffering bad karma vanishes, and by feeling pleasure, puṇyam, merit finishes. So also in dream, in a bad dream we feel some pains and some of our previous bad karma finishes. And in good dream when we're happy there also the puṇyam is finished thereby. That is life and that is real in this sense, in the mundane sense. Bhūr, Bhuvar, Svar, Mahar, Janar, Tapar, Satyam, in those stages, where are they? Not in the physical plane but in the mental plane. The world is there, mental experience.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Janar, Tapar, Mahar, this is all mental experience?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, up to sattva-guṇa, Satya-loka, sattva-guṇa, the guṇa-māyī, the misconception according to its degree, it extends up to Satya-loka, up to Brahmā, Satya-loka. And then the negative side finished in Virajā, in prakṛti, and then the beginning of the other plane, Brahmaloḥa. And then Śivaloḥa, Vaikuṇṭha-loḥa, of variegated types. And then above, Ayodhyā, Dvārakā, Goloka, Dvārakā, Vṛndāvana, gradation is always going on up to Rādhā-kuṇḍa, Svayaṁ-Bhagavān, rasa, Govardhana līlā, Rādhā-kuṇḍa, according to the degree of the ecstatic joy. The standard of measurement will be rasam, rasa, ānandam. International measure is gold, they have got their own coins, dollar, pound, rupee, rouble, all these things, but international standard is gold. So rasa is the standard by which we can measure what is, that is the universal standard, ānandam, by which we are to measure what high what is low.

vaikuṇṭhāj janito varā madhu-purī tatrāpi rāsotsavād vṛndāraṇyam udāra-pāṇi-ramaṇāt tatrāpi govardhanaḥ rādhā-kuṇḍam ihāpi gokula-pateḥ premāmṛtāplāvanāt [kuryād asya virājato giri-taṭe sevām vivekī na kaḥ]

["The holy place known as Mathurā is spiritually superior to Vaikuṇṭha, the transcendental world, because the Lord appeared there. Superior to Mathurā-purī is the transcendental forest of Vṛndāvana because of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā pastimes. And superior to the forest of Vṛndāvana is Govardhana Hill, for it was raised by the divine hand of Śrī Kṛṣṇa and was the site of His various loving pastimes. And, above all, the super-excellent Śrī Rādhā-kuṇḍa stands supreme, for it is over-flooded with the ambrosial nectarean prema of the Lord of Gokula, Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Where, then, is that intelligent person who is unwilling to serve this divine Rādhā-kuṇḍa, which is situated at the foot of Govardhana Hill?"

[Upadeśāmṛta, 9]

In this way: gradual improvement in rasa. Raso vai saḥ. Akhila-rasāmṛta-sindhu. Rasa is controlling the whole universe, seen, unseen, rasa. Raso vai saḥ.

Hare Kṛṣṇa. Nitāi Gaura Gadādhara.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: These higher planetary systems which are within this brahmāṇḍa, our existence, or the living entities existing within those planets, they all have sūkṣma body?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, even the trees, even the stones have their sūkṣma body, but not awakened sufficiently. The degree of awakening is there, different.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, the living entities on these higher planetary systems, they are already living on those planets in their sūkṣma body, not in this gross body of flesh and blood.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. We are told that Pitṛloka, generally the departed souls from the human body, if they under special order have immediate next birth they will live in Candraloka. Pitṛloka is Candraloka, and there day and night is one fortnight. So Pitṛloka, they may rest there. They do not want such food. So these kishikaja, all these calculations is not necessary for them. They live on their pension what is sent from this world towards them, that bhava. The sūkṣma-deha lives on some mental pension.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Piṇḍu?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Mental pension. One mentally sending something that goes there and they live on that food. Pitṛloka, they live, generally they're located in Candraloka, in the moon. Just as one ghost may live in a particular tree, ghost says, "I'm living there in a particular tree," that mental affinity. So in general the Pitṛloka they live in Candraloka though Candraloka is not favourable for the souls with flesh and body, not a favourable place to live, but without this body only the mental body can live there. And live means only a mental association, their living means mental association. And they can also communicate amongst them, they're so many, the society, they can also communicate with them. Just as in Theosophy, the Theosophists they say that devoid, without this body so many souls can live, are living. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: They're living off the piṇḍu offering?

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, by piṇḍa-dāna, they're offering here and the impression going to them. He's doing some deed, giving something, and the mental impression is there, and that is going to feed him, to connect. He has got that mental body and the mental impression is their food, not this physical thing. And if he offers to a good person then that will create greater effects there. So after offering piṇḍa that is given to good persons here; or even at least to the cows, they're innocent, not mischievous. Cows are the, amongst all the beasts cows are considered to be the most innocent birth, innocent form of birth. And after that they come to live in the human birth, it is supposed, the souls. After finishing their animal course, the last point they come to be cows and bulls. And then the ordinary course finished they come to get a chance in the human form to begin the free will action. But there they have got no free will, all work on intuition, so they do not acquire any merit or demerit. They're only suffering or enjoying the result of their former action. But only new action begins only in the human birth, especially in India, Bhārata-varṣa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So they're also subjected to starvation, hunger?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: In Pitṛloka.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In the Pitṛloka?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They may do sometimes, and they may die also. Because when that is finished – by transformation, may be transferred, this, this, there, somewhere else. That is not a permanent thing. That is, must be interval of time.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: If someone in the heavenly planets, their puṇya, if in the Svarga, somebody's puṇya becomes...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svarga is that of puṇya, when finished, generally he may come here to get another chance of doing good or bad...

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: It is said they come...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And even in a special case he may be hurled down to another section if his pāpam is more intense. He may not always be allowed to come here where there is freedom of action, not always, but generally they may come.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: They say they come in the rain.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Rain, yes; that is another thing. When pāpa and puṇya finished, they get the chance – the ordinary pāpa puṇya what was ripe, that is finished, they're thrown into the sky and with rain they fall, adopting, with some physical adopting connection they come here and they connect themselves mentally with some crops. In this way the crops with the food come to the male persons and they enter into the womb and then come with a body. That is also a particular process, but not always, there are exceptions also. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: They're thrown into the sky, after dying.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: His association; that is their inclination or association with their, when they left in the chaos then gradually their sūkṣma karma evolves and takes to the particular, not always with human section but so many animals also. But with that first association with the gross thing and with that association they come to enter into different stages of this physical life. It is not unreasonable. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Generally the living entities go to the heavenly planets to get the results of their pious activities.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I can't follow.

Devotee: Generally the living entities they go to the heavenly planets to get the results of their pious activities.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, by some pious activity they go up.

Devotee: And what about the result of their sinful activity? They go to the hellish planets? What about their sinful activity? I mean...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sinful? Must be classified either pious or heinous...

Devotee: But they're doing both sinful and...

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?] They're committing both pious and impious activity.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He says neither pious nor sinful, do you mean to say that?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] ...in the lower creation...

_____ [?] Without the physical body, only mental body...

_____ [?] Without this physical body one can feel pain of different types. That is nāraka. [?] Ha, ha, a waste of energy. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Yes Mahārāja, it is a waste of energy to simply photograph some tree or some landscape. But when I'm doing it of a transcendentalist then it is bhāgavata-sevā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: What's that verse? Ei baro karuna koro, vaisnava gosai.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

*ei baro karuna koro, vaisnava gosai, patita pavana toma bine keho nai.

[O Vaisnava Goswami, please be merciful to me now. No one except for you can purify the conditioned souls. Where does anyone go to find such a merciful personality by whose mere audience all sins go far away? After bathing in the waters of the sacred Ganges many times one becomes purified, but just by the sight of you, fallen souls are purified. This is your great power. The holy name delivers one who has committed an offence to Lord Hari, but if one commits an offence to you, there is no way of overcoming it. Your heart is always the resting place of Lord Govinda, and Lord Govinda says the Vaisnavas are always in My heart. I desire the dust of your holy feet in every birth I may take. Please consider Narottama dasa Thakura yours and be kind upon him.] [Prarthana – Narottama dasa Ṭhākura]

Nitāi. Gaura Haribol.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: ...we find that, which scripture?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Perhaps in some Upaniṣad it is.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: I see, I see. I was curious.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nitāi Caitanya. Only give statement. No reason or rhyme there we find, because it is meant for the higher level where no possibility of any deception. For whatever is told, they the listeners take it as full truth, no doubt, no position of doubt, because there is no possibility of any deception. In that highest civilised plane the Upaniṣad, “You say this, this is this, and yes, it is that.” No tarka, no reasoning, no doubt, nothing of the kind because the plane is such, this deception is unknown there. So Veda, Upaniṣad, na tāṁs tarkeṇa yojayet.

acintyāḥ khalu ye bhāvā na tāṁs tarkeṇa yojayet [prakṛtibhyaḥ param yacca tad-acintyasya lakṣam]

["That which is inconceivable can never be understood through the logic and reason of the mind. The very symptom that something is inconceivable is that it is beyond logical comprehension."] [Skanda-Purāṇa] & [Mahābharata, Bhiṣma Parva, 5.22]

Don't take your doubt and reasoning to that higher stage. This is unnecessary there. Only plain speaking, fair dealing, no trial of any, none wants to deceive, it is unknown there. So Upaniṣad he says in that plane, Veda, Upaniṣad, no rhyme reason. But when it came in lower level then of course the smṛti came, the Purāṇa came, to advise like friends, "Do this, you'll be benefited. Such man did that, he got this result. And he did bad things and a bad result. So my friend don't." This is like Purāṇa. And smṛti to apply the truth in our everyday life smṛti comes to our help. Manmate atardhi. And kavya it comes like the affectionate wife. "Do this, it will be good to you." Very sweet form kavya comes to advise us. It is the Veda. Acintyāḥ khalu ye bhāvā na tāṁs tarkaṇa yojayet. It does not come into the jurisdiction of doubt and reasoning and all these things. Don't drag all these filthy things to that sphere.

I told in one lecture, the mother is giving a sweetmeat to the hand of a child, her son.

"Oh, it may be poison within, here, there may be poison. I must examine, go to the laboratory." Then this is a very harsh civilisation, deplorable thing. Affectionate and fair dealing is unknown. And there the tarka, the vicar, yukti, doubt, examination, inspection comes there: a filthy life. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Mahārāja, in Vṛndāvana, Rādhārāṇī is in charge of the Vṛndāvana Dhāma. She's the Dhāma Now, in Navadvīpa Dhāma, Mahārāja, who is [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Here, Nityānanda Prabhu we may take, Nityānanda Prabhu.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Balarāma, Lord Balarāma expands Himself into the Dhāma. The Vaikuṇṭha Dhāma is an expansion of Lord Balarāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Balarāma's facsimile that is Saṅkarṣaṇa, you may say. Balarāma is in Goloka standard, Balarāma, and His vaibhava, extended self, His delegated self in Vaikuṇṭha.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: And He Himself expands into the Goloka Dhāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Goloka.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Lord Balarāma.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Goloka, Vṛndāvana, everywhere, but sandhīnī, that underground.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Sandhīnī-śakti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And always active; only in mādhurya rasa passive. There, Rādhārāṇī's vaibhava having full play, and Balarāma passively, Yogamāyā, Balarāma and Yogamāyā of similar function. Both of Them combined conducting that, about the arrangement of the stage.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, what is the position of Subhadrā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Subhadrā? In Bhadrā's position in Dvārakā, not in Vṛndāvana. There is one sakhī of Rādhārāṇī named Bhadrā. There are many sakhī's and Subhadrā name may also be found there. That is another thing. But what we find in Jagannātham, in Arjuna patni; that is within the Dvārakā līlā. Bhadrā is sister to Kṛṣṇa in Dvārakā līlā, nothing to do in Vṛndāvana.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: She's sometimes referred to as Yogamāyā, Subhadrā Devī?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Where?

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, isn't she?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: No.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: No, she's not that?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When I used to write Prapanna-jīvanāmṛtam I had to think very deeply, and at that time I came in this position, that who; what will be the relation of Baladeva and Yogamāyā? I found within myself that Baladeva must be master of Yogamāyā. But I did not find it anywhere in the scripture. But anyhow, after calculating in the environment, analysing, I came to that they must have some connection. Yogamāyā is also making arrangement about Kṛṣṇa līlā and Baladeva is also doing. So Their relation must be very intimate. And perhaps Yogamāyā must be as if the wife of Baladeva, Balarāma. That was, that conclusion came to me. But then later on I found that Jīva Goswāmī he has also expressed such opinion, that Yogamāyā and Baladeva, similar. And Vṛnda Devī also very akin to them there conducting the affairs, Yogamāyā. Yogamāyā especially in the female circle, śakti, Balarāma, and Baladeva in the outer rather, male circle, something like that. But they two are the second layer. First layer only feeling His own ecstasy.

`hlādinī'-kāraṇa]*

[“Ecstasy personified is Kṛṣṇa Himself, and He feels, tastes and enjoys Himself; but only through faith is it possible to transmit and distribute that ecstasy and joy to others. Faith is the very nature of the hlādinī-śakti, the ecstasy potency, which is represented in full by Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. It can transmit total Kṛṣṇa consciousness to the devotees outside. Faith is the halo of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī, by the light of which others may understand Kṛṣṇa. When the negative combines with the positive, realisation of Their function is distributed to all other negative parts.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 8.158]

And when extension begins we find the Balarāma and Yogamāyā. They're making arrangements for that transaction of Kṛṣṇa. Rasāmṛta murtih rasa, He's tasting Himself. Rasa is tasting Himself. Cit rasa, not this mundane rasa, the subject, and rasa is object. When rasa is Himself the subject, the highest subject, He's tasting Himself. Sukha-rūpa kṛṣṇa kare sukha āsvādana. Then it will gradually extend itself, or Himself, and we find Baladeva, facsimile of Kṛṣṇa. And Baladeva and as direct approach to Baladeva to the mādhurya rasa, is in the science of rasa it is not admissible, so He should extend Himself as Yogamāyā, His special potency Yogamāyā is going to perform. And another representation, delegation of Baladeva is the younger sister of Rādhārāṇī, Anaṅga Mañjarī.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Anaṅga Mañjarī.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Baladeva as Anaṅga Mañjarī, He is there participating in the service of Rādhārāṇī. And Yogamāyā is managing externally, management in the hands of Yogamāyā, we find that way.

Bhakti Cāru Swāmī: Anaṅga Mañjarī is actually an expansion Balarāma, or a manifestation?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Manifestation, His representative in that rasa, for that particular way. With that abhimāna of Balarāma He cannot enter, the science of rasa does not allow, the laws of rasa, fine importance. So He has to go there as Anaṅga Mañjarī. We are told there. And as Yogamāyā potency the management department, extension, that is meant by Yogamāyā. All second hand, first hand Kṛṣṇa, then second hand helping Kṛṣṇa līlā from outside.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But didn't Balarāma return to Vṛndāvana and dance rasa with the gopīs?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is separate. That is the group is a separate one.

Devotee: A separate group of gopīs were there.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: A separate group of gopīs with whom Baladeva, Balarāma showed rasa. The Goswāmīs, their interpretation and inner understanding says Balarāma makes rasa externally, but He's making rasa līlā of Kṛṣṇa within His heart. Ha, ha. Within His heart He's making rasa of Kṛṣṇa. His position is such, the wholesale dedicated position, dedicated personality to be faithful cent per cent to the central satisfaction.

_____ [?] His very constitutional position is such, He cannot do otherwise. That is His very nature, intrinsic nature. So all leading towards the satisfaction of Kṛṣṇa, the key is in His hand. Ha, ha, ha. And the master is autocrat. Ha, ha. "But don't be jealous of Me. I am friendly to you. You are all My own. Don't be afraid."

ahaṁ hi sarva-yajñānāṁ, bhoktā ca prabhur eva ca [na tu mām abhijānanti, tattvenātaś cyavanti te]

["-Because I alone am the enjoyer and rewarder of all sacrifices. But since they cannot know Me in this way, they again undergo birth, disease, infirmity, and death."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 9.24]

bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, jñātvā mām śāntim ṛcchati

["I am the enjoyer of the results of sacrifice performed by the fruit-hunter, as well as the results of austerity performed by the liberation-seeker - I am their only worshipping object; I am Nārāyaṇa, the indwelling monitor of all planes of life, and the Supreme Worshipping Personality who awards liberation. And I am the well-wisher of all - I am Kṛṣṇa, the devotee's most adorable friend. The soul who thus knows My true identity attains the ecstasy of knowing his own original divine identity."]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 5.29]

"Your anxiety will subside when you come to understand that everything is in My hand and you are My friend, and not foe. I'm in friendly relation with you all. But I'm all in all. Then you will find real peace at your heart. I'm all in all, but I'm your well wisher, I'm friendly to you."

When you come to realise this then you will get real peace. Otherwise you will have worry and no finishing of worry. The worry will finish only then, that who is controlling the whole, my interest is represented there for favourable consideration. He's my friend. My representation is there, the cause is there, so no any miss-justice, no apprehension of any misdeed, miss-justice. Then only we can find peace within us. Bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, sarva-loka-maheśvaram. The great master of all that we can conceive, sarva-loka- maheśvaram, and bhoktāraṁ yajña-tapasāṁ, and He's the recipient of everything, to the farthing, goes to Him only. And He's friendly to me. Suhṛdaṁ sarvva-bhūtānāṁ, not only myself but all real interest represented there in His consideration. Jñātvā māṁ śāntim ṛcchati, he can only attain real peace in heart. That my interest is insured in the highest quarter of management; then only, "Yes, I have no worry, no anxiety."

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. But we find so many signs of impressions, anxiety, worry, in the līlā. That is something else. That is something else. It should not be reckoned with the life of this plane. And that will come under this category:

bahye viṣajvāla haya, bhitare ānandamāya, [kṛṣṇa premara adbhuta carite]

["The wonderful characteristic of divine love of Kṛṣṇa is that although externally, it works like fiery lava, internally it is like sweet nectar that fills the heart with the greatest joy."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.50]

That union in separation: that is the highest form of union. Union in separation: that is the highest form of union. That cannot be assailed and challenged under any circumstances. Bhitare ānandamāya, bahye viṣajvāla haya. Apparently the painfulness but the inner position is more ecstatic intensity. Bahye viṣajvāla haya, bhitare ānandamāya. The whole thing is like this. We are to understand and follow it with particular attention, intelligence, and really only to be intelligible by faith only, śraddhā, buddhi-grāhyam atīndriyam.

[sukham ātyantikam yat tad, buddhi-grāhyam atīndriyam vetti yatra na caivāyam, sthitaś calati tattvataḥ]

["The yogī remains satisfied in the Lord alone, having directly seen the Supersoul by dint of his purified heart, and he experiences that happiness which is eternal, perceptible by the divine intelligence of the soul, and devoid of contact with the senses or sense objects; he never deviates from the intrinsic nature of the soul."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 6.21]

No precedence will come to prove, but faith can only go; no verification. No verification but faith alone can enter that domain. Infinite, if our faith, how much capacity our faith, tiny people as we are, how much is our faith? What may be impossible in this universe that our faith will be deceived that is a very tiny measurement, our faith, how much expansion we may boast to have? The infinite. So why should we be very miserly in our faith? That is suicidal. Faith will go first then the research comes. In this world also the faith goes, the intuition goes first then comes the research in this mundane world. So faith, unbridled faith must be allowed in all those:

acintyāḥ khalu ye bhāvā na tāṁs tarkeṇa yojayet [prakṛtibhyaḥ paraṁ yacca tad-acintyasya lakṣaṁ]

[“That which is inconceivable can never be understood through the logic and reason of the mind. The very symptom that something is inconceivable is that it is beyond logical comprehension.”] [Skanda-Purāṇa] & [Mahābharata, Bhīṣma Parva, 5.22]

Verification, tarkēṇa yojayet, reason must be allowed to enter there. It will fail to enter, gross becomes, makes mastery over grosser things, of his experience. There may be so many planes where he cannot venture to peep into it, their reason, drawn from several mundane affairs, reason. So śraddhā, śraddhā, grāhya, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka, Upaniṣad says, where no rhyme and reason can be applied, that Upaniṣad says, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka, there is a plane where only your śraddhā can enter into, and nothing of your other parts, however efficient you may think them to be, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka. Rūpa mayo 'yaṁ loka, the ear cannot demand to enter into. And śabda mayo 'yaṁ loka the eyes cannot hope to enter into that. So śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka, it is the jurisdiction of śraddhā. The other senses or intelligence based on that experience they cannot...

Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Gaura Haribol. Nitāi Caitanya.

yadi gaura nā hoita, tabe ki hoita, kemone dharitām de rādhāra mahimā, prema-rasa-sīmā jagate jānāta ke [madhura vṛndā vipina mādhurī praveśa cāturī sāra barāja yuvatī bhāvera bhakati śakati hoita kāra]

[Vāsudeva Gosh has said: “If Mahāprabhu had not appeared then how could we sustain our lives? How could we live? What type of ecstatic rasa has He imbibed that we have been able to have a little taste? Without this our lives would be impossible. Who else could take us to the acme of realisation of the position of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī. She holds the highest position. She is the greatest victim to the consuming capacity of Śrī Kṛṣṇa. She stands as the greatest sacrifice before Kṛṣṇa's infinite consuming power. Rasarāja-Mahābhāva - the rasa is there, and She is the drawer of that rasa from the storehouse. She has such negative capacity that She can draw out the rasa to the highest degree both in quality and quantity.”]

At the reach, the zenith of śraddhā, how it can be wonderful as Gaurāṅga has taken it down. And we are getting a taste of it and thinking, 'If I could not have a chance of tasting such nectarine substance how could we live? One cannot live, one should not live without such things. When such things are existing, such degree of nectar existing, and if devoid of that in life it is most undesirable. Gaurāṅga has with His most intensified faith He has come down with a great thing [?] How I could live if I could not get a connection of such wonderful sweetness. Hare Kṛṣṇa Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Who said this Mahārāja?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vāsudeva Ghosh.

[?]

When after sannyāsa Mahāprabhu came to visit this Nadia, again Vāsudeva says.

[?]

The whole population of Nadia ran madly to have a glimpse of that Gaurāṅga of their former experience. They madly ran after Him.

[?]

So so much filled up with ecstasy they can't leave, they can't move. Very painfully they're making progress. The feeling has almost paralysed them.

_____ [?]

They thought, 'How long and such days passed away that they're deceived with such darśana of Gaurāṅga, the former of His students.

And their eyes were fixed on His dress and His limbs, so grossly they forgot themselves.

[?]

And Śacī Devī when she heard that her Nimāi after sannyāsa, five years after, He has again come here to visit her, she ran after and taking on her lap.

[?]

"You are a boy of my lap. You're so and so now."

[?]

A dead body has again got the life. Something like that to Śacī Devī and other devotees.

[?]

Vāsudeva Gosh told that, "Such is the scene when Gaurāṅga came to visit once again after His sannyāsa. The scenery of the place was such. All dead bodies were as if they got knew life and stood and to do something. Hare Kṛṣṇa. What intensity of love has been expressed in his, the Vāsudeva Ghosh. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa. Like my stanza,

nyāsa-pañca-varṣa-pūrṇa-janma-bhūmi-darśanaṁ koṭi-koṭi-loka-lubdha-mugdha-drṣṭi-karṣanam koṭi-kaṇṭha-kṛṣṇa-nāma-ghoṣa-bheditāmvaraṁ prema-dhāma-devam eva naumi gaura-sundaram

[“When He returned to His birthplace, Nadia, after five long years of sannyāsa, millions of people rushed to see Him, feeling a most wonderful and irresistible love attraction. Deeply moved with eyes full of eagerness, they beheld their Lord who attracted their innermost heart of hearts. Excited by His ecstatic presence there arose a continuous tumultuous uproar that spread in all directions and pierced the sky. To please their beloved Gaurāṅga, the people's voices repeatedly resounded the Holy Names of Kṛṣṇa. I sing with joy the unending glories of my golden Lord Gaurasundara, the beautiful divine abode of pure love.”]

[Prema-Dhāma-Deva-Stotram, 34]

When He came to this Koladwīpa the actual happenings were such. Nitāi. Nitāi.

When I read in Chaitanya-Bhāgavata that Mahāprabhu when visited this Navadwīpa after sannyāsa, five years passed, then people ran to see Him in such a mad way that so many jungles were all cleared, everywhere there is path, no jungle. The Ganges water filled up with human heads, all swimming close by. None can even dive because four or five hands come to his relief. So thickly the Ganges water is set with human heads. And so many boats are also carrying so many children and old people.

And so I thought how it was? But at the time of Gandhi, such a great throng I saw, then I thought that even to see Gandhi so many people may be attracted. Then how, what degree of attraction really was when Mahāprabhu came after His sannyāsa in Navadvīpa. How, with what great degree of attraction when this Gandhi can attract people in such large numbers, because only for his ahimsā, and that is also to the political purpose. And for the highest purpose, the great and most intense dedication, that came with Mahāprabhu then how, what such high degree of attraction came here, down. How mad the people were to see Him.

Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Nitāi. Nitāi. Gaura Haribol.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Also Mahārāja, there's a verse by Prabodhānanda Sarasvatī:

vañcito 'smi vañcito 'smi, vañcito 'smi na saṁśayaḥ viśvaṁ gaura-rase magnam, sparśo 'pi mama nābhavat

[Śrīla Prabodhānanda Sarasvatī says: "Deceived, deceived, no doubt, deceived I am! The whole universe became flooded with love of Śrī Gaurāṅga, but alas, my fate was not to get even the slightest touch of it."]
[Caitanya-candrāmṛta, 46]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Sparśo 'pi mama nābhavat. It is a plain thing. That is the very nature of the devotees. That is, as much conception of the infinite as you have, your insignificance to that degree you must feel within yourself. Do you follow? Am I clear?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The infinite conception, the question of relativity. When you can see a bigger thing then relatively you cannot but think that you are so very infinitesimal. Your look is for a great thing and in comparison to that you are smallest. Do you conceive this?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When you are seeing the ocean you see how tiny you are in relation to the great magnitude of ocean and water. You are very insignificant. Is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So, that you apply in this case. One who is looking at the great thing whether in size, or knowledge, or love, when you are standing at the relativity of the verge of the great thing, in consideration of that you should think that, 'I am very poor, I am very low.'

jagāi mādhai haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha, purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha mora nāma śune yei tāra puṇya kṣaya, mora nāma laya yei tāra pāpa

haya

[I am more sinful than Jagāi and Mādhāi and even lower than the worms in the stool. Anyone who hears my name loses the results of his pious activities. Anyone who utters my name becomes sinful.] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādī-līlā, 5.205-6]

[Kṛṣṇadāsa] Kavirāja Goswāmī himself says for him, “That I am so mean.” When he has seen so much pure and higher thing, in comparison to that he says, “What is this?”

Mahāprabhu says, prāṇa-pataṅgakān vṛthā, [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.45] "I am an insect. My life is like an insect. I'm going on with it."

dūre śuddha-prema-gandha, kapaṭa premera bandha, seha mora nāhi kṛṣṇa-pāya

[tabe ye kari krandana, sva-saubhāgya prakhyāpana, kari, ihā jāniha niścaya]

[“Actually, My love for Kṛṣṇa is far, far away. Whatever I do is actually an exhibition of pseudo love of Godhead. When you see Me cry, I am simply falsely demonstrating My great fortune. Please try to understand this beyond a doubt.”] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.46]

“So pure and natural love of ocean I see before Me, spread, and I am not getting even a drop of it. I'm so unqualified. Why? I am a hypocrite. I really do not want, not that I don't deserve, I don't want it. My life is unfulfilled, unfulfilled. I have come near such a vast and beautiful thing and I am not allowed to touch even, to get even a drop of it. I am so low, so unqualified. Why? Because I am a hypocrite. Kapaṭa premera bandha. Still I think that I am great. I'm a big thing, pratiṣṭhā. Sva-saubhāgya prakhyāpana. Even at this plane I can't leave vanity, false vanity. Sva-saubhāgya prakhyāpana. I want to display that I have a great achievement of Kṛṣṇa prema and I am shedding tears for that and this is not real shedding, kapaṭa. Still I am addicted to My lower self, self-centred, self-centring is not being dissolved. Still I am self-centred. I am a seeker of My own fame. So I am not being allowed to partake into that ocean of nectar.”

So in that relativity they cannot but see themselves meanest of the mean. As much as coming in connection with the higher reality, conscious of higher reality, then relatively they are compelled to think themselves the meanest of the mean. That is the truth. That is the law of nature. So devotees of the higher order they are seen always to say that everyone is getting the chance but I do not get the chance. I cannot avail myself for getting this situation.

Narottama Ṭhākura, "Jagāi Mādhāi, up to the standard of Jagāi Mādhāi culprit, what standard of the culprit Jagāi Mādhāi? They are getting released, and they're getting the nectar, and only I Narottama am outside. I can't touch the thing."

The nature of the appreciation of the highest makes himself to think to be of lower position. That we find from the practices and sayings of the great men. That is the question of tṛṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, and without that, that is a qualification also, if we do not have that sort of qualification that is the earth. Of course earth means not artificial. If we are not ready to think ourselves lower we cannot come in connection with the higher.

*trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā / amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ*

["One who is humbler than a blade of grass, more forbearing than a tree, who gives due honour to others without desiring it for himself is qualified to always chant the Holy Name of Kṛṣṇa."] [Śikṣāṣṭakam, 3]

Your attitude for the search will be such; that you are almost unfit in the search for where you want to go, want to begin. So unqualified you are. This is the qualification for the finite to approach the infinite. If you think that you are something that is a disqualification in your search after infinite. In other words it is such.

*trṇād api sunīcena, taror api sahiṣṇunā, / amāninā mānadena, kīrtanīyaḥ
sadā hariḥ*

You will take the name of the Lord, divine sound, but the process is such, you must be mindful to that. Otherwise your search will be in vain. Your attempt will be lost. What will be the attitude? Trṇād api sunīc, the meanest of the mean, to think you're humblest of the humble, and sincerely. Taror api sahiṣṇu, your forbearance must not have any limits. 'That so many days, so many ages I have past. I don't get.' Be sure that you have come to search infinite, so no time limit, ha, ha, and no vanity, that you will make master over that thing. This qualification must be given up in the beginning. Amāninā mānadena, your highest enemy is your self-seeking nature, that you are something, you have got some greatness in you. That sort of vanity must be left out. Amāninā, you must not seek any honour to you, no reward, amāninā. Mānadena, at the same time you must be modest in your dealings to all others, then your amāninā is genuine. If you do not like to give the honour to others then your self-seeking will be there, it will be traceable. But when you give honour to others but don't want it within you, then you will be qualified to make search after Govindam, to the Centre, the Infinite, the Absolute. Then a qualified student if you can give up all these bad prejudices, these unfavourable prejudices, if you come to search after the Absolute then you must have such qualifications, otherwise you'll fail. So, we find that the great devotees they're always condemning themselves like anything, extremely, what we cannot conceive even of, for ordinary persons.

Purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha, Kavirāja Goswāmī who is the giver of the highest conception of the truth, he says, purīṣera kīṭa haite muñi se laghiṣṭha, "I am worse than the worm in the stool." Jagāi mādhai haite muñi se pāpiṣṭha, Jagāi and Mādhai in the case relativity of Mahāprabhu, they have been considered to be the worst sinners. I am more than that. My sins are so graphic I may not be engaged. Mora nāma laya yei tāra pāpa haya, I'm such a great sinner that whoever will hear about me, the dirt, the sin will enter into him, in the relativity of my name. I'm such a great sinner. My sin is with my name also and the one who once hears my name, the sin will enter into him, yei tāra pāpa haya. And tāra puṇya kṣaya, his good qualities will vanish. And mora nāma laya yei, if anyone positively takes my name then he will commit sin. Such a worse type of person I am. But, the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu possesses such a high degree of disinfection that He has taken me to Vṛndāvana and has given the relationship of Rūpa, Raghunātha, Govinda, all these things He has given. Nothing in me but all in Nityānanda Prabhu."

And by this he wants to express his highest gratitude to Nityānanda Prabhu. "It is shameful to speak about one's own life, but still I do this. Why? If I do not do that then I shall be ungrateful to the great magnanimity of Nityānanda Prabhu. So fallen am I and Nityānanda Prabhu has given me all these things, the Vṛndāvana, Rūpa, Sanātana, then this Govinda, Mahāprabhu, all these things, Raghunātha Dāsa. It is all gift of Nityānanda, unconditional gift. I've no qualification, so I mention that, yes I have got. If I do not say, then I'll be an offender to Nityānanda Prabhu's grace, so I am compelled to say, confess that I am so and so, but by the grace I have got these things."

Sparśo 'pi mama nābhavat, Prabhodānanda Saraswatī, all these, they're all of such common feelings, conceptions. "It is there. I see, I feel, so many persons are looting, but I am deprived, I am deprived."

Rādhārāṇī Herself says: "Kṛṣṇa is qualified in every way. I can't blame Him in any way. Still He is so cruel to us all. He left Vṛndāvana. We are all feeling extreme pain. This is My durddaiva-vilāsa. I cannot accuse Him in any way."

This is union in separation.

bahye viśajvāla haya, bhitare ānandamāya, [kṛṣṇa premara adbhuta carite]

["The wonderful characteristic of divine love of Kṛṣṇa is that although externally, it works like fiery lava, internally it is like sweet nectar that fills the heart with the greatest joy."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 2.50]

It is a peculiar type of achievement when one who has got the thing they say, "No, I have not got." This is the special characteristic of the Infinite. One who has got possession of it he says, "No, I have got nothing." The characteristic of Infinite is such. And when he says that, "I have got." He has not got. It is such, because it is a statement from the negative for the Positive. The negative who cannot assert at all but can attract only, negative. Assertion is with the Positive only. So the negative can hanker, he can express his own reality in the negative characteristic, and degree of want. He or she can express her position in the degree of want. The measurement is just the opposite, minus, the measurement is in the negative side, minus, the depth of necessity, depth of attraction, but not of gain. Positive can only assert that, "I am purer."

Devotee: That's wonderful Mahārāja, such a beautiful land.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Hare Kṛṣṇa. But your beautiful attraction is to take all these things out, the negative - positive. This has come to my mind some few days back. This must be explained in the present language of sounds.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. So Mahārāja, it's one thing for such great personalities as Kavirāja Goswāmī to make these statements, but for men like ourselves, ha, ha, we actually are like that, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That will be our standard in the front, the ideal, that will be our Guru Mahārāja. But we must not assume that, 'I am Kavirāja Goswāmī.'

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is another type also, in Caitanya-Bhāgavat. Vṛndāvana dāsa he is praying, he's trying his utmost to describe the greatness of Mahāprabhu, magnanimity of Mahāprabhu and Nityānanda. Then he says, "After appealing to the people at large in such a modest way I am putting to them. Like I touch your feet, I hold your feet. You please come and appreciate." [?]

After so much appeal, fervent appeal, to ask them, to requests them to appreciate, for appreciation of Gaura and Nityānanda. "Do it, it will be your benefit. Whatever any position you are, whatever class of sinner you are, you please, you try to come. Connect with Gaura-Nityānanda. You'll be blessed, you'll be saved, you whole hankering will be fulfilled." Still, after so much entreat and appeal, if anyone wants to blame, criticise and blame Nityānanda and Gaurāṅga, I want to kick on his head." This is also a peculiar sentiment coming in the heart of the devotees.

Devotees: Ha, ha, ha, ha.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: And how to explain that? That so many superficial critics they're saying, "Kavirāja Goswāmī has appealed in such a modest way, and this Vṛndāvana dāsa he has such vanity, his vanity is so much. He's so proud that he wants to kick the head of those who do not have faith in Gaura-Nityānanda, 'they're most impertinent,' all these things."

But when I came to Gauḍīya Maṭha I heard a peculiar interpretation from Prabhupāda. Prabhupāda told that the most sinful and heinous, Nityānanda Prabhu has come to their relief, by this statement. Do you follow? By this expression, one who has got no other way but to fly away, to come to the divinity. Nityānanda Prabhu has opened a way to them. By his punishment, Kṛṣṇa's special attraction will be drawn towards them. "That My child has beat him, or damaged him so," and gives some grace. Am I clear, no? Kṛṣṇa's attraction will be there because His child, His devotee has done something wrong, apparently, so He'll come to compensate for that.

So His play in the fashion, taken to task, mildly, and also beating, punishment, if punishment is given by His devotees to a public man, Kṛṣṇa's special attention will be drawn to that man to compensate in the way of compensation, and he'll be benefited. He has tolerated. Vṛndāvana has given punishment, dishonoured them, they're mortified. So they must be taken in, some special case will come for them. So by this statement Vṛndāvana Ṭhākura has opened, to the worst, the gainer also, the door to enter into Kṛṣṇaloka. That sort of impression we got from him, from the standpoint that there cannot be any filthy thing in the devotee, whatever they do. By that way they get some connection with Kṛṣṇa. Some connection is established. When mother, ultimately no revenge, when mother chastises her child, then child may cry, then mother may come and take him on the lap. So no permanent apathy or jealousy or any, no spirit of revenging in that side; in any connection, in way she wants to take him. That does not mean that wilfully we should offend the devotees and try to take, avail myself of that advantage. That will be nāmāparādha We shall go on sinning and say, "I take Name and that will go." It will be that type of aparādha.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: All right, today I stop.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Devotee: Jaya Om Viṣṇupada...

...

Devotee: ...you were taking rice and some neem leaves cooked and...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Twenty-three.

Devotee: At the age of twenty-three.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Austerity I observed too much.

Devotee: So that was very much surprising to Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja and myself...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha.

Devotee: that...

Devotee: [?]

Devotee: We would like to hear from you Mahārāja how that Nityānanda Prabhu has actually asked you to come and initiate here.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: After Vāsudeva Prabhu I was asked by some leaders, leading members of our mission to take position of Ācārya. But from the beginning I had no such impression within, inspiration. But when I left the mission and came to stay alone, there was always some sort of hesitation in me, that Guru Mahārāja did not like nirjjana bhajan, the separate life. He liked kīrtana, saṅga. And if I live in a saṅga that means I preach, then many newcomers will join. And who will go to initiate? They asked me to take the charge of initiation but I did not feel any inner inspiration for that. So anyhow, I was passing my time. What to do? I do not feel any urge for that.

Then when from Vṛndāvana I came to take my permanent residence here, this aparādha-bhañjan-pāṭ Koladwīpa. Then I thought that I am going to take my shelter in Navadwīpa Dhāma permanently, but Dhāmeśvara is Nityānanda Prabhu. I must visit His birthplace, going to Mahāprabhu's birthplace, but before that I must go to Nityānanda Prabhu's birthplace, that is Ekacākrā and beg His permission. So that if He's propitiated then I will be, possibly, live in Navadwīpa Dhāma there, safely. Otherwise it will not be possible, impossible. So I straightly went before I came here I went straight to Nityānanda Prabhu's birthplace. And whenever I fell there with that prayer, 'That You are Patita Pāvana, Saviour of the Fallen, and I crave Your mercy, and You grant please my stay in that, permanently I may have my shelter there in Navadwīpa Dhāma, in Koladwīpa.' In this portion I already fixed, this portion, Gupta-Govardhana. I fell flat and with that prayer, at once some urge came in my mind, "You seek, pray for the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu as Patita Pāvana, but you are apathetic to patita. How can you hope His sympathy?" So this suddenly sprang in my mind. "Nityānanda Prabhu is Patita Pāvana but you do not like to extend your helping hand to others. So how can you expect His grace, His mercy?" That sort of strong impression came in my mind. Anyhow I put my petition to Him and came here. And our Prabhupāda's nature is always pressing me. He's against nirjjana-bhajana, but I am going to do that.

Anyhow, I came here, and by two rupees monthly rent I took one room here, nearby, and stayed there. Daytime I began to read the śāstra, scripture, and from evening I used to take the Name, one lākha, eka lākha Nāma. And after it is finished I went to bed. And only once I cooked something. And I took Giridhara with me from Vṛndāvana, in a small throne I put Him in place in the room and I used to offer Him daytime and then took some prasādam, and the evening something or other. In this way I was passing my days. I came unknown in this place, but gradually my Godbrothers searched for me and found out myself, and began to come now and then. And some began to stay with me, they won't go. In this way I passed some time.

At that time also when going through the books of Jīva Goswāmī I found that he has written that those that have money but do not spend it for the Lord, he's vittha-śāthya. And so, those that know something, have some knowledge, and some experience about bhakti and Kṛṣṇa and devotees, if they do not like to help others they're jñāna-śāthya, they commit jñāna-śāthya.

At the same time, I had in memory of my early days that in a story of Purāṇa it was mentioned that one brāhmaṇa was big scholar, but he did not help others, or give others his, he did not give education to anyone. So in the next life he was a mango tree and so many beautiful fruits all over the tree, but not even a bird taking that, not touching, untouched.

Then, one who saw in the way to God, Anantadeva, he asked this question, "What is this?" Another two also, "He was a great paṇḍita but he did not instruct and give his share of learning to anybody. He was so miserly in his scholarship so in the next birth his position is such." That also came to mind. Then I thought...

81.08.21.A

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ...did not try in a broader scale to preach and to make disciples, but anyhow I shall keep it open. If anyone comes then I shall try to keep him or to initiate or to educate him in the spiritual line in a minimum way. With this spirit I took my position here.

That Nityānanda Prabhu, that sort of inspiration there came in me, that...

Devotee: Indirectly.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: ... whose Patita Pāvana, and you must try your best to help those that are fallen, in your consideration. That sort of inspiration I got from there, Nityānanda Prabhu. And also, something: that if a doctor, a doctor is not omniscient, but should he not try his best to cure a patient? As much as he has got his capacity he must try to help. Otherwise the world will at standstill. If everyone says, 'that if I've got complete, full knowledge, then only I can approach another to help,' but that is not possible in this world. Everyone has got some relative position, so everyone will try his best to help others according to his own capacity and position. That also came in my mind. So I began in a narrow and mild way to help. Not reluctant altogether but not any big attempt, because it is mentioned also in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu: bahu sisya na kaivay, bahu grantha kalābhyāsa varjan, mahārambha.

[bahu-grantha kalābhyāsa vyākhyāvāda-vivarjanam vyava hāreha pyakārpaṇyaṁ śokādyavaśavartitā] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.79.76]

These temples and all these things, a big scale: that is prohibited in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu. That also, when our Guru Mahārāja delivering lectures on Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, the sixty four kinds of devotion, then I marked that this is prohibited in Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu. But he's doing the same thing. In a big scale he's making propaganda, and money he's spending in a great quantity to construct the mandira and other temples and other things, so mahārambha, which has been prohibited by Rūpa Goswāmī, our Guru Mahārāja has undertaken all those things. What does he say when this point comes in and he will have to discuss over that point? Then I found that in one or two words he explained the whole thing. He told that, "This is a point of personal question. One man can manage a kingdom, an empire, and may find leisure. Another man cannot manage a family and he does not find any leisure to manage the family. So it is a particular case and particular capacity, according to which it will be great or it will be small, a question of personal capacity."

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, when you were in Vṛndāvana, then Lord Nityānanda appeared to you and asked you to come here? In your dream, is that right?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: I don't remember such things. I have, from before I went to Vṛndāvana, I had a mind that I shall, I won't stay in Vṛndāvana. That is for the higher. And I am of lower order. So aparādha-bhañjan-pāṭ in Navadvīpa, the fallen, they should take shelter under Mahāprabhu. So I shall take my shelter here, not in Vṛndāvana. That was a pre-conclusion in me, so I had that thing in mind and I don't remember that I had any such dream.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But you had, Nityānanda Prabhu at one time appeared before you in dream and asked you to start initiating. You had mentioned that sometime.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He appeared before me and asked me, that sort of inspiration I got when in the birthplace of Nityānanda Prabhu, that I remember. Thereby I took it that Nityānanda Prabhu wants me to begin initiation. Hare Kṛṣṇa. I realised that by the grace of Nityānanda Prabhu we can get the grace of Mahāprabhu. No other alternative for us, the fallen souls, especially for the beginners.

heno nitāi vine bhāi rādhā kṛṣṇa pāite nāi

[from Narottama Dāsa Ṭhākura's Manaḥ-Śikṣā, 1]

By the grace of Nityānanda we shall get the grace of Gaurāṅga. And by the grace of Gaurāṅga we shall get the grace of Rādhā-Govinda. That is the general way, the Grand Trunk Road.

Even what is foretold by Brahmā, karam kati kati kam kam [?]

Hare Kṛṣṇa. He was a renowned jyotiṣa, our Guru Mahārāja, and according to his calculation he says that sarasvata pandika, that is the real calculation, real basis. But he adhered to Hiram Bachi because Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura has accepted that. So mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ, we must follow mahā-janas.

[dharmasya tattvaṁ nihitaṁ guhāyām, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ]

[Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja said: "The real secret, the solid truth of religious principles is hidden and concealed in the hearts of unadulterated self-realised persons, saints, just as treasure is hidden in a mysterious cave. Consequently, as the śāstras confirm, one should accept whatever progressive path the mahā-janas advocate."] [Mahābhārata]

Śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka. Our intellectual calculation and other things, that falls, should fall lower. And śraddhā, with the help of śraddhā, faith, we must follow the directions and practice of the devotees. We have seen by his conduct, the rhyme, reason, all these of the mundane calculation. Above that there is śraddhā, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka. And his loss and gain; that is of different type. Tat te 'nukampām, [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.8]. None can make any loss on them, impart any loss on them. That comes to be like a test and comes in a flying colour from that sort of danger, has come to serve them. Kuntī Devī, she's asking for dangerous position.

vipadaḥ santu tāḥ śaśvat, tatra tatra jagad-guro [bhavato darśanam yat syād, apunar bhava-darśanam]

[Queen Kuntī Devī prayed to Kṛṣṇa: "I wish that all those calamities (poisoning, arson, cannibalism, the vicious assembly, exile in the forest, the battle), would occur again and again so that we could have Your darśana again and again, for seeing You means that we will no longer see repeated births and deaths."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.8.25]

She's inviting adversity, so that, "In adversity our prayer will be more intense to the Lord and He will come. So adversity is our friend, and happiness may be rather foe."

So śraddhā is independent of anything. All the hindrance of different times they rather come to help in indirect way; comes to serve. There is such conception of life, tat te 'nukampām. It is considered from the standpoint of eternity.

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

["Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40]

hato vā prāpsyasi svargaṁ, jītvā vā bhokṣyase mahīm [tasmād uttiṣṭha kaunteya, yuddhāya kṛta niścayaḥ]

["Oh son of Kuntī, either you will be killed on the battlefield and attain the heavenly planets, or you will conquer and enjoy the earthly kingdom. Therefore get up and fight with determination."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.37]

sukha-duḥkhe same kṛtvā, lābhālābhau jayājayau tato yuddhāya yujyasva, naivam pāpam avāpsyasi

["Do thou fight for the sake of fighting, without considering happiness or distress, loss or gain, victory or defeat - and, by so doing, you shall never incur sin."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.38]

The calculation of the immediate fruit of our action, result, that makes us coward; ha, ha, hesitating. Hare Kṛṣṇa Hare Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa Hare Hare.

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Viśuddha-siddhānta [?]

I read an article in Sajjana-Toṣaṇī written by Prabhupāda. There, he showed why he has accepted Hiranbachi Paṇḍita, because Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura accepted that. Though he mentioned there the calculation of this Visuddha-siddhānta from the standpoint of the present calculation cannot be rejected. But still, he for himself he accepted Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura. That beyond calculation, mahā-jano yena gataḥ sa panthāḥ, śraddhāmayo 'yaṁ loka.

Gaura Haribol! Gaura Haribol! Prabhu?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Your necessity, demand? Gaura Haribol!

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In what respect?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: What respect? A general enquiry: the general interest.

Parīkṣit Mahārāja, when he put the question to Śukadeva, Śukadeva accepted: "Yes, it is a real question." Kṛto loka-hitam nṛpa ātmavit-sammataḥ. Because two inherent signs of enquiry is here. One, it is ātmavit-sammataḥ, it not irrelevant question, a relevant. Why? Ātmavit-sammataḥ as well as loka-hita, two aspects. It is a general question. It is necessary for every one of us, the solution of this, the answer of this question will contribute, help to all of us here. And also, this question, ātmavit-sammataḥ. One who has got proper knowledge of his own self, he will accept this, 'yes, it is not irrelevant but relevant.' Ātmavit-sammataḥ. One sanctioned from the subjective region, another is for the good of the whole public. So such questions are real questions of universal interest. The solution of that will help the whole of the enquirers, not only any partial aspect, and not only any provincial solution, but the absolute solution, which will help solve the problems of the whole. It is the question that should be asked by anyone and everyone in this world."

varīyān eṣa te praśnaḥ, kṛto loka-hitam nṛpa

ātmavit-sammataḥ puṁsām, śrotavyādiṣu yaḥ paraḥ

[Śrī Śukadeva Gosvāmī said: "My dear King, your question is glorious because it is very beneficial to all kinds of people. The answer to this question is the prime subject matter for hearing, and it is approved by all transcendentalists."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.1]

"You have asked what is the śrotavyādiṣu yaḥ paraḥ? We are exercising our senses in this plane, but what will be the most beneficial to us? We are receiving things from outside to meet the demand of our internal self. But what will be the best utility of our senses? Which things we should indent within us for our best interest?" That was the question. "Always we are accepting something from the environment for the inner interest. Now how should we utilise our senses, the channel of our knowledge, utilise that it may help best my inner interest?" That was the question. Then he told, varīyān eṣa te praśnaḥ. "Yes, your question is bona fide, esa te prasnah varīyān, kṛto loka-hitam nṛpa, it will solve not only your problem but it will solve in general the whole problem of the whole world, esa te prasnah. This is the question to be solved, the only question." Varīyān eṣa te praśnaḥ, kṛto loka-hitam nṛpa, ātmavit-sammataḥ."

Now, the population here, they have got no perfect knowledge. They do not know what is what. So their enquiry may be of faulty character, so one may think that the public are always wrong. The mass is ignorant, so any question of the mass that may be a mere supposition. The demand of the majority may be erroneous. The vox of populi is vox dei, it cannot be admitted. So the intrinsic purity of the question, that is also necessary.

And so he says ātmavit, "Though rarely understand their own position, they will accept also. Their sanction also we shall get in this sort of question. 'What is my best benefit? How should we utilise our senses to draw knowledge from the environment so as it will help me in the best way? Ātmavit-sammataḥ. Passed by the subject committee of the higher section who are above faultless knowledge, infallible, they will also sanction, 'Yes, it is a relevant question.' So from two sides, from the up and from the down, both sides will accept your question as relevant. I am going to answer them and you try to hear."

śrotavyādīni rājendra nṛṇāṃ santi sahasraśaḥ [apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṃ grheṣu grha-medhinām]

[Śukadeva Goswāmī said to King Parīkṣit: "Those persons who are materially engrossed, being blind to the knowledge of ultimate truth, have many subject matters for hearing in human society, O Emperor."]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.2]

"Oh King, there is no end of ways by which we can utilise our senses. Thousands of engagements there are in which all the senses are busily engaged and no leisure they find. Nṛṇāṃ santi sahasraśaḥ, apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṃ, but they're mostly all engaged in search of those that do not know the real necessity of his real self, who does not know his own want, who does not know his home. He's travelling in a foreign land and satisfying his curiosity, aimlessly working. Nṛṇāṃ santi sahasraśaḥ, apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṃ, no diagnosis but very busy in treatment, that is to be found in the world. Ātmavit-sammataḥ. Apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṃ, this is important thing, ātma-tattvaṃ. The normal understanding has accepted this, not by the majority of the abnormal thinkers. That is śrauta-panthā, the necessity of the revealed truth. That must come from the perfect realm from God Himself. So here, he's established in the indispensable necessity of the śrauta-panthā, the method of revelation. It must come from the perfect realm, from sārvajñā, from the quarter of omniscience it must come. So, apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṁ grheṣu grha-medhinām, the thousands of engagements we find in those that are unconscious of their own real interest. They're very busy but very busy about nothing." Apaśyatām ātma-tattvaṁ grheṣu grha-medhinām.

nidrayā hriyate naktam, vyavāyena ca vā vayah divā cārthehayā rājan, kuṭumba-bharaṇena vā

[The lifetime of such an envious householder is passed at night either in sleeping or in sex indulgence, and in the daytime either in making money or maintaining family members.]

[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.3]

What we see if we look around, nidrayā hriyate naktam, two things, either sleep or vyavāyena, playing with women, the night passed in these two ways. Nidrayā hriyate naktam vyavāyena ca vā vayah, and divā cārthehayā rājan. The daytime, ārthehayā, in search of money, kuṭumba-bharaṇena vā, or by serving the mere relatives, kuṭumba-bharaṇena vā.

dehāpatya-kalatrādiṣv, ātma-sainyeṣv asatsv api teṣāṁ pramatto nidhanam, paśyann api na paśyati ["Persons devoid of ātma-tattva do not enquire into the problems of life, being too attached to the fallible soldiers like the body, children and wife.

Although sufficiently experienced, they still do not see their inevitable destruction."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.4]

Dehāpatya-kalatrādiṣv, ātma-sainyeṣv, our own group is with those that we can exploit, ātma-sainye, those that supply our sense enjoyment, sense pleasure, we are surrounded by them. Dehāpatya-kalatrādiṣv, ātma-sainyeṣv asatsv api, we are fully engrossed in their interest and only live for my own sense pleasure. Teṣāṁ pramatto nidhanaṁ, paśyann api na paśyati, so much engrossed in that sort of false duty that we have not the leisure to find out my own death that is drawing near towards me. Nidhanaṁ, paśyann api, seeing also not seeing. It is a plain thing, everyone is going to the jaw of death, I see, but still I can't see, I do not see, I don't care to see, I do not mind to see. This is the peculiar position I hold now. The final danger is approaching and I am sleeping over that. I won't care to take notice of that, that great danger. What can be more strange then this? Paśyann api na paśyati. You say that you have no time, only seven day's time. But that does not matter at all. Seven day's time is enough. Only what is necessary is your particular attention for the solution. Only a moment is enough.

kiṁ pramattasya bahubhiḥ, parokṣair hāyanair iha

[varam muhūrtaṁ viditaṁ, ghaṭate śreyase yataḥ]

[“What is the value of a prolonged life which is wasted, inexperienced by years in this world? Better a moment of full consciousness, because that gives one a start in searching after his supreme interest.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.12]

There are so many trees and mountains, hills, they are living years and years, ages after ages, but no benefit. So what is the necessity of, no question of the longevity, or question of time. Varaṁ muhūrtaṁ viditaṁ, what is necessary, that attention to one's own self. 'What am I? What is my?...' That sort of attention, our attention should be drawn to our own real interest. That is the thing which is to be it, that should be it. And no question of time, there's enough time. Seven days is enough, the necessity. Varaṁ muhūrtaṁ viditaṁ haṭate śreyase yataḥ, that the peculiar necessity is this that how our attention can be drawn towards the reality. That is what is necessary. Muhūrtaṁ viditaṁ haṭate śreyase yataḥ. And then and there our real interest will be satisfied. Only by sādhū-saṅga that is possible, with the association of the higher souls, highly realised souls.

khaṭvāṅgo nāma rājarṣir, jñātveyattām ihāyusaḥ muhūrtāt sarvvaṁ utsrjya, gatavān abhayaṁ harim

["The saintly King Khaṭvāṅga, after being informed that the duration of his life would be only a moment more, at once freed himself from all material activities and took shelter of the supreme safety, the Personality of Godhead."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.13]

There is precedent in the history. Mahārāja Khaṭvāṅga, he had only one moment left in his longevity, and he so perfectly engaged himself forever. He gave himself without any reservation. He surrendered to the feet of the Lord and he got the desired end, muhūrtāt, gatavān abhayaṁ, he got Hari, abhayaṁ. What is, who is Hari? When we get Him, no apprehension, no fear, nothing of the kind, no undesirability, that is what Hari means. Hari means sat-cit-ānanda, the eternal existence, and the perfect consciousness, and also the fulfilment of life in ecstatic joy. He got that in a moment, in a moment.

sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja

[ahaṁ tvāṁ sarva-pāpēbhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

So the problem is how we can surrender, giving away our attraction, our ignorance, about our own interest. How we can jump into the absolute good, the ocean of our real interest. That is the problem. So questions should be of such character, general character, general character there's only one question, ānandam brahmano vidvan? It is admitted by all, the maximum happiness we want. From the tree, from the stone, to the demigods, ṛṣi, muni, everyone, maximum happiness, that is the only thing to be aspired after. And how to attain, what is He? That is to be discussed, conceived. What is He? What am I? And what is my end, and how to reach the goal? What is the destination, and how to reach the destination?

Sambandha, abhidheya, prayojana, under three heads the Vedic scripture has discussed the whole problem. Who am I, where am I, and then what is my best benefit, and how to attain that goal? Sambandha, prayojana and abhidheya, three things, under three heads to be discussed. The general question: the question of everyone. It's not any partial thing, not any sectarian or provincial, nothing of the kind, no such questions can come against this campaign. What the Gauḍīya Maṭha people of Mahāprabhu began His expedition against māyā, misunderstanding, that of general demand in the world. Of course, to the conscious, to the saner section. The insane people they're not up to standard, standard is not with the insane, but the saner section. They all will welcome the movement that is inaugurated by Swāmī Mahārāja over the whole globe. And our Guru Mahārāja began that attempt to attack māyā, illusion, illusory energy, and to devastate and smash it.

This is kīrtana, this is preaching, this is Hari Nāma, and with this Mahāprabhu came here. "Don't fly away, run away for the fear of māyā, misunderstanding." Ultimately it is misunderstanding, ha, ha, and you want reality so why should you be afraid? Your basis is a real one. You are standing on fundamental reality so you should not be afraid and run to the jungle and to the cave, and there also you will be always afraid that māyā is entering here, not as bold soldier of saṅkīrtana party. Fearlessly wander through the length and breadth of the water, or the world and chant about Kṛṣṇa, truth, truth, and māyā won't venture to approach you. That is misunderstanding. By the repetition of your Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and also in generating the truthful consciousness with the help of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, you'll be able to do away with all the infectious. By throwing disinfecting substances you'll drive away the infection all around. That will be your duty. Be agent of disinfecting batch who are throwing around the medicine of disinfecting the infectious area. Go on with that. If you disinfect all around then infection may not approach, can't approach you, because you are disinfecting all around you. So how infection will come to attack you? Others will also be saved at the same time.

Devotee: What necessity?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Only one necessity, the necessity of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and our end, our object is prema. Prema means to acquire more energetic tendency to spread Kṛṣṇa consciousness, higher and higher, of higher. 'Dāsa' kari' vetana more deha prema-dhana. And what is that prema which will help me more intensely to engage myself in my service? Prema means that, to serve, and prema, to get the remuneration as prema. And what is the nature of prema? That it will excite me more and more for the service, so in a circular way it will move. What I get as remuneration, what is that? That is a tendency to produce service to the object of my reverence. That is prema. It is not a separate thing. That will help me more and more towards the service. So it is continuous, it is dynamic. And I have acquired prema now that I am a king I shall enjoy that, no necessity of service, it is not this. Such stage will never come. It will promote the speed and quality of the service. That is prema. Love will actuate us more and more towards the service of the object of our love. So service will acquire prema, and prema will induce us to service.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, Madhvācārya, he’s explaining the śloka, anta-kāle ca mām eva, smaran muktvā kalevaram [yaḥ prayāti sa madbhāvaṁ, yāti nāsty atra saṁśayaḥ]

[If one remembers Kṛṣṇa, Nārāyaṇa, at the time of death, one is certainly eligible to return immediately home, back to Godhead.] [Bhagavad-gītā, 8.5]

That at the time of death one must think of Lord Nārāyaṇa, then only can he reach the abode of the Lord.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But then, Rāmānuja, he said that it is not necessary at the time of death to think of the Lord. It is entirely up to the Lord.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Huh? It is?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: It is entirely up to the Lord. If throughout our life we have served the Lord then it is the duty of the Lord, and it His responsibility to take us, not necessarily just at the time of death that He has to take us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, the view of the same thing from different standpoints. What is the difference you find?

Rāmānuja says that if we go on with our duty, discharging our duty while living, then we may not care for our last moment. That will automatically come. That is also true.

And what Madhvācārya says, that is a particular case, the particular cases. Even, one, if do not observe such purity during whole life, still, at the time of his death, if he's reminded or anyhow he gets, he will be, the next chance, or chance of the next birth he will get a benefit, in the next birth. Then he'll be able to go on with – so it is also effective.

What Rāmānuja says if one, if a śuddha bhakta, whole time he's going on with bhajana and in the last moment he, if we find that he's unconscious, it does not matter. He has taken the pill. It is the lookout of Kṛṣṇa Himself. So whether he's conscious, in the case of a śaraṇāgata bhakta, this uttarāyaṇa, the death in the uttarāyaṇa, or unconscious death, won't affect, because he's surrendered. And who are surrendered, Kṛṣṇa has taken their charge. So in whatever way, when and how, any way he goes, it is the lookout of Kṛṣṇa and His own. He need not care for anything else. Only he will stick to śaraṇāgati. That is a great thing.

And what Madhvācārya says here, and also the general purport of Gītā is that that if you do not do for the whole life, at least try to do it in the time of your death, just before your death. Thereby you will get a better chance in the next birth. Tyajaty ante kalevaram, taṁ evaiti kaunteya, sadā tad-bhāva-bhāvitah.

[yaṁ yaṁ vāpi smaran bhāvaṁ, tyajaty ante kalevaram taṁ taṁ evaiti kaunteya, sadā tad-bhāva-bhāvitah]

[“O son of Kuntī, at the time of leaving the body, whatever object a person meditates upon will be attained by him, due to his constant contemplation on that object.”]

[Bhagavad-gītā, 8.6]

He'll get a better chance in the next life and there he will get the good chances and will increase his bhajan and will do, will better his life; in this way.

anta-kāle ca mām eva, smaran muktvā kalevaram yaḥ prayāti sa mad-bhāvaṁ, yāti nāsty atra saṁśayaḥ

[Bhagavad-gītā, 8.5]

Rāmānuja has given stress on śaraṇāgati. One surrendered, and acceptance of the God, necessary acceptance of the God, and he's not within...

["But those who offer their every action unto Me, take refuge in Me alone, think of Me constantly in pure devotion unadulterated by exploitation or renunciation, and who thus worship and adore Me - O Pārtha, I swiftly deliver those devoted souls from the deathly ocean of material suffering."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 12.6-7]

In this way, he becomes fit to enjoy the spiritual bliss derived from exchanging loving mellows with Me."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.29.34]

"I have reckoned him as one of My family, one member of my family, and I take such interest over him. So he need not take any special attention for himself. He will go on with his duty in śaraṇāgati and service. That will suffice."

...has given much importance on śaraṇāgati, prapatti. Prapatti, of course of two kinds according to them, prapatti, mājjāra-nyāya, markaṭa-nyāya. mājjāra-nyāya, the calf of the, what is it?

Devotee: Kitten.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Kitten, means ... kitten, it does not do anything. Mother does everything for it. Where to remove, the mother catches on his neck and takes here and there. This is mārjjāra-nyāya; everything dependent on the mother. And markaṭa-nyāya, the monkey, the small monkey, or the monkey cub, what is it?

Devotee: Baby monkey.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: He catches on the mother and the mother takes him here and there. So Deśikācāryya he preached about this markaṭa-nyāya. Jīva has got some responsibility. He at least must catch the mother, and the mother will take here and there.

And the Teṅkalai, the followers of the Śaṭhakopar, that is the original, and [Vaḍakalai followers of] Deśikācāryya came with some modification. Their opinion is, “No, śaraṇāgati is like mārjjāra-nyāya, he won’t do anything. Everything will be done by the superior part, the guardian, Kṛṣṇa, Govinda, Nārāyaṇa.” He’ll do anything. It won’t do anything, like the kitten. This is mārjjāra-nyāya, this is śaraṇāgati.

Śaraṇāgati is of two types, this mārjjāra śaraṇāgati and the markaṭa śaraṇāgati.

“No. He has got something. He has got his free will, jīva, and he must stick to, and the rest will be done by the Supreme Entity. He must accept, he must come forward, and then he will come and see.” This is Ācārya, Deśikācāryya, ātmā-tattva, comes from Ācārya family, it comes from Deśikācāryya.

Deśikācāryya and the Vidyaranya, and Aksabya. Aksabya Tīrtha from Madhva School, Deśikācāryya from Rāmānuja School, and Vidyaranya from Śaṅkara School; three stalwart scholars from three groups, they were contemporaries. Sometimes they had to take seat for discussion in different places, and especially the two opponents, the Madhvācārya and Śaṅkara. And Rāmānuja School went to be mediator.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: That is possible on a very high platform.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, very high class. It is found only in the – it may be found in all shades, a particular mentality. One who has, the ordinary soldier that has got confidence in his general, they may take the risk of entering into the camp. ‘The general is there, he will come and devastate them.’ It may be found in many places, in many stages of life, but here also, that sort of confidence not in the world, but in the highest quarter; that sort of confidence. “Whom do we care?” So much indulgence they enjoy, so much confidence they enjoy, so much faith, ‘He’s their protector.’ That they do not care, and run hither and thither, go to catch the snake, to catch the tiger...

Devotee: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yamunā pani.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Mahārāja, the Yogamāyā potency, she's arranging for all the parśadas and associates of the Lord, so that perfect līlā is performed by the Lord. For example, all the gopīs that that they're married, actually they're not married but by the arrangement of Yogamāyā they're married.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Couching, it's couched in such a way.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So this relationship of Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: For the necessity of Kṛṣṇa, this is arranged by Baladeva and Yogamāyā. For the necessity of Kṛṣṇa and Rādhikā this arrangement is made by Baladeva and Yogamāyā, intuitively, almost intuitively. Automatic arrangement according to the necessity, to intensify the transaction of the love of the very highest degree, such arrangement is necessary, of the environment is necessary. And it is done by the potency that is Yogamāyā, backed by Baladeva.

Devotee: [?]

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: So Baladeva Prabhu is belonging to the sandhini potency.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah, the Master of sandhini, sandhini śakti mat tattva, and śakti is known as sandhini, and He's the Master of that potency, sandhini. That is to make the Master of the environment. And to help Him, Yogamāyā and assistant Vṛnda Devī; she also has got a function of that nature, especially the animal and bird, trees, that section. Assistant of Yogamāyā, and her activity concerned with the birds, the beasts, the trees, etc, including apparently inanimate, or half inanimate, irrational section. And rational section is managed by Yogamāyā. Of course the backing is of Baladeva Prabhu. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In both cases?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Both cases. The facsimile of Kṛṣṇa, Baladeva, He understands the nature, the necessity. And Yogamāyā also, necessity from the side of Rādhikā and the gopīs, and harmoniously the things are done. Hare Kṛṣṇa. These are subtle things.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But Mahārāja, if one is thinking about the different pastimes of Kṛṣṇa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Huh?

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: If a devotee is thinking, trying to remember the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, then does that come into the category of imagination, or...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That'll depend upon the realisation of that devotee.

When I first joined, or not joined, trying to join Gauḍīya Maṭh, the day of Janmāṣṭamī, I attended so many lectures of the sannyāsīns. I was told, or at least I heard repeatedly, ajay janma, the birth of the... unborn, and birth of the unborn. That subject they're dealing with.

And they told that, "Today, at midnight, Kṛṣṇa will be born, and in the heart of the devotee, the śuddha-sattva, heart of the devotees."

Then the daytime lectures over, gap in the middle, and then again at twelve o'clock there will be kīrtana and Bhāgavata-pāṭ. All went away. I took my seat just near the door of Prabhupāda. There is only one roof, second story, no, first floor, and there Prabhupāda used to live. In darkness I am sitting just near the door of Prabhupāda. Kṛṣṇa will be born here in his heart, as I am told, in the heart of the devotee Kṛṣṇa will take His birth, this noon time [midnight], midday. Then I took my seat there. I may have some influence of that and I began to think that Kṛṣṇa is being born, Kṛṣṇa is coming. With this attitude I passed there.

Then one gentleman came, "Oh, who is here? Who is here?"

I am.

"Why you are here?"

I'm not a member of the Maṭh, coming from outside, I'm so and so, I'm...
“Why you are here?”

I'm sitting and thinking of the birth of Kṛṣṇa.

“No, no, no. You should not... none is here. Again you may come only when the Bhāgavata will be explained, at twelve o'clock you may come.” Then perhaps I had to go downstairs and wait and come.

So, what was your question?

To think, that depends upon the realisation of the devotee, the heart.

Though He's nitya, Kṛṣṇa is nitya, and not only His birth and every pastime is eternal. Just as sunrise is eternal, in the general sense, sometimes here, sometimes there, sometimes there, the twenty four hours in any place or other the sunrise is taking place.

So though Kṛṣṇa is eternal, His every līlā is also eternal, and always, every moment it is taking place. So, in the heart of the devotee when they're attracted to a particular līlā when that is going on that is reality. Every līlā is reality. And when a devotee's attention is attracted by a particular līlā it is real. And who is imagination, in the case of imagination, that is the question of adhikāra. One who has not come in the śuddha-sattva, it is imagination in his case. That may be in sattya-guṇa, raja-guṇa.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: He has to come to the platform of śuddha-sattva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. Then he will come to the plane of reality.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: But sometimes a devotee might, due to the process of chanting, at a particular given moment, come to that platform.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, that flow may come, automatically, janma-līlā, rasa-līlā.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: In any other līlā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Any līlā, going on always, his attention will be attracted towards that particular part of the līlā: it may be.

Bhakti Caru Swāmī: Because sometimes a līlā is not fully explained in individual details, all are not fully explained any way, in any śāstra, or he's not read of it, but that is coming in the mind in a particular sequence; that this gopa did this, and this cow went this way, and then they came...

...save ones' own self and also to help others.

Hegel says, the idea is the first, and then the movement of the mind and the body.

_____ Ideal Realism: or something like. First we conceive to do anything and then the movement begins, of the mind and... so idea leads us, and the idea is all important. What sort of things do we follow, the body, the mind, towards everything we follow, what sort of idea?

The idea of Kṛṣṇa consciousness, conception, consideration, that has been told to be the highest ideal. Absolute good, absolute beauty, autocrat absolute infinite, we must live in His relativity. Vaikuṇṭha, in its fullest conception is Goloka. Vaikuṇṭha has no kunṭha, that is, no limitation. That is Vaikuṇṭha. The conception of the infinite when it comes to be congruent with Kṛṣṇa consciousness: that has been considered to be the highest end, highest goal. The Absolute, the Autocrat, and the Beauty, the Good, the Beauty, ānandam, raso vai sah, akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. All conceptions of rasa harmonised. Different varieties of rasas, they're given harmony by Kṛṣṇa conscious conception of the Absolute. Raso vai sah, akhila-rasāmṛta-murtiḥ. The peculiarities, that has got some appearance; that is not mere abstract. At the same time not to be intelligible by the, by our present senses, present senses. So divya-darśana, divyana-bhuti, divine awakening must be made, and we must have the help of the sādhus, that is His agents, bona fide agents. There may be many sham agents also, pseudo agents, the sahajiyāism, imitationist. We must go to the genuine agent. And with the help, with the grace of him, we'll gradually attain our end.

naiṣāṁ matis tāvad urukramāṅghriṁ, sprśaty anarthāpagamo yad-arthaḥ [mahīyasāṁ pāda-rajo-'bhiṣekaṁ, niṣkiñcanānāṁ na vṛṇīta yāvat]

["Unless they smear upon their bodies the dust of the lotus feet of a Vaiṣṇava completely freed from material contamination, persons very much inclined toward materialistic life cannot be attached to the lotus feet of the Lord, Who is glorified for His uncommon activities. Only by becoming Kṛṣṇa conscious and taking shelter at the lotus feet of the Lord in this way can one be freed from material contamination."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 7.5.32]

Prahlāda Mahārāja says, "So long ones' mind may not have touch with the divine feet of the Lord, anarthāpagamo yad-arthaḥ, for which the elimination of the undesirable elements that are within us is necessary, and for that purpose it is indispensable to get the help of His devotees, the agents, anarthāpagamo yad-arthaḥ. Mahīyasāṁ pāda-rajo-'bhiṣekaṁ, niṣkiñcanānāṁ na vṛṇīta yāvat, so our divine life does not really begin as long as we do not come to the feet of a genuine master; there it begins. Real progress, real life, towards divinity begins when we get recognition of the supreme through His agent."

This is a monopoly of the orthodox system. God is for everyone. Why should some mediator be necessary at all? He's open to all. We all belong to Him. Only if we sincerely want Him, He will come direct. That may be a conception of a part.

One cannot claim that one is engaged in devotional service simply on the basis of engaging one's money or disciples in bhakti. To rely on money and disciples to perform devotional service in one's place is not considered to be a branch of pure devotion."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindu, Pūrva-vibhāga, 12.128]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Dhana-śiṣyādibhir, dhana means wealth and śiṣya the disciple. Dhana-śiṣyādibhir-dvārair yā bhaktir upapādyate: that is not considered to be śuddha-bhakti. That is what is done by our representative. That is not śuddha-bhakti. I do not do it myself, I give some money, to help śuddha-bhakta and other holy duties, to help, money. And men, I supply men. I do not do it myself. I ask my śiṣya to do the worship, the kīrtana, all these things, and I myself do not do. But that is not śuddha-bhakti, to send representative to perform the function of devotees, practices of devotees. For the sender, the giver, he's not practising śuddha-bhakti.

...

So, Ambarīṣa Mahārāja, he did, by his own hand he cleansed the temple and other devotional activities, giving the responsibility of his government to the ministers. But he did not give any representative for the service of the temple of the Lord. That he did in his own hand. And he gave representative for the government of the country. So one should do it himself, not by any, through any representative; that is, dhana-śiṣyādibhir-dvārair yā bhaktir upapādyate.

Devotees: Vidūratvād uttamatāhānya tasyāś ca nāṅgatā.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Nāṅgatā, no āṅgatā, it is not to be recognised as the part of śuddha-bhakti.

That is by [Viśvanātha] Cakravartī Ṭhākura and others. The ādi, what is ādi? Jñāna, karma, anyābhilāṣa, karma, jñāna. Ādi means 'so many others.' Ādi śaithilya ta, is one of them, slackness, negligence. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, before, you were talking about idea, the idea stage, according to Hegel. And sometimes we've heard that the bhakti-latā-bīja, that the bīja is like a conceptual stage, some idea stage.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The idea, intuitively it comes, beginning from sukṛti, ajñāta-sukṛti, jñāta-sukṛti. Bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā.

[smarantaḥ smārayantaś ca, mitho 'ghaughā-haraṁ harim bhaktyā sañjātayā bhaktyā, bibhraty utpulakāṁ tanum]

["The devotees of the Lord constantly discuss the glories of the Personality of Godhead among themselves. Thus they constantly remember the Lord and remind one another of His qualities and pastimes. In this way, by their devotion to the principles of bhakti-yoga, the devotees please the Personality of Godhead, who takes away from them everything inauspicious. Being purified of all impediments, the devotees awaken to pure love of Godhead, and thus, even within this world, their spiritualised bodies exhibit symptoms of transcendental ecstasy, such as standing of the bodily hairs on end."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.3.31]

Bhakti is its own cause, and nothing else. So nirguṇa comes from nirguṇa, and no saguṇa can produce nirguṇa. Nirguṇas' guṇa-titha, guṇa means badi, disease cannot produce health. Removal of the disease is health proper. This way we must think, that nirguṇa is healthy position, and saguṇa is diseased state, sattya, raja, tama, three kinds of disease, mainly. So nirguṇa must come from nirguṇa, nirguṇa can produce it. So nirguṇa when within the diseased stage, suppose one is in delirium, from the sober section the beginning of the treatment must come to his help. So those that are in misconception, misconception cannot help proper conception, so it must come from the proper conception world. So first sukṛti, ajñāta-sukṛti, anyhow or other he's utilised for that purpose, nirguṇa, then gathers sukṛti. And when sufficient it produces śraddhā, and when śraddhā that comes over the surface then his conscious cooperation begins. Before that when the patient has got, when the patient is senseless, there is also treatment, injection and all these, and after some treatment the consciousness awakens and the cooperation with the patient it may go on. Am I clear?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So when fully engrossed in māyā, misconception, anyhow, some interference of the nirguṇa will come in him, his energy will be utilised by them in any way, the sukṛti.

kṛṣṇa-bhakti-janma-mūla haya 'sādhū-saṅga' [kṛṣṇa-prema janme, teṅho punar mukhya aṅga]

["The root cause of devotional service to Lord Kṛṣṇa is association with advanced devotees. Even when one's dormant love for Kṛṣṇa awakens, association with devotees is still most essential."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 22.83]

Sādhū-saṅga, and then when sukṛti: sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate puṁbhiḥ sukṛtaiḥ pūrvva-saṅcitaiḥ.

[bhaktis tu bhagavad-bhaktasaṅgena parijāyate

sat-saṅgaḥ prāpyate puṁbhiḥ sukṛtaiḥ pūrvva-saṅcitaiḥ]

["Actually we can recognise a sādhū by sukṛti. Apparently we can know him from the śāstras, the scriptures, because the śāstra helps us to know who is a sādhū, and the sādhū gives us the interpretation of the śāstra. So sādhū and śāstra are interdependent, but the sādhū holds the more important position and the śāstra has the secondary position. The living śāstra is the sādhū, but to know who is Guru, who is sādhū, we are to consult the descriptions given about them in the scriptures. The symptoms of the sādhū, both of the Guru as well as the disciple, have been written in the Bhāgavatam, in the Gītā and in the Upaniṣads.”]

[Bṛhan-Nāradya-Purāṇa]

From unknown accumulation of sukṛti, that is some connection with nirguṇa, that arouses what is śraddhā within us, and with śraddhā it comes upon the surface. Then he can cooperate with the doctor. Then conscious movement towards the God is begun. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes, and then at what stage bhakti-latā-bīja...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, then he first goes to śravaṇa-daśā, the stages after śraddhā maybe divided into five, śravaṇa, then varaṇa, then sādhana, then āpana, then prapanna, five stages. First stage śravaṇa...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Hearing.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hearing, the stage of hearing, listening to the agents of the divine. He feels pleasure to hear, gets some hope, anyhow...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Does that include reading?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes, reading also. Śravaṇa from the sādhū more powerful, and then also he reads similar things. In this way, after śravaṇa-daśā, then he begins his practical stage. He takes initiation, gets recognition from the agent of that domain. And then has a regular life. Varaṇa-daśā, after śravaṇa then comes varaṇa, the acceptance. There that is first to listen, then to accept the creed practically, to come within the regular life.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Is that official acceptance, at varaṇa...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Varaṇa means to accept.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Officially, like dīkṣā?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Officially? Ah, yes, dīkṣā. There's the dīkṣā, the guru-karan, the recognition through the Guru. He gets admission into the party through Guru, gets recognition of Kṛṣṇa through His agent: that is Guru, dīkṣā. Then sādhana begins proper. Sādhana, śravaṇa, kīrtana, etc., really begins after dīkṣā, after guru-karan, this sādhana-daśā. Then comes āpana-daśā, that realisation, self-determination, svarūpa-siddhi...

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

*[āḍau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo' tha bhajana-kriyā tato' nartha-nivṛttiḥ
syāt tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ athāsaktis tato bhāvas tataḥ
premābhyudañcati sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ prādurbhāve bhavet

["In the beginning there must be faith. Then one becomes interested in associating with pure devotees. Thereafter one is initiated by the spiritual master and executes the regulative principles under his orders. Thus one is freed from all unwanted habits and becomes firmly fixed in devotional service. Thereafter, one develops taste and then attachment. This is the way of sādhana-bhakti, the execution of devotional service according to the regulative principles. Gradually spiritual emotions manifest and intensify, then finally there is an awakening of divine love. This is the gradual development of love of Godhead for the devotee interested in Kṛṣṇa consciousness."] [Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15-16]

Āḍau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-saṅgo', then that is bhajana-kriyā, śravaṇa, kīrtana, etc.

Then anartha-nivṛtti, undesirable elements gradually die out, anartha-nivṛtti. Tato niṣṭhā, then real adherence begins to the cause, anartha-nivṛtti. Niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ, niṣṭhā- nairantaryya, a continuous flow of life of that thought, continuous, niṣṭhā means continuous. Continuity comes when undesirable things disappear from the mind, then continuity begins, niṣṭhā. Then ruṇi, real taste awakens, rucis tataḥ. Athāśaktis, then that taste becomes more intense, and it is named as āśakti. Whenever a little comes in the memory, in the continuance, then of course he feels prema, that is āśakti, tato bhāva, then bhāva-bhakti, just like the bloom, flower, bloom, what is it, the primitive stage of a flower?

Devotees: Bud.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bud. Then the bud of devotion, prema, comes. After that bhāva-bhakti then prema-bhakti begins.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, did you say athāśaktis...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Athāśaktis tato bhāvas.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: That he feels if there's some discontinuation in the niṣṭhā that he feels pain?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: If continuation is a little slackened he feels pain. Then it comes to the stage of āśakti. Then tato bhāva, that bud condition, and then prema, that is blossoming. And then sneha, mana, division in the prema, sneha, mana, rāga, anurāga, bhāva, mahā-bhāva. Bhāva goes to sākhya-rasa only to show all that are connected. And mahābhāva otherwise bhāva in vātsalya-rasa and mādhurya-rasa, general, and mahā-bhāva only reserved for Rādhā Ṭhākuraṇī, that is we are told the stages of bhakti.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But you were saying that the rāgānugās they get some taste of that mahā-bhāva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Taste of mahābhāva, but quantity is small. That quality can descend to that position.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you said sādhana then āpana...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Āpana-daśā then prapanna-daśā. This āpana-daśā means realisation, and then prapanna, that he can give to others, prapanna-daśā. There are two things, two classes, that vastu siddhi is also prapanna. Svarūpa siddhi, āpana, and vastu siddhi, prapanna, prakista lokena apna, finalised, finally entered into the group.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now Mahārāja, is that possible while in this present body? Because once I heard our Guru Mahārāja explain, tyaktvā dehaṁ punar janma, naiti mām eti, so explaining mām eti he said that Sanātana Goswāmī has said that, "This means that first one is transferred to that universe where Kṛṣṇa's līlā is going on."

[janma karma ca me divyam, evaṁ yo vetti tattvataḥ tyaktvā dehaṁ punar janma, naiti mām eti so 'arjuna]

["O Arjuna, one who actually perceives My supramundane birth and activities enacted by My sweet will, does not undergo rebirth in this material world. After giving up his present body, he attains Me. Having become subservient to My divine pleasure (hlādinī-śakti) in the form of My revealed divine potency, such a soul achieves eternal devotional service unto Me."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 4.9]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. He can come only by His direction, not for his own fault he's to come back. But he may come when desired by the Lord, "Go and..." as He Himself comes. So, under His direction he may also be sent here, to do good to others, prapanna, mām eti. He may come here as an Avatāra comes. In this way he may come here.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Who?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Prapanna, mām eti, who has finally achieved that stage...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Matured.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Finally, he also may come, not for his weakness, but when sent by the Lord, to fulfil some purpose, just like Avatāra.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Our Guru Mahārāja said that, “There, in that universe where Kṛṣṇa’s pastimes are being enacting, that one would serve as an apprentice.”

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Svarūpa siddhi and vastu siddhi, when one attains the stage of _____ siddhi, then āpana, then from āpana to prapanna, it is said that when Kṛṣṇa has descended in any brahmāṇḍa, he’s transferred there. And he gets chance of participating in that prapañca līlā, and after participation there practically with the company of the gopīs, it is finalised, and he is vastu siddhi; that is prapanna. Prapañca līlā... svarūpa siddhi pare prapañca līlā The first participation, when he comes in this world, and after participation, that is as a probationer, and then service becomes permanent.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. So, what I wanted to know; is it possible for one who is in the conditioned state, nitya baddha, to progress to this state of...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Unconditioned.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But to the point of prapanna, in this lifetime, before giving up this body?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Huh?

Bhāratī Mahārāja: [?]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Possible, but not all cases, in special cases, in one life one may achieve that svarūpa siddhi. It is possible, but not very cheap.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Was that the case of Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bilvamaṅgala? Yes, we consider it, if we do not take it that he came to teach us. There are so many Āḷvārs that come, and in their activity also, so many mundane is to be seen, but that is all show, only to help us, to take us from the lower position to the higher. They play the part of the baddha jīva, but really they are mukta. So not only in all cases should we think that from baddha he has come to be mukta, the final stage. In Jagāi Mādhāi's case: 'patita-pāvana' nāmera sākṣī dui bhāi.

[mahā-kṛpā-pātra prabhura jagāi, mādhai / 'patita-pāvana' nāmera sākṣī dui bhāi] [Jagāi and Mādhāi, the eighty-ninth and ninetieth branches of the tree, were the greatest recipients of Lord Caitanya's mercy. These two brothers were the witnesses who proved that Lord Caitanya was rightly named Patita Pāvana, "the deliverer of the fallen souls."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Ādi-līlā, 10.120]

It has been told, mahā-kṛpā-pātra prabhura jagāi, mādhai, who were said to be the standard sinners, that were saved by Mahāprabhu. They're also told, that, 'patita-pāvana' nāmera sākṣī dui bhāi, they came to play the part of the witness that such pāvana, that such purification is possible, to help us. The purification from such a wretched position to attain the highest end, that is possible by the grace of the Lord, by magnanimous personality. They stood as witness, we are told. Jagāi Mādhai, first they were in Vaikuṇṭha, Jaya Vijaya; and then Hiranyākṣa Hiranyakaśipu, Rāvaṇa and Kumbhakarna, Śiśupāla Dantavakra, again they have been taken from Brahmaloḥa, to become Jagāi Mādhai. That shadow, that idea.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But Mahārāja, in the seventh canto of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja he says that, "I cannot believe that some unflinching servitors of Kṛṣṇa that they would fall from Vaikuṇṭha."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yudhiṣṭhira Mahārāja, when he heard about his cousins, who were they in that birth, Śiśupāla and Dantavakra, when he heard that they were associates of Viṣṇu, he said, "I cannot believe that they could fall from Vaikuṇṭha."

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The underlying perhaps is this: that temporary degradation, conditional degradation is no degradation. Do you follow?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: No.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: One officer has committed something wrong, and he is suspended for some time. That suspension is not dismissal. The service is there. Something like that.

They came with conditional; "After three births you will be again reinstated." And because they were in the service of Nārāyaṇa, Nārāyaṇa's sympathy was there. Only to keep the formal respect of the Ṛṣis, they were asked to accept extraordinarily that sort of show. And they were again reinstated in that former position. So, really, they were not helpless at the time of their fall, they were in Nārāyaṇa's presence, His sympathy was with them. It was external formality they were to observe to keep the respect of the Ṛṣi. But internally when they had acquired the sympathy of Nārāyaṇa:

nehābhikrama-nāśo 'sti, pratyavāyo na vidyate svalpam apy asya dharmasya, trāyate mahato bhayāt

["Even a small beginning in this devotional service cannot go in vain, nor can any loss be suffered. The most insignificant practice of such devotional service saves one from the all-devouring fear of repeated birth and death in this world."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 2.40] _____ to give respect to the words of the Ṛṣis, they were made to act that sort of play.

That is the underlying meaning.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, should we think that generally, this is the case with the jīva, the baddha jīva?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In some cases it may be thought, and also in the general cases it is such depth of vision may have in some quarters of the devotees, whose vision is very deep and far-reaching, because Māyā herself is a conditioned thing, māyāic-vilas. As much as long as it may be, still it is not infinite; a part of infinite, but it is finite, finite, the līlā, the finite. So, in consideration with infinite time, long ages have got no value. Long ages, long, long ages, has no value in consideration with the infinite. In consideration, you see, everything is relative. All visions more or less relative. So a human life a hundred years, and there may be an insect, in one hour so many generations. The Brahma-yuga, Videya-yuga, then this ordinary ego, all relative calculation. So when māyā, is conditional, only time calculation of this world begins when we are, the māyāic ego, we come within the form of thought, time, space, person, these are the forms of thought, comes from ego, this ego, of the non eternal aspect, the familial aspect. Am I clear? No?

Jīva's connection with this māyāic world is called anadi. Anadi means beginning less. But anadi has been explained in this way: "Why it is anadi?" Because after he enters the, this phenomenal world, then he comes within the factor of space, time, space begins, time begins. It is a form of thought. When the whole world, whole creation is dissolved, it enters into the mind. Do you see, the land, the solid, enters into liquid, liquid enters into heat, heat enters into gas, moisture, and moisture enters into ether, and ether enters into mind; the object of thought. So subjective evolution enters into thought, ego.

Devotee: Mind to intelligence, to...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ah... Mind to intelligence, intelligence to ego, then no experience, no world of experience; again, when creation begins, prakṛtermahān, mahato ahaṅkara, ahaṅkara pancatran mahatrāṇi, in this way the gross things come, and they enter into the subtle, into the, they're all mental forms. So, the participation of the soul in this material world has been called as anadi, which has no beginning, because it effects before he enters into the factor of time and, this jadya kāla. So when one can see that this is limited, however lengthy it may seem to the victims of māyā, still, it is a limited thing. So in their consideration it may be like that.

The jīva is engaged in the pastimes of the Lord, and as reaction there they have got sleeping tendency, and in sleeping they're having a dream, and in that dream they may be seen to act in different ways in this world. And the dream finished and they awake and say: "I am at home, back to God, back to home. There is I." It has been also told. But such vision will be rarely to be had.

The most spacious, whatever is indirect, that is always cooperating fully with the direct; it is servant of direct, it has got no independent value, only helping the direct. The indirect is always meant only to help the direct; not otherwise. So they will see the negative also within positive, something like that, that this sort of negative, not in svarūpa-śakti negative. That is mahā-bhāgavata, who does not, who cannot see anything but Kṛṣṇa, anything but Kṛṣṇa, svarūpa-śakti, always awakened in svarūpa-śakti area. To become conscious of māyā-śakti it is generally coming in madhyama-adhikāra, who can see māyā. In the first stage, not māyā to do any mischief to them, but doing mischief to others; in this way. Para-duḥkha-dukhī, no pain in himself, but he's affected by the misery of others.

Direct and indirect, Kṛṣṇa and māyā; the māyā is to help Kṛṣṇa in the fullest sense, when they come to realise that, that this is, has got no status to oppose Kṛṣṇa, but is playing at the hand of Kṛṣṇa, to serve His own purpose, as a doll in His hand. In that, when the vision is extended so much, to the fullest, they say, "What's the matter? It is epic only. That is nothing." And when already we are in māyā we do not find any end of māyā. We tiny souls, no end of māyā according to angle of vision, according to the position, so all relative view, conception, we may think out. Hare Kṛṣṇa, Hare Kṛṣṇa.

*[tad ahaṁ te 'bhīdhāsyāmi, mahā-pauruṣiko bhavān yasya

["O saintly King, I was certainly situated perfectly in transcendence, yet I was still attracted by the delineation of the pastimes of the Lord, who is described by enlightened verses." - "That very Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam I shall recite before you because you are the most sincere devotee of Lord

Kṛṣṇa. One who gives full attention and respect to hearing Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam achieves unflinching faith in the Supreme Lord, the giver of salvation." [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9-10]

Of course from nirviśeṣa, the conception of nirviśeṣa, Brahman, he came not only to Vasudeva conception, or Nārāyaṇa conception, they came, they went forward to have Kṛṣṇa conception in their appreciation. Now, they're considered to be in śānta-rasa. That is a difficult thing, difficult thing, that Śukadeva Goswāmī has given us so many things, even rasa-līlā, gopī-gītā, Rādhārāṇī's līlā, Kṛṣṇa's pastimes with the, His friends, vātsalya-rasam, but still, he's not considered to be, generally to be established in the highest position of the rasa world, Śuka. For some purpose, that rasa was preached through him, but that does not mean that he has entered there and he's established there. For the particular service, purpose of the Lord, through him it was given to the world, given to the world. Just as pralapita vacra, he does not know, though all these higher thoughts passed through him, but still, he was a peon, of those higher thoughts, delivered letters. But he himself had no permanent settlement in that highest quarter. We do not hear about that.

We see in Caitanya-Bhāgavat, Mahāprabhu is asking Śrīvāsa, "That what type of devotion you think this Nara, My Advaita [has]?"

Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita told, "That like Śuka and Prahlāda."

Mahāprabhu was enraged. "Śuka is a boy, the other day. You put My Advaita in the same rank." He was enraged. "He's of higher type."

So Śukadeva who gave the Bhāgavatam, it was necessary because, to, the intellectuals, the so-called learned, to convert them Śukadeva was used, but...

And Bilvamaṅgala has been called Śukadeva, Śuka, of the similar nature, Bilvamaṅgala, Līlāśuka, his name. He also came from that māyāvādā, svanandasuka, singasana [?] And he went far up to appreciate and give to the world his fervent poetries about Kṛṣṇa līlā to the public. But he's more concerned with Kṛṣṇa than the gopīs, Kṛṣṇa than the gopīs.

So, they were utilised by Kṛṣṇa to give it to the public for the facility of their conviction, that such man who was a sinner, then who was a māyāvādā jñānī, and then he was again converted into Kṛṣṇa līlā, then Kṛṣṇa līlā must be above this jñāna and others, and it is practically helpful such a sinner is converted overnight. So to give these teachings to the world to help the public, for the necessity of the devotional – for preaching facility, they have been utilised by the higher power, what he himself does not possess. We are told like that.

Though many things unknown to them have been delivered through them; vyāso vetti na vetti vā, just as there is a saying, “The Vyāsa has given everything but he may not know the real purport.”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. But I thought that he said aham vetti śuko vetti.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja:

aham vedmi śuko vetti, vyāso vetti na vetti vā [bhaktyā bhāgavatam grāhyam na buddhyā na ca tīkayā]

[Lord Śiva says: "I know the true purpose of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam; Śukadeva, the son and disciple of Vyāsadeva, knows it thoroughly, and the author of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Śrīla Vyāsadeva may or may not know the meaning. The real purpose of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam is very difficult to conceive and can only be known through bhakti."]]

[Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya-līlā, 24.313]

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But he says “śuko vetti, he knows.” Now we’re saying he does not know.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is from one plane. This is talk of Śiva himself, but Śiva’s knowledge is also limited. The knowledge, who is the author of this śloka, his realisation is also limited. From his standpoint he says like so: Aham vedmi śuko vetti, vyāso vetti na vetti vā. The higher knowledge can make the lower as an instrument, to serve its purpose. Something like that.

Aksayananda Mahārāja: There is another problem. In the Caitanya-caritāmṛta we read that śanta-rasa, that bhakti has not really begun, in śanta-rasa.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Bhakti means service not begun.

Aksayananda Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So it has been translated as neutral. Not really neutral, but prejudiced in favour of the vilasa, of the service, but not actual service there. Prahlāda has been told to be the example of śanta-rasa. Prahlāda himself says: “I only think, I keep in my memory, but actual service not to be found in me. That fortunate man is Hanumān. You go Devarṣi, go to him, to Hanumān. He does actual service of the Lord.” And Hanumān also sent to...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Pāṇḍavas.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Pāṇḍavas, the sākhya-rasa, the dāsya-rasa then sākhya-rasa is better than dāsya. Then Pāṇḍavas says to Yadava, vātsalya-rasa, then Uddhava, prema-nistha vātsalya-rasa. Jñāna-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ. Karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktim yayur jñāninas.

[karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktim yayur jñāninas tebhyo jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla-paṅkaja-dṛśas tābhyo ‘pi sā rādhikā preṣṭhā tadvad iyaṁ tadīya-sarasī tām nāśrayet kaḥ kṛtī]

[“There are those in the world who regulate their tendency for exploitation in accordance with the scriptural rules and thereby seek gradual elevation to the spiritual domain. However, superior to them are those wise men who, having given up the tendency to lord over others, attempt to dive deep into the realm of consciousness. But far superior to them are the pure devotees who are free from any mundane ambitions and are liberated from knowledge, not by knowledge, having achieved divine love. They have gained entrance into the land of dedication and are engaged there spontaneously in the Lord's loving service. Among all devotees, however, the gopīs are the highest, for they have forsaken everyone, including their families, and everything, including the strictures of the Vedas, and have taken complete shelter at the lotus feet of Kṛṣṇa, accepting Him as their only protection. But among all the gopīs, Śrīmatī Rādhārāṇī reigns supreme. For Kṛṣṇa left the company of millions of gopīs during the rasa dance to search for Her alone. She is so dear to Śrī Kṛṣṇa that the pond in which She bathes is His very favourite place. Who but a madman would not aspire to render service, under the shelter of superior devotees, in that most exalted of all holy places.”]

[Śrī Upadeśāmṛta, 10]

Devotion mixed with material achievement; that is the lowest. Devotion mixed with pure consciousness; that is next higher stage. Then, independent of material; that is the influence of exploitation and renunciation, that sort of devotion to be traced, karmibhyaḥ parito hareḥ priyatayā vyaktim yayur jñāninas, tebhyo jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ. That is the type of Nārada, jñāna-sunya-bhakti-paramāḥ, jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ. He’s more appreciable of bhakti and dis-appreciation in the world of exploitation as well as of renunciation. The example is Nārada, jñāna-vimukta-bhakti-paramāḥ, premaika-niṣṭhās tataḥ.

Then exclusively attentive towards the prema-bhakti, that example is Uddhava, connected with Braja, that is the highest stage of devotion, tebhyas tāḥ paśu-pāla- pañkaja-drśas.

Then the highest stage, paśu-pāla, the gopīs as general, though gopī, in Braja, paśu-pāla-pañkaja-drśas tābhyo ‘pi sā rādhikā, and amongst them also, Rādhārāṇī is unprecedented. Her devotion, Her service, has got no parallel. In this way it is the way of development of devotion. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Śukadeva, who has given the whole of Bhāgavatam, including everything, he says he’s a mediator. So the position of Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura. It has been detected by the great Ācāryas.

Aksayananda Mahārāja: So the tendency is neutrality.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Neutral, something like that. Śukadeva, after finishing his lecture he again entered into the non-differentiated class. [?]

Very strongly he pleaded the position that bhakti is higher than jñāna. That was what was necessary there, in the example by Śuka and his delivery, that the jñāna, the renunciation school was downed, finally, and then the structure grown up. And that came within him. It was necessary that it should come, śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava-saṁyutam.

[nigama-kalpa-taror galitaṁ phalaṁ, śuka-mukhād amṛta-drava-saṁyutam pibata bhāgavataṁ rasam ālayaṁ, muhur aho rasikā bhuvi bhāvukāḥ]

[“O expert and thoughtful men, relish Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, the mature fruit of the desire tree of Vedic literatures. It emanated from the lips of Śrī Śukadeva Gosvāmī. Therefore this fruit has become even more tasteful, although its nectarean juice was already relishable for all, including liberated souls.”] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.3]

That got in such a broader scale it came and with the experience of Śuka in the details of the renunciationist school, the jñānīs, that it was able to clear vigorously the doubts of the jñānīs and to establish the truth of Bhāgavatam, bhakti, prema-bhakti. So he was used for the purpose, Śukadeva.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, but in Kṛṣṇa-Karṇāmṛtam, Bilvamaṅgala Ṭhākura he says that he was initiated into the path of Brahman realisation, “but now I have become misled by a naughty boy who is very cunning, and who is very much attached to the gopīs, and who has made me His maidservant.” So he’s saying that he’s become the maidservant.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not maidservant but maid’s servant.

Dasi krta gopa vadhu vicena [?]

The Sanskrit is not dasa krta, dasi krta. [?]

The swans have been done white by whom? [?] There is a technique in Sanskrit grammar. [?] Who was not a slave, to make him slave, so dasi krti, in Sanskrit also it is like that.

So not necessarily that maid of the gopīs, but he may be having recognition of that of a servant, dasi krta, may be a sakha.

And he gave description mainly about Kṛṣṇa, and including the gopīs. That is also found in his statement, and fervently.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Who is the first author to present this; Rūpa Goswāmī’s conception?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: To...?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: To present in written form, where, the Gaudīya siddhānta, in which writings does that first occur?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In [Raghunātha] Dāsa Goswāmī we find, in Sanātana, in Jīva Goswāmī mostly we find. Jīva Goswāmī he gave commentary to Rūpa Goswāmī's writings. Jīva Goswāmī himself he was his direct disciple and he was brought [?] He was under the care of Rūpa Goswāmī, he grown up, grew up. So Jīva Goswāmī and Dāsa Goswāmī. Dāsa Goswāmī took the rasa side and Jīva Goswāmī the śāstric aspect; śāstric aspect explanations by Jīva Goswāmī. And the ecstatic aspect was given by Dāsa Goswāmī, to certain extent. And [Kṛṣṇadāsa] Kavirāja Goswāmī has also given, with quotation also, the meaning of Rūpa Goswāmī. [?]

Aksayananda Mahārāja: Some pseudo, modern, so-called Vaiṣṇavas, they say that the Goswāmī Grantha's are not necessary. What is the cause of this disease? Why do they...?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Because they can't tolerate their elimination from higher type of devotion.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī Mahārāja

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Jealousy.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: They're envious.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Envious. And also, some of them cannot accommodate themselves with the selection of Mahāprabhu, with Mahāprabhu and Rūpa Goswāmī, the gradation. They say, some think Chandravālī group in mādhurya rasa the Vallabha gosthi, the Vallabha School, especially in Gujrat. They think that Chandravālī as Yamunā she represents the highest form of service. Gokula Gosai, once I visited him in Bombay. He tried his best to impress that Yamunā holds the highest position in Mathurā in mādhurya rasa, because after rasa, rasa līlā, when it is dissolved, they found Kṛṣṇa when they went to the banks of Yamunā. That was his argument. The Yamunā holding the principal position in mādhurya līlā of Kṛṣṇa, that is their... and not Rādhārāṇī. But in different Purāṇa also, and Bhāgavat suppressed the...

anayārādhito nūnaṁ, bhagavān harir īśvaraḥ

[yan no vihāya govindaḥ, prīto yām anayad rahaḥ]

[The Vraja gopīs said: “O my friend! Leaving us aside, Śrī Kṛṣṇa has gone off to a secluded place with a particular gopī. She must be truly expert in worshipping (anayārādhito) Him, for He was so pleased with Her service that He has left us all behind.”] [Śrīmad- Bhāgavatam, 10.30.28]

One pradhana gopī and He's not one with Yamunā; She's not one with Yamunā.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: One of the things of what Mahārāja was saying, sometimes it is stated by the so-called devotees that the Goswāmī granthas no longer serve any purpose. They serve no purpose because they are so abstract.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Ha, ha, ha. And what about Bhāgavatam? Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam serves all purposes. That is not to be understandable by the public. So Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam has no meaning of its existence?

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: No, they say the Bhāgavatam is all right. They accept the Bhāgavatam but they say the Goswāmī grantha, they are too far, too abstract, too far advanced, so what is the use for us.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: So what is the use of the post graduate classes? What is the use of research scholarship? That is too far. What is the necessity of a Newton or an Einstein? That is too high.

There is one scientist in the beginning of the invention of electricity, one Faraday scientist, when he showed his experiment to the scholars of the day one lady put a question to him that, “After all what will be the benefit of all your experiments and your inventions, what benefit the general public will derive from it?”

Then the Faraday told, we read it in Discovery of Gregory, that, “Madam, will you tell me the utility of a newborn babe.” That was the answer of Faraday. “A newborn babe, when he will grow up then you will get the benefit, appreciate.”

So, the high things not for the public, but those that have appreciation, those few that can appreciate in those higher study, by their movement that high things come in different ways to this plane. And it creates such sukṛti. And that sukṛti one day will prepare them for that higher, to receive that higher thing, that is satya kathā.

They will say, “The Kṛṣṇa, Svayaṁ Bhagavān what is the utility?” Or to the public, public, as Ramakrishna Mission, “Whether God or Kali or Kṛṣṇa or Allah: all equal.”

That is very palatable to the ordinary public, the primitive God-conception.

“And you say Kṛṣṇa is the highest, he says God is the highest, what is the utility of all these troubles stating that my realisation is the highest.”

That also may be stated by a particular group. Should we go to tolerate that? Only those that consider much favour of denotation they will say like that, the majority, the quantity. But quantity cannot satisfy all. Those that hankers after qualitative, comparative higher things, they will eliminate everything and go forward for that thing. This is discouraging, the gradation. The qualitative highness: that should be hankered by all. This is all apathetic. In the political field we tolerate so many sections, so many sections of different political conceptions, shades. But in religious school, “Oh! Why so? Only one suffice.” That is Ramakrishna Mission. They’re idle, idle in religious realisation. That sort of reckless brain who has got no sympathy for religion at all, they will say like that.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Reckless brain.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That is apathetic, generally. They do not want any comparative study in religion.

Akṣayānanda Mahārāja: They don't want any movement. They don't want any progress.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: They want movement only for the belly. The belly is everything to them, the belly people, the belly servants, slaves of physical senses. They are free physical senses. We are just opposite. Kāma dāsa, not Rāma dāsa. They are all kāma dāsa, slave to the sensual pleasure. They cannot tolerate the gradation in the religious thought, qualitative difference. But in their political opinion they can tolerate so many shades of political conception. And they fight with each other, the follower of Locke, the Marxists, then the communists, then so many divisions in the communists.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Mahārāja, this sort of question arises also because like in my own personal experience, in my personal studies, Hari-Nāmāmṛta-Vyākaraṇa etc. I have always been discouraged. No one has ever encouraged, it has always been discouraged. And it has actually been said that it is a useless endeavour.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. We are one with them, the study, jñāna-sunya-bhakti. The real thing what is necessary to work, to use our energy for the service of the Lord. By that process only we can go up. And not by satisfying our intellectual necessities. An illiterate man can achieve a higher position in the realm of devotion, where a literate man may not be.

But when by the command of the Lord we engage ourselves in the literary culture, just as Mahāprabhu asked Rūpa, Sanātana, of course they had their knowledge already acquired, and to utilise that for the service of the sampradāya. He also asked Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa: ya'o paḍa bhāgavata vaiṣṇavera sthane: “Read Bhāgavatam but from whom who knows the real purport of it, Vaiṣṇava, bhakti.” [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 5.131]

Only Jīva Gosvāmī is the exception whom we see that He made study. He studied independently before he joined Vṛndāvana. He left his home and then went to Benares. Benares was the city of all sorts of learning at that time. And he studied different śāstram. And then he joined Vṛndāvana. And there under the direction of Rūpa, Sanātana he utilised his previous acquired knowledge into the service of the sampradāya.

So, when we get inspiration from up, to study, that study is devotion. Otherwise when I have got a whim within for me to study, to acquire scholarship, that may not be bhakti proper, śuddha bhakti, because my energy must be utilised by the higher agent, higher agent, a Vaiṣṇava. Energy must be spent to satisfy the higher world. Then it will be bhakti, it will be devotion. My mental imagination it may be sukṛti but it won't be śuddha bhakti. If I want to be, if I have a mind to help the sampradāya in a scholarly way, but at your own risk you must go on with your study, and thinking. When it is accepted, he's connected by the higher agent, then it will be considered as devotion, otherwise not. It is empirical attempt with some sort of good ambition, imagination. But this is not pure bhakti, pure devotion. Pure devotion is to carry out the orders from the high, from the higher. The waves are coming to catch that and then to do accordingly.

Once when I joined the mission, I wanted to read the books of the mission, even including Bhāgavatam, but I did not find any encouragement from the authority. Then I was sent with a party to Benares, Nemi Mahārāja, well read. Not highly scholar but in ordinary way he could explain Bhāgavatam and other śāstra very well and to impress on the public, including the scholars of ordinary type. In Benares perhaps in Ahulabhai [?] ghat or something like that he used to explain Bhāgavatam. I was with him. And his lectures from Bhāgavatam were very capturing.

At that time Nemi Mahārāja told me that, “Kuñja Bābu does not tolerate any good for other servitors. If I get order from Prabhupāda to construct a Maṭh of our own here I can do it.”

And I saw that it was not impossible. If he gets such encouragement then he can construct, he can purchase a place of our own and construct temple and quarters, he can do.

So I wrote direct to Prabhupāda, that, “The propagation, the Bhāgavat lecture here is going on in a very good way and people are much impressed. And that has also encouraged the preacher Nemi Mahārāja. And he says that if you ask him to erect a Maṭh of our own in this place of religious importance then he can do. I think at this nick of time of you order him then we may have a place of our own, a preaching centre of our own in this important place where so many religious schools are represented in Benares.”

I got no – I wrote to Prabhupāda but the general secretary Kuñja Bābu he replied that, “I, we already know that Nemi Mahārāja is a good preacher. You try to collect your necessary equipments from him for preaching.” And no mention of the proposal which I sent to Prabhupāda.

Then when Prabhupāda, a little after Prabhupāda went there and he suddenly one day told me that, “What is the necessity of karma-kāṇḍa?”

First I could not understand. Why Prabhupāda said so, what is the necessity of doing karma-kāṇḍa?

Then again he went on, “That if a Vaiṣṇava says to a person ‘Oh, bring some flower,’ and he is taking that flower – ‘No, no, no flower, take the water.’ And if he says that, ‘No, accept this flower, you have already ordered me to bring flower, I am taking it. You take it.’ To say so, such, will be karma-kāṇḍa. He may cancel his own desire. He is free. A Vaiṣṇava is free. He ordered already to take flower. And if you take flower and try to force it on him, that will be karma. You must throw it off and bring water. So any desire to thrust on the higher authority: that is karma-kāṇḍa. The authority, the Gurudeva, what he receives from high, that, ‘do this,’ he then ask his followers to do that. And then that will be bhakti.”

Once that Schulze, that German, first gentleman who came to join our mission, Herr Schulze [Sadānanda dāsa], he told Prabhupāda that, “We are accustomed to do anything with a program, so sometimes before three months we fix some program and then we do accordingly. But here at least I want one week’s notice to prepare myself, where to go, what to do, at least one week before.”

Prabhupāda told, “I get information five minutes ago. How can I inform you a week ago?”

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: In advance.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That was his... So our Nisikanta Sanyal told, I said to you the other day, that, “When you are requested by a Vaiṣṇava to write, to read any book, that will be devotion. But when of your own accord you will go to read a book, that won't be, that will be karma or jñāna.” Something like that. So unconditionally and unqualified surrender to serve the direction which is coming [from] up, that is bhakti, and all else imitation and eliminative, that we should understand. So vaiṣṇavera ānugatya, sādhū ānugatya, everywhere you will find this warning.

In saṅkīrtana you are taking the Name, as a saṅkīrtana party. Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura says, “At least one must be a śuddha bhakta there.” The saṅkīrtana party is going, but at least one śuddha bhakta must be the leading, otherwise it will be nāmābhāsa, nāmāparādha, or something like that.

So connection with the divinity, that is, descending agent, the bona fide agent who has got connection, who can receive impression, who in his heart so many waves of the wish of the desire of the Lord striking in whose heart, and he says, ‘this should be done.’ And we must connect with such centre and then do to get bhakti. Otherwise it may be imitation bhakti, imitation bhakti, devotion.

Our attraction for knowledge, curiosity to satisfy my inner curiosity, that I must know what is what about the bhakti before I accept this, or I must get some fame when delivering lectures, that must be a scholarly one, so many fleeting desires may make it filthy, pure devotion.

The surrender, and what You order I receive I do act on it. I do not know what is good and bad. I do not know what is good and bad, a direct order. And when the Guru is living I am far away. No time to ask him. I must take some immediate. Then I shall try to think that in such position what my Guru used to direct me. As much as I can conjecture I do accordingly. In this position what my Gurudeva would ask me to do. As far as I can conjecture at the time I shall do accordingly. I shall try to get some sort of order from him that he might have said this thing in such condition, as far as I can conjecture I shall do that. The criterion of bhakti is that what we do, the starting idea must come from above, irrespective of the action, what it may be, whether to go to the temple, or to beat a man, it does not matter. It must have the upper connection. That is bhakti. It is independent of the guṇa, tri guṇa, satya, raja, tama. Ahimsā - satya guṇa, himsā - raja guṇa, sleeping and idleness - tama guṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

So we must have our fixed aim towards the high. It must come from there. I cannot waste my energy in any engagement what is considered good or bad from my consideration. That will spring up in the relativity in this māyic world. We must be careful, very much, that whether I am catching a wave, the wave coming from the finest plane, or a gross plane. The thought that actuates me, excites me to act, whether that is, which plane it comes, from the higher finest plane, can I catch that, the news of that wave, can I read? If I can read waves of that plane, the meaning of the waves of that plane, all right. We should always watch, the wave of the plane coming from what sort of plane. That helps me to begin my activity, from what plane it comes, the order. And my services will go, that is to be recorded in that plane. And that will help me qualitatively in a very extraordinary manner. So for the qualitative improvement we shall disown our present environment, even including the mental sphere. Try to get the insinuation from the highest possible plane and I must give my bowed down head to that and not to the external environment of any kind in consideration of me, good or bad.

Clear in answering your...

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Mahārāja, you are so clear, that you are leaving us with feelings that we want to surrender.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: [?] So our eagerness will always be to serve wishes of that plane, in the highest plane of Kṛṣṇa bhakti. That is very, very, very rarely to be found in this mundane world. We shall be eager to catch the [?] that telegraphic language of the highest plane. We must try to catch and be subservient to that. That should be our nature of quest and utilisation of our energy. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Gaura Haribol.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: So Mahārāja, in the absence of my spiritual master, when I wanted to get that pure direction, I've come to your Divine Grace to get such direction, because I am well aware I may make a mistake. So I don't trust my own judgement.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: That you can do in your own risk. That I think that this is in the line of my spiritual master, and those that demand that we are in his path they cannot represent so subtly, but grossly, not up to mark. Everyone must move in his own risk, own risk. You have joined Swāmī Mahārāja's camp, to one's own risk, leaving the present society and present religious faith, everything you have left. At your own risk you have, so also appreciation and risk. Sarva-dharmān parityajya:

[sarva-dharmān parityajya, mām ekaṁ śaraṇaṁ vraja ahaṁ tvām sarva-pāpebhyo, mokṣayiṣyāmi mā śucaḥ]

["Totally abandoning all kinds of religion, surrender exclusively unto Me. I will liberate you from all kinds of sins, so do not despair."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 18.66]

That is bipravik [?], revolutionary, more or less revolutionary. That is the highest way of attaining any higher thing. And that we may not go down, so many barriers are there. Sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ.

[śreyān sva-dharmo viguṇaḥ, para-dharmāt svanuṣṭhitāt sva dharme nidhanaṁ śreyaḥ, para-dharmo bhayāvahaḥ]

["It is better to carry out one's own duties a little imperfectly rather than faultlessly perform another's duties. Know that even death is auspicious in the discharge of one's duties appropriate to his natural position in the ordained socio-religious system, because to pursue another's path is perilous."] [Bhagavad-gītā, 3.35]

You must give respect to your... Ke?

...

*[martyo yadā tyakta-samasta-karmā, niveditātmā vicikīrṣito me]
tadāmṛtatvaṁ pratipadyamāno, mayātmā-bhūyāya ca kalpate vai*

["One who is subjected to birth and death attains immortality when he gives up all material activities, dedicates his life to the execution of My order, and acts according to My directions. In this way, he becomes fit to enjoy the spiritual bliss derived from exchanging loving mellows with Me."] [Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.29.34]

[Śrī Caitanya Mahāprabhu said: "The body of a devotee is never material. It is considered to be transcendental, full of spiritual bliss. At the time of initiation, when a devotee fully surrenders unto the service of the Lord, Kṛṣṇa accepts him to be as good as Himself. When the devotee's body is thus transformed into spiritual existence, the devotee, in that transcendental body, renders service to the lotus feet of the Lord."] [Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Antya-līlā, 4.191-3]

He has got no engagement. Another, rejecting previous engagement, entrance into new; that is of two types.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Examples of that Mahārāja.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Vacant, sometimes vacant, he had got no religious life at all, he came to a sādhū and began; one section. Another, he is disgusted with his former religious conception and comes in contact with a real sādhū and leaves his previous engagement and enters into that. āśraya anya rahiti [?] He was not reckoned in any particular āśraya, either a Christian or a Mohammedan or a Pañcapasī, or nothing. From atheism, he had no religious conception. He began first with this conception. Another, comparative study he found it nothing then entered into it. Two types may come here. One with open mind, and another leaving his previous prejudices, enters into new, that two types.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: But Mahārāja, that's very broad or general. Previously he may have been a Christian or, and then he comes to the...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: When he reads comparatively he feels more attraction for this and then leaving his previous prejudice of religion he comes to accept this truth. And another, has no religion, he did not, he had no religious engagement or conception or anything of the like, when he comes to, in the vicinity of this sort of conception he accepts.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Now, is that within Kṛṣṇa consciousness also?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Not, generally it is not that; in a general way it has been stated that one who has got, who is entering into Kṛṣṇa consciousness, and then also within Kṛṣṇa consciousness there also the selection and elimination of guide. That is also allowed in special cases, we see.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes. Because sometimes you have said that there's three stages of conception of Guru. That in the first stage seeing Kṛṣṇa, in the intermediate stage seeing the potency, function, and then again in the third stage it becoming more defined.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: In a particular group of potency.

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Yes. That is the first attracted by general Kṛṣṇa consciousness and then when that is more intense they can find there are so many servitors there also. And gradually when progressing he finds his attraction for the particular group, and particular type of service. In this way finally he is posted in a particular place for his service, in this way. To serve Vaiṣṇava, one who has attained the service of a Vaiṣṇava, Guru or a Vaiṣṇava, that is tadīyatā. That is a deeper kind of devotion. To serve the Lord that is a general and hazy thing. And to serve His devotee that is more intensive position. So that is higher position, tadīyatā. Tadīya means... Rāmānuja saṁpradāya has given much stress in tadīya, tadīya sevā; that is bhakta sevā. Mad-bhakta-pūjābhyadhikā.

[ādarah paricaryāyām, sarvāṅgair abhivandanam mad-bhakta-pūjābhyadhikā, sarva-bhūteṣu man-matiḥ]

[Kṛṣṇa said: “My devotees take great care and respect in rendering Me service, offering obeisances with all their bodily limbs, and - above all - worshipping My devotees. They see all living entities as related to Me.”]
[Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.19.21]

Then the:

*[ye me bhakta-janāḥ partha, ne me bhaktaś ca te janāḥ] mad bhaktānām
ca ye bhaktās, te me bhaktatamā mataḥ*

[“Those who worship Me directly are not real devotees; real devotees are those who are devoted to My devotees.”] [Ādi-Purāṇa]

To that stage, if we, without śaraṇāgati in the beginning we cannot attain that stage also, tadīyatā.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So what is the asida?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tadīyatām.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: Service to the Vaiṣṇavas?

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Service of a Vaiṣṇava, that also presupposes śaraṇāgati. So śaraṇāgati is a fundamental thing, avoiding that we cannot attain any course of devotional life, it is most fundamental. Wherever you go, in which side for your engagement you must enter through the door of śaraṇāgati. That is what is meant here.

If I belong to Him, underlying this conception there is śaraṇāgati. Otherwise I can't attain this position that I belong to Him, I am His own. But must first enter the door of śaraṇāgati then you can get that sort of self conception, that sort of realisation that you are His own. But before that you must enter through the door of śaraṇāgati. Otherwise no entrance is possible on the higher plane without śaraṇāgati, help of śaraṇāgati.

I have attained, I have, Sad Guru I have got. You must have practised, or invited, welcomed, some sort of śaraṇāgati. Then only you could come to him. Without the temperament of śaraṇāgati you cannot approach even the first agent of the domain. So śaraṇāgati is such a general and fundamental and expansive position in the relation of the devotional world.

I care for my Gurudeva, I don't know anything else. I'm a servant of Vaiṣṇava. I don't want anything. With that spirit, with that power, strength, I can go on. I do not care for the śāstra, this and that, anything. If anyone says such, shows his deep and strong confidence in Vaiṣṇava that is of a good achievement no doubt. But it is mentioned that to have that position you have had to cross the threshold of śaraṇāgati if we analyse the subtle point, the thought, then you have come here. The śaraṇāgati you could not eliminate. That is the underlying meaning of the expression there. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa. Gaura Haribol. Gaura Haribol.

Bhāratī Mahārāja: So tomorrow we will spend...

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Tomorrow, I can't say whether I'll be able to have a sitting tomorrow. Tomorrow Janmāṣṭamī you may stay here. But day after tomorrow after finishing your pāraṇa you must go to Māyāpur to attend the function of the appearance celebration of your Guru Mahārāja. Is it not?

Dhīra Kṛṣṇa Mahārāja: Yes.

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: Hare Kṛṣṇa. Hare Kṛṣṇa.

His Divine Grace Śrīla Bhakti Rakṣaka Śrīdhara Deva Goswāmī
Mahārāja

[Very unclear MP3 in places, but a transcript was previously available]

Śrīla Śrīdhara Mahārāja: The spiritual conception of the high level is flowing from this peak to that peak; from that peak of mountain the Ganges is coming in a zig-zag way. You see what is Ganges? Ganges water is passing this side and going to some other place. That water is not Ganges water. Other water from Sāraswatī maybe is entering Ganges water, and the demarcation line is also there in the beginning. Then if I take that water, is it Ganges water? It is just coming from the other River Sāraswatī? Then what is Ganges water? How are we to take it? This is Ganges water? It must go to the order of the Lord. This Ganges water, Ganges water just passes from a channel to another side, and if I see that Ganges water is passing through this channel to a lake, I take that water, is it Ganges water? One river is flowing, entering into Ganges, and that water, if I take, is it Ganges water? Physical eye?

The saying is there, whatever will be in the bed of the Ganges, the current, the bed of the Ganges, that water is Ganges water. [And what] is flowing out of the area of Ganges, that is not considered as Ganges. And when the other river's waters enter into the Ganges, it will be Ganges; whatever water is within the (jul ion?), that is Ganges water. That will purify. The purification is not congruent with the water which I feel and I see.
